Heavy Rain Proves Boon to Cisco Crops

Chamberlain, Levine Disappointed When Gas Gives Out and Propeller Breaks Before They Reach Berlin

OLD HOME TOWN

"I wish to congratulate you on making such wonderful improvements on the 'News' since I saw it last," writes George B. Ely from Fort Worth. "I think the article, 'A Sketch of Texas History' as printed in the first number I received is a real gem, and I sure was delighted with it. It is worth the price of the paper, and I hope for some more such gems."

The fame of Cisco's business prosperity and its possession of good public schools and Randolph college has reached South Bend and has succeeded in persuading one of its citizens to cast his lot with Cisco. C. F. Pratt and his family are now here seeking a house in which to live. He has already rented the former chamber of commerce building at 415 Main street where he will open a grocery store. His daughter, Miss Faye Pratt, who is a graduate bookkeeper, will be his business manager. A son has entered the summer class at the high school and will be a member of the senior class during the fall session. Mr. Pratt said the fact that Cisco possesses a good public school system and Randolph college is the main reason for his selecting this city as his future home. Mr. Pratt has had many years experience in the grocery business and expects to use the columns of the Daily News and Cisco American to carry his message to his former co-workers.

Mrs. George Leopold, who underwent an operation at Graham sanitarium about a week ago, has returned to her home and is doing very nicely.

It was announced that a Sunday school picnic would be held on July 4 when the losers would furnish the "cats." C. D. Phillips is the superintendent of the Sunday school and Rev. William S. Souterland is the pastor of the church. A picture of the school was made at the close of the service.

CORN, SORGHUM GRAINS TO BE AIDED GREATLY

Rain which fell late Sunday in Cisco and generally over Central West Texas will prove a great blessing to corn and sorghum grains, it was declared Monday after reports of rainfall in every direction from Cisco had been received. In Cisco the downpour totaled an inch, but at other points the fall varied. Between Gorman and De Leon the downpour was so heavy as to hold up traffic Sunday night on the Cisco-De Leon highway. Baird and points south of there received a heavy drenching, while rain also fell at Rising Star following a small squall. The rain started falling in Cisco about 8 o'clock and fell for some time, benefitting lawns and flowers in town, and aiding field crops outside.

A trip made before the rain Sunday by a representative of the Daily News revealed that many sections in the territory surrounding Cisco had been visited by rains in recent weeks, and that growing crops were in good condition. Starting at Breckenridge, the reporter went to Ranger, Eastland, Carbon, Gorman, Rising Star, Pioneer, Cross Plains, Cottonwood, Admiral, Baird, Putnam, Dothan and back to Cisco. At every point, crops looked to be in excellent condition and in no need of rain. Corn had a good color, while sorghum grains appeared to be flourishing. In the section southeast of Cisco, particularly around Carbon and Gorman and towards Okra, plenty of rain appeared to have been received, and crops were green. Toward Breckenridge most of the farms seen had raised little else but grain, and this was in the shock or had been thrashed. Garden truck in the sandy land section southeast of Cisco was flourishing particularly.

Lake Cisco received a small flow from the rain, it was reported by persons who inspected the reservoir Monday morning. Excavation for the Lake Cisco bathing bench was hindered during the morning, but teams were put to work in the afternoon. Other work on the pool was not delayed.

Water Treaty With Other States Wins

AUSTIN, June 6.—The lower house today ratified the compact between the states of Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas and Texas for control of waters flowing from the Canadian river. Ratification means that the waters of the Canadian river will ultimately be diverted to the Texas Panhandle through construction of reservoir dams. This compact is subject to congressional approval.

The house also passed finally the McCombs bill leaving to the discretion of district judges whether to grant severances in cases where defendants are jointly indicted for an offense growing out of the same transaction.

SHEPARD SAYS OUTLOOK GOOD FOR BUSINESS

Fleet Shepard, manager of the Cisco Furniture company, has just returned from a manager's meeting of the West Texas Wholesale Furniture company at their offices in Abilene.

Mr. Shepard reports a very optimistic gathering of managers and factory representatives. Many topics concerning the furniture business were discussed, one of which is of interest to the buyer; namely, the cutting of expenses of operation, which of course allows for the lowering of prices to the consumer. Bigger buying, thorough organization and system throughout, will allow for a closer margin of profit, he said.

He reports that his organization anticipates no decline in prices in the near future, and will buy 50 cars for July. Satisfactory sales were generally reported all over this section, and the outlook for future sales is very promising, according to Mr. Shepard.

