TEXAS TOMATO SHIPMENTS.

Carloads of tomatoes are now being hurried North from the Rio Grande Valley. Gradually the principal shipping points, east of the north in Texas, and next month the Tyler section will be marketing its crop. Red River county has become interested in the truck crops in the last few years and will this year market about 150 carloads of tomatoes. The Panhandle has some of the finest tomato lands to be found anywhere, but as yet has been too much interested in cattle, wheat and cotton to devote much time to small farming, but in a few years that section will be finding that it pays to do intensified farming, and will be helping to supply the country with tomatoes and other truck.

CLARKSVILLE TRUCK CROPS.

Ten years ago a Red River county farmer would have thought it "beneath him" to take any of his time from work in the cotton and corn fields and give it to "garden truck." The wife and children might plant enough, if they wished, to have a few early vegetables, but the farmer himself had "bigger things" to look after. The wife and children began to show the farmer that their truck crops brought better returns than his cotton and corn. This year it will take 50,000 potato sacks to hold the 200 cars of potatoes that will be moving from Clarksville about June 1 and for several weeks thereafter. About the time the potatoes are all harvested, 150 cars of tomatoes will be bringing money into Clarksville and keeping every available laborer busy. Thirty cars of cucumbers will add considerable to the revenue, and onions, beans, peas, peaches, melons and other "small crop" products will still further swell the farmers' receipts.

BUILDING TOURIST CAMPS.

Almost every town in West and Southwest Texas now has one or more attractive, well-kept tourist camps. A few years ago most of these places thought that to get tourists to stop with them, all that was necessary was to furnish them with free tourist parks. These parks usually were poorly kept, unsanitary and unattractive and were passed up by the better class of tourists. They filled up with "flivver hoboes," "ner-do-well" families and a class of people that squatted in the free parks for the summer and to a large extent "foraged" on neighboring farms for a living. Conditions have changed. Instead of the free camp, nicely built, painted little camp houses, some of them well-furnished, set in attractive grounds invite the tourist to linger and rest in comfort, where he can be assured conveniences and the attentions of the keeper in charge of the parks. The hobo is no longer welcomed and the small charge that is made for use of the camp causes him to move on in search of something free. The closing of free tourist camps and the building of comfortable camp houses have done much to add to the pleasure of travel by car in Texas.

TAX ON BILL BOARDS.

Throughout the entire country the Federation of bill boards is beginning a campaign that will result in decreasing the number of bill boards and possibly in removing them from the highways entirely. The plan is to tax all bill boards and advertising signs along the roadways and to make the tax so large that the erection of them will be discouraged. The legislation is to be sought on the ground that such advertising would be of no value unless as highways took people by them, and since the state maintains the roads in a way to secure the travel, the owners of such advertisements should pay a tax for them. Vermont has placed a tax of 3 cents a square foot on bill boards in sight of highways and bill boards are decreasing in that state. In practically all the states a bill board space tax bill will be introduced in the next session of the legislature. The city planning movement now so favored throughout the country will likely result in bill board restrictions in many cities and towns, it is said.

COMPLIMENTING LULING MAN.

Friends and admirers of Edgar B. Davis, the Luling oil magnate, who has been so generous in his benefactions, are suggesting him for vice-president of the United States. New England friends at his former home in Massachusetts have "launched a boom" for him there and a few South Texas counties, beneficiaries of his philanthropies, have instructed for him. This is a nice compliment and shows a real appreciation of the man.

RAT KILLING CAMPAIGN.

School children in Caldwell county killed 35,000 rats in six weeks. Some statisticians have estimated that in every county in Texas there are five times as many rats as people, that it costs $2.00 a year

LONDON, May 18.—"Big Bill" Haywood, noted leader of the Industrial Workers of the World, died in Moscow today following a long illness, according to dispatches received here. Haywood was convicted in the United States on charges of obstructing justice and of hindering the United States government in its prosecution of the World War and was sentenced to serve 30 years in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth. He appealed the case to the United States supreme court and was released on bond. When the high tribunal affirmed his conviction it was learned that he had forfeited his bond and slipped quietly out of the country and come to Russia, whose communistic course he had repeatedly praised.

