OLD HOME TOWN

R. F. Joiner, manager of the Acorn Stores, Inc., has just returned from the New York headquarters of his store where he selected the early fall stock for the local store and which will begin to arrive at once. Mr. Joiner, says that buying by the retailers is unusually heavy for this time of year, buyers being enthusiastic as to prospects for fall sales. He stopped off in Washington, D. C. and saw the sights of the capital city of the U. S. A. He said he regretted very much to miss the Lake Cisco celebration and the bathing revue, but hears that it was a decided success. Mrs. Joiner, who visited her parents in Abilene during Mr. Joiner's absence, has also returned to her home here.

Expression of belief that Cisco will be the center of all future social activities of Central West Texas is contained in a letter received by the chamber of commerce from Miss Sarah Sanya Arlosoroff, Breckenridge representative in the bathing girl revue here last Friday. Her letter, expressing appreciation for the hospitality extended by Cisco, says: "I wish to express my sincere appreciation for the courtesy extended to my chaperone, Mrs. I. A. Wolf, and myself, by your city, Friday. Your entries in the bathing revue were especially hospitable to us in making us feel at home in our neighboring city. All Breckenridge is lauding the success of the dedication day events. I feel that your new projects will mean not only the success of Cisco, but a closer intermingling with West Texas towns, in that Cisco will be the center of all future social activities."

The Eastland county grand jury, which has been in recess, met again Monday and began investigation of crime. R. Q. Lee, P. W. Campbell and B. S. Huey are Cisco members of the grand jury.

W. F. Bruce and family are leaving today for Denver, Colo., and points in Wyoming to visit relatives and enjoy a summer vacation. Prof. Bruce, member of the Randolph college faculty, will do some research work in Denver before going on to Steamboat Springs, Wyo., where Mrs. Bruce has relatives.

Miss Gertrude McElyen has returned to her home at Stephenville for an indefinite stay. She has never fully recovered from an automobile accident some ten weeks ago. Miss McElyen has been bookkeeper at the Daily News office for the past year.

Dryers Disagree

Bishop James Cannon and the Rev. Arthur J. Barton, Anti-Saloon League powers, are joint authors of a statement broadcast through the South, denying that Wayne B. Wheeler (above), dry generalissimo, spoke for the League when he threatened the Democrats with a third candidate if they nominated Al Smith. Politicians see in the statement evidence of discord in the reform organization.

PLUCKY PILOT PUTS OUT FIRE STILL IN AIR

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Lieut. F. C. Champion, Jr., crack navy flyer, this morning broke the world's altitude record. The altimeter on his land plane showed he went up between 43,000 and 45,000 feet. The present record is 40,820 feet held by Calizzo, Frenchman. The altimeter will be checked by the bureau of standards before the record is officially recognized. He had an amazing escape from death when his plane caught on fire in mid-air. He was seven miles above the earth when a broken cylinder caught the fuselage afire. Sending the plane into a nose dive and holding the stick between his knees, he sprayed a fire extinguisher on the flames as he dived seven miles to earth, where the fire was found extinguished.

METHODISTS IN GOOD REPORT FOR QUARTER

Rev. C. O. Shugart presided at the third quarterly conference last night at the First Methodist church. "The best report ever heard here," was the comment made by members present last night. Fifty-six members were received from May 1 to July 24. Reports were made by Chairman of the Board Wm. Reagan, Mrs. W. A. Cox for Missionary society, Paul Latch for Epworth league, J. M. Witten for Sunday school, W. A. Cox for laymen. The reports indicate decided progress along all lines of church activity. The Sunday school showed an increase of 29 yesterday over last Sunday. The congregations both morning and evening were excellent. The usual summer slump is not being experienced, it is said. The pastor preached at 11 o'clock on "God's Aristocracy." He said, in part, "that culture, wealth, a noble parentage and high social standing did not necessarily make up the aristocracy of God. These may be the stepping stones by which man gets into the society of God, but these things within themselves do not constitute a legitimate aristocracy. The primary requirement of those who enter the aristocracy of God is goodness."

Miss Ine Richer, one of the outstanding sopranos of Dallas, sang at the morning service. A request number was sung by Mrs. McClinton.

