TEXAS

SHORT MEASURE GAS STATIONS

Gasoline stations that are guilty of giving short measure should not complain when they are held up and robbed by high-jackers. Short measuring a customer is a worse type of robbery than high-jacking, because the high-jacker does not claim to be anything else than a thief, while short-measure and short-weight man claims respectability.

Inspectors of the Texas department of agriculture allege that out of 112 gasoline pumps recently tested, 85 were given short measure, some of them as much as one and a half gallons to each five gallons. In one city 15 complaints were filed and 15 pleaded guilty and paid fines. In another city seven were tried and fined from $50.00 to $100.00. Fines are not enough to stop short-stealing, for when turned loose the short-weight artist can at once begin to recoup his fine. In fact in most cases he has already collected far more in unjust measures than to pay his fines. He does not make restitution to his victims by paying his fine. He should be enjoined from ever running a gasoline station and thus deprived of power to rob again in that way.

RAILROAD TERRITORY FIGHT

The Missouri Pacific Railway has filed with the Interstate commerce commission a petition to extend from Allenhurst to the rich Wharton-Port Bend country sulphur field. The Santa Fe protests, claiming this as its present and prospective territory. The Southern Pacific traverses this territory in its extension from Wharton to Palesios and is opposing both the Missouri-Pacific and the Santa Fe moves. The Santa Fe is seeking to build a line in the Panhandle to extend from Halset to Lamb county, a distance of 66 miles to get into a rich agricultural section, and the Burlington system claims that this is an invasion of its territory. In the mean time the people who pay the freight are left in doubt as to whom they belong and for whom they must pay tribute in the way of exclusive territorial privileges.

SECTIONAL FAIR EXHIBITS

Several years ago the agricultural exhibits at the large state fairs of the state were made by competing counties and in some cases by individuals. The tendency now is for sections having similar productions and like interests to unite their efforts in sectional exhibits, a method that costs less, and enables the districts to make better exhibits and place them at a greater number of fairs. The Pease-Red River Valley association, composed of nine counties in the lower Panhandle, has made its plans for a regional exhibit at the Dallas State Fair and other large Texas fairs, and may possibly send the exhibit to several state fairs other than those of Texas. Other sections would likely find it to their interest to unite in displays at the large fairs, but those contemplating it should begin their plans right away, as time is required to work out the details of such exhibits.

GRAVEL ROADS WASTEFUL

Millions have been wasted in building gravel roads in Texas according to Chairman R. S. Sterling of the Texas Highway Commission. A gravel road begins to blow away before it is completed and every car that passes over it scatters a cloud of fine gravel to the winds. Roads of this kind built a few years ago are now entirely gone despite whatever care could be given them. Only concrete or asphalt-covered roads are permanent.

SEEKING STATE CONTROL

It is stated that the Texas Cotton Ginners' association, at a meeting to be held in Dallas next month, will discuss and probably adopt a movement to have state regulation of the cotton ginning business on the ground that the industry is a public utility. Some industries are reaching the conclusion that regulation is better than competition, which was once regarded as "the life of trade."

TEXAS SNOW STORMS

There are parts of Texas where snow sometimes falls in winter, but instead of being something to be dreaded these snows are regarded as blessings in that the moisture the soil and help the growth of crops and vegetation. A news report states that progress is being made by state snow plows in breaking the three weeks snow blockade in the Michigan peninsula, thus soon to end the shortage trouble in a completely isolated village of that region. In Texas the bright sunshine and warm air that invariably follow closely after snows quickly dissolve them into moisture, leaving the people thankful for the abundant crops and food supplies that they assure.

Creamery Management Changed

GOOD GROWTH IS NOTED IN BUSINESS WAY

The Cisco Creamery is one Cisco home enterprise that has proven a success since it was first established, and it will be gratifying to all loyal Cisco people to know that the creamery is still in a prosperous condition. To make for the continuous prosperity of this Cisco home enterprise it must and should have the patronage of all loyal citizens. One can hear on the streets, most any day, the remark that Cisco needs a larger payroll, and yet these same people are eating butter made at some distant city, and Cisco merchants rarely suggest to their customers that they try Cisco butter. Payrolls are built from small beginnings, and assume large proportions when home people give loyal support to home enterprises. The first complaint is yet to be heard of the quality of the products of the Cisco Creamery.

