Ciscoan Slain By Accident

James E. Smith, well known Cisco man, was accidentally shot and instantly killed by his own shot gun this afternoon at his home on West Ninth street, shortly before 3 o'clock. Justice of the Peace J. H. McDonald held an inquest, and said his verdict would be that the shooting was accidental. Justice McDonald found that Smith had just gone to the garage to get his car and take his sister-in-law, Miss Juanita Hughes, to town. He had backed the car out of the garage and apparently had started to take his hammerless shot gun from the car and put it away in the garage. In so doing, the gun was accidentally discharged, the full load entering his breast. Death was instantaneous.

Cows, Chickens, Turkeys and Melons Freed Johnston Forever From Fight With Boll Weevils; Here's His Plan

J. E. Johnston says cows, chickens, turkeys and melons have relieved him forever of all fear of the boll weevil and its ravages. A few years ago Mr. Johnston was a cotton farmer, but he had to fight the weevil almost day and night in order to get any kind of cotton crop to mature. He became tired of the eternal warfare. His children were forced to work in the fields almost as soon as they could climb out of the cradle, while his wife had to do her housework and help in the field also. "Sandy," said his wife, "there must be some other way by which we farmers can live without the ever present dread that all our labors will be lost on account of the weevil striking our crop when it is all worked out nicely and prospects are for an extra heavy yield." So they talked it over one night and planned it all out. They would play safe as they had been taught to do in farming. They would not make a too radical change and risk the chance of complete poverty for the little ones. They would still plant a little cotton, but they would try out a few chickens, turkeys and dairy cows, planting the acreage from less cotton. In feed for this stock, with a little of the choice spots in truck patches, such as peas, tomatoes, turnips, kale, both kinds of potatoes and melons. He made it a custom that he was never to go to town without something to sell equal in value to what he was going to buy. At first it was hard to do. He didn't know how to find markets, neither did he know how to prepare his produce in a saleable manner. By observing others, he soon found that an attractive package goes a long way with the purchaser and so his eggs are always clean and white when he offers them for market; his green truck is always fresh looking and apparently dripping with the morning dew whether or not it has fallen or not. It's the gardener's business to make it fall, he says, humorously. His wife sent a little extra time in salting her butter just right, and having it wrapped in fresh butter paper. His melons were always clean and fresh looking and of a uniform size. He learned a valuable lesson in marketing from a fruit vendor on a busy corner of a city one day, he said. The man was selling apples at two for five cents, when after a little while he began wiping and polishing them and displaying them all nice and shiny. He sold two at three for ten cents. The polked ones outsold the others easily. Mr. Johnston stopped and figured a little. If polishing these apples netted the vendor an extra 25% profit and made a more ready market, surely it was worthwhile to take pains in preparing vegetables for market. When he went home he told this to his wife, who readily agreed with him that time spent making his merchandise more marketable would ultimately save them time when it came to selling

CISCO ESCAPES FIRE ALARMS DURING JUNE

C. O. Pass, fire chief, rejoices over the unusually fine record of Cisco or rather the lack of fires during June. This is the first month in a period of eight years during which there were no fires. He says he wants to thank the people generally for their cooperation in keeping down fire hazards. Precaution, according to Mr. Pass, is a great factor in the fire record of any city. He says that the fire department will be glad to lend a hand in the burning of weed and trash piles any where in the city. Wherever there is likely to be danger, one should notify the department and they will be ready to stand by in case they should be needed, he said.

Fort Worth Youth Shoots Sweetheart And Then Turns Pistol on Himself; Hospital Says Both Probably Dying

FORT WORTH, July 7.—Homer Bond, 23, and Miss Frances Hooker, 19, were in a local hospital today probably fatally wounded as the result of a shooting in the home of the girl's sister this morning. The shooting was the culmination of a romance which had its inception while both were students at Polytechnic high school here three years ago. According to Mrs. Guy Estill, Miss Hooker's sister, Frances slept at her home while her parents were on a vacation trip. Early today Bond called and asked to see Miss Hooker. She told him Frances was still in bed. Bond entered the house while she remained in the front yard. Shortly after Bond entered the house, Mrs. Estelle heard two pistol shots. She rushed into the house and found Frances lying in bed, still clad in her pajamas with a bullet hole from a 25 calibre pistol in her temple. Bond was found lying in the kitchen with a bullet hole in his temple. Both were taken to a hospital where chances for recovery were said to be slight.

ARMY FLYER KILLED AS MAINTAINING SALES

HONOLULU, July 7.—Their joyous farewell made sad by drowning of an army flyer, Lieut. Matland and Hegenberger, the first men to fly to Hawaii, were homeward bound today on the Steamer Maui. Lieut. Charles L. Williams crashed off Waikiki beach when his plane got out of control. Lieut. Williams was a native of Arizona.

FRENCH FLYER SEES RACE TO NEW YORK

PARIS, July 7.—Lieut. Paul Tarascon, French flyer who has a Paris to Chicago flight in mind, today proposed to Charles Levine, who wants to fly back to the United States, that they both leave for the United States at the same time.

CARR UPHELD IN OUSTER OF DETECTIVE

FORT WORTH, July 7.—Echo of the Frank Norris trial of some months ago was seen in the finding of the trial board today in the case of Harry Conner, former policeman, who was discharged from the city detective force by City Manager O. E. Carr. The trial board upheld the action of the city manager in suspending Conner. Carr suspended Conner following filing of a complaint against him by C. K. Walsh, Wichita Falls attorney, who accused the police officer of mistreating a prisoner in front of a local hotel, and illegal arrest. Conner arrested Walsh when he latter went to the city hall to protest against the treatment and obtain medical attention to the prisoner. Carr also preferred old time charges against Conner for his failure to arrest D. E. Chippis when the lumberman threatened to kill Rev. Norris, according to sworn testimony at the minister's trial in Austin. Charges of drunkenness were also filed against the policeman. Rev. Norris was acquitted by a jury after a sensational trial lasting two weeks.

