TEXAS

By WILL H. MAYES, Austin.

BUILDING PERMITS INCREASE.—That Texas isn't having hard times is shown in the latest bulletin of the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas. When times get hard building slackens, but the March building permits in 30 principal cities reached the record high level of $17,741,000 compared to $13,431,000 in March last year, or a gain of 33 per cent. Houston and Fort Worth led all the rest. San Antonio, Dallas and Corpus Christi come next in the order named. Eighteen of the cities covered in the report showed an increase in building and 12 showed a decrease. It is especially noticeable that the smaller cities maintained a ratio of increase that compare favorably with that of the larger places, with perhaps the exception of Houston and Fort Worth.

OTHER FAVORABLE CONDITIONS.—The loadings of fruits and vegetables for March amounted to 7,518 cars against 5,239 in March last year. Livestock ranges and pastures improved. Winter wheat was better. Farming is late, but farms were in good condition. Prices of farm products were some higher with a general trend upward. Commercial failures declined. Last year there were 59 commercial insolvencies in the state with liabilities of $1,418,000, while this year there were 52 failures with $99,000 in liabilities. Altogether business and industry are on the upgrade in Texas.

HIGHWAY ENGINEERING COST.—Engineering cost on state highways since 1924 has averaged about 5 1/2 per cent on a salary basis, compared with a previous cost of about 4 1/2 per cent. This is explained by the highway department by citing the fact that construction prices during the last four or five years have been much less than they were during 1919, 1920 and 1921 and that consequently with the same attention to engineering, the percentage of cost was somewhat higher. "If you understand what that means," on contracts for engineering, the expense ranges from as low as 4 per cent to as high as 6 per cent. These figures are interesting to all counties in which highway engineering is to be done.

BOY GOVERNMENT RIGID.—A large number of Texas cities and towns were governed by boys from the boys' club during Boys' Week, and in almost every case the boys were more exacting in law enforcement than the regular city officers. They were especially vigilant in enforcing the ordinances against violation of traffic laws. At San Benito more than 100 cases of this kind were filed, most of them for over parking and the regular city authorities say that all of them will be prosecuted. While city government by boys may be expensive for petty law violators, it gives the boys themselves some fine lessons in law observance.

ABILENE WATER PROGRAM.—After going through a drought that proved to be quite serious, Abilene has a water supply that will at least meet all demands for a few months, but that enterprising city doesn't propose to be caught so nearly without water again if it can be helped. An ambitious program for storing water enough to supply a city of 150,000 people is under consideration. The cost will be several million dollars, but Abilene needs the water and is determined to get it.

MOTHERS AND DADS.—Schools are learning that while students are necessary, dads and mothers still play an important part in the education of their children. So, a special day is being given in many schools to honoring the parents of the students. The University of Texas started the movement in Texas and A. & M. college followed by inviting the parents of the 2,500 cadets to spend Sunday with the school and witness the college military ceremonies, attend church with the boys and have dinner with them in the big mess hall. "Mothers' Day" was selected as one having an especial appeal for a visit to the boys, but the dads were invited to "come along, too."

FINE ARTS COMMISSION.—A forward movement for the advancement of the fine arts in Texas was taken at the last meeting of the Texas Fine Arts association in the appointment of a commission to secure an endowment for a chair at the University of Texas to teach history, principles and appreciation of fine arts.

FUNERAL DIRECTORS MEET.—Just what induced the Texas Funeral Directors to hold their annual meeting at Mineral Wells, Texas, noted health resort, this week is hard to guess. Certainly it was not for business, but perhaps to get where there could be no thought of business.

30 TO 40 LIONS FROM CISCO TO STATE SESSION

Between 30 and 40 Lions will attend the coming state convention of their organization in Wichita Falls, according to reports at the weekly luncheon of the Cisco club Wednesday. The delegation from this city will be headed by W. J. Leach. The feature of Wednesday's program was a report by J. E. Spencer on his recent trip of inspection of milk plants in Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi. W. B. Champan, in charge of the ticket sales of the chautauqua being presented this week, said that the sales were not up to expectations but that the programs were of the highest order. Visitors were G. W. Collum, local badminton, B. Hasbrook, geologist, Harry Goodman of Abilene and Spencer. Dr. Charles Hale was chairman of the day. L. A. Tullos, F. P. Martin and C. B. Powell were appointed a committee to arrange next week's program.

CARL SMITH III

It was reported this morning that Carl Z. Smith is quite ill with pneumonia at his residence, 805 West Twelfth street. His father, T. J. Smith, has arrived from Vernon to be with him during his illness.

WEATHER.—West Texas: Cloudy and unsettled with local showers.

