Earl Bender of Eastland was in Cisco Thursday morning on business. Mr. Bender said that while there had been considerable interest in the past regarding the election to be held July 9 for issuing bonds with which to build a new courthouse, he has heard little discussion of the project of late. Williamson addressed the Breckenridge Chamber of Commerce Wednesday noon at a luncheon, taking his subject, at the request of the Breckenridge organization: "What Cisco has done and how it has done it." The sheriff at Abilene telephoned a Chevrolet coupe, highway license number 218-358, containing a black suit case and a quantity of fishing tackle, had been taken.

MILHAM GETS 150 BARRELER NEAR ALBANY

ALBANY, June 2.—What promises to be the best well drilled in Shackelford county in weeks is the Milham Corporation No. 25, Moore lease, 8 miles east of Albany. It is located in the northwest corner of section 1.561, T. E. & L. company survey.

After going over the top of the derrick three times, it was flowing by heads Tuesday about every four hours, and is estimated good for 150 barrels. The oil is a light grade, 40 gravity, and comes from a depth of 4,520 feet.

John was confined Tuesday to a cot in the Wyoming general hospital, where, according to attendants, he mumbles over and over: "I love her."

U. S. PREPARED TO MEET ANY EMERGENCY.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The U. S. is prepared to act with exceeding swiftness in coping with the new crisis in China. Plans for action were drawn up weeks ago and were based on the well grounded belief that despite dissension in the Cantonese ranks, they would probably be heard from in the near future. The program does not provide for any last ditch defense of Peking as suggested in London and Tokio. In the event local government in that part of China collapses completely, the American forces are under strict orders to remain neutral between the Chinese factions, and to take no part in fighting except in protection of American citizens.

It, too, was sent to Germany and sold at auction for charity. The 1927 "first" brought $2.50 per pound—approximately 14 times the Houston market quotation of $17.40 per hundred. The bale was produced by M. Chapus Montalvo, a Mexican farmer in the San Manuel community, Hidalgo county.

HOSEA POE, FORMER CISCO MAN, IS DEAD

Hosea Poe, former well known Cisco and Eastland county business man and banker, died Wednesday noon in a hospital at Kansas City, according to word received here Wednesday night. The body is to be sent back to Eastland county for burial, and is expected to arrive in Eastland by train at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. Funeral services will be held at the Presbyterian church in Eastland with the pastor, Rev. Lem Hogan, in charge. Burial will follow at 11 o'clock at Long Branch cemetery.

Mr. Poe was injured about a year ago at Amarillo where he was operating in the oil fields. His leg was broken, his tongue was badly lacerated, and he suffered other injuries. Later he fell and broke the leg again, and had been in hospitals at various times during the year. However, he had been in the hospital at Kansas City for only a week and was believed to be recovering, so that death came as a shock to his friends and relatives.

Mr. Poe lived in Eastland county many years. He taught school for some time and then came to Cisco where he engaged in the fire insurance and real estate business until about 1907. He lived in the present Eddie Davis house. Mr. Poe was elected county clerk of Eastland county, serving two terms, and then became cashier and later vice president of the City National Bank at Eastland. He took an active part in the first gubernatorial campaign of James E. Ferguson, and then became manager of the Temple State bank at Temple, in which Ferguson was interested. After the Ferguson impeachment, he went to Kansas City to make his home, but operated in the oil fields of this section in purchase and sale of leases. He had been operating at Amarillo the last year or two.

Mr. Poe was about 45 years of age, and is survived by his widow, who was Miss Nora Wilson, daughter of Joe Wilson of Cisco, and one daughter, Miss Gertrude Poe, who was to graduate from a junior college June 10. In addition, he is survived by his father, "Uncle Nathan" Poe of Eastland; Mrs. Frank Lovett of Eastland; Mrs. Walter Brandon of near Romney and Mrs. Virgil Been of Plains, Yoakum county. He was a nephew of R. L. Poe of Cisco and Willie Poe of Pleasant Hill and Cap Poe of Long Branch, and was a resident of Cisco for many years. B. F. Jones of Cisco, was the other grandfather of the young dentist.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Thirty persons were killed in a cyclone which swept Holland, the state department was advised today.

