

After attending a meeting of the Friona Chamber of Commerce last week this scribe has been assigned the job of trying to interest some of the "big boys" in the publications and entertainment field in our Maize Days celebration this year, people such as Look, Life and such.

Right off the bat we found a stumbling block—we need some pictures of various parts of the celebration which were taken last year.

These pictures will be returned to you. What we want to do is borrow your pictures to make some larger copies of them (if you have some we'd appreciate the negatives) and send these pictures off to such people as TIME, LIFE, LOOK, and Humble's "TEXAS IN REVIEW."

We think we have a good chance of getting one, or more, of these people down here for our celebration this year if we'll get on the ball early, but we need your help.

So—if you have a picture taken of some activity during the Maize Days celebration last year and are willing to part with it for a while, and for a good cause we might add—please drop by the Star office and let us take a look at it.

We, and the people of the area, will appreciate it a lot. Who knows, with a little luck we may all be on TV this fall.

After writing about our son's locking the spouse out of the family "ottomobile" last week we were visiting some friends who told of a similar experience.

This too happened to be a young Dave who punched down all the buttons on the locks on the family's Oldsmobile—unfortunately it wasn't a station wagon so the mother didn't have any way open to get into the car at all.

She ended up having to walk about a mile and a half to the house where she luckily found the extra key, then drive a tractor back to where the car was parked out in the field to rescue the then screaming youngster.

Boys will be boys.

One interesting conversation which we got into this week while cussing the weather was "How much faith do you put into signs?"

Not top signs or advertisements, but the signs of the moon, weather etc. . . which all the older folk among us hold so dear.

We used to scoff at such things ourselves until we noticed that, by golly, most of the time the older folk knew what they were talking about.

One of the persons taking part in the bull session told of a friend who scoffed at signs while dehorning cattle.

One of the hands warned him the signs were wrong and they would have a lot of trouble if they dehorned that day. Thinking the fella was just dodging trouble and work he paid no attention and went right on.

Y'know what happened?

Nearly 150 head of cattle all most bled to death.

The next time he decided to try the old boy's word and dehorned him when to dehorn. He followed his instructions and not one of the cattle had any trouble.

Another example one of the fellows told of was planting corn in the light and dark of the moon.

As youngsters they laughed at the "signs" and worked out an experiment. They planted two rows of corn by the light of the moon and one by the dark of the moon. Just to prove that the "signs" were just so much hooey.

But—there was the proof when the corn matured, two rows about two foot taller than the other. . . there is just a lot of things along this line that science can't explain.

We hate to talk about the weather but last Friday went long way toward convincing me that the fellow that said, "If you don't like the weather in Texas just wait 15 minutes," wasn't kidding. We didn't happen to time all that took place last Friday afternoon about 2 p.m. but we don't believe it took that long for the weather to give a good example of this saying.

If you'll remember about 2 o'clock it was sorta hazy and not much sunshine, mostly fog and cold.

We were going to a meeting downtown about that time. As we entered the meeting place it began to drizzle rain. A few minutes later one of the men called our attention to the window where by then it was raining so hard we could scarcely see across the street.

As we stood there talking about the rain, the wind began to blow harder and the rain turned to sleet, a few minutes later it began to hail and that was followed by a violent snowstorm.

SETS RECORD—J. W. Baxter, standout on the Friona track team, is shown as he clears the bar at 5' 8 1/2" in the high jump event of the district track meet Saturday at Farwell. This jump tied the record but seconds later the Chief trackster soared 5' 9 1/2" to establish a new one.

School Board Election Saturday

Polls will open at 8 a.m. Saturday in the Friona High School for voting upon three vacancies on the board of trustees of the Friona Independent School District.

O. J. Beene, Friona insurance man, and Ernest Osborn, Friona businessman and farmer, are opposing three incumbents for three spots on the board.

Incumbents running for reelection include Cordie Potts from the Rhea community and Clyde Weatherly and Arthur Drake, both of Friona.

Members of the board whose terms will not expire this year include D. C. Herring, president; Paul Fortenberry, secretary; Hoyt Smith and Fern Barnett.

F. W. Reeve will serve as presiding judge of the election. He will be aided by George M. Baker, judge, and Mrs. W. A. Tinney Sr. and Mrs. Virginia Jennings, clerks.

Voters Choose New Officers, New Charter

In one of the heaviest votes in a city election Friona citizens voted R. L. Fleming the new mayor and his two ticket mates, Eddie Meil and Glenn Reeve, in as commissioners.

Included on the ticket was a choice for, or against, a new form of city government. This plan, the council-manager form of government, was overwhelmingly endorsed by a landslide vote of 243-99.

J. G. McFarland	156
Eddie Meil	181

The Tuesday voting saw almost 100 more votes cast than in the last city election in 1956 when 286 votes were cast.

The new mayor and his commissioners will be sworn in at the next regular meeting of the commission Monday night.

The newly elected mayor was caught during a banquet honoring the Friona girls' basketball team in the high school cafeteria Tuesday night and when informed of the outcome of the race told a Star reporter, "I am honored that the people of the city have this faith in me and hope that I can measure up to their vote of confidence during the coming term of office."

He continued by saying that a date will be set at the next meeting of the commissioners for election of two men to fill the vacancies that will be on the council under the new council-manager form of government.

Chamber to Name Men of the Year

In the first meeting of the 1958 board of directors of the Friona Chamber of Commerce Hollis Horton, president, presented a list of new committee members and the directors voted to add the naming of a "Man of the Year" and "Farmer of the Year" to the list of things to do this year.

