Sale of Gas Interests of Texas Company Will Aid Cisco, Manager of Utilities Says; to Build Line

Purchase of the Texas company gas interests by the Lone Star Gas company, announced this week, will have little other effect than that of giving Cisco a more abundant supply of gas than it now enjoys. P. W. Campbell, manager of the West Texas Utilities company, distributors of gas in Cisco, declared. The Cisco mains will be connected with the other lines of the Lone Star Gas company which already serves Eastland and Ranger, near which a large pumping plant is maintained. In addition, Mr. Campbell said, he is informed the company will lay a pipeline from the great gas fields in the Panhandle to Sweetwater, and then build a 10-inch line from Sweetwater to Cisco, connecting with the mains serving Dallas and Fort Worth. Lines will also probably be built to Ballinger and San Angelo, he said.

Mr. Campbell predicted development of the potentially great gas field north and west of Cisco discovered by the Adams and Moody well on the J. C. Dyer farm near Pueblo. This well has been making 25,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day, and Mr. Campbell said he believed other tests sunk in that area would bring in one of the greatest gas fields in the country. He said he expected that the Lone Star company would take a hand in development of this field as a source of supply for its fast growing business in many cities and towns of Texas.

NEW BRIDGE BEING BUILT FOR PUEBLO

Construction of a new steel bridge over Battle Creek to serve the Pueblo community, connecting it with State Highway 23, is going forward rapidly now, it was reported to directors of the chamber of commerce Wednesday night by R. L. Poe. The work is under supervision of County Commissioner Bert Britton. The bridge will be a modern structure, resting on concrete piers, and made principally of steel. A road to Pueblo from the bridge is to be graded, and will afford that community easy access to Cisco.

Scranton Women To Learn About Fair

The selection of articles and garden products for the coming community fair will be discussed by Miss Ruth Ramey, county demonstration agent, at the meeting Thursday of the women's club of Scranton.

CISCO WOMEN TOLD HOW TO HANDLE ICE

Scores of Cisco women Wednesday attended the demonstration of proper refrigeration, held in the chamber of commerce under direction of Mrs. Henry D. Linna, representative of the American Refrigeration corporation. Mrs. Linna gave many points of value in preserving of food and prevention of odors and dampness in refrigerators.

She first commented upon the necessity of refrigeration of perishable cartload freight while in transit, stating that it was just as necessary to have proper refrigeration after the food products were received in the home, as it was while the products were in transit. The most important article in the home, and the greatest health protection, she declared, is the proper managed refrigerator.

Another Big Crowd Hears Hanks Preach

Another capacity crowd attended the revival meeting now in progress at the Church of Christ last night, all available seats being filled. The minister, L. L. Hanks, announced as his subject "The Change of Heart," and used as his text, portions of the fifth chapter and thirteenth chapter of Matthew. "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God," and also used the parable of the sower, using a blackboard diagram showing different soils in which seed were sown. He used this illustration from an agricultural standpoint and from a spiritual standpoint.

Budget of $25,000 Adopted For 1928 by Chamber of Commerce; Lake Grounds to be Beautified

A budget of $20,000 for regular and specified expenditures and a contingent fund of $5,000 in 1928 was approved by directors of the chamber of commerce Wednesday night at a meeting. The budget will now be certified to the city council, which will soon take up the task of arranging a budget for next year for all city departments.

State Ready To Start On Game Farm

The state game, fish and oyster commission is ready to go ahead with development of its great game propagation farm at Lake Cisco, it was reported to the chamber of commerce directors Wednesday night. Engineer S. G. Garrett, who supervised construction of the state fish hatchery here, is expected to return to Cisco this week and survey the 600 acres donated by the city for the purpose. A strong fence is to be built around the farm and improved roads are to be constructed. The land given the state is rugged and wild, and affords an ideal place for breeding of wild life. Animals and birds are to be raised on the farm, and distribution to preserve game.

Manslaughter Against Prof. Banc After His Auto

ASHLAND, Ohio, June 16.—Prof. Bancroft and economics at Simmons being held by county authorities in connection with the death of a woman who was instantly killed when she was expected to have been driven to the hospital.

