TEXAS

By WILL H. MAYES, Austin.

LAND LAW SUSTAINED—Titles to mineral leases on about 2,000,000 acres of University of Texas lands remain in the present holders of the leases, as does also the ownership of more than 5,000,000 acres of state school land, through a decision of the supreme court of Texas which holds that all major laws used by the state in administering, selling and leasing university and school lands are valid and binding. This disposes of seven mandamus actions to force Land Commissioner Robison to issue prospecting permits in violation of the "relinquishment act" governing the sale of school lands. In point of amounts involved this is the most important decision ever handed down by the court, and it settles the rights of large numbers of lease holders and property owners.

POLITICAL EARLY BIRDS—Al Smith's greatest strength seems to be in the fact that he got the earliest start and that his friends have from the beginning left nothing undone to secure his nomination. He was half way around the track to the nomination before his opponents seemed to realize that a race was on. Hoover's tactics were of the same kind. It isn't always the early starters who reach the goal first. There must be something in them to enable them to keep up the pace they set in the beginning. It has been said that the time to begin training a child is when its parents are born. Some politicians find that the time to start running for an office is before they are elected to a previous position.

EAST TEXAS TOMATOES—That all East Texans have not gone to the Houston convention is proven by the fact that tomato shipments still continue. Smith county is sending out about 239 carloads a week and other counties are doing nearly as well. A closer reading of the news items regarding the tomato shipments shows that "hundreds of boys and girls" are busily gathering the crop and in wrapping and packing the shipments. It is hard to interest an East Texas voter in other things when a convention is on.

BEXAR COUNTY CROPS—Bexar county, which a few years ago produced a 26,000 bale crop of cotton, has comparatively small acreage planted to cotton now. The reason is that irrigated lands become too valuable for large cotton production and much of Bexar county is now under irrigation. San Antonio furnished a good local market for milk, butter, eggs, fruits and garden products of all kinds and it is to these things that the local producers are giving attention. They pay better than cotton.

SAN ANTONIO-SAN ANGELO—It begins to look like San Antonio is going to have to put $600,000 into that railroad to San Angelo or stop talking about it. The road has been discussed at various times for more than a quarter of a century and San Antonio has always shown much interest right up to the time of putting up the money. Fredericksburg, Mason and Brady have agreed to put up the $400,000 which the railroad fixed as their share. San Angelo is certain to do its part, and now the building of the line seems to depend entirely on whether San Antonio is ready to do its part.

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTIONS—The ugly gaps in streets and sidewalks in most cities are due to the fact that under the Texas homestead law assessments can not be made against property used as a homestead for large purposes. Taxes may be collected from homesteads for general purposes, but specific assessments against individual homes violate the constitutional provision relating to homesteads. It is difficult to amend the homestead provision, although there is a strong sentiment in Texas favorable to making a homestead pay its share of street improvements.

TAYLOR POSTOFFICE—Taylor has an appropriation of $115,000 for a postoffice building and is anxious for the much-needed improvement to be started. The government is exceedingly slow with its building programs and can't be hurried much. In the meantime Taylor will just have to put up with the inconvenience under which it has suffered for a number of years in having a postoffice business out of proportion to postoffice facilities.

JULY CELEBRATIONS—The Texas towns that have not arranged for some kind of July 4 celebration are going to look deserted about next Wednesday. Texans are keen on celebrations. Candidates are even keener and encourage them in every way possible. Good roads and automobiles make it easy for most people to find a celebration that is most to their liking.

Cisco Water Nearly 100 P. C. Pure

Bacterial Count Is Less Than Half of Minimum Set by Federal Health Authorities for Drinking Purposes

EXTRA CREDIT FOR C. H. S. IN AGRICULTURE

Cisco high school has been granted an additional 1½ units of affiliation credit, according to J. J. Youngblood, superintendent of the Cisco schools, who is in receipt of a communication from A. M. Blackman, chief supervisor of public schools, of the state educational department. This 1½ credits were allowed for vocational agriculture, taught in the Cisco high schools. This, with one-half unit credited for stenography recently granted, gives the Cisco high school an affiliated credit of 36½ units of affiliation with all colleges and universities. Vocational agriculture has been taught in this school but one year.

