NUMBER 10

TEXAS

By WILL H. MAYES, Austin.

HOUSTON SETS PACE.—Houston has raised its quota of $300,000 for the entertainment of the National Democratic convention, completing the drive since Feb. 13. An additional $50,000 will be raised there by the sale of convention buttons. Houston has a way of doing big things that will prove as pleasing to convention visitors as it is to Texans.

CONFERENCE "EMINENT SUCCESS."—Returning to Texas from the Southern States Cotton Conference, Governor Moody called the meeting an "eminent success," and appointed former Lieutenant Governor W. T. Davidson, formerly of Marshall, now of Dallas, to head the outlined work in Texas. It is understood that Governor Davidson will get busy at once to bring every possible influence to bear to reduce the Texas cotton acreage.

ASKS FEDERAL AID.—Governor Moody has appealed to Congressman J. P. Buchanan, a member of the House Appropriations committee of Congress for Federal aid in paying the ultimate cost of fighting the pink boll worm in West Texas. In a telegram to Buchanan, Moody declared that "the farmers of Texas are not responsible for the spread of the pest and should be compensated fully for any damage suffered."

The pink boll worm is said to have been found in seven counties already and, according to Moody, the cost of the extermination may reach $2,000,000.

OPPOSE NON-COTTON ZONING.—Pecos Valley farmers and business organizations are making a strong fight against any zoning system that will prohibit the planting of cotton in that section as a means of exterminating the pink boll worm pest. They insist that although the worm has been found in that section for the past eight years no appreciable damage has been done and very little increase has been noticed. This assertion opens up an interesting subject of discussion.

NOT FIGHTING WILD GAME.—Governor Moody is too busy to accept the invitation of San Antonio and other South Texas friends to go to Mexico and fight "wild game" with them. Just now his attention appears to be centered in watching the movements of the domesticated kind in Texas.

UNIVERSITY BUILDING PLAN.—Members of the University of Texas board of regents are considering a large building project to care for the rapidly growing needs of that institution. The plan considered is to effect loans against the income received each year as interest on investments in the permanent fund, gradually retiring the loans.

The active campaign of the students' organization to raise a fund by subscription to erect a community house and a men's and women's gymnasium will begin March 2. These buildings, one of which is to contain a large auditorium, will cost approximately $1,250,000.

WOMAN PREACHER DENIED HALL.—Miss Maude Royden, the "smoking evangelist," of London, who has international fame both as a religious leader and a smoker, who is coming to Dallas next month under the auspices of the Dallas Y. W. C. A., and the Civic Federation, has been denied the use of a hall on the Southern Methodist University campus, and will therefore speak at the Fair Park auditorium.

The campus hall was denied the visitor after much publicity was given throughout the country to the fact that Miss Royden "smokes in private." The president of the university objected to the use of the hall for that reason.

Dr. Umphrey Lee, pastor of a Dallas Methodist church, although not commenting on this action of the university, stated in the press that "Miss Royden deserves the courtesy that we gladly extend to other distinguished visitors."

EDINBURG COLLEGE RECORD.—Although Edinburg (Texas) college is in its first year it has drawn students from nine states outside of Texas, thus showing the cosmopolitan population of that section of Texas.

HILL'S TRIAL SET TO COME UP MARCH 19

The case of the State vs. Robert Hill, charged with complicity in the bandit raids on the First National bank of Cisco, last December, has been set for trial on March 19, and a special venire of 250 men ordered from which to select the jury.

Hill is charged with robbery with fire arms in two cases, also with murder in connection with the shooting to death of Police Chief Bit Bedford and Officer George Carmichael, the former being killed in a battle with the robbers, the latter dying later from wounds received at the time. He is represented by Attorney L. H. Flewelling of Ranger, he having been appointed by the court for the defense.

When arraigned some time ago, Hill pleaded guilty, and it is presumed he will reiterate the plea and give the death penalty by the jury which heard his case last week. The verdict was rendered Sunday morning, Judge Davenport has not yet set the date for hearing arguments for the new trial.

50 NEW LIONS IN JUNGLE AT CROSS PLAINS

The Cisco Lions club sponsored the organization of a club of 50 of the liveliest roaring lions, perhaps ever tamed under one roof when a delegation went to Cross Plains Monday night where the new jungle was instituted in the Presbyterian church in that place. Judge N. N. Rosenquist, district governor of the Lions International, and Field Organizer Galloway functioned in their respective capacities, during the installation of the club officiating in the installation. After the installation the visitors and newly made Lions were banqueted in the church building, the ladies of the Presbyterian church serving the feast.

The feature address of the occasion was made by District Governor Rosenquist, who spoke on "What It Means to Be a Lion." Talks were also made by the following from Cisco: Lions K. H. Pittard, Clayton Orin, P. T. Stanford and W. H. LaRoue, in addition to a large number of Cross Plains clubs.

