BLANTON SAYS $700,000 SAVED BY HIS FIGHTS

AUSTIN, June 9.—Thomas L. Blanton of Abilene, candidate for the United States senate, made the ninth speech of his campaign here Friday night, asking support in the Democratic primaries July 28.

The Abilene man stuck to his record, mentioning the name of no opponent in the contest, but berating the house of representatives.

Wardlaw criticized the governor for approving a measure that raised the salaries of judiciary members $750,000 annually after pledging he would keep down appropriations. Mr. Lee will speak Monday afternoon at DeLeon, when it is expected that a huge crowd of Comanche and Eastland county voters will hear him. It is planned for 100 cars with 500 personal friends and supporters to escort him from Cisco, assembling at the city hall at noon.

DO COLLEGES EDUCATE? —

It is a time when so many students are going out from college with their diplomas, it is interesting to know what successful business men think of college education. In commencement address John D. Rockefeller, Jr. states the observations lead him to conclude that so many years spent in college, ending with a degree, do not necessarily mean that a youth is educated; that often it shows evidence of the formation of habits of indolence, of an unwarranted sense of superiority, and of dissatisfaction with the circumstances and environment in which one's lot is cast. The great problem of education, in his way of thinking, is to fit the best for life where we are or where our lot may be cast; to help one to grapple in a practical, methodical, studious way the constantly arising problems of life as they may be presented. He regards these as too often the results of the purpose of much modern college life: "To cram the mind with dates, facts and figures; to make shrewd lawyers, whose chief aim is to make money; to turn out doctors who reckon their success in dollars; to train teachers

When the city of Brisbane, Australia, rolled up on the horizon before Capt. Kingsford-Smith and his three comrades, aviation's most hazardous epic was written. Above is a map, which shows the course the Southern Cross took upon leaving Suva, with a section of the thriving metropolis which constituted her goal; below the four gallant aviators, Lyons, Kingsford-Smith, Ulm and Warner, who will live in history as the first men to achieve a trans-Pacific crossing.

40 Percent of Stock of Orient Railroad Is Bought by Santa Fe for $14,000,000; Rest Is Sought

WICHITA, Kan., June 9.—The Santa Fe Railway has purchased a 40 per cent interest in the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient Railway, it was announced here today following a meeting of the Orient Board of directors. The Santa Fe is negotiating for the purchase of the remaining interest from W. T. Kemper of Kansas City, and his associates. Directors of the Orient railroad said they learned that the Santa Fe had acquired the shares held by English capitalists, who originally financed Arthur Sulzberg in building the road. The price paid for the 40 per cent interest was said to be $14,000,000.

POLICE CHIEF AT PLAINVIEW KILLS MASHER

PLAINVIEW, June 9. — Oscar J. Thompson, 26, died in a local hospital today from gunshot wounds inflicted by H. Murray, chief of police, last night. Murray is suffering from bruises received in the affray.

According to Murray, Thompson accosted his daughter while she was en route from work late yesterday. The chief was notified of the occurrence by his son and when Thompson drove past the city hall Murray stepped on the running board of the car and attempted to place him under arrest. Thompson cursed and started his car into high speed and Murray was thrown to the ground. He then jumped on the running board again and fired several shots through the glass before he was again thrown from the car.

Thompson, seriously wounded, was caught by a posse about 10 miles from here.

ENTIRE CREW OF ITALIA, 18, FOUND SAFE

LONDON, June 9.—The entire crew of the dirigible Italia of 18 men, including General Umberto Nobile, is safe, according to a wireless from Nobile to the commander of the supply ship, City of Milan, at King's Bay, a Central News dispatch said this evening. The ship was forced down on an ice floe.

DEPUTY AND BANDIT DEAD IN GUN FIGHT

HARLINGEN, June 9.—Officers and bandits waged a pitched battle on a lonely road near here this morning. When the smoke had cleared away Deputy Sheriff Horace H. Johnson and one bandit were killed. The other bandits escaped on horseback and are being pursued by a border patrol of officers.

ATTENTION, LOBO BAND

Bank of New York is a little more frank in its bulletin. It says aside from the weather, the chief jarring note has been the huge amount of speculation in the stock market. 'Regardless of what may be the long time trend of investment values, speculation on the scale current during recent weeks can only be deplored as unsound and hurtful to the best interests of the country. Visions of easily made riches are tending to destroy the usual habits of saving, and millions of dollars are being put into the markets by many who can ill afford the risk they are taking. Never before has stock speculation involved so many people of all classes and one hears the frequent complaint that one would wish business in that business men are paying too much attention to the stock market and not enough to the conduct of their own establishments. All this can only mean the storing up of trouble for some future day.' It's a sound and timely warning. Will the little lambs take it? Probably not.

TEN MINUTES FOR LIGHT

A researcher says that ten minutes work a day by an unskilled laborer is all it takes to pay for the electric light he uses in his home. In 1889, using the same amount of light, it would have taken 2 1/2 hours' work. Not so much 'night life' in those days, perhaps? But not so much adult education or home satisfaction, either. And just suppose a fellow had to stay up to try to get Los Angeles in the dark!

BRAINS AND GLORIFICATION

Bathing beauty contests have been regarded by many humble citizens as dreadful and unjustifiable affairs. Now Florenz Zeigfeld, America's foremost authority on feminine beauty, characterizes such contests as 'vulgar, shameful and disgusting displays.' He adds that he has seen very few winners whom he would trust to hold up the backdrop of one of his shows. 'Mere comeliness,' he says, 'means very little today when the world demands intelligence and positive achievement from women who would succeed in life. I have found the best way to glorify the American girl in the theater is to insist that she study singing and dancing and elocution, and thus fit herself for the stage as a serious profession, instead of regarding it as an opportunity for displaying her physical perfection.' There is wise advice in that statement which the mothers of movie-struck and stage-struck girls should heed. Bathing beauty contestants could ponder it to their lasting advantage, too.