CLUB GIRLS OF EASTLAND CO. KEEPING BUSY

Miss Ruth Ramey, county home demonstrator, and the club girls of Eastland county are having their busy season, as it is the time of year for canning vegetables, fruits, etc. Miss Ramey accompanied by Miss Helen Swift, district supervisor of home demonstration of A. & M. college, were in Cisco Tuesday, and Miss Ramey stated that Rising Star club women and girls had already canned over 20,000 containers of foods of various kinds this year. Miss Swift will spend the rest of the week visiting the various club projects of the county home demonstrator. She stated that Miss Ramey was doing a great work among the women and girls of the county, whom she complimented most highly on results obtained.

9 CARS ON OIL MILL SPUR ARE WRECKED HERE

Extra freight train No. 613, Texas & Pacific esabound, while switching in Cisco yards at 1:30 this afternoon, ran into an open switch and wrecked nine cars left standing on the oil mill spur. No one was hurt, though Frank Reid, car inspector, had a narrow escape. Reid had been working one of the bad order cars, and had just stepped back when the crash came. Conductor Johnnie Kemp was in charge of the extra, which was pulled by engine 613, one of the big 600 type machines. One flat car was crushed to kindling wood and jammed between two tank cars. Three cars of stone were at the west end of the spur. Other cars were two oil cars, one gasoline car, a car of watermelons and one flat. When the cars came together the car of melons was pushed up on end and set down at right angles to the spur.

DAMSON CO. TO HAVE BIG CROP OF SUNFLOWERS

LAMESA, June 25.—The sunflower crop of Dawson county has been increased by several hundred acres this year. J. R. Weaver, pioneer in sunflower planting for Dawson county, has announced that he will have some 1500 acres in choice sunflowers this season. Last year Weaver planted 500 acres to sunflowers and received some 1500 pounds per acre although he planted as late as June 25. This

THE WEATHER.
West Texas: Tonight and Friday, generally fair.

An analysis of Cisco water shows that those who drink from the hydrants of this city's water supply are sipping water practically free of bacteria, and much purer than the minimum required by the federal authorities of 100 bacteria count per cubic centimeter. "The bacterial condition of Cisco's water supply is being vigilantly looked after and the health of Cisco people is being carefully guarded," said R. E. Scott, superintendent of the water department. "During the time when it was necessary to pump water directly from the lakes to keep the standpipes filled we felt some uneasiness, and, in connection with the health physician, a careful lookout was maintained for the first sign of any illness that might be traced to the water. Not a case of typhoid or any other trouble developed, and now we have the purification plant in perfect operation all danger of pollution is past.

The department is in receipt of the recent analysis from the Dallas laboratories, by Helman Rosenthal, director, chemist and bacteriological consultant of the Cisco water department, which was made June 20, and this analysis shows Cisco water to be practically free of bacteria. The federal health authorities classify all water pure for drinking purposes that contains less than 100 bacterial count to the cubic centimeter, and that of Cisco the analysis shows to be less than 50."

Following is the last analysis of Cisco's water as made by the Dallas laboratories:

No. 1, Lake Cisco, raw water—Bacterial count, 500 per cubic centimeter, with no gas after a period of 24 hours incubation, slight gas after 48 hours.

No. 2, Lake Bernie, raw water—Bacterial count 220 per cubic centimeter, no gas after 24 hours incubation; slight showing after 48 hours.

No. 3, Lake Britton presedimentation basin—Bacterial count 510 per cubic centimeter, no gas after 24 and 48 hours.

No. 4, Lake Britton settling basin—Bacterial count 18 per cubic centimeter, no gas after 24 and 48 hours.

No. 5, Lake Bernie settling basin—Bacteria count 54 per cubic centimeter, no gas after 24 and 48 hours.

No. 6, water from tap at city hall—Bacteria count 43 per cubic centimeter, no gas after 24 and 48 hours incubation.

Open Forum at Which Noted Texans Would Discuss Live Topics Without Financial Onus on Any, Morris' Idea

(By G. C. MORRIS)
Feeling that there are many, like myself, anxious and eager to hear the live topics of the day discussed by authorities on the subject, it seems that Cisco could easily establish an open forum and invite noted men of Texas to discuss them.