Refrigeration At Joint Utility

Proper refrigeration was the topic for discussion at the meeting of the women's public formation committee and the safety council of District B of West Texas Utilities company Tuesday night. The principal dress was delivered by Mrs. H. D. Linna, who amplified her remarks of the afternoon when she gave a demonstration of proper refrigeration for benefit of Cisco women.

W. R. Mulroy spoke on mechanical refrigeration, dealing particularly with the Fridgidaire type of which 35,000 are in home use and 6,000 in commercial use at this time. Oran Shackelford also spoke of its construction.

LINDY FLIES OWN PLANE TO NEW YORK

NEW YORK, June 16.—Dressed in evening clothes Col. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived at Mitchell field this morning at 7:44 in his beloved plane, "The Spirit of St. Louis." He had left unexpectedly this morning in a fast army pursuit plane at 2:30 o'clock to get his plane. He seemed to have greatly enjoyed his flight. He had no sleep, but he looked fresh as a daisy when he landed. Lindbergh was enthusiastically greeted by a number of West Point cadets, several aviators, some army officers, and a few civilians who had been in on his secret flight.

Richard R. Blythe, Lindbergh's personal friend, said the flyer made up his mind suddenly to make the trip as they say in Roxy's theatre. None of the audience knew Lindbergh had slipped away until 3 o'clock when an explanation was made from the stage. Without even a cat nap, Lindbergh left his apartment at 10:15 to take part in Brooklyn day ceremonies in his honor. Brooklyn was in gala dress for the occasion. American flags and pictures of Lindbergh were on almost every building. All along the route through Brooklyn, Lindbergh was wildly cheered. At one point along the way, the parade was halted for a moment to allow Donald Hall of Brooklyn, designer of the Spirit of St. Louis an opportunity to present Lindbergh with an illuminated scroll.

INDIAN GIVER ON FARM

Mary had a little lamb. But here's the part that's funny: Her father sold it to a man. And pocketed the money. "I shall never forget," said a city man to me, "how mad I was when my father sold a heifer that he had given me when it was a calf. I didn't want the heifer sold. I wanted to keep her and make a milker out of her. Father would not listen to me and when I reminded him that he had given her to me, that I had raised her, he only laughed and said that I had a lot of things to learn. Right then and there I made up my mind that I was going to quit the farm as soon as I could, and I did."

It is quite customary on the farm to give a child an animal and tell the child that the animal belongs to him. Then when the animal grows up, and sometimes before it grows up, to sell or otherwise dispose of the creature without consulting the youngster to whom it was given or letting him have a dime of the proceeds.

Billy or Sally will be given a calf or a kid or a chicken and told that it is his or hers. And after Billy or Sally has carried the calf or the kid or the chicken through the teething and impressionable periods, past adolescence and into adulthood, the creature automatically passes from the ownership of Billy or Sally and belongs to papa.

Country children so well understand this flimsy about their ownership of farm animals that they have come to designate that arrangement by a specific term. "Daddy claims it," explains one of the children when a visitor admiring a bossy calf wants to know to whom it belongs. "Claims it" is right. And the youngster knows full well that Daddy's claim is in name only, and, later on will not amount to anything.

And right there the farm gets its first black eye. A spirit of dissatisfaction or resentment, toward the farm is planted in the child's mind and takes root and goes on growing. Dissatisfaction begets dissatisfaction, and resentment begets resentment until finally the old folks are grieved beyond measure that Billy or Sally or Buddy packs up and goes to the city and gets a job.

It should be easy to teach farm children to love the farm. There is plenty about the farm to love, the growing plants, the animals, the seedtime and the harvest. The farm child could easily be taught to feel a keen personal interest in all these things by having them brought to his attention at the right times and in the right ways. A little corn patch for Sonny, a corn patch all his own, and to be his own when the corn gets ripe and is sold—he should be taught all about corn, all its ins and outs, likes and dislikes, its meat and its poison. A piggy for Jimmy, a piggy to be Jimmy's own even after it has been made into hams and bacon—and Jimmy should learn all about pigs and their possibilities.