The two men will be named at the annual banquet next spring.

A secret committee will be picked by one member of the board of directors and these men will name the two men whose names will not be announced until the night of the banquet when the presentations will be made.

Another innovation this year will be in the organization of the chamber in that each director will be responsible for several committees and their respective jobs during the year.

These directors will in turn, answer to the president and vice-president of the chamber's board of directors.

Horton will serve as president assisted by Ralph Wilson, vice-president.

Director Bill Nichols, also secretary of the board, will be responsible for the membership and finance committee and the agriculture committee.

Director Joe Ferrell will be responsible for the working of the civic improvement committee which is broken down to include beautification, church attendance, new residents and summer programs.

Director H. K. Kendrick will be responsible for community development and rural roads committees.

Director J. C. Claborn will be responsible for the retail merchant and Christmas decoration committee and Director W. H. Graham Jr. will be responsible for the publicity committee.

One other committee, the celebration committee, will answer directly to the president and vice-president.

Members of the various committees include:

- Membership and finance — Gaylord Maurer, John Blackburn, Bill Stewart and Eric Rushing.
- Agriculture—J. T. Gee, Hardy May, A. L. Black, M. C. Osborn Jr. and Tom Darnell.
- Civic improvement is broken down to include beautification—Mrs. Frank Spring, Mrs. Andy Hurst, Mrs. H. K. Kendrick and Glenn Hughes; church attendance—Pete Buske and Mrs. Tom Lewis; new residents—Ralph Roden and Bill Woodley.

- Celebration—Bill Sheehan and Charles Allen.

Brains Over Brawn In District Meets

Brains triumphed over brawn in Friona High School over the weekend as members of the various literary teams competed in Morton while the district track meet was being run off in Farwell.

Friona's boys and girls won hands down in the literary divisions of the district meet while the track teams didn't fare quite so well.

Friona entries won four first place ribbons and six second place ribbons in the ten events at the literary meet.

Over at Farwell, the Farwell team won both the high school senior and junior divisions in track while Friona's grade school thinclads won their division.

Final over-all results for the district meet will not be complete until all the talkies are in for volleyball, tennis and several other sports.

The results are then lumped together and the school which scored the most points is declared the district winner. So far, Friona has a good chance of winning this title despite the loss at Farwell Saturday in track.

The track team took second place finishing behind Farwell.

Complete results in the events are as follows:

Lions Name 'Sack Girls'

The names of nine winsome lasses were released today by Lions President Andy Hurst as participants in the 1958 Friona Lions Minstrel star-studded "Sack Line."

The "girls" will make up one of the many specialty acts during the minstrel and will be draped in the latest sack fashion design direct from Miemann-Narcus in Bid D.

The dresses will be genuine sacks, in that they will be made from the best material available from the Parmer County Grain Producers Association's stock of toesack material.

This revealing creation will be topped by a "sack hat" of crumpled felt, and the legs of the gorgeous creatures will be wrapped in red fox hose and they will wear red shoes.

The nine fashion plates include the names of such celebrities as Elvina Jennings, Martina Martinez, Danna Ethridge, Davina McReynolds, Priestess Edelman, Georgianna Jones, Jessica Sinclair, Grand Villa McFarland, and Frankie Spring.

All other members of the Lions Club who aren't engaged as Endmen will be in the chorus.

Monday Is Sollar Say In Friona

Red Cross Drive Goes Over Top

The Parmer County Red Cross drive in the cities of Farwell and Bovina has been completed during the past week. Volunteer workers from these two cities have turned funds contributed over to W. A. Foster of Friona, county chairman.

Late in the fall of 1957 Friona and the surrounding communities of Black, Rhea, Lakeview, and Hub staged a community fund drive in which the Red Cross was included.

The chapter quota this year was $1589. About $1200 was raised in the community fund drive, $495 was contributed by residents of Farwell, and $252 was raised in Bovina. The communities of Lazbuddie and Oklahoma Lane have not reported yet.

Mrs. Thelma Jones Announces for 'P'

Mrs. Thelma Jones has announced her candidacy for justice of the peace in Precinct 2 Place 1 of Parmer County. Mrs. Jones moved to Friona with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Curry, in 1918 and has lived here continuously since that time except for one five-year period.

She is a graduate of Friona High School and has been an employee of the Parmer County Community Hospital for the past ten years. She is married and has two children, Glendel, a student in Friona High School, and Mrs. J. O. Wall, who lives at Roswell.

In discussing her candidacy with a Star reporter, she said, "If I am elected, I will make every effort to discharge the duties of the office efficiently and without partiality to the best of my ability."

Local Group Wires Ike

The Friona Farmers Union sent a wire direct to President Eisenhower Wednesday urging him to sign the price freeze bill. This group stated their belief that the immediate recession was due to the present plight of farmers in the nation.

They stated further that they thought if farmers were receiving a fair share of parity, the industries would be putting people to work instead of laying them off. They take the stand that if farmers were able to buy the equipment they need there would be no slow down in the production of steel, equipment and like products.

Don't Forget School Board Election Saturday!

THE STAR'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

Don't Forget To Vote

Friona citizens turned out in impressive numbers in a "hot" city election Tuesday and ended up choosing an entirely new slate of city officers and a new form of city government.

Whatever the outcome, the Star is happy to see that people are interested in what is going on in their government.

Saturday the polls will be open again.

This time the citizens are voting for three men to fill spots on the board of trustees of the Friona Independent School District.

Many people underrate the importance of the school board. But, in these men's hands lie the destinies of our citizens of tomorrow.