Those attending from the Cisco club and participating in the initiation of the club were Lions K. H. Pittard, Ed Wilkinson, W. L. Stephen, W. H. LaRoue, Dr. Charles Lee, Rev. P. T. Stanford and Clayton Orin.

The club meets every Tuesday.

Randolph-McMurry Girls Play Tonight

Coach Garrett, in charge of athletics at Randolph college, announces that the Badger Kittens, the girls' basketball team of that institution, will play the girls from McMurry college of Abilene in the college gym tonight. The game will start at 7:30. These Kittens have been going good this season, and also the McMurry girls have some exceptionally good wins to their credit. This game tonight should be a good one.

10,000 Motor Cars Pay License Taxes

Tax Collector A. M. Hearn reports the number of motor cars registered in Eastland county to be 10,000, in round numbers. Mr. Hearn stated the list had not yet been accurately compiled, but would reach that number and probably a few more.

DEMS TO MEET AT BEAUMONT IN CONVENTION

AUSTIN, Feb. 28.—Beaumont was chosen as the convention city in which to hold the state Democratic convention next May, by the state executive committee of the party, in session in Austin today.

TEXAS EXES TO STAGE ANNUAL MEET MARCH 2

The Oil Belt association of Texas Exes will hold their annual meeting and banquet Friday evening at Beaumont according to announcement of Harry Brelsford, president of the association, and plans are being made to make the event this year one of the most elaborate yet held. It is not known how many of the Cisco Exes will attend the banquet, but it is probable that there will be a large delegation, as they are known to be 40 Texas Exes in Cisco at this time. At the meeting Friday evening a part of the program will be the annual election of officers.

The March 2nd banquets have been the general order for all ex-students' clubs since members of the ex-student association adopted a resolution that wherever two or more ex-students of the University of Texas should meet on Texas Independence Day they should "sit and break bread together" and honor the founders of the Republic of Texas who made their education possible. For many years meetings have been held throughout Texas, in larger cities of the United States and in world centers.

The Oil Belt association of Texas Exes was organized at Eastland four years ago. Since then the annual meetings have been held in turn at Breckenridge, Cisco and Ranger, the other towns included in the association. This year an invitation has also been extended to the alumni of Mineral Wells to attend the banquet at Eastland and they have accepted.

Leon Maner, one of the active Texas Exes of Cisco, stated this morning that the matter had not been discussed formally among the Cisco alumni, and no tickets had been sent here by those having the banquet arrangements in hand, but it was probable that Cisco would be well represented.

At one time there was about 75 exes living in Cisco, but many have moved away, while others are temporarily absent, and others may be still living here, but so far as it has been able to check the list there are only 40 known to be in Cisco at this time. Following is the list of Texas Exes known to be here:

G. J. Russell, Juanita St. John, W. F. St. John, Mrs. T. L. Shepherd, Ruby Swift, C. B. Williams, Mrs. C. B. Williams, Hattie M. Williams, T. C. Williams, M. C. Williamson, F. D. Wright, Mrs. F. D. Wright, T. F. Petty, Dr. J. D. Ball, Mrs. D. Ball, Pearlie E. Barker, Frances Baugh, F. A. Blankenbecker, Mrs. F. A. Blankenbecker, Mrs. J. R. Burnett, Mrs. J. J. Butts, Mary Jane Butts, G. O. Cate, J. Lee Cearley, Dr. P. E. Clark, Mrs. Guy Dabney, Mrs. Caroline Garrett, Mrs. R. E. Grantham, Dr. E. L. Graham, Dr. J. E. Griffin, Mrs. J. E. Griffin, Mrs. E. E. Kean, Sarah Lee, Theresa Lee, J. H. Malone, Leon G. Maner, Mrs. A. J. Olson, Mrs. Crigler Paschall, Burette W. Patterson, W. H. Powell.

Less Than 10,000 Poll Taxes Paid

According to Tax Collector A. M. Hearn, the voting strength of Eastland county, as revealed by compilations of poll tax receipts and exemption certificates issued, will be less than 10,000. Mr. Hearn stated that the records show this year's total to be 9,032, including 503 exemption certificates. This total is 500 greater than the total for the county two years ago. The figures are now being compiled showing poll tax payments in each of the several precincts of the county.

CREAM ROUTE MEET PLANNED FOR SCRANTON

A meeting has been called by the Cisco chamber of commerce and County Agent J. C. Patterson to be held at Scranton tomorrow (Wednesday) night to discuss the matter of instituting a cream route for that section of the county, and to further the interests of dairymen generally.

It is stated that the establishment of the proposed route will mean an increase of around 10 cents per pound in butter fat over the price now paid for sour cream. It will be the plan to ascertain the number of cows from which butter fat is available in that section, and which would be gathered daily by the truck to be installed.

The placing of another fine Jersey bull or two in the Scranton and Nimrod communities will also be gone over, in the hope that they may be contracted for and included in the shipment soon to move from South Texas, where the committee recently purchased several bulls for the Cisco country. Everyone at all interested in the advancement of the movement in those communities is invited to attend this meeting.

