Dr. T. T. Roberts, president of Randolph college, expects to go to Brady this Sunday where he will deliver a sermon at ceremonies marking the laying of the cornerstone for the First Christian church of Brady. Dr. Roberts spoke this last week to the Lions' club at Breckenridge, delivering his well known talk on "Organization" which has created such favorable interest at other luncheon clubs that he was asked to repeat it at Breckenridge.

Randolph college is to have a decorated and well lighted Christmas tree. The next few days will see erection of a large Christmas tree on the campus and it will be lighted by the West Texas Utilities company, similarly to the one to be placed on a down town street corner. It is expected it will be visible for a great distance, since it will be placed on the college hill.

Britt Phippen, star end on the Cisco High Big Dan Lobos the past season, who has been in the Graham sanitarium the last several days as the result of injuries received during the season, was reported as resting well Saturday and showing considerable signs of improvement. He was injured about the head in the Ranger game and again in the Eastland battle. Examination has revealed that there is no fracture, but he shows excessive pressure of spinal fluid on the brain. This pressure is said to be lessening, and the physicians are more hopeful of his recovery.

J. C. C. Evans, a "kid of 75 years," has written Santa Claus a letter. Instead of the usual request for toys and fruits and fireworks, he asks for a quarter of beef and a hundred loaves of bread to feed his relatives who threaten to spend Christmas with him. Here is what he wrote: "Hello, Mr. Santa Claus: Here comes another kid with his wants. You see I am just five or 75 years old. Anyway, I am just a kid. Counting myself and wife, ourselves and offsprings number forty in Texas and nine in Oklahoma and they are all talking of coming home Christmas. So, Mr. Santa, I want you to bring me one quarter of beef and a hundred loaves of bread and a box of toothpicks. I think I am as much entitled to something as the other kids—J. C. C. (Daddy) Evans.

Friends will be glad to hear that little Nural Deane Herrington, who was injured last Sunday in an automobile accident, is recovering rapidly.

According to dispatches from Austin, A. H. Woodfin, former Ciscoan, has been granted an extension of 20 days on a furlough granted him from the state penitentiary, where he is serving a sentence of from five to 30 years for murder in Shackelford county. Woodfin had been employed by an oil company prior to his imprisonment, and finding of an oil sand at 3,294 feet in a well he had started in Sabine county was given as the reason for extension of his furlough.

Texas Woman Badly Burned By Open Fire
LONGVIEW, Dec. 3.—Mrs. H. F. Jones, seriously burned about the face late yesterday, was improving today, according to Dr. W. D. Cole, attending physician. She was burned when, during a fainting spell, she fell into an open fire at her home. For a time it was feared she would suffer loss of her eyesight.

Mrs. Emma L. Starr of Mineral Wells is spending the week end with her son, Lewis Starr.

BAIRD HOLDS FUNERAL OF "A. RUFF DE TOUR"

HIGHWAY IS OPENED WITH CELEBRATION

BAIRD, Dec. 3.—The devil made off with the remains of A. Ruff de Tour and broke up the funeral occasion being delivered by J. J. Butts of Cisco here today as the climax of a celebration over completion of the Bankhead highway between Baird and Abilene, thus opening up the pavement from Abilene all the way to Dallas. Judge Butts began delivering his oration shortly after State Highway Commissioner W. R. Ely had talked and presented little Miss Myrtilla Settle, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Settle, who cut a ribbon extending across the highway, and thus officially opened the completed pavement. Several thousand persons from all parts of Central West Texas, particularly Cisco and Abilene, were present.

The funeral service was held shortly after a newspaper extra was distributed on the streets announcing the "assassination of A. Ruff de Tour and conspiracy to annihilate the entire de Tour family, and naming the members of the state highway commission and the Callahan county commissioners court as the conspirators. Just as the excitement occasioned by the extra was about to die down, the funeral procession, headed by the Cisco high school Lobo band playing a funeral dirge, came up the street. A hearse, horsedrawn and driven by a negro, bore the remains of the late Callahan county citizen up to the speaker's stand near the court house. Judge Butts of Cisco then took the platform and delivered a funeral oration, although he admitted he could not give much consolation to the friends of the departed as regards his life in the hereafter. Before the judge had concluded his remarks, however, the negro driver gave an out-splitting scream and leaped from the driver's cab, just as the devil, forked tail, horns and all, climbed upon the hearse. He took the reins, cracked the driver's whip, and made off in a gallop with the departed Mr. de Tour.

T. E. Powell acted as master of ceremony for the morning program, first introducing Judge J. L. Blackburn of Baird, who made the welcoming address. Col. Dick McCarty of Albany, dean of West Texas newspaper editors, responded in his characteristically vigorous style. G. A. McClung of the McClung Construction company, which laid the pavement between Baird and Abilene, spoke on "What a state highway means to its respective communities." Judge W. R. Ely of Abilene, member of the state highway commission, then spoke briefly, commending Callahan county on its progressiveness in causing this section of the important Bankhead highway to be built. A. R. Losh, federal division highway engineer, and A. B. Spencer, secretary of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce were present but did not speak.