Yes, whether we or they realize it, the policies they set down as they are in session may mold the mind of some

Whatever your choice is in the election, or whomever you feel is the best qualified is up to you—as in the city election we only want each person so qualified to vote, and thus voice his opinion and discharge his sacred duty to take part in a solemn obligation.

Too many of us are ready to take part in criticizing a person in public office, but too lazy to get out and vote for the man of our choice.

MRS. DAN ETHRIDGE

Cook of the Week

Mrs. Dan Ethridge, who is Eufaula to most Friona residents, has been selected Cook of The Week for this issue of the Star. She has lived in Friona several years and has been very active in the work of the First Baptist Church. She works in the beginners department.

Eufaula is a member of the Modern Study Club and a Girl Scout enthusiast. She is also a former teacher and is interested in all youth activities of the town. Even though they do not have children, she and her husband, Dan, who is a partner in the Ethridge-Spring Insurance Agency, attend almost all the school activities.

Mr. and Mrs. Ethridge built a new home in the east part of town a few years ago and have spent a great deal of time working the lawn and flower garden which surrounds it.

One of Mrs. Ethridge's hobbies is cooking and she has given us two of her favorite cake recipes.

SHOO FLY CAKE
1 1/2 cups flour
1 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup butter
1/2 cup molasses
1/2 cup hot water
1/2 teaspoon soda
Line baking dish with crumbs made from flour, brown sugar and butter. Reserve some of the crumbs for topping. Dissolve soda in hot water, add molasses, then pour into baking dish. Top with crumbs reserved for this purpose. Bake until firm in 350 degree oven.

*****
APPLESAUCE CAKE

1/2 cup butter
1 cup light brown sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
2 cups flour
1 cup applesauce
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup raisins
Cream butter, sugar and salt. Add soda to applesauce then blend in sifted flour, cinnamon, cloves, and nutmeg. Combine the creamed mixture and the other ingredients and mix well. Add raisins and pour into greased loaf pan and bake at 350 degrees about 35 minutes.

You're young only once; after that you have to think up some other excuse.

It seems that children are never so dependent upon their parents as after they become self-supporting.

Nowadays Pop no sooner gets his daughter off his hands than he has to get his son-in-law on his feet.

EASTER GREETINGS

Easter greetings in the name of Jesus Christ! It is with pleasure that I pen these words this Easter season. It brings to our memory the new life that Jesus died, was buried, and rose again to purchase for whosoever will.

Jesus said, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." In order for us to know the truth we must know Jesus; for He is "the way, the truth, and the life: (and) no man cometh unto the Father, but Me (Him)." He that "climbeth up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber."

Anyone who desires this NEW LIFE in Christ may have it by OBEYING the gospel of Jesus Christ; for, as the apostle Paul informs us, "It is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth"—to the extent that he obeys it. (Acts 5:32; 2:37-39 and James 1:22-27).

Since the election will be over before this is printed, we can't resist relating an amusing incident that happened last week. For some unexplainable reason, we ran out of papers. By noon Friday there wasn't a single copy in town that was for sale.

Late Friday we ran onto

Raymond Fleming in the drug store. We asked him if he bought extra copies for all his relatives and friends. After he gave us a negative answer, someone else spoke up and said, "Don't you know what happened to all those papers?" Our answer was also negative, so he continued, "Just after you brought that large stack in here Thursday afternoon, Eddie Mell came in, took one look at his picture, then bought every one there was to get them out of circulation." One thing we know for sure

Monday will be Dollar Day in Friona. Local merchants will have many outstanding buys in their stores. According to most of the reports over the radio, we are entering into a recession. Some of us who are older may think of a recession as being a depression.

Of course, none of us who are old enough to remember THE DEPRESSION have to be told what a depression is. At any rate, anyone who needs to make every dollar go as far as possible shouldn't miss the bargains that will be available locally Monday.

Apparently it is measles and mumps time of the year. Just about every family with children has one or the other. Some of the grown-ups are even taking these childish diseases. Lois Weatherley has been a victim of mumps, but is up and around again. She will probably question our use of the word childish.

TOTAL DEPRAVITY

Total Depravity is the doctrine that all of Adam's offspring are born in sin and that this sin was inherited, being transmitted to infants by their parents through birth and that this sin came as a result of the sin Adam committed in the Garden of Eden. This doctrine is also called "original sin."

The words of Jesus show this to be a false doctrine: "Then came the disciples unto Jesus, saying, Who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven? And Jesus called a little child unto him, and set him in the midst of them, And said, Verily I say unto you, Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven. (Matt. 18:1-2) Jesus also said, "... of such is the kingdom of heaven." (Matt. 19:14).

It is not true that if little children are sinners, Jesus would be saying, "Except you be converted and become as little sinners, ye shall not enter the kingdom of heaven." Or, he would be saying, "of such (little depraved sinner) is the kingdom of heaven."

We can rest assured that infants are not born in sin, but are as white and pure as the snow flake that trickles down on the mountain side until they reach the age of accountability.

The ground was covered by the hail, sleet and snow and then in a few minutes it stopped, the clouds blew off and when we adjourned our meet about 3 p.m. the sun was shining just as bright as a new penny.

The only thing we missed was a sandstorm, and by the looks of the sky in the west that evening somebody even got a taste of that before the day ended.

OK—we'll believe it next time.

is that the next time we have pictures of three candidates for city offices that we will run off some extra copies.

Here we go yelling again. Why don't we have some stickers with FRIONA on them?

This question has been asked before and it seems that no one knows the answer. Before tourist season begins this summer, we should have some to give visitors who come in and ask about them.

