TEXAS

BUSINESS BEFORE POLITICS.

—This column does not concern itself with politics, but I am interested in learning to what extent the public mind is absorbed in political matters to the neglect of business and other vital problems of the state's economic development. While attending a meeting of the South Texas Press association a few days ago, I made it a point to inquire of many editors as to the interest in politics in their localities. I found it to be so slight as to be almost nil. Most of the editors frankly stated that they have been so absorbed in problems of local concern—industrial development, irrigation, farm improvements, farm industries, bond issues, educational matters and affairs of local interest—that they knew little or nothing of any three-cornered fight among Texas Democrats, and that their readers knew and cared less about politics. A number stated that in their opinion politicians are going to have a hard time getting people to listen to them talk and that they predict that crowds at political gatherings in Texas will be small this year, because the people have more vital problems to deal with, or, rather, problems in which their efforts will count more. One thing seems pretty certain. Business is not going to stand in Texas this year because it is a national and state political year. Texas is going along as usual and its people expect 1928 to be the greatest business year in the history of the state.

SCHOOL STYLE SHOW.

—More than 600 high school girls, accompanied by teachers and parents, are in San Antonio this week for high schools all over the state in which there are home economics departments. These are the girls who have been winners in contests in the making of clothing in their local schools. They are at San Antonio to contest for state prizes and honors in a showing of more than 2,000 dresses they have made at school. Incidentally they will learn much of Texas and of Texas history, and lifelong friendships will be formed among girls from different sections of the state. They will leave San Antonio knowing more of Texas and loving their state better. The clothing contest, which is merely one feature of home economics as taught in many Texas high schools, was inaugurated several years ago by Miss Lillian Peck, then an assistant, but now director of home economics in the state department of education, through whose constant interest and untiring energy the state exhibit and contest has grown from a small beginning to its present state-wide interest.

APPRECIATES TEXAS MORE.

—A Texan, whose name escapes me—I think he was from Cisco—returning from a trip to New York, said to a reporter: "I wouldn't trade my home town in Texas for all of New York with the entire Atlantic ocean thrown in. A fellow needs to get away from home once in a while to appreciate all the blessings we have all around us in Texas." That citizen, whether from Cisco or any other Texas town, expresses the feeling of almost every Texan whose business calls him away from the state occasionally or who now and then decides to leave the state in search of pleasure in other states or countries. Travel is a good thing, but the best thing about it is the increased appreciation of home and home folks that comes from it.

WACO FIGHTING BACK.

—Waco citizens are not pleased with the possibility of having to give up Baylor university, long the pride of the city and of Central Texas, to Dallas, and they have decided not to surrender their claim without putting up a "fight to the finish." In this they are being joined by many ex-students of the university. There is a sentiment about the locale of one's alma mater that is almost as strong as that for the institution itself and this sentiment backing Waco is a factor to be considered.

COMPETITION AND SUCCESS.

—One advocate of the removal of Baylor university from Waco to Dallas is quoted as saying, in substance, that competition creates success. He referred to the competition that Baylor would have with other Dallas schools. I am not especially interested in the matter of the Baylor location, but the statement as to competition and success is misleading. In some instances competition helps, in others it kills. Every banker can tell you that competition has schools, banks, business, agriculture, effort of this is an era of co-operation. Banks operate of all kinds. Even publishers that two newspapers for one. Farm-

Jury in Ratliff Case Is Still Out

NEW WITNESS SAYS BEDFORD NOT EXPOSED

The Ratliff jury was still out at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon, a telephone message to the Cisco News stated.

ANSON, April 27.—An early verdict was not expected in the case of Marshall Ratliff, bank bandit, on trial here for murder in connection with the death of George W. Carmichael, former Cisco police officer, slain following the robbery of the First National bank in Cisco December 23, when the jury was reported to be still out at 12:40 this afternoon. The arguments were completed Thursday, and the case was given to the jury at 7:1 o'clock last night.

Failing to reach a verdict in the first votes the jury retired early last night, and after breakfast this morning again began their deliberations.

Closing the trial ahead of schedule when testimony was concluded Thursday morning, attorneys began their arguments Thursday, which consumed all the afternoon.

Tom Reid, Fine Arts Instructor at Randolph College, Writes Verse For Cisco Horned Frog, Anota Rip

CONCERT TO BE GIVEN TONIGHT BY CISCO HIGH

A concert will be given tonight by the Cisco high school choral club at the school auditorium starting at 8 o'clock. The club is rated as one of the most outstanding of the state. In competition at the College of Industrial Arts, the Cisco club won second place honors, competing against high schools from Dallas and Fort Worth and other cities. The Cisco club gained highest honors in a contest given at Fort Worth by the Texas Women's college recently. Miss Frances McGinnis won a scholarship winning first place in a solo contest. Funds taken in for the concert will go toward buying a piano for the school.