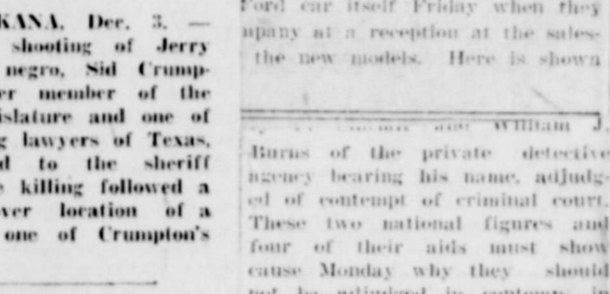

At noon barbecue, together with pickles, cake, coffee and pie were served the crowd, the specially invited guests being served at the Ford sales station, and the others on the main street. The afternoon was taken up with various athletic events, including a polo game between teams representing Cisco and Abilene, with the players mounted on donkeys. At night, a street dance on the newly laid pavement of Market street, the main thoroughfare, was held.

The Cisco delegation, headed by Mayor J. M. Williamson, was conspicuous. The Big Dan Lobo band spent most of the day playing on the streets. The Simmons University Cowboy band from Abilene also furnished music for the day. The celebration, which was managed principally by H. O. Tatum, secretary of the Baird chamber of commerce and Mayor C. L. Dickey, was declared to be one of the most successful events ever held in Baird.

FORMER TEXAS LEGISLATOR KILLS NEGRO

TEXARKANA, Dec. 3.—Following shooting of Jerry Williams, negro, Sid Crumpton, former member of the Texas legislature and one of the leading lawyers of Texas, surrendered to the sheriff here. The killing followed a dispute over location of a fence on one of Crumpton's farms.

Will Face Trial in Teapot Case

BAIRD, Dec. 3.—Contracts for road improvement involving expenditure of one million dollars will be let by the state highway commissioner December 6. It was announced by Claude Teer, secretary. The improvements will be made in 11 counties. Archer county's proposed improvements call for an expenditure of $216,000 for grading and drainage structures on Highway No. 70.

ROAD BOARD DUE TO LET 11 CONTRACTS
The French army as an ambulance driver. Up toward the front lines where shriek of shell vied with the screams of the wounded, Rousseau found not only the work of an ambulance driver, but an even greater work of entertaining the wounded and dying soldiers. "I sang to them in their native tongue, whether it was French, Italian or what not," he said Saturday. "It seemed to comfort them to hear the beauty of song away up there amid the awful ugliness of war. As I recall those days, I am thrilled to think that I helped make the dying hours of those brave soldiers just a little more bearable, a little less hard. None of the regular entertainers were allowed in the fighting zone, and so I, an enlisted man, was practically alone in the effort to cheer the wounded and the dying. When officers, higher up heard of my work, they then gave me leave to go where I chose to attempt to cheer the suffering and dying in the hospitals. In the camps, or wherever I found them."

Slaying Suspects Get Hearing Monday
LUBBOCK, Dec. 3.—Habeas corpus hearings for five men held here for murder in connection with the killing of Constable Lee Stegall at Plomot will be held in district court Monday. The five men indicted in Motley county are Calvin Barnes, Paul Landry, W. F. Allen and Adolphus and Moseley, brothers. Indictment of the five men followed killing of the Plomot officer as he sat in his car on the main street Monday night. Four of the five men were arrested in Plomot last Tuesday and brought here. A fifth, Adolphus Moseley, was arrested here.

Central Texas Bank Destroyed By Fire
MARLIN, Dec. 3.—A building occupied by the Farmers' State Bank at Perry was destroyed by fire today.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY FACES $100,000 SUIT
BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 3.—Suit for $100,000 against the Ford Motor company of Detroit, was filed in superior court Friday by the La Porte Heilkamp Motor company. The petition alleges that the La Porte-Heilkamp company handled Ford automobiles and parts from 1904 until April, 1927, when a Ford agent summarily took the business from them without reimbursement.

"A. RUFF DE TOUR" Will Face Trial in Teapot Case

BAIRD, Dec. 3.—A month ago, two key witnesses were on hand today. One was William J. McMillin, Philadelphia war veteran, who worked for the Burns agency for a time and then turned to the government to expose what he said was a plot to bring about a mistrial in the Teapot Dome lease case. The other was Charles D. Ruddy, manager of the detail of 15 Burns agents, who trailed the oil jury for two weeks while the trial was in progress.

America Fast On Way to Development Own National Music, Says Rousseau In Cisco; Radio Has Raised Standards

Jazz music will not die out entirely, but it will undergo a change of form, declared Charles Rousseau, noted baritone, who is in Cisco for the week end preparatory to his concert recital at Randolph college Monday evening. Already, Mr. Rousseau asserted, there is a distinct trend toward more music in jazz or popular selections, and even greater change is to be expected within the next few years. There is to be more melody, more sincerity and more sweetness in popular music hereafter, he asserted.

KIDNAPED AMERICAN IS FREED
WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Thomas W. Thompson, American mining engineer, kidnaped by bandits and held for $2,500 ransom, has been released through efforts of Mexican federal troops, according to a message to the state department.

$200 WORTH OF CHRISTMAS SEALS SOLD
Sale of tuberculosis seals Friday and Saturday was very satisfactory, says Mrs. O. T. Maxwell, chairman of the two-day drive, which closed Saturday night. The first sale of the drive was made to Mrs. Phil Keelan by Miss Bess Maxwell. Miss Ruth Endicott made the largest sale of the day, selling $45 worth alone. Next week seals will be turned over to children of the public schools. The school making the largest sale will be given a first aid kit; the child making the largest sale will be presented with $2.50 in gold.

CHICAGO PLEASUED WITH RAIL RATE REDUCTION
CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—Manufacturing interests of Chicago expect to profit extensively as a result of their victory in a 35-year fight to secure a reduction of freight rates from Chicago into the southern states to a parity with those from New York and other eastern states. The new rates, effective January 15, remove a 40 per cent discrimination against this city.

