Two-Mile Champion

Permits to build in Cisco during the month of May totalled $20,650, according to the records in the city secretary's office. This hardily justifies that building activity indicated earlier in the spring, but shows that Cisco's construction is steady, as each month's permits have averaged around $20,000 since January 1. The building in May was about $2,000 in excess of the preceding month. Those taking out the seven building permits the past month were as follows:

- Sam Key, West Tenth street, six room frame residence, $3,800; M. R. Surles, contractor.
- J. M. Wilson 113 West Eighteenth street, five room frame residence, $2,500; M. A. Milam, contractor.
- G. N. Meglasson, 1303 A avenue, repairs on store building, $300.
- J. P. Webster & Sons, East Seventh street, repairs and remodeling the Webster wholesale grocery house, $6,000; W. W. Johnson, contractor.
- E. H. Marsh, N avenue and Sixteenth street, five room frame residence, $2,350; M. R. Surles, contractor.
- J. H. Ballard, lot 6, block 65, five room residence, bath and sleeping porch, $2,500; removed from Risman Star.
- J. C. Porter, F avenue and Eleventh street, frame building, 28 by 42 feet, $3,000; J. H. Latson, contractor.

FISHING ROCK FOR CROSS PLAINS ROAD

CROSS PLAINS, June 2.—A rock pile of many tons capacity is in operation on the Cross Plains-Coleman highway, a short distance west of the Callahan community. Suitable rock is found in abundance in the hill where the river is located and the finished material is being rapidly placed on the Coleman county section of the highway, preparatory for an asphalt surfacing. A large construction crew is encamped in tents at the crusher. The road will be faced with asphalt as fast as work can progress, and will extend from the Callahan county line, Coleman, to Talpa on the Run-county line. The highway in Coleman to Brownwood will be surfaced with asphalt.

REGULATING WATER WELLS.

A movement is now on to have the next legislature pass a law regulating the sinking and the use of water wells and placing the control of water wells under the state board of water engineers or some similar board of commission. The reason given for such action is that much artesian and sub-artesian water is now being used in Texas at its regulation is necessary to protect the supply and prevent serious losses in irrigation. The proposed program also contemplates exhaustive surveys to determine how much water lies beneath the ground surface and its utility uses. Such a law would doubtless create more controversy than have arisen under that which gives a board of control of surface waters and the right to decide whether such water may be used by utility companies or power and land waters for irrigation. Laws restricting the use of water or empowering any one to dispose of it are fraught with grave danger and are likely to be much abused. Perhaps any legislation introduced would apply only to artesian or sub-artesian wells, but to restrict the number of these would give irrigation and utility companies highly valuable privileges.

RAILROAD POLITICS.

H. W. Morrison, president of the Gulf and West Texas Railroad company, which is endeavoring to finance a railroad line from San Antonio northwest to San Angelo, says that the politics of the railroad world is keeping the Frisco and perhaps other lines from making the extension. The railroads of the country occasionally fight each other for the privilege of getting into a territory, but in most cases they are so interlocked with traffic agreements and short-haul contracts that business courtesy keeps any semblance of competition between them. Mr. Morrison is undoubtedly right in his conclusion that if that vast territory waits for any of the big systems to build it, the wait will be long—down-out. So, he is trying to raise $1,400,000 in preferred stock, which he thinks the line can finance. San Antonio is asking to take $500,000. Once completed and in operation as a profitable line such a road could be sold to one of the large systems, for politics and courtesy would have to yield to business.

LIFE COMPANY BACK.

When the Robertsons insurance law was used in 1907, 22 large life insurance companies indignantly withdrew from Texas. Texas capital immediately organized a number of life insurance companies, and most of these have amassed immense funds. The 22 withdrawn were not much missed, but they have missed some rich profits in Texas that have gone into building up of Texas companies that are now fully able to compete with the outside concerns. Prudential Insurance company, the second largest life insurance company in the world, has turned the $85,000 tax necessary to return to the state. For the president will write only group insurance, limiting its activities to insuring groups of employees whose offices are in other states, who are working in branch offices in Texas. Doubtless the other companies will all soon be coming back. The Prudential is fifth to return, following the Manhattan Life, the Reliance Life, Travelers, and the Metropolitan Life.