Brief time to give their impressions. Without a dissenting voice, all visitors praised the hospitality of Cisco, the greatness of the lake and declared they were all in favor of holding the camp here. Among the requirements for the camp are an option on the land site, building of a tabernacle, and placing of water, lights, telephones and gas, if possible, for use of campers, as well as arranging for a safe and proper delivery of groceries. "Sandy" and other names here became the merchants' cry as they and they can find a variety of merchandise from which to select their needs. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grant of near Thurber were Cisco shoppers Wednesday. They attended the opening of the bathing beach and think that this will be a great attraction for Cisco. Mr. Grant says that it is generally conceded that when Cisco does a thing she does it

'LUCKY COX' VISITS HERE ON OIL DEAL

Seymour E. J. Cox, known throughout the country as "Lucky Cox," whose name blazed across headlines in newspapers a few years ago in connection with oil promotion investigations, was in Cisco Thursday discussing drilling of an oil well on property at Caddo owned by a well known Ciscoan. He was accompanied by his associate, R. E. Mooney. Cox, it will be recalled, was quite an aviation enthusiast in his palmy days, and entered an aerial speed demon in the International air races. During his stay in Leavenworth penitentiary in Kansas, he was editor of the prison newspaper and very popular among the companions there, and when he left the walls, he relinquished his editorship to "Doc" Cook, noted explorer and oil promotion game in Texas.

Abilene Will Build Big Office Building

ABILENE, July 7.—An eight-story building will be completed at North Third and Cypress streets by February 1, according to terms of a contract just awarded to R. L. McKee by W. G. Swens and George L. Paxton. The ground floors will be occupied by the Mims Dry Goods company, with offices above. The building will represent an investment of $300,000 and will cover ground space measuring 50 by 140 feet. Ground has been cleared and excavations completed. Mr. McKee, who received the general contract, is also the contractor for the ten-story Hilton hotel building at North Fourth and Pine streets.

BRITISHERS PLAN FLIGHT TO AMERICA AND BACK

LONDON, July 7.—Two British flyers will leave in the next fortnight on a non-stop flight from Croydon to New York via Ottawa, and then back to Croydon. It was announced today. The expedition has been organized by Capt. Leslie Hamilton, who will be accompanied by Col. Minchin, who will act as navigator and substitute pilot.

HARD LUCK FLIGHT OF GRACE ABANDONED

HONOLULU, July 7.—The hard luck flight of Richard Grace has been given up at last. Lieut. E. C. Koeger, Hawaiian manager of the project, made this known today. Grace will be an entrant in the $35,000 Dole flight from the mainland of Hawaii beginning August 12. A new plane is being built in Los Angeles, Kogen said.

TREATY PLANS TALKED

WASHINGTON, July 7.—French plans for a treaty with the United States which would forever outlaw war between the two countries were laid before Secretary of State Kellogg by Ambassador Myron T. Herrick.

COURTHOUSE BOND ISSUE UP SATURDAY

Final plans are being said for $300,000 bond issue election scheduled for next Saturday throughout Eastland county. While Eastland advocates the bond issue have been active in distributing literature here, there has been very little interest in the election locally, and practically no discussion on the streets either for or against the bond issue.

City Receipts From Lake Cisco On July Fourth Large; Per Cent For Municipality Now Increased

The city of Cisco is now receiving 24 per cent of the gross proceeds from operation of the Lake Cisco bathing beach, and 24 per cent of the net proceeds from sale of all merchandise at the beach. It was announced Thursday. The new fiscal year at the beach began July 4. Under the terms of the franchise of the Lake Cisco Amusement company, the scale of profits to the city was raised from 23 to 24 per cent for the coming year. Beginning July 4, 1928 the per centage will be raised to 25 per cent, which amount will remain in effect during the life of the franchise. Total receipts at the bathing beach on Monday, July 4, were approximately $2000. Aaron Mayhew, city commissioner in charge of checking the receipts at the beach, announced. The city received 23 per cent of the proceeds, or approximately $460 for the day. The day following, Tuesday, 100 persons went in swimming, while Wednesday was an exceptionally big day for a week day, 534 persons going in swimming. All but 122 had their own suits, 53 persons rented bathing slides, and 196 towels were supplied. Of the swimmers, 20 were children. Warner weather of Thursday was expected to send another large crowd to the swimming pool, and arrangements were being made to care for a large crowd this week end.

Schools Declared Big Cisco Asset

The public schools are one of Cisco's greatest assets, J. J. Youngblood, now superintendent of the Cisco public schools, told the Rotary club Thursday noon when he promised to put forth his greatest efforts to improve the schools from their present high state of development, and make them an even greater asset. To do this, he appealed for the cooperation of every loyal Ciscoan since, he said, schools can only be successful as the patrons want them to be. The new superintendent expressed his pleasure at the cordial reception given him here, and said he was glad to be in Cisco "where we do things." Ed. S. Stewart, Rotarian from Abilene, said he liked everything he had ever seen in Cisco, including its football team. "We have some of your best stars at Abilene now," he said, "and we want to get some more." Dr. Paul Woods was in charge of the program, and introduced two negro boys who gave piano and vocal solos. Charles G. Gray will be in charge of the program next week. Dr. Carter, Eastland Rotarian, was a guest.

Cisco Minister Writes Darkly of Bright Lights of Paris After Tripping Through the Gay Places

Writing from aboard the steamer Lotus, bound for Naples, Italy, after he had spent some time in Paris, France, Rev. B. C. Boney, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, has sent his second article of a travelogue he is writing for the Cisco Daily News and Thursday American. Observing "how close outer physical beauty can be to inner moral turpitude," and the bright lights are physically very pretty though I should hesitate to suggest investigation beyond them," the minister hints broadly when he says: "You might ask me, but I should never tell you exactly what I mean." But here is what he has written in the letter, postmarked, "Napolis, Ferrovta": Dear Old Home Town: I left Paris last night. Paris? I have seen New York, London, Chicago, San Francisco and walked the streets of dear old Cisco, but there is so far but one Paris. The first impression was that its tipping system is the remotest possible. Porters swarm at the train stops and for each word spoken expect a tip, and are insistent to those at refuse. If your baggage bears a tourist agency stamp, a girl will walk with each other to bring the rep-