WOOL MARKET
BOSTON, Dec. 3.—Raw wool markets were weak at the week end, but dealers reported much inquiry for Texas 12 months wool at $1.10 1/2.

WEATHER FORECAST
Cisco and vicinity: Sunday cloudy with snow or rain; coldest weather in panhandle.

Several Students Suspended And Smell of Liquor on Breath to Be Sufficient Evidence to Bar Others

AUSTIN, Dec. 3.—Rigid enforcement of anti-drinking rules will be observed at the University of Texas, it was announced here today, as an aftermath of dismissal of several students. University officials declared "the smell of liquor on a student's breath" would be cause for suspension. Bob E. Eikel, of Sherman, president of the student governing body, commented as follows in the Daily Texan: "Those who are dismissed for drinking may not consider themselves martyrs on the altar of personal liberty, but may consider themselves among those who did not know the gun was loaded."

REMUS' AIDE TESTIFIES IN MURDER TRIAL
CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 3.—George Conners, slave speaking "prince of the bootleggers" and right hand man to George Remus for years was subjected to a grueling examination this afternoon by Walter Sippald, assistant prosecutor, at the trial of Remus, ex-bootleg king, for wife murder. For hours on direct examination, Conners had been detailing what he had told Remus regarding Mrs. Remus' illicit relation with Franklin L. Dodge. These things, he said, drove Remus insane. At one time, he said, Mrs. Remus pulled a revolver from her handbag and said: "We'll settle this thing right now!"

FEAR CHICAGO FURRIER SLAIN BY KIDNAPPERS
CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—Four that kidnapers of Morris Rotner, wealthy St. Paul furrier and realtor held for $75,000 ransom, may have carried out their threat to kill him if the police were called into the case spurred on a dozen detective bureau squads in their investigation today. Police held three letters from Rotner addressed to his wife pleading that she raise the money before the bandits killed him.

FINAL ANSWER ON HOTEL DUE HERE TUESDAY
Definite answer to his proposal to build a hotel in Cisco will be expected by W. C. Witte, Dallas financier, when he comes here Tuesday night for a conference with the Cisco hotel committee. It was announced Saturday. At the same time, it was said between $8,000 and $10,000 in subscriptions to stock is now lacking, and that this must be raised Monday and Tuesday if the hotel is to be built. The stock sale has been dragging considerably, due principally to lack of workers, but few turn-downs having been noted. An intensive drive must be conducted during the next two days if Mr. Witte is to be given a favorable answer to his proposal. Mr. Witte is anxious for definite acceptance or rejection of his proposition because of the fact that his company plans to build a hotel in another West Texas city if Cisco citizens fail to meet his very reasonable terms.

Millionaire's Ex-Wife Jailed
HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 3.—Mrs. Mattie McCauliffe and the men for whom she said she left her former millionaire husband, Augustus E. Minchew of Dallas and Denver, was in jail today booked on suspicion of a series of fashionable residence burglaries, in which more than $250,000 in loot was taken. Six years ago, according to her story, she left her husband and came to California with McCauliffe, an automobile salesman. Her husband refused to work, she said, and they spent $100,000 in jewels and money she brought with her. Minchew sued and got a divorce.

Scrum Saves Life Of Abilene Doctor
ABILENE, Dec. 3.—Anthrax serum rushed by airplane from Dallas today was believed to have saved the life of Dr. Garner, head veterinarian, who contracted anthrax while he was doctoring cattle.

CONVICTION REVERSED
AUSTIN, Dec. 3.—Because the warrant had been issued on information and belief and no certain facts, the Court of Criminal Appeals Wednesday reversed and remanded the case of J. H. Ferguson of Eastland county, given a four years on a liquor charge.

MERCER DENIED NEW TRIAL
WAXAHACHIE, Dec. 3.—Judge Tom Ball today overruled petition for a new trial for Olin Mercer, given a 35 year sentence for murder here. Mercer's counsel said they would appeal.

Chapman-Coached Elevens Have Envious Record

Lobos Have Lost Only Six Games In Last Five Years; Average of More Than 310 Points a Season is Hung Up

Delving into the history of the past, one finds that the Cisco high school Big Dam Lobos have set an envious record during the six seasons which have followed the advent of Coach W. R. Chapman in Lobo land. In all those six years, the Lobos have played in defeat only nine times, and three of those were suffered the first year Chapman was here, before he could institute his system or encourage boys to go out for football to make a creditable team. In that period, the Lobos have piled up a total of 1967 points to their opponents' 283, giving the Ciscoans an average of better than 310 points a season to the opposition's 94.

The last five years' might be taken to really represent the work of Coach Chapman, since the first year was taken in getting started. In those five years, the Lobos have lost but six games, and two of these were in state semi-final contests. In 1925 the Lobos lost to Abilene 19 to 7; in 1924 Oak Cliff was the only one to beat Cisco, scoring 52 to 7; Forest high of Dallas was victorious in 1925, 7 to 0, while in 1926 Ranger humbled Cisco twice, once 13 to 6 on the Bulldogs' home grounds, and again 3 to 0 at Cisco. This year Abilene eliminated Cisco from the district championship 27 to 0. During Chapman's regime the Lobos have twice won the district championship, something almost unheard of in Texas interscholastic league football where the usual thing is for the largest city in the district to capture the title, just as Waco, Amarillo, Dallas, Cleburne and other places are in the habit of winning. For three years straight, Cisco eliminated Abilene, the team from the largest city in the district and this season defeated all others in the district except Abilene, falling then because of being tremendously outweighted.