RECORD WOOL CROP.

From Angelo, the leading interior market of this country, an estimate is made that the Texas clip this spring will reach a record of 32,000,000 pounds, 70 per cent of which is already in shrouses. The price is more satisfactory than in past seasons, ranging from 40 to 45 cents a pound for wool of 12 months' growth. Practically all Texas wool is grown in West Texas.

NEW BRAUNFELS PARK.

New Braunfels has one of the most attractive parks in all the Southwest spares no pains to keep it a place of beauty. The result is many excursionists and picnickers are drawn there. The Mission Pacific railway employees and their families are given a picnic each year by the company. Landau is New Braunfels being selected for a picnic, because it is an ideal place for an outing. Five special trains were required to take the picnickers there last week. All points on the system, one of the trains running out of New Orleans. Landau Park has proven to be New Braunfels' best investment.

PLOYS FARM AGENT.

Along without a county farm for several years, Washington county, which Brenham is the seat, realized that it had made a mistake and was falling behind in farm methods. An agent was employed to try to recoup.

MIDNITE SHOW TOMORROW NIGHT

THE PEOPLE'S CONGRESS

Congress adjourned on May 29 with the usual hubalaloo and uproar. In the senate chamber confusion reigned both on the floor and in the visitors' gallery until leaders called an executive session, thus emptying the gallery and giving excited senators a chance to cool off.

The ancient and honorable antagonism between pupils and teachers seems not to exist in Newcomerstown, Ohio, where the authorities had to issue a rigid ban against "dating" and marriage between instructors and instructed.

THE CONTINUANCE OF PEACE

"The one thing we want above everything else for ourselves and for other nations is a continuation of peace." So said President Coolidge in his Memorial Day address.

It is an old saying that an elephant never forgets. The G. O. P. elephant seems to have forgotten the farmers and now it's considerably excited over the question whether the farmers will forget that it forgot.

Big Rodeo to Be Staged for Visitors at Houston Convention

Democrats of North and East to See Texas of "Wild and Woolly" Days Through Cowboy and Bronco

HOUSTON, June 4.—Ride 'em, cowboy! These words will be on the lips of the thousands who participate in the Democratic national convention here June 28. For Houston has arranged one of the most elaborate and spectacular rodeos ever staged in the southwest for the entertainment of her distinguished guests and visitors.

The men who are responsible for the bringing of the rodeo are Bassett Blakely, Frank Y. Dew and D. Hughes, and all three are of the type of Texans dreamed of by the fair maidens of the East and West.

Wild and Woolly
These men will attempt to give the convention visitors a real taste of what Texas used to be in the "wild and woolly" days when every man "what was a man" wore a five-point Stetson, high-heeled boots and sported no less than two six-guns on his hips.

The program of the rodeo calls for bronco busting, calf roping, cow-girls bronco busting, wild steer wrestling, fancy roping, trick riding and other stunts. More than 200 entrants, including several world champions, have signified their intention to participate in the big show.

Tad Lucas, Ted Elder, Mike Hastings, Ruth Roach and other names equally famous in the rodeo business, are expected to be present.

Will Rogers, droll cowboy humorist will be one of the official judges of the contest.

Famous Performers
According to promoters of the rodeo, Houston will have the same performers who annually thrill the thousands at Fort Worth; Soldiers' Field, Chicago; Madison Square Garden, New York; Pendleton, Oregon, and Cheyenne, Wyoming.

All contestants will pay their own entrance fees and prizes aggregating $15,000 have been offered in competition for the various events.

NAVY BLUE FROCKS REMAIN IN FAVOR

PARIS, June 4.—A smart French collection without its navy-blue frock would be quite like an American turkey without its sage dressing. No matter what the fashion in colors, this good old standby remains in favor for the tailored suit, sport costume or long coat of faille, crepe de Chine or georgette.

A charming street ensemble from Poiret consists of a long, navy-blue coat with moleskin collar and cuffs, with long cape effect over the sleeves, worn with a skirt of the same navy-blue material and a tight basque-like bodice of lighter blue. Another model designed for the steamer or motor trips has a bodice of fine white jersey embroidered on the sleeves and front with a navy-blue wool.

