WATSON JURY IS DEADLOCKED

Ruth Elder Tells of Landing in Atlantic

Old Home Town

Several of the Randolph college football players came out of Thursday afternoon's game in crippled condition. Cecil Couch, who had a head-on collision with Spears of Texas Military college, was probably the most seriously injured. His head got a terrific jolt when it hit Spears' head, and although a short time after he was taken out of the game he said he felt all right, he was forced to go to bed Thursday night and stay there Friday morning. A physician was in attendance, but it was believed his injury would not prove serious. Burleson, big guard who went in as a substitute, came out of the game with a sprained ankle which will keep him out of the game for a week. Nabors and one or two others have charleyhorseshes. As a result, Coach Sweeney suspended practice for the rest of the week, and some of the boys will take advantage of the layoff to see the Texas-Vanderbilt game at Dallas. Coats, with a bad knee, Monday with an injury to his side, and Crist, suffering from a bad knee, are all improving and may get into next week's game with Ranger Junior college at Ranger, it was said.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Tyler of Rising Star were in Cisco Friday, and Mrs. Tyler came by the Daily News office to get her purse which she lost while here earlier in the week. The purse was found in the stock pen here by Jerry Jordan, railroad employe, who returned it when he read in the Daily News that it was lost. Someone apparently had taken the purse from Mrs. Tyler in the Honey building, extracted all money except a dime from it, and thrown it away. Mrs. Tyler said everything else except the small amount of change was left in the purse.

FEARED WORST DURING STORM SHE DECLARES

ABOARD THE STEAMER BARENDRECHT, Oct. 14.—The rescue of Ruth Elder and Captain Haldeman was effected after these two daring flyers had battled for hours against the terrific storm in the skies. The American Girl had excellent flying Tuesday night and Wednesday but Wednesday night the ship ran into a storm. Miss Elder states very frankly that both were worried for fear they would not be able to bring their plane through the storm. Yesterday morning in an effort to get out of the storm, they headed southward toward Spain, when their oil line failed. With their engine heating rapidly, they knew they could not keep the ship in the air long and as soon as they sighted the Barendrecht they came down. The landing was made safely, but when an attempt was made to salvage the plane it exploded. It is believed the overheated engine caused the explosion. The two came down after they had been in the air 35 hours and after they had flown 3,000 miles.

Coleman Jurors Have Case Since Thursday Night; Terry Johnson's Case at Eastland Awaiting Verdict

COLEMAN, Oct. 14.—The jury was still out in the case of C. W. (Mutt) Watson of Cisco, charged with killing Jack McMath here last fall, at 3 o'clock this afternoon after having received the case at 10 o'clock Thursday night. There was no indication as to how the jury stood, but since so much time had been spent without agreement, feeling was growing that a mistrial had resulted. The jury was unable to agree in a previous trial held here last May, and this was Watson's second time to have his fate in the hands of "twelve good men and true."

Watson himself was on the stand Thursday morning after having been quizzed at length the preceding afternoon. Judge Woodward gave the jury a lengthy charge, and argument by the numerous attorneys in the case extended into the night session, at the conclusion of which the jury took the case under consideration.

COLEMAN, Oct. 14.—Jack McMath was in his shirt sleeves when shot to death in front of the post-office in this city September 30, 1925, according to the testimony of W. C. McElrath, who has been a resident of Coleman for 46 years. This was the high point in the state's testimony.

Bob Gilman was called to the witness stand by defense attorneys. He said he was an oil operator, had lived in Cisco four years and had been in the oil business 30 years. C. W. (Mutt) Watson had been in his employ for several years and he (Watson) was regarded as a first class driller. In August and September, according to the testimony of Mr. Gilman, Watson was worried and didn't seem to know what he was doing and was not up to standard.

The defendant, according to Mr. Gilman, approached him and told him of his trouble. "Bob," the defendant said to Mr. Gilman, "I want to get away from Coleman. Mr. McMath seems to be jealous of his wife and says he is going to kill me if I don't leave town." Mr. Gilman said he got a man to take Watson's place at Coleman and Watson was to be moved to other activity.

Mrs. Fred Taylor, mother-in-law of the deceased, Jack McMath, and Mrs. McMath, divorced wife of the deceased, followed Mr. Gilman.