SEARCH MADE FOR MISSING CARBON GIRL

Maud Tarrence, 18-year-old high school girl of Carbon, has been missing from her home for three days and efforts of friends and relatives and Eastland county officers to find a trace of her have been fruitless. Miss Tarrence was last seen on the streets of Carbon about 11 a. m. Tuesday. The day before she told her teachers that she was going to quit school. Some pupils and teachers are positive that she was around school Tuesday morning but others are certain that she was not. Her family discounts the theory that she may have eloped with an admirer as she was not known to have kept company with any boy. No other reason has been assigned by her parents for her disappearance. She said nothing at home about her intention to quit school. Creeps and the surrounding country have been searched thoroughly for her but in vain. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Tarrence.

A short time ago, the Marshall, Texas, News picked up a news item and reproduced it. It was from the Winston County Journal, published near Starkville, Miss., and referred to a pay day by the milk plant in the latter city. "It is said that over 500 visitors from other counties and from Louisiana, Arkansas and Alabama were in Starkville for the purpose of witnessing the

Readjustment of Membership after 1930 Census Is Opposed; Texas Would Gain 2 Members

WASHINGTON, May 18.—A fight to prevent enlargement of the house of representatives overshadowed all other controversial issues in the Penn reapportionment bill as the house neared a vote on the measure today. The bill would reposition the house after the 1930 census but would commit congress to the present membership limit of 435. Opponents have refused to accept the membership limitation. Although a reapportionment of membership has usually been made after each ten year census, no change was made after the 1920 census. A strong fight by states that would have lost one or more members resulted in the death of the measure. According to the latest government population estimates, Texas would gain two members in the lower house. Oklahoma would gain one.

OREGON VOTING TODAY; SLIGHT INTEREST HELD

PORTLAND, May 18.—The voters of Oregon went to the polls today in a primary election with contests over state officers the only feature. SENATE WANTS TO KNOW ABOUT OIL FUND TAX

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The senate called upon the treasury department today to tell what steps have been taken to collect taxes and what penalties for non-payment have been imposed upon four oil men who profited from the Continental Trading Co.'s liberty bond slash fund. The resolution was introduced by Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat, Montana, and was adopted unanimously. Recent testimony before the Teapot Dome committee revealed that Harry F. Sinclair, Col. Robert W. Stewart, Henry Blackmer and James E. O'Neill had split the fund between them.

Interesting Program Arranged For District Legion Convention at Breckenridge Next Two Days

The district convention of the American Legion of the 17th congressional district will open at Breckenridge Saturday and continue through Sunday. Among the distinguished speakers for the convention will be Mark McGee, Fort Worth, former state commander, and Dr. J. W. Hunt, of McMurry college, Abilene. The Legionaires will be banqueted at the Burch hotel at 1 o'clock Sunday. A most interesting program has been arranged by the Bernice Coles post at Breckenridge, and preparations are being made to entertain the largest number of ex-service men to have ever assembled there on a like occasion, according to C. E. Yates, adjutant of the Cisco post. "I have notified Ben J. Dean, commander of the Breckenridge post, that Cisco will be represented by 35 or 40 from this post," Yates said, "but I expect even a larger number to go from here. We have a live post at present, and I would like to see every member of the Cisco post in attendance at the Breckenridge meeting. The program, especially that which will be offered by the 40 and 8, will prove interesting, and a sufficient attraction for all the members to attend. The legionaires will be invited to hold the next convention in Cisco, and if we send over a large delegation Cisco will be more likely to land the meeting."