"I am very much gratified with the results of the first day of the new parking rules on D avenue, and am especially pleased with the splendid cooperation of the merchants and the public in enforcing the regulations." Mayor J. M. Williamson told the Cisco American and Roundup Thursday. "The results already achieved are better than anticipated, and I believe we will have very little trouble in enforcing the new regulations as soon as the public becomes familiar with the requirements. So far the officers tagged 53 cars, but most of the offenders were those who had been accustomed to the old regulations and were not informed on the present parking rules. However, the police have reported one case that may be given a pretty stiff penalty, as this party was told three times to move his car over to the center of the street, but ignored the officer's warning. If the facts as reported to me are developed this offender may be penalized accordingly. "For the present the regulations on D avenue, from Fourth to Ninth streets, parking will be allowed in the middle of the avenue for one hour only, and no parking will be permitted at the curb on D avenue for any purpose. However, cars may stop at the curb to unload produce and load purchases, but not for shopping or visiting. "The matter of parking on West Broadway will be considered in the near future—probably Friday. It is the intention of the city commission to designate five or ten spaces immediately in front of the post office, in the center of the street, in which ten minutes parking will be permitted to accommodate those driving down town to get their mail. No limit will be placed on parkings on Broadway other than these spaces designated. At least these are the present regulations being considered, but the traffic may demand further restrictions in the near future. "Already there is a perceptible difference in the congestion on D avenue, as incoming cars can now find parking space. As a result of the new regulations most of the side streets and alleys are occupied by parked cars.

Announcement was made Thursday of the purchase of the business of the Central Motor Co. by the Lee Motor Co. formerly the Lee Supply Co. The sale was consummated Wednesday, and the Central Motor Co.'s business, at the corner of West Seventh street and E avenue, will be turned over to the Lee Motor Co. Monday morning, May 21. This sale carries with it the local distribution of Dodge cars and Graham trucks. Dudley Lee, manager of the Lee Motor Co., said that for the present the Mansell building will be occupied as the sales and service headquarters for the Dodge cars and Graham trucks, but the two businesses will eventually be consolidated in the Lee building at D avenue and East Fourth street. "In this business deal Cisco will lose two business men and their families, as Ray Gilland and Phil Keenan will go to Waco, where they will be connected with the Texas headquarters of the Central Motor Co.

STEEL DERRICK IN RANGER HAS TWO FRIENDS

RANGER, May 17.—At least two Rangerites are in favor of the steel derrick remaining at the intersection of Main and Commerce streets, Ranger.

Clarence E. May, Ranger insurance man, says that prior to the time the derrick was placed there he had an average of one collision claim a month.

Since the derrick was placed at the intersection he has not had a claim, he said.

"Uncle" Bill, the watchman of the Main street crossing of the Texas & Pacific railroad, says the derrick "slows 'em up" before they reach the crossing and has saved him from being hit a number of times.

When the derrick was moved once before "Uncle" Bill offered $5 to have it replaced.

The derrick has been ordered moved by the state highway department.

TRUETT AGAIN PRESIDENT OF BAPTIST MEET

CHATTANOOGA, May 17.—Dr. George W. Truett, Dallas, was unanimously re-elected president of the Southern Baptist convention at the opening session Wednesday. He was nominated by Dr. F. C. McConnell, Atlanta.

In his message immediately preceding his election Dr. Truett declared that "our task is more serious than ever before" and while, he said, he had no formal message on policies and plans, he asserted that any country "whose leaders are not strong men," is doomed.

He told the convention that a spirit of discord in the "present hour of crisis" would be an incomparable tragedy and pleaded for harmony and cooperation.

"In this hour a great revival of religious fervor is far more important than prosperity, statecraft or diplomacy. Unbelief and materialism has invaded our Nation and we can conquer their direful consequences only if we work as one."

Before the opening of the seventy-third annual gathering of Southern Baptists, Dr. E. Y. Mullins, president of the Baptist World Alliance, addressing an evangelical conference, touched upon the coming presidential campaign with the assertion that an "immoral propaganda" is sweeping the nation and added that while his remarks involved politics, no evangelism was "spreading its message unless it examined the political complexion of the nation."

Cannon to Be Used to Drain Oil If Flames Are Not Checked; Lack of Wind Aids Fighting of Blaze

MIDLAND, May 17.—Two eight thousand barrel tanks of the Magnolia Petroleum company were set ablaze today when they were struck by lightning. Both tanks were filled to the capacity with oil. Officials believe it may be possible to extinguish the fire owing to the absence of wind. A three-inch cannon has been placed in position to shoot holes in the tanks to drain the oil if the flames are not checked otherwise.

DETROIT GIVES BREMEN FLIERS REAL WELCOME

DETROIT, May 17.—Detroit today acclaimed the Bremen trans-Atlantic fliers, Baron Gunther Von Huenefeld, Major Fitzmaurice and Captain Koehl. GORDON POOL NEW PRODUCER IS THORP 3-B

EASTLAND, May 17.—The States Oil corporation and the McLeister Oil corporation have drilled in a 200-barrel well northeast of Cisco, in the Ramsower field. The well is the Thorp No. 3-B and in addition to being a good-sized oil well, it is making 3,000,000 feet of gas.

The Thorp farm is proving to be one of the finest properties in the country in years, as McLeister has drilled in an array of gas-wells there, two of them rating 1,500 barrels a day each, flush production.

The lease is in the pool opened up a year and a half ago by the Ramsower well, drilled by Col. Robert D. Gordon.

