TEXAS

By WILL H. MAYES, Austin.

SURVEYING RIO GRANDE—Following meetings and inspection of the Rio Grande by an international commission, it is announced that a complete survey of the river and its tributaries will soon be made with a view to the construction of international dams in the canyon of the river where an almost unlimited storage may be had. It is not generally known in this country that Mexico is becoming as much interested in irrigation as this country and is as anxious to reach a satisfactory solution of international irrigation problems on a business basis. There are some 3,900 men now at work on the Don Martin dam on the Salado in Mexico about 100 miles west of Laredo. These are using modern machinery in the construction of a dam to store 1,250,000 acre feet of water to irrigate 165,000 acres. This work is 50 per cent completed and it is expected that the dam will be turned on by 1929. Those who are hesitating to undertake irrigation in this country should consider what is going on in "unprogressive" Mexico.

RAILROAD BONUS OFFERED—Three three enterprises counties of Kimble, Sutton and Schellinger are in earnest about getting the proposed railroad from San Antonio to San Angelo, the other suggested extension of which is from San Antonio to Corpus Christi. These counties have put up a $400,000 bonus, and are inviting any who will take it and give them railroad connection with either Kerrville or Fredericksburg. Recently San Antonio had one of its periodical spasms about the building of this road, of a kind that have been recurring for the last quarter of a century, but that city has apparently gone to sleep again after its fitful effort. San Antonio should stay on this job until it is finished.

PROSPEROUS GATTELMEN—R. M. Kleberg, of Corpus Christi, president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' association, in his address at their Amarillo convention, made this significant statement: "We must let the world know that we know more about the cattle business than any one else, that we are better equipped to know what is good for us than any one else." President Kleberg is eminently correct, but cattlemen, like farmers, have never been assertive enough about their own affairs. With the right kind of co-operation the industry in Texas can maintain itself on a steady profitable basis, but it is necessary to work together in a way to let the world know it.

ODD FELLOWS MEET—That was a great meeting the Independent Order of Odd Fellows held at Dallas. The great thing about Odd Fellowship, and the greatest thing about all fraternal, civic and religious organizations, is the spirit of fraternity and service to mankind. One can't think of Odd Fellows without thinking of the care the order takes of its widows and orphans. There is no wonder then, that Beaumont and Mineral Wells had an all-day struggle with each other to get the next meeting. Beaumont won, but it was by a mighty small margin. Mineral Wells, because of its reputation as a health resort, its splendid hotels, and its great spirit of hospitality, is destined to become a leading convention city of Texas and the Southwest.

BOLL WORM LEGISLATION—Members of the Texas legislature are freely predicting a "pink boll worm" special session. Senator Wood, who is called "an administration leader" because of his close relations to Governor Moody, think it may be necessary to meet federal requirements. In the mean time effort is being made in congress to cut down the appropriation for the expense in fighting the boll worm in Texas from $5,000,000 to $2,500,000. Texas is almost forced to wait action of congress before taking any active steps other than have been taken.

FAVORS ACQUIRING SHOW GROUNDS—After visiting Dallas and studying the city's operation of the Texas state fair grounds as a municipal park, Mayor Chambers of San Antonio, favors having that city take over the 175-acre exposition property and to that extent assisting in the International Exposition and Live Stock Show. Doubtless other municipalities in Texas will make a study of this method of helping to finance fairs.

TURKEY ATAVISM—There is nothing strange in the report that wild turkeys around San Saba are luring the tame turkeys back to their wild habits. Human beings are ever being tempted to "hark backward" and return to the wild ways of former eras. It is prevented only by education and constant vigilance.

TRADE PICK-UP NOTED; BETTER TIMES A-COMIN'

EASTLAND, March 24.—The following cases have been filed in the district clerk's office for litigation in the Eastland county district: James Shaw, banking commissioner, vs. J. D. Kennedy et al. Emma C. Cundiff vs. Warren Cundiff, divorce. J. B. Bishop vs. C. W. Hargraves. T. E. Downtain et al vs. E. C. Downtain. Jack Kemp et al vs. C. M. Root et al. T. G. Shaw vs. R. C. Ames et al. W. A. Free et al vs. Winnie B. Ground et al.

"THE SMART SET" PALACE TODAY

The sport is polo, heretofore brought to the screen only as atmosphere to establish aristocratic social condition of the characters in the picture. An understanding of the gentle art of clinging to the right side of a horse while pasting a polo ball with a mallet is not even necessary for the enjoyment of the picture. By the time William Haines and Tommy Van Buren leads the American polo team to victory over the British, the audience is on its feet cheering with as much enthusiasm as though they were at the Meadowbrook field on Long Island. Cisco has always been noted for the civic pride of its people, and is finding its expression just now in painting and interior decoration of furniture. Furniture dealers have found much interest manifested in floor coverings. Those who have been enterprising enough to stock new and unusual patterns have found linoleum a brisk seller during the past few weeks. The more substantial furniture sales will come a little later in the spring. Just now people are interested in mere trimmings and decorations in the home.

Automobile paint shops are finding interest increasing in the new color schemes now becoming so popular. It is safe to say that many good used cars will be made over in use of the new shades. This will help the automobile dealer to a great extent in taking some of the used cars off the market. Possibly the biggest business, if appearance count is that of food. The intensive advertising campaign being carried on in Cisco now by the grocers of the city is bringing great results. Almost every grocery store in Cisco was thronged by customers yesterday and until a late hour Saturday night. Every customer was wagging great sacks of food to his car. All to this the great quantities that were being rushed to their destinations by many delivery cars and one can readily see why some businesses must necessarily be left dull. The casual observer would think that most of the salary of the Cisco must be used to buy food. It is a wonder that other businesses find customers at all, if appearances count. So much talk about food and food prices naturally causes more money to be spent for food than would otherwise be spent if heavy campaigns were calling their attention to other lines. Jewelers are beginning to call attention of Easter jewelry buying, which will fit in nicely with the dress-up tendency. Outdoor sunshine and dressing up naturally brings in the photographer and it is safe to say they will come in for their share of the business. This same sunshine and warmth increases the thirst, which can only be quenched by the cream parlors and soda fountains.

More out of doors demands more tires, gasoline, auto accessories and automobile repair work. The chain is endless. There is prosperity ahead for all concerns who, to use the common expression, "Stay in there and pitch." Those who call attention to their wares will find listeners and listeners make purchasers.

BANDIT GETS $10,000 CASH AND DIAMONDS

DALLAS, March 24.—A lone masked bandit today robbed R. D. Sanders' Jewelry store of $10,000 worth of jewels and made his escape after locking the manager in the store. The loot consisted of diamonds and cash.

HOTEL HEAD DUE IN CISCO ANY DAY NOW

The Daily News regrets that it has nothing definite to tell its readers this morning regarding the preliminary work on the new hotel building. W. C. Witt, president of the Cisco Hotel Co., communicated with Secretary Peters earlier in the week, stating he would be in Cisco the latter part of last week, and it was expected that he would come in Saturday. No further message had been received by Mr. Peters, who stated that he looked for him to arrive early the coming week, when it is hoped a definite time will be set for work to start on the hotel. Witt addressed to Mr. Witt has been received here, but the chamber of commerce is not advised as to the cause of the delay in his arrival.

