CROWD STORMS REDS' MORGUE

Ferguson Predicts 'Tom Cat Fight' for Senate

OLD HOME TOWN

A letter from W. F. Bruce, professor in Randolph college, states that he is leaving Denver, Colo., where he has been doing research work this summer, for points in New Mexico. "Denver itself would occupy the time of a tourist for a month if he wished to enlighten himself as well as relax," he wrote. "The museum at the city park and the state museum are each a course in themselves. Then for recreation there are several fine city parks besides the mountain parks within easy auto drive of the city. We saw the grave of Buffalo Bill yesterday and the interesting museum of relics that is maintained out at Lookout mountain, twenty-five miles away. Then, the city and state libraries furnish material for reading, from the lightest to the heaviest research work. Of course, there is plenty of 'high life' too, and all the other recreational business, social, religious and other features usually found in a large city."

Claud Winston, resident of the Davis Mountains, who was visiting in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Winston, was called to the bedside of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Robinson, of Abilene Tuesday. Mrs. Robinson died in her home in Abilene Tuesday at one o'clock. Funeral services will be held at Moran cemetery.

Rev. A. C. Miller, pastor of the First Baptist church, returned late Tuesday from Clint, Texas, where he has been holding a revival meeting for the last two weeks. He reports a splendid meeting and a very enjoyable visit to that part of the Rio Grande valley. "The material prosperity of the people out there," said Rev. Miller, "is very far in excess of their spiritual prosperity. It is a great mission field. Crop conditions are very promising and the people are very optimistic over the rise in the cotton market." Rev. Miller will meet the mid-week services at the city hall auditorium this evening.

RANDOLPH TO SEEK JUNIOR LOOP BERTH

DALLAS, Aug. 24.—Coaches and executives of the 10 junior college conference institutions in Texas will hold their fall meeting here September 6 in conjunction with the meeting of Southwestern conference officials, Dean E. M. Stanton of Lon Morris college, Jacksonville, president of the junior college conference, announces. Applications of Randolph college of Cisco and Westminster college of Tohannaca for admittance into the junior college conference will be considered at the meeting. Under the rules of the conference, formal applications of both schools will be tabbed for one year. However, relations will be inaugurated with the two schools but they will not be eligible for championship claims in the conference this year. Meridian college, which holds a record of athletic triumphs in the conference, has undergone a change in its administration and will withdraw from intercollegiate athletics.

GIRLS WILL HAVE CLASS ON LIGHTING

The Home Economics class members at Cisco high school for the years of 1926 and 1927 have been invited to attend a lighting school on interior decorating which will be conducted at the high school from 3 to 5 o'clock Friday afternoon. It is announced. The school is to be conducted by the Edison Lamp Works under the direction of the West Texas Utilities company woman's committee on public information.

'THREE TOMS' SEEKING JOB HE DECLARES

AUSTIN, Aug. 24.—"The only time when Dan Moody is above Tom Love's dictation is when he is up in that flying machine, and that don't last very long, although it now occurs often," declared former governor James E. Ferguson here. The former governor was discussing the impending race for the United States senate. "I am sure," Ferguson continued, "if Moody does not run for the senate, Love will be in the run off. Love will determine who will run, him or Moody."

In commenting on the coming race, Ferguson remarked that Texas seems to have its cycles of "Toms" with striking regularity. "It was just a little over a decade since the names of Tom Ball, Tom Jones and Tom Campbell were more than widely discussed in Texas politics. While their names have passed, we still have a supply of 'Tom' politicians," Ferguson said. "They are Tom Connally, Tom Blanton and Tom Love. Tom Connally admits he is the best looking of the three. Tom Love admits he is the ugliest of the three. Tom Blanton admits he is the smartest of the three."

Says Love's Title Safe "Just now the people are not taking sides in the controversy, but it appears that Connally and Blanton will have to prove their contentions, while Tom Love's contention does not seem to be contested from any source."

"All three of these Toms want to go to the United States senate and to gain that goal all three are as busy as a one-eyed man at a three-ring circus."