Navy-blue tailcoats cut on very simple but chic lines popped out like dandelions with the first sunny days in Paris. There is little change in the general cut, except for a broader shoulder-line and more width for walking.

A great deal of navy-blue is used for afternoon frocks in georgette or silk crepe, made as a rule with slightly-biased bodice and rather long waistline and a skirt either falling in points or composed of finely-pleated flounces.

Several of the dressmakers are also showing evening frocks of this shade in lace, chiffon, moure or taffeta. Redfern has one of the later with no trimming save a large draped point at the side. Lace in navy-blue makes a delightful frock from Lucien Lelong which will certainly be seen at the races.

Your heart be troubled, was followed by the definite reasons why not: God omnipotent; He and God one in that He is in God and God in Him. In the heavenly home are many rooms, and He was going to prepare to receive those who become His friends here. Further, a comforter was to be sent to keep these who ask for His presence by linking themselves with Christ's body here.

Though the storm came at the evening hour those present heard a message on "Excuses Not Reasons." A. J. McDonald was received into the church during the day, and several letters of transfer to Cisco were sent for. The year of evangelism is going forward with a great blessing in increase of membership.

GREAT WELCOME TO GORKY

MAXIM GORKY WITH WIFE AND SON

MOSCOW (I-I-N).—So touching was the reception accorded Maxim Gorky, Russia's most beloved novelist, that the eminent figure actually broke down and wept at the railroad depot, upon his return to the land of his birth after an absence of many years, due to ill health.

RETURNING TO AID THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT.

There was a huge assemblage of workers and peasants who gathered to welcome Gorky when he set foot upon Russian soil for the first time, in Minsk. With them were thousands of Red Army soldiers, who carried welcoming banners and pennants instead of their usual rifles, and a literally uncountable throng of students, Communists, actors, writers—in fact, men and women representing every class of Russian life.

The reception was so tremendous and so sincere, and evidently so unexpected on Gorky's part, that when he stepped down from the car and listened to the cheers, he frankly cried like a child—unashamed of his tears.

The celebration was redoubled when Gorky arrived in Moscow, together with a huge delegation, and this time it was with extreme difficulty that the eminent novelist was able to keep his emotions under control.

Gorky tried in vain to make his voice heard. Even when he spoke into the radio he could not calm himself sufficiently to make a coherent speech, contenting himself with promising his welcomers that he would soon write something that would take the place of the words he would have liked to utter.

Gorky left Russia some years ago, going to Italy partly on account of his health, and partly because he had brought down upon his head the intense wrath of the Czarist government for his powerful propaganda against the regime. When Czarism was swept away by the Red flood, the novelist at first directed his attacks against the Bolsheviks, but soon became convinced that the new order of things was for the betterment of his country.

He returns to his native land at the earnest solicitation of the Soviets, who not only desired to pay him the honors so long deferred him, but also to aid him in completing his latest book, "The New Russia," which required Gorky's presence in that country to make authentic to the last degree.

Plans are now under way for a national celebration to commemorate the thirty-fifth anniversary of Gorky's first novel, "Makar Chudra," which was composed and published in 1892.

RECITAL BY MISS ORR, PUTNAM, AND MODERNS PLAYED PLEASINGLY

Sunday afternoon at the First Baptist church Miss Hazel Orr, first-pupil of Grover C. Morris, gave a piano recital to an enthusiastic and interested audience.

Miss Orr proved her ability as an advanced player of the piano—that she is far above the average to be found in this section of the city, is not saying too much for a talented young artist.

Miss Orr lives in Putnam, daughter of Y. A. Orr, mayor. She is a graduate of the College of Industrial Arts, holding an A. B. degree. Upon her graduation, she continued her studies in Fort Worth. When Mrs. Orr opened his studio here, she followed with him. She has a host of friends here who have followed her career with great interest.

Her program revealed a wide range of musical literature, making demands upon her technique and musical understanding in the Allemande of Bach, she played classical tradition in observing intricate voice-leading with delicate delineation, balancing of masses and nuances.

Miss Orr played the moderns with sympathy and understanding, her impressionistic or futuristic efforts were conceived in a subdued way with ever-changing hues of color. Her delicacy of touch is exquisite.