RABBIT DRIVE NETTED MANY ON THURSDAY

There was another one of those big rabbit drives Thursday in the Carbon vicinity, which was participated in by about 100 men, according to a report made to the Daily News by R. L. Poe, who said he was there "at eating time." The center of the drive, and the point where the ladies set a feast for the hunters, was about three miles east of Carbon. Up to noon 240 rabbits had been killed, Mr. Poe stated. Another similar drive has been announced for Mangum. Everybody is invited to take part in this drive.

Cunningham, of Philadelphia Defies Senate Committee; Vares Campaign Fund Under Scrutiny

WASHINGTON, March 24.—The senate this afternoon ordered the immediate arrest of Thomas W. Cunningham, Philadelphia politician, leader on charges of contempt of the senate. He is wanted to answer questions concerning a $50,000 contribution made in 1926 to the primary campaign of Senator-elect Vares. Cunningham has twice defied the Reed committee by refusing to answer.

LASKER WAS TO TESTIFY IN OIL QUIZ

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Albert D. Lasker, close friend to the late President Harding, and former chairman of the United States shipping board, was scheduled to testify today before the senate oil inquiry regarding whether he handled any of the Continental Trading company's Liberty bonds when raising funds for the Republicans after the 1920 campaign.

MIAMI POLICE IN TROUBLE

MIAMI, Fla., March 24.—Five policemen, including Chief Leslie Quigg, are held in jail today without bail, following a grand jury investigation into two mysterious murders, one of which occurred more than two years ago. Chief Quigg, Lieutenant Tibbetts and Detectives Caudell and Nazworth are charged with first degree murder of a negro bell boy, allegedly a third degree victim. Detective Woods is charged with killing a carpenter in November 1926. The grand jury declared it had discovered an "alliance between the police and the underworld."

A. & M. HEAD RESIGNS; WILL DO U. S. WORK

VICTORIA, March 24.—Westhoff and McFadden report the heaviest rain in some time last night and this morning. It will benefit crops too young to suffer from hailstones, considerable hail being reported throughout that section of the state.

BURGLARS ROB STORE OF $500 AND ITS AUTO

SAN MARCOS, March 24.—A check up this morning revealed that considerable damage was done to watermelons, corn and other growing crops in this section by a severe hailstorm late yesterday. Windows and roofs were smashed by egg-sized hailstones.

CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE TO GROWING CROPS

VICTORIA, March 24.—Burglars this morning robbed the Shiller & Hanatek Mercantile company's safe at DeCosta, and got $500, including postoffice funds. They escaped in the firm's automobile.

Dr. Oldham Talks Sensibly About an Air Port for Cisco

Dr. F. M. Oldham, who is always abreast with the times, told the Cisco Daily News yesterday that he heartily endorsed the proposition to build a modern airport in Cisco, and at the earliest date possible. "I don't know whose duty it is to take the initiative in this regard," Dr. Oldham said, "but I am of the opinion that some one should start this matter and push it through to completion without further delay. Cisco would be retarding its own progress not to have an airport. The air is literally filled with flyers, as there is hardly a day that one of these air men fails to pass over Cisco. And they pass, too, as we have no suitable place for the flyers to land. We should provide facilities for them to stop awhile and visit with us. "To build an airport does not require the expense and preparation that are essential for other enterprises. The planes are flying, no right of way, track laying, and such preliminary work like securing a railroad. The aviators fly through the trackless air, and all that is necessary is to provide a place for them to land. I have not looked over the possible locations carefully, but it seems to me that a suitable field could be secured between the city and Lake Cisco. Land at the Carl Wilson dairy seems to be a desirable site. I have been informed that this land can be secured, provided lands adjoining could be secured. "I am not informed of all things that are necessary in the construction of an airport, but I feel that whatever is necessary in the construction of an airport, Cisco has it, and the sooner the initiative is taken the better. Planes are becoming the common mode of transportation, and more people will be flying as time passes. When planes are made so safe air transportation will be as common as auto travel is today. Even at this date those who are required to make a quick trip secure air transport, and to do so one has to go to a town where there are planes. You never find planes in a town where there is no airport. "Then airmail service is being extended as rapidly as the authorities can develop the service. Naturally the first consideration to give a town airmail facilities will be whether or not there is a suitable landing field. Should Cisco be on a probable airmail route they are liable to pass us up while we are getting the airport ready, and establish a base at some town that was sufficiently far sighted to prepare a landing field in advance. The world is advancing, and one of the forward movements that is here forever is air transportation. Lets keep up with the progress of the country and provide a place for the flyers to land in Cisco," he concluded.

HYPNOTIC CURES

Prof. William Brown, British psychologist, tells an American audience some remarkable facts about the medical use of hypnotism. It was used long ago in surgical operations, he says, before anesthetics were discovered, and may be used to advantage now for that purpose. One of its benefits is in freeing the patient's mind from fear. It is especially valuable in many nervous and mental cases. Hundreds of shell-shocked soldiers have been cured by it when other means failed. Here is something of special interest in a prohibition regime: Alcoholics, he says, may be cured by hypnotism. They are usually "suggestible," and react easily to the inhibitions placed in their minds by the hypnotist. He tells them, in the hypnotic state, that they won't drink any more—and they don't. It is well, however, to repeat the warning that hypnotism is a dangerous power, not lightly to be used, or submitted to, by anyone.

VANISHED MILLIONS

One of the most effective ways to dissipate a large fortune is to tangle it up in litigation. A current example of this is the estate of the late W. E. D. Stokes. It was once estimated around $20,000,000, but was recently appraised at $306,934. Lawyers' fees, claims settled and other items have consumed the difference. A big fortune is not a fixed and permanent thing. It may be so handled as to keep on growing. Very often it goes to pieces. So does smaller wealth, for that matter. All of which has been said several times before and is not of very much importance anyhow. It does indicate, however, that learning how to get the most service and satisfaction out of one's own worldly goods is more valuable than envying anyone else a fortune, great or small.

U. S. Negroes Like To Live in Paris

PARIS, March 24.—The American negro colony in Paris is growing by leaps and bounds. The world war began it. Many of the negroes came over to fight and Paris, liked them, and either decided to stay over, or went back home and then returned. There is no distinction of color in the French capital. Life is pleasant and comparatively easy for them since jazz began its reign.

The negro colony is naturally up in Montmartre where nearly all of the members work and earn their daily bread. They are musicians and dancers, to a large extent, restaurant keepers, doormen and bootblacks. There are some cooks, tailors and a few students down near the Boulevard St. Michel. Walking around the Place Pigalle at night one meets entire negro families. Sometimes they sit in their favorite cafe, sipping a beer or coffee, talking of the latest jazz hints and bootleggers back home.