Didn't we finally get around to adopting a slogan for our town? Maybe we should have some stickers that read, "FRIONA, The Brightest Spot On The Golden Spread." Perhaps the word Texas should be included. As soon as we learn who the new publicity directors of the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture are, we plan to take it up with them.

Late in May of 1956 and again about the same time in 1957 a man from Plainfield, N. J., was in the office and inquired about a sticker for his car. Before he returns this summer, we sure want some.

If seed catalogs are an indication, there will surely be a lot of pretty lawns in Friona this summer. On every trip to the post office we see catalogs from various concerns being taken out of boxes.

Mason King says, "One advantage of being married is that a person rarely makes a fool of himself without someone telling him about it."

Thanks to everyone who called to ask what happened to our Cook of The Week last week. Some of our readers may be beginning to think we are very inconsistent. In one paper we say that a feature will be regular then don't have space enough to run it the next week.

We do have plans to run one each week, but things just didn't work out last week. Having people call to inquire about a feature or other article in the paper always gives us a lift. We are very glad to know we have some faithful readers.

Long life and extremely low operating costs make the John Deere-Killefer 1200 Series Offset Disk Harrow one of the most economical implements to own.

Strong, sturdy frame is built to last... built to perform well. Cross-rolled disk blades last longer because they're tougher... stronger; they'll withstand the shocks of heavy-duty disk and resist breakage. Anti-friction bearings require lubrication only once every 300 hours, offering you real time and work savings. They'll last longer... outlive other bearings by hundreds of hours. These are three big reasons why the John Deere-Killefer costs less to own.

We'd like to show you the ease of operation, the simple controls and other important advantages of the John Deere-Killefer. Get all the facts from us soon.

Do You Make A Lake An Asset?

by R. V. Thurmond and D. W. Sherrill

Geologists estimate that in the High Plains of Texas there are 37,000 lakes covering at least a million acres. The average is one lake to each 540 acres of land. In an average year these lakes contain 1.4 million acre feet of water. This amounts to slightly over one-fourth the amount of irrigation water pumped from irrigation wells in the area in 1956.

In 1957 sixty lakes were drained into recharge-irrigation wells. Silt held in suspension in lake water presents a problem; a way is being sought to economically separate or settle the silt. Some wells silted up. Some were cleaned out, dry acid used, and wells brought back into production. Other wells seemingly had no trouble at all.

Recharge wells should have a packer outside the casing at a 30 to 40 feet depth to keep water from coming up outside the casing and caving off the soil around the pump base.

A gate valve to shut off lake water is recommended over the flap valve. Lake water should be shut off at least once each day and pump started to clean out silt and mud. Of course, recharging the underground aquifer in this way drains the lake area so that growing of crops is possible and the supply of irrigation water is replenished. It is estimated that 80 percent of this recharge water can be recovered through the same well.

Lake Water for Direct Irrigation

Water from about 600 lakes was pumped directly onto cropland in 1957. This lake water is warmer than well water. The rich silt in this water has some advantages over well water and lake water is very economical to pump. Pumping costs per acre foot of water are much less than for well water. Centrifugal pumps are inexpensive and costs for operating are low. Soils in lake bottoms are very fertile. Clearing this soil of water allows crops to be produced on land otherwise not available.

Each farmer with a lake on his farm could use it in such a way that it would be an asset rather than a liability. Whether one is planning a recharge well or using the lake water directly on crops, it would pay to move enough dirt to make a channel to drain the water to one portion of the lake so that the lake could be drained or pumped dry from one location next to the bank.

Were it not for the expense of moving dirt, it would pay to concentrate the entire lake water into a small area to cut down on surface evaporation. However, it takes 1700 cubic yards of dirt removed to store one acre foot of water. If dirt moving cost 17 cents per cubic yard this would be $290 just to have storage space for one acre of water. This would be expensive.

If the farmer has his own dirt moving equipment, some work done each year channelling and providing pit on one side of the lake, spreading dirt removed over the balance of the lake bed would be a rewarding work, and reclaim land for crops rather than for water storage. If possible all water should be stored in the soil where it falls. The soil is our best reservoir for water. However, quick heavy rains do come and fill our lakes. This lake water is too valuable to simply evaporate and not be used. We can use it for recharge, for irrigation and thus conserve precious underground water. We can reclaim valuable lake bottom land.

Tag Sales Indicate More Cars in County

Monday was a busy day for employees of the office of county tax assessor-collector, as they wrote automobile license receipts for last-minute buyers of license plates.

Deadline was the first of the week for Texas car owners.

Although a final count had not been tabulated by the office on Tuesday afternoon, employees estimated that 2745 auto plates had been sold, and 560 commercial tags had been issued. Farm tags were sold to 1357 persons.

Last year, over 2540 automobile licenses were sold, which indicates that there has been an increase of 200 cars in the county over the 1957 total.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

"Counties and communities throughout the nation are spending unprecedented sums for new school room construction, and efforts are being made to increase teacher's salaries and to improve the over-all conditions of our schools. Local people understand this challenge and will meet it through local taxation, without federal assistance, and without federal controls."

"We recognize the need for continually improving our educational system. Through the more than 2600 County Farm Bureaus in 48 states we are giving constant study to the educational programs of our schools."

The two above paragraphs are a portion of a letter from American Farm Bureau Federation to Senator Lister Hill of Alabama, chairman of the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee. Some political groups are attempting to use the unemployment situation as an excuse for using federal funds for building local educational facilities.