COMMODITY PRICES OF 1899 ARE INTERESTING

Readers of the Cisco American and Roundup will find something of interest in comparing the prices of commodities in 1899 and those of the present day. For instance, "20 pairs of ladies hose were offered for $1." One can hardly picture in his mind a 1928 flapper wearing a pair of hose that cost less than $1 per pair, while the 1899 belles got 20 pairs for their dollar. But an old issue of the Rogers Prairie Rustler, dated December 6, 1899, gives other prices just as interesting.

Here are some of the prices quoted in a full page advertisement of Burt Norwood of Bryan, on the first page of the Rustler: "Forty yards of cotton checks for $1; 25 yards heavy domestic, $1; 20 pairs ladies' hose, $1; men's heavy work shirts, 25c; boys' heavy shoes at 90c."

"Harmony" Democrats to Have Easy Control of Convention at Beaumont, Is Governor's Claim

AUSTIN, May 17.—Governor Dan Moody today made the claim that the "harmony" Democrats will control the state Democratic convention at Beaumont next week and that "the people favoring a dry platform and a dry candidate can control the convention without any help from the constitutional Democrats or Governor Al Smith's supporters." The governor stated that the "harmony" faction will have 433 delegates, the "constitutionalists" 226 and Smith supporters 155.

It is understood that Moody favors as keynote speakers Myron Blalock, Marshall, the governor's classmate and anti-Smith man, and W. A. Tarver, Corsicana, also an anti-Smith man.

A few days ago he was taken ill with appendicitis and was conveyed to the Abilene hospital for an operation, but owing to the advanced stage of the disease the surgeons did not operate.

"We know that we have passed out of death into life, because we love the brethren. He that loveth not, abideth in death. Whosoever hateth his brother is a murderer; and ye know that no murderer hath eternal life abiding in him."—John.

JUST SUPPOSING

Two men, Jim and John, were sitting chatting on a front veranda. A shabbily dressed chap shuffled up the walk and asked Jim for work. "You can go around and weed my garden," replied Jim.

After the man had gone Jim said to John, "That is one of the most pathetic cases I know of. That fellow's parents died when he was a child; he was brought up in an orphan asylum. He learned a trade, married a nice girl, got a good job, but the world turned topsy-turvy for him. His baby died, his wife broke his heart, he lost his job; then he had a stroke of paralysis. He is not able to do anything now except occasional light work. He lives mostly on charity."

"I tell you, John, it isn't right," Jim went on earnestly, "there's something wrong with a Creator that will let a poor devil be afflicted like that. Why should he have to live such a life when you and I and a lot of the rest of us no better than he is, maybe not so good, live so comfortably."

"Listen, Jim," said John, "let me tell you a story: There was a fellow by the name of Dudson Bircher. I knew Dudson well. Dudson had a fine father and mother; and they gave him every advantage. When he grew up his father set him up in business; he married a fine girl; then Dudson began to cut up. Things that probably had been in his make-up from the day of his birth and perhaps before began to crop out—meanness of every sort.

"Dudson abused his wife and his children—he didn't strike them, understand, merely neglected and deprived them; he spent much of his time with dissolute characters, he broke the hearts of his parents, finally he abandoned his family altogether. He never did anything for anyone in his life; he betrayed everyone who ever came in contact with him. Here is one instance of Dudson's deviltry. His brother became disabled and sent for him.

"Dudson," he said, "I want you to straighten my affairs up and do the best you can for me. Sell the business and get what money you can for me. I have enough to live on if it's worked out right."

"Sure I'll do it," said Dudson. The next day he appeared at his brother's bedside with a paper. "Sign this," he instructed. "Put things into my hands so I can go ahead, and I can do better for you."

"The brother signed the paper. He shouldn't have done it, but probably his mind wasn't as keen at that moment as it should have been. Well, to make a long story short, Dudson gypped his helpless brother out of every dime he had."

"But what has that to do with the chap who's weeding my garden?" asked Jim.

"Probably nothing," said John, "but here's the point I am trying to make. Suppose it were true—as some believe—that again and again we die and come back to this earth for experience. And suppose that this fellow weeding your garden had been some Dudson Bircher in his previous life, what would you say about the fix he is in now?"

"Well, if that were the case," mused Jim, "I should say he would be getting what would be coming to him."

PERSONAL LOANS

The opening of a personal loan department by the National City Bank of New York, one of the nation's largest banking institutions, is an interesting and significant banking development. Through this department funds may be borrowed without collateral by salaried people who offer notes signed by themselves and two other persons. Repayment will be made in small installments until the loan is canceled. In starting such a lending arrangement, it may be taken for granted the bank expects to make legitimate profits. It is not a purely philanthropic undertaking. On the other hand, it will be performing a service the need of which has been widely recognized, in permitting persons unable to get ordinary commercial loans to borrow a few hundred dollars without falling prey to the usurious rates of loan sharks. Other banks undoubtedly will follow the example if this experiment proves successful.

ARE GOOD MANNERS UN-AMERICAN?

