

PROSPECTIVE BOLTERS ARE RAPPED HARD

AUSTIN, Mar. 30.—Taking a shot at prospective bolters of the party, George B. Terrell, commissioner of agriculture, in a statement today declared that "those who publicly state that they will bolt unless a prohibitionist is nominated for president, and who are not willing to abide by party usage as practiced from time immemorial may find themselves on the outside of the Democratic breast-work at Beaumont and Houston."

Both the state and national conventions are more likely to seat the delegations who observe party rules and regularity," Terrell said.

Statement

His statement in part follows: "Personally I would prefer a good, strong dry, Democrat, and would like to instruct for one who stands and chance of being elected, but without any outstanding dry leader who is developing any strength, it is probably better not to instruct. It will not bolt my party. I am as strong a prohibitionist as there is in the state, and have proven it by forty years fight against the saloons, but I sacrifice no principle in agreeing to vote for the choice of a majority of my fellow Democrats. Prohibition has never been made a party test in either the Democratic or Republican party, and I know that if we make prohibition or religion the test of fealty to the party that we are hopelessly defeated and need not nominate a ticket. Woodrow Wilson and Grover Cleveland the only Democratic presidents elected and seated in seventy years, were anti-prohibitionists."

Cover Everything

The platform need not cover everything and touch nothing like a mother-in-law's dress, but it should declare for fundamental Democratic principles, for the enforcement of all laws (and this includes the prohibition laws) for honesty, ability and integrity in governmental affairs, for the punishment of grafters, for economy and reduction of taxes, for the right of the states to manage their own local affairs, for the abolishment of federal boards and bureaus that assume to dictate to everybody and deny responsibility to anybody, for a revision of the protective tariff downward, that will give the producers of farm products the same benefits enjoyed by the manufacturing industries, for the collection of the foreign debts, and for a foreign policy that will stop the slaughter of our boys, by not sending them to meddle with other people's business, and which can be defended at home and respected abroad.

When we should have the strongest Democrat you can find, regardless of where you live, in this view on prohibition, we have one who will enforce the laws and put a distinguished Texas Democrat on the ticket as his running mate, which now seems likely to be done, close up ranks, and win a glorious Democratic victory over which all loyal Democrats can rejoice.

METHODISTS TO HOLD PRE-EASTER SERVICES

The pre-Easter meeting at the First Methodist church will begin Sunday. The pastor with the officials and the church membership will conduct the revival. The theme for the revival is "His Last Week." A booklet will be distributed Sunday, which contains an organized form the scripture pertaining to Passion Week. The public is invited to all the services.

SINGERS WILL MEET AT OLDEN SUNDAY

OLDEN, March 30.—A big community singing will be enjoyed at Olden Sunday afternoon, commencing at 2 o'clock, and all singers of the county are cordially invited to meet with Olden on this date. The band quartet, famed over the county, are on the program for this singing.

The ladies of the Berean Sunday school class of the First Methodist church will have a bake sale at the System Saturday.

Army's Heavy Artillery Proves Too Much for Navy in Practice Game of Football; Score 12-6

The Army's heavy artillery proved too much for the Navy in their football game staged on Chesley field Thursday afternoon, the Army winning by the score of 12 to 6.

The Army was the star of the game, and his smashing drives proved too much for the Navy. The game was interesting from start to finish and was very closely contested. Both teams resorted to the air and several forward passes were completed for nice gains. The first half ended with neither team scoring. At the beginning of the second half the Army kicked to the Navy and rolled the ball on about the twelve yard line. In an attempted buck the Navy fumbled and the ball rolled out of bounds but was last touched in the field of play by an Army player, giving the Army the ball on the fifteen yard line. Eddleman carried the ball around left end to the one yard line and then King carried the ball within inches of the goal line.

point was missed. Navy received and carried the ball to the middle of the field on off tackle plays and punts. Yeager proving to be the best ground gainer. A long forward pass from Coats to C. Stockard gave the Navy the ball inside the ten yard line from where they bucked it over. C. Turknett plunging through center for the touchdown. Goal was missed. In the fourth quarter King and Eddleman used a lateral pass for a nice gain. Then Christian, playing end for the Army, took a pass from Eddleman and carried it all to the one yard line.

