Old Home Town

"You missed your guess three years," said J. A. Massey Monday when Hometown guessed his age at 51. "I was born in North Carolina on May 25, 1876. I don't know just when I came to Cisco except it was the year before the big cyclone." Mr. Massey is one of the few Carolinians who settled in this section of the country. He has been in the trucking business here for a number of years.

The circles of the Woman's auxiliary of the First Presbyterian church will meet Tuesday afternoon as follows: No. 1 with Miss Alice Johnson at 3 o'clock; No. 2 with Mrs. Joe Clements at 3 o'clock; No. 3 with Mrs. Yancey McCrea at 1 o'clock when a covered dish luncheon will be served.

Somebody was asking Monday why the Daily News did not write up the parade held Saturday afternoon by high school students preceding the San Angelo-Cisco football game. The trouble was we didn't see any parade, although it now appears that there was one. It seems that the leaders of the parade turned back at Fourth and Main and thus overlooked the fast-growing section of Main street between Third and Fourth, and didn't even come by the Cisco Daily News' fine new clock to see if it was time to go to the game.

Mrs. M. E. Holcomb has returned home from Stephenville where she visited a daughter and two sons, Mrs. J. J. Malloy and R. M. and J. C. Holcomb. Mrs. Holcomb also attended the Dallas fair while absent.

CISCO MAY GET JENKINS BACK IN GAME

Announcement that an effort may be made to have Ernest Jenkins, star end, declared eligible for competition in Oil Belt district football was made here Monday, following reports that Abilene high will seek to have LeVurie Andrus, former Lobo, declared eligible to play with the Eagles this year. Evidence in the case of each one of these is said to be similar, both being charged with four years' participation in high school athletics. Andrus, it is said, signed an eligibility card in 1924 stating he had played with Gorman high in 1923. Jenkins' 1924 blank stated he had played in 1923 with Leonard, it is asserted. However, the name of neither of the boys was filed with the state interscholastic league at Austin, it is understood. Word from Abilene is that an effort will be made to prove that Andrus did not play with Gorman in 1923, and should Abilene be successful in getting this star given official approval, then it is believed Cisco, with the same proof available as to Jenkins, will be able to get him officially oked.

Terrific Quake Puzzles Scientists

MOST SEVERE IN YEARS IS FELT TODAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—A gigantic convulsion of the earth's surface, probably somewhere beneath the ocean surface in the northwestern Pacific was recorded today. The earth disturbances starting at 5 minutes past 8 this morning, Pacific coast time, according to records of the University of California seismograph, were continuing unabated more than 3 hours later.

MOST SEVERE QUAKE IN YEARS, DENVER SAYS

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 24.—An earthquake of severe intensity was recorded today by Father Forestall of Regis college here. At 9:50 a. m. the seismograph was still recording tremors but he was unable to determine the exact intensity or the origin of the quake. Father Forestall said the tremors were continuing at 10:15 a. m. and while he had no means of computing the distance or direction of the earthquake, he expressed belief it was undoubtedly on the North American continent and was one of the most severe felt in years.

YALE EXPERTS THINK SOUTH AMERICA ROCKED

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 24.—Heavy earthquake tremors were recorded today. Officials at Peabody museum declared the quake was in a north and south direction and probably centered in South America.

EVOLUTION ROW STIRS ENGLISH CHURCH HEADS

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Doubts as to whether the Archbishop of Canterbury would make a public or private reply to the recent letter addressed to him by the Bishop of Birmingham were resolved today when the archbishop communicated to the press a long letter of tactful reproof which he had sent to the bishop, at the same time outlining the view of the head of the church on the questions raised.

The Bishop of Birmingham, the Right Rev. Ernest William Barnes, in his letter to the archbishop declared that the doctrine of substantiation was untrue and ranged himself on the side of scientists regarding the theory of evolution, as opposed to theologians who ignore scientific teachings.

The Archbishop of Canterbury treats rather lightly the question of reconciling the theory of evolution with the Bible story of the creation, and begs the bishop to dismiss from his mind the idea that anyone "desires to lead or drive you either to Rome or to Tennessee."

Remarking that he does not attach great weight to denunciations of "gorilla sermons," the archbishop addresses his chief reproof to the bishop's treatment of the questions of the sacrament. The archbishop says that from complaints which have reached him it is not the long familiar doctrine of evolution which stirs the minds of churchmen, but that in the Bishop of Birmingham's legitimate opposition to the doctrine of transubstantiation he has been led to speak of the sacrament "in a way which gives real offense to the great body of churchmen and churchwomen."