FUNERAL FOR PARISH TO BE HELD SUNDAY

The body of Lester Parish, former Cisco man, is expected to arrive in Cisco Saturday morning at 9:53 o'clock from Phoenix, Arizona, and will be conveyed to Mar-ran for burial Sunday, arrangements for which have not yet been completed. It was learned at the home of Martin Parish here today, owing to lack of information as to the time of the departure of the body from Arizona. Lester Parish was accidentally killed when a truck turned over with him at Phoenix last Sunday. He was 34 years of age, a son of Mrs. B. F. Parish, and a brother of Martin Parish, and of Mrs. T. E. Davis, all of Cisco. Other brothers and sisters are Mrs. Berry Pite, of Albany; Mrs. J. R. Thomas, of Silverton; W. F. Parish, of Nederland, and Oscar Parish, of Moran. His widow, who is accompanying the body from Arizona, was Miss Rose Afion, of Ranger.

THE GREAT ORDEAL

Fitzmaurice, Koehl and Von Huenfeld courageously flew across the stormy Atlantic and valiantly endured a greater storm in New York City, in the guise of an overwhelming welcome; but the worst is yet to come. Little do those hardy explorers know what they are up against. They have embarked on a new adventure now, touring the United States as conquering heroes. They have ignorantly accepted invitations to visit many American cities. Lindbergh and Marshall Joffre and many another feted by the nation could tell them what an ordeal they are falling for, but they would probably not believe it. The fervor and might of an American welcome is something that every notable foreigner in turn has to learn for himself. And by the time he has learned it, he is about done for. Some day, a few weeks hence, those three sturdy air-farers will give up, turn tail and mumble some incoherent words of appreciation and farewell, set off in whatever direction it happens to be, by airplane or steamship or submarine or row-boat, for the comparative peace and privacy of their native lands. Yet when they arrive there, their hopes will be blasted again. For Europe, in this matter of welcoming heroes, has begun taking its cue from America, and the native home-comer naturally has to have a home-coming no less enthusiastic than strangers have given him. There is no rest in this diminishing world for any man who touches the imagination of mankind by some notable exploit.

LITERARY COMPREHENSION

The English literature contest between selected students from Harvard and Yale has not caused much of a ripple on public consciousness. Ten members each from the senior classes of the two schools, on April 30, took the regular examination given to all Harvard men who specialize in English. The Yale men volunteered for the competition. Prizes amounting to $5,000 were awarded, going to buy books for the winner's college. The papers were graded by professors from Brown, Princeton and Cornell. Other campus activities went on quite normally during the contest of the fountain pens. School cheer leaders were not called on for spring duty. Perhaps no one but the contestants and a few of their best friends paid any attention to the affair at all. Yet the test and the teams and prizes indicate that there are intellectual activities in the schools, that classes in various subjects are taught, that students specialize in various academic departments. In the autumn when football is flourishing, one would never suspect these other interests. If a disproportionate amount of attention is paid to football, it may be surmised that it's mostly the public's own fault. The courses of study and the students and professors are there all the time.

DRIVERS' EYES

The Eyesight Conservation Council of America wants "a visual acuity norm" for motorists. By that terrible phrase it means a standard by which to judge a motorist's acuteness of vision—or in plain English, how well a driver can see. Experience, the eyesight people say, has shown that every applicant for a driver's license ought to take a sight test. There is evidence everywhere of serious accidents due to poor vision. Such tests have been started in various places, and once started, have never been discontinued. New York experiments are said to have resulted in the conclusion that "a person with 50 per cent vision would be able to see safely and to judge distance while driving." Evidently there are many persons driving with less than 50 per cent vision. With a definite standard once adopted, whatever it might be, drivers rendered dangerous from defective sight could be ruled out and the highways made safer for all. Cars are now made controllable and reasonably safe. The chief safety factor is the driver. This sort of correction is especially necessary in a time of rapidly increasing speed.

WAR DEBT MONEY

Why not use some of the money paid back to us by European countries in discharge of their war debts by establishing international scholarships to bring foreign boys and girls here to study in our schools and to send some of our young people aboard for study? That is the suggestion of Rev. Gill Dodd Wilson, national chaplain of the American Legion. The United States did a fine thing in using the money China paid us for the Boxer indemnity for the education of Chinese students in American colleges and universities. Most people believe that a great deal of good has been accomplished by that in promoting friendliness between China and this country. The Rhodes scholarship, through which young men from all over the United States enjoy the opportunity to get acquainted with young Englishmen in English universities, have unquestionably promoted international understanding between these two countries. An extension of the idea to include students from allied or late enemy countries should have far-reaching, good results.