Dallas has operated her forum very successfully. During the winter each Sunday afternoon, some national authority lectures on some vital question, and at the conclusion of the address questions are asked from the audience. Then follows a round table discussion.

Why cannot Cisco open a forum and invite great minds of Texas? The plan is quite simple, and fraught with practically no financial responsibility or burden to any group.

A small honorarium and expenses of the trip would be all the expense to the community. Such distinguished men as Dr. George W. Truett, Dr. Sealeman of Dallas; Dr. S. P. Brooks, mayor of Waco; Dr. T. D. Brooks, director of the Dallas Little Theater; Dr. Lefkowitz, eminent rabbi of Dallas, and others would gladly consider coming to Cisco at their convenience. One lecture each month could, in this manner, be provided. There is no reason for mental stagnation here. It seems to me that all Cisco needs, to make it the ideal residence city that it is possible to be, is better cultural advantages. With this lack remedied Cisco could rival any city in Texas as a residential city.

Several plans to finance the forum might be suggested. One

INDIANA PUBLIC UTILITIES KEPT STRONG LOBBY

WASHINGTON, June 28.—A powerful lobby was maintained before the Indiana legislature to oppose legislation unfavorable to public utilities corporations of that state, John Mellett, Indianapolis, testified today before the federal trade commission. Mellett's testimony concerned the period from 1920 to 1927 when he was the executive secretary of the Indiana Public Utilities association and director of its information bureau. He resigned these posts last year. Mellett is a brother of Don Mellett, crusading editor who was murdered at Canton, Ohio two years ago.

FARM LEADER WELL PLEASSED BY PLATFORM

HOUSTON, June 28.—"We have drafted in the platform word for word what the farm societies have asked us to give them," said Senator David I. Walsh, Massachusetts, as the platform sub-committee broke up at 6:30 this morning after a continuous session of 9½ hours. It mentioned no bill by name, however, Senator Walsh stated.

"The farm plank as adopted by the sub-committee is highly satisfactory to the farm interests," declared A. D. Fairbairn, one of the McNary-Haugen leaders.

Under the terms of the plank, Fairbairn said, the matter is simply a charge for the Democratic party to congress to enact legislation that will accomplish the purpose of the McNary-Haugen bill.

speeches seconding the nomination of Governor Smith, New York, were made this morning. The convention recessed at 12:40 until 3 this afternoon when the wordy delegates will return to get the final application of nominating oratory.

The names of former Senator Atlee Pomerene, Ohio, and Corde Hull, Tennessee, are still to go before the convention. There probably will be more seconding speeches for Smith.

A recess was taken when word reached the platform that there was little prospect of getting to the platform before tonight. There was a hurried consultation of leaders on the platform. The delegates were so weary of the speeches it was almost impossible to keep them in order for more than two minutes at a stretch. In this situation it was decided they should have a chance for lunch and rest.

John McCooey, veteran Brooklyn wasn't even a vote on it. Everybody simply got up and started out. A few sticklers for form and etiquette protested loudly against such loose procedure but before they could make themselves heard everybody was gone.

Meanwhile, the sub-committee on the platform was meeting with labor leaders in an effort to thrash out the wording of a plank. Labor men demanded the party endorse the five day working week and an expression on two and three-quarter per cent beer. The full committee on platform will take up the agreement arrived upon by labor leaders and the sub-committee and prepare the platform for submission to the convention either late this afternoon or tonight.

While it was at first thought that the first ballot for the presidential nomination would not come before Friday morning, there were indications late in the afternoon session began that it might be possible to nominate tonight after the platform has been disposed of.

22 ARE KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK OUT OF LONDON

LONDON, June 28.—Twenty-two persons were killed this morning when a heavily crowded excursion train collided with a freight train outside the Barrington station. Six were killed outright and the others died in various hospitals shortly after the crash. Many of the excursionists were women and children.