Mutt Watson Given 2 Years; Suspended

C. W. (Mutt) Watson, tried for the third time on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Jack McMath, at Coleman two years ago, was found guilty by a jury at Brownwood Thursday night and given a suspended sentence of two years. The jurors deliberated three hours and a half after receiving the case about 5 p. m.

Watson's defense was that McMath had threatened to kill him or run him out of town. McMath's divorced wife was one of the principal witnesses for the defense.

Hamer To Testify In Upton County

RANKIN, March 24.—Ranger Captain Frank Hamer, who recently made the sensational charge that the payment of a $5,000 reward for dead bank robbers has led to "framed-up bank robberies," is expected to appear before the Upton county grand jury next week to present evidence substantiating his charge.

Hamer was invited to appear before the grand jury by county officials.

Two Mexicans were slain here several months ago by two men who claimed they saw them attempting to enter a local bank. The two men are awaiting trial in the case.

BAIRD, March 24.—The chamber of commerce has leased the ground floor of the Knights of Pythias hall and will move their offices to their new home as soon as the painters finish decorating the interior of the building. They are anxious that this be made a community center, a place where all civic organizations can have their committee meetings and conferences.

JUVENILE ORCHESTRA
For rhythmic training in kindergarten and primary grades, music as an educational factor is being given a very prominent place in the curriculum of the kindergarten and primary grades.

The orchestra enables the child to respond to rhythm, stimulates the natural desire for music appreciation by placing in his hands real musical instruments and not just substitutes.

The juvenile symphony instruments are drum, xylophone, Chinese tom, chimes, bird whistles, sand blocks, triangles, tambourines, etc. The course as taught in the Holmes kindergarten is the same as by the director of music and the supervisor of music appreciation, primary grades in the public schools of Kansas City, Mo.

Mrs. Holmes keeps in direct touch with these supervisors and will teach an afternoon class of one hour, beginning April 2, for pupils in the grade schools and those who are not in kindergarten. Those entering kindergarten will get this course during the morning hours, 8:07 West Seventh street. Phone 637.

Engineer Innes Proud of New Engine of Big 600 Series

Monster T. & P. Locomotive Pulls 3200 Tons; Are Marvels to News Man Who Inspected One Saturday

With Engineer Innes at the throttle, locomotive No. 638, one of the last 15 of the new 600 series of locomotives placed in the service of the Texas & Pacific railroad, was in the Cisco yards for a few hours Friday, and a representative of the Daily News accepted an invitation from C. P. Cole, station agent here of the Texas & Pacific, to go down and give this huge "battleship" the once over. Or, at least that is what the road men formerly dubbed these huge machines. But we are told that in railroad parlance, they are known as "boilers."

We found Engineer Innes quite obliging to answer any question we asked regarding his machine, of which he seemed pardonably proud. He stated that the company now has 40 of these engines in the service, but this is the latest one of the series that is making this division. In fact this engine has been out of the shops only since March 8, and is practically new. Mr. Innes said No. 638 was reported to be in service somewhere on the system, but he had not seen it.

It is a revelation to anyone to inspect one of the 600 type locomotives, as they are equipped with everything possible to make a complete locomotive, or at least it appears so from a layman's perspective. In fact, there are so many separate contrivances for operating the locomotive that one is impressed with the idea that the engineer must necessarily be an expert machinist, and his fireman must have more than superficial knowledge of mechanics to perform his functions. These engines, Mr. Innes said, are capable of pulling a train of 67 cars at a speed of 50 miles per hour on level road, but the maximum speed allowed was 35 miles. The locomotive pulls a tonnage of 3,200 over this road, where there are some pretty heavy grades to make, the engineman said.

These locomotives of the 600 series, cost the company $190,000 each, Mr. Innes said the master mechanic stated. It takes 5,000 gallons of oil to fuel the locomotive, and 15,000 gallons of water to fill its tank. The locomotives are never loaded to the capacity of cars, Mr. Innes said, as most of the siding will accommodate only 67 cars, and this number is the size of the usual train. "However," Mr. Innes said, "there is a train now on the siding in the Cisco yard with 84 cars."

Mr. Innes explained many of the devices, the air controlled contrivances, and how to operate the booster, and many other matters that were as clear as mud to the Daily News man. The engine and tender is 100 feet in length, but there was no mark designating its weight. It carries 250 pounds of steam and the fire box is automatically fed with fuel oil. When the locomotive was fired up there was a roar and vibration like distant thunder. The booster, Mr. Innes explained, is to assist the engine in getting started, but once the train was under headway the booster was automatically cut off. Arrangements are provided for heating the water by the steam passing over the coils before it is placed in the boiler. These engines are manufactured by the Lima Locomotive Works, at Lima, Ohio.

"THE SMART SET" PALACE TODAY

The sport is polo, heretofore brought to the screen only as atmosphere to establish aristocratic social condition of the characters in the picture. An understanding of the gentle art of clinging to the right side of a horse while pasting a polo ball with a mallet is not even necessary for the enjoyment of the picture. By the time William Haines as Tommy Van Buren leads the American polo team to victory over the British, the audience is on its feet cheering with as much enthusiasm as though they were at the Meadowbrook field on Long Island instead of in a palace of the cinema. The Haines of "The Smart Set" is a more skilled and artistic comedian than the Haines of "Spring Fever" or "Brown of Harvard." He has acquired a technique of comedy that is instinctively his own while the romantic appeal of his love scenes with Alice Day, who by the way is an ideal heroine, will leave the flappers palpitating with envy.

Jack Holt, for years one of the biggest western drawing cards on the screen, has a strong role. Holt is a great grandson of America's first chief justice, John Marshall, and was educated at Virginia Military institute. He was brought west by the wanderlust and spent some time in Alaska, where he learned the riding ability which won him fame. Since that time he has been in many successful pictures, including Zane Grey stories.

MOTHER CONFESSES—MAY FREE SON

Who killed Bertha Katz? That is the question once settled in court trial that may have to be reopened. Morris Reiser (below), now in Sing Sing prison serving 20 years to life was convicted in 1922 of the murder of his aunt, Bertha Katz (right). In a sworn confession just made, the prisoner's mother, Mrs. Minnie Reiser (left), declares that she and not her son was the real murderer.

Hill Given 99-Year Sentence In Robbery Case; Jury Out for 40 Minutes; He Expected Death

Robert Hill will serve 99 years in the penitentiary, according to the verdict of a jury which deliberated on his fate less than 40 minutes Friday afternoon.

His counsel, L. H. Flewelen of Ranger, stated that no motions and no appeal would be instituted for Hill. The youthful defendant, only 22 years old, said after he had thanked each juror, that he would accept the sentence and try to be a model prisoner.

Hill had expected the infliction of the death penalty. Just before the verdict was read, and as the jurors filed back into the court room, he asked a spectator how long the jury had been out, and when informed that the deliberation had lasted less than 40 minutes, he murmured: "That means death, then."