Eddleman plumed across for the touchdown, making the score 12 to 6 in favor of the Army. The Navy made desperate attempts to tie the score in the last few minutes of the game, throwing many passes, but the Army held them scoreless. Pinkerton, center for the Navy, played a brilliant game on defense, smothering many of the Army's plays behind the line. Meadows, of the Army, played a good defensive game and caught several sensational passes, two of which were called back because of penalties.

King, half for the Army, did some nice line plunging. Wagnan, L. Miller and Lankford played good defensive games for the Army. For the Navy Coldwell, Barham and R. Miller played excellent games in the line, with Yeager proving to be the best ball carrier. Coats did some nice punting for the Navy.

This game was a practice game before the Lobos meet the Haskell high school team on Chesley field next Friday. The squad for spring training was divided into two groups as nearly evenly matched as possible. "Sheenie" Eddleman coached the Army and Charlie Coldwell coached the Navy. K. N. Greer, of the Palace theater, had promised the winning team a picture show party. After seeing the closeness of the game and the hard fight put up by both teams, Mr. Greer invited both teams to the picture show.

The line-ups:

The Army	Position	The Navy
L. Miller	Center	Pinkerton
Wagnan	Center	McCanlies
Condit	Right Guard	R. Miller
Pratt	Left Guard	Coldwell
B. Bennie	Right Tackle	Baham
Meadows	Left Tackle	C. Stockard
Christian	Right End	Norvel
W. Stockard	Left End	C. Turknett
King	Quarter	Leveridge
R. Turknett	Left Half	Yeager
Eddleman	Full	Coats
	Subs:	Army, Lankford, Navy, Elliott
	Referee:	Golightly; umpire, Blanton; head linesman, Coats.

Unclaimed Body of Mrs. V. Hughes Buried Decently

RANGER, March 30.—Through the charity of Ranger citizens the body of Mrs. Virginia Hughes, the penniless and friendless young woman who died at the City County hospital Tuesday, was saved from a pauper's grave, was buried Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Evergreen cemetery at Ranger, Rev. George W. Shearer, pastor of the First Methodist church, conducting the service. A telegram sent to her sister at Archmont, Long Island, New York, yesterday, received no reply. Funeral services were conducted at the grave, which was not located in the potter's field. Numerous donations from Ranger residents made it possible for a casket to be purchased and the Owens funeral home secured a small plot of land located out of the pauper's section.

Chicago Gangland War Takes Toll of More Than 100 Men in Sixteen Months, Records of Court Show

(This is the second of a series of articles on Chicago gang and gang leaders.)

By International News Service. CHICAGO, March 30.—Leadership of men, the command of big business, calls for the highest qualities of mind and heart. Johnny Torrio had elements of greatness—did he not show adaptability, alertness to opportunity, and great business acumen when he seized upon prohibition as the ladder by which a little local gambling and vice syndicate was to climb to a business of $75,000 a year? But he had his failings. For one thing, he was not sufficiently observant to mark the growing intimacy between Jack Cusick, financial officer of the syndicate and his chief executive officer, and Al Capone, who shared with Dion O'Bannon equal rank as to speak, vice president.

For another thing, he was a man little mean of spirit. He was rigidly sure. Many a humble worker in the ranks came to him with his troubles, only to be turned away hurt and angry. Capone, on the other hand, always made friends. He would help—his hand was always in his pocket for the distressed retainer. Yes, he thought the chief might have gone to the front for the man—but he shouldn't get sore. After all the chief had a lot on his mind, probably. Anyway, the loyal worker could always count on him. And it was all in the family, wasn't it?

Capone Made Friends
So Capone made friends, loyal friends who would do a good turn any time.

Capone was questioned, too, when "Dutch" Bunker and "Geogia" Meegan, members of the Spike O'Donnell gang fell to their death before the roar of sawed-off shotguns. Nothing came of that either.

When "Two Gun" Johnny Dougherty's body was picked up from a desolate road on the outskirts of the city Capone again faced inquisitors. But by this time, under the able tutelage of Jackie Cusick, he was adroit in facing questionnaires successfully, and was released by the police.