Ferguson paid his respects to the League of Nations and the World Court, declaring that "Unless I am forced as a choice between two evils, I will not vote for anybody for senator who is in favor of the League of Nations, the World Court or the national disarmament idea. America for Americans is a good doctrine, even if the Ku Klux did say it first."

"Tom Connally will have the majority of the American Legion vote. He has a real war record that can't be denied. He went to war when he could have stayed at home. But he produced the goods when Uncle Sam tooted the horn. He has lots of friends and he is a spellbinder of no small ability."

"Tom Blanton is the most energetic man in congress. While he often gets the wrong way by the ear, he runs for the senate with the most entertaining campaign that we have ever seen in Texas. It will get warm. The fur will fly and the campaign will not be sixty days old before it will assume a Tom Cat aspect."

"In the meantime, let everybody keep cool and find out what these candidates for the senate stand for before we promise to vote for any of them. The game is young. They ought soon to begin to tell us something."

WILBUR ASKS DOUBLED NAVY CONSTRUCTION

VALLEJO, Calif., Aug. 24.—A 100 per cent increase in naval construction will be advocated before congress at its next session by Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur, here today on a tour of inspection.

CURRAN TELLS HOW TO CLIMB IN BUSINESS

Suggestions as to how to improve their business were heard by a fair sized crowd of Cisco business men and women Tuesday night when Dr. J. C. Curran, head of the Curran School of Better Business Methods in New York City, spoke. He asked that the hearers first make a pledge to themselves that during the next year they will attempt to be better men and women morally, mentally, physically, financially and tempermentally. He then enumerated the destructive elements of character, naming will power, fear and worry, doubt and bad thoughts. "The city of happiness is in the right state of mind," he declared.

He then discussed habits that drive friends away, pointing out many of the ugly habits which are developed unconsciously, but which irritate even one's closest friends and eventually drive them away. Along this line, he urged that business men never be "unconscious" when waiting on customers, but to pay the greatest attention. "Always do the unusual thing," he asserted. "Do more for your customer than he expects of you."

Rules for improving one's memory, which he declared to be one of the greatest assets in business, were given as containing more attention, interest and concentration. The nine forces that make for success in business were given as the concealed forces of power of will, attention, ability to concentrate, and constructive imagination, and the conscious forces of practical memory, practical judgment, effective speech, ambition and initiative. The value of system and order was emphasized, and the business men were urged to be careful what they say to their customers and how they say it. "The last impression is the one that stays the longest," he said.

The speaker then gave some suggestions on how to remember names, after emphasizing the importance of knowing those with whom he deals. His principles summed up were: "Get the name right, then use it." The remainder of the address was devoted to suggestions on personal hygiene, which he declared to be a most important point in business success.

Lee Forced Back Indoors for Few Days

R. Q. Lee, who was injured some time ago in an automobile accident on the Breckenridge highway, Wednesday was confined to his home on orders of his physician and advised that he rest for a few days and keep out of the heat of the sun. Mr. Lee has been able to be down town for some time, and for several weeks was accompanied by his head. Recently this was removed and it was believed that he had practically recovered from a severe wound on the scalp, but doctors have advised that he remain inside for a few days so as to take no chances.

QUAKE AT SEA ROCKS LINER, STIRS TERROR

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—A strange convulsion at sea generally believed to be a submarine earthquake of marked intensity, tilted the French liner France from side to side and hurled hundreds of passengers from their chairs and beds it was learned when the liner docked today. None of the passengers was seriously injured. "I never saw anything like it in the forty years I have been to sea," said Captain Oburt, commander of the vessel.

Cisco Farmers Getting Much Data On Dairying During Trip; Lee Poe Gets Lost in City, But is Found

EN ROUTE WITH CISCO DAIRY CARAVAN, Aug. 24.—The Cisco caravan investigating the dairying methods in use at the various Texas centers has already obtained much valuable information on its tour which began early Monday morning. All members of the party are enjoying the trip and little trouble has been experienced in keeping the nine members together, except for the fact that Lee Poe strayed by the wayside in Waco and got lost, requiring a considerable search before he was returned to the group. Other members of the party are fearing just what will happen when San Antonio is reached, with its many buildings and crooked streets. Use of a halter to keep the Bankhead Poultry Producers' president in tow is being seriously considered.