CITIZENSHIP REQUIREMENTS

Rosika Schwimmer, a Hungarian, has been denied American citizenship. She may be remembered as the woman who organized the Ford peace exhibition during the war, and went along as a sort of tutor for Mr. Ford. Maybe she doesn't deserve citizenship, but some of the reasons given for refusing it are curious. The naturalization officials, it appears, object to her views on "nationalism, pacifism and other questions." Asked whether she would be willing to take up arms in defense of the United States, she answered, "not personally," and explained that she understood women were not required to bear arms for any country. The naturalization officials apparently didn't like her attitude on that. And they may have been right—though as a matter of fact, do we want our women citizens, whether native or foreign born, to bear arms? And do we or don't we want peace rather than war? We're planning more radical peace treaties right now. It was also stated that she expressed herself as an atheist in a lecture in New York, and in a letter to the naturalization director had insisted that religion was a private matter. Most of us don't approve of atheism. But most of us agree that whether a citizen has one religion or another, or none at all, is that citizen's own business, provided she doesn't try to force her views on her fellow citizens. The constitution is supposed to forbid religious requirements for citizenship. It may be recalled, too, that some of the leading signers of the United States constitution were regarded as atheists. There is no plea for Rosika Schwimmer. She may be undesirable as a citizen because of trouble-making propensities of one kind or another. But the published objections to her don't sound entirely convincing to some old-fashioned Americans. Be it observed, too, that Mme. Schwimmer was turned down in Chicago. Citizenship requirements must be higher there than outsiders have supposed, although comparing record for record and utterance for utterance, some impertinent critics may have the nerve to wonder whether Chicago's mayor would get by if he were a candidate for citizenship.

UNCLE SAM'S SLEUTHS

The Canadian Royal Northwest Mounted Police have long enjoyed fame and glory for their success in "getting their men." Now it develops that we have some pretty successful sleuths in this country who are less spectacular but quite as competent as the heroes of the north woods. These men are the United States postal inspectors. With little publicity, show or fuss they accomplish work equal to any other police force in the world. They were chiefly responsible for the capture, conviction and execution of Gerald Chapman. The latest of their successful jobs was the capture of the D'Autremont brothers who held up a mail train in Oregon four years ago, brutally killing four of the train crew at one time. In the years since their crime these men had changed their names and occupations, removed to distant localities and apparently lost themselves utterly from pursuit. One had joined the army under an assumed name, and was found in the Philippines. Another was married, and his wife had no suspicion of his real identity. The police, after a big hue and cry at the time of the crime, had given up the chase. The trail was cold. The crime itself seemed forgotten. But the postal inspectors had not given up the search. Late this spring they succeeded in bringing the three brothers to justice. Perhaps their methods are not suited to a movie thriller, but we wish they were at least adaptable to the pursuit of gunmen and bandits who infest our big cities. Police departments everywhere should take lessons from Uncle Sam's postal inspectors.

cretly miserable, knowing all the time in their hearts that it's a bluff. Happy is the man who sees clear and straight, about himself as about others, standing with his feet firmly planted in the earth though his head may be in the clouds.

THE SPELLER'S REAL VICTORY

The little town of Congress, Ohio, turned out in a body the other day to welcome home its local hero, 13-year-old Dean Lucas, who had just won the national spelling contest in Washington, D. C. There is one interesting fact about the boy's success that deserves special mention. He was in the national contest in 1926, and was defeated. Spelling had always been easy for him. That is, he had learned the words in the spelling books without difficulty. But he failed in the contest when the announcer began calling words that weren't in those books. Young Lucas went home not the least bit disheartened, taking with him the lesson of his failure. He quit mastering spelling books and tackled the dictionary. Probably winning the national spelling contest isn't nearly so valuable or important to him as the reasons for his success—that he knew why he was beaten the first time and overcame that weakness the second time. That was his real victory.

From some of the recent murder trial decisions, it begins to look as if killing a human being in this country may yet come to be considered as serious an offense as forging a check.

MAID AND MOP

A man selling a self-wringing mop appeared on a front porch and pushed the bell. The maid answered the door. The man asked to see the lady of the house. The maid retired, reconnoitered, and returned.

"She say she can't see yo'," quoth the maid. "She cen de tub."

Now, at that the average canvasser would have taken his departure. But not so our hero; he graciously and intriguingly asked the "colored lady" if she herself wouldn't like to see how his self-wringing mop worked.

She say' would. She was flattered by his desire to explain the matter to her. She was carried away with the mop. She sho' did want her missus to get her one ob dem mops. The agent said he would come back again tomorrow. Would the "colored lady" speak to her mistress about the mop, Yas Sub, she suitably would!

And she did. When the canvasser called next day he found that the maid had already "sold" the mop for him. All he had to do was take the money.

This is not an advertisement for a self-wringing mop; I do not know that a self-wringing mop is worth a hoot; the point is that it pays not to disregard even the least of those with whom one comes in contact. Many a shrewd salesman has gotten the friendly ear of the president of the corporation through making up to the office boy. Many a solicitor has been able to get what he wanted from the general manager by stating his case frankly and effectively to the G. M.'s secretary.

There are petitioners who haughtily refuse to have anything to do with anyone except those higher up, and they high-bat the ones who are sticking around of the lower rungs of the ladder. They overlook the fact that a word, a gesture, an indescribable motion, an indistinguishable mental movement on the part of a far down subordinate may have a deciding effect on the man highed up. A stenographer can make a slight remark that will get a caller in bad before he is admitted.

There are women who have no use for anyone their domestic puppets do not like. A cook who has a mind to do so can turn her mistress against any groceryman, and upset the standing of any one.

FOURTH SEES FEW BREAKERS OF LAWS HERE

The Fourth of July passed off quietly in Cisco, so far as law-breaking was concerned, according to the police station. R. C. Hayes, Mrs. Charles J. Gyr and S. W. Manning reported theft of ceilings and plans from their cars during the week end and holiday. One youth was arrested at Lake Cisco for an attempt to steal a bathing suit from the bath house. A woman telephoned the police station at 4 a.

m. that a truck with a tool car body had been parked in front of her house for some time, and that she thought the occupants had left a pint of whisky on her sidewalk. DINNER STORIES.

The kind lady noticed an old man, whose right leg was gone, standing on a street corner with a perplexed look on his face.

"My poor man," she said, "are you lost?"

"No ma'am," he replied. "I'm looking for a feller that got his left leg shot off in the Battle of Bull Run."

"What is his name?"

"I don't know that," was the reply, "but he wears a number ten shoe."

"For heaven's sake, if you don't know who he is, how do you know he wears a number ten shoe?"

