CO-OPERATIVE BUILDING—Alpine citizens interested especially in seeing that students may not stay away from Sul Ross State Teachers college because of a lack of homes in the town, have adopted a novel method of co-operative house building and leasing that is worth studying by others. Finding that more students would come to Alpine if they could get homes in which to live, model cottages were designed to cost around $2,100 each, including plumbing, furnishing, etc. Appeals were made to the citizens to erect houses along these plans at this uniform cost to be rented through a committee and the rents to be apportioned among all the builders. Building in this way, the houses are constructed and furnished at the least possible cost; there is co-operative control over a fixed period though individual ownership is maintained; rents are equalized, thereby avoiding any great personal loss when a house stands vacant; new homes constructed as the home owners may think there is a demand for residences of that class; individuality in plans is maintained, although houses are uniform in size and in cost. This plan would seem to commend itself to chambers of commerce wherever there is a decided shortage in residences.

BEAUTIFUL CORPUS CHRISTI—Gutzon Borglum, the noted sculptor, employed to design the bay front improvement plan for Corpus Christi, the central figure of which is to be a 32 foot statue of Christ designed by Borglum, says that Corpus Christi is destined to become the most beautiful seaport in America. He declares that the only parallel in history of what Corpus Christi is to accomplish was ancient Athens, which under Phidias sought out the best architects and sculptors, who left a record of civilization that remains unequalled. The details of the plan, as pictured by Borglum, show that when the great waterfront boulevard, with its palm-lined drives and walks, its ornamental lights, its colossal, magnificent statue, is completed, Corpus will indeed become famous for its beauty. Borglum is loud in his praise of the recent tendency of cities and towns to plan for their future beautification along broad lines of which future generations may well be proud. He says: "It augurs well for the future of the nation's largest state that now its leading cities are turning their eyes within and examining their potentialities and seeking within their own boundaries possibilities for playgrounds and suitable conditions for pleasure and entertainment of their own and visiting neighbors."

WELCOMING NEW RESIDENTS—San Antonio has a "Welcome Wagon" in which the efficient hostess of the city makes a call on all new residents and presents them a formal welcome from the mayor and greetings from the chamber of commerce. The wagon itself is an attractive white sedan. In addition to the letter of welcome from the mayor and the greetings, packages and tokens are presented from a number of enterprising firms that share the expense of extending the welcome. The idea is not a new one, having been introduced in Brooklyn, N. Y., many years ago by an enterprising newspaper, and wherever such welcomes are extended the newcomers start out with the feeling that the city is indeed friendly to strangers.

REBUILDING COTTON BELT—Perhaps the most extensive and expensive project under way in East Texas now is the relocating and rebuilding of the Cotton Belt railway between Tyler and Mount Pleasant at a cost of approximately $2,175,000. The old route has many steep grades and sharp curves, and for twenty years or more a relocation has been contemplated in order to enable the line to handle the heavy trains in use on other parts of the company's lines. It is expected that the work will be completed within the year.

STARTING POTASH DEVELOPMENT—In West Texas attention is turning somewhat from the great oil development to the plans of the American Potash company of Texas to make a thorough development of its holdings near Odessa in Ector county. The work already contemplated calls for an expenditure of something like $2,000,000 in the next twelve months. The company's assets in the Odessa field are listed at $3,000,000.

PECOS SOFT WATER—The water problem is no longer troubling Pecos. Within 14 miles of the town the Texas-Louisiana Power company has discovered a supply of pure soft water adequate for a city of from 30,000 to 100,000 people. Plans are being considered for piping it into Pecos.

CONGRESS VOTES ADJOURNMENT

Humble Day Draws Many Visitors

Between 1,500 and 2,000 Celebrate Oil Company's Annual Holiday; to Close Tonight with Pavilion Dance

Boasts Two Winners

The little town of Congress, Ohio, is justly proud of its two young citizens, Miss Pauline Gray is back from Washington with the second prize in the national spelling bee, and the same school sent Dean Lucas to Washington last year to win the first prize. This is a unique record for any town to hold.