The widespread interest in the controversy provoked by Bishop Barnes was proved by the fact that it was the theme of the sermons in almost every prominent church in that country yesterday. The tenor of the Archbishop of Canterbury's reply was not known to most of the preachers, as it will be published only in Monday's paper, but there was full evidence of the strong feeling evoked.

Gold Brick Financing Costs U. S. Public Billion Dollars a Year, American Bankers are Informed

HOUSTON, Oct. 24.—"Gold brick" financing takes from the American public in excess of one billion dollars a year," Harry O. Reid, general manager of the Better Business Bureau of St. Louis, Mo., declared in an address today at the opening of the 53rd annual convention of the American Bankers' association here today. "The Cook utilized a highly organized system to mislead the public of such a high amount annually," he said, pointing out that they even go to school that they learn sucker lists, and that they learn gold brick financing by application and study.

AUSTIN AGOG OVER VISIT OF REAL PRINCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The court granted a continuance today in the trial of Monroe Fisher, charged with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of former Sheriff Albert Bonds in Belton early last summer. Postponement was granted in order to locate a missing prosecution witness, H. H. Sowell of New Braunfels. Bonds, former sheriff of Bell county, was free on bond in connection with the slaying of Wiley Fisher, father of the defendant, at the time he was shot in the downtown section of Belton. Sowell is said to know the one of the cars from which the shots that killed Bonds were fired.

MILLIKIN IS EXAMINED BY AN ALIENIST

LOCKHART, Texas, Oct. 24.—A. V. Millikin, facing an insanity hearing here following his conviction and death sentence on a charge of killing Mrs. Virginia Petty, a real estate operator of San Antonio, today was subjected to an hour's examination by Dr. J. B. York of Houston, defense alienist. Request for the examination was made by defense attorneys when court convened at 10 o'clock. Dr. York was one of the alienists who signed an affidavit that Millikin was insane. Millikin, a spiritualist, received a spiritualistic communication from a Houston spiritualist today in which he was advised the spiritualists were praying for him, he said. Defense is trying to get a change of venue for the insanity hearing.

No further appeal will be open to Millikin, if he is found sane in the hearing ordered into his mental condition. The statutes provide that when a person has been convicted of a crime and the question of sanity is raised that if he is adjudged sane carrying out of the sentence shall proceed just as though there had been no sanity hearing.

In this case it would mean Millikin's execution on October 31. He has been granted a reprieve until that time by Governor Dan Moody.

If he is judged insane, the verdict will not necessarily free him from electrocution. In that event the law directs that the county judge shall order commitment to an institution. If it becomes apparent subsequently to the officials that sanity has been regained they may request a fresh sanity hearing. If sanity is shown at that hearing the old sentence would be come effective.

Waco Officers Take Notorious Oklahoma Desperado in Custody; Admits He Handcuffed a Deputy

WACO, Oct. 24.—Under escort of 12 officers, heavily armed, H. L. Pomeroy, alias Lee Saunders, reputed to be Oklahoma's boldest desperado, after Mat Kunes, was transferred to the county jail from the city jail today after he is alleged to have confessed yesterday that he was the man who handcuffed Deputy Sheriff Frank Lofis to a tree 73 miles from Seminole, Okla., following his arrest on a charge of murder, and a list of other felonies. Pomeroy, who has waived extradition, probably will be carried back to Oklahoma today.

Sinclair Paid Million to Get Worthless Quit Claim Deeds To Teapot Dome, Government Charges

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The prosecution drove home another important point in the Fall-Sinclair case today when it was developed the oil magnate had paid a million dollars for quit claim deeds to Teapot Dome which the government has held were worthless.

The defense holds that these claims were good and that Harry Sinclair bought them up so there could be no question as to legality of the lease to Teapot Dome. Owen Roberts of prosecution put L. E. Heddy and Roy Tallman, government land experts on the stand, however, who produced reports which had gone to Fall's office in advance of the Sinclair lease which were to the effect that all claims on Teapot Dome were entirely without merit and should be ignored. One report recommended an injunction be secured to force the squatters off the land. It was claimed Sinclair bought up the claims in an effort to prevent any claims being pushed after he had gotten the lease, and thus bring out the facts as to how the lease was obtained.

Declaring that neither counsel had presented sufficient argument or evidence on the essential point at issue, Justice Siddons, presiding over the Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy trial today withheld decision as to whether Harry F. Sinclair's testimony before the senate committee was admissible.