First comes CHRYSLER "72"

Chrysler "72" performance makes all other performance in its field seem as out-of-date as last year's license plates. All you have to do is to ride in a "72," and drive it to appreciate the difference. Only Chrysler's great engineering staff and precision manufacturing organization could have developed 75 smooth horse power from an engine of such moderate size. You can, at will, do 72 miles an hour and more—velvety, easy miles—due to this unique and vibrationless engine with counterweighted seven-bearing crankshaft.

It takes mountain grades at constant acceleration. In traffic, the "72" flashes to the fore with characteristic Chrysler get-away.

Only a demonstration can prove to you just how much better the "72" performs.

Illustrated New Chrysler "72" Prices—Two-passenger Coupe (with rumble seat), $1545; Royal Sedan, $1595; Sport Roadster (with rumble seat), $1595; Four-passenger Coupe, $1595; Town Sedan, $1695; Convertible Coupe (with rumble seat), $1745; Crown Sedan, $1795. All prices f. o. b. Detroit, subject to current Federal excise tax. Chrysler dealers are in position to extend the convenience of time payments.

Roberts & St. John Motor Co.

"Not necessarily," the spectator replied.

"They tell me," Hill said, dully, "that a quick verdict would mean death."

Hill Thanked Jurors
A few minutes later he heard U. F. Casey, foreman of the jury, pronounce the verdict — of guilty, assessing his punishment at 99 years in the penitentiary. It was "two nines" Hill had said he wanted, when he pleaded guilty to the robbery with firearms charge growing out of the holdup December 23 of the First National bank of Cisco. "Can I thank them?" he asked Cy Bradford.

"Sure," said the officer. Hill shook hands with each of the 12 men. Casey, the foreman of the jury, said the dozen had been of one mind from the beginning, they took only one ballot in reaching a verdict and did not discuss the case. The jury would have reported sooner, but had to go a considerable distance to the school house which had been used as a jury room.

The ninety-first district court is being held in the auditorium of the city hall because the county court house has been torn down to make way for a new $300,000 structure.

After he had thanked the jurors, Hill turned to J. Frank Sparks, county attorney, and thanked the prosecution for a "fair trial." He told Sparks he would gladly accept the impending sentence.

Hill faces two murder trials, but it was expected that Sparks would permit him to plead guilty to these charges and go on to the penitentiary.

Opposes Death
Before the jury reported, Hill discussed his chances, dejectedly. A woman who is writing a book urging abolition of the death penalty was in the group surrounding the waiting prisoner, and she asked him his opinion regarding the extreme penalty by the law.

"I am against it," the young defendant answered.

"Why?" a reporter asked. "Because," he said, deliberately, "it causes criminals like me to kill people. A man who thinks he is going to get the electric chair anyway thinks he might just as well fight it out."

Hill also inveighed against the $3,000 "dead bank robber" standing reward of the Texas Bankers' association. He said it made officers "try to shoot us instead of catch us."

The case went to the jury a few minutes after 4 o'clock, when County Attorney Sparks concluded the state's closing argument. The verdict was brought in at 4:40 exactly.

Laughing Habit Called Menace As Health Fad; Others Favor Exercise a Good Laugh Gives

CHICAGO, March 24.—There is "too much laughing" in the opinion of Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Association.

"Already the number of grinning simulators is appalling. It would be a terrible spectacle if continuous laughter would become a new health fad."

This as the rejoinder that Dr. Fishbein hurled at Dr. James D. Walsh, who advocated the loud laugh and the gentle rolling chuckle in his book "Laugh and Grow Fat."

"It is unfortunate that the gospel of good cheer should be bolstered up by so much erroneous physiology and loose logic," Dr. Fishbein observed.

"I shudder to think of the economic and social possibilities of an epidemic of forced laughing."

Feared As Cure

Several other prominent physicians in this city have become alarmed at the impending favor of laughing as a cure-all for business or what-have-you.

The braying of the donkey, or the crying and coughing of the human species, they point out, works the diaphragm in the same manner as a laugh. Dr. Walsh maintained in his book that such working of the diaphragm would prove effective as a health measure.

"Imagine some hyena with a complex on health laughing giving you the ha-ha when you were reading a telegram full of bad news," one Chicago physician remarked. "Or fancy the terrible psychological consequences that would result if a number of persons went around trying to express all the complex gamut of human emotions with an abdomen stirring cackle."

Opposition to Dr. Walsh has mounted almost to alarm.

The alarm, however, is sounded chiefly by serious minded persons who have been contemplating, since the advent of the Walsh book, the unfortunate possibilities in meeting laughter on all sides, regardless of the mood of the listener.

"How are you this morning Bill? Ha, ha!"

"Not very good. My lumbago is bothering me, and I have got a bad cold. Then the chauffeur ran away with my daughter last night."

"That's too bad. Haw! Haw! Haw! Tee hee!"

Opponents of Dr. Walsh and his ideas shudder at the apparition.

Need More Exercise

Dr. Wash contended that too little exercise is had by the abdominal and chest muscles of the average individual, and that frequent laughing would provide health-giving flexing.

"The laugh is confined almost entirely to man," Dr. Walsh's book stated. "Why not prove that you are human by laughing once in a while?"

From the psychological standpoint two schools have grown up around the controversy.

"People are too serious," one school of thought argues. "If people would yield to their desire to laugh, it would provide much needed relaxation in a world too busily engaged in weighty problems connected with getting money and power."

"The modern era is too high tension. It needs a let-up once in a while."

The opponents shiver apprehensively.

"A laugh is intended for one purpose; to express amusement."

"When it is utilized for any other reason, very often, there is bound to be trouble."

AIR LINES TO COMBINE WITH RAIL TO N. Y.

ST. LOUIS, March 24.—"Air-plane transportation of passengers on a large scale as an auxiliary aid to fast railway service is bound to come, and we hope to make the New York to Dallas combined rail and air route the pioneer service of this kind in the country," Major William Robertson, head of the Curtiss-Robertson Aircraft corporation said in discussing the proposed plan whereby the present traveling time of 45 hours from New York to Dallas would be cut 24 hours.

Major Robertson declined to discuss the status of negotiations and proposals made to railroad officials concerning the plan but was certain some line would be operating with St. Louis as a hub before the end of the year and "hoped" it would be in operation very soon.

Railroad officials here are reluctant to discuss the proposal although admitting it is being considered. It is known that Robertson, H. M. Bixby, president of the chamber of commerce, and Harry Hall Knighs outlined the plan to the railroad officials on their recent eastern trip with Colonel Charles Lindbergh.

"Commercial aviation companies here are all busy carrying passengers on long and short trips, and it is not unusual for eight or ten passengers daily to leave here on special air trips," Robertson said.

"Undoubtedly we will have regular air lines operating in all directions from here soon," he said.

Town Darkened By Horned Owl

NACOGUCHES, March 24.—A horned owl from the deep pine forest recently put the whole city of Nacogoches in darkness for nearly an hour. The big owl alighted on one of the power lines in the city limits and spread its wings far enough to touch a second line, thus making a contact that sent 11,000 volts of electricity through the bird's body and stopped the city's entire light system. The bird was discovered by Ford Simpson, manager of the local branch of the Texas Power & Light company.