The officials and employees of the Humble Oil & Refining Co. are celebrating Humble Day today. This is an annual institution, and all officials and employees of the Cisco division, some 1,500 or 2,000, are here to participate in the celebration. There were issued 2,100 invitations for the event, including a number of guests in Cisco and other cities. The committee on arrangements prepared an interesting program for the day, commencing at 10 o'clock this morning, and concluding with the dance at the Cisco Amusement company pavilion tonight.

The bulk of the visitors witnessed the baseball game in the morning between the teams of the pipe line department and the production department, which the pipe liners won by a score of 7 to 2. The pipe line team had the game tucked away soon after it started, their opponents failing to tally until the seventh inning. Despite the score, the game was closely contested and was played in an hour and 30 minutes. The batteries for the pipe line team were Hanson and Burke, for the production team Nicholson and C. Williams. The teams will play again Sunday afternoon at the Humble park, where today's contest was held.

The principal events of the day are being enjoyed this afternoon, after the basket dinner from 12 to 1 o'clock near the swimming pool at Lake Cisco. These include a water carnival and other aquatic events, with a dance at Lake Cisco Amusement Co. pavilion at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and 8 to 12 this evening. At the dance tonight only the Humble employees and those with guest ribbons will be admitted. Music for the dance will be furnished by Ligon Smith's Texas Hotel orchestra. The program will be broadcast from 9 to 11 p. m. over station WBAP.

Brownwood May Follow Example of Cisco by Employing Agricultural Instructor; Pointers Are Given

Brownwood may follow the course of Cisco and other cities in employing an agricultural vocational instructor. E. H. Varnell, agricultural vocationalist of the Cisco high school and chamber of commerce, and J. E. T. Peters, secretary of the chamber of commerce, said Tuesday after returning from Brownwood where they met with the directors of its chamber of commerce. They gave detailed reports of the results obtained here through such a vocationalist. C. L. Davis, state inspector of vocational work, will visit Brownwood next week in connection with the matter. From Brownwood Davis will come to Cisco to spend several days in this section. With Peters

Moody Like Football Convention, Says Woman; Hoots

CORPUS CHRISTI, May 29.—More man frequently peers over the top of his specs and muddily curious, wants to know what woman's attitude in politics is, anyway. The following interview from Mrs. D. McNeil Turner, prominent Corpus Christi woman at least gives one woman's viewpoint.

Discussing the convention at Beaumont where she was a delegate, Mrs. Turner said:

"Governor Dan Moody was like a football at the recent state Democratic convention. He went from one side to the other and when the convention adjourned, the delegates left without being able to tell whether he was wet or dry. It is very doubtful whether or not he will be able to extricate himself from the hole into which he has placed himself. The antis, pros, and Smith factions were against him and cries of "Down with Moody," "Double-Crosser," "Trickster," and other hoots of

LEGIONAIRES TO HONOR CISCO'S SOLDIER DEAD

Wednesday, between the hours of 5 and 6 o'clock, the graves of the soldier dead, who lie buried in Oakwood cemetery, will be decorated. John William Butts post, American Legion, has arranged an appropriate program in honor of those who made the supreme sacrifice in the World War, but those heroes who fell in the Civil War will also be remembered. The officers of the local post request that all places of business be closed during that hour as a tribute to the soldier dead. No canvas of the city will be made, nor will there be any personal requests made to close.

The Cisco postoffice will be closed all day and no city deliveries will be made. The general delivery window will be open from 9 to 10 o'clock only. The two banks of Cisco will not close, as both the First National and the Cisco Banking Co. will observe 120th anniversary of President Jefferson Davis, of the Southern confederacy, by closing Monday, June 4.