Farm Bureau and most other groups are opposed to intervention by the federal government into local educational advancement programs with its accompanying regulatory provisions.

There are still some people who do not understand that the government is not the best market for farm commodities. Because of variation of general cotton grades in some areas, it is hard to believe that the average market price for cotton has been above the government support price every year but one since cotton has been supported.

We are glad to note that some who a year or two ago would not discuss the supply and demand, due to price differentials, situation, are now incorporating this consideration into their proposals for improving the orderly marketing urgency.

These figures prepared by the USDA show conclusively that Parmer County has been leading all counties of the irrigated High Plains in cotton production, yield-wise. Since 1952, Parmer County Growers have averaged 581 pounds of lint cotton per acre. Hale County is next with 523. Since 1954, Parmer County has been the champ, as the figures clearly show. The 1957 results are not officially recorded, but they will again show that we continue to lead all others on the Plains, observers feel confident.

Parmer Tops Plains In Cotton Yields

By W. H. GRAHAM JR.

Parmer County farmers have undisputed claim to the title, "Best Cotton County on the High Plains." They can prove it with authentic figures taken since irrigation came to be important in producing crops on the Plains.

The table accompanying this story shows the yields of lint cotton in this and other counties on the Plains through the years. No "official" figures are out yet on 1957, but it is almost a certainty that the farmers of Parmer County have done it again this past year.

This week the Plains Cotton Growers Inc. published a report, based on tabulations taken by the Bureau of the Census of the U. S. Department of Commerce, that set the 1957 Parmer County cotton crop at 52,364 bales. That was from a planted acreage around 45,000 acres, which still keeps the county yield at over a bale an acre in spite of a very poor growing season.

The yield figures which are shown in this report have nothing to do with the quality of cotton, which can certainly be an important factor as regards price. This was especially true in 1957 when generally poorer grades chopped profits in half for many a cotton farmer.

Parmer County farmers were hurt on grades just like all other Plains growers, but not so much as those to the east and south, where the wet, cold weather that hampered maturity of cotton and harvesting was concentrated. We don't have the statistics, yet, but it probably is accurate to say that Parmer County can grow better cotton than any other Plains county, in addition to saying without qualification that we can grow more of it on an acre.

Swisher and Castro Counties, both of which have larger cotton allotments than Parmer, fell off drastically in lint yield last year. Swisher ginned 29,629 bales, Castro 40,305.

Lubbock County, which is the champ of them all for volume, ginned 204,934 bales in 1957. Their allotment was about 203,000 acres, which put their acre yield right at a bale.

Lamb, another big producer, dropped to 143,488 bales the past year. They have an allotment of around 200,000 also. Hale, which, the chart shows, has been Parmer County's closest competitor in yields, slipped to 166,881 bales. Parmer County's 1956 production was 60,000.

What gives Parmer County these good figures? There are several main and many less important reasons. Parmer County's land is "new" and virtually every acre of cotton planted goes under irrigation. Parmer County is a "hungry" county for cotton and farmers pamper the crop. They put cotton on the choicest part of the farm, give it undivided attention. They want to make their comparatively small acreage do big things. And they get the job done as the figures will prove.

Also, Parmer County has the natural advantage of a better climate for growing cotton in what is considered a "normal year." Although our growing season is slightly shorter than, say, Lubbock's, in an average year it is long enough to get about all that can be gotten out of upland cotton.

Then, in poor years, such as the last one, Parmer County is less susceptible to rain, foggy weather, cloudy days, and storms than the South Plains. Cotton is a crop that responds well to irrigation, and during the drought years when Parmer County farmers could turn on the water at will, that made an important difference.

A Career: Something you study years to get into and then spend the rest of your life trying to earn enough to get out of it.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

As soon as time and weather conditions will permit, the Soil Conservation Service plans to conduct some irrigation studies here in Parmer County. These trials are run to gather information that will help farmers on the management of irrigation water.

Proper water management is becoming more and more important to all the farmers in this area; especially to those who have a limited supply of irrigation water. They are interested in applying the water in such a manner that most of it will be absorbed by the soil for use by the crops. They also want to utilize all the rainfall that they can.

Crops usually produce the highest yields when they can easily obtain moisture from the soil throughout the entire growing season. An application of water before it is needed will result in extra irrigation cost, excessive leaching of plant food, and in some cases harmful effects on the crops. On the other hand, allowing the soil to dry out until the crop suffers for lack of moisture will result in lower, low-quality yields.

Some factors to be considered that will bring about more efficient use of irrigation water are: the storage capacity of the soil, the kind of crop that is being grown, the stage of growth of the crop, and weather conditions. Good irrigation management depends on the farmer's knowledge of the factors which determine the amount of water and when it is to be applied.

Only 12 Days Left For Car Inspection

Roughly, 1 out of 5 Texas autos have not been inspected as required by state law and there remains but 12 more working days prior to the inspection deadline on April 15.

Colonel Homer Garrison, J., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said today that some 700,000 motor vehicles must still pass through the inspection lines prior to that date if their owners are to avoid being handed tickets for violation of the Motor Vehicle Inspection Law. Enforcement will begin April 16, he said.

"It is still possible," said Garrison, "for the State's 4500 licensed inspection stations to handle the last minute rush provided that motorists take their cars immediately in order that there will be no delayed period between the handling of one vehicle and the next."

The Public Safety Director pointed out that every minute of the inspection stations' time will be at a premium between now and midnight April 15, and that waiting lines will be in store for those who wait as the deadline draws nearer.