M. C. Kleiman Exonerated In Federal Court

Morris C. Kleiman, of Cisco, who was recently indicted in federal court on three counts charging him with concealing property from his trustee in bankruptcy, was exonerated at Abilene yesterday, when the federal judge instructed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty. Fifteen or more witnesses were examined by the court. Hon. B. W. Patterson of Cisco, represented Mr. Kleiman.

There have been songs written for the world's greatest locomotion, for war heroes, for trans-Atlantic fliers and for beauties of the day, but never has there been a tune penned especially for a horned toad until today. And it is for Cisco's horned toad, Anota Rip, who is soon to take a nap for an undetermined length of time in the interest of science.

Heroes, fame and glory are well-earned, it has been proved. Eastland started the world with its horned toad, alleged to have slept for thirty-one years. Some believe it and some do not. Cisco is going to make the first experiment. Anota Rip, a healthy and intelligent horned toad, whose family and descendants are better known as Iguanidites, has been chosen.

Tom Reid, head of the fine arts department of Randolph college, has written a verse especially for Anota Rip. It will be sung by Cisco civic clubs. W. H. LaRogue, advertising manager of the Cisco News and American, who is sponsoring the experiment, received the verse this morning. Here it is:

CISCO'S FROG, ANOTA RIP.

Sung to tune of Peggy O'Neil

You have heard of Eastland's frog, That slept thirty-one years, Quite a stunt you must admit; But we have nothing to fear, Our frog, Anota can sure show her stuff.

We'll show them in Eastland, and call their bluff. LaRogue is her keeper. There's none that can beat her. Anota, please sleep thirty-two!

Plans will be announced in a few days for the public ceremony to be given Anota Rip. Keen interest is taken in the Cisco frog.

BLAST IN OIL TANK, RANGER MAN IS BURNED

RANGER, April 27.—His body, mass of burns and seriously injured, though not thought fatally injured, W. F. Murray, employe of Burton-Lingo Lumber Co., lies in the West Texas Clinic and Hospital at Ranger as the result of an explosion here Thursday.

Murray and J. W. Lawson, also an employe of the lumber company, were painting a galvanneal iron cistern and were using a lantern for lighting purposes. It is believed that gas fumes caused the explosion by ignition from the lighted lantern. Murray was dragged from the burning tank by Lawson, who had just emerged from the inside of the tank. Lawson was on top of the tank receiving material that Murray was taking out. The finishing touches were being placed on the interior paint job when the explosion occurred. Murray was standing on a ladder near the top of the cistern when the explosion occurred and Lawson managed to get hold of one arm and drag him out. Lawson's hand was slightly burned. Murray was rushed to the hospital, where his burns were dressed. Although he is seriously burned, it is not thought that his injuries will prove fatal. A rag tied over his mouth and nose in order to keep the paint fumes from being inhaled is believed to have checked inhalation of flames.

FLOYD BENNETT TO BE BURIED AT ARLINGTON

NEW YORK, April 26.—The body of Floyd Bennett, famous pilot and flier, arrived here this morning and was taken to the Seventy-first regiment armory where it will lie in state for one hour. Thousands of people were in line as the doors opened. A military guard was placed about the casket.

Funeral and burial services will be conducted in the Arlington cemetery at Washington this afternoon.

GERMAN AMBASSADOR ASKS NO CELEBRATION FOR FLIERS

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The German ambassador formally made a request that the United States take no official cognizance of today's visit of the German-Irish fliers owing to the fact that they are coming to Washington solely to attend the funeral of Floyd Bennett who died following an illness of pneumonia contracted during a flight he was making to aid the European trans-Atlantic fliers.

PISTOL SCORE 90 TARGETS OF POSSIBLE 100

RANGER, April 27.—Felton P. Brasher and T. R. Dill tied for honors with scores of 90 out of a possible 100, at the weekly pistol practice held Wednesday afternoon at the new interior range, located on the Blackwell road, just off the Prairie crossing. Brasher made a score of 90, shooting from the 75-foot range and Dill tied with him, shooting from the 25-foot range.

Individual scores of those shooting from the 75-foot range were: F. P. Brasher 90, Joe Dennis 82, J. T. Hughes 80, Bob Hammett, 78. Scores of those shooting from the 25-foot range were: Jim Ingram 89, C. B. Oxxen Wednesday afternoon, 89, W. A. Hammett 63, Aubrey Jameson 62, B. F. Ricker 50. Scores of those shooting from the 25-foot range were: T. R. Dill 90, A. N. Larson, 86, Charles J. Moore 84, Walter Harwell 78, Pearl Cox 76, Henry Davenport 63, and Raymond Garza 54.