The demand was met with a fusillade of shots, one of which fatally wounded Dawson.

Austin college, who was found unconscious this morning in the woods back of the school. He was kidnapped by three men in an automobile last night, he said when he regained consciousness. It is believed that football rivalry is the motive for the crime.

AUSTIN, Feb. 28.—The Texas railroad commission, acting for the interstate commerce commission, is today conducting a hearing on the application of the Texas & Pacific railroad for permission to build a line from Monahans, in Ward county, to the New Mexico line, via Kermit in Winkler county. Kermit offered a bonus of $300,000 for the road to built by that place, while Pryor offered to vote $600,000 bond issues, and Wink $300,000 bond issues for good roads in order to secure the new line of railroad.

55TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY CISCO COUPLE

Monday, February 27, 1928, was the 55th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Johnson, which was quietly observed at their home at 200 West Eighteenth street in this city. Mr. Johnson, who will be 85 years of age next December, was born near Appomattox, Court House, Virginia, December 2, 1845, enlisted in the Confederate army at the age of 15, and served under the immortal Robert E. Lee in the war between the states for the four years of that fratricidal strife. Mrs. Johnson was born in 1858, and the couple were married at Bosque county February 27, 1873, and moved to Cisco in 1881, where they have continuously resided since. There was born to this couple 15 children, 10 of whom are living. The 55th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson was not featured by any celebration other than a quiet dinner with some of their children and grandchildren present.

Odie Mitchell is in Graham Sanitarium Suffering With a Broken Back; Auto Collision

Odie Mitchell, about 20 years of age, whose home is at Ackley, Texas, was carried to the Graham sanitarium this morning with his back broken. The man was injured in an automobile collision on the highway near Nimrod, caused by striking another car that backed into the highway just when Mitchell was attempting to pass.

The other car was parked on the wrong side of the road, reports to the Daily News stated, presumably to replenish the radiator with water, as there was a water hole near by. Mitchell attempted to pass the car when it is said to have backed into the highway, resulting in a collision of the two machines, and the Mitchell car being thrown into the ditch. The other car was said to have been driven by a man named Cosart, but his initials were not learned.

The attending surgeon stated this afternoon that Mitchell's injuries were not necessarily of such a serious nature as would preclude his recovery, and it was expected that his injuries would be healed after the proper time had elapsed. Mitchell was in this section visiting his sister, Mrs. Scott, who lives in the Sabanno community.

BUTLER'S FREE AND EASY

A man named Butler once operated a low-down dive, which was distinctive among its kind in that it was one of the worst of its kind. The place was located in a basement, the floors were concrete, the walls were concrete, the furniture was too sturdy to be thrown around—the legs could not be yanked off the chairs and tables with the naked hands. The piano was enclosed in a cage made of lumber two inches thick and four inches wide. The pianist when on duty kept the door locked on the inside, to save the instrument and himself from destruction—and he wasn't particularly atrocious performer, either.

One of the local papers had much to say about Butler's establishment. It never lost an opportunity to refer to the place as a den of iniquity. Every time someone down there got his skull cracked with a beer bottle, or was shot up, or cut down—and that was not infrequent—this publication played up the details prominently.

One day Butler called on the editor of the newspaper referred to. Distress was written plainly on his countenance:

"You are breaking my old mother's heart," he said abruptly in glum tones. "She lives up yonder in Thomasville, and she takes your paper. Every time she reads the stuff you print about me and my business, she gets so worried it makes her sick."

"I love my dear old mother," went on Butler, his eyes filling and his voice breaking. "I reckon you've got a mother that you love, too. So I ask you—man to man—not to bring my poor old mother's gray hairs in sorrow to the grave, printing things about me that make her unhappy."

The editor, who was a practical sort of chap, suggested that one way out would be for Butler to conduct his establishment along the lines of decency—if that were possible, and if not to get into some business that could be conducted decently. But Butler seemed unable to catch the idea. Plainly disappointed, he took his departure, sadly shaking his head from side to side.

The world is overstocked with folks who regard their difficulties as Butler did his. They consistently blame their troubles on other folks or other things.

George Remus, the millionaire bootlegger and wife killer, who is now in the booby hatch trying to convince a dubious court that he is a safe, sane and sound citizen, declared with tears running down his face, that the Volstead law is responsible for all of his troubles—and so it is, for Remus got to where he is through violating the prohibition law. Remus' logic was right as far as it went.

The man who is hateful to his wife complains about the general cussedness of women. And the woman who neglects her home wails about the indifference of husbands. The chap who has idled his way through life, and spent every dime he happened to make, accuses the world of not giving him his share.

Anybody can obtain a square deal by giving a square deal. We get back what we give out, and that lesson seems to be the hardest of all for the human being to get into his head.