Mrs. Dod Price of Moran is shopping in Cisco today.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—William G. McAdoo, former member of the cabinet and in the last presidential year a candidate for the democratic nomination, today gave out an interview urging congress to handle flood relief as a non-partisan issue. The enormous destruction of property in the Mississippi valley and the widespread suffering have made the problem of flood control a national matter which the administration and congress should care for," he declared. While Mr. McAdoo in the course of his interview, declared he was "too busy practicing law to be busy about politics," there were many about the capital who expressed belief that the democratic leader was making a bid for a place in the limelight alongside of Al Smith as a potential candidate for the nomination in 1928, and that he was seeking an early hold on an issue which President Coolidge so far has been slow to seize.

FOG HOLDS UP LINDBERGH'S PARIS FLIGHT

LONDON, June 2.—English weather today accomplished what bad weather over the Atlantic failed to do. It forced Captain Lindbergh to postpone his proposed flight from London to Paris. After waiting two hours for fog and rain to clear along the London-Paris airway, Captain Lindbergh announced he would postpone the flight. The fact that the American was to fly a British plane to which he was unaccustomed prompted British officials to advise postponement.

SPAIN PRESENTS LINDY ANOTHER DECORATION.

MADRID, Spain, June 2.—The official gazette today published a royal decree presenting the medal "No. Pius Ultra" to Charles A. Lindbergh.

John M. Crane Raises Lots of Berries, Peaches, Plums, Pears, Apricots and Apples Near Cisco

John M. Crane, who lives about 13 miles southeast of Cisco, was in town today disposing of several crates of berries grown on his farm. Mr. Crane says he will realize several hundred dollars from his berries this season. The great trouble, he said, was in getting them picked. Farm labor is becoming more and more a problem. Last year the cotton crop could not be harvested without loss to the farmer, even though he could get 10 cents per pound, while the farmer of 1926 thought he could make fairly good money if he could get seven cents per pound—as a matter of fact he sold most of it at from three to five cents per pound. The difference is in the increased cost of living and the necessary increase in wages, according to Mr. Crane.

He has a nice orchard, consisting of dew berries, black berries, strawberries, peaches, plums, apricots, apples and pears. The late freeze killed some of his early blooming fruit, but he will have some very nice size peaches, apricots and apples. These will bring a good price and will find a ready market. The fact is, he could sell thousands of bushels more than he will have.

LINDBERGH'S FLIGHT WILL BE DEPICTED

Manager K. N. Greer of the R. & B. theaters announced Thursday that he had secured motion pictures of Charles A. Lindbergh's historic flight to Paris from New York, and that they would be shown Sunday and Monday at the Palace theater, Lindbergh's success in spanning the Atlantic in the short time of 33½ hours has electrified the entire world, and the pictures will be shown just after he begins the voyage homeward on Saturday to receive the greatest welcome ever accorded by the United States government to any living man.

Insurance Victory Saved Texas Much

STAMFORD, June 2.—When the state fire insurance commission refused to grant the proposed five per cent rate increase, the West Texas chamber of commerce won a victory worth more actual cash to the people of West Texas than the entire cost of the regional organization during the nine years of its existence. The West Texas chamber of commerce started a fight against the proposed increase a year ago, and the arguments advanced by the West Texas organization were those embodied, in almost identical form, in the decision handed down by the state fire insurance commission denying application for the rate raise.

Tractor Radiator Blast Kills Boy

GOLDTHWAITE, June 2.—Raymond Knight, 14, of the Center City community, died in a hospital at Brownwood Tuesday from the effects of burns which he received Friday when a tractor radiator blew up. His 12-year-old brother was severely scalded at the same time, but is expected to recover.

