EASTLAND CO.—Area 925 square miles; population 125,000; cotton, fruit, poultry, dairying, natural gas and oil; Cisco is headquarters for operators of the greatest shallow oil field in the world.

CISCO—Pop. 13,500; 1,614 feet above the sea; 5 lakes water; 5 rail exits; 6 paved highway exits; 127 blocks of brick streets; A-1 public schools and Randolph college; no mosquitoes, no malaria or typhoid of local origin.

TEXAS

By WILL H. MAYES, Austin.

MILLS HELP TOWNS.—In an article in "East Texas" J. B. Bagley, head of the department of textile engineering at A. & M. college, uses the Bonham mill to show the value of a cotton factory to a town. The Bonham cotton mill operates nearly 16,000 spindles and consumes about 3,600 bales of locally grown cotton annually. Two hundred people are employed, and a population of 600 is added to the town. "When the stock was held locally," Mr. Bagley says, "the return to the community was about $100,000 to stockholders, laborers and supplies of all kinds, out of a gross sale of something like $770,000 a year." The Bonham mill belongs to Eastern capitalists, owners of other and larger mills in the East. Except in the matter of fuel, the Bonham mill has advantages in expense of operation when compared with the Eastern mills.

GRAYSON'S ROAD PROGRAM.—Grayson county has started on a $4,000,000 road building program, provided for in a bond issue voted a year ago. The work will be completed in about two years. That amount of money judiciously spent should give Grayson county many miles of fine roads, but in all probability by the time the money is spent the county will be so in love with good roads that it will start upon an even larger project. Good roads always show the need for still more good roads.

STATE BUILDING HIGH.—The board of control has been forced to turn down all bids for the construction of a $40,000 gymnasium for the school for the deaf at Austin because none of the bids were within the appropriation. This is the second time the board has been unable, in the last few days, to let a contract because bids were not within the budget. Is the fault with the state's architect, or is it that builders want the state to pay more than others would pay for building?

PURCHASE OF ORIENT.—Texas will not object to the Santa Fe purchase of the Orient railway, according to a statement from the attorney general's department. Why should it? The road is not a competitive line; the Orient as now operated is losing money and is unable to keep up its roadbed and equipment; the Santa Fe hopes to make it a profitable line; the section through which it runs needs the road. There is every reason to believe that the Santa Fe operation of the Orient would be to the advantage of a great part of Texas.

MAY USE TEXAS CHEESE.—Specifications of the board of control formerly called for "first grade Wisconsin or New York cheese" for Texas institutions. Having examined the cheese now being made by Texas cheese factories, the board has announced that Texas No. 1 cream cheese will have the same consideration as the others. Bids are asked on 20,000 pounds of cream cheese. One of the large packing houses, it is reported, has made an offer to purchase the entire output of one Texas factory. Use Texas cream cheese when you can get it. It is as good as the best that is made. Both the state and a big packing house say so.

PUBLIC SCHOOL COST.—It would be interesting to know the comparative cost of public school education in the cities, the small towns and the country as ascertained by the state department of education. Equally interesting would be the figures as to the cost of junior college training at home, to the state and to the students, as compared with the cost of such course given in the universities. With a total enrollment of 33,565 students, San Antonio finds the instruction cost of students in actual attendance upon the public schools to be $65.13 per pupil.

SAN ANGELO JUNIOR COLLEGE.—San Angelo is completing a $250,000 junior college building, with facilities for 600 students. Only 150 students are expected at the first session, which will open in September, but San Angelo is growing and expects its schools to grow. The junior college will also attract high school graduates from neighboring towns and be the means of bringing more people to San Angelo to live. Good schools attract the right kind of citizens. They find that it is best to have 16-year-old graduates attend colleges where they can live at home. For this reason, as well as because it is less expensive, junior colleges are growing more popular.

PLEASANTON MELONS.—Pleasanton is rightly named for these days—pleasant days of melon shipments. Pleasanton has been shipping 45 cars of melons a day. Growers who take in large truck loads of melons are making daily bank deposits. Merchants are busy and everybody is happy.

SCOUT COUNCIL OF COUNTY TO MEET MONDAY

Alex Clark, president of the Eastland County Boy Scouts council, has called a meeting of the executive committee for the Scout headquarters in the Masonic building at Eastland, Monday evening at 7:30, said Charles G. Gray, member of the committee.

At this meeting it is proposed to work out the details of the coming camp, and reports of the recent campaign will be submitted, and plans will be made for financing the council on a permanent basis. J. M. Perkins will report on the progress of the camp.

The Scout camp has been christened Camp Martin, located on the banks of the Llano at the intersection of the James river. It is nine miles from Mason, the source of supplies for the camp, and a telephone is within 500 yards of the headquarters. Good water and plenty of hiking territory, with a natural pool with fresh running water graduated to all depths, are included in the attractions at Camp Martin.

ANSEL TAYLOR, ROMNEY ROAD, LAID TO REST

Ansel Taylor, 45, was buried Thursday afternoon in Oakwood cemetery, where the funeral services were conducted by Rev. L. L. Hanks, pastor of the Church of Christ. He died at his home on the Romney road, one mile south of Cisco, Wednesday night, after a long illness. Three children, all grown, survive. The death records of this family reveals that the wife, mother and several others have passed away in June.

Cisco Postal Clerks Ought to Be Peeved about This—They'll Get More Pay for Night Work July 1

Postmaster J. W. Triplitt has just been advised of the changes in parcel post rates and increase of salaries for night clerks, which will become effective July 1. The salary increase for night clerks amounts to 10 per cent. The new law eliminates the two-cent service on fourth class parcel post matter, but is retained in part by adding two cents to the rate on the first pound in the first three zones, and one cent to the rate for the initial pound in the other zones.