The senate foreign relations committee is shocked to discover that in the state department's "instructions for rating," the qualifications of employees in the diplomatic service are gauged by "character, ability, and personality," with a rather broad interpretation of the last. Thus, under the heading of "personality," the department considers "temperament, disposition, appearance and dress, social and representative qualifications, social grace and poise, manners, tact and courtesy, freedom from eccentricity, magnetism and ability to make and hold friends." These, a member of the senate subcommittee observes, are "remarkable reasons to consider in a republic." Maybe so—maybe not. In a private business or profession considerable importance would be attached to just such qualifications, assuming ability and character to begin with. If "shirtsleeve diplomacy" was ever all it was cracked up to be, it isn't any more. There are plenty of people with ability and character who haven't any business in diplomatic work, or in any service that brings them into continual contact with cultured and well-mannered people. Many conventional customs are silly, but disregard of conventions isn't necessarily a virtue. In a game calling particularly for poise, grace and tact, Americans may logically be expected to show these qualifications along with intelligence and honesty.

SMALL LOANS

At last the small borrower wins recognition. It has always been easy for the man in humble circumstances to get a small loan from a loan shark, but it has been hard to pay it back and get clear. In recent years the Morris Plan banks and some other institutions have made it easier for deserving borrowers to get moderate loans. Now the National City Bank of New York, the largest bank in America, enters this field, with a plan for extending small loans on reasonable terms to salaried people without collateral. Many other institutions may follow this example. It is to be hoped so, for the sake of financial equity as well as financial profit. The small loan is as important to the poor man as the large loan is to the rich man. Many small loans, taken together, mean big business for the banks and a fine contribution to general business prosperity.

WHY IS RED HAIR?

British education and health authorities are conducting a survey of the physical characteristics of school children throughout the United Kingdom which is expected to reveal, among other things, the reasons for the prevalence of red hair in certain families and certain races. Why, for example, are there so many red-headed Scots and why is this coloration widespread in one county and perhaps wholly lacking in a neighboring county? Of course, statistics on red hair are not the chief interest of the survey. Numerous other important facts about the effect of environment and heredity on physique will be sought. But it is more than likely that the greatest popular interest will center on the red-hair findings.

WEST TEXAS OPPORTUNITY

To the Citizens of Eastland County:
The western half of Texas has never had a representative in the U. S. senate. Why? In practically all states there is an unwritten law that the two senators must come from different halves of the state. I am the only candidate from the western half of Texas. I have represented in congress two different districts, embracing 69 counties, running from Mineral Wells to El Paso. I know our problems. If WEST TEXAS will stand behind me, and let me use my time campaigning FOR TEXAS, I will get enough votes to elect me. I will highly appreciate it if my friends will organize their precincts for me, and also if they will write all of their friends and acquaintances in Texas in my behalf. Gratefully yours, THOMAS L. BLANTON.

CARBON BEATS $35,000 WATER BONDS, 97-45

CARBON, May 17.—The proposal to vote $35,000 bonds for the establishment of a water works system in Carbon was defeated by a majority of more than 2 to 1 in a special election here Tuesday. The result was 97 against, 45 for. The objection that apparently caused the defeat of the issue was the increased taxation that would have accompanied the voting of the bonds.

Carbon and community have been blessed by several rains during the week. Tuesday night's down-pour was accompanied by a big electrical storm.

TEACHERS ASK MORE STATE AID FOR RURAL SCHOOLS

W.T.C.C. to Be Asked to Support 7 Proposed Changes; Appointment of County Superintendents Urged

AUSTIN, May 17.—Seven important changes in the Texas educational laws will be brought before the convention of the West Texas chamber of commerce in Fort Worth June 18, 19 and 20, for endorsement by that body. It was announced here Wednesday by W. L. Hughes, Bryan, president of the Texas Teachers' association.

The program will come before the convention in the shape of resolutions, some of them urging constitutional amendments, all of them having as their object simplifying of the school laws and taking the schools out of politics. Hughes will attend the sessions and his association is supporting the proposed measures. Here is a summary of them:

1. Asking statewide support for the pending constitutional amendment that would provide a non-political state board of education. At present the board consists of the governor, educational superintendent, comptroller and secretary of state.
2. Supporting more state assistance for the establishment and improvement of rural high schools, for which larger appropriations are needed as well as increased power of county boards of education.
3. Advocating elimination of the policy of electing county superintendents, replacing it with appointment by the county boards.
4. Calling upon the legislature to abolish the second class certificates now required of teachers.
5. Requesting the next state legislature to repeal the Fairchild law on teachers' certificates.
6. Demanding a reclassification of the Texas school laws, now declared to be confused and contradictory.

7. Asking the legislature to submit a constitutional amendment providing longer tenure of office for directors and regents of the higher educational institutions, the present plan, it is claimed, preventing continued administration and thereby hurting the colleges.

"All of these measures are for the advancement and simplification of Texas' educational system," Hughes said. "I am confident that the West Texas chamber will adopt them, for West Texas has been and is energetically pushing its school program. The schools are so confused at present that it is difficult to know where we are and reclassification is necessary."

Hughes is on the faculty of the Agricultural and Mechanical college.

Humble will play the fast Texas & Pacific team of Baird here at 3:30 next Sunday at Humbletown baseball park. "Rip" Hinson, who played with Beaumont the early part of this season, will pitch the game for Humble.

EXAMINATION FOR OLDEN P. O. IS ANNOUNCED

According to a bulletin sent out by the United States civil service announcing examinations, the office of postmaster at Olden has been vacant since October 19, 1927. The salary of the office is $1,400 annually.