DO YOU REMEMBER?

Cisco Apert, November, 1910.

A black nag owned by a Mr. Sprawls made a dash-away down the north end of D avenue last Monday. The animal frightened the water trough. Slight damage to the buggy. We know of several more pretentious cities that would like to have water in their troughs so stock would get frightened. Rev. B. W. Dodson delivered his farewell sermon last Sunday to a packed house. Rev. Dodson is one of the finest pulpit orators Cisco ever had and this writer with a host of others certainly give him up. He and his estimable family move this week to Memphis, Texas. Representative Ed T. Cox was in the city this week shaking hands with his numerous friends, among whom are those who wonder why a good farmer should be banished to Austin.

The Britton basketball girls play De Leon high school today. The football boys play Comanche. There will be a basketball game between Cisco high school team and Baird high school team Friday, November 25, at 4 o'clock p. m. Admission 10 cents.

AIRPLANE SPEEDIER THAN BULLET

(Literary Digest) A bullet from a service rifle fired at a receding airplane, moving at record speed, would never overtake it; for the plane would gain about 75 feet per second on the bullet. This surprising result is deduced by Lieut.-Col. Norville W. Sharpe, of St. Louis, from a recent study of the relative speeds attained by a plane and a rifle bullet. He writes in The Infantry Magazine (Washington): 'World War planes and World War speeds are now obsolete; our bombers of today fly at 150 to 125 miles per hour, for the very latest type; our attack planes at 130 or better for the latest type; our pursuit planes at about 170. 'The usual levels, as well as speeds, at which these types function necessarily vary with the occasion, and thus the possibility of a successful hit from the ground must likewise proportionately vary. It is hardly probable, save to those both interested and conversant, that the attack technique of our attack planes is fully known or appreciated; thus, together with other matters, these flyers are trained to fly and attack at low levels, barely clearing the ground obstructions, and during these comparatively brief, high-speed, low-level flights deliver a maximum of smoke, machine-gun fire, or bombs as required. 'It will doubtless be thought by the average civilian alike with the military man who has had little or no opportunity for first-hand study or observation that at these extremely low levels so large a target as a plane will, of necessity, be an easy mark. It may be probable to ascertain if this is dependably true. 'At the San Antonio maneuvers of 1927 the following demonstration was made: an aerial attack upon a marching column. From a great height pursuit planes made a vertical dive, attaining a speed estimated at easily 250, but quite probably 300 miles per hour, leveled off when reaching the column, and at approximately 50 feet from the ground sprayed the column from end to end with dense smoke, then sharply zoomed. Immediately followed attack planes, pursuing the same route, in triangular formation, thoroughly concealed by the smoke, prepared to strafe the column in its entirety. Major Russell, himself in the column as observer, states that at no time could he see the planes; and that so swiftly was the operation conducted, so low did they fly, so completely was the smoke screen, that no rifle or unmounted machine gun defense could have been successfully developed. He admitted that this demonstration was a brilliant achievement, and that it presented problems of considerable complexity. 'Under such circumstances anti-aircraft guns at the low levels are to be held non-effective. Machine guns, not in readiness are wholly useless, in the rare exception, when mounted and in readiness in favorable position, they would have some value, rather better than the rifle; but neither of them of great significance facing tremendous speed, lowest level, and adequate smoke-screen. 'It would seem to be obvious that both rifle and machine gun have substantial value when the attacking plane is not hidden by smoke, and is flying at a level within their respective ranges. It is also obvious that the anti-aircraft gun will not be so effective with the attacking plane in the lowest level formation. 'It would seem conclusive that a successful hit upon an attacking plane is not, of necessity, quite so easy of accomplishment as might be assumed by the casual observer. A satisfactory solution of this problem will be based upon quite a large

ATTEMPTED SALE OF DUCKS AND QUAIL IS FRUSTRATED. AUSTIN, June 9.—Efforts to sell quail and duck in Texas were thwarted when a deputy of the game, fish and oyster department confiscated a case of quail and a case of duck which was being shipped from Mexico to a San Antonio house, it was announced here. The law forbids the sale of wild game in any form in Texas. This is fine for the hunter, but a rank injustice to the invalid and others desiring wild game, but who cannot hunt.

They spent some time swimming and fishing and making that some good fish were caught in the big water hole on the creek. The Boy Scouts are enthusiastic over the new camp. This is one of the best camping places in this section, is away from the public travel roads, and the boys can be themselves whenever they go on camping trip. A number of Moran men accompanied the boys to the camp and enjoyed the outing, much as the boys did. 14-YEAR TERM FOR GOVERNOR, HAWKINS' IDEA

AUSTIN, June 9.—In a statement issued Friday, Judge William E. Hawkins of Breckenridge, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the office of governor of Texas, declared that if elected to the office, he will endeavor to bring about changing all subsequent terms of that office from two to four years and making whoever holds that office ineligible for two years thereafter to the senate of the United States or to any state office, commission or board.

"Consistent with my belief that no governor should be his own immediate successor, I will not in any event, hold or seek two successive terms in that office," the statement says.

Hawkins concludes the statement with a request that all other candidates for office of governor promptly and plainly announce publicly their stand on these two questions.

NEW SCHEDULE IN YATES POOL IS IN PROSPECT

AUSTIN, June 9.—Drafting of an order is under way here for increasing the oil production in the Winkler county field from 150,000 to 170,000 barrels daily. According to present plans the railroad commission will make the new regulations effective on the morning of June 15.