The romantic school was represented by Mendelssohn, in his immensely difficult Rondo Capriccioso played with brilliancy and vivacity. This piece requires the tone of an artist—beautiful fingering tone, supple wrists, crisp legato, bravura octaves, clarity in lines and arpeggios—all of which Miss Orr displayed.

In the Gavotte of Gluck-Glimms, Miss Orr's delicacy of treatment of exquisite melody and

SOLOS AND DUO ARE HEARD AT LOCAL CHURCH

The First Presbyterian audience Sunday morning heard in vocal selections Miss Gertrude Van Horn and Mrs. Ben McClintock and an instrumental duo, "Serenade" by Czerwinsky, played by Mrs. R. L. Graham at the piano and Dr. G. C. Morris at the pipe organ. Attention was called at the morning hour by the minister, Rev. B. C. Boney, to the fine spirit of cooperation shown by the local papers, The Daily News and Cisco American in the work of the church. Rev. Boney spoke on the fourteenth chapter of John's gospel, on the theme "The Only Cure for Trouble of Heart."

"Every great philosophy has sought relief but all have failed except the philosophy of Christ, which is infinitely more than a philosophy," he said. "In his own life and in the life of countless thousands since He came, Jesus Christ has been the conqueror over world forces, sin, sorrow, and even death. His admonition, 'Let not

Time Extended on Circulation Offer

Double Allowance for Two $10 Clubs to Run Until Wednesday Night Because of Recent Rains; Opportunity Great

On account of the rains Saturday night and Sunday the time is extended for all workers to finish up their second $10 club in order to secure double points on all subscriptions to the Cisco Daily News and American and Roundup for last week and for this week, until Wednesday night.

There are numbers who will no doubt take advantage of the opportunity to get the necessary subscriptions Tuesday and Wednesday that will mean double points for the regular count for each subscription, to double the 900,000 extra points offered for a $10 club made up of different classes of subscriptions, which would be 1,800,000 points. Also double points will be given for the special prize ballots ranging from 3,750,000 down to 2,000,000 to those who finish the second $10 club by Wednesday night.

Fifteen prize ballots are offered to the workers in each district making a total of 30 prize ballots. A few subscriptions are going to win the prize ballots and the opportunity to secure the lead in the big country wide subscription campaign for the Cisco Daily News and the Weekly American and Roundup is offered to those who take advantage of getting the subscriptions Tuesday and Wednesday for the double points and to secure what subscriptions can be had up to Saturday night, June 9.

The race is a close one for points up to this time and a few subscriptions and coupons would change the standing of any of the leaders.

Strawn Leads Fight on Proposed Change of Bankhead

Court Action Threatened to Check Breckenridge and Albany Attempts to Re-Route to Benefit North Loop

That the years-old controversy between citizens of Strawn, Ranger, Eastland and Cisco, and citizens of Breckenridge and Albany will be brought to a climax, was indicated Saturday when the Strawn Tribune gave notice that a mass meeting for citizens of towns living on the Bankhead highway from Winks City west through Cisco, would be held at the city hall at Strawn Wednesday night.

The commissioners have decided, the statement said, "to give a land-buying crowd from Albany and Breckenridge a hearing and want to select a delegation to present us in Austin that can buy the highway commission that is only a selfish move on the part of those towns of the north of the highway. We want to be prepared to fight this matter out the higher courts or our land because we will permit a bunch of outside people to come in and tell Palo Pinto county how to run her affairs."

The Breckenridge and Albany members of commerce have purchased land at Metzger Gap," the statement charged, "and are making separate effort to turn our travel in the Bankhead highway from Strawn, Ranger, Eastland and Cisco Breckenridge and Albany, to bridge the Strawn delegation a fair understanding with the representative Breckenridge and Albany at the Memphis meeting that the roads would not be changed should stand as designated. Those two towns have had representatives slip over into Palo Pinto county and purchase enough land to change the highway without consulting our county commissioners or county court and the same serves notice in advance on a gang that Palo Pinto county need not any outside assistance in Stephens or Shackelford counties to tell us how to manage our affairs. Palo Pinto county had hard surfaced roads before Stephens or Shackelford counties dreamed that automobiles were necessary in West Texas and for two counties to come over and tell us how to run our affairs is an insult to our citizenship and they build apologize to our commissioners' court for their outburst two weeks ago a delegation representing the towns along the south appeared before the Palo Pinto county court to block any effort in Stephens county and Shackelford county delegation might make have the designation changed. The latter delegation did not appear, however, and a plan of procedure to keep the delegation from changing the route was discussed in the commissioners' court. A letter was sent to the state highway commission, in which the opinion of the Breckenridge and Albany delegations were outlined, informing the commission that Palo Pinto court had not been taken into consideration. It is said that a strip of land, large enough to accommodate the highway, has been purchased by Stephens and Shackelford county interests.