Open competitive examinations are announced to fill this and other vacancies. The date for assembling of competitors will be stated on the admission cards sent applicants after the date for the close of receipt of applications and will be, it is stated, about ten days after that date. The examination for the Olden postoffice will be held in Eastland.

It is stated as probable that appointments to this and other vacant postoffices will be made as a result of this examination unless it be found in the interest of the service to fill any vacancy by transfer or promotion.

It seems to be on the cards that it isn't fair to play poker with a chip on your shoulder.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

Poultry Found Valuable Sideline by Munday Farmer Who Wanted to Turn to Crop Diversification

MUNDAY, May 17.—In line with the popular demand for diversification the farm home of Carl Schumacher, of the Pleasant community presents one of the outstanding examples of what can be done by the farmer who really becomes interested in producing aside from cotton.

Some few years ago Mr. Schumacher went into the poultry business as a sideline from the farming activities and stocked his place with a limited number of White Leghorns. The flock was increased from year to year until several hundred of these busy little egg-machines were shelling out a sufficient number of eggs to bring Mr. Schumacher a neat sum each week.

Last year Mr. Schumacher decided that he would change to White Wyandottes, believing that this variety would produce more eggs during the winter months than the Leghorns, so he purchased foundation stock of the famous John S. Martin strain. However, Mr. Schumacher did not dispose of his Leghorn layers, but segregated them in different pens where they continued to lay, and from his original Leghorns he has had much of the cost of building houses and feeding his incoming flock of Wyandottes.

And today nestlings under the beautiful shade trees which surround the Schumacher home is one of the most complete and modern poultry plants to be found in this section. A large brooder house is equipped with a steam heating plant, and all parts of the premises are served by automatic water troughs which provide a constant supply of fresh water to all the fowls. The brooder house, which is built upon a concrete foundation is provided with a large number of pens enabling him to separate the chickens according to their ages, and automatic feeding devices are provided in all pens where the chicks may eat to their heart's content.

Mr. Schumacher now has about 2,500 fowls on the place, of which about 800 are White Wyandottes ranging in age from 12 weeks to baby chicks, and a more beautiful sight would be difficult to conceive. Every section of the poultry house is provided with sanitary roosts and every nook and corner is kept immaculately clean. In fact, Mr. Schumacher states that if there are those contemplating raising poultry with the idea that there is no work attached to it, they had better take up some other line of endeavor, for it requires constant work and the very closest attention, and success cannot be acquired in a few months. It requires years.

But Mr. Schumacher has played the game safe. He has used money derived from his flock to build his poultry houses and feed his growing flocks, and he is looking forward to the time when they will pay him liberally for the care and attention that he has given them and while Mr. Schumacher would like as much as anybody to see a good rain, he can derive much satisfaction out of the knowledge that his flock of chickens will keep him throughout the year without the necessity of incurring one cent of indebtedness which after all, is the secret of success in this line of diversification, if indeed it is a secret.

THOUSANDS SEE PRODUCTION OF OAKLAND AUTO

PONTIAC, Mich., May 17.—The growing interest of the public in things automotive was illustrated last week when many thousands of out of town visitors joined the local residents in attendance at the three-day open house celebration staged by the Oakland Motor Car Company.

Checkers stationed at the factory doors revealed that the number of visitors during the three days was 90,893, while several thousand others gained admittance through other entrances.

The open house celebration, which was held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, had its principal object a formal observance of the completion of a $3,000,000 factory addition. The new units—a complete assembly building for the Oakland All-American Six and an extensive addition to the factory shipping building—increased the plant floor space by 589,191 square feet. The Pontiac Six and the Oakland Six now are being manufactured in two new and modern factories equipped with every latest device for assuring maximum precision and large production.

MINISTERS TO CONDUCT SERVICES IN COUNTY JAIL

EASTLAND, May 17.—Rev. H. M. Sell, appointed at a recent meeting of the Eastland Ministers' association to report on proposed services each Sunday afternoon at the county jail, has told the pastors that the county officers and jailers will appreciate such services. Arrangements will be made for such a service at 3 o'clock each Sunday afternoon and the ministers will remain in conducting the meetings. Arrangements will be made soon.

GLASSES LOST BY BATHER ARE RETRIEVED

A. L. Mayhew has recovered his spectacles. It will be remembered that Mr. Mayhew lost his glasses when he involuntarily took a bath while fishing in Lake Cisco last Saturday, when the motion of the boat unseated him, plunging him into water 20 feet deep. He stated that a fisherman caught a huge bass which was wearing the spectacles, but no persuasion could induce him to give the name of the expert fisherman. However, he admitted that Charley Cuberson had been fishing for the glasses.

Curly Armstrong says it's all a mistake about Mayhew being the first man to take a bath in Lake Cisco this year. He says he knows that Don Sivalis was the first bather, because he pushed him into the lake.