Along with this advice it became known that next week in Austin will be replete with developments of importance to Texas oil interests. For Monday the commission will hold a hearing to adopt rules for a conservation program in the Yates pool, similar to the Winkler plan. These rules already have been suggested and, after obtaining views of operators, will be modified and adopted.

The Winkler pool has a potential daily output of 900,000 barrels, while that of Yates exceeds 1,000,000 barrels.

The commission is enforcing a Winkler rule that allows one well to each 40 acres, but one well to every 100 acres probably will be ordered for Yates. Before the Winkler conservation program was adopted production was exceeding 300,000 barrels daily.

Model T Fords

Expenditure of few dollars may enable you to get thousands of miles from your old car

The Model T Ford is still a great car. It led the motor industry for twenty years and it is used today by more people than any other automobile. More than eight million Model T Fords are in active service in city, town and country, and many of them can be driven for two, three and even five more years at very small up-keep expense.

The cost of Model T parts and of necessary labor is unusually low because of established Ford policies.

New fenders, for instance, cost from $3.75 to $5 each, with a labor charge of $1 to $2.50. Tuning up the motor and replacing commutator case, brush and vibrator points costs only $1, with a small charge for material. Brake shoes can be installed and emergency brakes equalized for a labor charge of only $1.25. A labor charge of $5 will cover the overhauling of the front axle, rebushing springs and spring perches, and straightening, aligning and adjusting wheels.

The labor charge for overhauling the average radiator runs about $7.50. An entirely new radiator may be had for only $15 for both material and labor.

A set of four new pistons costs only $7. For $40 or $45 you can have your motor and transmission completely overhauled. This charge includes labor, new bearings, reboring cylinders and any other parts needed.

All of these prices are approximate, of course, because the cost of materials needed will depend on the condition of each car. They show, however, the low cost of putting the Model T Ford in shape for thousands of miles of additional service.

See the nearest Ford dealer, therefore, and have him estimate on the cost of re-conditioning your Model T Ford. He will tell you, in advance, exactly how much the complete job will cost.

Thomas J. Walsh, Dark Horse, Is Relentless Prosecutor

Montana Senator Best Known for Unearthing Teapot Dome Scandal and Expose of Cabinet Members

Editor's Note: This is the sixth and last of a series of articles dealing with the careers of potential nominees of the Democratic and Republican parties for president. Although Senator Walsh withdrew from the race, he is nevertheless considered a dark horse at the Houston convention.

Thomas J. Walsh, the greatest modern political crusader, became a national celebrity by making an unfashionable in the federal government. One of the outstanding public events of his day, Walsh leaped to popular favor by the sensational revelation of a billion dollar scandal. It drew him out of the rags where he might have lingered, though he had served his country with as studious a zeal as any other man in public life. A Democrat likened to Thomas Jefferson, a lawyer compared with Marshall and a constitutionalist as zealous as James Madison, Walsh amassed an amazing record of public service in his 16 years as senator from Montana. A brief summary of that record, touching the high spots, reveals the veracity of Walsh's public service. Since 1912 Walsh either directed or helped to lead the battles in congress for exempting labor unions from the Sherman anti-trust law, setting the Clayton act, the constitutional amendment of the Federal Reserve act, the eighteenth amendment, the nineteenth amendment, the forcing of Truman H. Newberry out of the senate, the resolution demanding the resignation of Secretary of the Navy Edwin L. Denby, forcing Attorney General Harry L. Daugherty to resign, revealing the Teapot Dome and Elk Hill oil scandals, initiating suits to recover a billion dollars of oil lands for the government, in gaining American adherence to the World Court and "discovering" the distribution of a Continental Trading Company's $200,000 Liberty Bond "slush fund."

Power Trust Probe
And last December, he launched a fight for a "power trust" investigation, which ended in the federal commission conducting an inquiry. These are only the high spots. In the great League of Nations fight, Walsh was a close adviser of President Wilson. He defended the impact against constitutional assaults, but the senate rejected it. It was just after the war that Walsh demonstrated he is non-partisan in his role of "prosecutor." Here was widespread complaint against the anti-red policy of the department of justice under Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer, here had been great "red" raids, the deportation of hundreds of men, and there had been a bomb explosion at Palmer's home in Washington. Walsh, however, became convinced there was something wrong with this policy, so he initiated a sensational inquiry. Conducts Inquiry
Walsh conducted that inquiry as relentlessly as he investigated the oil scandals, even though a democratic administration was under scrutiny. He directed an inquiry that produced sensations and publicly condemned the Democratic department of justice for being hysterical over anarchistic manifestations. When the Republicans came back to power, Walsh led the fight against Truman H. Newberry, of Michigan, in the senate's first "red" battle. Newberry retained his seat but he soon resigned to escape certain vote of expulsion. Then came the oil scandals. There was much whispering but no facts. Late Senator Robert M. La Follette and Senator Kendrick of Wyoming, raised the issue in the senate but nothing happened. Then Walsh took hold of it. Overnight, a great senate public land com-

E. T. DAWSON RISING STAR SCHOOL SUPT.

RISING STAR June 9. — With the election of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Carothers, of Lometa, to places on the local school faculty the past week the entire list for both schools was filled. While a few of those elected have not signed contracts it is believed that all of them will. Carothers is to be high school principal and coach and Mrs. Carothers will also have a place in the high school. The new principal comes to Rising Star with four years' coaching experience and is said also to be a splendid instructor. E. T. Dawson, who has been elected superintendent, with his family, is expected to arrive about July 1, to establish his residence here.