"But," declares a farmer, "I raise my children and that costs me money; they are under obligations to pay me back what it costs me to feed and clothe them and give them their education."

Possibly that reasoning is logical, but it will not get anybody anywhere. The youngster who has to pay for being born and bred horse, so to speak, whether he knows he is financing it out that way or not. He is dissatisfied with the arrangement. His life doesn't pay him anything. The fact of the matter is, if the old folks on the farm don't want the young folks to leave, they need to start a system of education and gratification that will make the young folks love the farm and stay there.

DINNER STORIES.

A chorus girl introduced her young man to another chorus girl with the result that he transferred his affections. The aggrieved girl gave her rival a piece of her mind in a letter which read: "You Heartless Creature: You know very well we had been going about together for six months. Wait till I lay my hands on you, you good-for-nothing bleached blonde. I'll scratch out your eyes, pull out your hair, your teeth, and throw acid on you. Yours truly, "P. S.—Please excuse pencil." "C— N—"

"Do I understand," said the irate parent, "that there is some idiotic affair between you and that impudiculous young Debroke?" "Not very much, papa," replied his daughter sweetly, "only you."

Cisco Potentially Great

Former East Texas Truck Grower Believes This Section Offers Great Opportunity For Vegetables

The farming area adjacent to Cisco, if properly developed along truck farming lines, would prove very valuable, and soon shipping associations would be formed to take care of the surplus, M. L. Clayton, of the Bethel community, who came from the truck growing sections of East Texas, declares. Right now, he says, Cisco could handle 800,000 worth of produce right here each year that it is buying from elsewhere, and he thinks this is a very conservative estimate, too. "Think what this would mean to Cisco business," said he. "All this money turned loose right here at home to circulate among the different business concerns, for all money spent with home farmers goes right back to the merchants for clothing, furniture, automobiles, jewelry, amusements and estates not raised on the farms."

This farmer raises other truck and finds a ready market. His eggs almost pay for what groceries he is forced to buy. All during the hatching season, he does not sell eggs, but converts them into frying chickens. He thinks this is a good way to sell feed, raised on his farm. Chickens at from 25 to 35 cents per pound is a good way to market maize, corn seed and millet, he says. His chickens run on open range and feed to a great extent on bugs and grasshoppers, but he keeps plenty of grain handy for them at all times.

Mr. Clayton grows tomatoes for home use and sells the surplus, which is some times quite an amount. Last year was a good year for tomatoes, and he was more than a hundred dollars better off thereby. He sold tomatoes almost every day after they came on the market. He has had several years experience in the tomato growing section of East Texas and has experimented with them, sometimes pruning and sometimes not pruning them. He says that if you are growing them on a large scale, it is usually found that the extra labor necessary to prune them proves unprofitable. If one is growing them for private table use it may pay to prune them. The quality of the fruit will be a little better and they will perhaps come on for use a little earlier. In the case of large acreages, about all that is needed is to put stakes well into the ground, standing 3 or 4 feet above and then tying the vines to it with tape or large strings so that the vine will not be cut. This holds the vine and fruit above the damp soil and prevents rotting. In the case of growing small quantities of quality fruit, one may build trellises to hold the vine and fruit, also pruning the leaves and over abundant foliage away so that all growing energy is carried to the fruit itself.

He thinks that Cisco territory, if properly developed along truck farming lines would prove very valuable and soon shipping associations would be formed to take care of the surplus. However, Cisco could handle more country produce.