Two Men Held In Auto Theft Here

Two men were arrested at a farm house 15 miles southwest of Cisco Monday and were taken back to Fort Worth to face charges of theft of an automobile. The car was owned by D. W. Garland, and was a 1927 model Ford roadster. Mr. Garland, accompanied by Officer Bob Botes of the Fort Worth police force, came here on the trail of the car, and with Constable C. S. Looney arrested W. E. Dickens and Lester Campbell, the latter of whom is said to have broken jail at Brady where he was charged with violation of the liquor laws.

CONTEST ADDS MANY TO BIBLE CLASS GROUPS

The contest is on in full force between the Women's and Men's Bible classes of the First Presbyterian church in this city. Sunday when the total attendance at the Sunday school reached 230, with the collection totaling $19.41. There were 53 in the men's class and 52 in the women's class. Visitors in attendance from other sections were: Mrs. C. W. Mims, Miss Helen and Aline Mims and Miss Helen Baugh of Houston; Elmo Poe, Fort Worth; Ed Wilson, Frederick, Okla.; Mr. Barber, Muskogee, Okla.; Robert Teul, Willis Point; Mr. Watson, Wichita Falls; Jesse Dowdy, Stanton; Tom Mitchell, Lubbock.

Marion Olson, a graduate of the University of Texas, gave an exposition of the lesson and W. I. Thornley presented some outstanding points. The pastor, Rev. B. C. Boney, is expected home in two weeks from his trip to the Holy Land, and will likely receive a big surprise to learn that attendance at the Sunday school has increased so markedly.

Cathedrals of Europe Have Become Only Mausoleums and People Rebel At Worshipping Dead, Says Roberts

European cathedrals have become nothing but mausoleums, housing the bones of deceased warriors and statesmen, and as a result, the people are rebelling against such "ancestral worship" and are not attending church services. This was the outstanding statement made by Dr. T. T. Roberts, president of Randolph college, when he addressed a large crowd at the First Christian church Sunday night, telling them of his recent trip to Europe. Every seat in the large auditorium was taken, and additional chairs had to be provided to care for the crowd. Every church, both in England and on the continent, is crowded with monuments and even the bones of the illustrious dead. Dr. Roberts declared. The churches have the silence and gloom of a tomb. As a result, the people are drifting away from the churches, and rarely attend services. At one great cathedral, building of which took almost a century, he said that outside the choir boys, not more than 50 persons were present for the services. "People of Europe are tired of this ancestral worship and the restrictions on the form of church services," Dr. Roberts declared. "They are crying out for a vital, living religion, and the churches of America have a great opportunity to meet this need. Either religion will soon perish in all Europe, or the American churches must save the day."

NEW YORK GETS READY FOR STRIKE

NEW YORK, July 25.—New York today began to mobilize for the threatened surface and elevated traction strike which has been called for tomorrow evening. Hope has been abandoned that the strike can be averted, despite intervention of Mayor Walker. Bus lines are working out emergency measures.

BUCHAREST, July 25.—The regency issued a proclamation today announcing it is taking over administration of the country in the name of King Michael I, emphasizing that King Michael comes to the throne by the wish of the late King Ferdinand. The regency promise to work for peaceful development of a greater Roumania. King Michael has ordered his court into mourning for six months.

Effort to Move Courthouse To Carbon Results in Old Timers Recalling Change of Site Before

Regarding the proposal to move the Eastland county seat to Carbon, petitions for which are now reported in circulation, the Ranger Times Sunday printed the following article:

With the announcement in Friday's Ranger Times and Eastland Telegram that Carbon has aspirations to be the county seat, many who drink principally stronger liquors. But they're all drunk just the same. And that is the condition which our ex-brewers in this country want to place here through sale of light wines and beer."

Dr. Roberts sketched his trip briefly, leaving out many points of interest, he said, for lack of time. He told of the magnificent ship, Corinthia, on which he went across, and denied that he became seasick, although he wanted to be so. He went over with Rev. B. C. Boney, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, but after leaving him in London did not see him again. Conditions in Belgium were far better than he had expected, he said, and he found Holland highly prosperous. He described wonderful paintings seen in the Paris museums. He told of seeing the king and queen in a procession at Buckingham Palace in London, and mentioned a visit to the home of Robert Burns in Scotland. The first view he got of Ireland when his ship touched on the shore was the "American Bar" out of which tottered a drunken Irishman, he said, expressing regret that he did not see more of the beauties of the Emerald Isle.