Those who have been elected to places on the faculty are as follows: High school—E. T. Dawson, superintendent; O. W. Carothers, principal and coach; Mrs. O. W. Carothers, Miss Mary Roach, Miss Ruth Graham, Miss Rosemary Bowman. Grammar school—Mrs. M. G. Underwood, principal; Miss Mary Favor, Miss Elma Clarkson, Miss Rose McEver, Mrs. F. W. Roberts, Mrs. Ada Williams, Mrs. Ray Smith, Mrs. E. T. Dawson.

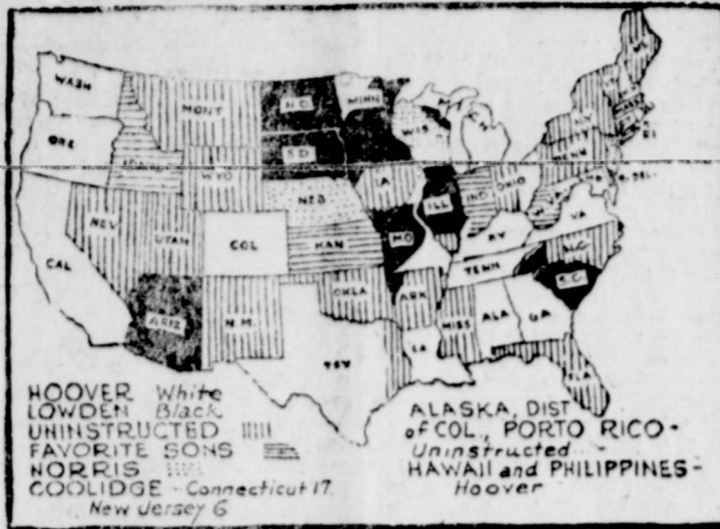

Remarkable Report
Back on the floor of the senate, Walsh made a really remarkable report, noteworthy for its moderation. He set forth facts, cited the constitution, demanded cancellation of the Doheny and Sinclair leases and sponsored a resolution that led to the employment of special counsel to recover the billion dollars of oil lands.

In the end, the courts took his constitutional view and cancelled the leases. In the meantime, Denby was driven from the cabinet and Daugherty resigned. The Daugherty clash brought a quick reprisal when Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Walsh colleague, was indicted by the Republican department of justice. Walsh turned from "prosecutor" to defense attorney and quickly won a senatorial vote of confidence in Wheeler and two quick acquittals in the federal courts.

In the farm relief fight of a year ago and again in this session, Walsh demonstrated his courage by voting against the McNary-Haugen bill on the ground that its main features were unconstitutional. On the whole, the record of this Montanan discloses that he has voted his convictions at all times.

Frigidaire household cabinets are artistically beautiful

Frigidaire's mechanical superiority is matched by the design of its cabinets. Beauty of line, proportion, finish and coloring combine to make Frigidaires strikingly beautiful. The fact that in household models all mechanical parts are completely enclosed, that the smooth, gleaming exterior surface is as easily cleaned as a china plate, that there is nothing to catch dust, grease or dirt, is thoroughly appreciated by any woman. Frigidaire's beauty and clean appearance is one of the great factors in making it the choice of home owners. Today Frigidaire is offered in Tu-Tone porcelain-enameled models, fitted with beautifully etched, satin-finish hardware of new design. Other models are offered in Duco. All fit perfectly into the decorative scheme of the modern kitchen.

General Chang Tso-Lin, Manchurian war lord and generalissimo of the Northern Chinese armies, is reported to have been seriously injured during the evacuation of the city of Peking when the train which was carrying him to Mukden was bombed. Threats to shell the city by the Southerners are believed to have forced Chang to evacuate in order to save the city from destruction.

INSPECT AUTO BEFORE GOING ON LONG TRIP

A service station inspection of the car before starting off on a vacation tour constitutes the best assurance of a pleasant and untroubled trip. It is pointed out by R. A. Armstrong, service manager of the Oakland Motor Car Co. "Of course it is very probable that you will receive fairly regular attention while on your vacation journey," said Armstrong. "Cars are built today so that they give more consistent service with less attention than formerly was necessary. "But, just as a matter of precaution, it is well to visit your service station before a prolonged tour. If nothing else have the car tightened up, thoroughly oiled and greased. Fill the crank case with fresh oil, check the lubricant in the transmission and differential. Sustained driving during warm weather is the most severe test of lubrication and this detail should not be neglected. "If the motorist has not already done so, he should have the generator charging rate reduced lest the preponderance of day driving over-charge and damage the battery. It is well, too, to have the battery tested occasionally en route. "Another good tour precaution is to have the valves ground and carbon cleaned. This will assure maximum performance. "And above all, be sure of your tires. Don't start away merely hoping that your tires will stand up during the tour. The growing practice of carrying two spares is most excellent insurance. Then, if one tire fails the second spare enables the tourist to continue on with a margin of safety until such time as he conveniently can have the flat repaired."