Years Bring Change

In fact Capone, today stands convicted of not one crime. Years had brought about a change. No longer was Capone the flashy sheik of yesteryear. He was now the business man dressed in conservative fashion. He is today.

Murder followed murder. More than 100 men were killed in sixteen months. McSwain fell in front of a west side saloon. Jimmy Dougherty, "Red" Duffy and others were picked off by the deadly weapons of gangland. Their slayers are unknown to police.

Capone prospered. So did Cusick. So did Torrio—for a time. But one day as Torrio stepped from the doorway of his home, there was a train of machine guns and Torrio fell. He wasn't dead, however.

For weeks the gangster chief lay in a hospital, slowly creeping back from the death to which he had been sentenced. He finally walked straight from the hospital to the "real" building. He had thought over and knew when to do anything few gangsters ever do.

His attorneys bartered the federal prosecutors and Torrio accepted a nine months in the county jail.

Capone by the hand, introduced him to the necessary persons and instructed him to accept Capone as chief until Torrio came back. When Torrio's nine months were up he approached Capone and asked for the reins of government back.

Torrio Banished
Capone laughed. So did Cusick. "You're through, Torrio. You've got about 24 hours. Beat it," Torrio "got." Like a ghost he flitted. From that day to this "Scarface Al" Capone has ruled the Chicago underworld.

"Scarface Al" Capone, after ascending to power in the Chicago underworld, ruled with an iron hand which was soon felt by the many little "independents" who sought to oust him from power. In a few years directly or indirectly, he disposed of such luminaries as "Polack Joe" Salts, south side beer baron; Frankie McErlend, tried for murder in Indiana; Dion O'Bannon, former muscleman for the north side mob; Vincent "Schneider" Drucci; Hymie Weiss; Big George Moran and others. Only Spike O'Donnell is alive today—but very much out of sight.

There were others—lone wolves, heads of minor groups. The corner was kept busy.

PUTNAM

The revival now in progress at the Methodist church with Rev. Landers of Abilene doing the preaching is drawing large congregations and making good progress.

The Woman's Missionary union of the Baptist church held a business and social session in the home of the pastor Tuesday evening. After the business session ice cream and cake were served. Mrs. Jobe and Mrs. J. E. Black were hostesses. Mrs. E. G. Scott resigned as president and was succeeded by Mrs. Laura Jobe. Among those present were the following: Mesdames E. G. Scott, L. Jobe, Jewell Golsen, John Cook, Joe Green, S. M. Eubanks, Tiny Jobe, J. E. Black, Fred Cook and Neil Everett.

The pastor will conduct services Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, and Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and again at 8 in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Gaskins visited Cayton and report having had an enjoyable time. Since returning home, Mrs. Gaskins has been slightly indisposed.

Mr. Black has been numbered among the indisposed the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcellus Tatam visited at the home of J. E. Black Wednesday.

The track team of the school anticipates a great time at Baird Friday and Saturday at the county track meet.

Fashioned like the knitting units employed in weaving stockings, a special needle for mending runs is easily used and effectively conceals the damaged area. No additional thread is necessary as the strands of the stocking supply sufficient material for the mending.

As the State of California began its probe into the tragic St. Francis dam break and flood, the board of harbor commissioners transferred $1,000,000 to the general fund of Los Angeles for flood relief. At left, photo shows Mayor George E. Cryer of Los Angeles appropriating the million for relief and rehabilitation. SCOUT LEADER COURSE OPENS TO TRAIN DAD

Scout Executive G. N. Quiri opened a training school for Scout Leaders Thursday evening in the Lions and Rotarians hall. He now has schools giving prospective Scout leaders intensified training at Ranger, Eastland and Cisco, and plans to open one in Rising Star this evening. The course will continue through five weeks, once each week. The school will be held in Cisco every Thursday evening for five weeks. The object of the school is to train "Dads" and give them an idea of how to understand his boy and see things from the boy's angle. According to Scout doctrine, a trained dad is the man who has seriously studied the dad business. He bases all his decisions, so far as they relate to the boy, on knowledge. Approximately twenty were on hand the first night, and were divided into two patrols. How to tie knots were taught as well as games, that were played. Hopes are entertained that at least forty or 50 will take the course as is being done in Eastland and Ranger.