Mrs. Jack McMath sobbed on the witness stand in district court here when she told of her friendship with C. W. Watson, on trial for murder in connection with the slaying in September, 1925, of her husband, Jack McMath, an automobile salesman. She was a defense witness.

She told of her first meeting with Watson in August, 1926, in Coleman, where he was working as an oil driller. She said she met him after she was given a divorce from her husband by agreement. On motion of District Attorney Walter U. Early, the jury was instructed by Judge J. O. Woodward not to consider the testimony relating to the fact that the divorce was granted by agreement.

She said at the time she met Watson she was living at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Taylor. Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Fleming, friends of Watson, who testified yesterday, occupied an apartment in her parents' home she said.

In company with the Flemings and her mother, Mrs. McMath visited Watson at the home of R. G. Hollingsworth, where he lived, she testified. Later, while ill, Watson stayed in the Flemings' apartment at the Taylor home. It was said.

The jury was taken out of the court room while attorneys argued the admissibility of admitting testimony showing Mrs. McMath attended a bridge party. Judge Woodward ruled the testimony might be admitted.

J. L. McMurray of Cisco told of talks with Watson in which the defendant is said to have accused McMath of threatening him. Frank Hutson, also of Cisco, where Watson's home has been for many years, said Watson told him prior to the killing that he had asked the company for which he worked to transfer him to some other town, in order to avoid trouble with McMath. Every person in the tightly packed court room listened intently to Mrs. H. D. Fleming's testimony. She recounted events that transpired prior to the killing of McMath. She told of going with Mrs. Jack McMath, divorced wife of the deceased, and Mrs. Fred Taylor, Mrs. McMath's mother, to the home of R. G. Hollingsworth, to administer to the defendant during an illness. She also told of the subsequent removal of Watson to the Taylor home, where Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. McMath and the witness cared for Watson. She gave accounts of trips the defendant made to various drilling oil wells with Mrs. McMath, her mother, Mrs. Fred Taylor and Mrs. McMath's grandmother, Mrs. Virginia Taylor, and of meetings with McMath at several places, where heated conversations were indulged in.

Follows Wife
H. D. Fleming followed his wife on the stand. Graham Conlee was the last witness examined before adjournment.

During the testimony of Mrs. Fleming the defendant sat near his attorneys with his face buried in his hands. On the other side of the table with the prosecuting attorney sat A. G. McMath of Fort Worth, brother of the slain man.

J. C. Nichols, who was in a car with Watson until a few moments before McMath was shot, was the first defense witness called. Nichols said he left the car when he was convinced trouble was likely to occur between Watson and McMath.

Mrs. Ben Latsch and her husband followed Nichols on the witness stand. Their testimony was substantially the same as that of the first trial of Watson, which ended in a mistrial.

TERRY JOHNSON AWAITS VERDICT IN CISCO CASE
The case of Terry Johnson of Cisco, charged with a statutory offense against an orphan girl here in late summer, has been placed in the hands of a jury which had been unable to agree up to 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. The trial had occupied the 88th district court all week, and went to the jury late Thursday night. Selection of a jury to try Mildred Sparks, accused, with Johnson in the same offense, began Friday morning but had not been completed this afternoon.

RANGER GETS PREPARED FOR BIG JUBILEE

RANGER, Oct. 14.—The stirring scenes of the mighty boom that accompanied the opening of the oil fields in this region in 1918 and 1919 will be re-enacted here next Friday and Saturday.

The tremendous throng coming here for the Oil Jubilee and homecoming celebration has already presented the local committee with a housing problem similar to the days when the oil boom reached its peak.

The jubilee will commemorate the 10th anniversary of the discovery of oil in central west Texas. Noted characters, who made Ranger their headquarters during the boom, are returning here for the two day revival of the hectic days of the scramble for oil bases.

Invitations to Tex Rickard, the fight promoter, and Jess Willard, former world's heavyweight champion, both of whom were prominent figures here during the boom, are expected to be accepted. Rex Beach, the novelist, who perpetuated the Ranger boom in his novel "Flowing Gold" is expected to come here for the celebration.

Governor Dan Moody, both Texas senators, congressmen and other state officials have accepted invitations to participate in the jubilee. Many prominent officials of the larger oil companies, including President William T. DeLoach of the Standard Oil company, were invited.

The business section of Ranger will be barred to traffic during the two days. More than 15 bands from other cities of west Texas will be here for the two days. Mammoth barbecue pits have been prepared for barbecuing hundreds of pounds of meat for the thousands of visitors. Barbecued dinners will be served to the visitors on both days.