Future Activities of Oil Field at Cross Plains Hinge on Tests Near Pay Sand; One Especially Important

CROSS PLAINS, June 9. — Although several tests are near the pay sand whose fate will largely determine the extent of future activities in their area, a more important test is being made a quarter of a mile east of production on the Keller and Eubank land three miles south of Cross Cut. It is located 1640 feet from the north and 150 feet from the west. Lize of the J. W. Newton farm. Robert Mitchell survey No. 141 and is being drilled by Jos. C. Parks and B. J. Shaw. Between the test and the large producers on the J. B. Eubank land lies a very hard streak of sands from which only light wells have been drilled thus far on Keller tract. Located somewhat lower with respect to surface elevation of the Eubank producers, formations have been logging practically the same. One sand was found which was not present in adjoining wells and all other sands have been softer and much thicker than those found in the Keller wells. Two miles southeast of the Park-Shaw test, Schaffner, Bedingfield, et al, are nearing the expected pay sand on the M. J. Suttle land. The Cross Cut sand is sought and is found near 1000 feet in this locality. In the northwest extension of the Eubank pool Bradstreet-Mahistedt drilled a very light well west of their 600 barrel producer. It is making but a few balters of oil per day, so production in a larger quantity is being sought from the Fry sand but in the event of no pay at that depth, it will be plugged back and given a heavy shot at 1246 feet. This well is located on a small round knoll and seems to be the general opinion that the pay does not play out in this direction but that the sand will be found to yield on beyond and to either side. SYNOPSIS
The evening's revelry is at its height in Kelly's ringside cafe in the Boveery. In the soft semi-darkness, bodies writhe to the tune of the saxophone and the odor of cheap perfumes is heavy on the air. Streamers of various colored crepe paper hang from the ceiling to the booths where girls with brilliant lips and tight-fitting dresses are sitting smoking and sipping with their escorts. As Chuck White, the bean of the Boveery, is steering his partner, Kelly Shannon, around the floor, a lamp tapers into her rudely. Chuck gets the action. He would have ripped with him but Rose remains him.

But Rose Shannon was smiling more, and gazing up at Chuck with those fresh, wide eyes, and he didn't help returning the smile. Her eyes were open, and she was smiling at her mouth, and another dimple suddenly appeared in her left cheek as if she were making one want to nothing but laugh, too. And when her nose had a bewitching smile, and her lips were parted, and she knocked anyone cuckoo, as they say.

"Say, youse could have easy pickin', Chuck."

...ing to Chuck White. Deep, as sea; then suddenly all light and all of sparkles, like a beautifully sapphire beneath a strong light. "Love me, kid?" His head was bent to hers now; his arm about her waist pressed her soft body near. He squeezed her hand, kissing, shimmering, jumping, giggling, and maddening taps of the drums that throbbed like wine gone to the head. Swaying, gliding, sliding to moaning tones of the long trombone that cried like some jungle lullaby in the night. Round and round up and down, back and forth, together, trembling like the dead leaves of an umbrella tree a light wind. And over it all added a heavy, manly, manly, manly, purple hair—Kelly. In one corner of the room he stood now, Kelly, watching the boys of his Cafe with careful eyes. Nodding to acquaintances; sitting at a table to talk; sitting for a moment to have a drink; using newcomers to special tables; that was Kelly. For he knew them—all these people of the Tenderloin who came to dance and drink and talk and plan and fight in his life. Gangsters, prizefighters, cops, politicians, gamblers—he knew them all by their first names. Kelly scanned the room, watching the erstwhile dancers giving their orders. He noted with approval the waiters scurrying about, their trays heaped with sandwiches filled with glasses. Wednesday night—it was always a big night in Kelly's Ringside Cafe, with social entertainment as an added attraction. Finally he clapped his hands several times and caught the eyes of a half dozen girls, now lined at various tables. At his side the girls rose and came over towards the owner of the Cafe, some hurrying, some lagging behind to talk to their escorts.

CHAPTER II.
Back in the small, untidy dressing room, "Kelly's Girls" were hurriedly stepping out of their dresses and hanging them along on the pegs that decorated one side of the narrow space. Shoes and stockings were kicked underneath the long board that served as a dressing table for the six dancers who made up one of the features of the evening's entertainment. Quickly they sat down on the backless chairs that were lined up in front of the midwived, fly-specked mirror, and began making up. Six different types, they were, ranging from light blonde in coloring to the darkest of brunettes. Scraps of conversation ran up and down the lines. News of the evening, gleaned from various sources, was passed from one to another, as six faces peered into the mirror, dabbing on brilliant spotsches of rouge; painting vermilion lips until they gleamed; applying mascara with a lavish hand. Many Furbelows in Mid-Season Styles
PARIS, June 9.—Feminine furbelows are the most distinctive features of the mid-season collections now being shown in Paris and seem to point to a continuation of the back-to-femininity wave this winter. Worth is using tassels—an entirely new kind of tassel, which is original and extremely decorative, made in three shades of pleated silk. An ensemble consisting of a long, plain coat of navy blue reps worn with a frock of spotted crepe de chine has the tassel in stripes of red, white and blue on the ends of the scarf at the neck, at one side of the waistline and hanging from the lapel of the coat. He also puts them in black, grey and white on another model of pale grey crepe marcan which has a belt of black cords held together by crystal slides. Bow-knots are also trimming many of the new frocks, sometimes down the front and sometimes at the back. One dressmaker is showing a charming little brown and white checked silk with the ends of the bow knot tie applied in the front at the neck and belt. As tailored suits are worn for morning and their blouses are most in evidence over the luncheon table, this concentration of trimmings above the waist varying the excessive plainness of bodices is a welcome innovation. Appliques of the suit material on the satin blouse, novel groupings of flowers in the boutonniere outlined with colored beads are new details.

Have Special Gowns for Little Dinner
PARIS, June 9.—Every chic Parisienne has at least one of two robes for the "little dinner" in her spring wardrobe. They are generally very simple, but well-cut, made of simple tissues which follow the lines of the body in most graceful fashion. Mousseline de sole and crepe georgette are decorated with soft lace. Crepe de chine is combined with crepe georgette. A lame shaded from mauve to pink and from pink to green has a wide sash which swathe the waist encircled by bands of gold ribbon which also bind a small bustle effect placed just below the very low decolletage at the back. Louiseboulanger is making some charming "little dinner" gowns in printed silk velvets which have a smell of autumn in them. An unusual effect is produced with the skirt of one in black velvet printed with a pattern of beige and the bodice of pink georgette. To accentuate the combination, as it were, she places a puff of velvet at the waistline behind so that the long flowing lines sweep nobly down below it. Red is a favorite shade for the "little dinner" gown, varying from a very bright shade to light geranium tints.