The new salary increase provides for a 10 per cent increase in the regular salary schedule for postal employees who work between the hours of 6 p. m. and 6 a. m., Triplitt said. Three clerks are on the night force, W. P. Caldwell, C. E. Mayhew and J. D. Hall—their duties overlapping sufficiently for them to be the beneficiaries of this increased salary schedule. The duties of these clerks begin at different hours. Caldwell's hours are from 12:30 to 9 p. m., and he will be paid for three hours night work; Mayhew's hours are from 4 to 9 a. m.; and from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. He will receive pay for two hours night work. Hall's hours are from 10 a. m. to 12, and from 2 to 8 p. m. He will be paid for two hours under the night schedule. There seems to be no disposition among the day force to take the night shifts, as all the day clerks state they are quite well satisfied

Several from Cisco attended the entertainment given at Scranton Thursday night by the woman's special representative of that place. A special representative of the club visited the meetings of the Lions and Rotary clubs last week and extended a special invitation to attend this entertainment. Those present from Cisco included Mr. and Mrs. R. Q. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Preston, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Peters, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Varnell, Misses Leta Deel Surles, Letha Maud Eager and Lema V. Rainbolt. Varnell, vocational agriculturist of the chamber of commerce and Cisco high school, also had his state champion dairy judging team present. Cebron Yeager, Bert Ezzell and N. L. Taylor. These young men, in winning the state championship in dairy judging, will be given a free trip to Memphis to the national dairy meeting.

The Scranton ladies had prepared a beautiful feast of fried chicken and accessories, vegetables and other choice edibles, topped with ice cream and cake. The proceeds of the supper will be used to defray the expenses of the club boys and girls to the agricultural short course at the A. & M. college.

After the feast was held a get-together meeting, discussing informally some of the community projects contemplated. Those making talks were Lee, candidate for congress, who gave an outline of his political platform; Peters, who discussed the dairying projects now being promoted in the Cisco Country; H. A. Reynolds, candidate for school superintendent, who made a brief announcement, and Varnell, who introduced the state champion dairy judging team, students of vocational agriculture of Cisco high school.

CALLAHAN CO. DISTRICT COURT CLOSES TODAY

BAIRD, June 22.—The June term of the district court of Callahan county will adjourn with the closing of today's session. Among the cases tried this week were those of Vestal Owens, charged with burglary, and Shorty Brookshire, charged with possession of liquor. Owens was found guilty and given a two years' suspended sentence. The jury failed to reach an agreement in the case of Brookshire, and was discharged by the court. Both were represented by J. Lee Cearley, of Cisco.

ALFRED CARROLL STRICKEN ILL WHILE ON VACATION

With the present arrangements, and there is no indication that the advance in salary for night clerks will attract any and envy at all in the postal employees at the Cisco office. This law also decreases the rates on second class mail matter, sent out by publishers. When publications are mailed by others than publishers the rate is one cent for each ounce or fractional part thereof.

The new parcel post rates are as follows: Local zone, seven cents for the first pound, one cent for each additional two pounds. Zones 1 and 2, seven cents for first pound, one cent for each additional pound. Zone 3, eight cents for first pound, two cents for each additional pound. Zone 4, eight cents for the first pound, four cents for each additional pound. Zone 5, ten cents for first pound, eight cents for each additional pound. Zone 6, ten cents for first pound, ten cents for each additional pound. Zone 7, 12 cents for first pound, 10 cents for each additional pound. Zone 8, 13 cents for first pound, 12 cents for each additional pound.

The new rates on second class mail matter follows: First and second zones, 1-1.2 cents per pound; third zone, 2 cents; fourth zone, 3 cents; fifth zone, 4 cents; sixth zone, 5 cents; seventh zone, 6 cents; eighth zone, 7 cents.

SMITH'S WISH ON DRY PLANK TO BE KNOWN

HOUSTON, June 22.—Governor Al Smith of New York will make his decision within the next 24 hours at New York City as to whether his managers will demand a plank favoring modification of the Volstead law. George R. Van Namee, pre-convention manager for Smith, said that the governor would make his views known to the New York delegation before it left for Houston tomorrow. It was generally believed at Smith headquarters here that the New York governor would not insist upon a wet plank.

REV. LENOX' SERMON TO DEAL WITH MIRACULOUS HEALING

Rev. Thomas Lenox of the First Christian church will answer the question Sunday evening at the 8 o'clock service, "Does the Bible teach miraculous healing for today?" This question was sent to the minister several days ago, requesting that it be answered publicly. Rev. Lenox said he could have answered by saying "yes" or "no," which would not have meant anything, so he will give it an hour on Sunday evening. Special musical program will be given. Thirty minutes of old time evangelistic singing. The sermon for the morning hour will be "Christ, the Way." The public is cordially invited to attend.

WHOSE CHEVROLET?

Cisco police are holding a Chevrolet coupe for the owner to prove his property and identification. The car was picked up on the Katy right of way Thursday, just south of the Frick-Reid oil well supply house. It was stated at police headquarters this morning that there was nothing to indicate the ownership.

SEVEN PAY FOR MURDER WITH THEIR LIVES

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Three men, Nicholas Lee Eagles, 32, New York gunman, Samuel Moreno, 29, Washington, and John C. Proctor, 19, were electrocuted today for the murder of Patrolman Leo W. K. Bush.

FLORENCE, Ariz., June 22.—Four members of a Chinese tong were executed in the state prison here today for the murder of Tom King, restaurant proprietor in October, 1926. They were B. W. L. Can, Shew Chin, Jew Har and Gee King Long. Won Long, a fifth member of the group, had his sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

GRAVE FEARS FOR AMUNDSEN ARE NOW FELT

LONDON, June 22.—Capt. Riss-Larsen and Lieut. Leifow Holm, Norwegian aviators, have been instructed to make a systematic search along the west coast of Spitzbergen for Capt. Roald Amundsen, a dispatch from Oslo said today. Grave fears are now felt for the safety of the famous Arctic explorer with Major Rene Guilbaud and three others, left Tromsø, Norway in a French plane to search for General Umberto Nobile more than three and a half days ago.

Uses Skis on Planes, Nobile Says. ROME, June 22.—General Umberto Nobile today radioed that land planes equipped with skis should be used in attempts to rescue him and his companions of the Italia instead of seaplanes.

Five Arrested for Lynching of Houston Negro, Two Others Are Sought; Participant Confesses

HOUSTON, June 22.—With the confession early today of one of the participants, police officials declared that the lynching of Robert Powell, negro who was dragged from a hospital bed Wednesday and hanged, has been cleared up. Seven men were charged with murder today in connection with the case.

They are: A. B. Wheeler, 26, boilermaker; John Kent, 27, ambulance driver; F. T. Shuck, 32, and Jack Reese, 25, taxi drivers; "Bubber" Kent, Howard Minton and Charlie Oldman. "Bubber" Kent and Minton have not been arrested yet but are being sought. Wheeler confessed his part in the lynching and implicated the others.

CHAUTAQUA TICKET SALE DRIVE MADE

An intensive drive was being made by chautauqua guarantors Friday to sell the maximum number of tickets to the chautauqua opening here Saturday afternoon. Working in teams of two, the guarantors, largely business men, were visiting every business house in the city. Downtown shoppers, both those residing in Cisco and in nearby communities, likewise were sold tickets.