It is interesting to recall the scores of past seasons which are as follows:

ABE LINCOLN MANUSCRIPT WINS $25,000

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The largest award ever offered for a purely literary composition, a cash prize of $25,000, will be handed to Miss Katherine Holland Brown of Quincy, Ill., as soon as she can be found. She is at present traveling somewhere in the south, and the only mailing address she left behind was "General Delivery" at Orlando, Fla., a point she is expected to reach sometime in the course of the next few days. The prize, offered jointly by The Woman's Home Companion and the John Day Company, publishers, is awarded to her for a 90,000 word novel of anti-Civil War days entitled "The Father," which was adjudged the best of 1391 manuscripts submitted by authors from every state in the Union and several foreign countries. Another prize of $25,000, which was to have been given for the best novel submitted by a man, goes unawarded because none of the manuscripts submitted by men was considered good enough. About 200 men tried for the prize, but the judges—two men and two women—dismissed their offerings as unimpressive. The best manuscript submitted by a man was outclassed by at least a dozen of the manuscripts submitted by women, declared one of the judges. The contest, announced a year ago, insured equal opportunity to both unknown writers and established authors by requiring that all manuscripts be submitted under pseudonyms, and the final decision was reached before the identity of the winner was disclosed to the judges, who included Gertrude B. Lenz, editor of The Woman's Home Companion; Richard J. Walsh, president of the John Day Co.; and two distinguished writers, Dorothy Canfield and James Branch Cabell. Miss Brown is a graduate of the University of Michigan, and has already written several books and short stories. Her latest work was a collection of short stories from the Bible. She was an honor student in college, winning the Phi Beta Kappa. Her prize novel, "The Father," deals with the fortunes of a father and daughter who lived in Southern Illinois about 1850. The father was a printer and a violent opponent of slavery. One of the characters in the novel is an obscure local lawyer who was a close friend of the family, but who was much more favorable to the institution of slavery than the rabid old printer. So they quarrelled continually. Lawyer Abraham Lincoln taking a conservative ground in defense of slavery, while the printer endeavored to win him over to the abolitionist cause.

MacMillan Concert At Eastland Dec. 9

Francis Macmillan, the distinguished American violinist, who will play in the Eastland high school auditorium on Friday night December 9, may be placed in the front rank of the few American artists who have succeeded in winning enviable positions in Europe.

The ticket sale for this concert will open Monday, December 5, at the Eastland Music store. The Macmillan concert is the second in a series of three artist concerts being given this winter in Eastland under management of Mrs. Charles G. Norton. Season ticket holders are reminded to notify the change of date from December 7 to December 9. Orders for tickets are coming in rapidly with the nearer approach of this date and mail orders, accompanied by check, will be filled in the order of their receipt.

Throckmorton Co. Road Bonds Sold

THROCKMORTON, Dec. 3.—Road bonds amounting to $825,000 for the improvement of roads in Throckmorton county have been sold to the Brown-Crummer company of Dallas and Wichita, Kan. It was announced today. The sale was made by County Judge J. L. Robertson and the commissioners' court of Throckmorton county. The bonds will bear 4 1/2 per cent interest.

Another prize of $25,000, which was to have been given for the best novel submitted by a man, goes unawarded because none of the manuscripts submitted by men was considered good enough. About 200 men tried for the prize, but the judges—two men and two women—dismissed their offerings as unimpressive. ### Northeast Cross Plains Extension Continues to Hold Spotlight; Baum Tract Site of Latest Completion

CROSS PLAINS, Dec. 3. — With another promising completion under way, the territory along the northeast edge of the new Cross Plains fields continues to hold the spotlight of development, offering much of interest to a generally dull situation throughout the oil industry that continues to confine drilling to most instances to only such cases as require immediate development. The new well is located in the northeast corner of the E. K. Baum tract, and is the property of the Mook-Texas company and M. E. Wakefield, and found the sand slightly low for that section, tapping the first stratum at 1884 and drilling to that sand to 1710, where the first shale break was found followed by five feet of the second stratum that marks the present depth of the well.

At this stage of completion the well shows for a probable 75 barrels with deeper drilling for the third sand to follow before the total output of the find can be fully determined.

Larger wells, however, that were completed the previous week in territory further outside to the east have added this well of much importance and the slight break character of its depth was proven by these wells to in no way effect the territory in that direction.

Following this line of outside exploration, interest now centers around the test of the Prairie Oil & Gas Co. on the S. P. Long land to the northeast of all former drilling and the line of wells now being drilled by the Mook-Texas Co. and Wakefield, leading into outside territory directly north along the east line of the E. K. Baum tract.

The Prairie company test with a present depth of 1600 feet is virtually within striking distance of the pay and with other outside wells at depth varying from 900 to 1100 feet, the coming week should prove more than ordinarily interesting to the large group of operators who are "playing" the field of land out in that direction.

Proof of the confidence that dominates this development is of record through the fact that the Prairie company is now clearing the site for both locations No. 2 and No. 3 on the Long land, and striking still further east L. G. Bradstreet has cleared the site for location No. 4 on the Walker tract, and preparations are under way to immediately begin moving tools to these locations.

The completion of a small well by the Prairie Oil & Gas Co. on the Webb land at the extreme west edge of the field has failed to reveal any degree of interest in drilling in that section and as forested sections are now in most instances drilled out but little is offered in the way of new work under present conditions in the industry.