CARL SMITH SUCCUMBS TO PNEUMONIA

Carl E. Smith, resident of Cisco for 16 years, died Tuesday morning at his home, 805 West Twelfth street. He had been ill with pneumonia for some time and was thought to be on the road to recovery when he suffered a relapse. Funeral services will be conducted at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning at the First Presbyterian church. Rev. B. C. Boney officiating. Interment will be in Oakwood Cemetery. Mr. Smith had been in the employ of the Humble Pipe Line Co. for eight years as telegraph operator and oil dispatcher. He had made an enviable record with the company. He was born in Eastland county May 30, 1868. He lacked one day of being 40 years old when he died. On Oct. 19, 1911, he was married to Miss Eunice Louise Michael of Cisco. Survivors are the widow; two children, Carl Vesta and Reuben; his parents Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Smith, Vernon, two brothers, Eugene, Big Spring, and Fred W. Smith, Dallas, and three sisters, Mrs. Willie Diggs, Vernon, Mrs. Annie Parker, Okmulgee, and Mrs. May LeFevre, Grandfield, Okla.

THE KNOW-IT-ALL

The most difficult person to do anything with is the fellow who doesn't know much and doesn't know enough to know that he doesn't know much.

Most human beings are afflicted with know-it-all-ism during what is known as the adolescent age; but most of them become disillusioned as time wears on, and reach the conclusion that when they die wisdom will not die with them.

It is a wonderful feeling to believe that one knows as much about everything in the world as all the rest of the world put together, that one's instinctive intelligence is far and beyond, and away and above the hard fought for, long dredged for knowledge of others.

The man who has come to know how little he knows may wish at times he were back in his cozy cocoon of self-satisfaction; for it is a grand and glorious feeling; yes, indeed, and probably at no time during his earthly existence is a human being so much at peace as during the time he is unborn.

The first gesture toward correcting a deficiency is to realize that there is a deficiency. The first move toward completing an incompleteness is to understand that there is an incompleteness.

To see how much there is to know, and how little one knows of what there is to know, is enough to make one blue. The knowledge of the wisest man is but a small scrap of the knowledge that exists.

The know-it-all in the wisdom of his conceit would be a person to be envied but for the fact that sometime, somewhere, somehow, he will be disillusioned. Some day he will awake from that delightful dream—and that is ever a painful experience.

Songfest Suggestion for Chautauqua Week Is Approved by City Pastors

Cisco Ministerial Association Favors Community Singing for Afternoon of Sunday, June 24

Guest of Honor

Hina M. West, national Republican committee woman for Michigan, and member of the convention committee on arrangements, will be tendered a luncheon by Kansas City Republicans on June 5.

The Cisco Ministerial association at its weekly meeting Monday evening suggested that a county-wide songfest be held here Sunday, June 24, an open date in the week given over to Cisco's annual chautauqua. The pastors, however, said that they believed that the songfest should be conducted in the afternoon and that the customary church services should be held at night. The chautauqua opens here June 23 for a six day program, exclusive of Sunday. Because of the talent which the chautauqua company will have resting in Cisco that day and because of the large number of good singers in this and surrounding communities The Daily News sponsored the suggestion for a general songfest. The singing here will be something out of the ordinary, will be welcomed by many and will draw many to Cisco and still will be in keeping of the Sabbath observance. The committee on arrangements for the songfest is composed of B. C. Honey, B. W. Patterson and George Boyd.

EASTLAND MEN SONS OF LATE CONGRESSMAN

EASTLAND, May 29.—The death of Congressman Thomas Butler in Washington Saturday night occasioned grief in Eastland.

He was the father of Samuel and Horace Butler, chief officials of the Arab Gasoline corporation, who live in Eastland. About a year ago the Pennsylvania statesman visited here and made many friends by his courtesy and cordiality.

His record of 31 years' consecutive service in congress is one of the longest in the history of the United States. He was chairman of the naval affairs committee of the national house of representatives and was the author of history making pieces of legislation. Although past the age of three score and ten, he was alert in mind and body.

All members of the family except one son, Gen. Smedley Butler, were with him when the end came. General Butler is in command of the American forces in China.

The funeral was held today at Mr. Butler's home city, West Chester.