It was indicated the decision will rest on the question of whether or not Sinclair had been actually subpoenaed to appear before the Walsh committee, and he pointed out that neither the prosecution nor the defense had made this clear. He asked for more details. The judge indicated he would base his ruling on determination of whether or not Sinclair had been subpoenaed and whether he was or was not a witness. The seven lawyers in the case expressed surprise and went into conference with the justice, while the befuddled jury was restless. It appeared there would be no ruling today. This was made clear when the conference ended abruptly, and L. E. Leddy was called as the day's first witness.

AUSTIN, Oct. 24.—Appeal of decision in the injunction suit against the state tax survey was set today for submission before section B of the commission of appeals, November 3, according to Grady Chancellor, assistant attorney general representing the state. Injunction proceedings were instituted by Representative A. H. King of Throckmorton who sought to restrain Comptroller S. H. Terrell from further payment of members of the tax survey commission. King was upheld in criminal district court here by Judge James R. Hamilton who ruled that payment of a $10 a day salary to legislative members of the committee was unconstitutional.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

A PURE HEART—Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord? or who shall stand in His Holy place? He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully. He shall receive the blessing from the Lord, and righteousness from the God of his salvation. Ps. 24:3-5.

RUBBERIZED TRAFFIC

Chicago has installed rubber "stop" signals, and they are said to be a success. The signs are in the form of rubber blocks six inches high, which spring back into place when run over. Their advantages are obvious. When a motorist ignores them, neither the sign nor the car is wrecked. Some motorists, however, want to go further. In a communication sent to the traffic commissioner, they say: "The crying need is for rubber pedestrians that will bob right up again after being knocked down and run over, and not pedestrians with hard cores or knobby framework to injure our tires, fenders and bumpers. That would save us motorists a lot of time and strain." So it would, no doubt. The idea is worth thinking about. Pedestrians might be required to live on a diet of laxet, or milk, from the rubber tree, or something of that sort. If "people are what they eat," that might be effective. "And while you're about it," urge the ingenious motorists, "why not rubberize the safety islands, too? Every time we hit one now, it injures the car." But why make the thing one-sided? It is indeed a rubber age. And if traffic is to be rubberized, why not make a complete job of it and rubberize the cars, too? Why not, along with rubber tires, adopt rubber bumpers, fenders and bodies? In fact, it might be possible to make the whole car of rubber, except some parts of the engine, after the car boats and tenders now on collisions would be harmless.

TEACHING

Dr. Krall of Munich says dogs and horses, have been appreciated by the human race. They can be cultivated to a remarkable degree. Some animals to understand an animal—cruelty instead of kindness. Some tasty little thing to pat on the head, is worth the force. "Animals do not think, immediately," explain soon respond to thoughts maps. Don't expect an animal but he will understand you understood. "Kindness You must penetrate the very soul of an animal. He realizes that you are his friend, he will manifest it in many remarkable ways. Horses and dogs will understand and translate your instructions with almost unbelievable accuracy." This ought to get under the thick hides of trainers who act on the theory that the only way to teach animals is through punishment. Perhaps after applying this new method to animals we may learn to apply it to children, too.

WATERWAY INVESTMENTS

Flood prevention in the Mississippi Valley and the proposed Great Lakes-St. Lawrence and Great Lakes to the Gulf waterways for ocean shipping will all be costly undertakings. Major General Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, says that such works, whatever their cost, are profitable projects. "All waterways should be sound business investments," he writes. "They must earn dividends. River and harbor works as a whole have been one of the best investments our government has made. Our seacoast harbors, which represent an expenditure of over a third of the total amount expended by the government for all river and harbor works, return annually in the way of dividends or savings to the people in reduced transportation costs a profit of over 100 per cent. Our Great Lakes harbors and connecting channels, with a commerce in 1926 of 137 million tons, also return a dividend of over 100 per cent on their costs, which total a little over $160,000,000. These savings are direct dollars and cents savings to the people in the way of reduced transportation costs. They do not include any credit for customs receipts on foreign trade, increased wealth, new industries, increased taxes to government, increased opportunities for employment for labor or increased comfort to communities served by waterways, which for some communities are the sole means of transportation." When considering the cost of such government projects, taxpayers should consider them not as immediate expenses only, but as investments reaching into the future. If they are sound investments, paying such dividends as the waterways projects cited and others proposed, they are well worth buying.