Care Required In Returning Ranges In Shape

by Joe Jones, County Agent

With the good subsoil moisture already in storage, native grasses have a real opportunity to make a big comeback on the range land. During the past few drouth years, most all of our ranges in the Southwest have been overstocked and have gone way down in forage production. This in turn has decreased the amount of beef and lamb that can be produced per acre. Until ranges are brought back into a productive state they cannot produce as they did before the drouth.

Management following drouth is more important than during a drouth. In a very few days ranges will green up, and far too many people will fail to take a good look at the plants giving the green cast to range land. In most instances it will be weeds and annual grasses. These are not the plants that will produce and pay off through the year.

In most instances seeds and root crowns of the more desirable grasses are in sufficient numbers to re-establish a good cover of desirable grasses such as grmmas and bluestem, but good management must be followed if this is to come about.

1. Experience and research show that a deferred rotation system of grazing will probably result in the most rapid rate of range recovery with a given rate of stocking. The critical period in grass development is during active growth and heading out. Part of the range should be rested during this period to allow seedlings to become established and older plants to gain strength.

2. The amount of use should be regulated to prevent damage to grazed plants in a weakened condition.

3. Make provisions for temporary pastures like sudan to allow your range plants to make badly needed growth during the favorable growing season.

4. Remember the time to defer grazing of your ranges is during the peak growing season. More good can be accomplished during this period than all the remainder of the year.

5. The time to prepare for the next drouth is during the more favorable years when a forage reserve can be grown, and plants put in the optimum state of productivity.

LETTER To The Editor

Dear Editor:

In regard to the Farm Bureau "New Look" Farm Program Proposal, I would like to mention only one error in your report: The figures used were for arriving at the 1957 crop year instead of 1959.

Mr. W. L. Edelman, in his letter to you, in the last issue, failed to recognize one very important feature of the New Look Program in question. This feature is the linkage of all feed grains together in a price support program after taking into consideration the relative feed value of each feed in relation to corn. (After eliminating acreage allotments on corn).

The preceding three years weighted average price is somewhat different than the support price as it was, since there was no consideration for the relative value to corn. (By preceding 3 year average weighted price, the 1957 figure would have been arrived at by using the years of 1956, 1955, and 1954.) The corn support would be $1.22 per bushel. After adjustment for feed value related to corn, and other factors, under the Farm Bureau Proposal, the grain sorghum price on a national average for the 1957 crop year would have been $2.18 per hundred weight, compared to the Calculated Parity support price of $1.86.

The objective of the Farm Bureau cotton proposal is to establish price supports on a basis which will assist producers in marketing cotton through the normal channels of trade, expand the cotton market, and expand cotton acreage.

Another feature in the program is that as of August 1, 1958, C. C. C. stocks be set aside and used only in financing the export subsidy program, providing that no sales shall be made from C. C. C. stocks at less than 110 percent of the prevailing support price for cotton.

This program would create conditions that would let the market operate normally. The support price would be a floor instead of a ceiling. The price support couldn't be used as a price fixing device as it now is. It wouldn't be based on an arbitrary formula, nor be left completely to the discretion of the secretary of agriculture.

I would like to point out to Mr. Edelman that the farmer would have a real choice in the cotton referendum this fall under the new program: Your regular allotment and support price, or a slightly lower support price with increased acreage allotment. This would at least be a choice compared to what we have voted on in recent years.

Taking the present cotton situation, the supply being short on some grades, the market is expected to be above the support price this fall. Then the farmer will be in an advantageous position to benefit by increasing his acreage. Also, increased acreage for cotton should help the grain sorghum price, due to less acreage left for its production.

Sincerely yours,
Gilbert Kaltwasser

Playing catch up may lead to a disaster. Farmers over Texas will take to the fields with a rush once conditions become favorable. The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council passes on the word of warning: "Don't try to cram more hours into a day by overtaxing your physical capacity. Many fatal farm accidents are caused by fatigue which dulls the reflexes and leads to the taking of chances that could mean serious trouble. Don't throw safety aside for haste. The life you save may be your own."

Onions as far as the eye can see is the sight on the J. T. Ford farm east of Farwell. Ford, his brother, and sons are planting about 100 acres of onions this year in another big effort to cash in on the risky vegetable market, which sometimes pays off handsomely. These sprouts need water, and will be irrigated this week.

Early cultivation is started on the tender young onion crop by breaking the soil down the middles between the beds. You can't see them in this picture, but the onion plants are there just the same, taking root in the High Plains soil.

Corn Agreements Good Until May 1

The sunny weather of this week is really appreciated by farmers who are still holding corn from last fall. And that includes a substantial percentage of the 1957 growers.

This spring has been a record so far as high humidity and cloudy days have been concerned. In normal years, farmers have no trouble drying grain naturally. This year it has been different. The corn was wet when it was harvested, and much of it is still wet—from 15 to 20 percent moisture content.

Because so little of the corn has been eligible to go immediately into the loan—or on the market, for that matter—most has been placed under a "purchase agreement" with the government. That means that for a slight penalty, the government will still accept delivery for the loan up to May 1.

May 1 has sounded like plenty of time to most farmers. But it's less than 30 days away now and the corn is still in the turnrows. Most farmers believe they still will make the deadline.

Others have expressed the opinion that they think even if a wet spell returns the government will move the deadline back on account of special circumstances.

Police officer: "Hey, slow down that truck. Don't you have a governor on it?"
Bewildered truck driver: "Governor? No, sir. He's back at the capital. That's fertilizer you smell."

THE PARMER FARMER

by W. H. Graham Jr.