AUTOS ARE DRIVEN INTO STORE TO SAVE PARKING

Shoppers will be able to drive their cars directly into the store, and then drive away again, through the development of a specially ventilated market, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Pumps from the motors are quickly removed by the action of powerful fans, similar to those used in theaters and public buildings. The system helps solve the parking problem and simplifies the delivery question for the merchant, as he can load articles directly into the customer's car. A market of this type already is operated in California.

FOWL PROBLEM IS THROWN INTO JUSTICE COURT

An interesting court of inquiry will be held before Justice of the Peace McDonald Saturday, when the case will be made in accordance with the provisions of the act who has been posessing upon the hen roost of Mrs. Letha A. Barksdale of 660 East Broadway. Mrs. Barksdale reported to the police Monday that five fowls had been hatched from her henry, and the investigation that followed revealed that a Cisco firm had purchased four hens and a rooster from a neighbor of Mrs. Barksdale, and these chickens were restored to her after she had completely proven her ownership. All parties involved are white. No complaint has yet been filed, but the court of inquiry Saturday is for the purpose of developing evidence upon which a complaint will be made.

POULTRY MEN PUT 100 CASES INTO STORAGE

EASTLAND, May 29.—The Bankhead Poultry Producers' association placed 100 cases of eggs in cold storage at Eastland last week, making a total of 600 cases now in storage, according to Manager I. E. Box. These eggs, and others yet to be stored, are being taken off of the market now when eggs are plentiful and will be placed back on the market when they are in greater demand than at present. Box stated that two truck loads of poultry were hauled by the association to Fort Worth where they were sold at premium prices. The Bankhead Poultry association continues to get above the market for its products, receiving two cents a dozen on eggs and one and one-half cents a pound on poultry more than is being paid to others.

PASS CHEVROLET CO. IS IMPROVING QUARTERS

Extensive improvements are being made in the C. O. Pass Chevrolet Co. home, corner D avenue and Sixth street. The parts department has been moved from the south side to the rear of the show room on the north side, which has been enclosed with a neat partition, and this department has been fitted with modern steel equipment. The show room is being enlarged by removing the Clark barber shop in the south side of the building. This section will be fitted up with neat offices, glass enclosed, which house the bookkeeping and record department. Mr. Pass stated the plans are to make this one of the most modern and convenient show rooms and business offices in Cisco.

MIDLAND LIONS HAVE LARGEST CHARTER ROLL

MIDLAND, May 29.—The Midland Lions club with a charter membership of 104 men has been declared by officials of the great international organization, to have the largest charter membership of any club in the world. Charter of the Midland club will be formally delivered early in June, according to Homer W. Rowe, president, who is planning for a big evening of merriment.

TEACHERS REELECTED FOR SCHOOLS OF CLYDE

CLYDE, May 29.—Three teachers of the Clyde schools have been reelected for the 1928-29 school term by the board of education. Roy Morris was selected as principal, coach, which is a promotion for him. The principal and coach were combined for the sake of economy. Glenn Davis was also promoted, going from the grammar school to high school. Mrs. Roy Morris was reelected to teach in the grades. This completes the corps of teachers for Clyde public schools with the exception of Mr. Hughes, teacher of vocational agriculture. The school board hopes to see its way clear to reelect him at its next meeting.

HOUSTON, May 29.—Alabama's 24 votes in the Democratic national convention here next month may go to Jesse H. Jones, Houston financier and chairman of the Democratic finance committee, Walter Moore, Alabama national committeeman, said here Monday.

Moore was here looking over progress of the convention hall and completing arrangements for housing the Alabama delegation.

Moore backed the prediction of five Illinois political leaders who were in Houston Sunday to the effect that Governor Al Smith of New York would carry Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota if he headed the Democratic ticket.

"Al Smith is the only Democrat who can carry these states," Moore said, "and he is the only one, in my opinion, who could carry the large block of eastern states that have lined up behind him."

"The South won't bolt if Smith is nominated," he said emphatically. "Smith has won in every state where the people had a chance for a popular vote."