The aim and plan of the course as outlined is to reach the strongest business and professional men of the community. To prove to them that scouting is a strong boy's program for character training.

To better equip men to serve on various scouting committees that they may function understandingly, sympathetically and willingly. To find men of character who will become scout masters. To provide a means of mental, inspirational and recreational advancement with a motive strong enough to appeal to prominent busy men, and yet simple and interesting and magnetic enough to attract them.

Among those who enrolled Thursday night were J. T. Maddox, E. E. Lennon, O. C. Lomax, R. A. Williams, L. A. Carter, R. M. Herron, O. J. Russell, J. D. Lauderdale, K. H. Pittard and others.

To fill the working people's minds with fancied wrongs may be a temporary short road to popularity, but it has always proven a sure road to failure.

4,000 MUTTONS CHANGE HANDS COLEMAN DEAL

COLEMAN, March 30.—Alexander Brothers, large Concho, Brown and Coleman county sheep raisers and stockmen, this week consummated one of the largest deals in this section of the state. By the terms of the sale part of which were not made public, Alexander Brothers contracts to deliver 4,000 yearling muttons and ewes out of wool from the shearing pen in May. A flat rate per head was not announced by Dick Alexander, who was in Coleman consummating details of the trade.

Most of the yearlings will come from the Concho ranch along the banks of the Colorado river. Alexanders trade largely in sheep and at times have as high as 8,000 to 10,000 head in their flocks. The value of wolf clubs being formed all over this part of West Texas was highly praised by Alexander, stating that tests have indicated that sheep will shear more wool and raise more lambs when it is unnecessary to herd them into small confines. The Alexander Brothers are large contributors to clubs in all counties in which they have ranches.

CORPORATION PLEDGE HELD TO BE CONTRACT

AUSTIN, March 30.—Subscription to a fund for the creation of a corporation constitutes a "binding and irrevocable contract," the supreme court says. The court reversed an appeals court decision holding that J. M. Crawford, Coleman, had the right to refuse to pay $5,000 he pledged to the Coleman (Texas) Hotel company.

Crawford, the record indicated, declined to put up the money when he disagreed with other donors about certain details concerning the hotel building.

PUSH BUTTON RADIO READY FOR PUBLIC

CHICAGO, March 29 — The "push button" radio, which automatically selects stations, will be made available to any manufacturer who desire to use it, according to control rights on the latter radio invention.

McDonald acquired rights to the new radio from H. N. Marvin and A. J. Vassel, the New York inventors.

The device, literally, realizes the remark frequently made by radio fans, "pretty soon, all you'll have to do will be to push a button to get the station you want."

The new set differs little in appearance from the ordinary ones. However, ten, twenty or more buttons constitute the tuning apparatus.

Lying abed in the evenings the author can touch a button and instantly tune in his favorite station, of switch stations instantly without tuning.

A panel containing the tuning buttons, may be separated from the radio, according to Irving Henriett, associated with McDonald and placed at any point in the house, if so designed.

Rights to the new tuning system will be leased to other manufacturers within a short time, according to McDonald.

One of the country's largest manufacturers of radio is understood to have begun negotiations for manufacturing rights to the "push button radio."

COLLEGE HEAD FAVORS TEST FOR STUDENTS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 29.—A pre-college test for all high school students, to determine character, industry and seriousness, rather than mental efficiency and learning was urged by Dr. Clarence Cook Little, the president of the University of Michigan, in an address here recently.

"At Michigan, we find that high school grades do not tell the story," Dr. Little declared. "For instance: A girl came to us with an exceptionally poor high school record four years after her graduation from high school. If we had judged her scholarship standards we would have denied her admission."

We investigated her case and found she had come to the United States from Poland, just a short time before she entered high school. Her lack of English had been responsible for her poor showing. In her four years out of school she had helped support her mother by working on a Chicago daily newspaper, and thus was enabled to perfect her knowledge of English. She is now one of our most brilliant students."