RANGER FATHER AND DAUGHTER BURN TO DEATH

RANGER, April 27.—John Osborne, merchant, and his daughter, Gertrude, 19 years old, were burned to death early this morning when fire razed their home at Mingo, 14 miles east of here in Palo Pinto county. Osborne and his wife escaped from the flaming house but he rushed back later to rescue his daughter who was still asleep. He was overcome by the smoke. His daughter was teaching school at Thurber.

"A Flyless Cisco" is Aim of City Health Officer in Sanitary Plan Now Under Way, Says Dr. Brice

"Recently publicity given the matter of a cleaner city by the Daily News has been of material assistance to the health and sanitary department of Cisco," said Dr. J. H. Brice. "It has saved the sanitary officers a large volume of work, and I am certainly grateful to Cisco Daily News for placing the importance of a cleaner city so clearly before our people. It is the purpose of the health and sanitary department to leave nothing undone that will keep Cisco the cleanest city in Texas. That is the reputation Cisco now enjoys, and we hope to have the cooperation of the entire citizenship in maintaining this reputation."

"I often hear traveling men say that Cisco is the cleanest city in Texas. Every Ciscoan should feel proud of this reputation, and strive to maintain it. Amarillo had that reputation a year ago, but Cisco has captured her laurels."

"To keep Cisco the cleanest city in Texas every citizen must do his part. I want to see Cisco a 'flyless city.' The warm season is approaching, flies and mosquitoes will soon appear if every precaution is not taken. No one should cease their sanitary efforts because of the fact that we have no flies or mosquitoes now. These pests will appear unless every household keeps on working to prevent their appearance. It is much easier to prevent pest propagation than it is to eradicate them once they get started. Wet garbage cans should be kept well covered; tin cans should not be allowed to remain about the premises to catch rain water, which will breed mosquitoes; manure piles, pools of water and branches should be kept piled, and never allow rats to remain standing on the premises. Get rid of these as quickly as possible. If all will observe these sanitary rules there will be few, if any, mosquitoes and no flies in Cisco."

"And another thing. While rubbish, such as trash, old boxes, and all manner of debris, is not necessarily a menace to health, yet these are fire hazards that also should be abated," Dr. Brice concluded.

WEDNESDAY IS BLANTON DATE AT BRECKENRIDGE

BRECKENRIDGE, April 27.—Thomas L. Blanton, of Abilene, member of congress from the 17th district of Texas, and candidate for the democratic nomination for junior United States senator from Texas, will speak in Breckenridge at the city hall auditorium at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon, May 2. Mr. Blanton will be the guest of the Breckenridge chamber of commerce at its noon luncheon Wednesday where he will speak briefly preceding his address at the city hall.

Mr. Blanton has entered into his campaign with the same dynamic vigor that has marked his activities in the discharge of public duties in the past placed upon him. The opening address of this campaign took place in Abilene Tuesday evening. He declared at that time that he intended to make a minimum of 254 speeches before the primaries in July because there are many counties in Texas.

Benefit For Cisco 'Rosetime,' to Be Presented Monday Night With Local People in Cast

Every detail has been perfected for the presentation of "Rosetime," a comedy sketch of several acts, to be given for the benefit of the Cisco Fire Department Monday night at the City Hall auditorium for the last two weeks and officials in charge predict it will be the best production ever presented here by local talent.

The opening acts of "Rosetime" centers in a small western town. A motion picture company is in the vicinity and selection of the shooting of a scene. The picture company meets obstacles when the leading lady and leading man elope. Rose Perkins enters upon the scene and because of her beauty and youthfulness is chosen for makes good with the company and is signed to go to Hollywood. Rose promises her sweetheart she will always love him and will come back to him. Three years later finds Rose a famous star of Hollywood. She seems to have forgotten her sweetheart. Unknown to her, the motion picture company is in trouble, lacking funds to continue. Complications arise. The rest of the play deals with the coming of Jerry Rose's sweetheart, and their return to their home town.

Miss Myra Smith, a dramatic director of the Wayne P. Sewell Lyceum and Production company of Atlanta, Ga., is in charge of the production. Special scenery and costumes will be used.