Petition Circulated Requesting Election for Voting Bond Issue of $50,000 for New West School

A petition is being circulated today for signatures requesting the school board to call an election for the purpose of voting $50,000 school bonds to rebuild the West Ward school building. The law requires that an election may be called upon the petition of 20 qualified property owning taxpayers.

That the West Ward building should be rebuilt is an agreed matter, but on account of the undervaluation of property in the district, as shown by the amount of insurance carried, there has been some question as to the authority of the board to issue the bonds should the election result favorably to the bond issue, according to Judge F. D. Wright, chairman of the school board.

"However, this objection might be overcome if those loyal to the school board would volunteer to bear their valuations sufficiently to permit the issue," Judge Wright stated.

DRY PLANK TO SUIT EVERYONE AGREED UPON

HOUSTON, June 28.—A strict law enforcement plank, pledging the Democratic party to enforce rigidly the eighteenth amendment as well as all other provisions of the constitution, was written into the platform today by the resolutions sub-committee following an all night session. The plank represented a compromise between the extreme wets and drys and is satisfactory to both, Senator Key Pittman, Nevada, chairman, said. No minority report is expected.

WHERE MANY FAIL IN DAIRYING There are many reasons for failure to make a profit with cows. Chief among these may be placed a scarcity of home grown feed of the right kind. Just as soon as the supply of home grown feeds begins to dwindle many owners of cows try cutting the rations with the hope that they can get by until pastures improve or their new crops are harvested.

MONEY FOR EUGENICS. Many modern thinkers have advocated work along eugenic lines. Charles Brush, inventor of the arc light, backs his thinking with money, giving $500,000, as he expresses it—"To finance efforts contributing toward the betterment of the human stock and toward the regulation of the increase of population, to the end that children shall be begotten only under conditions which make possible a heritage of mental and physical health and a favorable environment.

CHINESE RECONSTRUCTION. The Chinese Nationalists, having fought their way through, are now starting on a definite program of national reconstruction. A recent conference of leaders took up five important problems: The establishment of a sound banking system and uniform national currency; Reorganization of domestic and foreign loans and improvement of government credit; Scientific taxation and honest and efficient tax-collection; Commercial revival; Turning of military expenditures into productive enterprise.

DOWN-TOWN AIR LANDINGS. The business section of Akron, Ohio, had a thrill when an airship, carefully maneuvering amid wires, flagpoles and smokestacks, "sat down" on a 200-foot runway on the roof of a department store, making a perfect landing. It was "the world's smallest dirigible, a "helium yacht" only 110 feet long.

COAL PRICES. When everybody says coal is produced in superfluous quantity and sold so low as to bring no profit to the operators and no decent living to the miners, why does coal cost the domestic consumer so much? That mystery is explained by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, who quotes as his authority the report of the senate committee which has been investigating the coal industry. The railroads, he says, consume one-third of the total production, and they are buying all that tonnage at less than its actual production costs.

THE WORM RANCH. One's emotions become somewhat mixed on reading of the "ranch" started by an enterprising woman in Seattle. She runs it in a very modern, business like way, hand-picking the live bait from her converted garden and packing it in fancy cartons, containing plenty of moist soil, for the use of discriminating fishermen. She serves a real need, and her line of business is sure to extend far, in a land of amateur business of fishermen who spend more for bait than their catch is worth.

has been investigating the coal industry. The railroads, he says, consume one-third of the total production, and they are buying all that tonnage at less than its actual production costs. Other large industries are enjoying the same advantage. But the mine operators cannot handle all their sales on that basis; in the long run, and out of the general market for their product, they have to make ends meet somewhere. So they charge the domestic consumer more. He "not only gets no price reduction, but is compelled to pay larger prices to make up the loss to the operators selling to railroads and large industries." This is not a square deal for the consumer. Neither is it a sound economic basis for the industry. In the reconstruction of the coal business such equalities should be ironed out.

WHERE MANY FAIL IN DAIRYING (Continued) The chief value of keeping livestock on the farm is in the market they produce for home produced feedstuffs. Another item, however, is of importance. Producing legumes and grain for livestock makes possible a crop rotation system which will improve the soil and make for increasing yields from year to year. In the end it is possible that this phase of a change in the farm program will prove most valuable of all.—Farm & Ranch.