SENATE VOTES DOWN LOVE'S ELECTION BILL

AUSTIN, June 6.—The Texas senate went on record today as opposed to appointment of a committee of five to investigate campaign expenditures in the campaign of 1927, introduced by Senator Love of Dallas.

"Publicity is the best method by which campaign expenditures can be controlled," said Love. "It was charged during the last campaign that large contributions were made by special interests. I want the people in the next campaign to know who is putting up the money." Senator Fairchild, friend of James E. Ferguson, said the committee would be only another weapon by which a political clique may control elections.

Senator Fairchild, friend of Love, with the free conference committee report on rural school aid. The bill as passed by both houses carried a biennial appropriation of $3,000,000. The committee increased this fund by $250,000 for paying tuition fees of rural students who transfer to city high schools. Definite action has not been taken on the resolution.

The senate by adopting Senator Fairchild's resolution called upon the railroad commission to show why passenger fares in Texas are higher than allowed by the statutes.

Aerial Kidnaping of Society Girl First on Record

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 6.—The first air kidnaping on record is being investigated here today. Noreen Burke beautiful society girl, is missing and Charles LaJette, aviator, who is said to have been infatuated with her, persuaded her, according to police, to get into his plane here yesterday and then flew away, nobody knows where, to plead his suit in air lanes. Nothing has been heard of the couple since they left. County and state police are searching all airports in Southern California for them.

Chicago Cooks, Rides, Sees, Thanks to Mr. Samuel Insull

One of the most powerful figures in the middle west, whose interests extend well-beyond Chicago, is now the chief figure in a plan of unified transportation control. Insull came to this country as a stenographer for Thomas A. Edison.

By L. E. EARLY, International Illustrated News Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO (I-N)—Chicago cooks breakfast on Insull gas, rides to work on Insull cars, listens to Insull grand opera, reads by Insull electric lights and, say some, votes for candidates picked by Mr. Samuel Insull.

One of the most spectacular figures in American history has been brought to the fore again by a series of movements that ended with him in control of Chicago's street cars, bus lines and elevated railroads. For twenty years Chicago has talked about consolidation of traction. Figure after figure in politics and finance has attempted it. Recently the Aldermen spent $1,600,000 in trying to devise a plan, and just about the time that they had given up it was announced that Insull had made his own plan and put it into execution. Insull came to America in 1880 as secretary to Thomas A. Edison. He was born in England, and had started out as an office boy, studying stenography in his spare time. He made the acquaintance of Edison's London manager, and he recommended that Edison send for the twenty-one-year-old youngster. Edison did. Insull is a natural manager. He did everything for Edison, handling bond transactions and buying his neckties. He soon found himself organizing Edison's businesses, and in 1892 was made second vice-president of the General Electric Company. A few months later he resigned to take over the presidency of a Chicago electric company. With this as a toehold he climbed rapidly up the heights he holds today. He extended his electric interests all over the middle West, he entered the gas business, taking over a Chicago company on the verge of bankruptcy and making it pay, he took over struggling electric lines and made them pay, and half a dozen other public utilities came under his control. The Chicago Opera Company was losing money, and Insull was asked to save it. He insolubilized it, and now it's one of the best financed companies in America. As a contributor to political campaigns, Insull is one of nature's noblemen. Senatorial investigations have revealed that he's been very generous, contributing, in some instances to both sides of a single fight. The public utility problem has always been linked with politics, and some see a connection between Insull's interest in politics and his latest coup. Whether there is or not, it's certain that Insull is now probably the most powerful man in the city today, and that he's unified the traction lines of Chicago, which Chicago has wanted for years.

Chamberlain Beats Lindbergh Record About 300 Miles

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Chamberlain, in the New York to Germany flight, exceeded Lindbergh's long distance record by approximately 200 miles, officials of the U. S. Geological survey said. The air line distance to Isenleben is 3,905 miles, but Chamberlain may have exceeded that distance by deviations from the route on account of the weather. His time was approximately 12 hours.

FRENCH FLYERS FAIL TO SET DISTANCE MARK

PARIS, June 6.—The French flyers, Coste and Rignot, who set out Saturday morning in an attempt to outdistance Captain Charles A. Lindbergh, landed in the region of Tolobsk, Siberia, after traveling 3,125 miles, mostly through rain and fog according to word received here today. They flew 25 hours and 30 minutes continuously over Europe and Asiatic Russia. However, Clarence D. Chamberlain now holds the distance record, having beaten both the French and Lindbergh's record.