USEFUL GIFTS GIVEN TO T. C. U. BY GRADUATES

FORT WORTH, June 9.—One of the activities of the senior class of Texas Christian University here is the presentation of a gift to the university each year. Members of the class donating to the fund decide by vote upon the gift. This custom originated in 1908 when the graduating class of that year presented the school with a fountain. T. C. U. was then located at Waco. The class of 1909 presented an archway. In 1910 and 1911 the plan was abandoned, but in 1912 it was revived by the retiring class with the presentation of a great live oak for the campus. In 1913 sixty-five volumes were given to the library and in 1914, ninety-eight volumes. The class of 1915 gave the Boston Ivy that now covers the main buildings of the school. In 1916 stone benches were placed over the campus. A flag pole and band stand were the contributions of the 1918 class. The Memorial Arch, honoring T. C. U. students who died in the World War, was sponsored by the 1919 group. In 1920 the drinking fountain in the lobby of the main building and the C. I. Alexander Memorial were gifts. From 1921 to 1923, inclusive, the graduates presented the school with sidewalks. Now every building has its outlay of walks. The 1927 class gave the great sun dial with its surrounding benches. The class of 1928 contributed a stone gateway.

AUTO FATALITY MARS TRIP OF CISCO PARTY

Lamar, Mo., June 9.—The automobile in which were Mrs. E. W. H. Kennon, Miss Clementine Wippert, Miss Helen Gould, Miss Vina Gould and Clarence Ross collided with another car. They are uninjured. Sam Cubbins, of Nevada, Mo., is dead.

The above message was received late Friday afternoon by R. W. H. Kennon, of Cisco, and since its receipt no additional information regarding the details of the collision has been received here. A subsequent telegram from Mrs. Kennon only stated that "all were well" and that the party was returning home by rail.

In response to a telegram received Saturday from Miss Wippert her father, H. C. Wippert, left this morning to meet the party at Fort Worth. They will return to Cisco today in Wippert's car. Mrs. Kennon and the others were returning to Cisco from Park College, near Kansas City, where Misses Helen and Vina Gould were students, and had reached Lamar when the unfortunate accident occurred. Accompanied by Miss Wippert, Mrs. Kennon left Cisco last Sunday morning to attend the graduating exercises of Park College, her daughter, Helen Gould, being a member of the class. They arrived at their destination Monday at 5:30 p. m., without mishap, and the news of this tragedy was quite a shock to Cisco relatives and friends.

GRACE LUTHERAN "Living After the Flesh and Living After the Spirit" will be the sermon topic this morning at 10:30. Is there any difference between the Christian and the child of this world? Some say there is not. Come and hear what scripture says. The night service will be a confirmation service. We invite everybody to come and hear the profession of faith of the youth who will be taken into membership of the church. Sunday school at 9:30. In these warm days when the open country, the swimming hole and the fishing pools are inviting us, let us not forget the one thing that is needful. Remember, where Jesus was found.

YOUTH NOT HEADED FOR BOW-WOWS, SAYS BISHOP

CUERO, June 9.—Rev. Wm. T. Capers, of the Episcopal diocese of West Texas, does not believe that the younger generation is going to the dogs. He made that plain while here on a visit. He declared in an address to the local Rotary club that modern youth presents the best material for making good citizens that this country has ever had. "I do not believe the world was ever so happy, ever so idealistic, ever so intent on doing what is right," the bishop said.

HE HELD PLANE ON A TRUE COURSE

Here is Capt. Harry W. Lyon, navigator of the trans-Pacific monoplane Southern Cross, and some of the instruments which helped him to dodge storms, head winds and South Sea squalls on the flight from San Francisco to Brisbane. Old-timers in the islands regard the feat as approaching perfection, for not only was he obliged frequently to depart from his course because of storms, but he jockeyed the big plane in such manner that Capt. Kingsford-Smith was aided by following winds the entire distance.

FOUR INJURED WHEN AUTO IS SENT TO DITCH

Miss Ida Mae Collins was the most painfully injured of a quartet of boys and girls that were spilled when the roadster in which they were riding overturned near Humboldt early Friday evening. Miss Collins suffered a laceration of her knee and other bruises. The other three were bruised and suffered slight injuries. They were taken to Graham sanitarium where Miss Collins' wounds were dressed, after which she was removed to the home of her parents. Others in the car were Miss Vivian Kinsey, Jack Mitchell and a young man by the name of Mertzer.

It is stated that the driver of the auto was making a turn in the road when suddenly confronted by another car, and the only alternative other than a head-on collision was to take the ditch. The driver of the other machine picked them up and carried them to the hospital.

FARMER FINDS SOLUTION FOR LABOR WORRY

RAYMONDVILLE, June 9.—A. P. Smith, a modern Willacy county farmer who is cultivating 640 acres of cotton six miles east of Lyford, has satisfactorily solved the labor problem, he states.

Smith uses two tractors, to which he has fixed on each a 4x4 cross beam, pulling three cultivators. With this contraption, Smith can cultivate more than 100 acres of appletion a day, thus plowing his withuge field in a little more than five days. A man is required to a car run each of the tractors but negro boys manipulate the cultivators.

Smith says he expected to raise them about 500 bales of cotton this year.