SHIPS WITHOUT SMOKESTACKS

An interesting example of the influence of habit and custom is found in the construction of modern motor ships. Neither oil-burning nor motor ships need funnels such as the coal-burning steamship requires. Yet, because ships have had smokestacks all these years, everybody has come to regard the funnel as a fundamental part of the boat. For quite a while marine designers have used dummy funnels on such boats as the Leviathan and Majestic, oil-burners, and the Gripsholm and Astoria, motor ships. Now, however, in defiance of custom and expectation, a new boat, the Saturnia, has been built without funnels. Instead she has "a large stream-line mound rising out of her decks, elliptical in form and painted with the colors of her owners." This is a daring innovation. Yet it probably won't be as long as most of us think until funnels on boats look as peculiar as their absence looks today.

COMMONPLACE PSYCHIATRY

If there were back stairs to his office, a psychiatrist told a group of friends, nine-tenths of his patients would enter and depart by those stairs. That is because the public still has the idea that there is something shameful about mental maladjustments. There is no more disgrace in most of the mental ailments that come to his attention than in a sprained ankle or a case of the measles, he added. The psychiatrist and psychoanalysts have not yet learned all there is to know about the human mind, its ills and their causes. It is even possible that some of the things they think they know today may be proved wrong tomorrow. Yet the wisest of them are doing very helpful work in straightening out many tangles in human lives and helping people to be happier and more efficient in their jobs. When psychiatry has become a commonplace thing, so that people cease to regard it as new and exciting, it will undoubtedly settle into as sound and serviceable a profession as surgery and medicine are now.

WEATHER AND NEWS

The editor of the Emporia (Kan.) Gazette tells entertainingly how hard it is for a reporter from southern California to realize that in Kansas "weather is news." When a loyal reader calls up the newspaper office and says she's just seen the first redbird of the season, the reporter thinks she's crazy, or else joking. When it finally dawns on him that the paper really wants the item, he says, "Gosh, this is a queer country!" In southern California, Florida and other sections where the weather is fairly static, it's taken as a matter of course. Weather may be climate, and therefore an asset, but not news. In regions of variable weather, where temperature, wind and humidity are always leading the population a merry dance, determining business, recreation, dress and personal comfort, weather most emphatically is news. There is no other news in the paper so widely sought and read.

COAST TO COAST BY AIR

A short time ago the number of private citizens who had crossed the continent by air as paying passengers was small enough to count with the fingers of one hand. That isn't going to be true much longer. Will Rogers is probably the most famous of these early transcontinental passengers. As word gets about that the trip is well worth its cost both as an experience and as a clean and comfortable means of time-saving travel, there will be more passengers than the mail planes can accommodate. Then there will be passenger air fleets. The daughter of a Nevada judge made this trip the other day and caused little more comment than a brief statement of the fact in the newspapers of the cities in which she stopped. Such journeys may always make items for a society page, but they'll not be news much longer.

WHAT A MAID DID

Wonderful is the way of a man with a maid, says King Solomon. And Solomon ought to know. But the way of a man with a maid is rather wonderful, too.

A maid announced to her mistress that she was going to get married.

"Very well, Evelyn," said the mistress who was fond of her maid. "You can be married right here in my house if you want to."

The maid wanted to. She invited all of her friends and the groom's friends. Some of the mistress's friends came, too. They liked the maid; besides they wanted to see how the thing would be done.

It was done up brown. There was an orchestra and a caterer and a wedding supper, a bower with a marriage bell and everything. But the bride was what knocked out the company's eye. She had a white silk gown, a bridal veil, orange blossoms, white satin slippers, and a train—and she kicked that train around with as much facility as though she had been born with it. Had she been bred in high society she could not have gone over bigger.

In her capacity of servant she had seen fashionable weddings and memorized the behavior of the brides. As the couple stood under the ceremony Evelyn won more admiration by the grace and poise with which she received the congratulations.

The groom did not do so well. He was about as happy as a wet dog in a cold wind. He twisted his neck around like a turkey gobbler. He shifted his feet, flopped his hands, squirmed in his hired full dress suit. He mumbled inarticulate phrases, and silently prayed the Lord to see him through. He was a piece-worker in a shoe factory.

As Evelyn went up stairs to dress for the wedding journey she tripped along with her train over her arm. Half way up she turned—she was a pretty girl—and flashed a dazzling smile over her shoulder at the guests, causing one male person to ejaculate fervently "Hot dawg!" The groom fell up stairs.

Evelyn was certainly playing the game. When she came down in her traveling suit her arms were full of flowers. She stopped on the landing and graciously threw her bouquet to the women. The groom fell down from somewhere, and they were off.

After the honeymoon Evelyn said to her man, "Bill, you ought to be a foreman."

"Aw, I don't know enough to be a foreman," protested Bill.

But Evelyn put an advertisement in the paper: "Wanted—position as foreman in a shoe factory by thoroughly experienced man."

and boarded and cared for them at $2 much per month which helped meet the payments on the bungalow.

There is no need to go on with this tale. You know the finale. Bill has a shoe factory of his own now and he is worth about $250,000. I could tell you his name but there is no sense in reviving facts that Evelyn's debaucheré daughters might not care to have agitated.