CHAMBERLAIN FLIGHT MOVES KING ALBERT

OSTEND, Belgium, June 6.—"I am greatly moved by the flight of Clarence Chamberlain and I hope this will be another step toward bringing the nations closer together," said King Albert today in addressing the Rotary International convention. He was warmly greeted as he entered amid blare of bands. President Rodgers sent a telegram to Clarence Chamberlain congratulating him upon his "great achievement." "I am tickled to death," said Bruce Gates of Waterloo, Iowa, governor of the Iowa Rotary club, when he learned of Chamberlain's feat. "Lindbergh also came from near Iowa. Believe me, we are proud."

COOLIDGE AND KELLOGG CABLE CONGRATULATIONS

Noted British Aerial Ace Dies in Fall

BOURNEMOUTH, Eng., June 6.—W. H. Longton, royal air force squadron leader and ace of the English stunt flyers, was killed today when his airplane collided in midair with another machine during an aerial tournament.

BERLIN, June 6.—Having spanned the Atlantic and broken all long distance flight records, ill fortune pursued Clarence Chamberlain and his Bellanca plane today when he tried to fly from Isenleben to Berlin, his ultimate goal. Chamberlain was forced to make an emergency landing at Copping, some 65 miles from Berlin, and broke his propeller in landing. As soon as word of Chamberlain's forced landing was received here, an emergency plane was sent out with spare parts to repair the propeller, if possible, and if not, to bring the flyer and his companion, Charles Levine, here where a great crowd awaits them. Chamberlain's fortune which had carried him and his passenger safely over the Atlantic changed when he reached Germany. Heavy fogs during the night apparently caused the pilot to get off his course and lack of fuel forced him to land at Isenleben, 110 miles from Berlin. Having refused, Chamberlain took off at 9:35 last night for Berlin, but half way to his goal, he suffered propeller trouble, and was forced to land. It is believed now that Chamberlain may have to postpone his flight to Berlin in as much as he has now been 70 hours without sleep.

Copping is in Silesia, and is a town of considerable size. Chamberlain was taking a round about route from Isenleben to Berlin. At Isenleben he took on 100 litres of gasoline, enough for only a flight of a little more than two hours. His plane was sighted over Copping an hour and a half after he left Isenleben. As soon as word of his misfortune was received at Luftwaffe flying field, a relief plane was sent out, prepared to offer facilities to Chamberlain to resume his flight in a borrowed plane, if desired.

A great crowd of more than 10,000 persons had waited throughout the night at Tempelhofen flying field. As time for their arrival came and passed and the hours dragged by without news, gloom spread over the waiting throng and it was feared that the Columbia had crashed in the heavy fogs. Ambassador Schurman, of the United States, waited with scores of high German and foreign officials to welcome the flyers.

Burglars Enter Five Business Houses Here But Get Only Watch, Pennies and an Empty Money Safe

Burglars who broke into five business houses in Cisco Sunday night after stealing a truck from the H. O. Wooten Wholesale Grocery company with which to cart away their loot, were rewarded only by a few pennies, a watch and an empty safe, a check up Monday morning revealed. The safe was stolen from the Broadway Auto Service and according to W. E. Simmons, proprietor, contained no money and was unlocked. The watch was taken from the A. P. Slater grocery store on E. Avenue. The White Way Filling station was visited by the burglars, but they failed to get in after having bored holes around the lock with the evident intention of breaking it out. It is believed they were probably interrupted before getting in. At the Exide Battery company on South Main, a Yale lock was taken off in this manner, and the burglars entered. A few pennies contained in the loot here. The Continental Oil company wholesale station on East Fourteenth street was entered in similar manner, but so far as could be ascertained, nothing was taken. The safe was recovered Monday shortly before noon just outside the city limits on the Rising Star road, behind a small house. The knob had been knocked off. No trace of the stolen truck had been discovered.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Have Narrow Escape in Auto Accident; Buy Pedigreed Chickens and Dairy Stock for Farm

Mr. and Mrs. R. Q. Lee had a narrow escape from serious injury Friday at College Station when their automobile was run into and turned over by an army truck in use at A. & M. college, they reported on their return here. The only injury suffered was a painful bruise on Mr. Lee's knee, although the car suffered the loss of its fenders and one wheel. Mrs. Lee, driving the car, was unhurt. She said she started to pass the truck, and that just as she came along side, the truck swerved into her car, the driver explaining later he did not see her and was attempting to avoid a herd of cattle in the road. The Lee car turned completely over into the ditch. The Ciscoans had been on a trip to Navasota to purchase some chickens for their model farm here. They bought 250 Rocks at College Station and 250 Rhode Island Reds at College Station. On the way home, they bought 20 pedigreed Jersey heifers and a fine bull at Cleburne for use on the dairy at the model farm. The chickens and dairy stock will be shipped to the farm at once, it was said. At A. & M. college, a whole morning was spent visiting the various departments. The couple visited the experiment station operated by the college and obtained, they said, much information of their value in development of much farm here.