FREE AND FAIR SPEECH

One of the most successful city clubs in this country operates on the principle of "information, not reformation." It boasts of welcoming "all shades of opinion, political belief and social relations." Its leading feature is its restrum, to which it invites "men of every belief and party." In the conviction that full discussion, with all sides represented, lessens prejudice and bias, it aims to preach and practice "freedom of speech," merely requiring that along with this basic right of the individual be recognized the basic right of the group to "fairness of speech." That is to say, it supports fairness, but not abuse. An advocate of any theory may have a hearing, but he must speak as a gentleman, to gentlemen. This is surely the American ideal, inherent from the founders of the republic. It tends to satisfy the individual by giving him a chance to blow off. It safeguards society because, when extremists—radicals and conservatives, for example—are allowed to have their say, they usually cancel each other's extremism. The result is that the group—whether a social club or a whole community—is likely to follow the sane course pretty well toward the middle of the road.

WHAT IS SUCCESS?

Countless books have been written and reams of advice have been given on how to achieve success. It is odd that so little is said about what is really far more important; how to hold success after you have it. This is really a vital question in this country where the avenues to success are broad and numerous, but hardly more nor less so than the avenues to failure and loss of success. Success is probably as fleeting as it is elusive. The author of a best seller is never certain his next novel will find a publisher. Past performance will get a man a responsible position but will not hold it for him. Most anyone can get his name on the front page once; keeping it there is quite another thing. Not infrequently individuals mistake appearances of success for success itself. The public must have its idols and nobody knows this better than the publicity man. Why are so many silver cups and prizes and degrees awarded for poetry, prose, drama, beauty, public service and whatnot? To bring temporary fame and some concrete evidence of success to the recipients? No! To advertise the organization or institution making the award. And what is success? Everybody has its own definition, and one is about as good as another, if one is content with being a success in his own eyes. Unfortunately, society often looks upon a hopeless failure the fellow who is satisfied he has climbed to the topmost rung of the ladder of success.

The giggling girl at the foolish age settles down later. It is all a triumph of mind over chatter.

FOOD CROPS FIRST

Secretary Hoover, Red Cross leaders and federal agricultural and health officials are already at work on rehabilitation plans for the flooded areas. It has been decided that "sustenance crops" should be planted first. Distribution of $300,000 worth of vegetable seed has already begun. It is too late to think of raising staple crops such as sugar cane, rice and cotton for this season. Planting has progressed as far south in Arkansas as Little Rock, and as fast as land appears above the receding waters, it will be cultivated and seeded. The reconstruction of homes and re-establishment of farms and communities on a normal basis will take many weeks and months of work, the expenditure of much money and the extension of large and generous credit. Food will be needed in the future months as well as now, and it is good that food crops are being planned for now by planting as promptly as possible.

Sleep is a great thing. It keeps some people from worrying about their troubles twenty-four hours a day.

THE SCHOOL DOWNTOWN

The city of Cleveland has outgrown its school headquarters. The circumstances make an interesting section of American civic history. Proud indeed was the small town when the red brick building called Rockwell School went up. Very large it seemed, with its eight rooms or so, with its lawn, trees and playground. The children of the "best families" went to Rockwell School. The city grew. The old settlers moved. Children of tenement dwellings crowded, overcrowded Rockwell. They, too, moved elsewhere as the big buildings, public and business, went up around it. The Rockwell group dwindled until it was no longer worth while holding school in that locality. There were many schools by that time, kindergartens, academic and technical high schools, trades and continuation schools, and schools for the blind and deaf and half a dozen other special groups. The central school offices moved into the Rockwell building. They, in turn, grew and made additions to the building. The former playground is now parking place for cars of school officials. The city takes another step. It develops a group plan of public buildings. Old stuff must be torn down. Rockwell is in the path of progress. Shall there be a great new building for school headquarters? The superintendent says no. He wants, instead, as part of the group plan, a school for adults, with classes day and night. There will be offices for the few who must have the central location, but the supervisory staff will be decentralized. The adult who works by day can go to school at night, downtown. The night worker can go to school by day. Space for 1,000 adult students is in the plan. Doubtless by the time the school is built, twice that number of students will be clamoring at its doors.