The cast is comprised of eighteen people, including the chorus. Those taking part are J. J. Collins, Miss Letha Eager, Mrs. Quodley McClung Wright, Dudley Lee, Miss Hazel Preston, T. A. McDonald, George Boyd, Miss Loma V. Rainbolt, Jack Statler and "Dutch" Bryant. Members of the chorus are Bobbie Bryant, Charlie Mildred Taylor, Alberta Parsons, Ruth Nixon, LaVeda Looney, Rowena Jensen, Francis Farmer and Mary Price.

Funds derived from the presentation will be given the Cisco Fire department. Tickets are now on sale.

BIRD PROTECTION

The migratory bird bill passed the senate the other day, after "seven years of assurance of good intent" on the part of senators. Senator Norbeck of South Dakota modified the measure to meet various small objections, and so got it through.

Inasmuch as China wants a national anthem, it looks as if "Onward, Christian Soldiers" would do for the armies of that "Christian general."

SUGAR IMPORTS

Beet sugar interests of this country are asking congress to limit the free entry of Philippine sugar into the United States to about 500,000 tons annually.

Who says there's no tolerance in this country, when either a Republican or a Democrat can believe anything he wants to and still belong to the party?

PUNISH THE ARSONIST TO THE LIMIT

Arson is often called the "crime of crimes" and there is good justification for such a title. It is responsible for more than 50 per cent of the lives of firemen lost in all fires.

CHAUTAQUA COMMITTEES PROGRESSING

All committees on the Lions Chautauqua, May 14-18, report satisfactory progress and preparations are being rounded into completion.

Those selling tickets are meeting with a hearty response. Parties approached buy willingly, saying they are glad to donate $3 to a fund like this when they are offered five nights of the best talent of five cities in addition, there is not much hesitancy.

Secretary Orn announces that Cisco Lions club won third place in the Lions International race for the greatest increase of members for the year, the prize being a delegate to the state convention which meets at Wichita Falls, with all expenses paid by the International organization.

South Chicago won first place and Elmonte, California, won second. Thus it will be seen that Cisco organizations take their place in point of honors with the big cities.

COAL INDUSTRY IN ENGLAND IN DIRE STRAITS

Editors Note—This is the first of a series of three articles on the British coal mining situation.

By CHARLES A. SMITH

LONDON, April 26. — Today, two years after the first general strike in British history, which is directly precipitated, the British coal mining industry is in an even worse condition.

This is the agreed verdict of mine owners and mine workers alike, a verdict which is endorsed by the reports of government and trade union commissions which have investigated the 1-year-old problem of how to revivify this apparently dying British industry.

Unemployment is rife, wages have been reduced to the minimum, and altogether the position in the big mining areas is agreed on all sides to be little short of appalling.

Many Pits Closed. In many of the big mining fields, particularly South Wales, Durham and Northumberland, numbers of pits have been closed for long periods, and there is no alternative employment; nor is there any hope that sufficient pits will reopen to give employment to anything like the number of men and boys now idle.

According to the latest available ministry of labor statistics, there are a quarter of a million miners idle, the large majority of who are without prospect of any work in the near future. Many of them have been unemployed since before May 1926, the date of the general strike.

Sir Charles Batho, Lord Mayor of London acting in cooperation the Lord Mayors of Cardiff and Newcastle-on-Tyne, has realized the serious plight of the miners and their dependents by opening a fund for their relief. King George and Queen Mary head a notable list of subscribers with gifts of $2,500 and $1,250. Money subscribed to the fund will immediately be distributed throughout the badly affected areas in the hope that actual starvation will be stayed in the majority of instances.

While this and similar funds will temporarily relieve the situation, however, it is agreed that something much more effective must be done.

WHY TRY TO HIDE PIMPLES AND RASHES?

Why try to cover up unsightly pimples, rashes and other embarrassing skin blemishes when it is possible to get rid of them completely? The sensible and easy way to have a clear, healthy skin is to go to your druggist, ask for Black and White Ointment and use it according to directions. It is pleasant to use, highly beneficial and scientifically safe.

For best results use Black and White Skin Soap with Black and White Ointment. All dealers sell them at small cost.

to rescue the industry from its present despairing plight.

Some councils have been practically supporting many miners for over twelve months, and a direct consequence is that rates have leaped sky-high, and monetary demands are being made upon local property owners which they cannot meet in view of the poor trading conditions.

Many of the municipal councils, and in particular the majority of these in South Wales, are hundreds of thousands of dollars in debt to banks and the ministry of health, and are paying as much as $5,000 and $10,000 a week in interest on these debts.

Indications are mounting that the government shortly will be asked to step in and propound some scheme whereby the mine workers at least will be rescued from their present plight. How it will be done is the subject of a great deal of speculation, since many experts already have failed to discover how to make this one-time mammoth industry a paying proposition once more.