But there has just been a change in the management of the Cisco Creamery. The interest of E. E. Graf was purchased this week by T. E. Preston and Miss Leta Deel Surles, who will have exclusive charge of this industry in the future. Quality products will be their aim in building up and operating this home enterprise.

Manufacturing. Mr. Preston will be in charge of the manufacturing department.

METHODISTS PLAN REVIVAL; CHOIR MEETS

There will be a meeting of all the officials of the First Methodist church tonight, all others invited. The choir will meet tomorrow night at 7:45.

The pre-Easter revival will begin next Sunday morning. The pastor assisted by the church will conduct the services. Every member of the church and friend of the church will want to be present for the first service next Sunday morning. We invite the community to attend and especially those who do not know Christ as a personal Savior.

The theme for the meeting will be "His Last Week." A sun rise service will be conducted Easter morning at the church to which services all are invited.

YOUNG FOLKS FIRST BAPTIST ATTEND CHURCH

The prayer meeting at the First Baptist church every Wednesday evening is creating unusual interest. The young people are coming in great numbers. The pastor announces that the membership and friends in general are responding in a gratifying manner to the enlargement campaign for a "Bigger and Better Prayer Meeting."

The meeting is held in the main auditorium beginning promptly at 7:45. The Advanced Senior B. Y. F. U. is the attendance committee for this evening, and a good crowd is expected.

TWO KILLED IN COLLISION FREIGHT TRAINS

BONNER SPRINGS, Kansas, March 28.—Two workmen were killed and five others injured in a rear end collision of two Rock Island trains at Lorene near here this morning.

Charles Lass and R. E. Maxwell are dead. All were in a caboose which took fire after the crash.

CONNER NAMED SUCCESSOR TO YOUNGBLOOD

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, March 28.—A. B. Conner, director of the Texas agricultural experiment station at the Agricultural and Mechanical College since 1925 today, was appointed director of the experimental station succeeding Dr. B. Youngblood, recently resigned to go with the Federal government, according to the announcement made by President T. O. Walton. Mr. Conner is a native of Falls county.

PASTOR FINDS 2 DELINQUENTS; NO DISCIPLINE

An instance of juvenile delinquency was reported to the Daily News this morning by the pastor of one of the Cisco churches. Two small children, the pastor said, had entered one of the rooms of the church and took away two parcels of Sunday school literature. The parcels were taken off and broken open, and scattered under a house. The children were questioned and told where they had placed the literature, the pastor said.

The instance was reported to the mother, who told the children to go and get the parcels. The mother was told flatly they "won't," according to the preacher. She threatened to whip them, but didn't. The News was informed. "It is just such lack of discipline that makes criminals in later years. These children did not want the literature. Had no use for it, but had they been disciplined by their parent, they probably would have known better the next time," the minister said.

RELEASE LADS WHO CONTINUE JOURNEY WEST

The two boys, Gus Hammond and Clifford Morehead, picked up by the city police Tuesday, were released late Tuesday evening and allowed to proceed on their journey to the west. L. A. White, acting chief of police, communicated with the fathers of the boys, who said they could be released, as they were not coming after them. Chief White was told that the boys had previously run away three times. The youngsters seemed pleased that they would not have to return to their homes at Mabank.

Willing to Tell All He Knows

Knowing that his death is approaching, A. B. Fall secretary of interior in the Harding administration is planning to tell all he knows about the Teapot Dome scandal, in which he is alleged to have played a prominent part. He is booked for trial in the courts at Washington, D. C., but physicians say it is doubtful if he will be physically able to stand the ordeal of a trial. He is now out under bond.

Eastland County Court at Law Cannot Pass on Probate Matters Declares State Highest Court

AUSTIN, March 28.—The law creating the county court at law of Eastland county was held unconstitutional by the supreme court Wednesday in affirming the judgment of the court of civil appeals in the case of the state of Texas against the estate of F. G. Gillett et al from Taylor county.

H. E. Lawrence applied for and received letters of administration of the Gillett estate in order to sell 60 acres of land owned by the estate in Taylor county. The letters of administration were granted by the Eastland county court at law. The supreme court held that the jurisdiction of that court is confined to civil and criminal matters and has no jurisdiction over probate matters, and the effort of the legislature to give the court probate jurisdiction was null and void.