GOLFERS PLAN BIG TIME FOR FRIDAY NIGHT

It will be remembered that an announcement was made in these columns recently of a golf match to be played last Sunday on the grounds of the Cisco Country Club. The contest created quite a lot of interest, since the loser in the match was to entertain the other section of players with their wives in banquet and dance at the club house.

Jeff Duncan's team lost to that of Jack Kelly, so the Duncan aggregation is to be host at the meeting Friday evening. All golfers who did not attend and take part in Sunday's game are urged to be present Friday evening and take part in this get-together meet. It will be worth while, so Mr. Duncan says. There will be a charge of 40 cents per plate, and it is necessary that those who plan to attend get into communication with either Mr. Duncan or Jack Kelly, so arrangements may be made to accommodate every visitor.

The evening's entertainment will consist of bridge, refreshments and music. A talk on "Don'ts While on the Golf Course" will be delivered, which should be of intense interest to all golfers, as will also be the talk on the rules. Every man interested in golf is urged to be present.

The lineup of teams playing last Sunday was as follows: Jack Kelly lost to Jeff Duncan. Nick Miller won over Doc Sauter. J. R. Almond won over J. P. Goyen. G. B. Kelly won over George Simpson. Guy Dabney lost to M. C. Williamson. Don Sivalls won over Jim Tichenor. G. B. Lundy won over G. H. Fincher. Ed Keonsh won over W. J. Foxworth. J. W. Lewis lost to P. Braum. Jimmie West lost to Paul Woods.

STYLE HINTS

By ALICE LANGELEIR International News Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, Feb. 27.—Furs seem to remain as much a part of the fashions for the spring season as for any other. They are now an important part of the collections of the large houses and are being shown together with fresh spring frocks and filmy clothes for summer.

Baby lamb in beige or gray with collar and cuffs of fox dyed to match promises to be a favorite for early spring days. A coat of Hudson seal has a collar and bands down the front of gray fox, and another of the same dark fur has a wide collar of white ermine and five full bands of the same fur on the lower part of the sleeve.

Clever working of the fur is seen in a coat of curving stripes of summer and winter ermine. A black astrakhan has striking sleeves of ermine in flaring circular flounces. A mink coat has two large circular motifs of the skirt which are repeated on the deep cuffs.

The silhouette for daytime coats is generally made more ample at the top with exquisite shawl collars of a contrasting fur. Broadtail, seal, mink, shaved lamb, astrakhan and ermine are the most used, worked into motifs of geometric designs. For evening there are lovely chin-chilla capes.

Lucien Lelong is showing several charming satin cloaks with great cavalier cuffs of white fur. There is rarely a collar, and fur is seldom put about the bottom.

OIL LEASING NOW IN NAVY'S HANDS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—President Coolidge today signed the bill restoring to the secretary of the navy all power over oil and gas leases, superseding the present law which granted the secretary of the interior wide powers in that connection. The new bill is the outgrowth of the recent naval oil reserve scandals.

Mrs. Fields' Followers Protest Federation Committee's Action; Form New Women's Club Council

DALLAS, Feb. 28. — Friends of Mrs. J. U. Fields, dissatisfied with the recent action of the General Federation of Women's clubs and that of the Texas Federation board here Monday in recognizing Mrs. Henry Drought of San Antonio as sole chairman of the biennial arrangements committee, organized the Council of Texas Women Monday night and sent a telegram expressing their dissatisfaction to Mrs. John D. Sherman, general president.

The council was formed by some club women representing many others over the state, who came to Dallas to seek information from the state board Monday.

This committee was not admitted to the board session except to state its cause, which it did through its chairman, Mrs. J. C. A. Guest of Wichita Falls.

Members of the committee not being permitted to listen to the discussion on the chairmanship question, the members felt that they had not received the desired information or consideration from the board and immediately following the board's adjournment proceeded to form the council with Mrs. J. W. Fincher of Houston as chairman, it was announced.

The object of this council, its leaders stated, is to promote democratic principles among the women of Texas.

TEXAS CLUB WOMEN SEND IN PROTESTS.

Mrs. J. W. Fincher, Houston, read telegrams from clubwomen protesting the action of the general federation board. Mrs. Fincher said that the messages were expressions from more than 1,000 clubwomen of Texas.

"The voice of the women of Texas is greater than any body of 75 members of an executive board," Mrs. Fincher said.

Mrs. Lee Joseph, Austin, plead for "charitable consideration of two apparently irreconcilable views."

"May I call your attention to the fact that the Texas Federation has no jurisdiction over the point at issue?" Mrs. Joseph said.

"The constitution of the State Federation gives the power over the biennial to the general federation. Therefore no action of this board in this matter will be binding." The same point was reiterated by a number of speakers.

Mrs. J. L. Lovejoy, McKinney, made a plea for Mrs. Fields, asking that she be given a hearing. "The lowest criminal in our land is allotted that privilege," she said.