THE SIGN ON THE DOOR

The housewife who lived on a convenient corner, and one where because of a curve in the road there was an easy place to park, found herself losing so much time answering the doorbell that she grew desperate. If she took but two minutes apiece to tell the itinerant vendors of magazines, aprons, encyclopedias, shoestrings and weatherstrips that she was not in the market for such things, it cut into her day badly. If she allowed every careless motorist in trouble to use her telephone, lent the pump, the wrench, the water bucket as often as called for, either she had to stay around until the work was done, or lose a good many tools and buckets. Finally she put a small card on the door with this legend:

We give nothing at the door. We buy nothing at the door. Gas station, drug store and Restaurant half mile east.

Her friends are apt to smile as they read it. There have been fists shaken at it. But for the most part she does her work in peace. And she saved enough in time and extra house service in the last year to increase her donation to the community fund, so that she feels at ease about worthy cases needing help who might be turned away by the sign.

HER FLOWERS NO GOOD

"How in the world," asked a woman of an exhibitor, "do you raise such magnificent flowers? Those I have in my garden are not a fourth as big as yours." "It is the preparation of the soil, ma'am," replied the exhibitor. "The hole that you put your plant in is of more importance than the plant itself. You will get better results from putting a 10 cent plant into a dollar hole than from putting a dollar plant into a 10 cent hole. My beds are dug out to a depth of two feet and filled with rich, mellow top soil, well rotted manure, leaf mold, and bone meal."

"My goodness!" said the woman. "What's the use of making a bed so deep for a little plant with short roots?" "When the beds are deep," said the exhibitor, "the roots will go deep; and that gives your plants strength and size, and gives you beautiful flowers."

"The necessity for plenty of water is a thing that most amateur flower raisers do not comprehend," continued the exhibitor. "Most plants take lots of water, and the flower beds should be kept moist to a depth of six inches; when they are watered they should be thoroughly soaked; merely wetting the top of the ground will not do; that coaxes the roots to the surface which is bad."

"And," complained the woman, "the insects eat my things up, but they do not seem to have bothered yours." "Insects will eat everybody's plants up if they can," replied the exhibitor. "You must constantly fight insects if you want good flowers or good vegetables."

"How do you fight insects?" persisted the woman. "There are three general classifications of plant enemies," explained the exhibitor. "There is the chewing insect, which eats the plant; there is the sucking insect, which sucks the sap or blood of the plant; and there is the fungus which blights and mildews."

"But how is one to know which is which and what to do for each?" asked the woman despairingly.

"You can use a general mixture that will get all three," answered the exhibitor. "Arsenate of lead will poison the chewing insects, nicotine will smother the sucking insects, and Bordeaux mixture will kill the fungi. Your dealer can supply you with these ingredients and tell you how to mix them, and you can put on the compound with a spray pump."

"Raising flowers is like raising children," went on the exhibitor. "The more intelligent the care, the better the results."

COURT SECRECY BOOMS DIVORCE FOR ENGLAND

By CHARLES A. SMITH International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The secrecy with which divorce may now be conducted in England is urging more and more people to the divorce courts as a means of breaking unhappy marital ties. According to prominent divorce lawyers, the recent English law prohibiting newspapers from publishing anything beyond the bare skeleton of divorce hearings has resulted in an almost hundred per cent increase in divorces in the few months that the law has been in operation.

Over 500 Petitions More than five hundred divorce petitions will be heard during the coming divorce court term, and when the 1927 legal year closes more than 2,400 divorce suits will have been decided in London alone. With provincial courts the total is brought up to 3,500. This means that, including co-respondents, 10,500 persons will have been concerned.

The remarkable increase of divorce is shown by the following yearly average over five-year periods since the beginning of the present century:

Table with 2 columns: Year, Divorces. 1901-1905: 563; 1906-1910: 624; 1911-1915: 656; 1916-1920: 1,510; 1921-1925: 2,754.

Many are Childless Until women and men were recently placed on the same basis as regards grounds for divorce, the number of men and women in England against divorce decrees were issued was about equal, but now the petitions by women predominate. In forty per cent of the cases the parties are childless while in a further 32 per cent there is one child.

TOM EDISON LIKES TO LIVE, HE ADMITS

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Thomas A. Edison, working as hard at the age of 80 as in his youth, would be glad to live his life over again with all its disappointments and successes, he declared Friday night in a radio interview which was broadcast through 43 stations from coast to coast.

The first formal appearance of the electrical wizard before the microphone was in an interview which was part of a radio program celebrating the forty-eighth anniversary of his invention of the incandescent lamp. He answered a series of questions put by E. W. Rice, Jr., honorary chairman of the board of directors of the General Electric company, which sponsored the program.