WOMAN SAVES BIG INDIAN FANS STATE

EASTLAND, March 28.—The intervention of a blonde woman prevented chief Wow Wow, Indian wrestler from receiving rough treatment at the hands of the fans last night in the arena.

The chief was to have wrestled Jack Gorman of San Angelo, but because of injuries received in an auto accident was prevented, and Joe Turner was substituted for the big Indian. During the bout, according to information, the Indian tamalized Gorman to such an extent as to cause the fans to resent it.

WINDS DELAY OCEAN FLIGHT GERMAN ACE

DUBLIN, March 28.—Strong westerly winds today compelled the German ace, Captain Hermann Koehl, to postpone his proposed Trans-Atlantic flight until tomorrow.

Arthur Spindler will sit beside the German ace in the cockpit of the plane with a complete set of controls. Each will have a cushion behind his head so that he can snatch a few minutes sleep while his companion pilots the plane.

As a prevention against ice forming on the wings of the plane it is proposed to oil them with paraffin.

SURVEY SHOWS MANY TOWNS ON HIGHWAY

A survey of the main line of the Bankhead highway, and that of the north loop, reveals some interesting information not possessed by the average citizen of this part of Texas. These facts will be presented to the Broadway of America highway meeting, which will be held in Memphis, Tenn., April 20-21.

The information given out by those who made a survey of both routes, which was impartially made, and is authentic, reveals some interesting comparative facts, showing the conditions of both roads, the number of towns on each route, the number of homes, telephones, filling stations, tourist camps and condition of the highways from Metcalf Gap to Abilene.

Main Line, Via Cisco. Metcalf's Gap to Strawn—All paved, two filling stations, 12 houses, one tourist camp, 10 telephones. Strawn to Ranger—All paved, four filling stations, two tourist camps, 30 houses, seven telephones. Ranger to Olden—All paved, four filling stations, 16 houses, five telephones. Olden to Eastland—All paved, two filling stations, 15 houses, 10 telephones. Eastland to Cisco—All paved, four filling stations, one tourist camp, 25 houses, 11 telephones. Cisco to Dothan—All paved, one filling station, 11 houses. Dothan to Putnam—All paved, one filling station, 21 houses. Putnam to Baird—All paved, two filling stations, 10 houses, eight telephones. Baird to Clyde—All paved, one filling station, one tourist camp, 30 houses, eight telephones. Clyde to Abilene—All paved, eight filling stations, three tourist camps, 12 telephones. North Loop, Via Albany. Abilene to Albany—Unpaved, three filling stations, 14 houses, three telephones. Albany to Breckenridge—All paved, 10 filling stations, 15 houses, six telephones. Breckenridge to Caddo—All paved, three filling stations, 13 houses, two telephones. Caddo to Metcalf Gap—All paved, but ten miles of this road is very narrow, with thin topping which is badly worn and will need resurfacing soon, as it is badly patched.

Summary. These reports on the condition of these two routes of the Bankhead highway sum up the condition as they found them as follows: "The main line of the Bankhead highway, from Metcalf Gap via Strawn, Ranger, Eastland, Cisco, Putnam, Baird and Clyde to Abilene is paved with vitrified brick, and all is comparatively new and in perfect condition which will not need repairs for some years to come. "The north loop of the Bankhead highway, from Metcalf Gap to Caddo, is paved in part of standing width, and it is necessary to leave the paving when meeting a car. The paving is in bad condition, and will have to be repaired or retopped in the very near future. From 10 miles out going to Abilene there are 26 miles of unfinished road, the bridges are not in, and no topping at all. The dump is new and will be in no condition for safe tapping within a year, should it be desired to do so."

CONSUL SEEKS RELATIVES OF 3 AVIATORS

MEXICO CITY, March 28.—The American consul is making every effort to get in communication with the relatives of the three American fliers who were killed when their Fairchild plane crashed at Toluca near here yesterday. The dead are Sterling Rohlf, pilot, Wallace Springer and William E. King.

TWO WEDDINGS IN AFTERNOON JUDGE'S RECORD

Justice J. H. McDonald's services were required in performing two marriage ceremonies Tuesday afternoon. The first couple to be united in the bonds of wedlock were J. C. Smith and Mrs. Viola Bostwick, both of Amarillo. These took the vows of matrimony in the parlor of the Eppler hotel. Later Justice McDonald was called upon to perform a like ceremony when T. A. Minton and Mrs. Ella Mae Boyd, of Pioneer, drove up to the Eppler and announced that they wished to be married. The obliging justice officiated while the pair were seated in their car in front of the hotel.

brought out some new facts in the case that were not testified to at the other trials.