W. R. Ely, member of the state highway commission, informed the commission that a delegation from Breckenridge had appeared before the commission and asked for the change be made. The matter was referred to the state highway chief for investigation and report. In the meantime, Judge Ely said, "if the people on the other side desire to protest any change, suggest that you notify them so they can arrange to meet with the commission at its June session."

PAVING OF GAP ON NORTH LOOP TO START SOON

BRECKENRIDGE, June 4.—Plans and specifications for paving the 25-mile gap between Abilene and Albany on the "north loop" of the Broadway of America have been approved by the state highway department and contract for this project will be let within 30 days, Col. J. E. Pirie, engineer of the department surveying this construction, announced here.

Colonel Pirie stated that the highway in western Shackelford county would be surfaced with asphalt. The road in Taylor will be paved with concrete. Completion of this project will mean much to Breckenridge, according to J. D. Hall, chairman of the highway department of the chamber of commerce. The gap to be paved is the only one on this important route between Fort Worth and Abilene.

Completion of the grade and drainage structures on the Pecan Belt highway through Young and Archer counties is expected within the next 30 days. This road will also be paved, connecting the only remaining gap on this important highway in North Texas. The highway is designated to run from Wichita Falls to San Antonio via Breckenridge.

In Throckmorton county plans are fast being concluded to begin construction work on two important designations crossing the county. One of these roads will connect with highway leading northwest from Breckenridge, giving this city connection by paving with Throckmorton and Seymour.

100 CLUB BOYS AND GIRLS AT COUNTY MEET

The annual encampment of the Eastland county boys' and girls' clubs at Eastland Friday and Saturday was attended by over 100 club members who participated in the meeting under the auspices of County Agent J. C. Patterson and Miss Ruth Ramey, county home demonstrator. These members represented 15 clubs of the county. Flatwoods having the largest attendance, 100 per cent.

Friday stock and poultry judging was featured. Three broods of poultry, fat steers, beef and dairy cows and hogs were judged. Saturday the boys judged all kinds of grain, and the girls held canning demonstrations and exhibited needlework. Prizes were awarded in the several contests. A free dinner was served Saturday, which were guests from surrounding towns.

Friday evening County Agent Patterson and Scout Executive Quirl took the club boys out to "Enchanted Rock." This was a feature that furnished thrills in abundance. A pipe had been sunk, with one end secreted in the bushes some distance away, and there Quirl was hidden while Patterson and the boys were at the rock where the other end of the pipe was also hidden from view. Patterson related the legend of the enchanted rock, purporting to have rolled to its present location and in doing so crushing the life out of a cowboy, whose spirit still haunted the spot. While these ghost stories were being related, Quirl, at the other end of the tube, would groan in anguish, adding reality to the legend.

Johnston, Misses Opal Kruger, Eloise Hoyt and Mary Lynn Gregory and P. T. Stanford. The work was done in the Cisco standard training school which was conducted last week.

"No one as yet perhaps completely understands the meaning of suffering but the truths in regard to it Through suffering we are brought into dependence upon God; through suffering we are brought into the service of God, and through suffering we come to know the life of God. Sorrow is lost unless it is used for the strengthening of character. Suffering and sorrow will make you a good deal worse or much better." The speaker urged the hearers to turn every sorrow and all suffering to building of Christian character.

The sale of the goods in the stock of the J. P. Webster Grocery Co., in a fire a month ago, progressing very satisfactorily. V. Barnes, sales manager of the B. & J. Co., which bought the complete stock, said Monday.

"Only a very small per cent of the goods was actually damaged in the fire—in fact, the damage was virtually limited to the labels on the goods," Barnes said. "The buyers have learned this by inspection and are losing no time in taking advantage of the bargains offered."