PRODUCTION IS HOLDING UP AT WILLIAMSON WELL

The Williamson well, drilled in about a month ago by the Operators Oil & Gas Co., is holding its production up nicely, according to information at the office of Brown & Co. in the Cisco Banking building. Last week this well was drilled two feet deeper into the pay, and it was stated the production was practically doubled. The well is reported to be making 500 barrels now. It came in for a flush production of about 800 barrels, but had settled down to about 250 barrels daily. Brown and Whitney, of Cisco, are two of the principal owners of the well. The Williamson lease is located north of Staff. The drillers and tool dressers own a one-fourth interest in the well. Their share in the production has yielded each of the workers a thousand dollars already, it is estimated.

If he has a strong, lingering hand-clasp, that is a sign you are about to part with ten dollars for a worthy cause.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Poor Crops and Poorer Prices Fail to Discourage Couple at Hamlin with Live at Home Idea

HAMLIN, May 17.—Dry weather, poor crops and poorer prices have little or no effect on Mr. and Mrs. C. Stelzig, who live three and one-half miles from Hamlin. These people have discovered that by giving attention to cows, hogs and chickens that they have an income that is assured the year around, and since this discovery they have not failed to capitalize it.

Mr. Stelzig is raising White Leghorn chickens and keeps a flock of from 100 to 250 hens, and now from a flock of 125 hens he is gathering from 80 to 90 eggs per day, or markets more than 30 dozen weekly.

"For 18 years," said Mr. Stelzig, "I worked at the blacksmith trade, but at the end of that time I thought I would try farming, and let the other man do the sharpening of plows. As a consequence, ten years ago, I bought the farm where I now live. I had a good new house in town and instead of building, I moved it out to the farm.

"From the very start my wife and I gave a good deal of attention to chickens and cows and hogs. Ever since we have been on the farm we have raised our hogs for meats, feeding them home-grown feeds. We have always had from five to six cows, and at an early date started to market cream. Now the cream that we sell constitutes a large part of our income. However, my wife markets around 30 and 35 dozen eggs per week. Our eggs and cream constitute the largest part of our income and keeps up all the expenses of the farm, not only paying the current expenses but also the farming operations that are necessary for making the crop. This gives us an advantage over the farmer who does not practice diversification in that at the end of the year we have our cotton crop free from incumbrance, and it is clear money with the exception of the gathering and ginning operations.

"I always devote enough of my time to run me through the year, as there is not a man living that can operate a farm at a profit and buy feed. However, we have found it profitable to buy a commercial egg mash for our hens, and this, in connection with the green pasture that we furnish them, is all the feed that they require.

"I have decided that chickens are the most profitable line that can be raised on a farm, and this fall, if conditions are favorable, I intend to increase my present flock to 2000 laying hens, and believe that they will make me more actual profit than all the crops that I raise on my farm. I might state here also that the skimmed milk which we have left after we separate it goes to our chickens and hogs."

In speaking of new stock, and the replacement of the old laying hens, he had the following to say: "We change our stock about every three years, as we find that a hen will lay well up to that age, but after the first year she is not as good winter layer as she was the first, but continues to produce a large number of eggs.

"I have found it pays a man to invest in pedigreed stock and strains that have been bred for laying purposes, thus giving you a bird that is active the entire year and not trying to set half the time. I have found that incubator hatched chicks are a lot cheaper and more satisfactory in the long run, and as a consequence we never let a hen set, but carry our eggs to the big incubator at Hamlin, where we can have them hatched from 3 to 4 cents a chick.

"I have found that the best disinfectant to use in a hen house is nothing but crude oil. I have used it regularly ever since we

PERSONAL MAGNETISM—Personal magnetism is a scientific method of healing and has been practiced as far back as history dates. It is not an experiment but a natural law of healing. So we must turn the hands back on the dial of time and let nature prevail in her liberating of suffering humanity. Men have recognized the existence of this power of force and given it various names. History says this force is "Life." Physicians say it is "Thought" or "Etheric Energy," and Philosophy as represented by Herbert Spencer, who says it is "An infinite energy from which all things proceed."

MILK HAS MORE "KICK" IN IT THAN ANY OTHER DRINK!
PEP UP!
Does that sound strange? It may, but it is nevertheless true. There is more substantial nourishment in milk than in any other food drink. Healthy people drink milk because, in addition to its fine taste and its thirst-quenching power, it helps them to keep healthy. Sick persons are advised by physicians to drink milk in order to regain their strength.
Yes, milk has a "Kick" to it; and unlike other drinks with a "Kick," builds up the bodily tissues rather than tending to break them down. Be sure it's pasteurized.

"Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take My yoke upon you, and learn of Me; for I am meek and lowly of heart; and ye shall find rest unto your soul. For My yoke is easy and My burden is light."

—Mat. 11:28-29

At the rate of speed we are living, the commercial, political, religious, social and domestic burdens we are carrying are too great. We are suffering under physical and mental strain; in our hurry we are forgetting God. Jesus says "Come and rest." Isaiah 57:20 "The wicked are like the troubled sea when it cannot rest." A great deal is said about the increase of crime and immorality, and plans are offered to combat it. Let us look at the cause. Are we not leaving God out? Isaiah again said, "A man shall be as a hiding place from the storm," in speaking of Jesus, who said "Come and rest."

It is so easy in our rush and hurry to satisfy our physical and mental desires to forget our spiritual need.