Mrs. D. L. Stephens, Anson, repeatedly brought up the question of "State's rights," calling to the attention of the body that if the General Federation could take this action it could in other ways nullify action of the Texas State board. This was refuted by general federation leaders and their explanation seemed to meet with favor of the body.

Mrs. Fields' closing words to the convention before the vote was taken were, "Should the general federation allow the one condemned a hearing?" She set forth her position in detail, declaring that she knew nothing of the displeasure of the general federation board with her work as chairman until she received the telegram asking her to resign.

"If these Texas women who are on the board knew this why did they not tell me?" she asked repeatedly.

Mrs. Barry answered giving dates of telegrams received and specific communication with Mrs. John D. Sherman, national president.

Mrs. Florence summed up the general federation's reasons for dismissing Mrs. Fields with: "On Dec. 19, 1927, there was less than $500 in the treasury to finance the biennial convention. There were no plans. There was no money and Mrs. Fields had said that if Mrs. Potter were elected president of the Texas Federation, the biennial would be a failure. The executive committee of the general federation is responsible for the biennial. Faced with these facts, it took the action it thought best."

LOBO-EAGLE TITLE CLASH COMING SOON

Cisco Loboes and Abilene Eagles playing with a championship at stake. Enough said. The fan who knows anything about athletics in this district knows that this means a real battle. Thursday night the Loboes will meet the Abilene team in Cisco. Friday night the scene of conflict will shift to Abilene for a second game. If a third game is necessary it will be played on the neutral Breckenridge court. These games will decide the bi-district basketball championship, and the winner will go to the state meet to be held in Austin March 9 and 10.

The University Interscholastic league has divided the state into 27 districts in basketball. The counties in each of these districts decide their championships, and then the district championship is decided, usually in a tournament. Then adjoining districts play for the bi-district championship and there is one district champion team which earns the right to go to the state meet by drawing a bye, and does not have to play in the bi-district elimination, because of the odd number of districts. All bi-district championships must be decided by Saturday night. The 13 winners and the district champion drawing the bye will meet in Austin March 9 and 10 and play the tournament for the state championship.

This differs from the football plan in which the state is divided into eight districts. In the football race Abilene and Cisco are in the same district, and there is a rule that each class A team must play every other class A team in the district. Abilene and Cisco have met several times for the district championship in football, but this is the first time that the two teams have met to decide a basketball championship.

The Loboes won a practice game from the Eagles earlier in the season, but the Eagles have a changed line-up since then, shifting Altman Smith, captain and fullback of the football team, to center, with Andrews and Groseclose at forwards. All of these men are at least six feet tall, and Salkeld, captain-elect of the Eagles football team, is playing guard for the basketball team and matches the above named players in size.

The Loboes will probably start the same line-up that went into the final game of the district tournament: Reyes and H. Pippen, forwards; E. Pippen, center; Van Horn and Smith at guards; Abe Curtis of Fort Worth will referee the game Thursday night in Cisco.

Boyd and Robinson played the best games for the Methodists. Chuck Van Horn played a good game at guard for the Baptists. Breck. to Have W. U. Call Service Boxes

BRECKENRIDGE, Feb. 28.—Installation of a call box service in Breckenridge will be undertaken by the Western Union Telegraph company when about 50 of these boxes will be installed in the business district. This is the identical service which is in use in Dallas, Fort Worth and other large cities served by the company and adds much to the service rendered in that it eliminates telephone calls to the telegraph office when in need of a messenger boy. A small instrument placed on the wall and connected with the telegraph office by wire does the trick. By turning a handle on this instrument the name of the customer is printed on a slip at the office, summoning a messenger without the delay incident upon making telephone connection.

Georgia Lady Could Not Sleep Nights, But After Taking Cardui She Was "Like a Different Person." "I was weak and nervous and run-down. I couldn't sleep at night. I felt tired and not in condition to do my work. I had Cardui recommended to me, but always thought I could out-do most sickness, but this was one time I needed help. I was so weak I could hardly lift my hand. "I can't express how bad I felt. "I know I improved after taking Cardui. I was like a different person. I was built up and was stronger and better than in a long time. "I have a young daughter who had the flu, and after she got up she would once in a while have such severe cramping spells, just suffer terribly. I knew there was a weakness and, hoping Cardui would reach this trouble, I had her take it, and the first bottle helped her so much she was able to leave it off and does not have this trouble now. Pneumonia Controlled by Anti-Body Solution; Experiments Go To Prove Value of Treatment

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—At least 10 per cent of the victims of lobar-pneumonia can be saved by treatment with the pneumonia anti-body solution at a cost of $10 for each life saved, according to Dr. Louis I. Harris, Commissioner of Health of New York City.

Dr. Harris has announced that the work of scientists, who have been making a serum to overcome the pneumococcus germ for the past forty years, has met with success in the concentrated efforts of these workers in the past four years.