The speaker said he wore his overcoat from the time he left New York until he returned to the middle Atlantic where the warm gulf stream was encountered, the latitude of the European countries being such that summer was very late in arriving. Those Funny Americans He told of attending a British show in which the actors presented a take off on Americans, using the American accent which Britishers considered just as amusing as the American girl was.

HIGHWAY 23 TO MORAN IS NOW IN USE

State highway 23 is now open from the Eolian road to Moran, it was announced Monday following completion of a detour on the E. T. Brooks place around an underpass on the Katy railroad, not yet built. The detour is but 400 yards long and use of the land was granted by Mr. Brooks. Olin Elliott of that section assisted in arranging the matter. Mr. Brooks said the highway now saves him twelve miles on a round trip to Cisco and returned, as compared with the old road he had been compelled to use. The Eolian road is that which crosses the head of the lake by a small bridge.

Police Officer Recovers Car and Arrests Suspect

Constable C. S. Looney and Police Officer R. T. Redies went to Ranger Monday morning and arrested Mike Watkins, a farmer living five miles north of Ranger, on a charge of theft of an automobile. The car taken was owned by Redies himself, and was taken from the Lake Cisco grounds during the celebration Friday. It was found stripped of tires near the Watkins home Sunday. A search warrant was obtained Monday and the two went to the home Monday and reported finding a tire and rim with Redies' initials stamped on the rim by an insurance company, on Watkins' car. The house was searched where Constable Looney said other articles taken from the car were found.

S. Looney from Sheriff John C. Sanders of Marshall Monday. Three others arrested in connection with the robbery were Fred Walker, mechanic, Charlie Ford, building contractor, and E. W. Russeau.

GOVERNORS SAY FARM RELIEF BIG ISSUE

MACKINAC, Mich., July 25.—The controversial issue of farm relief which already has caused a partial split in both major parties, injected itself today into the annual conference of governors, and made certain of becoming one of the dominant issues in the 1927 presidential campaign. The executives of two dozen states had hardly taken their seats before they were regaled with a speech by Governor Hammill, republican, of Iowa in which he warned his colleagues from the east that either the farmers of this country are going to obtain relief or they are going to wreak havoc with political party lines.

CROSS PLAINS GASSER MAKES OIL PRODUCER

CROSS PLAINS, July 25.—With two new completions showing heavy production in the new Cross Plains field, added to the surprise brought about by a 200 barrel flow of oil, following 22 feet of deeper drilling in the old original discovery well, has supplied the thrills necessary to again place the new field in the limelight of leadership in local development over the week.

The old gasser now more than one year old is the first well ever drilled in that section and after topping the gas at 1629 feet, drilling the top sand to 1636 feet with a shale break to 1641 logged the second sand to 1649 and suspended drilling at a little less than 1650 with the bit showing a shale formation.

This well, property of the Prairie Oil & Gas company, the Texas-Mook company and M. E. Wakefield, led to the discovery of oil production on surrounding acreage and has been used as a fuel supply for later wells drilled by these owners.

The discovery a few months ago of a third and more productive sand slightly deeper, led to tools being moved back to the old well and after drilling six feet of shale break the third sand was topped and at 1671 feet the initial gauge was for 235 barrels of oil coming from this prolific third sand, and after four days on production the gauge averages 165 barrels on semi-settled basis.

This opens a wide territory to the north of former development, to a prospective oil future, in an area that had been considered as probable gas territory.

The two wells of the week are being drilled by Shaw & Kithke on the Miller land and lead into this well territory to the north of the group of wells producing at the southwest point of the triangle of territory embraced by former operations, and contribute much value to the intervening territory that divides these wells from the group in the vicinity of the original discovery.

Further to the east on this line of south Callahan county wildcats, the test of the White Eagle Co. on the Hall ranch has reached a depth of 100 feet, with all formations logging in close conformity to the Cross Plains field.

Tools are being recovered from the late fishing job of the Milham corporation on the Warren land eight miles northwest of Cross Plains and now is being temporarily held up waiting on cement to set that has been poured to straighten the hole. This test is now at 3420 feet and will test for the deep pay at 4000 feet.

Human Interest Editorials

CONSIDER THE ZILU

You want to be careful what you say about Zulu chieftans. And be sure that no remark you make can be construed as uncomplimentary, for it might cost you money. At least such was the experience of the Natal Mercury, a South African newspaper.