Politics and farm program planning are sure to be a lively mixture this year. We already have evidences of that. The "freeze the prices" farm bill now vetoed by President Eisenhower is a good case in point.

If the President had signed it, he would have been repudiating everything he has said, as he stood behind Ezra Benson for so long. And, in vetoing it, the ire of many farm-state congressmen, even some Republicans, will come down on him.

The USDA has just announced that farm product prices are up four percent over a month ago, and they strongly suggest that the farmer who was the first to go "into the woods" four years ago, is now going to be the first one to come out. If you haven't heard, labor and industry have followed the farmer into rather unprofitable times.

This apparently is reason enough for President Eisenhower to once again stick by his guns and refuse to sign farm legislation he thinks unwise, even though it appears to be poor politics at the moment.

That probably means that agriculture, so far as farm laws are concerned, will be pretty much status-quo for another year. In 1959, however, there appear to be some major changes due.

One thing that this columnist feels has been completely overlooked by all people who are hard at work trying to frame a workable farm program is that price is not necessarily the most important thing in the market place.

tion from synthetics and imported products sometimes makes American-produced farm commodities appear high-priced, we do not agree that this completely blocks all sales possibilities.

The curious has only to look around to see examples of this in every-day business affairs. The manufacturer who places in the market place a product that is unquestioned in quality, who can deliver when the product is demanded, and can deliver in the amount desired, always has an edge over his competition, even though this competition may be cheaper.

Bringing the subject closer home to those who think in the realm of agriculture, look what has been done in the processed foods business in recent years.

Housewives no longer buy sacked potatoes just because they are truly a cheap commodity on a dollar-for-food basis. They even have gone past the stage where they insist that all the potatoes be of high quality.

Since an enterprising processor introduced ready-to-mix mashed potatoes, they are buying that product. And they love it, no matter if the potatoes in this form cost five times as much as their raw equivalent!

The same is true for rolls, biscuits, and other wheat-ingredient products. Very little sacked flour is sold today, compared to the per capita consumption of a generation ago. The housewife prefers and insists on ready-to-make products. And she isn't particularly interested in the price, as innumerable studies have proven!

All boiled down, a customer is willing to pay the ASKING price most of the time if he wants the product bad enough. Otherwise, he may BID on what is offered, knowing that he probably can take the commodity on his own terms.

It has been pointed out that the farmer is a rare bird in the sense that he's about the only producer who goes to the wholesaler and says, "What will you give me for this?" Most everybody else states a price for what they offer for sale.

We do not personally believe that the farmer is doomed to such a reverse system eternally. Agriculture, after all, is only an industry. Many others have standardized, placed emphasis on product quality, uniformity, and service, and succeeded. So can agriculture.

The very fact that the number of farmers is decreasing yearly points toward the advantages of organizing farmers as one great industry.

Legislation can never bring this about. It will have to be done by the farmer himself, and this will not be attained any time soon. But it can—and should—come.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

BY JUNE FLOYD

Is there any food on the market that is as versatile as cottage cheese? It is one of the best liked foods and can be used as an appetizer, in the main course, in the salad course, or as a dessert. You can combine it with just about anything.

There just isn't any end to the ways you can combine cottage cheese with fruits, vegetables, or other things to make salads. For a delicious different salad, you will probably want to try the following recipe for Cottage Cheese-Tuna Salad.

- 1 7-ounce can chunk style tuna fish
  - 1 ripe avocado
  - 2 cups cottage cheese
  - 1 tablespoon grated onion
  - 2 teaspoons lemon juice
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- Place tuna fish in sieve; pour hot water over fish to remove oil. Drain well. Peel avocado; remove pit. Press cottage cheese and avocado through a sieve. Add onion, lemon juice, salt and pepper, and blend thoroughly. Stir in tuna fish. Chill. Serve on crisp greens and garnish with tomato wedges and hard boiled eggs.

Mrs. Howard Hanks, who was Mrs. Delaware in 1957, shares her recipe for Old Fashioned Brown Beef Stew with us.

- 2 lbs. beef cubes
- 2 tablespoons fat
- 4 cups boiling water
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 clove garlic
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 2 bay leaves
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 medium onion, diced
- dash of allspice
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 6 carrots, quartered
- 8 onions, quartered
- 6 potatoes, quartered

Brown meat on all sides in hot fat. Add remaining ingredients except quartered carrots, onions, and potatoes. Simmer 2 hours, adding water if necessary. Then add vegetables and continue cooking until they are well done, about 30 minutes. Remove meat and vegetables to hot platter. Thicken stock with flour, as desired. Pour gravy over stew. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

From Mrs. Florida, who was Mrs. Lester McClure, comes a recipe for corn fritters. (Corn fritters are one thing the Floyds rarely eat at home. Our other half isn't really hard to please, but corn fritters aren't among his favorite foods.)

- 1 2/3 cups flour
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 1/3 cup milk
- 2 cups canned whole kernel corn

Sift together flour, salt, and baking powder. Add beaten eggs and milk and beat until smooth. Stir in the corn. Drop by spoonfuls into deep fat at 370 degrees F. Cook on both sides until golden brown and drain on absorbent paper. Serve in small vegetable dishes with your favorite syrup. Makes about 30 fat fritters.

French Silk Chocolate Pie is the favorite recipe sent in by Mrs. John E. Hall Jr. of Georgia.

- 1/2 cup butter
  - 3/4 cup sugar
  - 1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted
  - 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
  - 2 eggs, chilled
  - 1/2 pint heavy cream, whipped
  - 1 baked 8-inch pie shell
  - Black walnuts
- Cream butter and sugar in electric mixer. Blend in chocolate and vanilla. Add the eggs, one at a time, beating two minutes after each addition. Pour into pie shell. Chill 2 to 3 hours. Swirl with whipped cream and garnish with black walnuts.