A FITTER TRIBUTE

The great, warm hearted public is hard on its heroes. Consider the case of Charles Lindbergh. Apparently that young man had in mind several definite and sensible plans to be carried out if he reached Paris. The flight, which has so thrilled the world, seems to have been to him just a part of the day's work. It was a more hazardous and unusual part than his normal routine. But he tackled it like an aviator and not like a would-be hero.

THE HANDY POST CARD

The young business woman whose friend had been trying to get her on the telephone for a week in vain lamented that more people do not acquire the post card habit. A friend may telephone her when she is crossing the street toward her apartment. Friend gets no answer, and decides that she is out for the evening. Next evening friend telephones during the five minutes while she has gone down to the janitor's suite to get a package delivered during the day and held there for her.

LESS INSANITY AND STRESS

Some of our indefatigable statisticians, aided and abetted by alienists, give an impression that the world is going crazy. They revel in figures tending to show that insanity is rapidly increasing, and they explain the alleged increase by the complexity and stress of modern life. And because modern life seems to be growing steadily more complex and stressful, the situation looks hopeful.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

In the last ten years the population of the United States has increased about 12 per cent. In the same period, the Bureau of Railway Economics finds, the consumption of fruits and vegetables has increased 77 per cent. That is to say, consumption of fruits and vegetables has increased more than six times as fast as population. At this rate, our people are doubling their fruit and vegetable diet in about a dozen years. This indicates a remarkable change in dietetic habits. It is not likely that people are eating a larger quantity of food, so they must be eating more fresh vegetables and less grain and meat. The figures show a big increase for nearly all the common vegetables and fruits, but especially for tomatoes, apples, cabbage, lemons, celery, grapes, grapefruit and lettuce. Grapefruit and grapes have more than doubled in 10 years and lettuce has more than quadrupled.

FASHED PARENTAL PLANS.

Every now and then one hears some parent bemoaning the fact that his boy or girl has chosen to forsake a path of brilliant possibility and wander off into some course of drab mediocrity. If the boy had within him the gift for being a great artist, nothing in the world could stop him. If the girl were endowed with the ability to be a splendid virtuoso, nobody could head her off.

WILDCAT NEAR BAIT SHOWS OIL AT 1,200

BAIRD, June 6.—Another interesting wildcat well that is on top of the sand at 1200 feet, with a nice showing of oil is that of Kaiser & Star No. 1 Gilliland, in the north-west quarter of section 124, B. B. & C. Ry. Co. survey, three miles south of Baird. This is the first well in this part of the county to have a showing of oil in the 1200 foot horizon, several having had a showing of dry gas and this test will be watched with a great deal of interest.

In the extreme southwestern part of the county the Mission Oil company is swabbing and cleaning out the rotary mud in its No. 1, in section 9, block 6, S. P. Ry. Co. survey, having topped the seal at 1829 feet to 1845 feet and was drilled to 1852 feet. This well is showing some oil and gas, but little is known about it at this time.

J. C. Cooke No. 1 McCoy & Hill ranch, J. P. Collins survey, just west of the Belle Plaine field, is being plugged at 1180 feet.

Oyster & Rife of Abilene have made a location for a test to be drilled on the S. C. Pittman survey, in the south central part of Callahan county.

Empire Gas & Fuel Company No. 1 Will Johnson, in section 146, G. H. & H. Ry. Co. survey, near the Coleman county line, is being swabbed and bailed, trying to bring back the gas, which it had around 4000 feet. If successful in bringing back the gas, it will be shut in.

Drew Benn's No. 1 Jackson in section 14, E. T. R. Co. survey, which had sand from 914 to 924 feet, was shot with 20 quarts and is estimated good for 25 barrels. The production from this well will be shut in until market conditions change.