When the Prince of Wales was visiting South Africa some time ago, the wild and woolly Zulus put on a war dance for him. The Natal Mercury, commenting on the event, took occasion to rap one Zulu chief who bears the cognomen of Solomon; the Mercury declared that said Solomon had thrust himself so much into the limelight during the progress of the dance that he had interfered with the antics of the terpsichorean performers, had distracted attention from the royal visitor, and in so doing had shown disrespect to His Royal Highness.

Now who says the whole world isn't getting civilized? If that isn't bringing the wild-man-of-Borneo up to date, what would be? The circumstance of a Kaffir chieftan instituting libel suit against a newspaper for an irritating editorial on his personal behavior is certainly an improvement on the days when Zulus were massacring Britons and getting chased by British soldiers.

And doesn't that go to show that England has developed extreme consideration of her foreign subjects? English newspapers talk worse about the Prime Minister and members of the House of Commons and the House of Lords than did the Mercury about the haughty Kaffir chief — and they get away with it, too, without paying damages. And American newspapers make harsher comments concerning mayors, chiefs of police, governors, congressmen, senators, members of the cabinet of the United States, and the president, and nobody does anything about it.

England is pampering her insular possessions. Quite at variance with a former policy toward her dominions, she is going to lengths to keep them happy. She is getting cautious about disturbances in her far flung territories. She doesn't want to make anybody sore east of Suez, or wherever the place may be. She will give them anything they want if only they will be good. They can play hoop with the phonograph records, dip into the sugar bowl, lick off the molasses pitcher, and carve their initials on the marbled pieces, if they just won't have tantrums. That is why an English court saved the feelings of a disgruntled South African headman with a $2000 judgment against an English newspaper.

Had England, about 150 years ago, established as conciliatory an attitude toward her colonies as she manifests today, the United

CONGRESSMAN DROWNS SELF IN FRISCO BAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., July 25.—M. E. Crumpacker, representative in Congress from the Third Oregon district, died at the Central Emergency hospital here Sunday after he had been pulled from San Francisco bay. Witnesses said he jumped into the water from a point near the Golden Gate ferry slip. Reports said he had dropped from the ferry, but later reports said he jumped from shore.

Crumpacker was found sitting on the street curb in the downtown district here Saturday night talking incoherently and was taken to the Central Emergency hospital to be treated for poisoning.

The police were called by an unidentified woman who lived near the corner, where the congressman was found. She informed the authorities that the man had told her "he was going to sit there until he died."

Crumpacker resisted when police started to take him to the hospital, insisting that he was "going to die."

TRAIN CRASHES IN FLOOD

Here is one consequence of the disastrous floods now raging in Germany. High waters undermined railroad tracks at Wernigerode, causing a passenger train to plunge over an embankment. Nine were killed and twenty-two injured. Photo shows the wrecked train. (International Review.)

FEDERAL FLOOD RELIEF

Secretary Hoover has now made his official report to President Coolidge about existing conditions and needs in the flooded area of the Mississippi valley. The public has great confidence in Hoover, based on his record of sound achievement, good sense and judgment. His report will have weight with the whole country. Immediate federal aid is urged by Mr. Hoover. State legislatures, he says, cannot raise sufficient funds to carry on the imperative work of closing the levees. Local committees cannot meet the burden of taxes falling due on the levee bonds because a million and a half acres of flooded land cannot raise crops this year. "The greatest of all measures needed," says the secretary of commerce, "is prompt and effective control and quick legislation for that will restore confidence and from confidence will come a recovery in values and in business. "The government should take over and repair the whole levee system of the flooded area whether or not the levees are under government jurisdiction. Congress should also furnish relief in helping to pay interest charges and amortization for holders of levee bonds in sections where floods have prevented a planting of crops this year. Most of the levee obligations will not fall due until about January 1." This probably means that congress will be called in special session early in the fall. It should also mean that if it is at all possible to make use of available government funds for immediate work, that should be done. It is hard for citizens in states far from the flooded area to realize the extent of the devastation and the national character of the disaster. Secretary of Commerce Hoover's statement helps us to this point of view and should receive the thoughtful consideration of the whole country as well as of President Coolidge.