It is to the advantage of those planning to attend to buy season tickets, the price of which is less than half of the total of the twelve single admissions. Reserved seats go on sale at 6 p. m. today at the City Drug store. Reservations for the week may be made for 50 cents.

At 5 o'clock this afternoon boys and girls are to stage a downtown parade in costume. Season tickets will be given for the cleverest, prettiest and funniest costumes. After the parade the entrants will hunt for three season tickets hidden around the chautauqua grounds between the Christian and Baptist churches.

The program for the singfest to be held in the chautauqua tent Sunday afternoon will be announced tomorrow. Cisco churches are cooperating in the singing and the churches in surrounding communities are expected to send their singers.

Another meeting of chautauqua guarantors and committees will be held at the chamber of commerce at 9 a. m. Saturday. Final plans for the chautauqua will be taken up then along with the reports of ticket sales.

DODGE AGENCY MOVED. The Cisco agency for the distribution of Dodge cars and Graham trucks, recently purchased by the Lee Auto Co., has been moved from the Manell building on West Seventh street to the Lee Auto Co., D avenue and East Fourth street.

Rural Delivery of Ice to Start Saturday Morning; Truck Will Be Operated Along With Cream Route

Through the cooperation of the West Texas Utilities Co. with the Cisco chamber of commerce, the Cisco ice plant will begin the delivery of ice on the cream route Saturday morning. Arrangements have been made for Paul Weiser, who operates the cream truck, to deliver ice to the patrons and others on the route, instead of placing an extra truck in this service. It is believed this additional service will not interfere materially with the operation of the cream truck, but should it do so, other arrangements will be made, it was stated.

According to P. P. Shepard, manager of the West Texas Utilities Co., if this ice truck is continued patrons of the cream route must give Weiser their hertest cooperation, as he will not have time to deliver ice to the doors of the farm-

FARM LEADERS GETTING BUSY AT HOUSTON

HOUSTON, June 22.—Crusaders in the cause of farm relief have already begun their plans for recognition at the Democratic national convention. Every incoming Democratic leader and delegate are being approached as to their views.

"We believe we're going to get what we want," George N. Peck, Chicago, representing the Farmers Bureau Federation, said.

Governor Al Smith has not made known his views on the McNary-Haugen bill. Senator James A. Reed of Missouri fought the bill in the senate as did Representative Cordell Hull of Tennessee in the house.

AIR MAIL FLIER IS KILLED WHEN PLANE CRASHES

ers, but those desiring ice must use the truck at the roadside. The price will be at the rate of 70 cents per hundred pounds—the rate charged in Cisco—but all ice will be sold in cash. Ice may be paid for in advance and have it left at some designated place in the event the chaser cannot be at the roadside when the truck passes. It is suggested that a box may be prepared and left at the roadside in which place the ice. Others than patrons of the cream route will have an opportunity to secure ice from West Texas Utilities Co. In a few days a huge exhibit whistle will be placed on the truck that can be heard for over a mile, and this whistle will announce the coming of the truck. She said the rural delivery of ice is an experiment, and continuance depends upon the patronage and operation of the rural folk.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION IS TO WORK IN SHIRT SLEEVES

Coats to Go Into Discard While Delegates Labor in Drafting of Platform and Naming of Nominees

HOUSTON, June 22. — Shirt sleeves will be the official fashion at the national Democratic convention in this city. It was announced seriously here by Clem Shaver, chairman of the national committee. Chairman Shaver made this announcement in behalf of the city of Houston and the national organization in a conference with newspaper men at Democratic headquarters.

"Realizing that the weather is hot and that those gathering for the convention are coming here to work and not to play," said Mr. Shaver, "I wish to announce officially for Houston and for the Democratic national committee that it will be perfectly fashionable for any man to appear on the streets of Houston in the convention hall or any other place his work may take him minus his coat."

Women Assent.

The women of the party have assented to the arrangement and have endorsed it for humane reasons.

Mr. Shaver was asked whether a man sticking to the old-fashioned "galluses" would be permitted to shed his coat.

"That is strictly up to the individual," said Mr. Shaver, smiling. He added that it had been suggested in some quarters that the suspended gentlemen at the convention wear their shirts over their britches supporters.

A newspaperman at the rear of the crowd, evidently one of the old-fashioned tribe that still sticks to galluses, remarked dolefully that there wasn't a single shingle nail to be had in Houston.

Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, vice chairman of the Democratic national committee, was in the room when Mr. Shaver made his shirt sleeve convention announcement and smilingly nodded her acquiescence.

Heat Is Admitted.

It is expected that most of the newspaper men, delegates and visitors will take seriously to the invitation to shed their coats. Many of the visitors here are not used to Texas weather and are suffering considerably from the heat.

The idea of a shirt sleeve convention originated with John T. Jones, brother of Jesse Jones. He suggested it to the national committee and after twenty-four hours discussion and deliberation the suggestion was formally adopted.

Some hints were thrown out by Houstonians that such a convention would give Houston's climate bad national advertising but the less chauvinistic of the city's population point out that everybody knows that Texas is hot in the summertime and that everyone may as well admit it and be comfortable.

After all the time, effort and money it takes to get a national convention, it is pretty tough on a city to have the chief contest settled on the first ballot.—Boston Evening Transcript.

FIVE COUNTIES GIVEN $839,380 IN ROAD JOBS

AUSTIN, June 22.—Almost every section of Texas was represented in road construction contracts, costing $839,380 for five counties, led by the state highway commission on the first day of its June session Thursday.

The biggest part of the commission's docket went until Friday. Counties seeking aid and advice were few and only one—Jones—got favorable response to a request for money.

A motion providing that the state would pay two-thirds of the cost of concreting about 11 miles of Highway No. 30 from Stamford to near Anson, was submitted by Commissioner Cone Johnson, but was passed over for final action later.

Petitions of Bosque, Somervell, Jim Hogg, Starr and Pecos counties for designations were taken under advisement or referred to the engineer.

Contracts let: Hardeman, concrete pavement on 15.6 miles of No. 5 from Quanah to Wilbarger County line; McClung

Baptist Church Circle meets Tuesday afternoon. Circle Six of the Baptist W. M. Church in charge of the mission study program Tuesday afternoon at the church with Mrs. Frank Walker, leader. The meeting opened with the song, "Oh How I Love Jesus." The devotional lesson, taken from the tenth chapter of Romans, was read by Mrs. L. W. Skiles. Mrs. A. A. Williams then offered a short prayer. Miss Elsie Glenn read "Nothing to Say," by James W.