The following article concerning Cyrus H. Drury is taken from the Detroit (Mich.) News and will be of interest to a large number of Cisco people. Mr. Drury operated several stock companies in Cisco during 1921 to 1923, and drilled what is known as the Luse No. 1 oil well at the end of South Main street. Cisco people did not participate in Mr. Drury's oil stock ventures, but he left a number of unpaid bills when he departed and one Cisco man has a $9,000 court judgment against him. However, those who know him say they are confident he will settle all local indebtedness if he is ever in a position to do so. The Detroit news item says:

"Cyrus H. Drury, whose activities in Detroit several years ago attracted considerable attention, yesterday was sentenced in the circuit court of Tuscola county, Ill., to pay a fine of $2,000 and serve three years in jail. He was charged with operating a confidence game with such success that the Hindsboro, Ill. State bank was forced to close its doors after he had most of the cash in it.

"Drury was known here as the promoter of the Drury Petroleum corporation, and later as promoter of a power company in Arizona. After the Better Business Bureau had charged that claims made by agents selling stock in the latter company were exaggerated, the Detroit offices were closed and later the permits of the company were cancelled by the Arizona corporation commission.

"Drury also was in the public eye two years ago, when he was sued for breach of promise by Mrs. Marie Thredgold, 470 Newport avenue, Mrs. Thredgold, who charged him with promising to marry her and then wedding another woman, asked $50,000 damages. She was awarded $14,800 by a jury sitting before Judge Alfred J. Murphy in the circuit court.

"His conviction in Illinois came after he had deposited a worthless check for $20,000 in the Hindsboro bank, drawing $17,000 against it before its nature was discovered. He then was said to have given the bank worthless stocks in settlement.

Kenneth Barnard, manager of the Better Business Bureau of Detroit, was a character witness for the prosecution.

"There are a number of people in the western part of Huron county who remember Drury to their sorrow. As the promoter of Drury Oil corporation, he succeeded in disposing of between $75,000 and $100,000 of stock in this part of the county. The company turned out to be a failure."

BUSINESS IN MORE HOPEFUL CONDITION NOW

NEW YORK, June 6.—The past week has seen a continuation of hopeful business and financial conditions, with distinct improvement in a few lines and an ability on the part of others to hold their own which promises well. The announcement that current steel activity is about 85 per cent of capacity furnishes the reply to the fears that have been entertained by some on the ground that steel demand was showing a slight shrinkage. In other branches of business the outlook is also favorable, and the first of the month reports of the federal reserve system show a general increase in the volume of sales both at retail and wholesale, while turnover has been satisfactory in nearly all lines. The definite announcement of the new treasury financing is in line with what had already been foreshadowed, and while the rate of 3 3/8 per cent for the proposed 15-20-year bonds is a close one, the market is disposed to receive the offering favorably in the belief that the present management of the treasury department can accomplish many things that might be impossible for others.

Market Review and Outlook. In view of the fact that issues have been so readily and so uninterruptedly advanced for a good while past, it is not strange that there has developed an attitude of considerable conservatism in many quarters. Not a few traders have been inclined to specialize more than ever, devoting themselves to the study of particular groups of shares, and limiting their purchases only to those that represent industries which are in an obviously growing and improving condition. This applies particularly to the rails which have continued to soar for reasons of their own. The fact that the unfavorable decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission relative to the right of New York to include the Big Four road in its family group had so little effect on railroad values only goes to show how firmly entrenched are the shares of the common carriers. As often pointed out these stocks have been and are being absorbed to such an extent that they are growing as scarce as hens' teeth. Still the attitude of the Interstate Commerce Commission makes it clear that many of the contemplated mergers are likely to meet with opposition from that body. Therefore it is not safe to purchase railway shares solely with that object in mind, particularly as market values of this group have been advanced so tremendously during recent months. Even among those who are not inclined to be bullish in any sense of the word there is considerable difference of opinion as to the future course of prices, especially in view of the fact that bakers' loans have continued to show so strong a tendency to advance. However, good opportunities for trading in the general market are expected to continue for some time to come, barring of course unfavorable developments in the general business situation which are now definitely in sight. Some ups and downs are of course to be expected, although from present appearances nothing that is at all out of the ordinary, as there is a general confidence that abundance of cheap money will be available for a good while to come.

The fight for business leadership is no monkey business in this day and age, as is evidenced by the latest report from commercial centers—and which has to do directly with the future of towns exactly the size of Cisco.

It has been learned that the big mail order houses now maintain a department, the duty of whose staff is to read weekly newspapers from all over the country and continually make a survey of the different districts to learn of mail order selling possibilities.