RANGER BULLDOGS MAY LOSE FIVE MORE PLAYERS

ELIGIBILITY OF FOUR UNDER QUESTION NOW

The Ranger Bulldogs stand a good chance of losing five more men from their 1927 squad, according to an article appearing in the Ranger Times of Thursday afternoon. Eligibility of four boys is questioned because of their age, according to the article while a fifth is planning to quit school. Loss of these men will mean that Ranger will have lost an entire team of 11 men, through ineligibility, including two captains, Phillips, star of last year, and Short, who was elected to fill his place.

The article follows:
A deadly gloom hung over the lonesome of the Bulldogs this morning with the announcement that the eligibility of four first string football players was in question and that in all probability the team will have to finish the season without the services of Captain Victor Short, Homer Short, Seth Hubbard and David Whitehall.

From a superficial examination, it seems that some documents have been produced, which, if authentic, proves the boys to be above the 20-year age limit.
Before the season started and before the call was issued for fall practice, local authorities went through all the visible records in the files of the Eastland county superintendent of public instruction and waded out every man that had any question as to his being over age according to those records.

These later developments seem to come from someone having examined the dirt and dust from parts of the basement and produced said documentary evidence.
The first to go was Captain Freshman Phillips, who was elected captain before the new ruling was passed and who was automatically ineligible with its passage. Victor Short was elected captain to replace him.

Investigation by local authorities showed some question as to the absolute age of M. B. Taylor and Ray Grubb, and shortly thereafter Alfred Glenn and Gilbert Cook were released on account of not having attended school a sufficient number of days in the last semester. Homer Short was the next to go into the discard for not having taken his examination at the proper time and then Clyde Peppers was taken out because it was impossible to get his transfer from a former school in such shape that would be satisfactory.

With each of these losses, Coaches Cherry and Davis have had to revamp their team and change the lineup and change players from one position to another and, though they lost enough star material to make three high school teams, the Ranger Bulldogs were still looked upon as the terrors of the district. This in the face of the fact that they were lacking in experience and exceedingly young as a whole.

This last takes out the team captain, Victor Short; the stellar end upon whom rested the job of both receiving and breaking up forward passes, David Whitehall; a scintillating halfback whose broken field running was almost a sensation, Homer Short; and, a fighting quarterback who was in the middle of every play, Seth Hubbard.

Then, to cap the climax, it looks like Ray Trammell is going to have to leave school and go back to work to earn his living. Ray is a young fellow but quite versatile. He is a fighter while he's in there and runs good interference and takes the mail when his plays are called. That's just another one of the dark and gloomy features of the outlook for Ranger high football.

What have we left?
We have 17 men who are eligible to play, unless it is seen fit to take some 120-pound freshmen who graduated from grammar school prematurely and put them out there.

Wm. Penn—5 cents—A Good Cigar in a uniform as marks for the other teams to vent their spleen.

We have Garland Hinman. Garland is all "hot up" to a crying pitch today and is in plenty good humor to play any team in the conference single handed.
You know the rest of them without them being named. If Ranger were playing for the state championship today with those kids in their present frame of mind it would take a real championship team to stay on the same field with them. That's the old fighting spirit, men.

BIG BATTLES START TODAY IN SOUTHWEST

By FRANK F. GRAHAM
International News Service Staff Correspondent

FORT WORTH, Oct. 14.—Now that the "set-ups" have been tipped over, excepting those who refused to topple, and Southwest conference teams are settling down to fighting each other, football fans of Texas are looking forward to some hotly contested games. This week's grid offerings, with two conference battles, a big inter-sectional clash and two brisk encounters with teams from the smaller circuits, should not be disappointing, even to the most particular.

Southern Methodist University Mustangs have an engagement with some Owls from Rice Institute Friday afternoon. Ray Morrison's Ponies, alias "The Touchdown Factory," grieved, shocked and wondering how it all happened, returning from their Waterloo (spelled Centenary), have ceased to consider themselves invincible, and are working for the Rice contest just as though they thought it were going to be a tough fight. Rice, playing on a slushy field last Saturday, could not put over a score against the St. Edward's eleven from Austin and drew a tie while S. M. U. bowed to the Gentlemen of Centenary. Last year S. M. U. invaded Houston and carried away a 20 to 0 victory.