Early in 1926 Roger W. Babson, one of America's foremost statisticians, wrote a long article on the value of religion as a home builder, in which one of the last paragraphs reads:

"Several months ago I was very ill for a few days—came pretty near passing out. Let me tell you that my stocks, bonds, and land did not count for much at that time. The one rope which I could grasp was a little faith which I had. I grant it was a very slender rope and pretty stiff from lack of use, but that faith which was taught me years ago by a praying father and mother, and nurtured in the little country church, was my one big possession. It was then that I resolved to write on these intangible reserves, however much I might be criticized for preaching—moreover, I have written this from my heart."

Psalm 46:10—"BE STILL AND KNOW THAT I AM GOD."

NOTICE, VISITORS!

Don't think that because you are away from home you are away from friends--there are many friendly churches in Cisco and Eastland county, all denominations. They extend to you a cordial invitation to attend their services.

Eastland's Program at Chautauqua Wednesday Night Real Musical Treat

Concert Pleases Audience at High School; Tonight's Entertainment by Abilene; Cisco Friday Night

The program presented Wednesday night at the high school auditorium under the auspices of the Eastland Lions club as a part of the chautauqua being conducted this week by the Cisco Lions was a musical treat. The cream of Eastland's musical talent—and that city is blessed with it—offered a concert that would have done honor to the musical organizations of a big city.

To say what was the outstanding feature of the evening would be difficult. It also would be unfair to the other performers because the numbers were uniformly good and high class.

The Drago ensemble, directed by Miss Wilda Drago, opened the program with a series of orchestral numbers. Mrs. C. G. Norton was at the piano. The audience left no doubt of the appreciation of the selections. Two readings by Miss Ima Ruth Kelley, expression teacher of Eastland high school, also made a big hit.

Mrs. B. B. B. Bickerstaff sang a group of vocal numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Donald Kinnaird at the piano, and they too were well received. Miss Drago showed her versatility in two violin solos, accompanied by Mrs. Norton.

Virgil T. Seaberry explained the creed of Lions in a short address, well mixed with humor and comments on the frailties of mankind. "The persons in Cisco that I don't like—the ones that are selfish, the ones that are not congenial, the ones that carry chips on their shoulder—are the ones I don't know," he said in making the point that good points could be found in every person when his acquaintance had been made.

The Eastland band, directed by Prof. A. J. Campbell, brought the evening's entertainment to a close. The band is one of the best in West Texas. It is composed of adults and of school boys, who give promise of developing into a still better organization. Rev. L. E. Hogan of the Eastland Presbyterian church presided during the program.

Tonight's program will be under the direction of the Abilene Lions. It will be the last of the entertainments by Lions of four outside cities. Monday night's program being by Breckenridge and that of Tuesday night by Ranger. The program of the visiting clubs voted the best by a committee of judges will receive a cash prize of $50.

The chautauqua will close Friday night with a program arranged by the Cisco Lions. The proceeds of the week will be placed in a fund looking toward the building of a municipal gymnasium and auditorium here.

BODY OF JOHN BLACK IS MET BY FRIENDS

The body of John Black, former well known Breckenridge man, who died last Sunday at his home in Pomona, Cal., arrived in Cisco Thursday morning at 9:53 over the Texas and Pacific road, and was met at the station by a large number of former Cisco friends, many of whom accompanied the remains to Breckenridge where burial will be this afternoon. The Green funeral home hearse conveyed the remains to Breckenridge.

Fertilizer to Be Sold at Cost Under Provisions of House Substitute for Senate Bill Affecting Muscle Shoals

Fertilizer will be sold at cost, f. o. b. Muscle Shoals, to farmers, farm organizations, state agencies and private manufacturers and merchants under provisions of the House of Representatives substitute for the Norris Senate bill, which will be voted on by congress this week. Despite the fact that this substitute is a new and distinctly different proposal from any other that has ever been before congress dealing with Muscle Shoals, it was introduced by the committee on military affairs without holding public hearings thereon.

The provisions of the substitute bill, in substance, are as follows:

1. It creates the "Muscle Shoals corporation of the United States," providing definitely for ten years of operation.
2. It turns over to this corporation without any charges whatsoever all of the Muscle Shoals properties which originally cost the taxpayers about $140,000,000.
3. It provides $10,000,000 of operating capital from the public treasury which shall be interest free during the first five years.
4. It directs the corporation to manufacture not only nitrogen but complete fertilizers, authorizing purchase of the materials it does not make. The National Defense Act of 1916 provides for the production of nitrates for munitions of war and useful in manufacturing fertilizers.
5. It puts the government in the fertilizer business by requiring the corporation to sell at retail for cash, f. o. b. Muscle Shoals. The fertilizer industry sees in this a tendency to discriminate against poor and needy farmers in favor of those who can pay cash, which would leave the credit risks and bad debts for private industry.
6. It prescribes that sales shall be made: (a) to farmers, farm groups and farm organizations; (b) to State and state agencies for resale to farmers; and (c) to private manufacturers, miners and merchants of fertilizers after the foregoing preferred customers have been supplied.
7. It authorizes the sale of surplus power.
8. It requires the sale of fertilizer to be at cost, with the income from sale of power to be subtracted from fertilizer manufacturing costs. The fertilizer industry feels that private enterprises could not possibly compete against subsidized competition of this nature.
9. It authorizes the free distribution of 3 per cent. of the total fertilizer production for "experimentation." Under certain conditions 15 per cent. of the total production, whether nitrates or complete fertilizer, may be given away.
10. It orders the corporation to build and operate super-phosphate (acid phosphate) plants in the face of excess productive capacity now constructed.
11. It orders the immediate use of a nitrogen-fixation process that consumes over three times as much power per ton of nitrogen as modern plants now being constructed and operated in the United States.
12. It authorizes copying and use of any private patents.
13. It confers the right to condemn private property on a governmental corporation which is to compete with private enterprises.
14. It provides that any person who for compensation of any kind enters into agreement of any kind with intent to defeat the purposes of the corporation shall be fined not more than $25,000 or imprisoned not more than 15 years or both.
15. It gives fertilizer at a subsidized rate to farmers within normal shipping distance of Muscle Shoals, thus benefiting some farmers and discriminating against others.