Pre-Season Diamond Dope

McGraw's '28 Squad Driven in Training

By International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, March 24.—It is apparent to all who have visited the training camp of the New York Giants at Augusta that John J. McGraw is about to make the supreme effort of his career in the 1928 National League pennant race. McGraw, they say, is driving his present squad harder than he has another since those dear, dead days at Marlin, Texas, when he had those hard boiled squads of his own and the only diversion in town was work.

McGraw tipped his hand this year well before the active training season started when he appeared at Hot Springs in order to take charge of the early conditioning of his battery-men. Baseball entered little, if at all, into the scheme of things there.

At Hot Springs

All the boys were expected to do was to take the baths, eat sparingly, sleep according to the clock, and climb those mountain trails in order to strengthen their legs and wind.

John went to be there to see that they did so. It isn't necessary to add that they did. Ball players from other clubs were there, amusing themselves as pleased their fancy but it was the Spartan life for the Giants from first to last.

McGraw also had Malvern Ott at the springs in order to try him out at second base. He gave Melvin much of his attention and possibly a piece of his mind from time to time.

At the Augusta Camp

John has been sitting right on top of the situation all the time, rushing out to the box in the middle of a practice game to tip some young pitcher to something or to one of the bases in order to complain, at first hand, to some player who has just been found guilty of bad base running.

He spent hours at the plate, hunting to his pitchers. And it might be mentioned that McGraw still can drop a ball just about any place he selects. However, the old boy is getting along in years and, after hours of this sort of thing, he is more weary than the young men he has been chasing around.

Likes to Win

To those close to him, it is no secret that successive failures since 1924 have bitten deeply under McGraw's skin. No man in the game likes to win more than John McGraw does and he had set his heart on turning up another champion on the occasion of his twenty-fifth anniversary as manager. He thought, too, that Hornsby would make him win last year but apparently it wasn't in the deck.

So, once again, McGraw is in there giving the old college try, far from satisfied that his days as a winning manager are over.

Cleveland Team Banks on Rookies

By International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW ORLEANS, March 24.—The present aim of the new management of the Cleveland American League baseball club is to keep the team at or near the top of the junior circuit, each season.

This hope was revealed by Vice President and General Manager Billy Evans, during his recent visit to the Indians' spring training camp here.

"Our big aim," Evans declared "is to build up to the point where we can stay at or near the top all the time, with good young fellows coming up every year to replace the aging veterans. I believe we've made a mighty good start toward that objective."

New Better Team

"We have not tried to deceive the Cleveland fans with promise of a pennant winner this season. However, we want to have a better club than Cleveland had last year, of course."

Evans stated that the tribe management had abandoned the project of buying a Class A or Class B league baseball club to serve as a farm at least for the time being.

"We have already fairly satisfactory working relations with some good clubs," the former umpire said. "New Orleans and Terre Haute for example."

Evans stressed the fact that several "smart" minor league managers had recognized the recruit talent in camp, as confirming his opinion that Cleveland "has on the present squad a pretty good ball club for some years to come."

Youthful Pitchers

Among the most sought after members of the Indian squad training here is a group of youthful pitchers—Wesley Farrell, Verne Underhill, Ollie Perry, Earl Colvard and Mel Harder; Shortstop Jonah Goldman, formerly of Syracuse university; Infielders, Eddie Montague and Dan Jesse; Outfielder John Gill and Cather Richard and "Dick" Stahlman.

Applicants for the tribe's surplus talent probably will be compelled to wait until about the middle of June, it was said, as that is the time when the roster must be cut to the legal limit of 25 men.

Manager Roger Peckinpaugh expects to carry thirty men until the time mentioned, he declared.

Ranger to Have One Auto in Motorcade

RANGER, March 23.—At least one car of Ranger residents and probably more will enter the San Diego to Memphis, Broadway of America motorcade. Wayne C. Hickey, secretary of the Ranger chamber of commerce announced, Hickey attended the regional meeting, Wednesday afternoon at Cisco where 100 representatives of towns in this district were present to form plans for having this district represented in the cross country parade. All of the towns along the route agreed to have representatives in the motorcade. Ranger is planning to have the band out to greet the 400 car loads of autoists, who will arrive here the afternoon of April 16. In addition, Hickey said that the streets would be decorated for the occasion.

World's Oldest Chariot Wheels Coming To Chicago; Were Used By Kish Warriors 5000 Years Ago

CHICAGO, March 24. — Chariot wheels believed to be the oldest ever discovered have been excavated on the site of the ancient city of Kish in Mesopotamia.

Word of the discovery has just been received by the Field Museum of Natural History here from the Field Museum-Oxford University Joint Expedition to Mesopotamia.

The heavy discs on which some warrior of Kish rode into battle more than 5,000 years ago will be brought here for exhibit, giving the Field Museum a unique place among the museums of the world, it was announced immediately after word of the find was received here.

Henry Field, assistant curator of physical anthropology of the museum, made the discovery, according to the report.

The wheels were found buried 45 feet deep, over the remains of the ancient Sumerian city, thought to have been the seat of the world's most ancient civilization. They are estimated to belong to the period between 3000 and 3000 B. C.

Somehow Crumbled Although in a somewhat crumbling state after their thousands of years' sojourn beneath the ground, the central wooden portions of the disc wheels are practically intact, the report stated.

About two feet in diameter, the wheels are bound with a rim two inches deep and are studded with copper nails on the contact surface. Members of the expedition are at work strengthening the wheels so that they may be brought to Chicago.

Two pieces of copper, found near the wheels, were thought to have been pieces of harness, used to keep the driving reins in place.

A tomb dating prior to 300 B. C. also has been opened by the expedition. During the time the expedition has been at work, almost two years, a series of tombs have been opened yielding, according to Field, a wealth of information regarding the people who so many thousands of years ago maintained a high degree of civilization.

The people of Kish, as they have been revealed through the ruins uncovered, lived in comparatively modern ease while the rest of the world was involved in struggling through a stygian darkness of barbarism and ignorance.

Silver and bronze art objects were yielded by the tombs. Ornaments, gold and lapis-lazuli beaded chains, fine painted pottery and pictographic tablets had indicated a high degree of art appreciation a thousand or so years in advance of the rest of the world. Apparently the citizens of Kish were wealthy in their own system of art and good living.

Other Rich Finds Furniture of various kinds was found as well as vessels of earth, copper and stone.

A total of 88 individual skeletons remains have been excavated by Field. Several nearly complete skulls of ancient Sumerian citizens and one almost complete skeleton were included. These are expected to throw new light on the problems involved in solving the racial derivation and evolution of the ancient Sumerians and Semites.

Torrential rains, blinding sandstorms and sudden changes from raging, burning heat to bitter cold are reported to be interfering with the efforts of the expedition, and the cold brings labor troubles.

STYLE HINTS

By ALICE LANGELEIR

PARIS, March 24.—If everything else in the fashion world comes and goes, the picture frock goes on forever. And this spring especially with colors and materials more feminine than ever, the unprecedented success of the robe de style was only to be expected. Practically every French dressmaker has a number of them in his collection and each one shows an original touch.