"I ain't sure he does, but it stands 'r reason that if he doesn't, one of 'em of us is goin' to have trouble with his bunions. Lady, I'm looking for a right-legged feller 'o go partners with on a new pair of shoes."

HONEST WITH HIMSELF

An admiring group had surrounded small Jimmy. He had resented a pal who had broken through the ice and would have drowned otherwise?

"That was real bravery, my little man," a motherly woman was telling him, patting him on the back.

"Aw, shucks," sniffed Jimmy. "Bravery nothin'; he had my skates on."

Others seem to succeed, but are se-

TEXAS CROP CONDITIONS MOST FLATTERING IN YEARS

Peanuts Late But Look Good For Great Yield; Most Central and West Texas Farms Have Much Feed

The following description of crop prospects along the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad line from Cisco to Galveston was written by W. H. LaRoque of the Cisco Daily News staff following a trip he made this week to Galveston. LaRoque, it might be said parenthetically, went to the coast to see if the Gulf of Mexico is as large as Lake Cisco, and says he found Lake Cisco, while not quite so large, did not suffer from comparison with Galveston as a pleasure resort.

Following is his resume of crop conditions. The peanut crop along the Katy line around Gorman and Carbon seems late. The vines are still small but with the splendid season in the ground and the hot summer weather, they will make fine growth within the next thirty days. There is still plenty of time to mature a big crop of nuts and hay before the ordinary frost time. Cotton is also small on the extreme sandy farms but shows a much larger yield on stronger soils. Corn is good on the heavier natured soils.

De Leon will likely come up to her usual reputation of a big peanut crop. Fruit is rather scattered, a few orchards escaping the frost and these are commanding good prices for their output. Watermelons are coming on the market rapidly, and are selling at very nice prices, with quality excellent. Corn is unusually good. Much Johnson grass hay is being harvested and baled. It is safe to say that these parts of Eastland and Comanche counties will be long on all feed crops with much surplus to sell or else market through cattle or hogs.

As one progresses east to the heart of Texas, both cotton and corn show to better advantage. Grain made a heavier yield on account of abundant rain fall when it was needed. The recent heavy rains in these sections have hindered threshing and grain has remained in the fields. Farmers have been compelled to put a little possible time planting between rains and killing weeds in the corn. Erath county shows up well. Corn is well filled out. Cotton has a good stand, with well maturing stalks, hays heads large and well matured.

The northern part of Hamilton county is unusually blessed with good crops and good cattle range in pastures. The grain crop is just starting to be threshed and bids fair to a good turnout. Everywhere one sees good Jersey cows, large flocks of chickens and keys. Farmers in this section have centered on turkey raising as a part of the diversifying system, and are well pleased with the venture. Bosque county, perhaps, has the best showing of general crops of any county in this section of the state. Corn is very fine. Farmers, feeling sure of the present bumper corn crop, are selling their old corn to less fortunate farmers who are forced to buy feed with which to finish their crops. Here, corn is almost waist high and has the rich, greasy color which farmers look to see in any growing crop. The hay crop seems good. Here, too, one sees great droves of young turkeys ranging the pastures and fields getting themselves ready for Thanksgiving and Christmas. The Jersey cow is in evidence at most every farmhouse. Stock cattle are grazing in the pastures.

The Bosque river is said to be a fine fishing ground. Several fishing parties were observed along the right of way and fish seemed to be cooking at the camp fires. More Rain in East. As one goes further east, the rains have been heavier and more frequent. This fact is evidenced by the condition of the farm crops. More weedy crops are seen and they seem to have been planted later than usual. Some parts of farms are as yet unplanted and are overgrown with weeds. Hill county, which has long had the reputation as being one of the best farming counties in Texas, does not show up quite so well as adjoining counties west, on account of this fact. The lighter soils are slow in getting their growth after so much precipitation and will not get a start in quite a bit of hot sunshine, while the heavier bottom land has been smothered with water and weed growth until it has had no chance to assert itself. McLennan county, another of the famous farming counties, has been slow to get started this year. Where farmers have been able to plant and keep down smothering weed growth the crops are excellent. Corn is already sure for a record crop, grain is just starting to be threshed, while cotton has a fine stalk upon which to hang a bale-to-the-acre crop, provided no insects strike it. It has been said that a cotton crop is never sure until no predictions may be made.

From here on to the coast the rains have been almost incessant during the past few weeks. Every pit track and pond is full to overflowing and water is seeping out of the hills. In many places, water is standing in the fields. Farmers are compelled to till their crops as best they can. Many will have them over run with Johnson grass, which makes itself welcome wherever it may creep in, and no crop can be harvested unless it be hay. The coast country has always been a good cattle raising section. It will be more so this year. Pastures are taking care of more than usual stock and grass still grows faster than it is eaten. It is safe to say that thousands of head will be shipped to the coast country this year to be fattened for the market. The unprecedented hay crop will also aid in this movement. Many Brahman cattle from India are in evidence here. They are immune from the fever tick, which makes them great favorites, especially when mixed with native breeds.

Many farmers are truck raisers for the markets of Houston and Galveston. There is a need for irrigation now. It is safe to say that they will have gardens all summer if they handle their land rightly so as to conserve the unusual moisture now present.

Orchards Sadly Lacking. A very noticeable and lamentable fact is the absence of orchards all along the route. After one leaves Erath county there are very few orchards until they reach the coast. There, many farms have neglected the planting of fruit trees. In places, they seem to be awakening to the possibilities as is evidenced by young orchards here and there. Figs seem to be gaining favor in the coast country. Many large orchards were observed, yet they lacked the intensive cultivation that one would expect from real fruit growers.

Recent experiments with fig growing have been very favorable there but unless more experienced fruit gardeners come in and direct activities, it is feared that the inexperienced farmers will not make a continued success and hence an important development will be checked in its infancy. A cattle grower, a cotton or corn raiser will never go very far as a fruit farmer and vice versa.

Taken all in all, it is safe to say that Central, East and South Texas have the best general crop prospects in years and unless some pest strikes these sections they will make up for all the food stricken territory of Mississippi and Louisiana, and though these are the major cotton states, their shortage will be cared for by ever-abundant Texas.