LIVE TILL YOU DIE.

A western undertaker advertised this way: "What is the use of going around half dead when I can give you a first class funeral for $92.50?"

It is not known whether that mortician was the philosopher that has epigram might indicate, but he said a whole bookful of something to think about.

Rafts of people are going around day after day, month after month, year after year, half dead. Dead from the neck up or dead from the neck down. What do they live for? They don't know. Should you ask them they would look at you blankly. They tell day after day just to get something to eat, a place to sleep, and something to wear, and maybe an occasional drink of moonshine. Happs? No, they are not happy. No satisfaction out of life, nothing to it but drab desolation. Plodding along in a treadmill. And they will plod along in that treadmill until somebody finally pays some undertaker $92.50 or less to pot them away.

A little boy astonished his mother one night by praying, "Lord let us live until we die." Whether that youngster was a born sage, whether he was parroting something he had heard some older person say, or whether he just happened to sling together some words that meant something the world will never know; but that little boy spoke a parable.

"Lord, let us live until we die!" What a glorious thing it is to live a full life, to live, really live! To feel that one is a part of the world and helping to make it go, that one has a job to perform and is performing that job, that one is delivering the goods, even though one is delivering them from the butcher, the baker or the candlestickmaker. Which reminds me that a chap who seemed to get as much out of life as anyone I have ever known was a delivery boy. And another such individual was a street car conductor. Lord, how he did enjoy life! He had something happy to say to nearly everybody who climbed into his car. He passed up and down the aisle spilling cheery remarks right and left. He seemed to breathe in life and emanate life. Yet he was just a street car conductor. He bought a home about three blocks from the end of the line on which his car ran so he could drop off and have a few minutes with his wife and children each time he came out that way. Of course he did not remain a street car conductor. The fellow was living too much life not to go higher. The last I heard of him a real estate man had taken him into partnership and he had cleaned up a million dollars. Folks liked to come in contact with him, there was so much life about him.

The commonest thing around us is life, the most plentiful thing around us is life. The sun is full of it, the air is full of it, the earth is full of it, the grass is full of it, the flowers, the trees, the bees, the birds, are full of it, everything is full of it.

Yes, indeed what is the use of going around half dead when there is so much life to be had for the taking. Who wants a funeral even at $92.50?

LOCAL ADVERTISING

This is the age of selling. At the present time particular emphasis is not being given to buying. Farmers are ahead of other classes of people in knowing how to buy. They seem to be lagging behind other folk in knowledge of selling. Selling is an art obtained from study and practice.

Advertising is an important part of all selling efforts. Note the manufacturers and commercial people advertising through the papers. It must pay or they would not do it year after year. Also note that special drives are started when the manufacturers become convinced that they must keep the demand up to their production. Recent advertising drives by automobile manufacturers is an illustration. Their production was running ahead of their sales, consequently the increase in advertising.

Probably in no section of the country is there as great an opportunity for increasing sales of locally grown products as in the south. The potential demand for fruits, vegetables, flowers, meats, poultry products, eggs, homemade cakes, corn meal, plants and shrubbery has never been supplied. During recent years farmers have felt the need for diversified income and are learning the value of getting cash returns week after week, month after month.

This need has brought about an attempt to sell the products locally to people living in nearby towns and cities.

Personal solicitation was of course the first necessary step to get a line of customers. The curb markets were organized efforts to sell farm products.

Special progress has been made in both instances. In those communities where such efforts have been under way for several years, the producer feels as though they have reached their limit—that is they are now producing all that the demand will take.

My observations show that even in the most outstanding instances, not over a half of the potential demand is being filled. The thing that needs to be done where local producers feel that they are over-producing for the local markets is to advertise their commodities.