GUARDSMEN TO GO INTO CAMP JULY 8 TO 27

AUSTIN, May 17.—Members of the Texas National Guard, approximately 8,000 strong, will hold the annual encampment at Palacios, July 8-27. The soldiers will be fed on home-made bread and the kind of cake mother makes, according to Adjutant General R. L. Robertson. About a week ago General Robertson put in a requisition with the bureau of militia supplies of the United States war department for a dough-mixer with a capacity of nearly two barrels. The request was granted, according to a telegram received by General Robertson. The mixer will cost the government about $600 and will be installed and equipped in time for the maneuvers in July.

Major General John A. Hulen, commander of the Thirty-sixth division, will be in command at the encampment.

The cavalry encampment will be held at Mineral Wells, beginning July 26, and will last for two weeks. The camp there was named in honor of Brig. Gen. J. F. Wolters, of Houston.

Adjutant General Robertson will attend both encampments, he stated.

Many Things May Cause Cream Test to Vary--Varnell

Adjustment of Separator, Fresh Cows Entering Herd, Drinking of More Water Are Some of Factors

By E. H. VARNELL, Agricultural Vocational Agent.

A local citizen asked me the other day why it was that his cream test varies quite often when he has the same cows, feeds and treats them alike all the time, and yet the test varies. There are many reasons why cream tests vary. A few of them are given.

All modern separators have a device known as either a cream or skimmik screw, the purpose of which is to regulate the proportion of cream coming from the milk. When the cream screw is turned toward the center the separator delivers thicker or richer cream. The test can be varied in this manner. Once the screw is set, however, the cream will not always test the same, for the regulation of the screw is only one of several reasons for differences in test.

The richer the milk the richer will be the cream. Small herds, particularly, cause variations in test because of changes in the richness of milk due to fresh cows coming in, changes in pasture, difference in amounts of water consumed from day to day, and any number of other reasons. The milk must always be of the same richness or the cream test will vary.

The higher the temperature of milk, the thinner or lower testing will be the cream. The best temperature for separating milk is from 90 to 100 degrees, or about the temperature of milk coming from the cow. Cold milk should not be separated, as there is always more or less loss of butterfat.

The underfeeding of milk into the separator will cause an increase in the test. The milk inflow on all separators is constructed to feed the separator to full capacity and is controlled by a float. The supply valve should be fully open and the float used. If the rate of inflow is changed the test will be changed.

If the speed of the separator is increased over its proper speed, a richer or higher testing cream will be produced, and a slower speed will decrease the test. The speed of the separator has probably more influence on the variation of the test than any other one condition. With different individuals operating the separator, or even the same individual operating it, there is usually not very much uniformity of speed, which is very often responsible for different tests.

The larger amounts of warm water or skim milk used in flushing the separator bowl, the thinner or lower testing will be the cream. This variation may be reduced by using the same amount of skim milk each time.

If the separator is not thoroughly cleaned the passages will often become slightly clogged and cause insufficient separation and variation in the test. Thorough cleaning of the separator helps to keep the test nearer the same.

A separator that is not set perfectly level, or for any other reason vibrates will not do the job alike each time. Vibration causes the test to vary.

Too rich cream or too thin cream may cause a variation in the test because of the difficulty of getting an accurate sample. Too rich cream is usually so thick that extreme care is necessary to get just the right amount for test. Too thin cream may become soured and contain curd particles which make accurate testing difficult. To give the best results both for the producer and the buttermaker cream should be made to test between thirty and forty per cent butterfat.

Any one or any combination of the above mentioned conditions might cause a variation in cream test. A certain amount of variation under average conditions is to be expected.

FAIRBANKS AS GAUCHO MAKES SCREEN EPIC

Eulogizing a day when Gauchos bold rode the boundless pampas and the law of might made right, Douglas Fairbanks comes forth in his thrilling new United Artists production, Douglas Fairbanks as The Gaucho, which opens at the Palace theater Sunday for three days. A more colorful romance than the South American story, with its majestic scenery, its tense rivalries and conquests, could scarcely be conceived. Again, Fairbanks, actor-producer, brings to his world audience a screen narrative destined to rank with the epics of all times. The star has the role of a bandit