UNCLE SAM WILKINS,

Race of Business is Now 25 Times Faster Than it Was 25 Years Ago; New Trade Fields Keep Volume Up

By FRANCIS ARMSTRONG

CHICAGO, April 27.—Business experience is a handicap to an executive.

J. George Frederick, president of the Business Course exchange, of New York, a research organization, has outlined a new type of business executive for Chicago industrial leaders, and experience, he says, is not one of the assets of the new business leader.

"Production in the United States now is more than forty per cent greater than the consumption, and the result is that the executive must find new markets, and create a new demand for his product," Frederick said.

"Past experience, as a guide, is worse than useless. It is a handicap."

"In the past business has become set in its ways. It has developed certain systems of marketing, and certain standards of production. Now these standards are out of date. The nation's industry has reached a point where an entirely new system is necessary."

Finding New Outlets
 "The new executive is forging ahead, a pioneer. He is finding new outlets for his products, and that calls for a high amount of ingenuity, unhampered by precedents."

Research, according to New York official, is the key to development for American industry.

New facts, being discovered daily, make old methods antiquated. Axioms that were accepted a week ago may not all be axioms at all today.

The demand for new outlets for production, it was pointed out.

The pace of business today is twenty-five times that of twenty-five years ago, and the man who is out of touch with his business for a year is absolutely out of date," according to Frederick.

"Changes are so rapid that only the most versatile of executives is able to keep on top of the heap. He must be able to change his mind, discard all his old theories and construct new ones, on the spur of the moment."

"As production increases and the range of manufactured products broadens, the head of the business must be constantly finding new markets. He must establish new channels as fast as the business expands."

Prominent business leaders in Chicago, with control of concerns that market in all parts of the country and branch out into foreign trade channels, have endorsed Frederick's view of the 1928 executive.

Examples of Changes

The women's wear industry, the shoe industry and others were cited as examples of the paleontologic changes of the modern business era. Women's shoes changed overnight from something to cover the feet to decorative style touches in dress. In a comparatively short time an entire old system was overturned and a new one set up. Those manufacturers who failed to adjust themselves and their concerns to the change were lost hopelessly, and their markets were usurped by more facile leaders.

Radio became in a few months a life-and-death competitor of pianos, phonographs and cheap automobiles.

The giant industries lock horns in vital struggles to dispose of their products, and old marketing systems are junked without a thought for the rules that once governed production and distribution in those industries.

Research, Frederick pointed out, has become the right hand of the executive. Studies are being carried out not alone into the immediate needs of a particular industry, but into other industries, to discover what their relations are to each other, and into foreign possibilities for sales.

All relevant facts are gathered; on a basis of them the executives often are forced to change their entire business course.

"The executive of the future will be a keen minded opportunist, adapting his business to the latest information," Frederick said. "He will govern his actions by the immediate conditions as a poker player governs his play by his varying hands."

"In the background, the research man and analyst will be ceaselessly gathering that information."

STEAM DRIVEN HUGE DIRIGIBLE IS OFFERED U.S.

CLEVELAND, April 27.—Designs of a metal steam driven dirigible, which is said to be a radical departure from the present type of lighter than air airships, will be entered in competition with other firms by J. E. Whittlesey, civil engineer, for the contract to build two air dreadnaughts for the United States, it has been revealed here. Whittlesey, who is head of a large local engineering concern, plans to leave for Washington, D. C., in a few days to lay before the Navy Department his new designed dirigible.

Whittlesey, who has studied lighter than air ships for many years explained that the interior of the metal flying machine would be filled with a series of corrugated-metal tubes, 20 feet in diameter which would be filled to lift the ship. The proposed dirigible will be propelled by steam rather than gasoline motors," Whittlesey declared.

"A metal dirigible would have its gastubes so arranged," he said, "that if the airship should be torn apart, there would be enough gas prevented from escaping to float any part of the air dreadnaught to the ground safely."

"The metal dirigible could be built of duraluminum at a cost of half a million dollars, the airship engineer asserted. He said it would weigh only 125 tons as against 150 tons which the large fabric ships weigh."

Asks for Removal of British

London Officer Claims Soldiers Do Little Good and Cause More Harm by Their German Weddings

LONDON, Eng., April 27.—A fervent appeal for the recall of the British Army of Occupation in Germany, which he characterized as "the Lost Legion of Weisbaden," was made by Commander J. M. Kenworthy, M. P., in the course of a recent debate in the house of commons.

Commander Kenworthy charged that the force of men was far too small for military purposes, and far too large for political purposes. Data which he gave showed that the army included, apart from cavalry and infantry, nine officers and 39 men of the Army Pay Corps, 143 military police and ten chaplains.