AMAZING CANDOR

Sticking up signs to welcome strangers and invite them again is a common practice in cities and villages throughout the United States in this motoring age. But such thoughtfulness as that of the village of Candor, N. Y., is rare indeed. Says the highway sign at Candor's town border: "Strangers are warned to be careful and not get lost in the weeds that hide the sidewalk near the old shoe factory as the village officers will not be responsible." This seems fair enough. Anyone who insists on nosing about the old shoe factory and braving the concealing weeds, ought to be willing to take along his own compass, scythe and other aids to trail blazing—or else suffer the consequences. There are many things about the situation puzzling to us at this remote distance. What, for instance, is the attraction drawing strangers into the dangerous weeds? Does the sidewalk never lead cut of the weeds again? Or is it merely a labyrinthine maze laid out for the bewilderment of the unwary?

The rising generation rises later and later.

AIR PORTS

The army official who warned the public against spending money on unprofitable aviation fields was right in some respects. Anyone who has seen one of this country's many little towns that started with a boom and died a slow and ugly death because the railroad passed it by, knows what municipal tragedies may follow hasty preparation for transportation that never develops. But there is another side. The establishment of an air port should be carefully considered, to determine whether the city's location is such as to make it naturally an air station or terminal. On the other hand, the creation of an aviation field with good facilities for accommodating air traffic may bring such traffic and make the city an air port in spite of an apparently unpromising location. It has been proved that air men will cheerfully go a long way for a good landing. An airport needs to be big enough for safety in taking off and landing. It needs to be near enough the center of the city so that time made by inter-city flights will not be lost between the terminal airport and business section in any given city. It should be sufficiently well drained to eliminate the hazards of rainy weather and mud. Let us have our airports, but let us acquire them with wisdom and foresight and vision rather than reckless and speculative haste.

A CHAMPION FOILED

There are champions and champions. One great feat begets another, and these days you never can tell where some new marvel of human skill or endurance is going to break out. There is William Hanson of Chicago, for example. Hanson is a diver. Discussing his ability with his friend Ira Goole, he announced: "I can stay under water longer than any other man in the world." "You said it!" replied Goole enthusiastically. "Show them!" So Hanson and Goole prepared to show the world what could be done in the way of sitting under water. They went down to the end of a pier, and Goole fastened a chunk of iron weighing 50 pounds to Hanson's leg. It was very simple. Hanson was going to drop off the pier, with Goole's help, into 15 feet of water, and sit firmly anchored on the bottom until all under-water-sitting records were broken, then come up. He had a knife in his hand with which he was going to cut the rope that held the iron, when the time arrived. Then some timid person, or maybe an enemy, ran and tipped the thing off to the police, and they came and stopped the show before it started, declaring that it was nothing less than suicide or murder. As for suicide, Hanson was simply following the urge of a great ambition; and as

Texas Business Conditions Show Uplift

State More Prosperous Than Expected Last January; Crops Give Promise Of Good Yield, and Cotton Stocks Lower

AUSTIN, July 25.—With the beginning of the second half of the year on June 1, business conditions in Texas were in a much better condition than was hoped for last January, according to statistics and general information received by the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas of which Dr. A. B. Cox is director. The following report compiled by Bernard Nichols, secretary of the Bureau, covering the month of June, has just been issued:

"The business situation in Texas and the southwest was favorable in June. A few reports are coming to hand which are not as optimistic as they might be, but industry generally made satisfactory gains and business begins the second half of the year in a much better condition than was hoped for last January. The change from doubt during April and May proved to be less severe than at first expected because of beneficial rains throughout the state. Moreover, the markets for farm produce have advanced sharply over the past few weeks, carrying prices of some agricultural products above last year's levels at this time.

"Possibly the most perplexing situation at the present time is the oil industry. Overproduction has demoralized the industry to such an extent that field activity is less than half of what it was a few months back. Unless further curtailment in production takes place, it will possibly be several months before the industry is operating normally again.

Cotton Carry Over Reduced.
"Last year's huge cotton crop is moving into consumptive channels at record rate and the carry-over of American cotton on August 1 will be only slightly larger than that of a year ago. During June 664,000 bales were used in the United States, and exports for the eleven months of the cotton year are nearly 11,000,000 bales. The July report of the United States Crop Reporting Board shows a reduction of 12.4 per cent from the acreage harvested last year. This reduction, coupled with the rather poor start of the present crop, has advanced cotton prices some six cents a pound over the price last December. The corn crop is well above average this year and wheat harvesting is making rapid progress in the state.