The little girls testified that when the bandits saw that they were being followed by a posse from Cisco they told them to get down in the bottom of the car, and one of the men remarked, "Let's get that son-of-a-bum." The little girl testified that she looked around on the outside of the car once and was hit in the head by one of the bandits.

REPORT SHOWS NO POISON IN GIRL'S BODY

FORT WORTH, Texas, March 28.—No trace of poison was found in the viscera of Laura Mae Strickel, 17 years old, whose body was found in the school house at Ferrin last week. It was learned here this morning after the Turrell laboratory had completed its analysis. The reports was forwarded to the Jacksboro authorities.

The grand jury is convening in Jacksboro today to investigate the girl's death.

Robert E. Crowe, 22 years old, the girl's sweetheart is being held in connection with the case. She was an expectant mother.

CHILD SUFFERS FRACTURED LEG WHILE AT PLAY

Ruby Lee Pritchard, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Pritchard, living at 1310 Legget avenue, was injured while at play on the West Ward school grounds Monday. Little Ruby fell from the steps on one of the playground equipment, a distance of about three feet. She was attended by a surgeon at once, when it was ascertained that she had sustained a slight fracture of her leg, after the injury was x-rayed Tuesday.

RAID BIG STILL BETWEEN CISCO AND EASTLAND

Eastland and Cisco officers raided a place about midway between the two towns Tuesday afternoon and destroyed about 130 gallons of corn mash, practically ready for a run through a still.

The mash was discovered in a cellar in a pasture on what is known as the old Yarbrough place, near the Bankhead highway. Officers in the party included City Manager Chatham and Chief of Police Lawrence, of Eastland, Deputy Constable Gober, and three members of the police force of Cisco. No arrests were made.

LOOKING THE WRITERS OVER

The blurb on the jacket and other fancy, printed publicity are no longer so important in making a best-seller of a book as lionizing the author himself. The bringing of Trader Horn, whose real name seems to be Al Smith, to New York City from South Africa, is an extreme example of this new publicity method.

Flying Now Latest Innovation Among Society of Washington

By SHIRLEL KIRKE International Illustrated News Staff Correspondent.

The great outdoors, and particularly the air above the earth, has lured such a potent call to Washington women that they have packed their little pink teas and other indoor diversions.

They are going into this business of cloud-soaring seriously, attending aviation schools and all. At such institutions they are not only learning how to fly, but are developing whatever "sense of flight" they may have—that extraordinary ultra-nervous sense that is getting to be common in birdmen. Particularly are women taking to the air who have an attack of aviation in the family, as it were, with brothers or husbands or somebody else in active air service.

Mrs. E. B. McLean, wife of the wealthy Washington publisher, has been known to take to the air to keep appointments in distant cities. Miss Margaret Bartlett, daughter of a famous Reno divorce lawyer, and a former congresswoman, flies hither and yon over the country, doing all her traveling by plane.

The list of women pilots includes the names of Ruth Elder and Ruth Nichols, who are far better known to the public. Women go airplane buying with their husbands, choosing the models just as they pick out the family flivver.

There is a tale about how Mrs. Trubee Davison came to fly at all. It's said, until, when at a field one day, a lovely sky-blue plane dropped from the air at her feet. She didn't want to fly.

It was her husband's new craft, and she was so delighted with the color that she climbed right in and rode off.

HELL BENDERS MYSTERY NOW SEALED BOOK

DENVER, March 28.—The mystery of what became of the "Hell Benders," probably can never be solved as the result of the death here of Col. A. M. York, who was instrumental in bringing about the downfall of the multiple murderers. The "Hell Benders" composed of John Bender, Sr., his wife, John Bender, Jr., and a mysterious daughter Kate lived on a farm in Kansas. Whenever a traveler stopped with them, he usually was never seen again. Col. York's story also verified by Edmund Pearson in a book on notorious murders of the early days, disclosed that his brother, Dr. William H. York, of Independence, Mo., left his home on horseback for Fort Scott, Kansas, the home of the colonel.

Never Seen Again. When Dr. York reached the home of the Benders, he stopped for the night. This fact was proven by neighbors along the road who had talked with the doctor before he stopped.