O. P. Weiser left the party at Austin to attend the funeral of a brother-in-law at Giddings Wednesday, but will rejoin the party in South Texas.

Hico was the first dairying center visited. J. S. Leonard of Hico, route 2, told of his experiences in dairying, asserting he has never had to borrow from the bank since he started dairying. His cows cost him $60 each, and he said he gets 50 cents a day from each of them. He sells his sweet cream, declaring he gets as much for the cream alone as he could get for the whole milk. When a marketing station was first established at Hico 24 cents a gallon was paid for milk, but the producers soon forced the buyers to buy on a butter fat basis.

O. E. Mendows of two miles west of Hico, who formerly lived at Ranger, gave figures showing his average income per week from 13 cows to be approximately $40 a week. His cows average $125 value each. Part of them are registered and the others good grade stock. He has a registered bull. The cows average about 4-1/2 gallons in cultivation and practices diversified farming. He raises hogs, chickens, and registered hogs. He raises all his feed, and finds the best feed is bundle oats, corn in the shock, crushed, and cotton seed meal. He has sold about $1900 worth of milk since the first of the year.

H. Gleason, president of the Hico Ice and Cold Storage company, said the plant has operated since 1908. A creamery owned by other persons was operated in the plant until four years ago when the company took the creamery over, and now manufactures both sweet cream and sour cream butter. He said he is unable to fill all orders for sour cream butter, but that he has trouble finding a market for sweet cream butter because of a difference in price of 10 to 15 cents a pound. His approximate receipts are 3,000 pounds of sweet cream, 2,500 pounds of sour cream, and 2,000 gallons of whole milk daily, from 200 producers. He operates three trucks in gathering the milk and cream, Comanche being the farthest point reached, 50 miles away. The creamery business is handicapped because of lack of paved roads, he said. Members of the party were guests of Mr. Gleason at lunch at the Midland hotel.

2 CISCO BOYS FACE CRIMINAL ASSAULT CASE

One Cisco youth is on bond of $5,000 and another is held in the Amarillo jail as the result of charges of criminal assault filed in the court of Justice of the Peace J. H. McDonald. After a hearing Tuesday afternoon, Justice McDonald allowed Terry Johnson, youth of 19, bond of $5,000, and a telephone call from Amarillo at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning apprized Constable C. S. Looney that Medford Sparks, another Cisco youth, had been arrested there on the same charges. Johnson made bond signed by Fred Johnson, J. M. Douglas, H. S. Stubbinsfield, H. E. Wilson and G. T. Parrock.

It was brought out in the hearing that the alleged assault took place on an 18-year-old Cisco girl last Saturday night. The girls' parents are dead, and the charges were filed by her uncle. According to the testimony, she had been to a picture show with her uncle and family and was waiting outside the theatre for the remainder of the party with her cousin when the two boys with whom she had gone to school here at high school drove up. They asked her to sit in the car with them until the others came out of the show; and when she got in the car they drove off. It was testified that she testified then indicated that she was held in the car until a point near the Word school house was reached, and that there both boys assaulted her. She was said to be painfully bruised and scratched as the result of her struggles.

Johnson, who was injured some time back, appeared in court on catches, not having recovered from the injuries suffered in a motorcycle collision.

Johnson Grass Takes 12 Cattle

Undertakers' Chapel Mobbed By Hundreds Wanting to See Bodies After Hall for Display Refused

BOSTON, Aug. 24.—Hundreds of angry sympathizers of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti this afternoon stormed the undertaker's rooms of Joseph Langone in the west end, where the bodies of the two men have been held while unsuccessful efforts were made to secure a hall where they could lie in state. Police were called when the crowds threatened to break down the doors to view all that is mortal of the pair.