Funeral services for Henry C. Bolinger were held at the First Baptist church Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Hundreds of former friends and acquaintances gathering to pay their last tribute to their departed friend and comrade as they heard his virtues extolled by Rev. Acker C. Miller, who conducted the services. At the church the casket reposed in front of the altar, beneath an avalanche of floral tokens, silent but effective tributes from those who knew and appreciated the virtues of this pioneer citizen.

After the services at the church, in accordance with a previous request of the deceased, Cisco lodge I. O. O. F. took charge of the body and formed a solemn parade to Oakwood cemetery, where the body was placed in its last resting place, according to the ritualistic service of the fraternity with which he was prominently affiliated, and to which he devoted much of his time during his life.

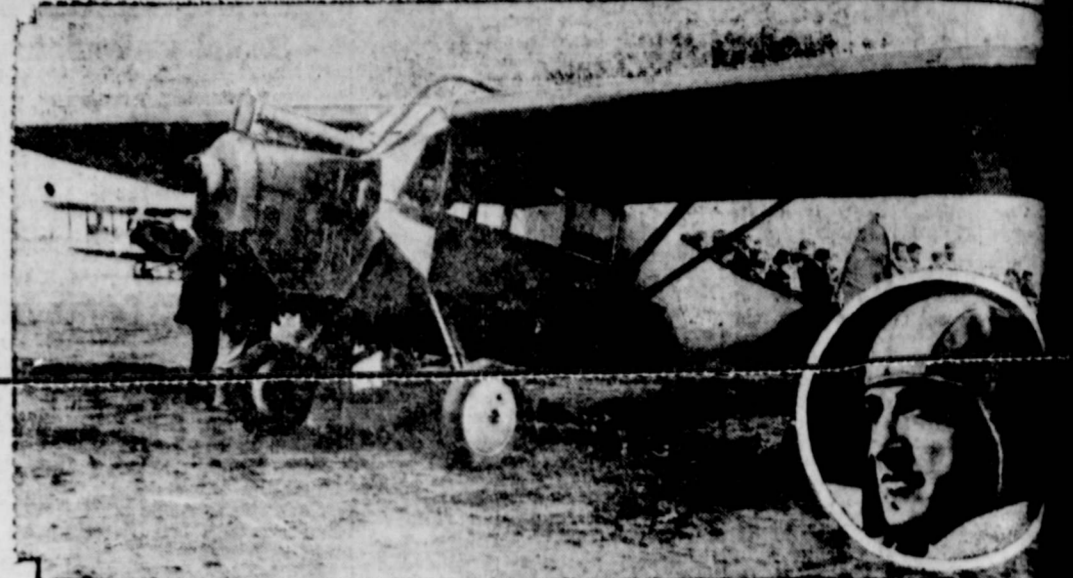

Henry C. Bolinger was born in Charleston, Ark., Sept. 26, 1888, and died June 6, 1928, following an operation undergone last Monday in the hope of regaining his health after being severely stricken a week ago. He was a pioneer citizen of Cisco, having come to this city 47 years ago, served as city marshal and peace officer, always discharging his duty with gentleness but with firmness and fearlessness. Recently he had pursued his trade, of carpenter. He enjoyed a large circle of friends who will miss his genial smile and hearty salutations, for he always had a cheerful word of greeting for all with whom he came in contact. He is survived by his widow, and several children, all grown, who were in attendance at the funeral.

Following were the pall bearers: Active—L. J. Preston, E. L. Wisdom, Jonah Donovan, R. L. Garrett, Frank Penn, A. J. Olson, Walter Clements.

Safety Valve of U. S. to Be Used During Conventions

Many Teeth Will Be Gnashed When Politicians Fail to Save Country through Pet Measures in Platform

WASHINGTON, June 9.—With the major carnage of the presidential nominations humanely accompanied in a series of minor operations in widely separated states during the last six months, politicians look for the principal burst of blood vessels at Kansas City and Houston in the next few days in the feverish labors of platform building.

The great safety valve of American politics, a celebrated British humorist once called the arena, and involved proceedings which try four years whips into unity the two great parties. The mechanism of the operations will be the same as has ruled in party conventions for fifty years, but it is traditional that every quadrennial witnesses new and unimagined manifestations of the accompanying fire and thunder.

Strong men fall when their ink for the compulsory teaching of Esperanto is rejected by the committee on resolutions. Nervous women grow calm and full of grace as they appeal for a department of maternity with a chief of the president's cabinet. A gentleman from Nebraska would abolish daylight saving by national act, and the professor from Pennsylvania demands a strong decision for the metric system in weights and measures.

Writing Platforms

The men who write the platforms are selected by the caucuses of the state delegations, during the two or three days immediately preceding the assembling of the convention. Each delegation designates one of its members for the committee on resolutions. The full committee is called together for organization the day the convention opens, with the chairman of the national committee as the temporary presiding officer. This committee selects its permanent chairman and then appoints sub-committees, usually of not more than half a dozen members, to actually write the text of the platform.

The sub-committee conducts public hearings on as many controversial subjects as time will permit, generally two or three days. It is this stage of the operation which afford political systems. Many a cause finds a court day at the party conventions. And any cause is continued from generation by one day of triumph every four years. The gold standard is abolished, freight rates wiped out, education revitalized with the mere reading of a leaf from the National Association to Do Something Now. Crime checked with much pounding of the committee table and the nation given a new lease on life as the split infinitives of a plank advocating a garden in every park.