TEXAS WOMAN MAY TRY FLIGHT ACROSS OCEAN

AUSTIN, July 6.—Mrs. Grace McLendon, expert gun woman and daredevil aviatrice, plans to emulate the example of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and make a non-stop flight from New York to Paris, she admitted today through her manager, an Austin man, who would not permit to have his name mentioned. The idea to have her make the Paris-New York flight occurred to her when she saw her walk calmly out on the wing of an airplane, level her gun and burst six out of seven toy balloons released from another plane, the manager said today.

Christian Pastors and Laymen Delighted at Lake Cisco; Vote To Hold Annual Encampment Here

Following an inspection of the prospective sites at Lake Cisco for an annual encampment, about thirty pastors of the Christian denomination from all parts of the Second District of West Texas voted to select Lake Cisco as the site, provided the chamber of commerce here is able to take care of certain arrangements necessary. Aug. 20 to September 5 was named as the date for the encampment this year. A meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce is to be held Thursday night to act on the proposal, and should the action be favorable, it is expected that work will begin at once to carry out the plans.

The visitors spent Tuesday afternoon inspecting the dam and available camp sites, and then went up Lake Cisco for a boat ride. At night they were guests at a chicken dinner at Randolph college, and there all the visitors were granted brief time to give their impressions. Without a dissenting voice, all the visitors praised the hospitality of Cisco, the greatness of the lake here and declared they were all in favor of holding the camp here.

Among the requirements for the camp are an option on the camp site, building of a tabernacle, and placing of water, lights, telephone and gas, if possible, for use of the campers, as well as arranging for a cafe and proper delivery of groceries, laundry and other necessities.

She is suffering from a hemorrhage of the lungs, caused by being crushed beneath the car when it overturned. She is reported as resting nicely.

The others suffered only scratches and bruises. They included Miss Allene Ivy, "Red" Thomas, Graham Cannon, Ed Ivy and Ray Elliott of Moran.

CISCO WOMAN GIVEN HONOR AT ABILENE

Mrs. Walter Hayden of Cisco, the only woman postal supervisor attending the postal convention at Abilene this week, was elected vice president and a member of the executive committee of the Texas Postal Supervisors' association, others attending from Cisco included Walter Boyd and Eugene Limbuth, rural carriers, and W. P. Caldwell and J. M. Whiten, clerks. The Ciscoans reported 2,500 delegates registered at the various branches of the postal convention, and that Harlingen was selected as next year's meeting place. Many of the delegates wanted the convention to come to Cisco, it was declared, but Cisco did not ask for it because of limited hotel facilities here.

POLLUTION WILL BRING ON CHARGES

AUSTIN, July 5.—Orders were issued today to investigate criminal proceedings against oil companies operating in Texas unless pollution of stream and lake water is ended. Judge J. R. Smith, director of natural resources of the game, fish and oyster commission was notified today. Judge Smith reported that pollution of water was especially bad around the Vernon oil fields and that deputies of the department had collected evidence preparatory to filing 27 cases against oil companies for alleged pollution. Judge Smith said he had given oil companies operating around Fort Worth and Dallas notice that pollution of the Trinity river must be stopped.

JOKES MAKE LIONS ROAR ON WEDNESDAY

A series of jokes told by P. C. Sanders of Strawn kept the Cisco Lions' club in an uproar of laughter for twenty minutes Wednesday noon at their weekly luncheon. Other features of the program included two solos by Mrs. Ben McClinton and a violin solo by Harry Schneider, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. F. E. Hiltson. An unusually large attendance was present, and among the guests was J. J. Youngblood, now superintendent of the Cisco public schools, who has moved here to take up his duties.

PARIS, July 6.—"Doctor of Faith" is a title which Commander Richard E. Byrd and his three trans-Atlantic flying companions may justly claim as the result of a most touching scene today at their visit to the Invalides home of France's "broken wings" or French war-maimed aviators. Captain Charles Legendre, French war ace, was shot down over Verdun in 1916, receiving injuries which held him paralyzed in a wheel chair ever since. Legendre became so excited over the American aviators' visit that he forgot his injuries and stood and walked for the first time in 11 years. For 20 minutes the maimed flyer stood with the flyers while the photographers were busy, and later accompanied them to the tomb of the unknown soldier. When willing hands would have assisted him, Legendre grasped Acosta's arm and stood by himself. "I can walk," he explained. The incident deeply moved all the American flyers. "That is the best thing our flight has accomplished," Commander Byrd said. "It was worth flying over the Atlantic just for that."

WOMAN GIVEN DRUGS, LEFT AFTER ROBBED

EL PASO, July 6.—Mrs. Inez Carter, 29, of Oklahoma City, was found drugged and robbed by the roadside near here today. She had left her husband in Oklahoma City a short time ago. According to her story, Mrs. Carter met Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Henderson here on their arrival from California. She said she paid them $45 to take her on to Oklahoma City with them. The party left here at 10 o'clock last night. She said she felt dizzy after eating an orange given her by Mrs. Henderson with whom she went to school in Oklahoma City. Mrs. Carter was robbed of $140, two diamond rings, and some clothing.

MORE DEVICES FOR GAMBLING CONFISCATED

AUSTIN, July 6.—A series of investigations have been carried on by members of the Attorney General's department the last few days in the Galveston district resulted in finding five big truck-loads of gambling devices on a negro's farm near Galveston. The devices were said to have been moved from "The Hollywood," a pleasure resort in Galveston, Monday. Assistant Attorney General Galloway Calhoun said it was his opinion officials at Hollywood saw the writing on the wall when the department secured an injunction against operation of "Loma Linda," just outside the boundary of Harris county. Attorney General Claud Pollard today expressed himself as well pleased with the results. His department, he said, is confined to investigations and obtaining injunctions. The department was aided by B. D. McInerney, county attorney of Galveston county.

TRAFFIC IS NORMAL WITH BRIDGE OPEN

Traffic over the Bankhead highway to Fort Worth had returned to normal Monday following the collapse of the bridge over the Brazos river four miles west of Mineral Wells Saturday night, and the collapse of a bridge over the same river on a detour about 20 miles north of Mineral Wells near Grand Sunday noon. In the latter accident, W. W. Weteris, 20, employed by a Dallas truck company, was killed, and his companion, Ray Jordan, escaped death by clinging to the steel work of the bridge.