He believes the incandescent lamp to be the most important of all his inventions, he said, and is convinced that the development of electricity has been the greatest factor in modern human progress. Its possibilities, he believes, are endless.

San Angelo Bank Deposits Hit Record

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 24.—Bank deposits in San Angelo banks reached a new high mark this month when the four state and national banks reported combined deposits totaling $12,306,333.64 as compared to $10,892,962.44 last June 30. Increased sales of lambs, sheep and cattle, and oil leases were responsible for the increase, it was said. It is expected that 200,000 lambs will be sold here this year.

TEXAS MEETINGS DRAW NATION'S MONEYED MEN

BIG FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS REPRESENTED

DALLAS, Oct. 24. — Texas is host this week to representatives of most of the wealth of the nation. Approximately 4,000 bankers are in Houston for the convention of the American Bankers' association, which opened today.

Representatives of 150 life insurance companies in America were in Dallas today for the opening of the meeting of the American Life convention. These companies have a total of $17,081,221 insurance in force.

Many prominent legal representatives of the insurance companies were here for the meeting of the insurance men and will lecture on the various phases of legal technicalities involved in the insurance business. One of the chief discussions slated for the life insurance convention will be the unification of insurance laws in the various states.

Unfold millions of dollars were represented at Houston. Most of the outstanding bankers of the nation were present for the convention. After the convention many of them will participate in a tour of sections of Texas on a special train to see at first hand the investment possibilities offered in the state.

RANGER, Oct. 24.—As he was recrossing the street where he had been to a grocery store to get some candy, Eugene Norton, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Norton of Olden, was struck by an automobile and sustained a broken leg and cuts and bruises about the head late Saturday afternoon.

T. R. Sudderth, district manager for the Murray Tool & Supply company of Abilene was driving the car that struck the child. He was traveling east. Evidently his bumper struck the child and threw him against the car. The glass in the light on the car was broken out.

How to Recover Lost Strength

Abilene, Texas.—"I can heartily recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to any one who is in need of a good tonic. I take it in the fall to fortify myself against colds and grippe. I also take it in the spring and find it of great benefit. In the winter of 1919 I had a severe attack of influenza which left me in bad condition. I did not want anything to eat, could sleep but little and was very nervous. I took two bottles of the 'Discovery' and it made me feel like a new man."—J. B. Matthews, Gen'l Del. All dealers. COOLIDGE MAY ATTEND CUBA CONFERENCES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Representatives from every one of the American republics will meet in Havana, Cuba, in January to discuss economic, intellectual and communications problems pertaining to the Western Hemisphere and to pass on a plan for reorganizing the Pan-American union. The United States delegation will be headed by Secretary of State Kellogg, while President Coolidge plans to attend the opening session on January 16, if official business permits.

The Havana meeting will be known as the Sixth International conference of American states.

The idea of holding occasional Pan-American conferences originated in its modern sense with Secretary of State Blaine in 1879, although the famous South American liberator, Bolivar, attempted to form a similar organization as far back as 1825. Blaine's initial effort failed and it was not until ten years later when he was again at the head of the State Department that the first conference was held.

Clearing House

Meeting in Washington, the first Pan-American conference created the International Bureau of Republics, which was intended to be a sort of clearing house for inter-American information. Its members were the various American diplomats stationed in Washington and the presidency was held by the Secretary of State of the United States. The bureau has been maintained on that basis ever since, although its name subsequently was changed to Pan-American union.

In 1901 a second conference was convened in Mexico City, at which a resolution was adopted advancing the principle of submitting all pecuniary debt claims to arbitration when other diplomatic means of settlement have failed.

Secretary of State Root was one of the moving lights at the third meeting held in Rio de Janeiro in 1906. At this conference the Latin delegates declared against the forcible collection of public debts by foreign powers, such as Great Britain, Germany and Italy had threatened in Venezuela. Root joined in approving this policy, without committing his government to an inflexible policy of non-interference.

Union Established

The fourth conference at Buenos Aires in 1910 established the Pan-American union and widened the scope of the activities of the conference. Customs regulations, commercial regulations and a Pan-American railroad were headlines among the subjects discussed.

Because of the World War the fifth meeting, which was to have been held in 1914, did not meet in Santiago, Chile, until 1923. At this conference a treaty was signed which was designed to avoid or prevent conflicts between the American states. To date this treaty has been signed by Brazil, Chile, Cuba, Guatemala, Haiti, Paraguay, United States and Venezuela.

URGES LOVE AS COLLEGE COURSE

Dorothy Scarborough, Columbia University professor, declares that colleges should incorporate course in love-making for benefit of girl students.