Jeanne Lanvin, who is really the "mother" of the picture gown, makes them of taffeta, stiff satin and organdie. One in black and white organdie has a petal skirt and is embroidered in flowers in such a way that it is very striking. Another has the taffeta corsage cut on the old quaint demure lines with a subtle becoming shapling. The skirt is delightfully flared with the uneven hem which is so attractive. The wide flounce of silver lace in dull metallic tone is run with a zigzag design in blue and mauve silk and there are unusual shoulder-strings of a sort of silver chain armor interwoven with black silk threads.

Magdalene de Hayes is showing a robe de style with a short moulded bodice and very ample skirt, often very long, touching the ground at the back. Orange, yellow and black taffetas are much used. A very attractive model combines printed chiffon with printed taffeta in exactly the same pattern.

"Sirene" chez Worth, has its fitted bodice embroidered in blue and white crystals in wavy stripes and the full skirt of lavender-blue glazed chiffon.

"Madriene" takes its inspiration from old Spain with its tight bodice in black silk lace over satin and a wide lace skirt which is longer than usual finished by a band of black tulle. With it is worn a cape of black lace bordered by a band of black satin embroidered in red roses.

Dead black makes a charming picture model in crepe satin and tulle, the bodice cut in a deep pointed line and the skirt a mass of little dipping tulle flowers on that it is longer in black than in front.

It operates directly from the lighting socket by means of the new "AC" Radiotrons. That is one of the reasons why Radiola 17 is the year's outstanding achievement in radio. Simplicity of operation, sturdy construction and excellent tone quality are outstanding features of this new receiver. Tuning is accomplished entirely by one knob. In addition there is only a volume control to regulate the output and a switch to turn the current on and off.

In Radiola 17, the owner finds all of the refinements that recent developments have contributed to the radio art. Its compact cabinet, beautifully finished in mahogany, contains all the mechanism necessary for operation. Over the tuning control, there is a small electric light which not only illuminates the station selector but also serves as an indicator that the current is on or off.

STUDEBAKER IN NEWER MODELS MAKE FRIENDS

"Look under the hood of the Studebaker Dictator and you will find the reason for its tremendous increase in popularity with motorists, who want a car that offers outstanding performance," said H. I. Stock of the B. & H. Motor Co., local Studebaker and Erskine dealers, yesterday in commenting on Studebaker's recently announced sales increases.

"No other model in the Studebaker and Erskine line, in my opinion reflects to a higher degree the engineering genius behind these cars. When engineers can take a motor that has already established its sound design and high grade performance in the hands of thousands of drivers, and increase its performance as they have in the new Dictator, they deserve the highest praise.

The horsepower of the new Dictator has been increased 55 per cent without changing the cylinder dimensions, the stroke of the piston, or materially raising the compression. It now develops full 70 brake horsepower at the conservative engine speed of 2800 revolutions per minute, although the taxable horsepower remains at 27.3 as before.

"This power gives amazingly fast get away in traffic, and swift acceleration in high gear. The motor speed for extreme flexibility in high gear, and this same quality reduces gear shift to a minimum.

Combined with this flexibility is a top speed of 65 miles an hour. This makes touring speeds of 45, 50 and 55 miles an hour possible with perfect ease and comfort and provides reserve speed for a quick start sometimes needed to pass other cars.

The records of two Dictators on the Atlantic City speedway prove that increased speed and power were achieved without sacrificing any of Studebaker's well known ability to stand punishment of sustained high speed. Under A. A. supervision the Dictator set a 24 hour record for fully equipped stock cars under $1400, with an average of more than 61 miles an hour.

"Mechanical changes responsible for the increased power in the Dictator motor include a valve mechanism similar in construction to the Commander, with main room operated directly from the camshaft and vertical valves. This permits the use of a new and advanced type of combustion chamber. The combustion chamber and improved manifold not only increased motor efficiency but resulted in greater gasoline economy as well.

S-4 DISASTER PROMPTS NEW RESCUE PLAN

BERLIN, March 24.—The loss of the United States S-4 with numerous hands abroad has stimulated many engineers in their efforts to build a reliable submarine rescue apparatus.

Berthold Faack, Berlin mechanic, who served in the German merchant marine for many years, has invented an apparatus by which he claims, disasters like the one that befell the S-4 could be avoided with almost a hundred per cent certainty.

Faack does not propose to save the boat, but to rescue the crew. Has constructed a cigar-like tube made of duraluminum, which could easily be installed in old or new submarines at the comparatively low price of about $1,500. For safety's sake two tubes would have to be installed on the boat, one astern and another on the fore-deck.

At Any Depth As soon as the submarine sinks and cannot rise again two men enter the tube from the inside of the boat, close it, unscrew the cover, fastening the tube to the deck and at the same time forming the cover of the tube and shoot up to the surface.

Arriving on the surface they signal the crew to haul the tube down by means of a wire rope fastened to the lower end of the tube and to the deck. In parties of four the whole crew could thus be saved and brought to the surface. The tube is equipped with electric light, a telephone and oxygen masks.

Faack claims that the tube can stand an atmospheric pressure of about 26 atmospheres, so that the inmates do not run any risk of being blown to pieces or severely injured by the terrific pressure exerted on them when they shoot upward from depths of about 50 to 60 meters.

The inventor even claims that his apparatus can be applied in any depths, while other apparatuses employed by the German submarines during the war, and later on, by private firms can only be applied in certain depths.

In 45 Minutes Faack proposes to rescue, within about 45 minutes, the entire crew of a modern submarine, that is about 50 men. In normal weather the crew would remain afloat by means of rubber boats for a week or so, but even in stormy weather Faack believes that the saved crew could remain alive for at least four or five hours.

Faack offered his invention to the German navy, but since the Versailles treaty stripped Germany of submarines and forbade her to build new ones the Reichswehr ministry rejected his invention.

After learning of the disaster of the S-4 Faack has made up his mind to offer his invention to the United States navy. He is ready to go to the states and supervise the construction of the tube. Also he is willing to prove the feasibility of his invention by making the first trial shoot himself.

friend. Above the towering precipice they fought. A lucky blow of King's sent Gilbert spinning down to the edge of the beach below. King hastened on to the cave. Again an intruder was halted by the grinning skeleton at the entrance, again the ape clutched at a hurrying figure. But King regarded them not. He and he alone, would have the Haunted Island treasure, and no ghost—nor man—should stop them.

Gilbert struggled to his feet, and studied the situation. He noted the turbulent subterranean channel that he thought was his only chance. If Fitz could come out of the cave that way, surely, he, Gilbert, could go in. He dived into the stream and soon he was relieved to find the current less swift when he got under the hillside. The distance was not great, and soon he saw a dim object before him. Redoubling his efforts he reached it. A great netted bag—filled with glittering gold and gems. Hardly had he time to realize that at last the treasure was in his grasp when he was almost smothered by the falling of a body that plunged into the water beside him from somewhere above.