The Razorbacks from Arkansas University journeyed down to College Station to play the Aggies on Saturday in the second conference game of the week. Last week Arkansas drubbed the Baylor Bears, 13 to 6, while the Aggies were having a little party, all their own, with the Sewanee Tigers, winning 18 to 0. In games played this year no team has crossed the Aggie goal line. Arkansas has not lost a game, and, at present, looks down upon the field from the topmost rung of the conference percentage ladder. The two teams have not played of recent years and in two previous meetings have broken even.

In spite of two conference games on the schedule, the annual inter-sectional clash between the Longhorns from the University of Texas and the Commodores from Vanderbilt University seems to be getting the biggest bully-hoo. The two teams meet at Dallas Saturday. Out of ten games played, the Orange and White of Texas has triumphed twice, the latest of these as far removed as 1923. Last year the Commodores won, 7 to 0. The Texas and Vandy lines stack up about evenly in weight. Both teams center their fight around an aerial offense. Much walling has come out of the Longhorn camp that Eddie Beular, passing master de luxe, on whom Longhorn followers have pinned hopes for a conference championship, may not be able to play Saturday. Joe King, diminutive quarter of 149 pounds, is scheduled to fill the vacancy. Last week the Longhorns defeated Trinity 29 to 6 and Vanderbilt carried out the once powerful Central College Colonels, 53 to 6.

The Texas Christian University Horned Frogs, "grooming over the dispensations of Lady Luck, whose last caprice with the Christians was to put Bill Palmer, burly center, on the hospital list, meet the Austin College Kangaroos at Fort Worth. Captain Blackie Williams of T. C. U. still is nursing an infected leg which may keep him out for most of the season. While the Kangaroos were being defeated by Oklahoma City University last week, T. C. U. drubbed the Texas Tech Matadors, 13 to 6. Last year the Frogs won from the Australian national animals, 7 to 0.

Baylor Bears, hosts to St. Edward's Saints, Saturday will endeavor to avenge a 12 to 0 beating administered by the boys from Austin last year. Last week the Bears were accepted losing to Arkansas while the Saints played a no-score tie with the Rice Owls. The Southwest Conference schedule follows:

Friday
S. M. U. vs. Rice at Dallas.
Saturday
A. & M. vs. Arkansas at College Station.
Texas vs. Vanderbilt at Dallas.
T. C. U. vs. Austin College at Fort Worth.
Baylor vs. St. Edwards at Waco.

Desdemona Grigger at Texas Injured

AUSTIN, Oct. 14.—Log's King, aged 21, of Desdemona, a member of the freshman football squad at the University of Texas, sustained a broken right hip bone when he was struck by an automobile in front of the freshman gymnasium on the speedway Wednesday afternoon. His condition is not critical. King, who played a guard position on the regular freshman squad, was recovering from a dislocated right shoulder which was sustained four days ago in football scrimmage on Stadium field. Before attending the University of Texas, King played high school football for four years and was well known in West Texas football districts.

"In the theatre world, Luckies have become almost universal. Stage folks are very critical—voices must be kept in condition, throat irritation is a handicap. Kentuckian Finds Black-Draught a Great Aid in Relieving Constipation, and Soon Feels O. K.

Cadlettsburg, Ky.—Mr. Miles Hopkins, of 1215 Center Street, this city, says:
"There was a time when my health was not so good. I suffered a great deal from gas pains. My system was saturated with poison which was not properly eliminated. From time to time I had severe headaches, and I felt sluggish and dull. I knew of Black-Draught as a medicine for constipation, as I thought I would try it. For a while I took a small dose every night until my system was rid of the accumulated poison."

"I gained in weight and my general health was good. That experience made me realize the merits of Black-Draught. I kept it in my home and when I begin to feel listless and dull, I take a dose, after which I feel O. K. again."
"People generally do not realize the risk they take in allowing constipation to run on. I try to keep my system cleansed, and I find Black-Draught a great aid in doing this."

Badgers Down Plucky Military Lads 26 to 0 in Game of Many Thrilling Runs; Stars Twinkle

In a game of many thrilling runs, Coach Monroe Sweeney's Randolph college Badgers Thursday afternoon walloped the lighter but exceedingly tough Texas Military college eleven 26 to 0 at Chesley field. The power in the Randolph backfield told against the stubborn resistance of the black-clad warriors, and occasionally broke through for slashing runs and a touchdown in each quarter. Sweeney's men showed greater power and more teamwork than in the opening game of a week before, and indicated that when the season is well under way, great things may be expected of them.