DENTON WHEAT HAS GREAT TEXAS VALUE

According to the 1925 yearbook of the United States department of agriculture, 1,365,000 acres of wheat were harvested in Texas in the year 1924. Denton wheat, a variety developed by the Denton station of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, has produced an average yield of 25.8 bushels to the acre for the four year period in which it has been tested; while the best one of three other Mediterranean wheats, with which it was compared, produced 25.08 bushels to the acre, showing Denton wheat to have produced on an average over a four-year period 1.12 bushels to the acre more than the best Mediterranean grown. This gain of more than a bushel to the acre on the 1,365,000 acres of Texas wheat would mean a total gain of 1,528,800 bushels of wheat to Texas farmers, if Denton wheat was generally grown. Valuing this wheat at $1 a bushel, this means a money value of more than $1,528,800. Assuming that only one-fifth of the wheat growing region would be adapted to Denton wheat, there is opportunity for an annual increase of over 300,000 bushels of wheat, worth $300,000, as a total gain to those farmers who can take advantage of this superior producing strain. Denton wheat has been shown to have exceptionally good milling qualities. The development and distribution of this wheat, of which the experiment station made a large distribution last year, and of which there is available for distribution this year 1,000 bushels from the Minutes were read by Man- Homer D. Wade and approved on motion of C. M. Iwell. President R. W. Haynie in inaugural address recounted value of the chamber's work during the nine years of its existence, declaring that the organization each year saves more money than it costs to maintain. He selected as representatives of the chamber an active worker for some time past, and a director of West Texas. No director or committeeman should be appointed as such unless willing to devote his time and to his task, he said, and every director to attend with a definite objective view and to make the directors' sessions of business work-parts of the manager, public-traffic manager were made approved. The manager reported outstanding accomplishments of the organization during the year, laying stress on the successful fight just concluded by the organization preventing an increase in insurance rates in Texas, secured the organization's fight on the question of fire losses, eliminating fire rates, reducing over insurance and urged more care in payment of local agents and advice of risks.

West Texas chamber stands to lend its facilities to a program, he declared. The financial statement for the year showed all operating expenses met and indebtedness approximating ten thousand dollars inherited from the previous year liquidated.

The publicity manager reported on work of his department during the year. Especial emphasis was laid on the improvement in "West Texas Today," official magazine of the chamber which has been made a first class periodical and given greatly expanded circulation. The agricultural manager reported among numerous other achievements the winning of the gold medal at the Sesqui-Centennial exposition. The medal and the diploma of award were on display attracting great attention.

A. B. Spencer, manager of the Fort Worth chamber, reaffirmed his city's friendship for West Texas, explaining that Fort Worth's participation in common points fight was precipitated by encroachments of other cities and not as a fight on West Texas. He invited West Texas to Fort Worth for the tenth annual convention.

Wade Refuses Raise
In executive sessions the board reaffirmed the action of a board meeting at Wichita Falls reflecting Wade manager and increasing his salary. Upon being called back to the room and notified of the action, Wade refused to accept the increase, declaring that in face of present conditions he wanted no increase, and when the board overrode his refusal, declared that he would accept it only in case of improved conditions in the section and at the end of the fiscal year in case the income of the chamber justified the increase.

Mary had a little lamb. But here's the part that's funny. Her father sold it to a man. And pocketed the money. "I shall never forget," said a city man to me, "how mad I was when my father sold a heifer that he had given me when it was a calf. I didn't want the heifer sold. I wanted to keep her and make a calf. For that reason, Governor Wood said, 'I veto both of them.'"

Judge Rust Heads T-P Singers Again

GORMAN, June 14.—Judge L. Rust of Eastland was re-elected for the third term as president of the T-P Sunshine district singing convention at the third annual meeting of that organization, held Saturday and Sunday in Gorman. Judge J. M. Parker of Gorman was elected secretary-treasurer, and Rev. T. H. B. McAllister of New Carbon, was selected chaplain. No meeting place was selected for the next convention. Abilene and Sweetwater each made application for the meeting, however.

Estimates of the crowd Sunday were as high as 6,000. The parade, it is stated, seated 2,500 people. It was filled to overflowing on both Saturday and Sunday.

gets resentment until finally the old folks are grieved beyond measure that Billy or Sally or Buddy packs up and goes to the city and gets a job.