In the first accident, J. P. Jaramilla, en route to Fort Worth from Pecos with a truck, carrying a concrete mixer, and another truck trailing behind, ran through the falling, catapulting to the ground, the truck struck the support of the first span of the bridge on the west end, knocking it out and allowing the span to collapse. Jaramilla was unhurt. The detour was made necessary, and the wooden bridge fell through with the Dallas man's truck. A touring car also fell through the bridge at this point but the driver was not injured.

The bridge on the Bankhead highway was repaired sufficiently to permit light cars to pass, but the West Texas Coach safeguarded their passengers by having them walk across the bridge and transferring to a bus at the other end of the bridge.

Delectations and entries of bathing girls in the bathing girl revue here July 22 at the dedication of the various projects at Lake Cisco were promised by Rising Star, Brownwood, Lampassas, San Saba, Fredericksburg, Junction and Menard, according to J. E. T. Peters, secretary of the Cisco chamber of commerce, who has returned from a trip to the points named. Mr. Peters made a trip of 692 miles, leaving here at 10 a. m. Saturday and returning at 10 a. m. Monday, and advertised the big celebration scheduled here, and investigated church encampment sites and equipment at Lampassas, San Saba, Kerrville and Menard. He placed highway signs at strategic points showing the mileage to Cisco. One of these was placed at the southern terminus of Highway 23, a distance of 201 miles from Cisco, where it converges with Highway 27 four miles north of Junction.

Mr. Peters said his little daughter wandered in the Colorado, Guadalupe, Llano, San Saba, Concho and Pedernales rivers while on the trip. Only one stretch of bad road was encountered on the trip, and that was from Rising Star to May in Brown county.

The whole country south of Cisco appears in good condition, he said. The grass is said to be better at this season than for many years. Everywhere, considerable building is going on. New concrete swimming pools have been opened at Lampassas and Fredericksburg this spring, of which their citizens appeared very proud. Mr. Peters said, but added that neither of these was as large as the kiddies' pool at the Lake Cisco bathing beach, which is 100 feet by 75 feet. The largest of these two pools was 10 feet by 50 feet.

HUGE CROWD HANDLED IN GOOD MANNER

A crowd estimated variously at from 15,000 to 20,000 persons spent all or a part of Monday celebrating the Fourth of July at Lake Cisco, and as a result, the amusement center there enjoyed the greatest patronage in its history. The crowds came from all parts of West Texas, with hundreds coming from Eastland, Ranger, Breckenridge, Rising Star, Moran, Albany, Cross Plains, Abilene and points more distant. Most of the patrons, in fact, were from out of town, drawn here by the huge swimming pool, the first portion of which was just recently completed.

Despite the fact that hundreds of automobiles lined the highway from Cisco to Lake Cisco throughout the day and every available foot of parking space at the lake was in use, the crowds were handled with dispatch. Men were in charge of parking arrangements, keeping the cars lined up in such manner that all could come and go as they pleased. Two roads leading into the canyon below the dam were in use, and were made one-way affairs, speeding up traffic.

CROSS PLAINS REVIVAL WILL OPEN TONIGHT

Thomas Lenox, pastor of the First Christian church here, begins a revival meeting at Cross Plains Tuesday, using the Baptist tabernacle there for the services. There is no church of his denomination at Cross Plains, but it is hoped that one will be organized or that a "Cross Plains roll" can be added to the roll of the Cisco church, just as has been done at Putnam.

DEATH MARS AUTO RACES AT ABILENE

ABILENE, July 5.—Fred Frame of California, driving Car No. 37, a Miller Special, won the feature race of 32 laps at the annual Independence Day automobile races on the West Texas Fair speedway here yesterday afternoon. But it was no easy victory for Frame, for M. S. Wells of San Antonio, driving a Frontenac Ford, Car No. 7-11 gave the crowd an exhibition of driving that has scarcely ever been equaled on the local speedway. Fourth in the grilling race at the outset and for the first few laps, Wells crept steadily up and shot into the lead just before the 20th lap. Car No. 7-11 lived up to its name for ink and on the nineteenth lap Wells went into second place and held it for the remainder of the race. Frame took the lead of the race on the twenty-third lap and held it for the rest of the time, although often-times he was closely crowded. Wells was given a lusty cheer from the thousands of spectators as he came into the pit. C. E. Coats of San Antonio, driving a Coats Special, Car No. 77, sustained fatal injuries during the running of the third event of the afternoon when his car smashed in the final laps. Coats' car crashed into the inside fence and lived an hour after being rushed to a hospital in an ambulance. The track record of 65 seconds for two laps, 1-1-4 miles, set by Frank Lechart, still stands, although it was endangered several times.

Living Death

Mrs. Clara Drummond, of Fresno, Cal., is a real sleeping beauty. Gas poisoning robbed her of her consciousness about three months ago, but automatic functions of her body proceed normally.

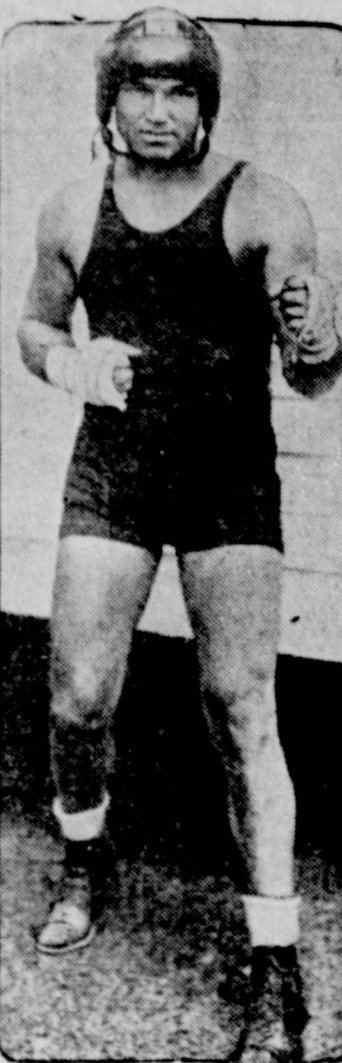

Unconscious, Girl Lives Three Months

FRESNO, Cal. (I-N Special) — Doctors are seeking to play the part of the handsome prince of the fairy tale to awaken a real sleeping beauty. Mrs. Clara Drummond, twenty-one, beautiful indeed, and unawakened for almost three months now since she has been transferred to the county hospital. Great specialists have attempted to bring back her mind, but to no avail. Doctors believe that the gas poisoning killed the brain cells that control consciousness. If this is true, it is doubtful if the girl will ever "live" again. Meanwhile, other brain cells controlling breathing, digestion, circulation of the blood and other operations of the body function normally.