The later completion is a direct offset to the Navarro Oil Co. extension well but has shown for only about a 25 barrel pumper, from a depth of about 22 feet of sand drilled in the top stratum.

Reports from the light campaign of scattered drilling in the Cross Plains section credit two completions over the week in that direction. These completions are both near the west edge of the older territory developed and were slightly below average for that territory. One of these wells drilled by E. N. Schaffner on the Henson tract found the sand at the expected 1200 feet depth and drilled a nice volume of sand, but this sand was unusually hard and the present showing does not indicate more than about a 20 barrel pumper.

The other completion is located on an adjacent tract and was drilled by Gilman and associates and is also a comparatively light well.

A number of wildcat operations scattered over sections of the four counties centered by the various fields surrounding Cross Plains are holding a wide interest but none are at a depth at which the various pays are expected.

An unexpected strike of shallow gas in the Forest Oil Co. wildcat located on the J. C. McDermitt school land, about two miles directly south of the outposts of the west Cross Plains field recently created a "furry" among lease owners in that quarter but failed to show in commercial quantity when the sand was drilled.

This sand is probably the same as that found in the west Cross Plains field at similar depth and in that territory in a number of instances it has shown a considerable quantity of oil.

In the Forest Co. wildcat this sand was found at 610 feet and drilled to 622 with a nice volume of gas showing throughout the stratum, but this was later cased off and the test is now at 1100 feet with all formations reported logging in almost exact conformity to the wells in the new field two miles to the north.

The spread of this shallow sand is accepted to indicate that later development will likely open a field somewhere in that vicinity from that horizon and outside acreage is now finding a market due to this strike as well as the favorable information divulged regarding the log of the deeper stratum.

AUTO LICENSE FEES RULED NOT TAXES

AUSTIN, Dec. 2.—Motor vehicle registration fees are not taxes, the attorney general's department held here in an opinion addressed to Comptroller S. H. Terrell. "Article 2549 does not require the tax collector to deposit motor vehicle registration fees in the county depository," the opinion said. "Article 6629, which requires the collector to deposit the county's portion of registration fees in the county depository to the credit of the road and bridge fund is to be construed to mean that the same shall be paid to the county treasurer and deposited to the credit of that fund."

"If the tax collector has failed to make weekly remittances to the state and county each week as required by article 6601 and has deposited the money in the depository or elsewhere and has collected interest on the same, both the state and county are entitled to receive the interest so collected from the time the money was due the state and county," the opinion concludes.

1928 Automobile License Fee Uncollectable Before Jan. 1, Attorney General Ruling Holds

AUSTIN, Dec. 3. — December registration of automobiles for 1928 will not be allowed, it was held Thursday by Assistant Attorney General Paul D. Page, Jr. in answer to inquiries by the Highway Department. The new motor vehicle registration law becomes effective Jan. 1, 1928, and Page held that valid registrations thereunder cannot occur before then.

Tax collectors in practically every county had made preparations to accept motor license payments this month so as to avoid a rush in January. This also is true of headlight testing stations. The collectors, under Page's opinion, are forbidden to take the fees prior to Jan. 1, and on receiving them will apply them as directed by the new law.

The new law gives to the counties 17 1/2 per cent of the horsepower fees and 30 per cent of the weight tax collected, this to go to the county road and bridge fund to be used in the construction and maintenance of lateral roads. The remainder goes to the highway fund. No county may receive more than $50,000 from the weight fees.

Page said it is laudable that tax collectors would expedite the business and avoid congestion by receiving payments of motor taxes by accepting them this month, but that the law does not permit it and they must follow the law. He held that all motor vehicle fees came under the new law giving the counties the percentages named and that all 1928 registrations come under the new law.

The principal change in the law is to give the counties 30 per cent of the weight fees.

As a result of the opinion automobile license plates for 1928 can not be issued before Jan. 1 and the tax collector's offices will be crowded next month. It will take many days to issue the 1,000,000 plates of passenger number plates plus the thousands of plates for commercial cars, trucks, trailers, motorcycles, chauffeurs and tractors.

The highway department also has asked for an opinion on Articles 6982, revised statutes, which fixes fees of tax collectors for collecting motor license taxes. The old law allows 2 per cent commission of all motor fees to collectors in counties of 5,000 motor vehicles or more and 4 per cent in counties with less than 5,000 cars.

The ideal government is one that would make itself unnecessary.

You can't court success by thinking of failure.

FINAL AWARDS MADE IN FIRE PREVENTION CONTEST

Elwin Skiles and Eugene Henderson Of Cisco High School Given Prizes Of $5 Each For Writing Best Essays

The last two prizes in the essay contest conducted by Cisco insurance companies in connection with the recent fire prevention campaign have just been awarded. One went to Eugene Henderson, who was credited with writing the best essay of any student in the tenth and eleventh grade, while the other went to Elwin Skiles for the best essay in the eighth and ninth grades. Prize of $5 went to each, donated by M. D. Paschall & Sons, E. P. Crawford, Connie Davis and J. M. Williamson & Co.

The essay written by Eugene Henderson follows:
 Why should fires be prevented? That is a question anyone can answer in one way or another. A fire is one of the most common events in the United States, for every four minutes a home burns down, averaging 350 houses every 24 hours of the year. The loss of residential fires alone amounts to over $22,538,785 a year. The fire authorities estimate that 72 to 92 per cent is caused by ignorance or carelessness; therefore preventable.