THE INSURED CHILD

A New York lad named Edwin Weisl, aged 10, whose life has just been insured for $200,000 says: "I'm glad the insurance people think I'm not going to die very soon. I guess I won't play any more in the streets." It might be worth while to have insurance policies written on a good many other children, if it would make them think more seriously about avoiding traffic dangers.

PEACE RISKS

Many people object to every organized effort for peace, on the ground that it is risky. But it is sometimes more risky to do nothing than to take positive action. Ramsay MacDonald, former British premier, makes this plain in a recent article in the Nation, regarding the latest peace proposals. "Let us give up shaking puzzled heads," he says, "when we find that every move is attended with risks. That is so, and let us accept the inevitable. The biggest risk of all is to come to no agreement. Peace by agreement imposes obligations on every state whose signature is attached to it. What we must be careful about is that the risks we take are of such a nature as to disappear when the agreement of which they are adjuncts gets into working order." It would be strange indeed to be more afraid of the risks of peace than the risks of war.

THE PULITZER AWARDS

The Pulitzer Prize awards have been announced. As usual there is much criticism of them. That is only to be expected. Tastes and even standards vary. In a day when books and plays are written and published in such great numbers, it would not be possible to settle upon any one which satisfied all readers as the "best." Yet there are details connected with choosing works to be honored which could be simplified with benefit to all concerned. For example, there is the prize awarded to Thornton Wilder for his book, "The Bridge of San Luis Rey." Many readers who are delighted that this book should receive such recognition may yet wonder just how it fits the terms of the award, which are: "For the American novel published during the year which shall best present the whole atmosphere of American life and the highest standard of American manners and manhood." The scene of the book is laid in Peru, although it might be anywhere. It deals with a profound philosophical problem which interests humanity at large. It has nothing to do with so narrow a field as American life, manner or manhood. The Advisory Board of the Pulitzer School of Journalism, which awards those prizes, has already changed the language describing the qualities it seeks in a prize play. Should it not broaden the terms of the award for the novel?

Touching Playlet Is Feature of Program of Abilene Lions Club Thursday Night

Chautauqua to Close Tonight with Entertainment Furnished by Ciscoans; to Name Winner

A playlet that would have touched the heartstrings of the most cold-blooded person was the feature of the program presented by the Abilene Lions club Thursday night at the high school auditorium as a part of the Cisco Lion's chautauqua. It was "The Valiant," a one-act play made famous last winter by Bert Lyell on a vaudeville tour. It was the story of the last hour of a man sentenced to hang for a murder to which he has pleaded guilty and in which he believes himself justified. Efforts of prison officials to learn his real identity are fruitless, although 40,000 persons have written letters to see if the condemned man is an erring son, brother or sweetheart. He insists that his parents are dead and that he has no brothers or sisters.

A few minutes before the trip to the death chamber a girl is admitted to see him with the governor's permission. Her purpose is to relieve her mother, who is ill and who believes the prisoner may be her son. He learns that the girl is his sister but he hides the fact from her and convinces her that he knew her brother in the Canadian army during the World War and that he died to save another.

The play was presented by students of Abilene Christian college. The program opened with a song led by Ed Shumway, Boy Scout executive of Abilene. Mrs. Y. C. Gorsuch appeared in a vocal solo, accompanied by Miss Luciel Auten. Rev. E. B. Surface of the Central Presbyterian church of Abilene entertained the audience with some amusing anecdotes, followed by a reading by Stanley Mitchell and a solo by Shumway. All numbers were well received.

The chautauqua will close tonight with a program presented by the Cisco Lions. The winner of the $50 prize offered for the best program by the visiting clubs will be announced tonight.

UMBRELLAS MATCH FANCY JEWEL SETS

PARIS, May 18. — Matching the umbrella handle with the set of fancy jewels is one of the newest ideas brought out by Parisian novelty-makers. It is only another of the many developments of the ensemble idea which is fast invading every article dear to the fair sex.