(International Illustrated News)

"It's often better to keep your hair uncreased than to keep an immaculate kitchen!"

That's the rather revolutionary philosophy of Dorothy Scarborough, assistant professor of English at Columbia. Miss Scarborough recently informed Atlanta, Ga., flappers that the modern girl needs help in landing and keeping her life partner.

Miss Scarborough, author of a number of novels, feels deeply on the problem of the girl who loses her heart to the vamp.

"There are entirely too many girls," she declares, "who are pretty, self-sacrificing and unselfish to a fault."

"They need to be taught that men respect a little selfishness and unreasonableness in a woman. Success, goodness and self-sacrifice mean little if we lose love," she emphasizes, declaring that colleges should teach girls not only how to corral a sweetie, but to keep him.

GARNER GOES AFTER LARGER CUT IN TAXES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—A total tax reduction of $400,000,000 or perhaps $500,000,000—almost twice as much as advocated by the treasury—will be demanded by Representative Garner of Texas, ranking democrat on the house ways and means committee, which will meet in another week to draft a revenue bill.

Spokesman of house democrats on revenue, Mr. Garner Saturday laid down the battle lines for the approaching tax fight which seems destined to center on how much of a slice can be taken from the annual tax burden.

Another issue was drawn by the outspoken democratic leader when he served notice he would not vote for a bill providing a slash in the corporation levy applying on 1927 incomes on which taxes are payable next year. Such a plan has been advocated by Chairman Smetter of the senate finance committee.

"That would just be giving the corporations a present which they have already collected from the people," Garner argued.

Mr. Garner reiterated substantially the reduction plan he advocated a year ago—a cut in the corporation levy from 13 1/2 per cent to 11 per cent and possibly to 1 per cent; repeat of the remaining nuisance and excise duties, including those on automobiles, theater tickets, club dues and produce; and retention of the estate or inheritance tax.

Some additional relief for the smaller corporations also is under contemplation by the Texas representative who will confer soon with his colleagues on the ways and means committee. He is willing to listen to appeals for revision of the individual income tax rates, but for the present has no plan for a change in them.

INDIANS WILL MOURN A WEEK FOR SHOWMAN

PONCA CITY, Okla., Oct. 24.—A week of mourning and feasting by the Ponca Indians will mark the passing of "Walking Above," their name for Col. Joe Miller, wild west show man and ranchman who was asphyxiated yesterday by fumes from his motor car.

Miller was an adopted member and sub-chief of the Poncas. His Indian name was a recognition of his imposing stature.

Miller's own money will pay the expenses of the Indians tribute to him. Knowing of their love for ceremony and their comparative poverty he made provision in his will for the mourning period.

Little more than a year ago the Poncas made merry on the lawn of the "white house," 101 ranch headquarters when Miller known among the Indians and ranch employees as "Mr. Joe" took a young bride. The tribal form of the marriage ceremony was carried out and the Indians bore gifts to their benefactor who had fed them in lean days when beef was scarce and crops were poor.

Detailed plans for the Indian funeral service has not been announced, but it is assumed that the usual tribal customs will be carried out.

Arrangements for Col. Miller's regular funeral service were being made today. Tentative plans were to hold services Monday afternoon from the veranda of the "white house" so that friends and employees might gather in the yard.

TWO BIG GAMES THIS WEEK HOLD DISTRICT'S EYES

Ranger-Abilene Battle Shares Interest With Cisco and Breck Contest Scheduled for Saturday

Oil Belt high school football fans, catching their breath today after the upset of Friday in which Eastland high, the underdog, outplayed and defeated Ranger high 7 to 0 on the latter's home field, began to look forward to two games of this week which will decide in a large measure the chances of several Class A contenders for the district title. Four of the six teams in the district will be in action, with the other two idle or pitted against Class B elevens.

Ranger will meet Abilene in Abilene Friday, and on Saturday Breckenridge, which has tied Eastland and defeated San Angelo, will meet Cisco high on Chesley field here. It is expected that the Abilene game will answer in a large way the question that has arisen since Eastland walloped the Bulldogs. Last year, after losing its first game of the season to Stephenville, Ranger came back and won the district title. The question now arises: Can the Bulldogs repeat their own history? A defeat at the hands of Abilene this week will probably eliminate Ranger from the district race, while a victory over the much-feared Eagles will again put the Bulldogs strongly in the race for the title. The Friday tilt will be Abilene's Class A opener, and for that reason no line on its comparative strength with other Oil Belt teams is available. However, on paper, the Eagles appear the favorites to win the title, at present, and any team that defeats Abilene is most likely to cop the honor. It is possible a special train will accompany Coach Cherry and his hopefuls to Abilene in an effort to avenge as far as possible the Eastland defeat.