It should be easy to teach farm children to love the farm. There is plenty about the farm to love, the growing plants, the animals, the changing seasons, the weather, the seedtime and the harvest. The farm child could easily be taught to feel a keen personal interest in all these things by having them brought to his attention at the right times and in the right ways. A little corn patch for Sonny, a corn patch all his own, and to be his own when the corn gets ripe and is sold—he should be taught all about corn, all its ins and outs, likes and dislikes, its meat and its poison. A piggy for Jimmy, a piggy to be Jimmy's own even after it has been made into hams and bacon—and Jimmy should learn all about pigs and their possibilities.

"But," declares a farmer, "I raise my children and that costs me money; they are under obligations to pay me back what it costs me to feed and clothe them and give them their education."

Possibly that reasoning is logical, but it will not get anybody anywhere. The youngster who has to pay for being born and bred feels that he is paying for a dead horse, so to speak, whether he knows he is figuring it out that way or not. He is dissatisfied with the arrangement. His life doesn't pay him anything. The fact of the matter is, if the old folks on the farm don't want the young folks to leave, they need to start a system of education and training for the young folks.

Cisco Receives Big Reductions In Freight Rates From Wholesale Centers of North; Cities Suffer

340 MILES AN HOUR, SPEED OF NEW PLANE

NEW YORK, June 15. — The furor occasioned by the flights across the Atlantic by Lindbergh and Chamberlin and Levine already has commenced to bear fruit in the advancement of commercial aviation. A new aeroplane engine capable of developing twelve hundred horsepower and a speed in the air of over three hundred miles an hour, has been developed by one of the largest automobile manufacturers, the writer is able to announce exclusively today.

This engine, worked out by the engineers of the Packard Motor Car company, is claimed to give an aeroplane of commercial type a speed of 330 to 340 miles an hour. This is in a plane equipped to arise and alight on land with the usual wheeled landing gear. In planes built for take off from water of the seaplane type, 300 miles an hour is declared possible.

Work With Navy

The designers of the plane have been working with the navy bureau of aviation experts on a plane to carry this motor which will be capable of utilizing the engine speed to the utmost. The first of these planes to be given formal and public tests, it is announced, will be flown by Lieutenant "Al" Williams, once a big league baseball pitcher, and later holder, as a navy lieutenant, of the former speed record. The plane probably will be manufactured in Detroit.

The hops of Captain Lindbergh across the country prior to his Atlantic flight, gave an idea of the advantages which are possible from long non-stop mail, freight and passenger transportation over land. Airplane designers all over the country have not been slow to realize this and are working night and day to produce machines which will stand up under such flights. The speed during some portions of the Lindbergh and Bellanca flights was as low as 90 miles an hour. The saving in time with a 300-mile-an-hour plane can readily be estimated.

Interest Increases

The boost which the recent flights has given the air mail service has been remarkable. The increase in application for enlistment in the air mail service has been tremendous and various commercial airplane services have been swamped with applications for employment. The sale of aviation magazines in some districts has been tripled in the last month.

In addition to the cyclone motor which has become familiar to readers on aviation subjects, the Wright Aeronautical corporation has developed a number of new types both for military and commercial use. The company is now specializing on air cooled motors and the sales for commercial purposes are expected to be up to the high point of 1925.

The engineering division of the Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor company is now at full strength and the company is engaged on more constructive developments than have been undertaken for five years.

The producers of Fokker, Bellanca, Sikorsky and other planes are all anticipating renewed demand for their products. The raw material producers also expect to benefit.

Cisco will receive substantial reductions instead of an expected increase under the newly adopted rates on interstate freight as announced by the interstate commerce commission. This was revealed Monday by U. S. Pawkett, traffic manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, who made a report on his analysis of the new common point rates. Mr. Pawkett said there were so many rates affected that an exhaustive analysis will take at least another month for completion, but that an average of the rates on different classes and 21 commodities has been sufficient to show the general effect of the revision.