"While the army is small," he declared, "the staff is terrific. This staff costs more than the entire garrison, actually more than the 150,000 great northern command."

"Such a staff encourages the suspicion that the war office is looking after its own—the staff officers."

"The army is of no conceivable use in a military sense, and if it is kept there for political purposes, why not substitute for it a mere company or even a consular guard? The presence of alien troops is all we fell to be a degradation by the people of the territory occupied."

Under these trying circumstances, our officers and men have one and all behaved like gentlemen. Many marriages have been contracted between them and German women.

"But marriages do not always make for peace. How unfortunate it will be when these young wives have to leave their families and come to England."

"With a surplus of girls at home, why should this sort of thing go on?"

In reply, the secretary of war, Sir Laming Worthington Evans, stated that the Rhine army is part of an international force, authorized by treaty. Its strength had been reduced, he declared, by over a thousand during the past year, the actual number now being 6,382, which includes 93 officers.

NEW AFGHAN CAPITAL TO BE MODERN

KABUL, April 27.—Great progress is being made with the new capital Darulaman, near Kabul, which has been planned on the most modern lines.

The buildings being erected compare favorably with any in the European continent. Electricity generating stations and an ice factory are being built, the machinery for these having recently arrived.

The mail and passenger air service instituted as an experiment between Kabul and Tashkent, in Russia, has been working regularly. This service is a joint Afghan-Russian one. The pilots from Kabul have been trained in Russia and Germany. Those from Tashkent are Russians.

From the sale of concessions to work minerals it is hoped that sufficient money will be raised to finance the construction of several projected railroad lines.

Travelers report that in the southern districts of Afghanistan, tribesmen, whose ancestral trade was loot, have now turned to agriculture and are co-operating with the government in furthering industry. The tribesmen, they say, are now sending their sons to school and asking the government for more educational institutions.

FIND MEXICAN SLAYER AFTER LONG SEARCH

OTTAWA, Kans., April 27.—Compelling a man to dig his own grave and then stabbing him to death, is one of the many charges against Miguel G. Montaya, 32, a Mexican, who was recaptured here recently, following the robbery of a store in a nearby village.

This gruesome murder is alleged to have been committed by the Mexican, near Burlington, Oklahoma, in 1926. Montaya was taken into custody and held in jail at Alva, Okla., where he later escaped while awaiting trial.

The victim was Antonio Perez, who was found with more than a dozen knife wounds, in what appeared to be a shallow grave dug just before he was found. He was accompanied by two men, Frank Balaban, who was loitering about the store, and another man, who was seen to have been in the store at the time of the murder.

Montaya, who had been captured in Oklahoma, was taken to the hospital here, where he is recovering from his wounds.

SONG FESTIVAL HONOR FRANZ SCHUBERT JULY

VIENNA, April 27.—Vienna will be invaded by the greatest army of musicians and singers the world has ever seen during the Festival of the Union of German Singing Societies this summer, lasting from July 19 to 23, and attracting 200,000 to 300,000 visitors from abroad as calculated by the city authorities of Vienna. About 120,000 singers are expected to join their voices in honor of the German music and of the "Father of Songs" Franz Schubert, the famous Viennese composer, who died in this city a hundred years ago.

The singers and other guests of Vienna are, however, expected to require some sleep after all the Viennese joys of "Win, Weib und Gesang" (wine, women and song), and this constitutes the greatest problem of the festival. The City and the state decided to open all schools, and other available public buildings as dormitories and besides all this the inhabitants of Vienna were requested to offer their singing brethren. But in spite of all efforts, housing facilities on hand seem to be insufficient for the Grand Army of Musicians. Therefore the Austrian government accepted the aid offered by the German ministry of war to lend 60,000 beds for the time of the festival.

The festivities will take place partly in open air, partly in newly constructed giant singing hall with a capacity of holding about 10,000 persons.

The festival will be a grand affair, and the state decided to open all schools, and other available public buildings as dormitories and besides all this the inhabitants of Vienna were requested to offer their singing brethren. But in spite of all efforts, housing facilities on hand seem to be insufficient for the Grand Army of Musicians. MOVIES DRAW PARIS CROWDS FROM OPERA

PARIS, April 27.—More than one-fourth of the population of Paris daily seeks relief from workaday cares in jazz and the movies. The total population of the city is estimated at 3,000,000. Of this number 777,780 shun French light opera and dramatic plays for music hall revues, dance palaces and motion pictures, all of which have a more or less up to date American flavor. Messengers, boys, shopkeepers and housewives still are humming "Hallelujah," which has already become history in the United States.