"Livestock and range conditions were very much improved in June. After the rains, livestock responded quickly to fresh pastures and gained in flesh more than enough to offset the loss in May. Shipments of beef and calves were rather light but producers received the highest prices in several years. Hogs and sheep suffered a further decline in prices although the market maintained a stronger tone. Wool and mohair were in good demand at higher prices.

"Allowing for seasonal factors, building permits made a good showing. Activity in the lumber industry compares favorably with that of June, 1926. Daily average production of petroleum fell off slightly and field activity dropped sharply.

"Shipments of fruits and vegetables moved to market in large volume. While prices were lower than in May, producers are finding truck crops an important source of income. Tomatoes and watermelons are the most important crops going to market at the present time.

Farmers Catching Up.
Better weather during the latter part of the month aided farmers in catching up with their work. Most crops made satisfactory progress, although some sections report cotton plants are growing too much to weed.

"Trade at wholesale and retail declined seasonally. Retail sales were smaller by eight per cent than those of June last year and five-and-ten-cent store sales show an increase. Consumption of cotton by Texas mills was greater by 6.3 per cent than the May figure.

"Money continues easy. At the first of the month, interest notes floated seasonally but most of the increase was lost before the end of the month. Ample funds are readily available for commercial needs and borrowers are experiencing little difficulty in making loans for productive purposes. Bank debts were below those of June a year ago. Net demand deposits fell off slightly from May but time deposits show a small increase. The number of corporations receiving charters was increased over the previous month and the number of failures was smaller.

"Business generally is in a position where production and consumption are about evenly balanced. It is true that activity in the first half of the year was somewhat under the first half of 1926, but this situation is reason for optimism because of the stabilized position which industry is enjoying at the present time.

"The building industry in Texas is somewhat better in June than in the same month of last year.

THE REASON WHY

"Oh dear, there's that phone again. I wonder who it is now? Hello! Mr. Smith talking. Jane, good-morning, my dear."

"You want me to go to Fort Worth with you to take advantage of the summer sales?"

"It is lovely of you to ask me Jane, but I can't go this time. A crank? Well, yes I am a real crank about buying from our home merchants."

"We'll save on the sales? Stop one moment and think that over, Jane. There are many things to be considered in the price we pay besides dollars and cents. Who keeps up our schools, churches and—"

"Now, Jane, if you were sick or in trouble, if Jim were to lose his job, who would credit you until times were easy again?"

"You don't know? Gracious, Jane, it wouldn't be any city merchant."

"Yes, I am to meet John on town and go to Rockwell Bros. & Co. to talk about the house we are building. We like to talk with that firm. They are to be depended on, ab-so-lu-tely!"

"I have an appointment with A. S. Nabors Furniture Co. to figure on furnishing the new house. Buy in Fort Worth? There you go again, Jane. I have found Nabors just as cheap and far more anxious to please than any out of town dealer."

"A full day—I should say. I am to take baby to Walton's to have her picture made. His work is very satisfactory, and much cheaper than other studios."

"Next, I must send my blue silk to the Cisco Cleaners. Yes, Stevens & Ratliff. Indeed they are responsible. Try them, Jane."

"I must get a supply of Carz Some toilet articles from the Dean Drug Co. Anything you want there, and so glad to serve you."

"I have to go to Skiles Grocery and Market for a lot of things. Come go with me. I can promise you will like them, Jane. They always do their best to get just what you want."

"I must order my Banner ice cream for the Missionary Society tomorrow afternoon. Never used it? How strange. Made right here in Eastland county and is simply fine."

"I must run into the 'M' System and get something for lunch. Yes, it is convenient. Everything right before you to select from. By the way, Jane, this place gives the loveliest silver for so much in trade. Yes, indeed, I have a set of their salad forks."

"Oh, no cooking for me tonight. John is taking us to dinner at the Daniels Cafe. We enjoy going there. Always good meals, prompt and courteous service."

"Well, I must go. Goodbye, Jane."

DEATH GIVEN BIRGER; PALS ALLOWED LIFE

BENTON, Ill., July 25.—The law that Charlie Birger sneered at and defied with machine-gun rule, Sunday demanded his life.