Use the local papers for a systematic campaign. If possible get together on this effort. Use posters telling about what is for sale. Use circular letters direct to those who are not patronizing the producers. Use price as an inducement to get new customers. Follow this up with quality commodities and service. All in all remember the three elements of selling—quality, price and service.—J. W. Fittor, in The Progressive Farmer.

TEXAS LOSES CLAIM TO 225,000 ACRES

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The appeal of Texas to enforce its claim to 225,000 acres of land in Travis county, acquired by David Faskan, a Canadian, was dismissed by the supreme court Tuesday for want of jurisdiction. Texas sought to obtain the land under the alien land law which prohibits foreigners from acquiring land in the state. The suit was dismissed in the lower court on the ground that Faskan was entitled to own land in the state under treaty right. The state appealed directly to the supreme court.

RESIDENT WOULD KEEP UP DEFENSE

ARLINGTON, NATIONAL CEMETERY, Va., May 23.—Surviving veterans of three wars assembled here to honor their dead, today heard President Coolidge pledge his leadership in an effort to cement an international relationship based not on a meeting of bayonets but on a meeting of minds.

Stretching out over the rolling slopes of the amphitheater stood thousands of crosses, each bearing a blood-red poppy, nodding affirmation as the president spoke, urging good will rather than force and misdirected jealousies.

"We want our intercourse with the world nations to rest on justice and fair dealings and mutual observance of all rightful obligations in discharge of international law.

"We have sufficient reserve forces that we need not be hasty in asserting our rights. We can afford to let our patience be commensurate with our power."

The president recognized the envy with which other powers regard America. Crosses of the nations, and he patterned the proposed conduct of his nation accordingly.

"In our efforts to follow the path of peace, we cannot escape the fact that there are still evil forces in the world which all past experience warns us will break out from time to time and do serious damage to lawful rights, and the progress of civilization unless we are prepared to meet such situations with armed intervention. We could no more dispense with our military forces than we could with our police forces. While we are able by international covenants to limit them in size, to consent to their abolition would be to expose ourselves first to aggression and finally destruction.

"If we are sincere in our expressed determination to maintain tranquility at home and peace abroad, we must not neglect to lay our course in accordance with the established facts of life. We know we have come into possession of wealth and power. There is scarcely a civilized nation that is not our debtor. We are often the objects of envy. Unless we maintain sufficient forces to be placed at points of peril when they arrive, there would be grave danger that we should suffer from violent outbreaks, so compromising our honor that war would become inevitable. It is to protect ourselves from such peril that we maintain our national defense."

The United States can best achieve the universal peace by making itself a model of righteousness and morality on which other nations may lean, President Coolidge said.

"If we desire to be an influence in law and order, tranquility and good will in the world, we must be determined to make sufficient sacrifices to live by these precepts at home. We can be a moral force in the world only to the extent we become moral at home."

DOTHAN

The pie supper Saturday night under the auspices of the 4 H club boys and girls netted approximately $54. It is sufficient to send three members to the A & M short course. Preceding the auction of pies the Lobo band gave several selections. Short talks were made by Mrs. Drake, Miss Ruth Ramey, J. C. Patterson, E. H. Varnell and Charlie Gray of Cisco. Mr. Gray auctioned off the articles donated by the merchants of Cisco. The thermo jug donated by the Elliott

BEDFORD

Bedford is a little community nesting in the hills about eight miles northeast of Cisco. It maintains a two-teacher school with approximately fifty pupils enrolled, and plenty of cultivated land, livestock and poultry.

Thursday night at the school house the 4 H boys and girls gave a pie supper, the proceeds of which were to defray the expenses of two representatives to the short course at A. & M. this July. Owing to the patronage of Cisco and Eastland friends a net balance of $36 was realized. Much merriment was created when J. E. T. Peters of the Cisco chamber of commerce and George Briggs of the Eastland chamber of commerce were nominated as the ugliest men, to receive the cake. Mr. Briggs might have won but in the last sitting he put up 100 votes which put Mr. Peters in the lead. At some near future date this place hopes to entertain when it "has an axe to grind."