France has a plethora of comedians and dramatic stars who play to full houses in small theaters, but the crowds are elsewhere, their ears vibrating or their feet twirling to saxophones and snare drum. Most of the music hall revues are 90 per cent girls and American syncopation. The remainder is boulevard humor that used to be served in large quantities before the tango yielded to Charlestoning.

The daily total of amusement-seekers in France is 1,550,000, but the statistics fail to reveal what percentage of the 778,220 remaining over the Parisian jazz and film devotees enjoys dance and spectacle in the provinces.

HYSTERICAL South Carolina Lady Tried Cardui and Says She Noticed Remarkable Improvement.

Anderson, S. C.—"I suffered a long long time, before I tried Cardui, and my only regret is that I did not know about it sooner," says Mrs. Lillie Pruitt, 120 "K" Street, this city.

"I was badly run down in health. My nerves went to pieces, and I had to go to bed. I was not able to do my house work for many months. "I got so bad off, I could not bear to have anybody walk across the floor of my room. The least little thing upset me. Sometimes I became hysterical. I had bad pains in my back and sides, and my head and limbs would take spells of aching, which almost set me wild. "One day I was reading and I saw where a woman, who had a trouble like my own, had been relieved by Cardui. I decided at once to try it; so I began on a course of the 'Home Treatment'.

"It began to help me from the very first. I took Cardui regularly, for several months, and my improvement was so remarkable, that my family and friends were delighted. "Cardui has no equal, in my opinion. I gladly recommend it to others."

Names of Pullman Coaches Taken From Library Books After Merger of Two Companies; 9,000 Cars Now

By FRANCIS P. HEALY CHICAGO, April 27.—Who names the Pullman cars—and why—and how?

For years this question has been of interest to travelers and others. At first a Pullman sleeping car was a remodeled Chicago & Alton day coach and was given a number. Soon it was decided to call the cars "A," "B," "C," etc., but that gave them only 26 letters and soon the cars piled up and it was considered calling them by numbers.

But as locomotives and freight cars are given numbers there would be confusion. Thus names were decided for the coaches.

The first name "Pioneer" and now rest at Springfield, Ill. It was hastily constructed in 1855 to carry the body of Abraham Lincoln from Washington to Chicago and thence to Springfield.

Generally speaking parlor cars were supposed to be given feminine names also those of flowers and birds. Railroads often wanted them named after cities on their important runs and this wish is often allowed.

Sleeping cars have been named after rivers, lakes, cities, towns, countries, local historic figures, notable in the world's history, soldiers, poets, authors, battlefields and camps.

The only Pullman car ever named for an individual alive today is that bearing the title "Colonel Lindbergh."

Observation cars are named after mountains, generally such as "Mount Hope," "Mount Placid," etc. Cars built for the Great Northern railroad have the prefix "Great" such as "Great Spirit," "Great Plains," etc. For the Southern Pacific railroad many are called "Sunset Cape," "Sunset Beach," etc. after the crack train "Sunset Limited."

The Santa Fe uses the prefix "Silver," such as "Silver Bay," "Silver Peak," etc.

A new series recently completed is prefixed by "Saint" and "Mac." Another series carries the prefix "Point" as "Point Bonita."

For Famous Men The parlor car built for the Congressional Limited between New York and Washington are named after the signers of the Declaration of Independence and prominent members of old Congresses. Within the last year or two the names of distinguished men have been used such as David Livingston, Darius Wells, Eli Whitney, Henry Stanley, James Dwight Dana, Robert Peary, Marco Polo, Oliver Wedell Holmes, Davy Crockett and others have appeared.

One Pullman car bears the name of a porter in commemoration of Oscar Daniels, whose heroism in attempting to save passengers resulted in his injury and death.

When the Pullman company took over the Wagner sleeping car it was discovered there were about 300 cars bearing duplicate names. The vice president at that time, Richard Dean, was a friend of the Chicago public librarian who obligingly might opened the doors of the library and admitted a host of clerks who delved into histories, ancient folk-lore, Roman and Greek textbooks and about everything else to have a wholesale christening.

That is how some of the cars today have those peculiar names that no one seems to know what its all about.

Now who names 'em? Easy. A group of officials of the company called the "committee on nomenclature."

If you think it's an easy job, sit down and try to think of 9,000 names of cities, countries, famous men, etc.

CROSS PLAINS, April 27.—The feature in Cross Plains oil activity for the week was the bringing in of the Cranfill & Reynolds No. 2 Eubank, which topped the sand at 1,205 feet. After drilling 18 feet in the sand, the well began to pay off, resulting in what is believed to be one of the best producers of the field of recent date. In the first three hours the well made 110 barrels. When completed may make 1,000 barrels. Cranfill & Reynolds O. L. Keller No. 1, offsetting this well, touched sand at 1,189 feet, and the oil filled the hole rapidly, but the gas pressure was not sufficiently strong to cause it to flow. The sand was unusually hard. A shot will likely be necessary to get heavy production.