Old Pegleg had found another victim. For when he had reached that faithful guardian's lair King had met with the fate of Fitz. It was he that fell beside Gilbert, and the two stared at each other in amazement. And well they might. Deep in the bowels of the earth formed friends, now deadly enemies, faced the treasure they had given their honor to secure. Above, old Pegleg cut another notch in the handle of the trap lever, and smiled grimly. Mark Joy approached him, closely followed by Fitz. The old man well knew the meaning of Pegleg's sinister smile.

Shepherd Ties For Third in High Jump

Garland Shepherd, Cisco's representative on the Texas university track and field team, failed to win in the high jump event of the fourth annual Texas relays at Austin Friday, but Garland was "in the money," having tied for third place in this event, which was won by Haggard, of the Texas U., who jumped six feet, 3 1/2 inches. This record is still shy of a previous record made by the Cisco kangaroo when he hung up an altitude of six feet, 5 1/2 inches in 1927 at the Chicago national meet. Stephens, of Abilene Christian college, was third in broad jump.

PECOS COUNTY GETS GUSHER IN BATES 22-B

SAN ANGELO, March 24.—Mid-Kansas and Transcontinental Friday completed its No. 22-B Yates in Pecos county at 1,235 feet for 904 barrels of oil the first hour through 4-inch lines with a 6-inch bit in the hole.

It is near the south line of section 61, block 1, I. & G. N. railway company survey. Transcontinental No. 1 University, section 18, block 18, 17 miles South of Girvin, was drilling at 1,140 feet with a hole full of sulphur water struck at 1,090.

In Howard county Henshaw and others No. 1 Settles, in the Southwest of southeast of the southwest of section 13, block 29, W. and N. W. Railway company survey, was reported shut down at 2,465 feet with a hole full of oil.

It was one-half mile west of Sun No. 1 Settles, nearest producer. Winkler county in 24 hours ending Thursday morning registered a new production peak, 139,828 barrels by 100 wells.

ICING FRUIT TREES SAVED FRUIT CROP

ABILENE, March 24.—Dr. T. B. Bass, superintendent of the Abilene State hospital, has attempted to outwit his peach trees. Dr. Bass tried freezing the trees to keep them from blooming and budding until after the danger of frost is past. The physician placed 100 pound blocks of ice around two of the trees. 50 pound blocks around another one and left one uncovered. The trees with the 100 pounds of ice have shown no signs of blooming, while the one with 50 pounds of ice is half in bloom and the one exposed to nature is in full bloom. Dr. Bass estimated from his experiment that a 100 pound block of ice each week for six weeks would prevent the blooms from being frost bitten each spring. This would cost approximately $2.40 a tree for the ice. Under average conditions, he estimated, the crop of a normal six year old tree is worth $10, which would make the ice block experiment profitable.

Randolph College President Brings in Bonds as School Endowment for Several Years

Other substantial donations have been made to Randolph college, according to President Roberts, who has just returned from a trip in the interest of Cisco's junior college, which carried him to Wichita Falls, Amarillo and Pampa, where he appeared before the boards of the Christian church of those cities. Dr. Roberts stated that much enthusiasm was manifested for the junior college, which is sponsored by the Christian churches of Texas, at each of the cities, and he came home with three church bonds aggregating $25,000. At Wichita Falls the Highland Heights church delivered a bond for $10,000, while the Amarillo First Christian church voted a $10,000 bond, and Pampa Christian church delivered to President Roberts a bond, for $5,000. These bonds run for 16 years, and bear six per cent interest, the interest only is available for the expenses of the school, which is payable semi-annually, and means an endowment from the subscribing churches for 16 years. Dr. Roberts will visit Sweetwater Monday and will be a guest of the Sweetwater Rotary club where he is on the program for an address.

EASTLAND, March 24.—Mrs. Rachel Frances Whittington, widow of the late G. F. Whittington, died at 10 o'clock Friday morning at the family home, 1301 South Seaman street. She was 81 years of age, having been born in 1847 in Bienville parish, near Arcadia, Louisiana. She had been infirm and ill for some time, death being due in part to old age. Interment was by the side of her husband in the Eastland cemetery. Mrs. Whittington's maiden name was Rachel Frances Scarborough. About 48 years ago she came with her husband to West Texas and this was Surviving relatives of Mrs. Whittington are: Mrs. Oscar F. Chastain of Eastland; Mrs. M. H. Hagaman of Ranger; J. O. Whittington and Dr. H. D. Whittington of Amarillo; and A. G. Whittington of Teague; her daughters and sons, besides a number of grandchildren.

BYRNES TRIAL TO START ON NEXT MONDAY

SAN ANGELO, March 24.—Chief of Police Sam Haynes Thursday received a letter from A. A. Edwards of Bolivar, N. Y., asserting that Newton Byrnes, held here as the confessed slayer of three women, is really Francis W. Johnson, whom he adopted in Bolivar in 1910. Edwards said he saw pictures of Byrnes in newspapers and is positive the man held here is the boy a adopted 18 years ago. Police took little stock in the statement of Edwards, asserting that Mrs. J. A. Dorset of Birmingham, Ala., has said that Byrnes is her son, and that the name under which he was indicted is his correct one. Byrnes will go to trial here Monday for the slaying of Myrna Juergens, whose mutilated body was found in her home here with that of her mother, Mrs. W. J. Juergens, and grandmother, Mrs. Rosa Schirra, for whose slaying he is also under indictment.

CISCO BATTER

CHAPTER X
Uncut Diamonds

The unmasking of the Phantom under; the astounding revelation that he was no other than Mark Joy—left for dead in the burning at the Village of Forgotten Men, even the swooning of Rosalind—had not put a stop to the battle between Fitz, Cherub, Joy and the minister on one side, and Albert and his gang on the other. The minister rolled over on top of his antagonist, and the maid, coming to Cherub's rescue with her big ring pan, helped turn the tide of battle. Rosalind, unconscious, her head bending over her, and Mrs. Pegleg, utterly bewildered by the unmasking of the Phantom, took notice of the fight. Gilbert, motioned to King. They slid out the door, to meet outside. Gilbert spoke to King.

"Let 'em fight it out," he said, "I have the treasure map—let's get the stuff out of the treasure cave and beat it." Nothing loth, King led him and they went to the cave. After mounting they freed other horses, and stamped them in all directions. But they were seen by the maid. Hurrying to the verandah, she cried, "Gilbert and King have turned the horses loose and are after the treasure." Fitz sprang to the verandah. He gave a peculiar, but penetrating whistle. In a moment or two his horse came trotting up. Hastily mounting he berded the other animals into the corral.

Inside the house Rosalind opened her eyes, bringing a happy look to Mark Joy's careworn face. She looked at him and said, "It broke my heart to see you grieving over my supposed death. Rosalind, dear, this disguise seemed to be the only way that I could watch over you, and of luring Gilbert into an open fight for the possession of the Haunted Island."

Tenderly he kissed her. Fitz returned to the house. Rosalind and her father were talking kindly. Mrs. James stepped up to Mark Joy.