For keeping a record of the mileage made, when tires and oil were changed, and other data, a convenient auto logbook is fastened to a clamp attached to the dash. The holder is so adjusted that it can be swung back out of the way when the book is not in use or may be taken off altogether simply by releasing a thumb screw.

There should be and there is opportunity for all. But it must come through individual ability.

CLARA BOW GIVES LESSON ON HOW TO GET YOUR MAN

How to free a man one loves from a loveless betrothal of 17 years standing is shown in "Get Your Man," Paramount's latest starring vehicle for Clara Bow, which will be shown at the Palace theater Sunday and Monday. In the picture, Clara is a young American girl who has fallen in love with a French youth, Charles Rogers, who was engaged to another girl, when five years of age under the French custom in which parents choose the mates of their children.

The efforts of Miss Bow to cause the breaking of this engagement supply many of the clever situations with which the picture abounds.

The plot carries one into a wax-works museum where the boy and girl fail to exist at the closing hour and are forced to spend the night together in a room surrounded by mechanical figures which walk, wave their arms, roll their eyes, brandish swords and even execute murder.

The girl, was universally accredited with being the outstanding possessor of "It" following her huge success in Elmer Glyn's story of the same name, is said to have as great a role in "Get Your Man" as was given her in "It," "Rough House Rosie" or "Hula," her three previous starring vehicles. Miss Bow is surrounded by a capable cast including Charles Rogers, who last appeared with her in "Wings," Josef Swickard, Josephine Dunn and Harvey Clarke.

PRE-EASTER MEETING

The pre-Easter meeting at the Church of God, F Avenue at Eleventh street, begins Sunday night, April 1. It will continue every night throughout the week. It is expected that a large crowd will attend this meeting.

The general theme of the meeting will be, "The Plan of Redemption." It will be discussed in a series of eight sermons.

The subjects for each evening will be as follows: "The What and Why," April 1; "The How," April 2; "First Step," April 3; "Last Step," April 4; "Redeemed," April 5; "The Highway," April 6; "Can I Fall?" April 7; "The Easter Query," April 8.

The public is cordially invited to attend this meeting. Rev. J. W. Baidorf, Minister.

You cannot get anywhere quarreling with the public. The thing to do is to show them.

DIRECTORS NOMINATED BY ROTARY

At the election next Thursday, the directors, plus the president, who is a hold-over director, will elect the incoming officers for the ensuing year, consisting of a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, who will assume their duties in July.

A letter from Harry Rogers, one of the outstanding Rotary Internationalists, was read in which he voiced his appreciation of the congratulations sent him by the Cisco club felicitating him on his recent election as president of the second largest financial institution in the South, that of president of the National Exchange bank of Tulsa, Okla.

A communication from Governor Ellis Boyd said: "For the first time since I have been district governor the 41st district appears among the High Ten in Rotary International's attendance record for the month of February, with an average of 90.42."

It was announced that at the suggestion of the local president, District Governor Boyd had named Tom Reid as one of the song leaders at the Rotary district conference to be held in Lubbock in April, and also had appointed B. C. Boney on the conference program for a talk on "My Vocation."

P. P. Shepard and R. A. Williams, new members, were present, and under the new plan of the Cisco club for instructing incoming members, they were given an instructive lecture by J. B. Cate on the duties of Rotarians.

Guests at the luncheon included W. L. Anderson, of Fort Worth, and Rotarians Raymond Deal of Ranger, C. Y. Perkins and J. M. Armstrong, of Eastland, and E. H. Pope, of Fort Worth.

A splendid song program was enjoyed with Tom Reid leading, and Miss Velma Walters at the piano.

CORPORATION PLEDGE HELD TO BE CONTRACT

AUSTIN, March 30. — Subscription to fund for the creation of a corporation constitutes a "binding and irrevocable contract" the supreme court says. The court reversed an appeals court decision holding that J. M. Crawford, Coleman had the right to refuse to pay $5,000 he pledged to the Coleman Texas Hotel company.

Crawford, the record indicated, declined to put up the money when he disagreed with other donors about certain details concerning the hotel building.