The backfield was composed of all stars. One of the most interesting lights was Watkins, light-haired new recruit, who showed he is one sweet ball carrier, as well as a capable quarterback. Watkins, built like Johnny Walker, rivaled him in speed and made two of the Badger touchdowns. He got away for several runs of more than 40 yards, one of which made a touchdown. His other touchdown came on a forward pass in the last quarter. Addition of Watkins to Sweeney's list of backfield stars gives more speed to an offense that already had plenty of power, and it is likely that more is to be heard from 'em. Watkins before the season is out.

But the most colorful player in that backfield Thursday was Hunke Phillips, young giant from Kanzer, whose actions belied his appearance of having been scalped by the Indians of some ferocious tribe. His partly bald head and tattered breeches were to be seen everywhere on the gridiron, in long runs, excellent interference, forward passing or fierce tackling. The manner in which the big boy toted the pigskin made Lobo fans offer up silent prayers of thanks that he had been ruled off the Randolph gridiron for this season, while Badger fans of prayerful turn of mind were just as thankful that Kanzer's misfortune had injured Randolph's advantage.

Probably the most spectacular defensive feat of the entire battle was that pulled by Cecil Couch, speedy Badger halfback, just before the first quarter ended. Spears, cadet star, had successfully gone through the Badger line on an endback toward tackle, and was speeding toward the goal line. Only Johnny Walker was between him and the goal line, and he seemed in a fair way to elude the Badger safety man who was charging toward him. But from the mass of players fifteen yards behind Spears, there suddenly darted a huge form. It was Cecil Couch. Just as in his days with Cisco high he pulled a most spectacular play that Lobo fans still talk about. Couch bore down upon the runner from behind. Swiftly the space separating the two diminished, and just before Walker was in position to attempt the tackle, Spears went down, tackled from behind by the speedy Couch. The run was for 40 yards, but the Badger goal line was still uncrossed. However, Couch went out of the game in the second quarter. Spears had received a kick off and was making a beautiful return when he encountered Couch on the visitors' 18-yard line. In making the tackle, Couch accidentally collided head-on with Spears and after a crack of their heads together which could be heard from one side of the field to the other, both went down and out for the count. After smelling salts was given each the two went back into the game, but Couch was soon relieved by Yeager.

The fourth man of the Randolph scoring quartet was Johnny Walker, a man whose versatile attack is well known to Cisconians who used to fear it most heartily when he was the Buster Mills of Ranger high. The sturdy little man could certainly work his legs, and made end runs and off tackle plays that brought cheers from the grandstand. He made his touchdown in the second quarter by a beautiful 25-yard run through left tackle. In addition to his own good playing, Walker "got hot" and did much to instill the fighting spirit into the Badgers. He directed much of the defensive work, and acted as a general morale builder at all times.

The Badger line did great work throughout the game. Blanton and Perdue, veterans from last year's Lobo team, were mainstays at tackle. Perdue showed his ability at carrying the ball on return of one kickoff, taking the ball for about 18 yards and stiff-arming like a backfield man. Nabors with his speed in getting down on punts looked good at guard, and so did Tubby Bullock until he was taken out because of injury. Burleson, Sweeney's sidestepping guard with much avoirdupois, went in there red hot and opened holes through the enemy line that an oil truck might have gone through. This Albany boy gives promise of making one of the greatest linemen Sweeney can put on the field, in spite of his lack of experience in the post.

The ends, Harrison Harrell and Smith, played heads-up football. Smith got away with a pass in the second quarter and scored a touchdown. Manley at center played a good game.

The Terrell team was about as plucky a bunch of football players as has been seen on Chesley field in a long, long while. Although it was apparent from the start that Randolph was the superior team, the visitors never gave up fighting for a touchdown, and several times came perilously near scoring one. Spears' run in the first quarter, two long forward passes in the third quarter which put the ball on Randolph's 10-yard line, and another long pass and brilliant run which put the ball on the Badgers' 8-yard line all

Miss Talmadge's "Camille" is the romance known to countless thousands of book lovers and theatergoers, portrayed in modern atmosphere, under conditions as they exist today in Paris. This modernization of the French classic called for a degree of lavishness in production that exceeds

HOW SWINDLERS MARK THEIR PREY

By W. R. MOREHOUSE
Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association

IN the field of fake investments suckers are graded according to their reaction to the appeal of glittering schemes. A name on a sucker list of investors may have a valuation anywhere from zero to $100.