One shop is showing an umbrella handle circled by a series of narrow silver bracelets set with colored stones from place to place, and similar silver bracelets of larger size are shown for the wrist. Sometimes it is the necklace or earrings which match the handle, all of beautiful and original design.

Umbrellas that are surprisingly small and short when closed but make a comfortable shelter when a spring shower falls, come with the curved handle of small size in ivory, exotic wood or horn. The smartest fabric for umbrellas this spring is taffeta with many fancy models in shaded stripes or plaid designs.

A two-in-one cane and umbrella combined is a great success with the men, for it has the rare advantage of not exceeding the average size and bulk of an ordinary walking stick.

Matrimony as Well as Liquor Being Bootlegged in America, Is View of Judge Ben Lindsey

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 18.—"America is bootlegging matrimony as well as liquor," former Judge Ben Lindsey of Denver, Colo., said as he arrived from Colorado for a few weeks visit. He was met at the station by Josephine Haldeman-Julius and Audrey Roselle, of Kansas City, Kas., America's first companionate marriage couple.

"Love, marriage and divorce are handled surreptitiously," said Lindsey, "as if they were a disgrace, with the result that disgraceful circumstances are often more attendant."

He then launched into a discussion of the companionate marriage as a remedy. "Companionate marriage is a sane, wholesome and logical solution of a perfectly natural desire of two young people who love each other, to marry."

Judge Lindsey asserted. He added that the term "companionate marriage" is not a "trick name for free love."

"The estimable ministers and blue-lawyers who are fighting the companionate marriages are by the same token playing into the hands of those who sanction free love. Companionately wed people are as much married as anyone who ever faced a minister equipped with a license. See this? And then he held up the small hand of the equally small "Mrs. Roselle" or Miss Haldeman-Julius as she prefers to be designated to exhibit a wedding ring of engraved platinum according to the approved style.

The main difference between the companionate marriage and the other kind is the fact that companionately married people are financially independent of each other.

In this case, he emphasized, including Josephine and Audrey, "the fathers are paying the bills."

STRANGE CONTRASTS ARE MANY IN "THE GAUCHO"

Saints and scoundrels, shrines and robbers' lairs are the fiercely contrasting motifs of Douglas Fairbanks as The Gaucho, the new United Artists production, which opens at the Palace theater Sunday for three days.

How Doug came to impersonate another robber chief, this time a super-brigand, is now revealed. The story of Douglas Fairbanks as the Gaucho deals with a beautiful chime city, whose wealth is coveted both by the bandit chief and a scheming dictator.

Conflict of motives could be most powerfully provided by the element of brigandage, so once again Doug willfully dons the guise of a rover.

Conflict reigns throughout Douglas Fairbanks as The Gaucho between hundreds of hard-riding plainsmen and soldiers, between the ambitions and hopes of fair heroines and between love and duty. Never before have so many people and animals appeared in a Fairbanks production. The scenes of the Andes and the pampas country are of surpassing loveliness.

PEASANTS THREATEN REGENCY OVERTHROW

Two hundred thousand Rumanian peasants are demanding the resignation of Jan Bratianu, upper right, Regency Premier, and in assembly are reported to demand that their leader, Julius Mannu, upper right, be made premier. Queen Marie, center, mother of the child King Michael, is understood to be in their favor and to have influenced Prince Nicholas, lower right, as a member of the Regency, to accede to the demands in order to frustrate any move that Prince Carol, lower left, may make toward getting back in power in Rumania.