"Forgive me! I sided with Gilbert and Rosalind's protection, and then that dreadful fire in which we thought you had lost your life, I did do nothing but play my part, leaving that Fitz James was also enemy."

She shook her hand. They were glad to forgive. It was friends they hated now, not enemies. Fitz examined the flight of Gilbert and King, and hastily set off in pursuit, to Mark Joy and Cherub.

Half way up the cave-mined cliff, spotted by bloody pirate deeds of long ago, Gilbert and King dismounted at a narrow path along the edge of a precipice that hung over the sea. Below them was a treasure cave. A little to the right of the cave, from where the current Phantom had rescued Fitz, Gilbert drew the treasure map from his pocket.

"This time we must be sure to get the right cave," he said.

King grabbed the map and hit Gilbert a vicious blow on the chin. He went to his knees and King started off. Gilbert leaped to his feet and caught the fleeing false friend. Above the towering precipice they fought. A lucky blow of King's sent Gilbert spinning down to the edge of the beach below. King hastened on to the cave. Again an intruder was halted by the grinning skeleton at the entrance; again the ape clutched at a hurrying figure. But King regarded them not. He and he alone, would have the Haunted Island treasure, and no ghost—nor man—should stop them.

Gilbert struggled to his feet, and studied the situation. He noted the turbulent subterranean channel that he thought, was his only chance. If Fitz could come out of the cave that way, surely, he, Gilbert, could go in. He dived into the stream, and soon he was relieved of the current less swift when he got under the hillside. The distance was not great, and soon he saw a dim object before him. Redoubling his efforts he reached it. A great netted bag—filled with glittering gold and gems. Hardly had he time to realize that a hand was grasping him in his grasp when he was almost stunned by the falling of a body that plunged into the water beside him from somewhere above.

Old Pegleg had found another victim. For when he had reached that faithful guardian's lair King had met with the fate of Fitz. It was he that fell beside Gilbert, and the two stared at each other in amazement. And well they might. Deep in the bowels of the earth former friends, now deadly enemies, faced the treasure, they had given their honor to secure. Above old Pegleg cut another notch in the handle of the trap lever, and smiled grimly. Mark Joy approached him, closely followed by Fitz. The old man well knew the meaning of Pegleg's sinister smile.

"Aye, the more has made the plunge of death. The other entered from outside. But see, the cable that held the treasure has parted. Pegleg pulled up the loose rope that dangled in the well.

"It was ill-gotten gain," replied Mark Joy, reflecting on the curse to all who touched it. I feel glad that it has gone beyond recall."

There came the joyful day when Rosalind, under the terms of her grandfather's will, could marry the man she loved. The Haunted Island, however, had shaken off its sinister aspect. All was light and gaiety. The wedding guests were assembled. In a floral bower stood the bride and groom facing the minister. Old Pegleg was an honored guest. Cherub, immaculate in morning coat was on the verandah with the maid, a bouquet of flowers in his hand. "For the bride?" she asked. Painful though it was, Cherub sank his huge bulk on one knee. "For you—my life," he replied gallantly. He had forgotten that he was best man and had the ring. But he produced it in time; the maid caught the bride's bouquet, even Pegleg demanded a kiss from the bride, and soon the happy couple had left for their honeymoon.

"Isn't it strange," asked Fitz, as he looked lovingly at the beautiful, blushing girl beside him, "that after all I am the one who got you—the treasure of Haunted Island?"

Time and Place Announced For Examination of Cisco Children Before Opening of Next School

CAMP GROUND

The physical examination of Cisco children who will enter school for the first time this fall has been arranged for Wednesday and Thursday, March 28 and 29, according to the announcement of the Parent-Teachers' associations of Cisco yesterday. The rest room in the city hall has been secured for holding the examination, and it is earnestly desired that every child in the city be examined at this time so treatment may be had during the summer to correct any deficiencies found.

Very often young children have slightly strained eyes or are partly deaf in one or both ears without the parents' knowledge. Either of these defects is a great detriment to the child in school.

Miss Celia Moore, state nurse, will be here on the days named to make the examinations, for which there is no charge whatever. It is a movement fostered for the purpose of finding these minor defects in the physical condition of the children, to the end that the best possible start in school work may be given to them.

Miss Moore will be here again before school opens for a second free examination, to find out what improvements have been accomplished during the summer.

Parents should remember the dates and place and have their children there for this examination. March 28 and 29 in the rest room at the city hall.

Eastland and Ranger Country Club Merger

RANGER, March 24.—More than 40 members of the Ranger and Eastland county clubs met at Acorn Acres Thursday night to confer upon the project of building an 18 hole golf course and country club, midway between the two towns. A committee composed of Dr. W. C. Palmer, Walter Murray and Edw. R. Maher, from Ranger, H. B. Clifton of Olden, and A. H. Johnson, and E. E. Freyschlag of Eastland, was appointed to visit the three towns and see how many members could be enrolled for the new inter-city playgrounds.

An 80-acre tract has been purchased for the golf course. It is located on the east side of the highway just east of Olden and extends to the vicinity of the Leon river.

Members of the two clubs have been solicited to join the new project and build the finest country club home and golf course, together with swimming pools, tennis courts and other outdoor recreation features in West Texas. At the meeting the project was thoroughly discussed and much favorable comment was received from representatives of both Ranger and Eastland. The membership of the new club will be limited to 200 persons.

MOODY CLEARS UP HIS STAND ON DRY ISSUE

DALLAS, March 24.—Governor Moody has made plain that he believes a Texas delegation instructed for a dry candidate should be bound by its instructions until the end of the convention, if a dry candidate is not named before that time. The governor, who was in Dallas on his way back to Austin from Amarillo, also stated positively he is opposed to the candidacies of Smith, Reed and Ritchie for the Democratic nomination.

"An afternoon report published in Dallas stated that I evaded a question as to whether the Texas delegation to Houston, instructed for a dry candidate, should ever throw its vote to Smith, Reed or Ritchie," the governor said.

"On the contrary, I said as I have clearly stated before, that I believe no one of the three can be nominated at Houston; that I am opposed to all three, and that if the Texas delegation is instructed for a dry candidate it should be firmly and unalterably bound by its instructions until a dry candidate is nominated."

Governor Moody said he was not prepared to announce the appointment of the ninth member of the state prison board, to fill the last place on the board created by the legislature, and that it might be a few weeks yet before the announcement was made.

It is Fortunate

The Food They Love so Well is so Good for Them. Remember how it seemed to you when you were a child? Just as sure as you liked some particular thing to eat awfully well, your mother would tell you, "No, it isn't good for little folks." And so many of the things she said were good for you tasted simply horrid!

But there is a food that boys and girls, and grownups too, just love—and that's good for them besides—ICE CREAM.

Our Ice Cream contains only pure, rich milk, cream, sugar and other wholesome ingredients. It is made in modern plants under official health regulations, and sent to your neighborhood store where you can get it without the least of bother.

Isn't it Fortunate that the Food Which is so Good for You is so Very Easy to Buy.