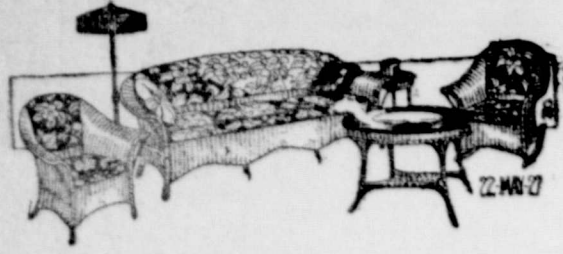

And, it is a fact—that immediately that department finds a town or country wherein the local merchants are not using the local paper to advertise their merchandise to the trade—that district is immediately flooded with catalogues—because it is virgin territory and the mail order houses have learned that they can do GOOD business there.

We pass this information along to business leaders of Cisco and assure them that all of our support is of course with them. We maintain a local advertising service which can be used to advantage—and for such service we make no extra charge. Come in or phone and we will call. Business goes to those who go after it.

The next great air flight will be the spanning of the Pacific. Expeditions are under way to fly from Vancouver, San Francisco and Los Angeles to Sydney, Australia, via Hawaii. Plans are also being made for flights to the Philippines and Japan. This recalls the efforts of the late Commander John Rodgers.

Rodgers and a crew of four to fly from San Francisco to Honolulu. They were lost for more than a week before found drifting within a short distance of the goal. The inductor compass, used by Charles Lindbergh on his flight from New York to Paris, makes the Pacific flight more feasible.

Aviators Planning to Hop Across the Western Ocean

SAN FRANCISCO (I.N. Special)—The next epic of the air—the conquest of the Pacific! Charles Lindbergh's flight from New York to Paris has turned aviators to speculation on the possibilities of spanning the great waters to the west.

Dozens of aviators are now seeking backing for flights from San Francisco, Los Angeles, or Vancouver to Australia, the Philippines or Japan. The United States Navy has long had plans drawn for a hop to the Philippines. And at least three fliers are already making preparations for the flight to Australia.

The late Captain John Clark, of the Royal Air Force, flying Officer Gilbert Jenkins, of Melbourne, Australia, and Engineer L. T. Palmer, formerly of the Royal Canadian Air Force. They have contracted for a Sikorski plane and have visited Vancouver to make preliminary arrangements. They intended, they said, to hop off some time this summer.

The flight across the Pacific offers very little greater difficulties than the flight across the Atlantic. The distance is very little longer. Lindbergh's flight from San Diego to Paris, but the hops are of no greater distances. From the American mainland Hawaii would be the first stop of all flights. From there the planes could, as Clarke and his men plan to do, fly the Fanning and Fiji Islands, heading for Sydney, or make stops at any other of the thousands of islands that dot Oceania, where gasoline, supplies and tools could be stationed in advance. Between Honolulu and the Philippines stops could be made on any number of islands, possibly including Guam, Ocean Island and others in a straight line, and others the only land in a straight line between Honolulu and Japan, but by circling to the south other islands could be touched.

Weather conditions over the Pacific would probably be better than over the Atlantic. While tropical storms might be encountered west of Hawaii, there are periods each year when the atmosphere between San Francisco and Hawaii is calm. A prize of $50,000 was offered by the late Thomas H. Ince, in 1919, for the first trans-Pacific flight. Eddie Rickenbacker was one of several who planned to make the flight, but the offer expired before any planes were ready.

On of the things that makes the Pacific flight more attractive to aviators now is success Lindbergh had with his earth inductor compass, the invention of Maurice Hirtzington. The compass measures the angle between the brushes of the generator of the compass and the earth's magnetic field and enables the pilot to set his course at any angle to magnetic variations just as a ship's compass is, but it does not swing with the motion of the ship. The entire outfit weighs thirteen pounds.

LOS ANGELES WATER LINE BLOWN AGAIN

BISHOP, Cal., June 6.—Tourists arriving here report that the Los Angeles aqueduct has been dynamited again, the third time in two weeks, somewhere between Haiwee reservoir and Cottonwood power plant.

Traffic on the main highway into Inyo county is blocked. Extent of the damage has not been determined. The aqueduct siphon and penstock were considerably damaged in two blasts within 24 hours, May 17 and 28. Armed guards were rushed to the scene at the time with orders to shoot to kill suspicious characters found loitering near the aqueduct. Since that time the water war between ranchers and the city of Los Angeles has been quiet until today's outbreak.