Riley, Mesdames A. B. Cooper, G. A. Farquhar, Earl Vandeford, E. B. Gregory, T. T. Stephenson and Kate Richardson told in an interesting way of the mission stations and colleges in Africa. Miss Dorothy McCullies of Eastland gave a violin solo. Little Miss Margaret LaVerne Key gave two readings. Mrs. Charles Hale and Rev. A. C. Miller led in prayer for the mission work in Africa. The W. M. S. adjourned to meet next Tuesday in circles.

"TENDERLOIN," starring Dolores Costello, is a Warner Bros. picture adaptation of this novel.

SYNOPSIS A suitcase containing $200,000 has been stolen from the Mercer National Bank. Rose Shannon, escaping from the unwelcome attentions of Chuck White, the Beau of the Bowery, picks up the satchel in the street. On her way to return it she meets a policeman who arrests her. The satchel is opened and it is found that the contents have been stolen and iron washers substituted. Meanwhile the Professor, leader of the gang of crooks to which Chuck belongs, is furious that his scheme for stealing the money has been foiled. He questions Chuck about Rose and learns they were together earlier in the evening.

CHAPTER VI—Continued "What about it?" Heminway sneered. "Why, you poor sap! That dame was simply putting one over on you. Look here! Where was it she knocked you cold?" "Up to her place," Chuck acknowledged, a little uneasily. "Up at her place? How many times had you been there before that?" "Say, I tell you this baby's no Molly. She's just a kid. I been playing around with her for a couple of weeks before she even glinme a tumble." Chuck returned angrily. "An' tonight she takes me up to her place, an'—an', well, she bean's me." "Oh, my God!" the Professor moaned. "If I had your brains I'd go and get some sand in my eye and make pearls. Why, you big gorilla! Don't you get it yet! Tonight was the first night this dame ever allows you to take her home. Tonight we had everything planned for the stick-up. You were to make the getaway in case of trouble. You were going to carry the bag. And then someone puts you out like a light!" "Well, for the love of St. Peter!" A sudden glow of understanding suddenly flooded Chuck's face. "Why, that dirty little bitch! Say, if she thinks she's gonna get away with that stuff, she's sure nuts. I'll get her so dammed quick! And me thinking she's just a nice kid from the sticks!" "Yeh, but how'd she know we was gonna throw th' bag over th' roof?" Sparrow interrupted with an unusual burst of intelligence. "She didn't!" the Professor returned quickly. "She's working with a gang, that's a cinch. The gang tailed you, and if the bulls hadn't kept so close there would have been a nice piece of high-jacking pulled off. Her gang was simply hanging around until they could knock you porillas off, and instead, you simply handed over the dough and saved them the trouble. The thing we've got to find out now is who she works with." "Well, she ain't been hanging around with no one over to Kelly's. I'd of known about that," Chuck interrupted. "I'll say you would," the Professor sneered. "Only she was smart and you weren't. She didn't tell you anything—but you told her plenty." "Well, what are we gonna do about it?" Chuck demanded, turning to the Professor. "I'm in on everything that'll make me quits with that Jane." "Do about it?" the Professor returned. "Somebody's got the jack, and we're going to find out who." "A lotta good talking about it does," Chuck sneered. "We don't know her gang, an' how are we gonna find out. The bulls's gonna dog her and keep her 'til she squeals." "Suppose you suggest something. You've been the brains of this outfit for so long," the Professor jeered. "Me? I ain't got nothing to suggest," Chuck shook his head sorrowfully. "The best thing to do, then,"

Heminway decided, "Is to get hold of Maurey and put him to work." "What doing? Playing stoolie?" "Exactly! Let him hang around headquarters and get us the dope. There'll be somebody along to bail out this dame and we can find out who she's with that way. Where'd Maurey be now?" "Johnny, the Chink's," Sparrow suggested hopefully, his nervous fingers already twitching in anticipation. "All right!" Heminway pulled a roll of bills from his pocket and peeled off several greenbacks. "Go on, get out of here. Get Maurey hopped up and then tell him to go to work. And you get back here yourself sometime tomorrow night. Something may be doing."

CHAPTER VII Seconds dragged into minutes, minutes into hours, and hours into age-long days and nights, while Rose paced the cold stone floor of her gray walled prison cell in the women's ward. The deathly, pall-like silence was broken only now and again by the clanging of the iron bars, as some new occupant came to share her solitary confinement, or release was brought to some more fortunate victim. Scarcely knowing night from day save only by the dimming of the electric lights, Rose slept fitfully, crying when she awoke, for the oblivion of sleep was her only escape from the tortured agony that beset her. During the first two days after that fatal night reporters came and went, following the muffled footfalls of the white-aproned matrons. Rose could hear them coming from far down the narrow corridor—the matron leading the way, her keys clinking dully as she walked; then the sharper click of heels behind her. Standing before the iron bars that shut her from the outside world, they would ply her with questions, only to be met with the blankness of her first story. Sobelstons arrived and patted her hand and asked her about life in the Tenderloin; her dancing days at Kelly's; her childhood in the country. They came, expecting to find a bobbed-haired bandit, hard of face and uncouth in talk and went away to write of haunting blue eyes and hair so golden that not even the dimness of a cell could dispel its glory. They wrote the old, old story of the lure of the white lights of Broadway and its commonplace ending. And then even these visits ceased as new crimes appeared on the docket and new faces behind the barred doors. But they were followed by long hours of grilling, unceasing questioning. This night became a thing of terror. At any moment she might hear the soft patter of the matron's feet and her clanking bunch of keys. And then she would be led through corridor after corridor and finally into that room where the harsh lights tormented her eyes and the never-ending examinations racked her brain. In the midst of all the fear and terror that clutched at her heart with cruel fingers there was, however, one consoling thought, and that was that so long as she remained here she was safe from pursuit of Chuck and his possible revenge. When that idea flashed through her mind she could almost look on the dank walls, with the shadows flung from the iron bars cutting coldly across them, with a friendly feeling; she could reach out her hand and touch them with something akin to comfort. Perhaps, however, Rose might not have felt even this slight comfort could she have seen the activities of Maurey—Maurey, stool pigeon and dopester with the hazy past. Throughout the Tenderloin the story ran that at one time he had circulated among the most exclusive circles of New York society, with a future as a great criminal lawyer before him. And then came his slow, but fatal descent; then a stretch up the river, and now his services could be purchased only through the medium of the soliciting needle. Daily Maurey frequented his accustomed resorts, gleaning his information. Nightly at Johnny, the Chink's, before his cloudy, phantasmagoria of strange beauty rose to dispel the seridness of the world about him, he recounted his activities. Known throughout the Underworld to be no man's man, he played his game cleverly—so cleverly that policemen and gangsters, detectives and gorillas, took and gave helpful communications. But in the case of Rose Shannon, even Maurey could gain no knowledge save that she was still being held and grilled, all to no purpose. And then one evening the girl was led out of her cell by the matron in charge, to traverse the intricate route that led to the interview room of the Tombs. Only six days had passed, but to Rose it might as well have been six months or six years.