Rates from Kansas City to Cisco were reduced on everything except first class and prepared roofing, he said. The present rate is 96 cents per 100 pounds while the new rate, effective December 5 or thereafter, will be 83 cents. The average of the ten classes from St. Louis at present is $1.05, while the new rate will be 97 cents. Rates from New York and Philadelphia, using the gulf route, on all classes now average $1.24, and under the new schedule will be $1.19. From such points as Bethlehem, Trenton, New Haven and other industrial centers near New York and Philadelphia, the rates will be reduced 9 to 24 cents per 100 pounds on all classes and many commodities. The rate from Baltimore, where much of the canned goods originate, Harrisburg, and Albany, the rate will be reduced from $1.28 to $1.17, while Pittsburg and Rochester will have their average rate reduced from $1.48 to $1.34.

Many points in West Texas will share similar reductions, including such cities as Abilene, Sweetwater, San Angelo, Lubbock, Lamesa and Amarillo. Mr. Pawkett declared that the new rates to many points in West Texas and North Texas from the wholesale centers of the mid-west would be cheaper, under the new schedule when shipped direct, than they will be when sent to Dallas or Fort Worth and then re-shipped as at present. The result will be that Fort Worth and Dallas jobbers will have to absorb this differential or suffer the loss of much of their trade territory in the Texas Panhandle, West Texas, Oklahoma and North Texas.

CISCO MEETING OF WEST TEXAS C - C SUCCESS

Sixty-five directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce assembled in the Cisco Chamber of Commerce directors' rooms in the annual organization meeting of the chamber here Monday. Meeting was called to order by President R. W. Haynie at 9:30. The delegates were welcomed by Mayor J. M. Williamson and the response was by W. P. Hallmark of Dublin. Minutes were read by Manager Homer D. Wade and approved unanimously on motion of C. M. Caldwell. President R. W. Haynie in an inaugural address recounted the value of the chamber's work during the nine years of its existence, declaring that the organization each year saves more money to West Texas than its costs will amount to in half a century. He reminded the directors that they are selected as representatives of a section and urged each director to become an active worker for development of West Texas. No director or committeeman should accept appointment as such unless he is willing to devote his time and energies to his task, he said, and asked every director to attend meetings with a definite objective in view and to make the directors' meetings sessions of business workers.

Reports of the manager, publicity manager, agricultural manager and traffic manager were made and approved. The manager reported on outstanding accomplishments of the organization during the past year, laying stress on the successful fight just concluded by the organization preventing an increase in fire insurance rates in Texas. He declared the organization pitched its fight on the question of reducing fire losses, eliminating fire hazards, reducing over insurance risks, and urged more care in appointment of local agents and acceptance of risks.

The West Texas chamber stands ready to lend its facilities to the companies in putting over such a program, he declared. The financial statement for the year showed all operating expenses met and indebtedness approximating ten thousand dollars inherited from the previous year liquidated.

The publicity manager reported on work of his department during the year. Especial emphasis was laid on the improvement in "West Texas Today" official magazine of the chamber which has been made

Wade Refuses Raise

In executive sessions the board reaffirmed the action of a board meeting at Wichita Falls reselecting his salary manager and increasing his salary. Upon being called back to the room and notified of the action, Wade refused to accept the increase, declaring that in face of present conditions he wanted no increase, and when the board overrode his refusal, declared that he would accept it only in case of improved conditions in the section and at the end of the fiscal year in case the income of the chamber justified the increase.

RUSH WORK ON BATHING BEACH HERE

Despite the fact that the rain of Monday caused the loss of about a day's time, efforts are being rushed toward completing the first 400 feet of the Lake Cisco Bathing beach in time for its use Sunday afternoon. Concrete was poured during the rain Monday as long as it was possible, but much of Tuesday was lost because of water in the excavations. Concrete footings for the north wall were being poured Wednesday, and it is expected that the north wall will be complete by Thursday night, unless more rain falls. That will leave completion of the concrete floor, several sets of steps, and two dams at the end of the first section to be constructed by Sunday.

Finishing touches are being put on the bath house, which will be in good shape for the Sunday opening. Windows have all been placed, and carpenters were at work Tuesday and Wednesday hanging doors, completing latrine work about the cold drink stands and the office, and otherwise completing the building. One thousand baskets for use in taking care of swimmers' clothing have arrived in Dallas and are due to reach Cisco in plenty of time for the opening. Bathing suits are already here. Erection of the big toboggan slides is awaiting completion of the concrete near the island, in which it will stand.