Birger, swaggering leader of the gang that carried his name, was found guilty of the murder of Mayor Joe Adams of West City, Ill., and his punishment was fixed at death.

Art Newman and Ray Hyland, two of Birger's henchmen, were found guilty on the same charge and their punishment was fixed at life imprisonment.

The murder of Adams was one of the incidents in the sanguinary warfare between Birger and members of the Shelton gang.

The verdict came after twenty-three hours of deliberation. The jurors reached their decision after a sleepless night. Three of them were said to have held out for a life sentence penalty for Birger.

Attorneys for the gangster announced they would take the case to the Supreme court.

WATCH FOR OUR BIG CLEARANCE SALE STARTS FRIDAY, JULY 29th
A. S. NABORS FURNITURE CO.
"CISCO'S GREATEST HOME FURNISHER"

MUCH PRAISE

Newspapers of Texas, which have been very generous in use of their space in giving publicity to Lake Cisco, are now adding praise for its achievement in building so stupendous a project. An editorial appearing in the Fort Worth Record-Telegram Monday morning referred to the celebration here last Friday as affording "one of the nicest little news stories which has come out of West Texas since the population attended the latest convention of the W. T. C. C."

Here is the editorial:

"Cisco's Big Dam Bridge is opened, dedicated, everything. Great possibilities exist in that simple statement. There are those who will speak of it as Big Cisco's Dam Bridge, while others will insist on calling it Dam Cisco's Big Bridge. But all persiflage aside, Cisco's Dam Big Bridge makes one of the nicest little news stories that has come out of West Texas since the population attended the latest convention of the W. T. C. C."

The Ranger Times, of which George Kelley, formerly of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, is the new editor, was most lavish in its praise. Mr. Kelley was one of the editors from elsewhere attending the celebration. He wrote:

Cisco's Celebration
"The city of Cisco staged a really wonderful celebration Friday in the dedication of its big bathing pool and other major projects."

"Few cities in Texas a dozen times the size of Cisco have undertaken such a stupendous program as has this little city. The beautiful lake is an asset of which any city in the southwest should be proud and the bathing pool when completed will probably have an equal nowhere in the country."

"The city of Cisco has spent a vast amount of money in building its big dam, constructing the bathing beach and in making other improvements at this new pleasure resort. If there be those in this section of the state who have not visited the resort they should do so at once. It is a revelation of what can be done by a community that has a common purpose in view and works for the accomplishment of that purpose."

"This resort has been the dream of the people of Cisco for years past. They have visioned it by day and by night and they have planned and worked diligently for the realization of their dream."

"It is a credit to the foresight, ability and determination of the people of our sister city."

Sisters Find They Lived in Four Blocks

VERNON, Texas, July 25.—Two sisters, who long had believed each other dead, met in Vernon Thursday after having been separated for thirty-five years. They had been living in Southeast Vernon, within four blocks of each other, for several months.

The two women are Mrs. S. E. Collins and Mrs. Margaret Hamilton. Mrs. Collins is 67 years old and Mrs. Hamilton 63. They separated thirty-five years ago when the elder sister married and left the family home in Alabama. The parents died and neither of the sisters could attend the funerals. Later word came to each that the other was dead.

Mrs. Hamilton came to Vernon four years ago and Mrs. Collins moved here five months ago. They lived within four blocks of each other, but did not become acquainted. The discovery of their relationship was accidental. Mrs. Hamilton's daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Hamilton, was looking for a house. By chance she called at the Collins home on Thursday in search of a house to rent. The afternoon was hot and she was asked in to rest. The conversation turned back the years and the relationship was discovered.

The cotton, classed as strict middling, was bought by Tom Miller, local cotton buyer, at 22 cents a pound, or at a premium of 4 1/2 cents. The bale weighed 530 pounds, and brought Mr. Jones $116.60. He told Mr. Miller he expected to have several more bales ready soon as his cotton is in good shape.

Vanzetti Resumes His Hunger Strike

BOSTON, July 25.—Unsuccessful in his efforts to lure Sacco into eating by his own example, Bartolomeo Vanzetti today renewed his hunger strike. Both declined today to partake of breakfast. Told that Sacco was becoming mentally deranged as the result of the hunger strike, Vanzetti yesterday agreed to take food, in the hope it would have effect on the other. It had no effect, however, and Vanzetti renewed his hunger strike immediately.