The Cisco-Breckenridge game of Saturday is a different matter. Breckenridge is as yet undefeated, and has one conference win to its credit, having beaten San Angelo 19 to 7. The Buckaroos have also tied the Eastland Mavericks, holding the team that beat Ranger to a 0-0 score. The Buckaroos have improved consistently with each game this season, showing the results of training under Coach P. E. Shotwell who piloted Abilene to a state championship in 1923. The Buckaroos were unimpressive in their opening games, but have developed an attack that enabled them to tie Eastland, beat the Bolcats and wallop Merkel 44 to 0, with the second and third strings doing most of the playing. Added to the strength of the Buckaroos there must be reckoned the psychology of the situation. In the past, Breckenridge has always played its greatest football against the Loboes. Back in 1924, after Cisco had defeated the champion Abilene Eagles 6 to 3, Breckenridge came back and beat the Loboes. In 1925, after Eastland had beaten the Buckaroos 28 to 3 and Ranger had beaten them 38 to 3, Breckenridge again came back and held Cisco to a 13 to 0 score. Last year Breckenridge was one of the few teams to score against Cisco, holding the Loboes to a 25 to 6 score. This year, the Buckaroos have gone farther toward a district championship than had been expected, and they will be fighting to keep from being eliminated when they meet Cisco. As the result of the rivalry existing between the two teams, arrangements are being made to care for the largest crowd that has seen a football game in the Oil Belt yet this year.

20,000 DUE TO SEE TEXAS-S. M. U. GAME

DALLAS, Oct. 24.—The Texas-S. M. U. game scheduled for O'Connell Stadium next Saturday gives promise of drawing the largest crowd in the history of Dallas football. Preparations are being made by the S. M. U. officials to handle over twenty thousand fans.

In the last three years intense rivalry has sprung up between the Longhorns and Mustangs. Both elevens will rush every play in an effort to turn victory their way. Last year S. M. U. won at Austin in the closing minutes of play. The Longhorns still feel the sting of that defeat in their hides and the only salve that will ease that sting is a win over the Mustangs.

The seat sale for the Texas-S. M. U. game has been heavy in Dallas but according to Dr. R. N. Blackwell, business manager of athletics at S. M. U., "out of town fans who come into Dallas at the last minute will be taken care of as we will have ample seats. Probably three thousand extra seats will be erected at the north end of O'Connell Stadium."

The Saturday following the Texas game will find the Mustangs on Kyle field, the guests of Dana Bille's Fighting Aggies. The Texas game and the A. & M. game will make or break the Mustangs in their conference chase.

MURDER CASE AT BASTROP STARTS TODAY

BASTROP, Oct. 24.—After spending three years in jail and having been twice convicted of murder, Luther Hays went on trial here today for the third time on a charge of murder growing out of the slaying of Adolph Epstein, a grocer near here, in 1924.

Epstein who operated a small store at Swartz, a gas field town, was slain in March, 1924. Hays and his brother-in-law, Howard Robertson, were charged with the murder. Robertson was later convicted and subsequently hanged. Hays and Robertson were tried jointly and convicted but Hays won a new trial in which he was again held guilty. His attorneys obtained a new trial.

With Hays in jail since August, 1924, is Willie Stone, who will be the state's star witness against Hays. Stone is alleged to have been stationed outside the store in an automobile while Robertson and Hays went inside. Robertson maintained his innocence to the end.

The Years Flit by But Tickner Stays On as Cisco Rural Carrier; He gets Third Extension of Time

MAIL ROUTE ON HIGHWAY 23 IS ASKED

Petition for a new mail rural delivery route to be operated out of Cisco has been forwarded to the U. S. postoffice department at Washington. Postmaster J. W. Tripitt announced Monday. The route, if approved, will use State highway 23 which passes over Williamson dam and heads north-westward toward Moran. This route would serve 100 additional patrons, including Lake Cisco, and practically all of those families are now without mail delivery. Included on this route is the Moody gasoline plant near Pueblo where a number of families are located. While the petition as filed exists for an entirely new route of 30 miles in length, it is possible that it may be consolidated with route 1 with the carrier making a loop, going out one road and returning over the other. Past experience has indicated that it will be 30 days before a traveling inspector will be able to inspect this route and make his recommendations, and another 30 days before approval can be given and other preliminaries gotten out of the way so that the route can be established.