Gets 12 Years For Robbery

Delfino Lopez, Spanish-American of Valarde, N. M., was found guilty of armed robbery by a district court jury in Farwell Monday. The trial was presided over by Harry Schultz of Dalhart, visiting judge in the absence of E. A. Bills, who is ill.

Lopez, who entered a plea of not guilty after indictment by the Parmer County grand jury last month, was convicted of robbing the Bagley No. 2 service station in Farwell in October of last year.

He was sentenced to 12 years for the offense, and was due to be taken to the state pen at Huntsville this week by Sheriff Chas. Lovelace.

In other activity in the courts this week, Watson Whaley of Friona was pronounced sane and permission was granted that he be released from the hospital.

Whaley figured prominently in the news several years ago when he was charged with stealing property from the farms of many of his neighbors. He was then declared insane at the time the alleged offenses occurred.

This pile of corn in the ear is "all dressed up and no place to go." It's too wet to go to market, too wet to put into government loan. Much of the area yellow corn crop, whether in the ear or shelled, is still too wet to move into channels of trade. The sunshine of the past few days has been a welcome sight to distressed owners of corn.

County-Wide 4-H Meets Monday

Members of the Senior County-Wide 4-H Club for girls met Monday, March 24, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Billingsley.

The meeting was called to order by Miss Barbara Rea, vice-president. Judy Billingsley and Virginia Rea demonstrated their project, "Care of an Electric Sewing Machine." This project will be demonstrated by the two girls at the district meeting.

Miss Jimmie Lou Waincott, county home demonstration agent, prepared a two-crust pineapple pie. A two-crust fruit pie and a "master mix biscuit" will be used as a demonstration by the girls when they enter the County Bake show later in the summer.

Barbara Rea also demonstrated her project, "Milk the Modern Way," in which she makes a tomato, cheese and macaroni dish. Her demonstration will be taken to the district meet at Canyon May 3.

Those attending were Gladys Dean, Barbara and Virginia Rea and Judy Billingsley. Adults present were Mrs. Billingsley, Mrs. Elmo Dean, Mrs. Gene Rea and Miss Waincott.

School Elections Saturday

Local and county school trustees of the four independent districts of Parmer County, as well as for the county board itself, will be voted on by citizens Saturday.

Residents of Parmer County will be voting on trustees in what is often a confusing array of offices, since both county and local school board positions are involved.

A county school trustee-at-large will be elected by the four districts of the county. Nominees are W. M. Sherley of Lazbuddie and A. L. Black of Friona.

Residents of Precinct 4 (Lazbuddie) will then vote for a trustee to the county board, and their only nominee is Matt Jesko.

On the district level, seven men seek two vacancies at Bovina. They include A. M. Wilson, Johnnie Horn, H. D. Ellison, J. D. Kirkpatrick, Jack Patterson, Jack Clayton, and A. L. Glasscock.

Five men have filed petitions for the three places which are up for election on the Friona School District board of trustees. The men include the three incumbents: Clyde Weatherly, C. V. Potts, and Arthur Drake; plus O. J. Beene and Ernest Osborn.

At Farwell, A. W. Gober, J. T. Ford, W. T. Parker, J. E. Landrum, Lonnie Wilhite and Vernon L. Billingsley will be running to fill three vacancies due on the district board.

Frank Hinkson, DeWitt Precure, Joe Bates Jennings, Leonard Ivy, Eulan Parham, Jack Smith, Truman Gleason, and Gene Smith comprise the list of nominees for the Lazbuddie local election, where three vacancies are occurring.

Bovina voting will be in the schoolhouse. Friona and Lazbuddie will also march to the school to mark ballots, and Farwell voters will use the county courtroom.

Cleaning Varnished Surfaces
Are some of your varnished pieces dull looking, sticky or soiled? If so, here's a "face-lifting" and cleaning suggested by Charlotte Tompkins, extension home furnishings specialist:

In a double boiler combine 1 quart hot water, 1 tablespoon gum turpentine (to cut the dirt), 3 tablespoons boiled linseed oil, or lemon oil (to lubricate, feed and polish the wood).

Keep the mixture hot in a double boiler while you work. Dip a soft cloth in the solution, wring out excess moisture and apply to furniture doing only one part of the piece at a time. Rub the wood, keeping moisture away from the joints as much as possible. Fine steel wool may be used to rub the solution on badly soiled surfaces. Wipe the surface immediately with a dry cloth. Polish with a woolen cloth.

If your shellacked furniture is foggy, faded or scratched, you can revive the finish with paraffin oil and white shellac. Extension home furnishings specialists offer these directions.

Remove any wax from the surface with gum turpentine and a coarse cloth.

Mix together two parts of paraffin oil (available at filling stations and drug stores) and one part of white shellac. Be sure that shellac is fresh.

Applying with a coarse cloth is usually adequate. However, on neglected pieces use 3/0 steel wool and rub gently with the grain, protecting with masking or adhesive tape sections where the grain runs in another direction. Wipe surface with a dry cloth.

Mix only enough to use. Do not attempt to store shellac or a mixture with a shellac in it. Old shellac remains sticky and will not dry.

Lovelace, Hugh Moseley, Mr. and Mrs. John Bengner, Mrs. Bruce Parr, Bill Sheehan, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Anthony, Rev. Hugh Blaylock, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Patterson, and Harry Hamilton.