WALLET AND ST TAKEN WHILE OWNER WRITES Clarence Ciere, of 305 West Tenth street, reported to police headquarters the loss of his wallet recently, which contained $7. He was engaged in writing at the desk in the lobby of the postoffice, having his wallet lying near, when some nimble-fingered artist appropriated the property without his knowledge or consent. He stated he did not discover the theft until he had finished writing. He could give no description of the thief that might aid the police in running down the guilty party. Deep-Seated Rheumatic Pains Quickly Yield to Powerful Antiseptic Penetrating Oil.

Probably no affliction is more common or responsible for more intense suffering than rheumatism. Thousands of otherwise robust persons drag through a life of misery and agony. Here is a new treatment. Simply get a bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil, and apply to the affected parts. It's easy and pleasant to use and there is no doubt but what the most stubborn and severe cases yield quickly to its powerful, penetrating influence. The first application brings blessed relief. All good druggists have it, but you can be sure to get it at Moore-Shepard Drug Co.

MARY ANN'S WEEKLY LETTER

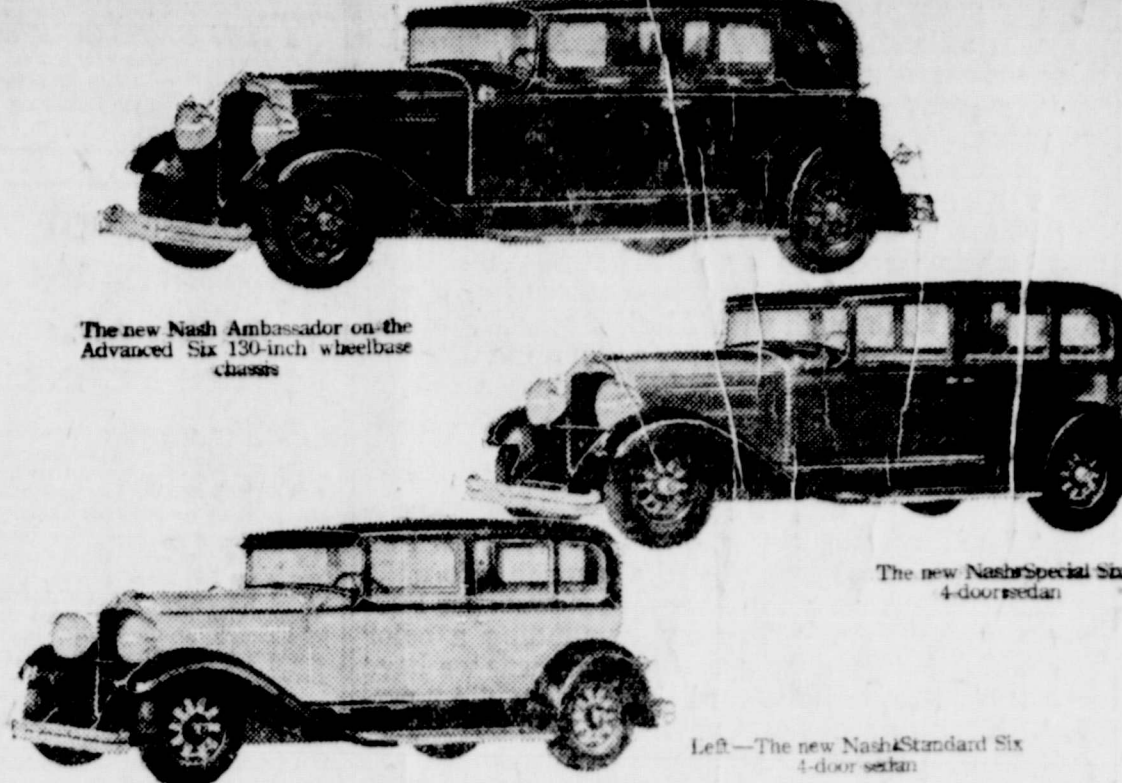

DEAR IDA MAE: I shall write you as I promised. I have a neighbor who was winner in one of those contests in another county. She told me about what she had accomplished on $12.50 in such a contest, she seemed to think what she had done might be done by others.

First of all she decided to repair the walls and ceiling. The ceiling being low she used a striped design paper to heighten the walls. She discarded several old fashion vases, substituting a lovely old pottery jar which had been used for a spittoon. Her window drapes and curtains, badly faded, were dyed a bright rose to match stripes in wall paper. Her rug turned over gave the appearance of a new one. She refinished and upholstered in brown Spanish leather duofold and chairs. She had enlarged portraits of the family hanging on the walls, she at once moved them to one of the bed rooms and replaced them with landscapes and water scenes. She needed new window shades too, but found it would make too much inroad on her limited capital, decided to make her own shades. She first dyed pieces of well worn sheets, hemmed, starched real stiff and tacked on shade sticks. She paid 15 cents for cardboard to match shades. For tassels she unraveled an old woolen cap. She had her husband to make a pair of book ends, a magazine stand and door stop of an old wooden bedstead which she painted to match baseboard, door and window facings. We can vision such a living room in which we would feel comfortable and at ease. Ida Mae, I must go as other duties are calling.

Outstanding among the salient features of the new Nash "400" Series are twin ignition (twelve spark plugs instead of six), high compression motors, Bohnalite aluminum alloy pistons with Invar Struts, famous Nash 7-bearing crankshaft with hollow crankpins, centralized chassis lubrication, hydraulic shock absorbers on all models, and newly designed Salton bodies. The new six-cylinder models, which are described as the finest cars in Nash history, will be shown to the public for the first time on June 21st.