One of the greatest menaces is matches used by smokers, or by children as playthings. Although it is hard to believe, thousands of men smoke in bed, and while lying on the sofa or "draped" over a chair after a hard day's work. When they light the tobacco, the match is thrown carelessly away, or they go to sleep and leave the lighted tobacco where a slight movement will knock it to the floor or on the bedclothes. A few minutes later the fire truck will stop in front of the house, and maybe a man's lifetime work will go up in smoke because of some such carelessness. Never allow a match to leave your hand until the flame is out! Also, always keep the matches out of reach of the youngster's hand. Children always are attracted by a flame; therefore head the list of those injured by fire or burned to death.

Another menace is electricity and gas. When building a home, be sure to see to the wiring yourself. Faulty wiring is a great danger, and is followed closely by the electric iron. Never leave your ironing unless you are absolutely sure the iron is off. Carelessness makes gas a great fire menace. When someone smells escaping gas, his first impulse is to strike a match, or take a lamp and look for the leak. Result: the home is burned or destroyed and the hunter is killed. When you smell gas, open the doors and windows, and if you need a light to find the leak, use an electric torch. Always see that flimsy curtains are not near enough to a burner to blow into the flame and start a conflagration. Always watch the small gas heaters. It is so easy for them to get to near furniture, and either spoil it by scorching it or set it on fire. Because the gas pressure can not be depended upon, watch your fires. It may get so low that they will not burn; when they are out, the pressure may return and fill the house with gas.

The cellar also is a firebox if not handled correctly. Do not allow the cellar to become a rubbish heap. When you are through with old papers and rags, burn them. Do not store them and let them become a menace to your home and happiness. If you have a furnace, keep the flues well regulated. Never go to bed or leave the house with the drafts all on. Never let a pipe that any heat passes through touch any wood.

There is hardly a fire that can not be prevented, if you take only the very ordinary precautions. Think how foolish it is to keep gasoline in a hot room. Do not use cleaning fluid near a stove. Many a fire has been started by a housewife rubbing something being cleaned with gasoline. Use a metal bucket in which to burn your trash or papers. Never burn anything on a windy day. Always keep your oily rags and matches in a metal container. Especially does this apply to the man in the garage. Do not place paper or silk lampshades near the light; they might become heated and ignite. Watch the grease—a small amount of grease will make a big blaze. Inspect your house systematically and regularly for possible sources of danger. If there is a fire do not become hysterical. A little quiet thought will save your home. These are only a few ways that loss by fire can be lowered.

One of the greatest fire menaces is over-insurance. Never tempt yourself or anyone else with over-insurance. If you need a little money, it is so easy to over-insure, build a little fire, and no one be the wiser, yet a little money made.

The insurance people are your best friends. They are trying to preserve you from disaster. Are you going to bite the hand that helps you? Try to abate the evil of over-insurance and you have taken a big step toward lowering the loss by fire.

There are many ways of preventing fires, but "Fire Prevention Week" is one of the best. It teaches the boy and girl to try to prevent them at home and causes them to teach their families how to prevent them. This is only one of the millions of ways that the insurance people are trying to assist you. It shows they are backing you, but are you backing them? Think it over.

EUGENE HENDERSON.

The essay written by Elwin Skiles was as follows:

For a number of years, the people of the United States have observed the second week in October as fire prevention week. During the week, the cities and towns foster clean up campaigns, and the papers print much information about the causes and prevention of fires.

More than six hundred million dollars of the fire loss is caused by carelessness with matches, cigarettes, and imperfect electric wiring. This amount which could be saved, would, in a few years, pay the cost of our national building program, power irrigation, canals from lakes to ocean, and the Mississippi flood control.

The causes of fire are the use of gasoline for cleaning purposes, kerosene, spontaneous combustion, defective flues and rubbish around houses. High grass and weeds in alleys and vacant lots are one of the greatest fire hazards. Statistics show that November is the month in which fires are most prevalent. In this month the grass and weeds become dry and are easily inflamed by burning trash.

The cause of fire that is producing the greatest concern in the present fire prevention observance is that of over-insurance. Property owners insure for full value or more, and then neglect the fire precautions. They fail to think of their neighbor's property and of the lives endangered. Often times people who own rent houses and are unsuccessful in finding tenants, secure the highest amount of insurance possible and then burn the property. Over-insurance should be discouraged by law. If people guilty of arson were punished by imprisonment, there would be fewer cases of arson. People who neglect fire precaution should be de-

DO YOU ADMIRE A PIMPLY FACE?

People today look upon an unsightly skin as an evidence of carelessness and neglect; and the person who goes around with a face covered in pimples, or other displeasing skin irritations, is apt to lose friends rather than make them.

If you want a clear, healthy skin ask your druggist for Black and White Ointment and use it according to directions. It is pleasant to use, highly beneficial and scientifically safe.

For best results use Black and White Skin Soap with Black and White Ointment. All dealers sell them at small cost.

nied the protection of insurance for a certain number of years. If insurance companies would be more careful in allowing property to be too heavily insured it would not only prevent a great many fires and save many lives but would protect all property owners against a high rate of insurance.

In the answer to fire prevention, we must look beyond the fire houses of every community, where equipment, training and courage are ready to make a united stand against fire. They can do the work of fighting fire, but they cannot do the more important work of preventing it. That is up to the individual citizen, and that is where the answer to America's fire problems lies.

LINCOLN — FORD — FORDSON

SMITH REPLIES TO DRY GROUP

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 3.—For the first time since he has been prominently mentioned as a Democratic presidential possibility, Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York state broke his silence on the prohibition question by declaring that although he stands for "enforcement of all laws," he sees "no reason why any group of voters should not oppose the Federal prohibition statute."