More Than 10,000,000 Copies of Bibles in Over 100 Tongues Put in Circulation During Last Year

NEW YORK, May 18. — More than ten million copies of the entire Bible or parts of the Bible is the new record of circulation figures for 1927 reported by the American Bible Society in the 112th annual report of the board of managers of the society just made public. The total number of issues is 10,034,797 copies published in 100 different languages and dialects. Nine of the society's ten agencies in the United States report a distribution of scriptures greater in number than the preceding year. In this distribution more than a hundred languages are represented, including several North American Indian and immigrant dialects. It includes tens of thousands of gospels given to flood sufferers in the Mississippi Valley, hundreds of thousands of issues called for by the nationwide gospel reading program in January and February, thousands of scriptures placed by sale or gift will be completed by Sept. 1, and a formal opening is planned for October. The Brazilian agency, located in Rio de Janeiro, has completed fifty years of Bible work. The population during this time has increased two and one-half times, while the circulation of the scripture has increased twelve and one-half times. Nearly 50,000 more copies were circulated in 1927 than during the preceding year.

Translated Into 169 Languages. The first complete Bible in the Luba Luba language, spoken by some 2,500,000 natives of the Belgian Congo, was published last year by the Bible society. It is the 169th language in the world into which the whole Bible has been translated through the efforts of Bible societies. A second edition of 10,000 Bulu New Testaments was also printed for West African missions. Translation work in cooperation with certain American missions was done in Central America, South, East, and Central Africa and in some of the American Indian dialects.

In the Philippine Islands the task of replacing 14,000 linotype pages of scriptures in dialect, destroyed by the Japanese earthquake, and the equally important task of reducing these pages to permanent plates for storage were completed. In all there are seven dialect Bibles in plates. In addition to the moulds kept by the agency in Manila a duplicate set is now in the New York vaults to guard against another disastrous earthquake.

Appeals Are Increasing. The society has never received so many appeals for grants of scriptures to individuals, institutions, missions, and for campaigns as in the year just closed. The response is limited by lack of funds to cover this phase of the society's work. The budget of the society for 1928 amounts to $1,345,426 including estimated local receipts in foreign countries. Approximately one-half of the total of this appropriation must come from the contributions of churches and individuals.

$500,000 to Be Spent in National Magazines in 3 Years Advertising Texas and Other Southwest States

DALLAS, May 18. — Picturing Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana; the oil and gas fields of the great Southwest, embracing Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana, the first advertisement in a three-year campaign carrying an expenditure of $500,000, will be published about June 1 in three great national magazines. The campaign, conducted by Industrial Dallas, Inc., a subsidiary of the Dallas chamber of commerce, is said to be one of the greatest community advertising efforts ever launched in the country. The "copy" for the first advertisement, which will appear as a full page in the Saturday Evening Post, the Literary Digest and Nation's Business, is built around an art layout, showing a huge relief map of the territory, with all the varied resources and activities pictured graphically—the sheep and cattle ranges of the west, and fruit growing and mining of Arkansas, the cotton fields spread over the four states embraced—Texas, to make this the greatest potential undeveloped industrial area in America. That is our hope and our aim." The national advertising campaign will be supplemented during the three year period with advertisements in the trade journals circulating among 18 selected industries, which industrial surveys conducted by experts revealed could be profitably operated in the Southwest territory.

Saturday Is Good to Start in Drive

OPPORTUNITY OFFERED FOR MANY POINTS

A good day to start something, Saturday, May 19. A good time to start work in the Cisco Daily News and Weekly American and Roundup Circulation Drive. Free coupons clipped from the papers, lists of names for sample copies, and subscriptions will no doubt be secured Saturday by many of the ladies who have been selected to conduct the big drive.

The Daily News office will be open until a late hour Saturday night to entertain the ladies who will take part in the drive and to receive such returns as may be turned in. The workers are requested, if it is convenient, to call at the Daily News office or communicate with the circulation department and let it be known if the nominations and points given have been accepted. Call or write and send in one or more coupons, a list of names, if they are ready, and one or more subscriptions if it is possible to get them. Come to the office anyway if you have nothing to turn in and get the details of the drive and learn how easy it is to own one of the automobiles or some of the valuable prizes with a little of your spare time.

NEW PRORATION PLAN ADOPTED IN PECOS POOL

FORT WORTH, May 18. — Plan for prorating production of the Yates pool for six months more until December 31, was reached at a conference of producers of Pecos county here Thursday. All voted in favor of the plan, which was a partial compromise except the representative of Simms, who expressed the wish of discussing it with his associates before voting. As the plan is to be presented to the Texas railroad commission with the request it be made an order, and since it follows Winkler proration closely, it is believed that the commission will put the plan into effect with an order and it will be mandatory with or without Simms' assent.