THREE NEW NASH "400" MODELS:

The new Nash Ambassador on the Advanced Six 139-inch wheelbase chassis. The new Nash Special Six 4-door sedan. Left—The new Nash Standard Six 4-door sedan.

IN THE WAITING ROOM.

Did you ever sit in the outer office of a specialist and cool your heels for fifteen, or thirty, or forty-five, or even sixty minutes after your appointed time, while half a dozen persons went in ahead of you? That sort of thing is going on all over the United States and Europe, too, and Asia and Africa, and in the principality of Monaco.

The popular specialist feels that he has to arrange appointments so as to make sure that his valuable moments are shiningly employed; and that there is no lost motion in his professional machinery; so he makes millions of folks waste millions of hours that he may not waste a minute.

That is very well from the specialist's point of view. One can see exactly how he feels about it. But one also can see how the patients feel about it, too. Day after day they sit in waiting rooms and mentally, and sometimes audibly, damn and dear me by the four. They miss their meals, they miss other engagements, they lose time, they lose money. They lay their sacrifices on the altar of the specialist's expediency.

And that is all right if the specialist can get away with it; and he can and does; for suffering humanity is the most tractable of intelligent forces.

The specialist has another angle of argument: "My time is very valuable," he says, "not only to me but to the world. If I am made to waste five minutes during the hours that I have set apart for ministering to mankind, those lost moments may mean a lost life. Please do not think for an instant that my economy of time and energy is for selfish purposes. Do not imagine for the space of a second that because I give a patient thirty minutes, then say '$30, please,' that I am interested only in the $30; I need money, money is necessary in the scheme of life; but I also want to serve; and in order that I may serve, my time must be conserved."

All the same, if there are 500,000 specialists in this country, and if each specialist each day causes an average of six persons to lose a day's time, and if the average earner makes $5 per diem, the specialists are costing the country $15,000,000 a day in lost time.

ALL WE, LIKE SHEEP.

The men were smoking and talking. The doctor had just got off his pet peeve about the ignorant layman having in his power the most important factor in the whole healing business—that of knowing when he is ill. The doctor thought if the layman would let the doctor look him over and advise him every three or six months, the little acorn of trifling deviation from the normal could be prevented from growing into the sturdy oak of disease.

The garage man grinned. "Good enough, doc," he said. "I wish you'd turn your car in to me for an hour or two every month. I'd keep her running sweet and you'd have a long life on her. But do you bring her in until she rattles? I'll say you don't. When she's just on the verge of a hundred dollar repair bill you shoot her in and expect me to do magic on her, have her out of the shop in half a day and all like that. Gosh, doc, what you do to cars is sheer murder!"

"Take her this afternoon during office hours," said the physician. "The joke's on me all right. And when you bring her back I'll go over you."

"I'm all right," said Aleck cheerfully, "but I'll bring the car in at four."

The lawyer smiled, musing: "Let's see, it's about ten years since I drew your will, isn't it, doc? And your Dan must be about eight years old now, your Susan five or so. And how much money did you lose on that crazy investment contract that you were 'too busy' to bring around to my office before you signed? Put me down for 4:30 tomorrow afternoon, if you think you'll be through with Aleck by that time, and I'll bring around a new draft for a will up to date."

"Make it five-thirty," said the doctor grimly. "I've had my eye on Aleck lately, and I'm not going to let him run till he rattles."

BLUE PAPER.

"Readers won't look at a newspaper printed on yellow, faded, dirty paper," said a speaker before the mechanical division of the American Newspaper Publishers Association. "They are demanding a color easy and pleasing to the eye. Since the war we have been working steadily toward the bluish-white newspaper. If the tendency continues we'll soon be reading news on blue paper. Americans, unconsciously, are demanding pleasing colors in almost everything they look at." Color, it seems, is a factor which until recently gave newsprint producers no concern. But in the last few years publishers are constantly asking information about it and moving steadily in the direction of blue. Funny thing, too. Ask a man who reads a favorite paper at home whether he likes the color and he probably will reply that he never noticed it. He likes what he reads, and that's that. But let the same man go into a strange town where he has several papers to choose from on a stand, and he picks the bluish one.

CHAUTAQUA TIME.

Cisco's annual Chautauqua, looked forward to by the citizenry from year to year with much pleasure, is just a few days away.

This event, instructive and entertaining, is to start June 23 for a six-day program.

Prospects for an unusually successful Chautauqua are bright. A good program is assured and the superintendency and circuit management are in capable hands. The local organization that is co-operating is thoroughly competent.

There is no need preaching about the value of this affair that has come to be a real institution in our midst. The people who compose the Chautauqua committee in Cisco are among its most influential and substantial citizens.

They are, from among those who always are desirous of obtaining the best influences available for the community.

So, from year to year, these people are civic-spirited enough to give the assurance that the Chautauqua concern requires that the enterprise will be financed. In so doing, they actually perform a service for their town and surrounding territory.

For, as everyone who has attended these events is aware, we frequently find one number on a Chautauqua program worth the entire price of the season ticket.

The statement has been made that more diversions are needed here, and, perhaps, there is a good deal of logic in that assertion.

In the Chautauqua, there is provided amusement and entertainment and education. It is the biggest thing in the way of entertainment that comes to our town. It means real benefit to the community.

RESOLUTIONS OF SYMPATHY

Whereas, it has pleased the Almighty to remove from our midst by death, our esteemed friend and brother, Henry Bollinger, who for many years occupied a prominent rank in our order, and a warm spot in the heart of every fellow brother, maintaining under all circumstances a character untarnished, and a reputation above reproach.
Therefore, resolved that in the death of Mr. Bollinger, we have sustained the loss of a brother whose fellowship it was an honor and a pleasure to enjoy; that we bear willing testimony to his many virtues, to his unquestioned probity and stainless life, that we offer to his bereaved family and mourning friends, and to our sister lodge, Cisco No. 281, I. O. O. F., over whom sorrow has hung her sable mantle, our heartfelt condolence, and pray that Infinite Goodness may bring speedy relief to their burdened hearts and inspire them with the consolations that hope in futurity and faith in God give even in the shadows of the tomb.