HALLS DENIED BODIES OF EXECUTED REDS.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 24.—While many European countries were reporting pitched battles, sympathizers of Sacco and Vanzetti were meeting opposition here today in securing a hall in which to lay the two bodies in state. Carpenters on orders from the owner put up a barrier at the defense committee building. An Italian hall was also boarded up. Plans for a funeral procession Sunday were drawn up by the defense committee today. First in the parade will come two empty black hearses. Behind the hearses will march eight men in mourning, carrying the caskets, four men to each casket. Then will come fifty official mourners. Behind this group will move automobiles bearing Mrs. Sacco and Luiza Vanzetti and other women mourners. This brings the funeral procession number to within the 200 required by police regulations. Sympathizers assured police today that there will be no disturbance but stated they could not prevent persons following the funeral cortege. The procession will pass by the state house, in the Back Bay district the coffins will be placed in hearses for transfer to Forest Hills cemetery for cremation.

EUROPEAN NEWSPAPERS CALL U. S. BARBAROUS.

BERLIN, Aug. 24.—Newspapers throughout Central Europe today continued their denunciation of the United States following execution of Sacco and Vanzetti in the biggest editorial spree since war times. 1,000 REPORTED WOUNDED IN PARIS RIOTING.

PARIS, Aug. 24.—Police today estimated the wounded in last night's communist rioting as high as 1,000, including 100 policemen. Order was restored today after the violent rioting last night by 100,000 socialists, communists and anarchists in protest against the Sacco-Vanzetti executions at Boston. No Americans were injured.

Political Union Between Farmers And Laborers Proposed by Son Of Former Coolidge Cabinet Member

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 24.—A political union of western and southern farmers with eastern labor was advocated today by Henry A. Wallace, editor of "Wallace's Farmer," and son of the late Henry C. Wallace, secretary of agriculture in the Harding and Coolidge administrations. "There is a place for a party composed of western and southern farmers which will cooperate at times with eastern laboring men to ask just what our rapid exploitation of natural resources is meaning in human happiness in the long run," he said. Col. Clarence Ousley, of Texas, in effect endorsed the statement when he said: "The president and those who hold with him cannot accept the policies of the McNary-Hoagen bill in whatever form it may be refreshed without political perfidy. Now spokesmen of the president present another measure for the farmer to accept. They cannot accept it without recanting their opposition to the government subsidy. Thus I can see no compromise. "It seems to me, therefore, that inevitably the issue must go to the people in political contest, and I venture to advise candidates for congress and for the presidency to inform themselves and prepare for intelligent discussion. There are several million voters on farms in the United States who will embrace the opportunity to vote as they think for the welfare of themselves and their children."

NO WORD YET OF MISSING DOLE FLYERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 24.—Reinforced by the light cruiser, Omaha, and fifteen destroyers, the naval search for the seven lost Hawaii flyers was nearing the end today. All searchers will be called back from the hunt tomorrow. Four planes that flew into the mountains yesterday to investigate reports of a green flare supposed to be seen flickering half way up the 13,000 foot slope of Mauna Kea, were expected to return today. Other than the naval reinforcements and the reports of the green flare there have been no new developments in the 2,400 mile hunt for the Miss Doran, Golden Eagle and Dallas Spirit.

IT'S A CINCH TO GET AHEAD

It is to be regretted that a larger crowd was not present Tuesday night to hear the address by Dr. J. C. Curran. The speaker gave many thoughts that should be valuable to those who were present in conduct of their business or in the climb to success in the employ of others.

HAPPY LEGIONNAIRES

The advance guard of the American Legion has arrived in Paris and received a cordial welcome. There was no formal reception for these early arrivals, but there was much cheerfulness and some welcoming shouts.

SOME GOOD MAY COME OF IT

Sacco and Vanzetti are dead. Seven years it took to execute them, but the deed has been done at last. Perhaps the greatest good to be accomplished is that of bringing to the attention of the American people just how long arch criminals can escape justice through taking advantage of the technicalities of the law.