Cellar Graves. Underneath was a dark cellar and a secret tunnel leading to a sunken garden where Dr. York's and ten other bodies were found buried. Immediately the men, led by Col. York, set out in search of the Bender family. When they returned, all

ARCHITECTS WILL MEET IN ST. LOUIS SOON

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 28.—The sixty-first annual convention of the American Institute of Architects will be held here May 16, 17 and 18 with health and safety in the building industry as the keynote topic. A committee of the Institute is working with the Building Trades' Employers' association, The Workers Health Bureau and other organizations to safeguard life and lower economic waste in the industry and will report to the convention here.

GLENN GOES TO PENNEY CONFERENCE

Wald declared. "The committee desires to call the attention of all institute members and the architectural profession generally to the specific duty of individual architects in writing their specifications and drawing building contracts," Wald asserted in explaining the work being done by his committee prior to the convention.

CHAMBER PLANS AID TO COLLEGE; OTHER THINGS

The board of directors of the Cisco chamber of commerce at its meeting Tuesday evening in the headquarters endorsed the resolution adopted by the East Texas chamber of commerce asking the federal government to bear all the expenses of the fight to eradicate the pink boll worm and reimburse the farmers living in the infected district.

The efforts of Dr. T. T. Roberts of Randolph College in behalf of that institution were commended and it was decided that citizens will aid in bringing representatives of the congregations of the churches of West Texas here in a conference so that they may see the needs of the growing institution and help in the disposition of the bonds to be offered that will give the college ample funds to make the necessary improvements and do the work that it should do. Randolph College already has made an enviable reputation and its need in the educational system has been manifested.

Secretary Peters read a letter from Tom Hardin of Fort Worth, operations manager of the Texas Air Transport company, offering to send one of its experts here to aid in the selection and laying out of a landing field. The letter commended the action that is being taken by Cisco in establishing an airport.

Six names were selected to be sent to the city council from which two vacancies on the board of directors will be filled. The names of candidates to fill the third vacancy will be sent later. The two vacancies to be filled first are those of P. W. Campbell and L. J. Preston.

Those attending the meeting last night were F. D. Wright, first vice president, presided. W. W. Wallace, Dr. Charles Hale, W. K. Johnston, A. B. O'Flaherty, J. T. Elliott, H. S. Drumwright and Guy Dabney.

The proposition of establishing permanent encampment grounds at the lake also was discussed.

MAGEE LANDS UMPIRE JOB IN NATIONAL

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, March 28. — Sherwood Nottingham Magee is an umpire at last!

That would have been a somewhat whimsical line if written fifteen years ago when Sherwood was a leader in two very popular adjuncts of baseball: (a) individual hitting, (b) attacking the umpire.

Yet it has taken his friends upward of three years to get him appointed to the National League staff, the reason being that John A. Heydler once was an umpire and Magee once was known as an umpire-baiter. Now, however, he has come to the point where he considers he has been given a break because they are letting him wear the official blue.

Heydler's Objection

Heydler's specific objection to Magee was that, in other and better days, he scored a clean knockout over Umpire Finneran in full view of the delighted stands. It made no difference to Mr. Heydler that Finneran long since had passed into the obscurity that awaits the mediocre. A loved one had been attacked and naturally the man guilty was not for his league.

The incident in question was one of the high spots of the rather diverting life that Magee has led. It happened many years ago but I can see him yet as he stepped out of the box, dropped his bat and then dropped Finneran with a right hander to the jaw. The latter got the rest of the day off and Magee went him thirty better. He wasn't allowed to play again for a month. This happened when Magee still was with the Phillies, his first major league club.

He had quite a time before he departed from that town, one of his escapades including a leap from the window of the old Junction hotel, diagonally across from the ball park. If memory serves, Magee was carried away with a broken leg on that occasion.

The great tragedy of his life was the trade which sent him to the Boston Braves in 1915. Like many stars of his caliber, he never had appeared in a world series, the Phillies being a chronic second-runner. But 1915 saw them rise under Pat Moran to win the National League pennant for the first and only time. And Magee, who was overjoyed to be traded to the world champions of the year before, quickly soured when he discovered that the Braves were distinctly a one year ball club.

Disappointed Again

Later, he did get into the synthetic series in 1919 as a member of the Cincinnati Reds but he was past his prime then and, unless I am mistaken, he didn't appear in any of the games. Then he was overtaken by another disappointment.