Lucille Sprull has returned from a week's visit in San Saba, stopping over Saturday and Sunday in Fort Worth visiting friends attending T. W. C.

Cisco Bathing Pool Outranks Ft. Worth's

"After seeing Fort Worth's new million dollar amusement center and other swimming resorts of Fort Worth, the latter satisfied an I with our own Lake Cisco bathing beach and kindred attractions, we are building here," declared Frank Harrell, president of the Lake Cisco Amusement company. Mr. Harrell, Mrs. Harrell, and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. T. Peters attended the opening of the Lake Worth resort Saturday night. "I found that our bathing beach will be far superior to the Lake Worth resort or the pools at any of the other parks, and our beach will be much better equipped with pleasure devices than theirs. Their bath house is old and not modern in its appointments, and does not compare with ours. They have fewer boats than we have on Lake Cisco, and their fishing is not so good. The only point in which they have us bested is in the riding devices and 'skin games' and I have my doubts as to the value of the latter. As for riding devices, we shall have them in the course of time."

Former Ciscoan on Visit Here

Claude C. Wild, formerly a well known Cisco citizen, but now a resident of Amarillo, where he is assistant secretary of the chamber of commerce, is in Cisco for a few days. When he returns home he will be accompanied by Mrs. Wild and their little son, who have been guests of Mrs. Laura Wild, Mr. Wild's mother. Mr. Wild has been here meeting his numerous old-time friends since he arrived, but took time to visit Lake Cisco this morning. He was amazed at the fine bridge over Williamson dam, state highway No. 23, the state fish hatchery and the work now under way by the Lake Cisco Amusement company—all of these projects having been started since his last visit—and was loud in praise of the vision and energy of local leaders and the community spirit that has been so helpful in bringing these fine undertakings to successful fruition. During his long residence in Cisco Mr. Wild was an earnest worker in the chamber of commerce, was largely instrumental in the organization of the Cisco Rotary club and will long be remembered by many warm friends and well wishers.

GOVERNOR SENDS IN ELEVEN NEW SUBJECTS

AUSTIN, June 2.—Eleven additional subjects were submitted to the legislature Tuesday by Governor Dan Moody, only four of them being of local nature. Items of general legislation were:

Providing that loan brokers should register and regulating their operations.

Authorizing the creation of junior college districts.

Providing for the investment of state funds in government bonds.

Authorizing cities, towns and villages to improve streets.

Providing penalties for operation of slot machines and other gambling devices.

Relating to liens for street improvements.

Ratifying and adopting the Canadian river compact of the states of Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

Three of the local laws permit the organization of water control and improvement districts in Cameron county.

The other bill was to create and establish the Harris County-Houston ship channel navigation district for the purpose of developing deep water navigation and the improvement of streams within or adjacent to the district with the power to acquire and maintain docks and other harbor facilities.

With Charlie Gray acting as auctioneer, the pie supper at Dothan Friday night resulted in big success, according to Ciscoans who attended. There was a large attendance of Dothan residents present, and the following went from Cisco: R. L. Poe, Charles Arnold, Charles Gray and E. H. Varnell. Brief talks were made by Principal Drake, County Agent J. C. Patterson and Home Demonstration Agent Ruth Ramey. A bottle of perfume donated by Tomlin-Young Drug Co. of Cisco brought $6.75, and a thermos jug donated by the Elliott Drug Co. netted $12.75. Total receipts for the event reached $56.75, and this will be used to send a boy and a girl from the Dothan Four H club to the short course at A. & M. college. Representatives from this club will also attend the annual boys and girls' encampment which will be held this year at Eastland Friday and Saturday.

DENTON HOTEL TO OPEN

DENTON, May 31.—Formal opening of the new Godwin hotel, which is virtually completed now, has been set for Friday evening, June 3, it is announced by Clyde M. Godwin, owner. The opening is expected to draw a large crowd of Denton citizens and out-of-town people, as in the construction of the hotel Denton has realized an ambition of many years and the chamber of commerce gave a bonus of $20,000 to secure the building.