AIR TRAINS PLANNED FOR THE FUTURE

NEW YORK, July 5.—"Air trains" with powerful airplanes for "locomotives" and motorless gliders as "cars," rushing passengers and freight across the sky, were pictured today as fascinating possibilities of the future by Sumner N. Blossom, editor of Popular Science Monthly, discussing the significance of recent steps in the progress of aviation. "Aside from the astounding success of the trans-Atlantic flights," said Mr. Blossom, "a number of remarkable inventions and experiments in recent weeks have added new impetus to the development of air travel. Among these was the recent actual demonstration, at Karlsruhe flying harbor near Berlin, Germany, that 'flying trains' can be made to work. In this test a biplane took the air towing a full sized glider—probably the first stunt of its kind in history. "While in full flight at an altitude of 100 feet, according to reports, the pilot of the glider cut his machine loose and swooped down to a safe landing, the towing plane landing nearby. The German pilot, Espenlaub, expressed the belief that long distances can be covered without difficulty by a plane and a glider in this fashion. Other aeronautical experts are even more optimistic. They foresee an 'air train' of a number of gliders carrying passengers and freight bound for several points along the line of flight. At each of these points one of the gliders would be 'uncoupled' from the train and would descend with its freight and passengers, much as railway cars are switched to a siding. The rest of the train would continue its flight. "The wonderful possibilities of the glider were shown not long ago when Ferdinand Schütz, a German, set a new world's record for motorless gliding by soaring for fourteen hours and eight minutes! His success far eclipses the previous record of the hours and twenty minutes held by the Frenchman Massaux. COTTON CROP TWO MILLION BALES SHORTER

AUSTIN, July 5.—Predictions that the total cotton crop of the south this year would be 2,000,000 bales short of last year, or 16,000,000 bales, were made today by George B. Terrell, state agriculture commissioner, who said that, in his opinion, cotton would bring 20 cents a pound, "if properly marketed." "Reports from our correspondents representing all agricultural counties in Texas indicates that the biggest portion of the cotton crop will be late. Cotton has just been planted in the west and north west parts of the state while picking is well advanced in the Lower Rio Grande valley," Terrell said. Returning from a tour of Texas, Commissioner Terrell declared that the boll weevil was doing damage in all sections, with the possible exception of west and northwest Texas. "The damage is reported at approximately 10 per cent," Terrell said, "and if rainy weather continues, the weevil damage may become serious soon, and greatly reduce production. "It is too early," continued Terrell, "to estimate the production at this time, as conditions might vary during the month and cause a loss or gain over present estimates. The decrease in acreage of 13 per cent makes the total planting of cotton only 16,515,800 acres, and the lateness of the crop in some sections indicates a shorter crop than was gathered last year, with higher prices prevailing. Louisiana and Mississippi report reduced acreage and serious damage from overflows and boll weevils. As far east as Georgia, damage by boll weevils is reported." Terrell also said that only half of a normal oat crop had been harvested. "The wheat crop also will be only half as large as last year. It is probable," Terrell stated. "Grain sorghums are good, and corn is reported good, being matured in the south half of the state and late in the northern part. Peanuts, watermelons, sweet potatoes and ribbon cane are about average," Terrell concluded. Blanco County recording many oil leases for prospective drilling

"NO POLITICS" WATCHWORD ON GREAT TRIP

The All-Texas Special trip to the north and east was successful even beyond the dreams of its sponsors, and much good can be expected from it," declared Charles G. Gray, Ciscoan who was a member of the party making the trip. He returned home Tuesday night after having visited Washington, New York, Chicago, Niagara Falls, Cleveland, Kansas City and numerous other of the larger cities of the north and east.

"The trip was entirely free of politics, regardless of reports that have reached Texas to the contrary," Mr. Gray declared. The Ciscoan had several conferences with Governor Dan Moody, who was aboard the train, and was successful in getting the governor's acceptance of an invitation to make the principal address here on July 22 at the dedication of the Lake Cisco projects.

Mr. Gray said the north and east was very cordial in its reception of the Texas governor. "New York, particularly, went crazy over him," declared the Ciscoan. "Many New Yorkers told me they believed a ticket headed by Al Smith for president and Dan Moody for vice president would sweep the country. However, Governor Moody refused to discuss politics at all, and on several occasions both he and Cato Selts silenced speakers who were drifting on to political subjects. My candid opinion is that should Dan Moody seek any office other than reelection as governor, he would not be satisfied with anything less than president. I don't think he is yet ready for a presidential campaign, and I believe he will run to succeed himself as governor."

Mr. Gray said that the Texans were given the most cordial greeting wherever they went, and that they were in contact with many of the biggest business leaders of the country. At Chicago, the party attended a banquet attended by 800 members of the Chicago chamber of commerce, and at other points were received by the mayors, governors and business men.

"Mayor Jimmie Walker of New York is the liveliest man I ever saw," the Ciscoan asserted. "He is about as big as a minute and the most nervous person imaginable. He is never still, but is as bright as a tack and capable of sweeping a crowd off its feet. The day we were there, the mayor welcomed two other delegations besides ours, and they tell me that some days he has to make five or six speeches to distinguished guests. I guess it takes about all his boundless energy to hold down the job, all right."

Mr. Gray said he distributed considerable literature concerning Cisco and otherwise advertised this city to the north. At Niagara Falls, he said, one person called to him: "Hey, Charlie, you ought to have that in front of your dam at Cisco."

R. S. Huey, injured recently when the R. Q. Lee automobile in which he was returning from Breckenridge overturned, is able to be down town again, although he is still forced to take considerable care lest he suffer from injuries to several ribs. R. Q. Lee, injured at the same time, has been able to be about for some time, although not fully recovered from his injuries. Mr. Huey said he expected to be able to preside at the next meeting of the Elks' club, of which he is exalted ruler, next Monday night.

DEMONSTRATION ON KILLING OF ANTS SHOWN

A demonstration on how to kill red ants, depredations from which have been reported as serious here this summer, has been attracting considerable attention at the chamber of commerce during the last week. The exhibit was arranged by E. H. Varnell, Cisco agricultural expert, who gave out the following statement regarding killing of ants:

Sodium cyanide (Cyan-caps) is an effective poison for red ants. It may be purchased at most drug stores.