INTERNAL MEDICATION FOR PARASITES WORTHLESS

SOME ARE HURTFUL, TESTS SHOW

Millions of dollars are wasted annually by poultry raisers who continue to use internal medication for external parasites of poultry although departmental experts have absolutely exploded the popular theory that you can keep off the bugs by putting a pill in the drinking water. Technical Bulletin No. 66 United States department of agriculture, entitled "Ineffectiveness of internal medication of poultry for the control of external parasites," has been summarized for American readers by the county agent, J. C. Patterson, as follows:

There is a general impression among farmers, poultrymen and stockmen that certain chemicals administered internally will protect animals from external parasites. The prevailing idea is that the material is taken up by the blood and excreted on the surface of the body or on the body coverings. It is commonly believed that when parasites come in contact with such portions they are poisoned or repelled by the chemical.

Tests Prove Lack of Value.
As this impression has been commercialized to the extent of several million dollars during the last few years, and as several of the proprietary remedies have been tested for fowls and found ineffective, as well as dangerous to use, it is deemed advisable to make controlled tests of some of the chemicals most generally used. The purpose was to determine whether any control of external parasites of poultry is derived from internal administration of chemicals used for that purpose. Records were made to show the effects of such medication on hens and on the parasites infesting them.

The following materials were used: Salts, sulphur, magnesium, potassium, iron salts, gentian, ginger, fenugreek, garlic, gum camphor, tobacco, quinine, nux vomica, liquid lime-sulphur, tablets containing sulphur and powders to be given in the food. Varying amounts were administered from the small amounts usually recommended by the manufacturers up to ten times that amount.

The hens used in these tests were procured from the ranches and poultry yards in the vicinity of Uvalde, Texas, and were kept in pens very similar to those ordinarily used by small poultrymen. Fowls not affected with the vermin to be used were artificially infested. Hens were infested with body lice, feather lice, head lice, fowl ticks (blue bugs) stick-tite fleas, mites and leg mites (causing scaly leg).

"According to Directions."
In all tests the same kind of commercial mash was kept before the hens at all times. In addition a measured amount of mixed grain was given the hens in the afternoons and clean water was kept before them. A great number of different tests were made under varying conditions. Chemicals were administered "according to directions" in capsules, in the mash and in drinking water with no other water allowed.

The tests showed conclusively that the internal medication of the hen for external parasites does not control them. In no case has any deleterious effects been observed on any of the parasites feeding on the hens to which any of the chemicals were administered. In all cases the parasites fed up on the medicated hens normally, reproduced normally, and as far as was determined developed normally thereafter. However there was loss of weight, emaciation and several cases of death in the hens so fed. It was noticeable that the appetite of the hens continued excellent in most cases.

Where internal medication for external parasites has been used by poultry raisers, and apparent beneficial results have been obtained it is probable that those making such tests were misled by lack of knowledge of habits of parasites or extraneous factors not considered.

Grave Danger in Many.
There is grave danger in giving certain internal medicants to fowls, as their vitality may be decreased to such an extent that they may actually become more heavily infested with parasites as a result of the medication. The use of internal medicants is detrimental to the poultry industry in that it not only involves useless expenditures but allows parasites to continue their ravages when they might be destroyed by recognized methods. Furthermore, it seems safe to conclude that any internal medication for control of external parasites is without value for that purpose.

Full and concise instructions for control of all external parasites of poultry may be obtained from the county agent, the A. M. College Extension Service, College Station, Texas or the United States department of agriculture Washington, D. C.

In a few minutes' time the entire home can be freed of mosquitoes. With an improved FLY-TOX Hand Sprayer, spray FLY-TOX directly toward the ceiling, also on the draperies, in the closets and on the screens. It will not leave a stain on the most delicate of wallpapers, hangings or fabrics. Spray upwards until all parts of the room are filled with the finely atomized spray. Within a few minutes all the mosquitoes in the room will be dead, regardless of whether the windows and doors are open or closed. In addition to being stainless, FLY-TOX is fragrant, is absolutely harmless to people but sure death to all household insects. Every bottle guaranteed.—Adv.