Finished Document

Through the public hearings, the drafting sub-committee has a typewriter into executive session late in the afternoon of the third day, broods and snarls and drinks black coffee over parasology all through the night, and so emerges with the sun of the fourth day with the greatest

American institution, the party platform. Blear-eyed and brain weary, the drafting committee submits its draft to the full committee on resolutions, plank by plank. Here again minorities find a voice. "We denounce in unmeasured terms," becomes at the hands of the full committee. "We deplore the moderation, compromise and restraint which are the peculiar characteristics of American politics. Here the platform is built comma by comma, with every shade of opinion and feeling, every condition of life, every school of economic and political thought in free play against every other for its own advancement. The elements in him are so mixed indeed that all the world might stand up and say, 'This is the United States.'"

But the softening of adjectives and the distribution of semi-colons is not the end of the full committee's labors of the fourth day, for here it is, also, that the profound and vital issues of the party are generally shouted out. It was at this stage that the great "Gold Plank" of the Republican convention in '96 was finally written.

When Bryan Prayed

It was at this stage of the Democratic convention in 1924 that William Jennings Bryan in the darkness just before dawn dropped to his knees to lead the committee in a prayer for divine intervention in the hopeless deadlock of the Ku Klux Klan plank. It was in the full committee meeting of 1890 that the Republicans for the first time in American history dragged slavery from the limbo of political unmentionables. It was in the full committee meetings of 1916 that America first seriously reached herself on the World War. It was here, four years later, that prohibition was called for the first time everything it has since been called.

At the sunset of the fourth day if all differences have not been dropped out in the full committee the dissatisfied minority meets at evening to frame its substitute plank and minority report, and the fifth day brings the fight to the convention floor.

After disposing of the question presented in the minority report, the convention approves the majority report and the party is then ready to proceed with nominating candidates.

Bring on the lions. Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party.

ARSENICAL DIP USED TO FIGHT SPANISH FLEAS

AUSTIN, June 9.—It isn't catching fleas that are causing all the trouble, but it's stick-tight Spanish fleas and the big jumping fleas, according to telephone calls Walter Davis, Travis county agent, has been receiving from Austin citizens during the past few days.

The remedy as given by Davis is to mix arsenical stock dip with water in a proportion of 1 to 100 and wet the ground in outhouses, under the floors of buildings, and also spray the walls. Care should be used not to get the mixture on shrubs, grass or trees. The fleas breed in dry, loose dirt and trash, and it is necessary to wet the ground to where it will harden. These fleas are reported prevalent in many sections of the county.

The photoplay now being filmed among the oystermen of Maryland should be the last word in the silent drama.—Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

ORPHAN RUNAWAY TAKEN BACK TO WACO HOME

Robert Williams, 10, mentioned Friday as having returned to Cisco after spending one day in the Methodist orphan home at Waco, to which he was committed Wednesday last, was sent back to that institution Friday night. The young boy wanted to go back and he evidently did not intend to return if he could avoid doing so, for he gave the officers the slip Friday evening when being taken to his supper, and led them quite a chase till captured. He was allowed no other liberty after being returned to the police headquarters, where he was locked up till train time.

IDEAL TO SHOW 2 DAYS WEEKLY FOR SUMMER

For the purpose of renovating the building during the dull summer months, the Ideal theater will be closed on all days except Saturday and Sunday, K. N. Greer, manager of the Palace and Ideal show houses, said Saturday.

"For the matinees during the days that the Ideal will be closed there will be special reduction in admission prices at the Palace to 25 cents, but there will be no reduction to the evening shows," he said. "This reduction is for a two-fold purpose. Primarily to offer entertainment to Ideal patrons at the same prices at the Palace, and to give an opportunity to all to spend a portion of the warm afternoons pleasantly while seeing the show at the Palace, where the new cooling device keeps the temperature pleasant at all times."

JESSE JAMES PIKER TODAY, IS COP'S OPINION

HOUSTON, June 9.—Chief of Detectives W. F. Kessler, ex-president of the Chiefs of Police and City Marshal's association, which recently closed its annual convention here, declared that being a detective has lost its charm in view of the fact that youths from "re-

Principles Never Change

This is the Bank that Service is Building

Times and conditions are constantly changing; but that which was sound in finance a hundred years ago is so today, and will be a thousand years hence.

This bank is conducted in accordance with sound banking principles that have stood the test of time.

spectable families are bank robbers, hijackers, murderers and bootleggers, and go about the country at night armed with sawed-off shotguns, Thompson machine guns, and bombs, plying their trades.

The veteran police officer, who first began tracking criminals down in 1896, is of the opinion that modern boys and girls "would make Jesse James look like a piker."

"The automobile and prohibition have done more to make criminals than anything else. The boy and girl are taught to expect more. He lives beyond his means—wants a fine automobile, plenty of money to spend, a chance to travel and all of that. He gets out and hi-jacks or makes whiskey and sells it," Kessler said.

Commenting on the "good old days" when bank robbers had some principle, and the delight of the detective was to upset the dark plans of some "slicker," Kessler said that then "bank robbers rode into town on horseback, brandishing pistols, shouting and waving their arms" and went their way "shooting into the air without harming anyone."

But in this age the robbers drive up in front of the bank in high-powered cars, one remains there with the engine running while others armed with Thompson machine guns sweep the bank building floor, lock all the employes in the vaults—perhaps kill one or two."

R. R. SEEK TRUCK RATE

AUSTIN, June 9.—Proposed three railroads made to the road commission to adopt motor truck rates on cotton shipments into Corpus Christi to truck completion, may be an important issue with the filing of a petition by the Texas Press and Warehouse association. Whatever rates may be established as a result of the railroad petition, the association would like that they be made subject to existing rules and regulations governing the concentration of ton. A hearing will be held 14.

The railroads filing the petition were the Texas and New Orleans, Missouri Pacific lines and the Texas and Mexican railway. The truck rates, if adopted, would be effective from within 100 miles of Corpus Christi.