If your name is on the list and it is known that you invariably "investigate before you invest," your name is checked to indicate that you are too hard to sell to be worth cultivating further, but if you invest first and investigate afterward, your name is checked to indicate that you are easily swindled and for this reason your name is worth $100—not to you, but to the owner of the list, for the names of those who invest without investigating are choice prospects and sell readily to promoters.

Certain names on a sucker list are checked to indicate "easy picking," and by this is meant that in addition to being ignorant on investments, those checked are not disposed to ask advice of their banker but go ahead and invest in anything from gold bricks to stock in some proposed company for the exploration of diamond fields on Mars.

Those whose names are listed are what might be called marked investors—investors who have been marked for slaughter—investors who have been marked to have their savings taken from them by unwarranted promises of fabulous riches.

If your name is on the sucker list and you are receiving "wild-cat" literature, be on your guard, for not only one but a whole tribe of "wild-cat" promoters are hot on your trail. If you are skeptical as to the extent to which they will go in order to sell you an interest in their fake schemes the following should prove illuminating, as it itemizes the literature and stationery sent to each name on a certain sucker list of investors. This literature was mailed in 91 different mailings. Each person received:

- 135 envelopes
- 13 one-page letters
- 23 two-page letters
- 6 three-page letters
- 2 four-page letters
- 52 fake newspapers containing fake write-ups
- 29 pieces of highly lurid prospectus material
- 34 return addressed postal cards
- 72 subscription blanks

making a total of 363 pieces of literature weighing 11 pounds and costing approximately $50. In addition to this there were numerous telephone calls and personal interviews.

Any person receiving a flood of literature calling attention to certain investment chances has a good reason for watching his step lest he weaken and invest and finally lose his savings if you are receiving "wild-cat" investment literature it is a good indication that your name is on a sucker list and that it, with other names, is being sold to irresponsible promoters and consequently you may expect to continue to receive literature of the glib-tongued reasonably certain that as long as you live you will receive bunkum literature.

W. R. MOREHOUSE

Some people are so foolish as to feel complimented that so much attention is shown them by men having investments to offer. The facts are, instead of a compliment being paid them, it is a reflection on their ability to judge between a good investment and one of the bunkum variety.

If you want to draw the attention of lenders in sucker lists and of promoters of various kinds, let it be known that you have a savings bank account or good securities and you will be the object of a very vigorous campaign to relieve you of those savings.

It is always well to remember that the irresponsible promoter specializes on swindling savings depositors, exchanging his fake investments for their bank account, which is always worth 100 cents on the dollar.

Of the numerous bait schemes used to swindle the public the trading of equities in real estate is among the most successful from the promoter's standpoint.

From the owner's standpoint a trade usually means getting into deeper water financially—going further into debt.

Here's how it works. If you have an equity in a piece of property, which equity you would like to be relieved of, some promoter will offer to give you credit for your equity on the purchase price of another piece of property or on the purchase of certain hot air stocks.

In the first place, the swindler actually allows you nothing for your equity, as he marks up the price of what he is selling you a like amount—with the result that you lose your equity on one hand and get yourself into a less desirable deal on the other.

Proceed slowly if you are approached with a proposition to trade an equity. It may not be exactly what you prefer, but holding the equity is far ahead of holding the sack after some swindler has dealt with you.

In reaching for more, you may lose what you have.

erature calling attention to certain investment chances has a good reason for watching his step lest he weaken and invest and finally lose his savings if you are receiving "wild-cat" investment literature it is a good indication that your name is on a sucker list and that it, with other names, is being sold to irresponsible promoters and consequently you may expect to continue to receive literature of the glib-tongued

DOES YOUR SKIN REPEL OR ATTRACT PEOPLE? Pimples, rashes, blotches and other skin irritations are as disgusting to other people as they are annoying to you. Don't let an unattractive skin repel people—clear it up and attract them. Black and White Ointment, used according to directions, is recommended for quick relief in cases of burning, itching, broken-out and eczemic conditions of the skin. It is pleasant to use, highly beneficial and scientifically safe. For best results use Black and White Skin Soap with Black and White Ointment. All dealers sell them at small cost.