The Reds let him go before the 1920 season started and he had a chance to stay in the league as a member of the Brooklyn Dodgers. But he refused to accept the terms offered and sent to the minors. Whereupon, the Dodgers galloped out and won the pennant.

Magee still has the pep and snap of his salad days but his face is lined with wrinkles from the many suns that have burned down upon many outfielders. He came up first away back in 1904.

He has given a very satisfactory performance in his official capacity with the Boston Braves at St. Petersburg. He makes his decisions with an air of assurance that carries conviction and his judgment seems to be all that it should be. It will be interesting to watch Magee in the umpire's blue this year.

BRITISH GOLF PLAYERS MAY OFFER GOLD

LONDON, March 28.—Samuel Ryder, donor of the International Golf Cup, which is competed for by professionals of the United States and Great Britain, has instituted a competition, which he hopes will raise the standard of professional play in Britain.

"I shall invite the 24 leading British players in the Opening Championship," says Ryder, "to play a 36 hole medal competition at St. Albans.

"They will all be paid a fee for playing and their traveling and hotel expenses. In addition to that substantial prizes will be given."

The tournament will probably be held towards the end of May. The British Open Championships will take place on the Royal St. George's Club links, at Sandwich, Kent, beginning May 7.

MODERN GIRL MAKES GOOD AS MOTHER

LONDON, March 28.—Whatever hard things have been said about the modern girl, there is no denying the fact she emerges from the trials and tribulations of motherhood with flying colors, in the opinion of Miss Edith Barwell, matron of the Belgrave Hospital for Children here.

"The men of today should not be afraid of the modern girl. She makes a wonderful mother," according to Miss Barwell.

With lifelong experience of mothers, girls and babies, Miss Barwell's opinion is worthy of respect. She is retiring shortly after 30 years' service with the hospital.

"Don't think the modern girl does not want a home and babies," Miss Barwell declared in an interview. "She does. What she may say to the contrary is sheer pretense.

"I have seen thousands of modern mothers, and they loved their

SALOON KEEPER LATEST THING IN OLE LUNNON

LONDON, March 28.—The society saloon keeper has arrived.

Hon. Henry Lygon, brother of Earl Beauchamp, ex-cabinet minister, is now the licensee of the Hand and Sheers, an old tavern in Cloth Fair, Smithfield, and is daily to be seen drawing beer for the porters and railroad workers who work in Smithfield meat markets.

His motive is to make the saloon a place where good food is obtainable, and luncheons are served at a cheap rate, irrespective of whether drinks are required or not.

"My object is already being realized," says Lygon. "We have come to the point where young women are beginning to come here to lunch and men are bringing their wives knowing that they will be able to enjoy a well cooked meal in a well-conducted house."

"For one shilling we offer a choice of three points, two vegetables and numerous pies. I find our customers a really friendly lot, who appreciate what we are trying to do and I'm quite accustomed to the call now—'Pint of beer, please!'"

RCA-Radiola 17
Require Neither Batteries Nor Battery Eliminators

It operates directly from the lighting socket by means of the new "AC" Radiotrons. That is one of the reasons why Radiola 17 is the year's outstanding achievement in radio. Simplicity of operation, sturdy construction and excellent tone quality are outstanding features of this new receiver. Tuning is accomplished entirely by one knob. In addition there is only a volume control to regulate the output and a switch to turn the current on and off.

In Radiola 17, the owner finds all of the refinements that recent developments have contributed to the radio art. Its compact cabinet, beautifully finished in mahogany, contains all the mechanism necessary for operation. Over the tuning control, there is a small electric light which not only illuminates the station selector but also serves as an indicator that the current is on or off.

BANDIT BIRGER NOTED KILLER SOON TO HANG

By FRANCIS P. HEALY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BENTON, Ill., March 28.—Charlie Birger, gangster generalissimo of the southern Illinois badlands, once the most powerful figure in a land torn with strife and bloodshed, is scheduled to go to his death on the gallows here April 13 for the murder of Mayor Joe Adams, of West City, Ill.

With the execution of Birger, which will occur unless something now unforeseen should happen, the middlewest will lose one of the worst but one of the most colorful bandits of all time.

Brave as a lion, cautious as a fox, with the false courage of a potentate backed by powerful gangsters, Birger never hesitated when a deed of violence was consummated.