Ranger Girls Make Boys Walk Now

RANGER, June 15. — Jelly beans as well as flappers often need a road map. Sunday afternoon three of the former had an argument with three of the latter, with the result that the boys were dropped out of the big touring car near Olden and started the five mile walk back to Ranger.

A little later, three Ranger girls seeing the boys wading through the tarry hot paving, took pity on them and brought the timid souls back to town.

The boys apparently had overlooked the importance of providing themselves with roller skates.

THREE HOUSES TO BE BUILT BY CISCOANS

Building permits for three new residences have been issued the last few days by the city clerk. A. J. Key is to construct a rock house at Fourth and I Avenue, costing $3,000. He will also build a double garage out of stone. E. W. Wolgener obtained a permit to build a six-room frame house on West Sixth street, costing $2,500. Charles Gober will build a $3,500 frame house on E Avenue.

2 CARS TAKEN BY THIEVES; 1 IS RECOVERED

Police Wednesday recovered a 1925 model Ford touring car which had been stolen from J. B. Hicks, 901 West Sixth street. The car, found southwest of town, was stripped of generator, battery, and other accessories. Jack Elkins reported to police that his 1925 model Ford coupe had been stolen from his home, 701 West Ninth. It bore highway license number 300-241.

PIMPLES AND BUMPS ARE AWFUL PESTS

Girls and women of the most even dispositions are quick to resent direct attacks on their character, or bold advances. But it is hardly explainable why these same folks tolerate disfiguring pimples, blotches, bumps, "breaking out," etc., which are even worse pests than that.

He has nine trees of this fruit and two trees of another peach, very much resembling the flavor of the Elberta. Owing to its early ripening, it is quite a favorite for eating and cooking at this time of year. His entire orchard of mixed fruits covers about two and one-half acres and always pays him well. "No crop," said he, "will pay a man more than will a good orchard if he will only give it a little attention." He has never

INTEREST IN REVIVAL HERE GROWS NIGHTLY

Interest is reported growing rapidly in the sermons each night at the Church of Christ. Last night the house was packed to capacity, and after all seats were filled many occupied benches carried into the church auditorium.

A diagram picturing the course of every human being, both in Christ and out of Christ, was used in the discussion of the subject "Salvation by Faith." Pastor L. L. Hanks said in part: "The reason it takes so much preaching in this age is that so many people will not give God a fair and impartial hearing, nor will they take Him at His word. These people will be judged by a just and sin avenging God after this present order of things is broken up."

TRIM FRUIT HE ADVISES ORCHADISTS

T. M. Hatton, who lives about 18 miles southwest of Cisco, was among the shoppers from out of town. He comes from the fruit growing section of East Texas and thinks well of this county as a fruit section.

"Eastland county and adjoining sandy sections should be growing the finest of peaches, apricots, plums, pears and apples," he says. "No country in the world could be better for grapes and berries. Of course there are many things concerning fruit growing that farmers would have to learn, such as spraying, pruning and thinning on the trees. This latter is an important item."

He visited here a few years ago during a good fruit crop and was astonished at the heavy yield that was literally breaking the limbs from the trees. On inquiry, he was informed that this was often the case when the seasons were right. When he asked why they did not thin the fruit on the trees, he was met with the reply that it had not occurred to them to do it.

Thinning out the fruit is a common practice in fruit growing sections, said Mr. Hatton. Along in May or later, depending on the size of the fruit, growers thin the fruit on the limbs to about four inches apart. This relieves the trees of so much weight and allows for a much better development of fruit. It is larger and of much finer quality. In a recent gathering of fruit growers instances were told of where growers had solved their problems of low quality and corresponding low prices by systematic pruning of the fruit from the limbs, according to Mr. Hatton. He added as an afterthought that improvement of quality usually solves the marketing problems of most every business. He says he has always noticed that quality merchandise of any kind always found ready buyers. It is the poor quality that goes begging and lowers prices, whether it be the farmer's produce or city merchandise.