Ballard & Underwood have a 109-acre lease south of the above production, and they have made contract for two wells. They are now drilling on the east 40 acres. T. S. Holden is drilling a well for J. G. Bradstreet on the extreme north central part of the Eubank tract. Tom Bryant set the 15 1-2 inch pipe on his wildcat four miles northeast of town, and has resumed drilling. At 400 feet they passed through 13 feet of water sand, considered the grass root sand. Conway Brothers of Ranger are drilling at about 300 feet on their J. W. Newton well south of Cross Cut. Tom Anderson & Culbertson Brothers of Fort Worth are rigging up on their M. J. Suttle No. 1, also south of Cross Cut. No reports from other wells this week.

CLEVELAND, April 27.—With a trans-continental dirigible passenger air service in the making and passenger airplane service between Chicago and Cleveland, and Pittsburgh and Cleveland, to be inaugurated late this summer, Cleveland will become an important air port in the United States, it was revealed here.

Roy Knabenshue of Los Angeles pioneer balloonist and national engineer of aeronautics, who was here to inspect the local airports plans to build dirigibles to carry 40 passengers from the Pacific coast to New York regularly at a low cost of operation due to a new fuel he said he expects to use.

Practical Fuel The fuel, obtained after all other ingredients have been taken from oil, has been found by California engineers to be practical for aviation purposes. Knabenshue said.

The California said he contemplates building a dirigible slightly smaller than the Los Angeles. It will be 430 feet in length and 78 feet in diameter to be propelled by four engines. The air liner will have a capacity of 1,500,000 cubic feet, capable, aside from carrying passengers to carry thousands of pounds of express and mail.

200 Trips Yearly. Knabenshue declared that one of the contemplated dirigibles, operating 200 trips yearly, and carrying 10 passengers each trip would pay all costs. The coast to coast fare will be $250 which includes meals and berth.

Southern dirigible routes are also under consideration, it was said. The northern route will make stops at Chicago, Detroit and Cleveland.

MAN PREDICTS 350 MILES PER HOUR IN PLANE

CLEVELAND, April 27.—An invention which may revolutionize flying, according to A. C. Rutzen, of Cleveland, its sponsor, is nearing completion here. With his principles applied to airplanes, Rutzen predicts the heavier-than-air machines will be capable of making a speed of 350 miles an hour; will use less gas by one-half than the present machines and be able to take-off or land without danger on roofs of large buildings. His invention, Rutzen claims, may be used for dirigibles or planes.

Rutzen said he had made successful secret tests here with model airplanes which had attachments of tubes and other equipment. He said he is now ready to apply his inventions to a regular sized airship.

"The new type of airship does away with outer torres of strong air currents by having the propeller operated inside tubes," Rutzen explained. "Two tubes run through the center of a dirigible and under the wings of an airplane. They operate through an air suction."

"The top of the plar has an arrangement that prevents it from tipping to a dangerous degree. It can be elevated and lowered by working the tubes. With such tubes, it will be possible to raise it straight up from the top of a building or land on the top of a building without danger."

"With such a machine it is possible to go 350 miles an hour, which will use one-half less gas than the present airplanes use."

Rutzen said he has already negotiated with interested parties in developing the new principle of air navigation and an airplane will be built soon with new tubes and other equipment either in Cleveland or Detroit.

A HEALTHY BODY.

Procient use of CHIROPRACTIC SERVICE is a very valuable and proficient way of keeping HEALTH PRODUCING forces within the body constantly free to perform all HEALTH FUNCTIONS. Thereby you experience the joy of GOOD HEALTH constantly; and possess the one great asset in life—A HEALTHY BODY. Do not NEGLECT keeping all nerves leading or emitting from the spine free from having bone pressure upon them; for if one or more of these nerves have a condition of bone pressure upon them, you CANNOT have Health. This is just a scientific fact known by all learned professions in the study of HEALTH.

Chiropactors have the greatest knowledge, through the study of Chiropactic, or how to correct the certain mechanical conditions of the spine to keep such bone-pressure off the spinal nerves. That is our SCIENCE and STUDY. We DO NOT study the "treatment" of disease, nor do we treat disease. We find that "NATURE" (the HEALTH power within the body) can and will do that. Dr. H. A. Hoy, Chiropactor, over Garner's Store, Cisco, Texas.