Into villages and good sized towns, he strode, two guns strapped to his hips, head up, snarling defiance at law and authorities; the dapper gangster would go. He asked his enemies to meet him on the street, to "shoot it out." He asked no quarter and gave none himself.

Thinning Ranks
With him in his illicit liquor and vice enterprises were such noteworthies in "Bloody Williamson" county as Carl, Earl and Bernard Shelton, Ray "Izzy" Hyland, Art Newman, Connie Wooster and others. That was years ago.

Since then the ranks have been diminished due to hard work by prosecutors and gangster guns.

Newman is serving a life sentence for participation in the same murder for which Birger is sentenced to hang. Carl, Earl and Bernard Shelton have been sentenced to serve 25 years in prison for a mail robbery. They are now out on bond appealing the decision to the federal court.

Hyland is serving a life term, Ritter, hunted in the bayous of Louisiana whence he had fled rat-like when the Sheltons were arrested, was finally nabbed and was held for trial.

The gang is gone. Gone also are the machine guns, the roadhouse nest where many murders were planned, the armored car with which Birger terrorized his neighbors, the airplane and bombs.

Plays All Fall
Once they were all together, Birger and the lot. But internecine warfare sprang up—furns nursed by hatred in the liquor rackets and soon all were snatched at one another's throats. Birger and Newman allied themselves against the Sheltons to the latter's sorrow. Then Birger and Newman from opposite sides of a court hurled anathema at each other to no avail.

Birger, cornered and sentenced, whimpered from a cell here recently that he had been given a "bum deal." He broadcast an appeal for pity among the people of southern Illinois whom he defied for years. He asked them to give him clemency for his "wife and babies" the same wife and babies whom he had plunged into an atmosphere of all that was not clean.

He begged of the supreme court of Illinois to save his life which failed as the court concurred with

American Engineers to Offer Plan for Uniform Traffic Light System For the Entire United States

NEW YORK, March 28.—Street signs, signals and markings will be the same in all the cities of the United States, and confusion in traffic control will be wiped out, if recommendations in a report by the American Engineering Council are carried out, it was announced today by A. W. Beresford, president of the council.

Motorists will be assured of standards as a result of a nationwide survey, in which conditions in more than 100 cities, with a population in excess of $35,000,000, were exhaustively investigated, according to Beresford.

"Recognizing the wide variation both in type of signs, signals and markings, and in their meaning," Mr. Beresford said, "The American Engineering Council, working in cooperation with the Hoover Conference on Street and Highway Safety, aims to eliminate the maze of colors, shapes and meanings that has been attached to every conceivable accessory for the regulation of traffic."

Signals Vary
"The state of New Jersey has written part of these recommendations into a uniform state law now before the legislature, which, it is expected, will be enacted during the present session."

"Almost every motorist has had the experience of driving through several cities on a single day's trip, finding different signal systems in each city. He has found these different systems with different light arrangements and in different locations at the crossings, have actually meant different things for the same color light."

"In driving about the country, motorists will find green-yellow-red systems, in which the yellow means that all traffic is to be halted and pedestrians are to go, in which a five-second cautionary or warning interval is indicated, in which only right or left hand turns can be made, or in which he will also have to wait for a bell to ring before proceeding further."

"When the green comes on he is doubtless as badly confused because when he wants to turn to the left in Washington, he must first pull over to the right and wait for the light to change, whereas in the next large city he comes to, Baltimore, for example, if he wishes to turn left on the green light he pulls over to the left hand side of the street and weaves through oncoming traffic."

"His problem would be expected to be solved when the red comes on, and he doubtless stops, but in some places, like Atlantic City, red actually means 'go' for all who wish to turn to the right at intersections. In at least one other city he will find a single red light that will come on and demand that he stop, when he can proceed the red light simply goes off."

Light of Many Colors
"Who has not driven from city to city to find red, yellow, green, white, blue and other colored signs in every conceivable shade used in traffic control. Shapes as numerous as colors and messages of greater variety and intent may be found on the signs."

"Pavement markings are less numerous in color and word arrangement and location, but they are nevertheless widely diversified in various cities."

"All of this American Engineering Council has aimed to correct by recommending a comparatively few standards which, it is intended, shall be of great assistance to motorists, to municipal officials, and to manufacturers of the various products—a real public service if the recommendations can be carried into effect."