The plan calls for division of the field into 120-acre units, and an equal division of the allotment on the basis of potential production and proven acreage.

Average Taken
In arriving at the potential, the average production per well will be taken, and that will be the potential figure for that unit. This is a radical departure, and is designed to take the premium off of drilling more than one well to the unit—one well being considered capable of recovering all the oil under a unit.

New Committee
A new executive committee of five members was elected in place of the old one of three. Members of the old committee, W. A. McGrief, Marland Production company, Fort Worth; Warner Clark, California Company, (Standard of California, Colorado, and M. H. Wagner, Mid-Kansas Oil & Gas Company (Ohio Oil Company), of San Angelo, were re-elected. To these were added F. J. Adams of Fort Worth, Gulf Production company, and W. L. Todd of Dallas, Simms Oil company. The railroad commission will be requested to name these men advisory committee.

The plan accepted will be reduced to writing by a committee of legal advisers and then will be placed before the railroad commission by the committee and the advisory committee next week. Legal committee includes: D. C. Procter, Fort Worth, Gulf Production company; W. J. Ricker, Fort Worth, Marland Production company; and Hines Baker, Houston, Humble Oil & Refining company.

LOWDEN'S PLEA TO BE BASED ON FARMING RELIEF

CHICAGO, May 18. — Frank O. Lowden rests his candidacy for the presidency on the Republican party's willingness to meet the farm problem. "If the party is unwilling to meet the issue, I do not want the nomination," he asserted here Thursday to a select audience of four reporters. The former Illinois governor, emphatic in his declaration, punctuated his statements with short arm jabs to the nearest reporter's chest. "I do not want the kind of fame that rests on an unsuccessful campaign," he observed.

Lowden, on his way from Washington to his downstate farm, sees the possibility of defeat if the party does not accept farm relief as one of its duties. "Everywhere I went I told the Easterners there is a farm problem," he paused to the shoulder—a reporter across the shoulder—"and that it must be met." — Lowden pounded his fist on a desk to stress this.

"They told me in the East," he exclaimed, "that a farm bill without the equalization bill could be passed. I told them that would be like a protective tariff without the schedules."

"There is no point in criticizing the McNary-Haugen bill without offering something in return in the absence of anything better, I'll stick to it."

Lowden didn't know how many votes he would get from the uninducted delegations in New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts. Neither did he have an opinion on the statements of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon regarding Herbert Hoover.

The Republican party, Lowden mentioned, did not succeed until it brought the industrial East and the agricultural West together.

"There were many in the party who charged that legislation such as the homestead bill and others which Lincoln signed were radical. The McNary-Haugen bill is in the nature of an experiment to meet a comparatively new situation."

STEPHENS CO. LOSES IN OIL TAX ACTIONS

BRECKENRIDGE, May 16.—Stephens county lost in its efforts to force collection of three levies of county tax for 1927 from the 13 oil and pipe line companies which brought suit in the 90th district court here to enjoin Tax Collector Downing from the collection of these levies. Immediately upon the conclusion of arguments in the cases of the Texas company, et al. and Brooks and Hanlon, et al. versus Stephens county et al. tried jointly yesterday afternoon, Judge F. O. McKenzie, of Wethersford, who exchanged benches with Judge C. O. Hamlin for the length of the hearing, announced a decision favoring the plaintiffs and perpetuating temporary injunctions issued against County Tax Collector Downing. The total amount of tax involved is around $60,000. It is represents taxes on three levies made by the commissioners court for 1927 for the payment of interest and sinking funds due on road and bridge bonds, series A and B, and court house and jail bonds for 1928. The court held in substance that when the tax levies were made in 1927 there was no necessity for the three levies contested as there was in each fund at the time a sufficient amount to pay interest and principal accruing for the next two years or more, and that the amounts already paid by the
