BRITISH AND AMERICAN WARSHIPS

There has been considerable misunderstanding, it seems, about American and British naval policies as represented at the Geneva conference, with much argument about cruisers, of which Britain has far more interesting social observations. If both nations want to save money, and yet preserve equal naval equality, each will cut rather than add warships, to make them come out even.

MARGOT LOOSE AGAIN

Margot Asquith-"Lady Asquith," if you insist on titular correctness-has broken loose again with a new book. Margot will be remembered as the English woman who has risen to fame by her free use of a gift for saying unpleasant things about other people. Her latest production, as usual, is as full of unpleasantness and indiscretions as a rice pudding is of raisins, but this one sample of her style may suffice: She tells how "women with neither backs nor tops to their heads, and faces as large as hams, appear at the king's drawing rooms with the nuque of their necks blue from shaving." We should think that would rather shock a mild person like King George. Just imagine a lot of women flocking around you with har faces and nothing else visible above the neck, something like the smile of the Cheshire Cat in "Alice ir Wonderland" after the cat had vanished. And ther that "blue nuque of the neck," whatever it may bewouldn't you think they'd at least dust on a little pow der, as a man does in similar circumstances? A nuque we conjecture, would be better white than blue. Bu to think of a British subject—raised to be a "lady" by the king, too-coming right out with such exposures of the kind of womenfolk who dare to flock around majesty! To revert again to "Alice in Wonderland," the rough-and-ready rule of the duchess is the only one: "Off with her head!"

A TOWN WITH NO HOT DOGS

A village without a hot dog stand is rare in these days. For that reason, Scarsdale, N. Y., a suburb of the metropolis, deserves a little special notice. The village board recently passed an ordinance, without a dissenting vote, banning from its environs hot dog stands, peanut venders and other sellers of gastronomic atrocities. The idea, apparently, is the protection of the stomachs of the school boys and girls of the town. Between-meal snacks purchased at the hot dog and cold drink stands were found to be disastrous to the health, study and athletic prowess of high school students. It may be taken for granted that both the refreshment purveyors and the protected youngsters are somewhat put out about this. But perhaps it is all for the best. It is hoped nobody starts bootlegging these forbidden viands into the com-

PERILOUS PLAY

Four children, aged from 2 to 11 years, were left in an automobile on the bank of the Niagara River near Buffalo, while their parents fished near by. Naturally they began to play with the mechanism of the car. One of them finally loosed the brake, and the car slid down into the river, taking the four with it and drowning them all. Children often play in automobiles, with or without their elders' consent. And it is always dangerous. The only safe way is to keep children out of autos altogether unless grown-ups are with them.

Just as Chicago was on the verge of having her water supply cut off, along came a flock of sun spots, making it rain more and raising the levels of the Great Lakes so that there's more water for her drainage canal. Many are the afflictions of the righteous, but the Lord delivereth him out of them all.

END OF FORD LIBEL SUIT

The dropping of the $1,000,000 libel action of Aaron Sapiro against Henry Ford was not unexpected, after Ford's recent public retraction and apology to the Jewish race. The financial settlement agreed upon has not been made public as yet. Perhaps more interesting than that news is the statement that Ford is to print in his Dearborn Independent a full retraction of his charges against Sapiro and an indorsement warfare between Free State adof cooperative marketing. The settlement, according hate of Republicans to centre to Sapiro, had three angles, all of which have been most satisfactorily taken care of. By changing his Welcome!

We join other Cisco business concerns in extending a hearty welcome to our Gov. Dan Moody, other distinguished guest of the state and all visitors who are here today as our guests to celebrate with us the dedication of the bridge across the Williamson dam and the formal opening of the biggest swimming pool in the world, which is too big to be designated simply as a Cisco beach but rather as a West Texas achievement, which all of this vast section should love to call its own.

---Rejoice with us today

Let's get a vision of a bigger section---

If we can add to your pleasure today by serving you in our store, we will be rejoiced to have you call.

LAKE CISCO RECREATION CENTER THROWN OPEN TO ALL WEST TEXAS; MAKE YOURSELF AT HOME TODAY

Welcome to Cisco today, Governor Dan Moody, other state officials, and our friends from all West Texas and other points.

Today is the big day in the history of Cisco, and we are glad to have everyone of you with us for this celebration. Make yourself at home among us. Every citizen of Cisco is your host, and willing to do everything in his power for your comfort and pleasure. What we have is yours today. It is our day to serve, and yours to enjoy.

Lake Cisco Bathing Beach and related recreational facilities were built by Cisco, having in mind all the time the pleasure and the health of the entire Oil Belt. It is too big a project for Cisco alone to enjoy, and our city gladly invites the continued patronage of all West Texas. The bathing beach belongs to the Oil Belt, and is Cisco's contribution to making living worth while in this section of Texas. Today, Cisco invites its neighbor cities of Eastland, Ranger, Breckenridge, Rising Star and others to help play the part of host to the rest of West Texas who are visiting us today. It is your pool. It helps to keep your citizens better satisfied with the amusements afforded in this section of the state. We invite your co-operation in making the largest swimming pool in the world the pleasure capital of the southwest.

To every visitor, we invite attention to the progressive spirit of the citizens of Cisco. We are a bit boastful, perhaps; but then, we have lots to brag about. The largest hollow type concrete dam in the world---the highest concrete bridge in the southwest---the largest body of water in Central West Texas---the second largest state fish hatchery in the state--- and the largest concrete swimming pool in the world---these huge projects are typical of the way Cisco does things. Our citizens believe that a thing worth building is a thing worth building well. We are proud of our lake and its facilities, but we are also proud of our excellent schools, our well paved streets, our excellent water and sewer plants, our well lighted streets, our record of being the cleanest city in West Texas, and we take especial pride in our 14 commodious and progressive churches. Our many blocks of beautiful residences contribute to our individual and collective pride, and our well equipped and stocked business houses are always at your service. It is the aim of Cisco, in the heart of the West Texas oil fields, to be the home town for the oil men, and it is for this purpose that many of our Lake Cisco projects are designed. Our excellent paved highways leading into every important oil field in this section put the oil man within an hour's drive to the great production centers, and for this reason Cisco is popular with oil men who operate in more than one field. Cisco is the home of the Bankhead Poultry Producers' association, greatest poultry producers and marketers' association of Texas, and the centering of marketing for "The Egg Basket of Texas." Our farmers diversify, raising not only cotton but their own feed, food and truck.

While in Cisco, we hope you will not only enjoy yourself to the fullest extent at Lake Cisco, but that you will take occasion to look over our entire city. The famous West Texas hospitality abounds right here, and Cisco is glad to give you its heartiest welcome. If there is anything you want and need information, just ask us, and we'll be glad to serve you.