The work of the American Engineering Council's committee on street signs, signals and markings has been under the direction of W. B. Powell of Buffalo, N. Y., traffic engineer of Baltimore, serving as chairman, and A. C. Oliphant of Washington, D. C., executive secretary.

French Plans
France has a number of aviators who are eager to try the flight that brought disaster to Nussessor and Coli, and other brave souls. The popular choice among the French people seems to be Dieudonne Costes and Joseph Lebrun, who have announced their intention of attempting a non-stop flight from Paris to New York. It is also probable that one of the planes that were built in France last year for such a flight, but did not get away before winter set in, may essay the hazardous westerly flight. Those planes included Tarcason's Oiseau Tango

NAVY WAR ACE TO ENTER LIST FOR BIG PRIZE

CLEVELAND, O., March 28.—David S. Ingalls, the only navy ace in the World War, will be one of the entrants in the $100,000 airplane competition of the Guggenheim foundation, he intimated to friends here with the announcement that he is having a specially constructed airplane built for the "big race," which will be completed in a few months. The plane will be capable of making 115 miles an hour, it is said.

"I want to win the prize; but I won't be the pilot in that race," Ingalls said. He would not say whether he would take up private flying again. He declared he has not been behind "the controls" since had "airights with the Germans during the war."

and the Farman Company's Blue Bird.

Eastward flights are also contemplated this summer. Ever though that trail has been blazed by Lindbergh, Byrd, Chamberlin and others, Charles A. Levine New York-to-Germany flyer, has indicated that he may attempt another long non-stop flight. Cesare Sabelli, Italian war flyer, and another as yet unnamed pilot, plan a New York-to-Rome hop in a new long range Bellanca monoplane.

German Woman To Fly
Theda Rasche, the German woman flyer, intends to return to the United States soon to prepare for a non-stop flight from New York to Berlin. If she accomplishes her object she will be the first woman to fly across the Atlantic, the only other woman who has come close being Miss Ruth Elder.

Of the sixteen persons who lost their lives trying to span the ocean, nine were making westerly trip and seven were headed eastward when they met disaster. The victims included three women—Miss Mackey, Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim of England and Mrs. Frances W. Grayson of the United States.

It has been proven beyond all doubt that the westward flight, because of the stiff head winds encountered, is by far the most hazardous journey.

ATLANTIC HOPS TAKES TOLL OF
SIXTEEN LIVES

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, March 28.—Sixteen lives have been lost in attempts to fly across the Atlantic ocean but that will not deter other aviators from trying it again as soon as warmer weather sets in. The recent death of Elsie Mackay, the pretty steel-nerved daughter of an English lord, and Captain Walter Hinchliffe, who vanished in an attempt to fly from Europe to America, lastly served to stimulate the ambition of foreign aviators to be the first to accomplish the feat.

Captain Herman Koehl, the German "ace," is now making preparations to make the westward flight. If he succeeds he will be given a prize of 100,000 marks offered by the Aero Club of Germany. He intends to fly a plane which is of a design similar to the Bremen, in which he and his flying partner, Fritz Loose, made a start for America last fall.

BAN BEAUTY CONTESTS IN ALL COLLEGES

DENVER, March 28.—Beauty contests in universities and colleges are rapidly receiving the expressed disapproval of many western deans of women. Anne M. Shuler, dean of Women at the University of Denver emphatically denounced beauty contests for college women because it lowers the women's standards.

"The only word that I can use for beauty contests," said Dean Shuler, "is that they are a complete inanity. Beauty contests put a wrong value upon beauty, making physical grace as apparently the only standard of achievement."

Insult To Girls
"It is degrading and insulting to the girls whose brains are entirely overlooked. The co-eds are insulted with Follies girls when they submit themselves to beauty contests, women of those days valued form and figure to be exploited at man's will.

Miss Lucy Van Cotti, dean of women at the University of Utah through an article published in the Utah Chronicle, the student paper, added her word of disapproval.

"In the beauty selection many beautiful girls are left out and those chosen are picked by judges ignorant of personality and spirit of the contestants. Judging is done on a purely external and inadequate basis."

LONDON, March 28.—I direct my wife shall not disguise herself by wearing what are called widow's weeds," stated John Henry Wilcox of Minehead, Somerset, in his will. He left $35,000 all to his wife. He also directed that there should be no flowers at his funeral.