LIFE BELTS FOR DOGS

The Ile de France, now flagship of the French line trans-Atlantic steamers, has been equipped with life belts for dogs. Travelers who take their canine pets with them on ocean voyages can now be assured that the dogs will have as good a chance as the humans in case of shipwreck.

WHY WOMEN REDUCE

Men have found it very hard to understand women's mania for "slenderizing" by diets which impose on them not merely the pangs of starvation but grave physical disorders. At last there is an explanation, given by Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Flat Head Indians, mutilation of the nostrils and ears by the savages of Africa and over-development of the breast by the Hottentots. So here we have it at last. The dress designers are responsible. They establish a fashion of slender clothes, and then the ad artists picture it as even more slender than it is, and the women try to live up to it.

In other words, a four-teacher school is limited to ten grades.

Some variations may be made if taken up with the county superintendent and county school board.

"BROWNWOOD HAS ENOUGH WATER"

WEST TEXAS C-C OFFICIAL DENIES CLAIM

AUSTIN, Aug. 24.—Jay Alexander, secretary of the Syndicate Power company, Dallas, declared here today that the water rights meeting at Abilene which resolved against power interests in the Colorado river water right situation was not "representative of the West Texas chamber of commerce, nor of West Texas."

"Not less than 150," he said, "of the 250 present were from Brown county."

Brown county is the scene of the proposed irrigation and water supply dam, awaiting decision of the state board of water engineers, the application for permit being opposed by the Syndicate Power company.

Alexander said the meeting was "dominated by Congressman Blanton and Senator Woodward, who evidently saw an opportunity to make a political issue out of this great development project."

"They Business Men Oppose" He declared that the resolution calling on the state water board to consider the granting of power on the Colorado river was opposed "in whole or in part" by three business men on the resolutions committee.

"With over half of the men attending the meeting interested in the Brown County Irrigation company, it was a foregone conclusion that any resolution unfavorable to the power company interests could be passed."

"Inasmuch as the irrigation company is unwilling to leave the decision as to their rights to the constituted authorities, and have appealed to the West Texas chamber of commerce for relief, it is only proper to repeat that all the people of Texas know the real facts involved in this controversy."

"Brownwood Has Enough Water" He went on to tell how his father, C. H. Alexander, began acquiring rights on the Colorado river in Burnet, Travis and Llano counties in 1906 under state laws, and how a proposed sale of the interests to the Middle West Utilities company contemplates a $25,000,000 program of improvements in the counties mentioned, including flood protection for Austin and towns on the Lower Colorado.

He reiterated the previously announced position of the company that Brownwood has all necessary water for "municipal and domestic purposes."

SYNDICATE SECRETARY'S STATEMENTS DISPUTED

Several errors are claimed by E. H. Whitehead, publicity director of the West Texas chamber of commerce, in the statement of Jay Alexander of Dallas at Austin Tuesday with reference to a meeting held at Abilene at which resolutions were adopted that were aimed at water rights on the Colorado river held by the Syndicate Power company of which Alexander is secretary.

"More than 50 towns of West Texas were represented at the meeting and of approximately 400 people present, not more than 100 were from Brownwood," Whitehead said last night.

"Alexander at the meeting said his company was not opposed to Brownwood having all necessary water for municipal and domestic use, but when asked on the floor he was unable to define those uses. He explained that his company had filed on water and had reserved the right to sell it for irrigation purposes."

"As to the three business men he says opposed the resolution, they explained that they were in favor of the resolutions as directed against the Syndicate Power company but did not vote for them because of objection to some phraseology, fearing that it might mean that West Texas is opposed to outside capital developing its resources. One said he wished it could be made clear that no reflection against the West Texas Utilities company was intended. One of the three was C. H. Clark of Wichita Falls. Clark, after hearing Alexander talk, took the floor and explained that in committee he had opposed the resolution because of phraseology, but that he wished to announce he had changed his mind and would vote for them on the floor."