Moore called on Jones Monday morning and the two had a long conference. "I told Mr. Jones that I did not see any reason why the Alabama delegation shouldn't vote for him, as I believe the delegation probably will," Moore declared after the conference.

Work began Monday on the first unit of a tourist camp in one of the major parks here that will accommodate 5,000 automobiles.

Tips on Keeping Down Mosquitos and Flies Given by Health Chief; Watch Ice Box Drip; Starve Pests

On account of the unprecedented rains we are now having some mosquitos. We have been oiling, but the rain washes the oil away. This condition will continue for only a few days, and I hope the people will bear with me.

I want to warn the people not to have water on the premises in containers, not to permit the drip from ice boxes and refrigerators to flow under the house, but to use pans and pour through sewer or, better, connect it with the sewer.

If mildy must have rain water for her hair, place a small amount of kerosene on the water. But it is best to pour it out. I want everyone who is bothered with this pest to look to his premises, look for water—water—no water no mosquitos. If you do not find the source of the trouble notify me and I will do my best to locate it.

Flies Starve the fly as well as breaking up his breeding places. Do not throw out garbage, have good cans with light fitting tops. Oil cow and horse lots regularly and clean them daily. Pile up the manure and oil it and burn it or spread it on the garden. If the people will follow these simple instructions we will not have mosquitos and flies.

There are many old automobile wrecks all over town. They are not of any account and you could not get freight for them. Why not have them hauled to the dump grounds and plant flowers or gardens in their stead? Why not get rid of these wrecks and improve the looks of our nice little city?

Help me keep Cisco clean.
Dr. Jno. H. BRICE
City Health Officer.

BANK VAULT OPENS FROM INSIDE TO FOIL ROBBERS

Easily installed in the bank vault, a special handle arrangement releases the locks from the inside, so that anyone trapped within may quickly escape, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. This would frustrate a robber's plan to shut a bank attaché in the vault until the time locks operated, as the prisoner could open the doors before or after that time. In operating the handle, knowledge of the vault's combination is not necessary.

MILK HAS MORE "KICK" IN IT THAN ANY OTHER DRINK!

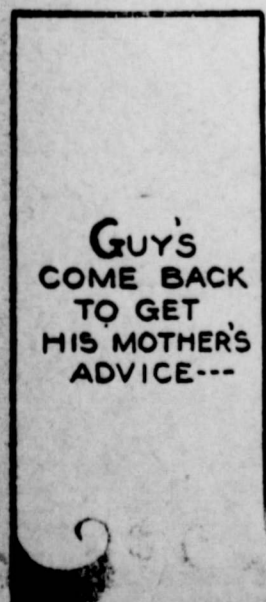

Does that sound strange? It may, but it is nevertheless true. There is more substantial nourishment in milk than in any other food drink. Healthy people drink milk because, in addition to its fine taste and its thirst-quenching power, it helps them to keep healthy. Sick persons are advised by physicians to drink milk in order to regain their strength.

Yes, milk has a "Kick" to it; and unlike other drinks with a "Kick," builds up the bodily tissues rather than tending to break them down. Be sure it's pasteurized.

Pupils of 60 Years Ago Studied on Split Logs; Up Before Sun, Home at Sundown; Cisco Woman Describes It

The following is from Mrs. M. L. Latham, 703 East Broadway, in which she describes some of the vicissitudes under which an education was obtained in the days when she was a child. She tells of the seats, which were split logs, flat side up, supported by logs fitted in holes bored into the round side of the half logs. Mrs. Latham calls them "log puncheons," a term difficult to understand in this day, through common parlance then. She mentions the fact that the wife of the late Governor Stephen J. Hogg was one of her school mates when they "worked their sums" on slates, instead of the modern school tablets now in use. Mrs. Latham tells her school days in the following story "My School Days, Long Ago."

As some of the school children have asked me to tell something about how the schools were run in my girlhood days, I shall tell of a few things through the Cisco Daily News.