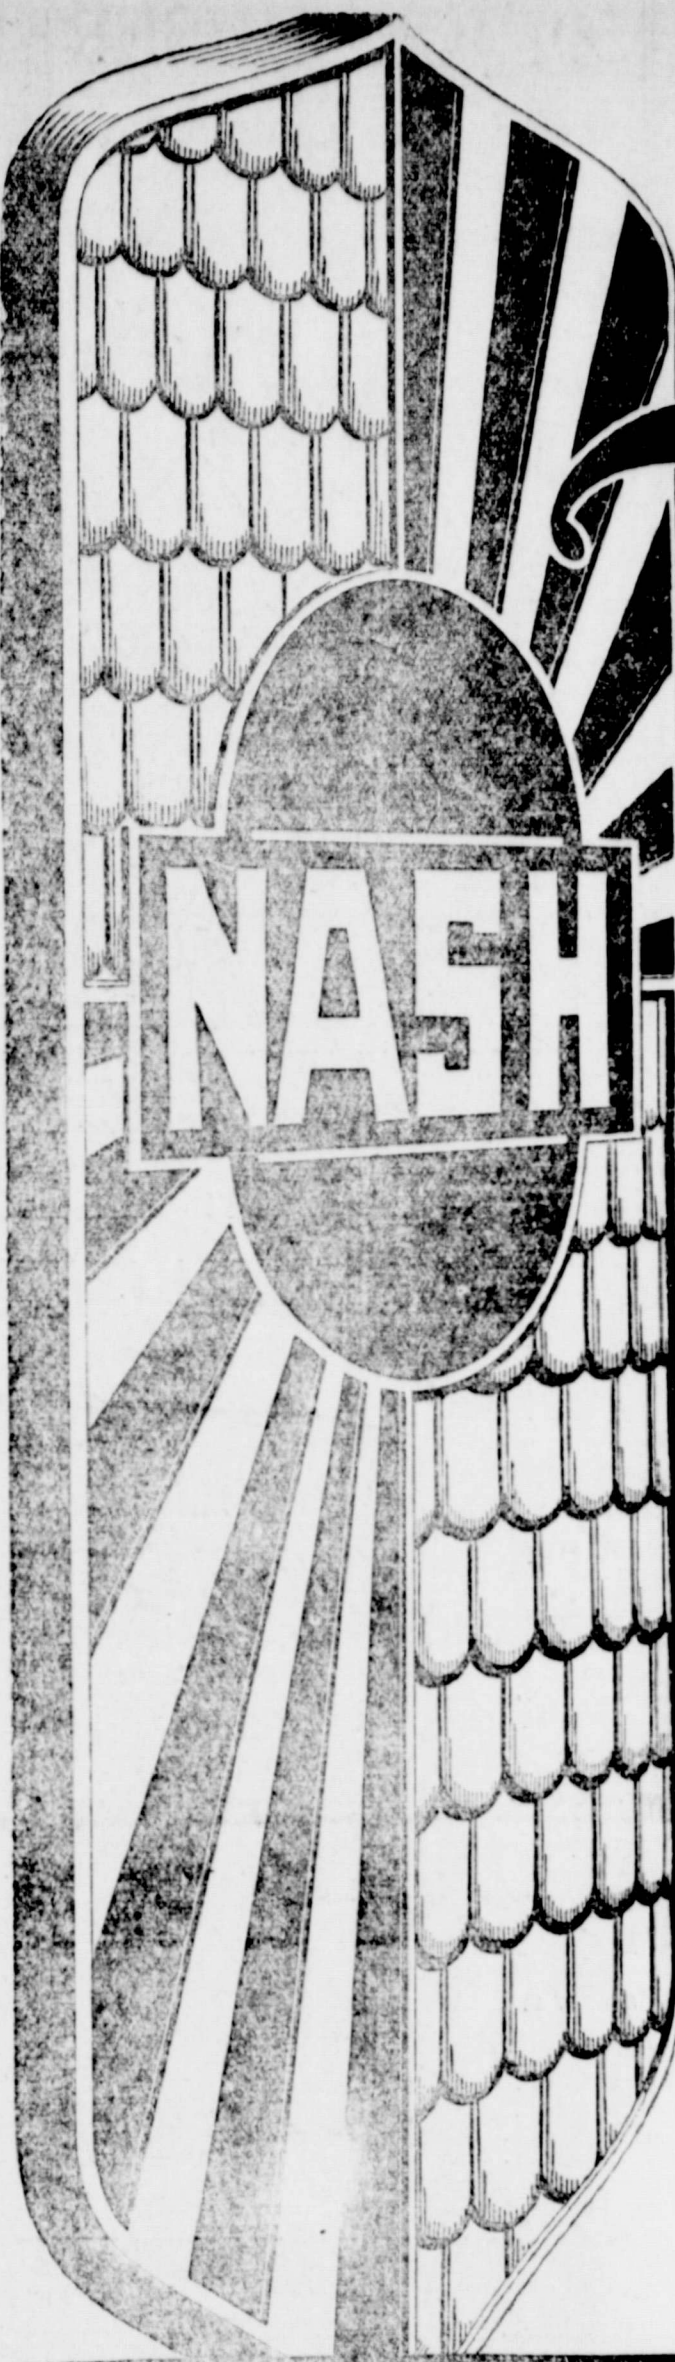

Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be presented to the family of our deceased brother, and a copy to our sister lodge, No. 281, Cisco.

NASH presents a New and Finer Motor Car

New Twin Ignition Motor New Salon Bodies

"The three new Nash Series, which are being introduced everywhere today, achieve the ambition of my manufacturing career.

"They represent an entirely new type of motor car, priced moderately, but offering you all the beauty and quality and performance heretofore exclusive to very expensive automobiles.

"To create such a car we had to develop an entirely new type of design and invest over $2,500,000 in dies and machinery alone.

"Both the Salon bodies and the high compression motors which power these new models exemplify the most radically modern advancement in body craftsmanship and engineering.

"Naturally space precludes the full listing of all features but I do want to draw your attention to a number of the outstanding attractions such as:—

"—Twin ignition, high compression, Bohnalite aluminum alloy pistons with Invar-struts, 7-bearing crankshaft with hollowed crankpins, Bijur centralized chassis lubrication, Houdaille and Lovejoy shock absorbers, Biflex-Nash bumpers and bumperettes, chrome plating over nickel for all exterior metal ware, double-drop frame, one-piece Salon fenders and longer wheelbase lengths.

"This new-type engineering of the '400' motors makes them by far the best performing cars I have ever built.

"I don't think anyone will ever want to use all the speed and power they deliver.

"Equipment is absolutely complete at the factory list price and you need buy no extras except a spare tire.

"If my judgment is worth anything you will find it well worth while today to examine this new automobile development with the greatest care."