"Many of those at the meeting came as accredited delegates from chambers of commerce which had adopted resolutions condemning the rights claimed by the Syndicate Power company."

Death of Business Leaders No Longer Affects Markets

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The day of one-man industries and one-man corporations has passed in the United States. This has been proved in the last few days in connection with the deaths of Judge E. H. Gary and J. Ogden Armour. Armour had not been especially active of late months in the corporation bearing his name, but he still was chairman of its board and had no small share in shaping its policy.

These two deaths did not affect business, industry or the stock market. Few individuals now have the power of creating a business upheaval. There are today scores of executives who are insured for sums ranging as high as two or three million dollars in favor of their firms for the very purpose of nullifying any effect their deaths might have. In fact, the gain of 1.7 per cent reported today in the volume of money paid for life insurance for the first seven months of this year is due in no small measure to the factor. That total aggregated $9,713,000,000.

Train Successors

The keenest sighted executives of the country today are spending infinite time and patience in the training of their successors and the most successful executive is the one who can find some one else to do his work.

Policies have a far greater effect than deaths. This was true in the case of Armour. It was his policy which sent the Armour company, through its subsidiary, Armour of Delaware, into the South African field. This policy was followed by a most disastrous international trade war. The war, although few Americans know it, and least of all those most concerned, the farmers—has had a damaging effect on the agriculture and commerce of the United States since 1925.

In the struggle to secure control of the Argentine meat trade, the American Packers, Armour and Swift, became involved in a battle with the Union Cold Storage company, owned by the Vestey interests, the largest British packers. Since most of the Argentine beef is shipped to England and sold there, the battle broadened to the London market.

Had Heavy Losses

Price cuts were so severe that prime beef was selling in London for a time late in 1926 and early this year as low as 8 cents a pound. The packers were suffering heavy losses. Meanwhile, the meat producers sat back and prepared to enjoy the battle. They did not realize until later that every time the American packers aimed a beef price cut at the English packers, they were hitting themselves and their producer of the great American hog a backhanded blow smack on the chin.

American beef is shipped only in very small quantities to England or Europe, but pork and pork products are shipped in huge quantities at the price paid for hogs and the profits made by the packers of pork depend largely on the surplus shipped abroad. Since Europeans and Britons could buy prime beef for 8 cents a pound, they ceased to demand American ham and bacon, lard, spare ribs and other products in such large quantities.

The war is practically over now. The cutting of prices has ceased, but the treaty of peace has not yet been formally signed.

MAKE YOUR FACE AS LOVELY AS YOU ARE

All most people see in anyone is what is on the outside. Naturally, those who are handicapped by pimples, blotches, "breaking out," eczema, etc., on their skin are not going to get any attention. You can "make the frame as lovely as the picture really is" by simply getting rid of those skin disfigurers, if you will just use Black and White Ointment, and Skin Soap. Then your good nature and sweet ways will stand out without any drawback, and folks will want to be around you. They are economically priced, in liberal packages. The 50c size Ointment contains three times as much as the 25c size. All dealers have both the Ointment and Skin Soap. Adv.

FORD TRUCK ALSO TO BE REARRANGED

DETROIT, Aug. 24.—A new Ford truck, embodying the same principles of motor and chassis design as the new Ford automobile, will be introduced early in the coming fall, it was announced by the Ford Motor company today.

The new truck, the statement says, will replace the present Model T Ford truck. It will have double the horsepower of the present model and like the new Ford car, will be equipped with the improved cooling and ignition systems, and new steering and transmission mechanisms.

The new truck is a development of the same series of experiments which brought the new Ford automobile. For several years Ford engineers have been studying the changing conditions under which commercial motor vehicles have been operating. The new Ford truck is a product of this study and of the years of experience with the model T truck in a wide variety of commercial and industrial transportation fields.

The manufacture of replacement parts for the large number of model T trucks still in use in this country and abroad will continue as long as there is any demand for these parts.