WIRTZ SAYS SOLONS WORK FOR GOVERNOR

AUSTIN, June 2.—The question of whether the senate is supposed to legislate "for the governor or for the people of Texas," was one of the inquiries hurled by Senator Wirtz of Seguin in the senate chamber during heated debates over the pending highway legislation. The white-haired dean of the senate, John Bailey of Cuero, threw a bombshell into the opposition camp with his announcement that he intended to follow the leadership of Governor Moody.

"I was not a Moody man during the gubernatorial campaign—I was for Davidson," Bailey said, "but as long as the democrats elect me senator from my district, I'll give careful consideration to any measure approved by the governor."

"I know that Governor Moody is opposed to the Stuart highway bill," Bailey continued. "He regards it as a slap at the present highway commissioners. Governor Moody made his campaign on a promise to give the people a more efficient administration in highway matters. I want to give him a free hand in naming the commissioners and rehabilitating the highway department."

Wirtz led the counter-attack. "Can Bailey logically account for his assertion a few minutes ago that he favored administrative measures when his record shows that he firmly opposed the passage of the manslaughter bill—sponsored by Governor Moody—and is going to fight the civil service measure, a 'pet' measure of the governor?" the senator from Seguin demanded.

"Bailey, at the beginning of the session, got in on one side of the bed, and then shifted and got to the other side," Wirtz charged.

On motion of Senator Wood, one of the administration leaders in the senate, further discussion of highway legislation was halted for the time being.

for Davidson," Bailey said, "but as long as the democrats elect me senator from my district, I'll give careful consideration to any measure approved by the governor."

"I know that Governor Moody is opposed to the Stuart highway bill," Bailey continued. "He regards it as a slap at the present highway commissioners. Governor Moody made his campaign on a promise to give the people a more efficient administration in highway matters. I want to give him a free hand in naming the commissioners and rehabilitating the highway department."

Wirtz led the counter-attack. "Can Bailey logically account for his assertion a few minutes ago that he favored administrative measures when his record shows that he firmly opposed the passage of the manslaughter bill—sponsored by Governor Moody—and is going to fight the civil service measure, a 'pet' measure of the governor?" the senator from Seguin demanded.

"Bailey, at the beginning of the session, got in on one side of the bed, and then shifted and got to the other side," Wirtz charged.

On motion of Senator Wood, one of the administration leaders in the senate, further discussion of highway legislation was halted for the time being.

WIRTZ SAYS SOLONS WORK FOR GOVERNOR

AUSTIN, June 2.—The question of whether the senate is supposed to legislate "for the governor or for the people of Texas," was one of the inquiries hurled by Senator Wirtz of Seguin in the senate chamber during heated debates over the pending highway legislation. The white-haired dean of the senate, John Bailey of Cuero, threw a bombshell into the opposition camp with his announcement that he intended to follow the leadership of Governor Moody.

"I was not a Moody man during the gubernatorial campaign—I was for Davidson," Bailey said, "but as long as the democrats elect me senator from my district, I'll give careful consideration to any measure approved by the governor."

"I know that Governor Moody is opposed to the Stuart highway bill," Bailey continued. "He regards it as a slap at the present highway commissioners. Diamonds at Our Own Door

Al Hafed, the Arab, in his desire to go to a far distant diamond field, sold for a trifle his own home and garden in order to raise sufficient funds with which to pay his way.

The garden which he sold, later proved to be the land on which is located the famous diamond mines of Golconda. And so it goes. Opportunities—big opportunities are lost every day. There are diamonds at our own door if we would only look for them.

Even in a small way—in business, this very thing is going on right here in our city and rural section. People, very thoughtlessly, are buying goods in other cities when they can get just as good or better right here for the same money or less.

Why play the part of the Arab?

Why spend your money with those who do not contribute a dollar in taxes toward the schooling of your son or daughter?