C. W. Nash
President, The Nash Motors Company

LOANS

Would you sign a note at the bank without reading it? Then, why not read the loan note you sign and see WHEN IT IS DUE, THE RATE OF INTEREST IT BEARS and HOW MANY PAYMENTS ARE REQUIRED TO LIQUIDATE IT. A note means just what it says, and these features are very important.

The "Standard" plan note is very CLEAR and DEFINITE. If you have made a study of loan contracts, and want to save money, you will like the "Standard."

Circulation Workers Closely Bunched

Last Chance to Gain Prize Ballots May Be Turning Point in Winning of Automobiles, Columbia and Radio Set

Every worker in the Cisco Daily News and the Weekly American and Roundup country wide subscription drive, no doubt, imagines that the other workers are securing more subscriptions and are "away ahead" of them in points. This is quite a mistaken idea. Subscriptions are very hard to secure and there are no workers in this drive that are paying out their own money for subscriptions. Those who have failed to get subscriptions in many instances have nearly evened up their standing with points for the free coupon and there is not a wide margin of difference in the standings of the workers.

The big opportunity to get ahead, secure a lead in points, is offered the workers for points given with a few subscriptions this week and the coming week. It is the last combination of points offered for subscriptions. There will be no more points for prize ballots. There will be less points given for both subscriptions and coupons the remaining weeks of the drive. The Chevrolet cars and all the valuable prizes will no doubt be won or lost on the points offered for this and next week.

The outstanding feature of this week is the offer to double points for every worker who secures one or more subscriptions for the week. Do not fail to get at least one subscription in Saturday or if same is secured late Saturday send it in Monday and the points given will qualify the worker for double points on everything for the two weeks.

There are a number of workers who need one or more subscriptions this week to guarantee that they have in the distribution of the prizes. There is not a worker who could not get at least $1.50 for one year to the Weekly American and Roundup if she knew that she would win a prize many times more valuable than the amount sent in. This is the case with a number of workers who must get an average of one more subscription each week of the drive to be qualified to win a prize or cash award.

The ladies who make every effort to cash in on all promises for this week and the coming week will not only be the winners of the better prizes. The workers Saturday should be busy early and late and secure every coupon and subscription possible. The time is short and the opportunity is fast passing to become the owner of one of the cars, the Viva Tonal Columbia, the complete Atwater Kent radio set and all of the other valuable awards. Get one or more subscriptions Saturday.

PRODUCTION IN TEXAS' FIELDS IS HOLDING UP

TULSA, Okla., June 22.—Daily average production of crude oil in the United States increased more than 8,000 barrels during the week ending June 16, with northern Oklahoma and West Texas fields setting the pace.

Total production for Oklahoma increased from 596,350 barrels during the week ending June 9 to 598,000 barrels last week. The northern fields, exclusive of Tonkawa, Burbank and Osage, had a daily average increase of slightly less than 3,000 barrels. Seminole production dropped about 4,500 barrels.

West Texas again went above the 200,000 barrel mark, with the Hendricks field production jumping about 5,000 barrels. The north central Texas and Gulf coast fields also had small increases, while most of the other Oklahoma and Texas areas had small losses. The increases in the two states, however, were large enough to hike the total daily production of light crude oil in the Mid Continent fields about 11,000 barrels. This was partly offset by a reduction of 3,000 barrels in a daily heavy crude production.

California production of light crude increased slightly during the period, but the increase was more than offset by a loss in heavy crude.

DIZZY, NO APPETITE

Since Taking Black-Draught This Man Is Eager For His Meals and Feels Much Better.

Harrisburg, N. C.—Mr. M. F. Fink, of this place, says: "It must have been fully twenty-five years ago that I began taking Black-Draught regularly. It wasn't so long after I married.

"I was in town one day, and while talking to a friend I stooped over to pick up something. When I straightened up, I felt dizzy. I spoke to him about this and how I had not felt like eating.

"My friend told me to take some Black-Draught. I knew my mother had used it, and so I bought a package. When I got home, I took a good, big dose, and the next night, another. In a few days I felt much better. I was hungry and the dizziness was gone.

"A good many times I have had this dizziness and a bad taste in my mouth, or headaches, and then I take Black-Draught and get better. I do not have to take it very often. We buy from five to seven packages a year."

Theford's Black-Draught has been found to relieve sick headaches in thousands of cases that were due to constipation. Containing no mineral drugs, it acts gently, yet promptly. Try it.

These dealers offer motorists a complete service

Practically everything your car needs can be supplied by a Humble Dealer near you

You don't have to "shop around" to buy Humble Flashlike Gasoline. There is a well-located filling station handling Humble Products every few blocks in the business section, and on all of the main avenues entering the City. In addition, quite a number of Humble Dealers are located in the residential neighborhoods. A few of these filling stations sell only Gasoline and Motor Oils; but most of them carry practically every known automobile accessory, in addition to Humble Products. As a result, our customers need not spend time going around to other places of business in order to satisfy all of their motoring needs.

From the list of dealers given below you will be able to buy many of the well-known makes of automobiles; new tires and tubes when you need them; you can have your car washed and polished, and regularly greased; battery service and new batteries; and all of the other accessories, too numerous to mention, as: new headlight globes; air gauges; searchlights; repair tools, etc. These dealers have been selected as the right sort of people to distribute our products; and in addition to the confidence reposed in them by us, they have the confidence of other manufacturers whose products they distribute.

These dealers are your neighbors. They taxes in your Community and conate in a general way to the material perity you enjoy. As you drive g the streets you will recognize e dealers by the Humble Signs disied upon their places of business. n you patronize them you can be of getting dependable merchandise asonable cost, delivered to you in mpt and efficient manner.

Generally, these men own and operate their own businesses--a partner-- composed of two or three, brother close friends, the type that by re radiates a spirit of friendliness. man who waits on you is the sort ap you can call "Bill," or "Charlie," oe"--who takes the trouble to find out your name and always calls you by it; who remembers that you want 35 lbs. of air in your tires, reminds you regularly that you need another quart of Humble Motor Oil, or that the crank case oil ought to be changed; and who, even though he sells a competitive make of tires, will do all that he possibly can to help you get service out of the ones that are on your car.

Patronize these men regularly--buy your new tires from them, as well as Humble Motor Oil and Humble Flashlike Gasoline. Let them service your battery and fix your punctures. There is extra value in everything they sell you; and, in addition you get that priceless ingredient, "service cheerfully given."