The city of New York has been using the pneumonia anti-body solution in the Bellevue, the Harlem and the New York hospitals and the treatment has been successful in such a large number of cases that a supply has been arranged for by the city, which will be at the service of physicians, under certain restrictions.

"More than forty years ago," said Dr. Harris, "it was discovered that lobar-pneumonia was due to a tiny germ called the pneumococcus germ. Almost immediately efforts were made to produce a vaccine to immunize a person against pneumonia and a serum, which would be curative in cases where the disease had already developed.

"A serum was produced, but it was found of value in only a small percentage of cases. Then the further discovery was made that every pneumonia germ was not of the same type. There was a difference between various types of these germs, and, more important, a serum which would be effective against the poison of one type would not be effective against the poison of another type of pneumococcus.

"Further study divided the pneumococci into four main families. The first three types have definite identification marks and are quite unlike each other. The fourth type is a mixed and conglomerate group, that have no particular marks of identification and constitute a motley variety without special character, so far as present research has been able to prove. About 70 per cent of the pneumonia germs found in the lungs and mouths of healthy or diseased persons in the United States are of the first three distinct types. The remaining are of the mixed family of germs.

"The serum, first manufactured, was found to react unfavorably and to produce chills and other severe reactions. For these reasons the use of it to fight pneumonia was abandoned.

"After the influenza epidemic of 1918, and Influenza commission was appointed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company to study this disease. It consisted of Dr. William H. Parks of New York, Dr. Milton J. Rosenau of Harvard university, Dr. W. H. Frost of John Hopkins, Dr. Edwin O. Jordan of Chicago, and Dr. G. W. McCoy of Washington. The special laboratory and community studies of influenza and pneumonia that have been carried on have been financed by the Metropolitan Life to the extent of between $25,000 and $75,000 a year since 1918.

"In the work of this commission the study of a serum for pneumonia, which was attendant on influenza, in a great many cases, was taken up where the earlier workers had laid it down. A serum was developed which was distinctly effective against the pneumonia germs of two types. However, this could not at first be used in every case of these types, as there was a tendency to produce severe shock in the patient. This serum was refined to a greater extent than had ever been done previously by Dr. Floyd Felton of Harvard university, who was working with the influenza commission.

"Four years ago, a further impetus was given this research by a donation from Lucius N. Littauer, the Gloversville manufacturer, to the New York university, which made possible an alliance between the Department of Health Research Laboratories, Harlem, Bellevue and New York hospitals. At this time Dr. Edwin J. Banzhaf, our biological chemist, was put to work to effect a still further refinement in the serum. He joined forces with Dr. Harry Sobotka, who had been procured through the Littauer fund, and also with Dr. Felton of Harvard.

"Dr. Banzhaf effected a further improvement in eliminating those elements called toxic proteins or globulin, which produce shock in the patient, by the use of solution of common salt and ammonium sulphate. By this method the amount to be injected into the vein of the patient to be effective has been greatly reduced and the likelihood of shock to the patient is practically negligible.

"As things stand today we have and are using effectively in the three New York hospitals I have named, a pneumonia anti-body solution that has been shown to be very effective in cases that are produced by type No. 1 and type No. 2 of the pneumonia germs.

"When it is called to mind that in the first three weeks of February in New York City alone there have been 371 deaths from lobar pneumonia and when we very conservatively estimate that we could have saved 10 per cent of these lives, it can easily be seen what a great work has been done in fighting this disease.

"Mayor Walker, before starting on his Southern trip, authorized the purchase and preparation of more of this anti-body solution and we are offering this supply to physicians with pneumonia patients. The earlier the injections are made the greater effect they will have. My own personal experience has been such that the serum has my unqualified recommendation in certain types of cases. It is not a cure-all and is not effective in all cases. Realizing this, we are placing restrictions on furnishing it to those applying. We are advising physicians to confer with Dr. William H. Park, of the Research Laboratories, under whose direction much of the work has been done along these lines, to Dr. Charles Krumboltz or to Dr. Anna Williams about the manner of administering the serum and to obtain supplies."

Dr. Harris stated that the work to secure a serum that will be effective in types No. 3 and No. 4 of pneumonia and in cases of broncho-pneumonia is going on, and with the success that has been met in securing a solution which is effective in types No. 1 and No. 2, the chances are that the fight for other effective solutions also will be successful.

JUDGE HAMLIN PRESIDING IN 17TH DIS. COURT

BRECKENRIDGE, Feb. 28.—Judge C. O. Hamlin is in Fort Worth this week where he is presiding in the seventeenth district court on account of the illness of Judge R. E. L. Roy of that court. The nineteenth district court of Stephens county is not in session this week. Provision is made in the state judicial system for the transfer of district judges to other counties when not busy in their own courts.