Caution—It is a deadly poison and care should be used in handling it. There is no special danger if the hands are free from cuts and if one always carefully washes his hands after using it. However, if a small amount of it gains access to the blood circulation or is taken in through the mouth it is liable to prove fatal.

Apply as follows—Dissolve in rain water at the rate of one ounce to one gallon of water. Select a hot or windy day to do the poisoning when the ants are all in the bed. First, pour a small quantity of the poison into all the openings of the hill. Take a shovel and push it down as far as it will go. Then push the handle away from you as far as it will go. Next pour some cyanide in the opening thus made. Repeat this at ten or fifteen places on and near the hill and cover up all the openings made.

Gloomy Predictions of Next War Made By Primitive Methodists at Conference

LEICESTER, Eng., July 6.—Gloomy prognostications of the horrors of the "next war" have been made at the conference of Primitive Methodists here.

A resolution was moved by Rev. G. Lucas of Harrow urging Methodists to do everything possible to prevent war and refuse to support any government which went to war without first submitting its case to an impartial court of arbitration.

Rev. P. Carden of Norwich, in moving an amendment that all war was a violation of Christianity, said: "If you carry my amendment you will not be casting any reflection on the men who fought and died for their country."

"Those men died to end war. They thought war could be ended by force. No man ought to support war unless he himself would be prepared to undergo the horrors of a layonet charge.

"Unless we end war it will end civilization. In the next war there can be no non-combatants. You will see women and children shriveled up by dreadful disease germs and you will know our armies are doing the same thing to enemy towns."

"In the next war, London will be wiped out in one night."

New Essex Super-Six Line Announced Largest Production in Hudson-Essex History Ordered.

(Above) The new Essex Super-Six Coach is built with curving lines which give it a pleasant appearance from any angle. Like all other Essex bodies it is lacquered in two colors and attractively striped.

(Above) Essex, which created the Coach type body, has perfected an arrangement which makes entrance to the rear compartment easy.

(Right) Essex power is increased through a motor which is improved throughout and slightly enlarged. These new Essex will travel easily at better than a mile a minute.

New Essex Super-Six cars—larger, finer, and more powerful—are announced by the Hudson Motor Car Co. They are now on display at the Southwestern Motor Co., Hudson-Essex dealers.

This unexpected announcement embodies one of the dramatic automobile stories of the year. Since the Essex Super-Six was first introduced this year the demand has been continuously ahead of the number which Hudson could manufacture, notwithstanding the largest schedule of cars in its history steadily maintained.

Most companies would have been more than content with such remarkable business, but the Hudson-Essex organization decided both to improve the Essex still further and to enlarge the production facilities. To accomplish this Essex production was suspended while there were actually thousands of buyers waiting for cars. This drastic action gave full right-of-way to the improved cars, which are now being shipped at the highest rate by far in Hudson history.

MOTOR IS LARGER

The improvements in the new Essex affect both its performing ability and its appearance. The motor is improved in detail and is enlarged in displacement by about 10 per cent. This is accomplished by adding one-quarter inch to the stroke, the new dimensions being 2 11-16 by 4 1-2 inches. The crankshaft is larger and heavier, the connecting rods re-designed, and the bearings enlarged to care for the additional power loads. Experimental runs in the new Essex have shown it capable both of higher speed and of improved performance throughout its entire range. Maximum speed is now well above a mile-a-minute, while the company continues its assurance that the car may be safely driven at 50 miles an hour all day long.

Even at its best performance, the motor operates smoothly and without apparent effort. The Essex motor retains its essential high-grade items: aluminum pistons, all connecting rods balanced, a crankshaft built under Hudson-Six principles, roller tappets, front end drive by silent chain, highly developed splash lubrication, etc.

PLEASING CURVED LINES

The new bodies are more attractive throughout. The rear quarters of all enclosed cars—the coupe, the coach and sedan—are rounded in pleasing curves. All these cars, too, are painted in duo-tones. Mouldings and window reveals are employed as decorative features. The wheels are an inch smaller, setting the whole car closer to the ground.

Road clearance, however, is not affected, because of a change in the rear axle design. Large sized tires give the whole line of the car a remarkably trim and rugged appearance. Upholstery is in fabrics of richer design and material than ever before used in Essex cars. All enclosed cars have dome lights, door pocket, rear vision mirror, window curtains, transmission anti-theft lock, and all instruments grouped under glass and indirectly lighted.

An interesting advancement has been made in the seating arrangement of the coach. The right front seat is mounted on a mechanism which allows it to slide forward far enough so that passengers in the rear seat can leave or enter the car without disturbing the front seat rider. The action of this new device is entirely simple and positive, and adds decidedly to the convenience of the coach-type enclosed car.

The coupe is finished optionally in leather for business purposes.

NEW LEADER OF LEGION SLAMS REDS

HOUSTON, July 7. — Walter Hood took occasion to rap radicalism within a few minutes after he was elected Texas department commander of the American Legion, the coming year at the closing session of the annual convention here yesterday. Hood declared the American Civil Liberties union was the legion's worst enemy, and called upon the legion to oppose it. He also declared the union communistic. Ethan Simpson of Amarillo was chosen vice-commander of the fifth district. Guy Haltom was elected finance officer; Polk Shelton of Austin, judge advocate; M. B. Harris of Stamford, department chaplain; and Ira C. Brand, sergeant-at-arms. Texasians will be the scene of next year's convention. Five delegates at large were chosen with alternates to the Paris convention next fall. The delegates are R. C. Winters, Abilene; Commander Hood; Jack Burke of San Antonio; W. T. Dunning, Gonzales; and Phil Stapp, Houston.

The American auxiliary holding its annual convention at the same time elected Mrs. S. M. Hardin of Harlingen president for the coming year.

WOOD WANTS ISLANDS UNDER ARMY CONTROL

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Gen. Leonard Wood, governor general of the Philippines, hopes administration of the islands will remain in the war department, he said today. President Coolidge recently approved a plan to turn over jurisdiction of the islands to the department of the interior. Gen. Wood said it was more advisable to have the army in charge, so that in case force was ever found to be necessary, power would be at hand without delay.