The governor's declaration made at the annual convention dinner of the New York State League of Women Voters, was in answer to a resolution adopted by the Nassau County branch of the League condemning organized opposition to the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act, and urging "respect for an obedience to law."

"What's wrong about that?" asked the governor after he had read the section of the resolution referring to organization of a group to oppose the prohibition laws. "Is there any reason why the opposition should not organize? Is there any question about the solidity, force and effectiveness of the forces on the other side of the question, when by their own announcement they will require $5,000,000 for their work in the next five years?"

Right to Oppose

"It is the right of our people to organize to oppose any law and any part of the Constitution with which they are not in sympathy. I have taken an oath of office as Assemblyman, as sheriff of New York County and four times as governor to sustain the Constitution of the State of New York, and yet there are parts of it I hate. I have promised to sustain it, but I have not promised to give up any right to oppose any part of it I don't like."

Glancing down at the copy of the Nassau County League's resolution, the governor then quoted: "Respect for and obedience to law is vital for the preservation of any form of government."

With characteristic Smith explosiveness, the governor broke in with his own comment: "This is so fundamental that nobody differs with it. Any well organized government must rest upon that principle."

Quoting again from the resolution, Governor Smith went on: "And nullification is being preached by those in authority."

"I would like the specifications of that," he continued. "It's news to me. I have no record of public expression by any one in this state who has preached a doctrine of nullification of the Constitution. Certainly I never preached it—I took directly the opposite view."

Conference Recalled.

The governor then recalled that in the Fall of 1923 he had attended, with the governors of several other states the conference at Washington called by President Coolidge to discuss law enforcement.

"We had a perfectly delightful time; a luncheon at the White House with fine Maryland chicken and all the trimmings," he said. "All the different governors of the states made speeches—oh, how vigorous they were for law enforcement—but they were all made for the record, for the folks back home."

"The suggestion was made that each executive call all his law enforcement officers to his capital and warn them that the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act were a part of the law and that it was their sacred obligation to enforce them. We left Washington. I came back here and filled the assembly chamber with law enforcement officers, and carried out exactly the sentiment of the Washington conference. Six months later I learned to my surprise that I was only one of two governors who carried out the resolution."

Presidency Mentioned.

In the governor's address, the most vigorous he has given on topics of national interest in recent months was seen a definite bid for the unreserved support of the women of New York state if he becomes a national figure next year, for several times he referred, although laughingly, to recent mention of his presidential availability.

The first such reference came at the outset of his address when a brief introduction caught him

Amusements

"BEN HUR" EMBODIES THE GLORY OF ROME

"Ben Hur," the $1,000,000 picture which will be presented at the Palace theater beginning Tuesday portrays the glory of the ancient Romans with a magnitude and magnificence unequalled by any previous spectacle of stage or screen.

The Romans excelled in war, athletic prowess, and speed contests on the chariot race course. In the first-named, "Ben Hur" shows a sea battle off Nisennus, in which more than a hundred Greek and Roman ships are engaged. The Romans defeat the Greeks, but not without the loss of the head of the fleet of the practical Greeks who run and board the ships, kill the crew, then set fire to the disabled, sinking craft. This is the most terrifying action ever shown in a picture.

For race track thrills, nothing can compare with the great chariot race scene. In the Roman mode a chariot course was built with half mile laps, and this was surrounded by a Circus Maximus with a seating capacity of 100,000 spectators, the whole crowded by great gladiatorial figures in the heroic style of sculpture and ornaments with Roman eagles, warriors and amazons by the artists Carmelo Barbara and Carlos Monzelli.

Twelve quadrigas or four-horse chariots enter the race, which is seven times around the course. Midway there is a wreck, in which several of the teams, drivers and chariots are piled one upon another. It is Ben Hur and Messala's race-duel toward the finish. Messala's wheel is torn off, he is smashed between his chariot and his team. The other goes on to win amid the plaudits of the vast crowd.

The grandeur and accuracy of the above scene—as well as of the entire story in its faithful depiction of Roman triumphs, Roman legends and Roman civilization—are due to the fact that Marcus Loew, the famous head of the Loew theaters and of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film concern which produced the picture, sent the entire company, the technical staff and the directors to Italy, which is the source of information as well as the locale of that period of civilization.

PROGRAM FOR ROUSSEAU IS MADE PUBLIC

Program for the concert of Charles Rousseau, baritone who will present "Rhapsodies from many nations' musical world" at Randolph college Monday evening at 8:15, was announced Saturday by Thomas Reid, dean of the Randolph college department of fine arts, sponsoring the program. Best folk songs from many nations will make the evening's entertainment which is expected to attract a large crowd. Rousseau, kinsman of the famous Frenchman of the same name, did great work during the world war, not only as a soldier but as entertainer of soldiers, a work which attracted attention, and finally resulted in his debut with the Chicago Grand Opera company. Following is his program as announced:

- I. Serenade (from the opera "Don Giovanni")—Mozart. Whither—Schubert. Second Fillette (from French pastorales 1765) arranged by Weckerlin. II. Folk songs unusual. Wraggle Taggle Gypsies, O!—English. Dabbling in the Dew (Old Cornish)—English. Lord Lovel (Ballad)—English. Kitty of Coleraine (Milkmaid's song)—Irish. Rory O'Moore—Irish. III. Ballinberry (Old Celtic Walling song). Troika (Gypsy Song, Tolstoi collection)—Russian. Volga Boat Song—Russian. Mother Heart—Finnish. On the Bridge of Treguer—Irish. Oye of the Grape (Britanny). IV. It is Enough (from Oratorio "Jah")—Mendelssohn. V. Largo of Factotum (from opera "The Barber of Seville")—Rossini.