Judge R. E. L. Roy, judge of the 17th district court of Tarrant county, had a stroke of paralysis several weeks ago and has been confined to his home since that time. Judge F. O. McKinney, presiding judge of the eighth administrative judicial district, which district includes Tarrant, Stephens and several other counties, has been supplying district judges from the eighth administrative judicial district to fill Judge Roy's bench during his sickness. It so happens that under the law, there is a week's interval between the January-February term of the 96th district court and the March-April term. Judge McKinney asked Judge Hamlin if he could occupy Judge Roy's bench during the week in which he had no court in Breckenridge and Judge Hamlin consented to do so.

NEW COOK WELL IS MAKING 500 BBLs. OF CRUDE

ALBANY, Feb. 28.—The Roeser-Pendleton No. A-1-62 Cook, which came in several days ago to establish an extension of a mile and one-half northward to the famous Cook pool in Shackelford county continues to hold up to the rate established during the first day of its production. An average of over 500 barrels daily is being produced by this well without agitation, a flow that establishes it as one of the best wells of the Cook pool. Should agitation be resorted to it is thought that the well would be good for 700 barrels a day.

The Cook A-1-62 was first started as a deep test. Reaching its present depth, however, 15 feet of cavings set in while the hole filled 600 feet with fluid. With cavings cleared out the well began flowing and since 500 barrels daily of high gravity oil is not to be passed up at 1300 feet, plans to drill further were abandoned.

In reality the new well extends the field much farther than one and one-half miles since production further north is practically assured with the heavy flow from the A-1-62, but as yet no new locations have been made in the territory thus opened up, however, it is expected that a drilling program will be started immediately. The Cook pool was unharmed with the recent shifting of crude prices. Oils obtained from it range from 27 to 40 degrees gravity. The Cook A-40-84, one-fourth of a mile to the northeast of the pool is being rigged to place on pump. It is good for about 40 barrels daily.

Opinions among oil men with regard to the new crude postings seems generally to be that the change will have a tendency to favor the Oil Belt territory. The slashing of prices of low gravity oil and the increase of prices on high grade crude should operate to turn development away from low grade areas toward those producing oils of higher grade, it is believed. In that case the entire Oil Belt fields should witness a decided increase in the amount of drilling in West Texas.

BEAUTIFUL WOMAN WILL VISIT CISCO

In connection with the arrival of Miss Vanette at Kleiman's next Thursday March 1, a great deal of discussion has been created as to the correct measurements of the limbs of various celebrities and the following comparative scale has been furnished by the manufacturers of Vanette hosiery:

- Miss Vanette—Thigh 20 1/2; upper leg 21; knee 14 1/2; calf 13; ankle 7 1/2.
 - Miss America—Thigh 20; upper leg 21; knee 14 1/2; calf 12 1/2; ankle 8.
 - Miss Fashion—Thigh 30; upper leg 21; knee 14; calf 12; ankle 7.
 - Venus de Milo—Thigh 22 1/2; upper leg 21; knee 14 1/2; calf 13; ankle 7 1/2.
- For many years the well-advertised Venus de Milo has been given all credit for perfect feminine dimensions. For all we know, she may still be the ne plus ultra and court of last resort for the French who gave her a home in the Louvre, but the manufacturers of Vanette hosiery have found a more perfect model, at least for hosiery display, in the person of Miss Vanette. Various international hosiery exhibitions held the past several years have staged contests and awarded prizes to others with measurements as recorded above. Miss Vanette will model hosiery in the windows of Kleiman's next Thursday, March 1, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 6 o'clock p. m., the details of which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

WILL CALHOUN SAW FROG IN CORNERSTONE

Now comes a letter from Will Calhoun, a resident of Rayville, La., but who was a member of the band making music at the laying of the corner stone of the Eastland county court house 21 years ago, in which he says he saw the frog in the receptacle. The letter was addressed to Dan Boone of Eastland. It says in part:

"You of course remember well that I, too, was present at the laying of the corner stone, and that we both played in the band on that memorable occasion.

"The day after, or at least a day or two after the occasion you and I were near the building, then under construction, discussing events of the occasion and by common consent we went to the corner stone and you removed the temporary covering from over the receptacle in the stone and there was, as we had heard, a horned frog in the receptacle.

"I am not much concerned about science or scientists and I, by no means, undertake to identify frogs, but I sure do remember that we saw a horned frog in that hole."

Will Calhoun, who wrote the letter quoted above, arrived in Cisco today and is the guest of his nieces, Mrs. W. J. Foxworth and Mrs. J. T. Anderson. Mr. Calhoun will probably go to Eastland during his visit here and renew his acquaintance with his frogship.

Mr. Boone, who superintended the construction of the old Eastland county court house, does not remember the details of the corner stone laying, but he says that whatever Calhoun says is true, he is sure.

The much touted frog has been returned to Eastland from a short stay in Dallas, where it was exhibited at various places. Homer D. Wade, manager of the West Texas chamber of commerce, wants to take it to the district convention of that organization in Colorado City Wednesday, where it may be viewed by many who would not otherwise have the opportunity.

In this morning's Dallas News the front page cartoon was of the frog being led by Eastland, while over the fence hangs a scientist with eyes bulging out and remarking that "There ain't no such animal."