Speaking of grapes and berries, he said he could not understand why more people did not have vineyards. Grapes will grow wild here if given any kind of opportunity.

He called attention to the fact that berries sold here in Cisco this year for from 40 to 80 cents a gallon. And yet, said he, people were willing to drive 15 miles to get a chance to gather them on the halves.

"Strawberries do well here and bring high prices. Hundreds of gallons are shipped in here, so the merchants tell me," he said. "It is a case of the man traveling over the world hunting diamonds when

RELEASE ME

Ely Novelty Orchestra To Play Farewell Concert Friday Before Leaving For Full Summer of Study

Ely's Novelty orchestra will give its first public recital in Cisco at the high school auditorium Friday evening June 17. The musicians comprised of J. B. Ely and children, have given their services cheerfully and gratuitously to almost every civic and religious organization in town and now are asking loyal support of those who have been recipients of this generosity, and also of those who have not heard them. Mr. Ely is planning to take his talented children, composing the orchestra, to Colorado where they will go into camp and spend the summer in preparing themselves for real professional concert work, and this will be their farewell concert, playing dates at Eastland, Ranger, Thurber, Strawn and Mineral Wells before that time.

Mr. Ely explained it has been a very heavy expense buying instruments, music, "glad rags" and other incidentals and he wishes some rich uncle or some civic organization would adopt the "Baby Orchestra." He has spent over a thousand dollars for musical instruments, and still is not fully supplied. He says his greatest drawback has been the fact that the public school authorities have insisted on absorbing every moment of the children's time, leaving no time to study music.

They have been penalized, one way and another, every time they have failed to come up to expectations on account of having to prepare programs for some public affair, he said.

The Ely Novelty orchestra has really been in process of making for sixteen years—the oldest member having grasped the neck of a violin the day she was born. From that time on, odd moments, usually wasted, have been occupied in painstaking music lessons.

Mr. Ely himself spent fifteen years in Chicago and New York studying under the greatest masters of music, having spent more than ten thousand dollars for his musical education. Upon a breakdown in health he gave up his life's hopes just upon the verge of accomplishment. "I haven't give up yet," he says, "but my ambitions are now centered in my children. I will make the world listen to the music of my soul yet."

The five members of the orchestra will use twelve instruments at the coming concert and there will be some real surprises that will justify the name "Novelty Orchestra," it is said.

TWO INJURED, 3 FACE TRIAL AFTER CRASH

Two young men are in bed, suffering from injuries, and a third is in the city jail awaiting trial, while two Ford touring cars are badly damaged as the result of a crash on Main street Tuesday night. The more seriously injured, Horton Murray, stands a chance of losing one of his ears, while the other, "Red" Black, is suffering from severe bruises. A. J. Rice, driver of one of the cars, is uninjured. All three were charged in the city court with drunkenness, and Rice was charged with speeding as well. Their hearing awaits arrival here of the county attorney.

The accident occurred at 11:30 o'clock in the 500 block on Main street. According to police reports, Tom Maxwell and Joe Lee Moore were emerging from the alley beside the Western Union office, while Rice and his companions were going north on D avenue. The two cars collided, turning the Rice car over, and knocking the Maxwell car crosswise of the street.

Police took charge of the situation, sending Murray home in an ambulance and taking Rice and Black to the police station. Black was later taken to his home, physicians fearing that bruises about his head might prove more serious than at first thought. Murray's ear was almost severed from his head, and although it was sewed back in place, his physician was doubtful as to whether it could be saved.

Both cars were damaged. The Maxwell car escaped with a broken front wheel and damaged steering gear, but Rice's car had the top and windshield crushed off, the steering gear broken, and the body damaged.

Officers Wilson and Stuart made the arrests. Rice was later released under a bond of $250.

Mrs. Glen C. Woolley and daughter, Inah, left this afternoon for Abilene to make their home. Mr. Woolley preceded them there.