The first school that I ever attended was taught by my oldest brother, Dr. A. J. Jordan. He was the superintendent, principal, primary teacher, and janitor, so you may know that he was a busy man. We lived on a farm and walked three miles to this school. The building was a little log cabin in the country and the seats were log puncheons with nothing against which to rest our backs. We laid our books on the seat beside us or upon the floor. These conditions were bad compared with our present stately buildings and elaborate furnishings, but we were glad to get them. We were proud of them and we studied but you know, children, that we could not learn very much under such adverse conditions.

The books that we studied were: The blue-back speller, McGuffey's readers to the sixth grade, Montpelier's geography and Davies arithmetic. We also had slates and pencils. We worked all of our arithmetic problems on our slates and why? Because we had no blackboard.

We would sometimes start to school before sun rise in order to get there on time and would always get home in the evening if it was sundown. Yes, sometimes it would be getting dark when we arrived at home. The teacher would have the children to sing a song or two before "books." The following is a part of one of them: We greet with joy this happy day And we will drive dull cares away. Another was as follows: Hearts full of cheer will never fear While we in wisdom's ways appear. For wisdom's ways are good and true And all her paths are peaceful too. For all good people tell me so And I am sure they ought to know.

I remember the names of several of the girls. One of them was Miss Sallie Stinson, who later became the wife of the late Governor Hogg. This was in 1867 when I was only nine years old. Later when I was 14 years of age I went to another school where I walked two and one-half miles. Our teacher this time was a Baptist preacher. The main sport for the boys was playing ball. The girl's would jump the rope awhile and then would go to the spring, wash our faces, and spend the balance of our playtime in fixing our hair.

Both old and young worked in those days, and when Sunday came the young folks and children were always ready and willing to attend church and prayer meetings. The men would have debates at some neighbor's house on Saturday nights. We liked to go to those gatherings to hear the men debate. We did not have the many conveniences then as we do now. Neither did we have so many crimes and disasters, and so much sin committed in those days as we now have. Near the school house was a deep pool of water which was fed by the spring. In this pool of water I was baptized when I was 14 years of age. This was in Wood county, Texas, where I was reared. I almost weep when I look back to those distant childhood days to think how very much I've changed and of the many friends that have passed away.

MRS. M. L. LATHAM, Cisco, Texas.

BRECKENRIDGE CHILD FATALLY HURT BY AUTO

BRECKENRIDGE, May 29.—Nellie E. Lynn, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Lynn, died Saturday night, a few minutes after being struck by an automobile. The little child had come to town with her brothers, Warren, 11, and Hal, 7, from their home on the Brooks-Hanlon lease a mile and a half northeast of the city and while skipping across the street the accident which resulted in her death shortly afterwards. The car which struck her was a coupe driven by Owen Mitchell, an employe of the Prairie Oil & Gas Company.

GET SEA LEGS, ADVICE GIVEN TO DELEGATES

HOUSTON, May 29.—Get your sea legs when you come to Houston, is the advice of local party leaders to the hosts of Democracy headed for Houston for the June convention. "Land lubbers" will see the unexpected while in Houston, they point out, because—

Houston is the city that fooled the geographers by bringing the ocean to its front door. Though situated 50 miles from the Texas coastline, a visitor to Houston can see within the city limits huge ocean going vessels flying the flags of many nations, discharging and loading their cargoes.

The waterway, which connects Houston with the Gulf of Mexico, was an historic river which played important roles in the early history of Texas. For more than half a

DELEGATES TO SEE BASEBALL TEXAS STYLE

HOUSTON, May 29.—Visitors and delegates attending the Democratic national convention in Houston, starting June 26, who like a little baseball in their living schedule, will be entertained by the Houston Buffaloes and other teams in the Texas league. This league is often referred to as "the cradle of big league baseball" and is considered one of the fastest class A leagues in the country.

Officials in charge of the Texas league schedule, immediately following the announcement that the Democrats would meet in Houston for their national convention, re-assembled the schedule so that Houston's team would be "at home" during the convention period. The games will be played at Buffalo stadium, recently constructed at a cost of $500,000.