CRICKET RAID IN COLORADO RUINING CROPS

DENVER, Aug. 24.—For the second time within the past half century countless hordes of crickets are invading parts of Moffat, Routt and Rio Blanco counties carrying ruin and disaster to the homesteaders of those regions, according to reports received here from county commissioners of the imperiled region who are seeking federal relief.

The crickets, which are half as big as a man's thumb, reports say, sweep down over the fields devouring every vestige of vegetation as they go. They appear to be particularly fond of wheat and corn, but nothing green escapes and they leave a trail of barren desolation behind them as they move along.

Ranchers have employed every means within their power to stem the tide of the invasion and save themselves from ruin.

So far every effort made to destroy the millions of insects has failed, and the ranchers are helpless to protect themselves against the menace.

A similar invasion which took place in this region over twenty years ago, over-rode all opposition offered and was allowed to wear itself out. At that time hundreds of homesteaders were forced to leave their ranches after literally being eaten out and the land has been permitted to lay unclaimed since that time.

Already the present invasion is forcing ranchers to leave the district.

Aside from the unestimable damage done to private land in the region, more than one-half million acres of government land has been infested, reports say. Government aid is expected in the fight.

The Bluest City in the World

"Pinks" at Last Turn in Opposition to Faithful "Blues"

By ELMER CLARK, International Illustrated News Staff Correspondent.

OCEAN GROVE, N. J. (I.N.)—Back to the days of the Puritan fathers! Here's one place in the United States where the bluest of blue laws—and all of 'em—are rigidly enforced. Here's a Summer resort where you'll get pinched if you dare take a dip in the water on Sunday—where you face arrest and imprisonment if you're seen buying a hot dog!

To prevent motorists from going through the town on the Sabbath, huge chains have been hung across the main street, effectually stopping all traffic.

For fifty-eight years the Camp Meeting Association has been holding forth at Ocean Grove. The Rev. Dr. Charles M. Boswell, president of the organization, has always boasted that his followers have brought about the creation of a genuine "holly city" in New Jersey.

But now the Sunday quiet is threatened. Several hundred citizens have banded together and, headed by Mrs. Martha F. Kunst, have appealed to Governor Harry A. Moore of New Jersey. In their petition they allege that the blue laws are turning Ocean Grove into a real "deserted village."

Here are some of the high crimes and misdemeanors that are on the "blue list" on Sundays:

- Parking a car on the street on Sunday.
Delivering a telegram or special delivery letter on Sunday.
Reading a newspaper on Sunday.

Mrs. Martha F. Kunst

Selling anything on Sunday, including drugs and medicine. As a result, Ocean Grove is as calm as a door nail over the weekend, when other Summer resorts are rathering in the shakels. And that's particularly galling to the sleep keepers and store owners. "Anybody who doesn't like our laws can get out," asserts the Rev.

AND NOT A DRUG STORE OPEN

Dr. Boswell. "We compel applicants for real estate to furnish proof of their high moral character, and furthermore bind them to observe our regulations before they can purchase property here. Our laws are iron clad and nobody can break them." But Mrs. Kunst is sure her campaign will end with the complete rout of the blue laws.

Rev. Charles M. Boswell

"They've turned Ocean Grove into a slough of despond," she says, "but they're going to snap out of that. Down with silence! Down with autocracy! This is 1927—not 1827 when these laws were first formulated. Three cheers for the Red, White and Blue—and down with the other kind of 'blue'!" Both sides announce they're ready for the issue.

Stadium First Sight For Austin Aviators

AUSTIN, Aug. 24.—The University of Texas stadium is the first landmark of Austin noticed from the air. The state capitol, which is 317 feet high, does not show up as quickly, although it is seven feet higher than the dome of the national capitol. The explanation given by aviators is that the capitol building flattens out from the air and its color, a red granite, does not catch the eye like the lighter color of the stadium. No local landmark is adequate for real aviation convenience, local flyers said. The proper designation is the name of the town on the ground in white on a dark field. Governor Moody has been asked by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover to urge chambers of commerce and other organizations in Texas to so mark their locations.