W. J. Tickner, veteran rural mail carrier for the Cisco postoffice, has just received his third extension of service after having reached the age for retirement. The new extension will expire in November of next year, at which time Mr. Tickner will be 70 years of age. Mr. Tickner has carried the mail on route 1 since August 15, 1905, when the route was established, and has thus served for 22 years. At one time he carried route 1 three days a week and route 5 two days a week. His first extension of time was for a period of two years, and his second for one year, so that his new extension will make a total of four years he will have served after the regular age of retirement. Mr. Tickner has seen great changes made in the postal delivery service since he entered the service. He used to carry the mail by buggy, but now, with improved roads he drives his own car and makes the route in far less time than formerly. He is a deeply religious man, and during his years of service he has served not only as mail carrier but as religious counselor to many of his patrons. Despite his age, he is still very active, a fact that made it possible for him to retain his position beyond the time that the average postal employe leaves the service.

GENE TUNNEY DENIES HE IS TO WED SOON

POLAND SPRING, Maine, Oct. 24.—Gene Tunney, who expects to be champion five years more is married in just one way—to his profession. If there are any girls in the offing, the world's heavyweight champion insists he doesn't know it. That's what he said when pressed for confirmation of the latest of three reported engagements since he beat Jack Dempsey out in Soldiers field, Chicago. He did not elaborate on his five-year tenure of his crown, but said considerable in denial of matrimonial intentions.

Gene was returning from a two weeks' vacation with his old friend, Pert Fowler, Maine woodsman and guide, when apprised of the fact that rumors had gained currency that he was to wed Miss Pamela Pryor, Greenwich, Conn., girl and sister of Samuel F. Pryor, Jr., a friend. "Any man who marries while he is champion makes a big mistake," said Gene. "I am engaged to no one. The girl in question is the sister of one of my dearest friends. Shortly after the last fight they had me engaged to a girl in California, then to one in Illinois. "Now it is a Connecticut young lady. I don't think it is fair to the girls. It must be embarrassing. "I don't contemplate marrying while in the boxing profession. I hope the next time they pick out one they will be generous enough to notify me. I should like to be in on it."

BONEY TELLS OF HIS VISIT TO OLD CAIRO

Rev. R. C. Boney speaking at the First Presbyterian church on "The Land of Moses and the Pharaohs" Sunday evening said, "As one crosses the Suez Canal at Kantara leaving Asia for Africa, the fact that he is crossing one of the greatest engineering accomplishments in history, a canal 31 feet deep, over 90 miles long, and 198 feet wide at its narrowest point; a canal that makes India 5,000 miles closer to London by ship is faded into insignificance by the greater fact that in a moment he will be standing upon the continent of Ancient History, sacred as well as secular; in the land where Joseph found an already old civilization; where Moses was born; where the ten miracles of the exodus were performed; the land where Moses led the children of Israel.

"Still intent upon these thoughts one boards a modern railroad train, and is whisked away to a city of wonder, modern Cairo. Here there is every modern convenience; electricity in every conceivable kind of convenience; hotels than which there are none better anywhere; taxis that travel without regard to anything but speed; and in a word, Cairo is a wonderfully modern city, but as one leaves Cairo to penetrate the land of mystery surrounding, even within four miles of the city he is amazed at the ancient methods employed, and at the poverty that is seen.

"The poverty is not difficult to understand, however, when he is conducted through the tombs of the kings, and is told of the religion that underlies ancient Egypt. When a well-to-do man dies his wealth is buried with him, that he might in death enjoy what he had accumulated while living, even going so far as to embalm food and bury that with him. In the recent excavation of the tomb of King Tut-Ankh-Amen the wealth of a kingdom was found buried with him. Yet there are people who are in great need throughout the realm. There is a religion that looked altogether toward a future of material blessing. We may be thankful that we have a religion that believes in a blessing that is not merely material, but is spiritual; that does not alone deal with the future, but the present as well. Our happiness present or future does not depend upon material accumulation or lack of it, but upon that which thieves cannot break through and steal."

BROWNWOOD, Oct. 24.—E. B. Walker, night watchman for the Roxana Petroleum corporation, oil operators in the Rosenfield pool, was burned to death while on duty Friday night. Officers went to investigate his death this morning, and their verdict is that his death was due to accidental causes.

The body has been brought to the McIlhins funeral home, and relatives were to make arrangements for his funeral and burial. His home is in Locker, San Saba county.