CHAPTER XIV—Continued... Four big, square jawed huskies slipped into the room and arming themselves with heavy "persaders" which the banderol gave them.

The brawl was soon over... The Chinese manager came over to Dolores and Terry where they were standing by the wall and said, "Me velly sorry about fight."

"You tell us this thing—why?" questioned Lu Fong.

Dolores lunged for the serene beauty of the hacienda and would have left Lu Fong's and the haunts of Frisco, never to return.

CHAPTER XV Dolores and Terry Are Kidnapped.

Going down a short flight of heavily carpeted stairs, on which their feet sank into the cushion pads and made no sound, Dolores and Terry crossed a dimly lighted hallway, stuffy with oriental furnishings.

No sooner had his tapping code stopped than a white and black shadow appeared. He and the manager exchanged scarcely perceptible nods of understanding.

"Terry, I am afraid," whispered Dolores. She was trembling. "Oh, these Chinamen always have a lot of mystery about everything they do, but wait until they hear what we have to say—they wouldn't hurt us for the world."

The door could not open from the outside, therefore it had no knob or lock, but presently it slid into the wall so quietly that Terry and Dolores were not conscious of its opening.

New Ford Car Goes on Display Here Next Wednesday; Fifteen Hundred View Pictures in Cisco

New Ford car will be on display at the House Motor company showroom Wednesday, December 7. It was announced Saturday by A. D. Anderson, manager.

A complete description of the new Ford automobiles was made public in Cisco Friday. When the reception closed at 10 o'clock Friday night it was estimated that fifteen hundred people had visited the show rooms and learned the details of this revolutionary car which is to succeed the famous Model T.

Visitors to the showrooms Friday night included city officials, heads of civic, commercial and professional organizations and many prominent business men. The entire sales force of the local dealer was kept busy throughout the day and evening, pointing out the new features of this new car which Henry Ford himself has described as being superior in design and performance to any now available in the low price, light car field.

Even before the display rooms were opened at 8 o'clock, there was a line of visitors on hand to be the first to get the story of the new cars. On all sides were heard comments of surprise at the striking change in the appearance of this new Ford line.

Attendees at the display rooms were overwhelmed with requests for private demonstrations of the new models and it is expected that the demand for such demonstrations will continue for weeks to come.

Ford factories at Detroit and branch plants in other sections of the country are now preparing for capacity production and it is expected that all dealers will be able to meet the demand in full within the next few weeks.

The design of the new line is so distinctly different from that of the Model T that the Detroit factory and branch plants have had to undergo a complete equipment change to produce the new cars.

The Chinese manager came over to Dolores and Terry where they were standing by the wall and said, "Me velly sorry about fight. You come now. Me take you see Lu Fong."

BIGGEST DOPE HAUL IN YEARS AT RANGER

RANGER, Dec. 3.—The biggest narcotic haul ever made in Ranger was made by Policeman S. E. Vire, when he arrested a man believed to be H. H. Harsha, following the alleged robbery of the narcotic vault of the Paramount pharmacy, and captured narcotics valued at between $6,000 and $7,000.

A man about 35 years old walked into the Paramount pharmacy and asked to buy a bottle of iodine. He was served by Van A. Parnum, and when he left the shadow falling across the narcotic case opposite where he was supposed to be applying the iodine. In an instant his suspicious were aroused and he reached the back just as the man was in the act of locking the case door with a skeleton key. The man instantly ran and was on the way down Main street to where his car, a late model Peerless coupe, was parked on North Rusk street, near the Ranger State bank, when Policeman Vire, who was at the shine parlor in the rear of the hotel, got the alarm and started chase, capturing him just before he reached his car.

He was brought to the police station and when examined $814 in cash was found on his person and several hundred dollars worth of dope. He attempted to throw away the cocaine and morphine taken from the Paramount Pharmacy and some of it was found in the weeds and grass near his car later on.

The car was an arsenal. When the doors were unlocked a loaded automatic shot gun and a loaded Derringer was found in it, as well as three pieces of luggage, a small satchel, a large case and a traveling bag, as well as a hat cutter, a sledge hammer and various other tools and several thousand dollars worth of narcotics, a complete hypodermic, ammunition for gun, needles and field glasses. The traveling bag contained in addition to dope, articles of masculine and feminine apparel, all of fine material, and all heavy with the odor of Naxos perfume.

Give Her the World's Chance

JUST two bright keys in a dainty jewel case! But no Christmas package ever held a greater treasure of happiness—for out in the drive stands a smart, trim Studebaker Commander—and those keys make it her own.

What pleasure you'll take in giving her this world-champion motor car—the car that climaxed its championship career by traveling 25,000 miles in less than 23,000 minutes! This dramatic run was made by strictly stock Studebaker Commanders under the supervision of the American Automobile Association. Nothing else on earth ever traveled so far so fast.

Neither she nor you may be interested in the high speed which The Commander is able to maintain for long distances. But you are interested in the sturdy design which made possible better than a mile a minute for a distance equivalent to a circuit of the world. Such stamina spells utmost reliability on your trips across town or across the continent. It means superlative service.

Drop in today at Commander will be your Christmas morn no one's wife will be yours!