NINE WELLS IN EASTLAND CO.'S POOL FINISHED

EASTLAND, June 28. — Shallow pools of Eastland county scored with nine completions, the last drilling report disclosures.

In the Sibley pool, remarkable for the Rhodes gusher in the Ranger, and the Williamson gusher in the 2,990-foot sand, a well has been completed at only 1481 feet for 31 barrels a day. It is the No. 7 Brashear of Chestnut & Smith and offsets the excellent shallow well, the No. 2 Parker, that Goodwin brought in some weeks ago.

The Republic Production company's No. 3 Sneed at 1228 feet, in the Gray-Hightower pool, is good for 20 barrels a day.

Swinging to the reverse of the shallow pays, the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company's No. 2 Higginbotham is making 60 barrels a day at 3,982. A 40-quart shot has not been exploded. A shot very likely would increase the production of this extremely deep well which many oil men think is producing from the Ellenberger lime.

It is in the pool discovered by Col. Robert D. Gordon a year and a half ago. The Colonel's No. Reagan bridged after a shot at 2522-68 but may prove good for 150 barrels.

Of course the biggest well of the week was A. H. Rhodes' No. 1, Louis Henning which had a flush production of 300 barrels an hour. This was from the Ranger sand, a deeper pay than heretofore for the Sibley pool until the Rhodes' well went on to the Ranger.

Three wells that failed to pick up production are: Amerada's No. 1 Gibson, 1130 feet; Mays and Charter Oil company's No. 1 Morris, 1550 feet, and Hensleit, Russell et al No. 1 Qualls, 892 feet, the report states.

Eastland county operations now total 46, the highest for some time. Brown county, which is shallow drilling, reaches a new high level with 95, and Coleman, another shallow county, reaches 72. Other figures are: Shackelford 27, Stephens 20, Palo Pinto 11, Callahan 9, Comanche 5, Erath 4, McCullough 4, San Saba 1, Burnet 1, Parker 1, Hood 1.

LABOR OF 1,000,000 MEN IS UNDONE BY INSECTS

Losses exceeding $2,000,000,000 annually result from insect damage in the United States, nullifying the labor of 1,000,000 men by destroying from one-tenth to one-fifth of all crops, according to a statement by C. C. McDermott who is in charge of insecticide, fungicide and caustic poison control in the food, drug and insecticide administration of the department of agriculture.

STANTON YOUTHS TO GO IN FOR LIVESTOCK

STANTON, June 27.—Plans are under way here for Martin county 4-H club boys and girls will feed out 200 calves, beginning in October, feeding 100 days and finishing the calves for the Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth in March. # A VITAL RELIGION

"Religion is like a stained glass window in a church. No matter how bright the day may be, you cannot see the beauty of it from the outside. Come in here! Come inside and look at it from within, then you will know." So writes Dean Brown.

Experimental experience has no equal, but it must be honest and thorough. One glimpse from the inside out is not enough. Too many are prone to give it "the once-over" and call it enough.

Religion is something to be lived as well as appreciated.

What are we doing to make religion vital? Are we saying we need the church and then do we fail to attend? Are we saying the ideals of Christ are sufficient but leave them to others to practice?

An ounce of living is worth a pound of profession. Let's act!

HARPERSVILLE IS ONE OF MOST PROGRESSIVE COMMUNITIES

Farmers Interested in Dairying and Milk Plant; J. D. Cochran Is Examples of Wideawake Citizens

One of the most progressive farming communities in the Cisco country is that of Harpersville, across the line in Stephens county, where the Cisco has long been the leading point. The farmers own the lands and understand how to cultivate their acres. But few of the farms in the Harpersville community are all in cultivation, for many of these people reserve the larger portion of their lands for pasture. And there are cattle in the better grades, with many registered hogs as well as cattle. Harpersville farmers are home-livers, and many are prosperous. The committee that visited the Harpersville community last week in making the dairy survey found evidence of prosperity in all directions. In the proposed milk plant, many are already engaged in individual dairying, which they are finding profitable.

Arvest Hutton, who with Judge Hayden made a canvass of Harpersville district, stated he had some interesting facts while dealing with those hospitable people. "And both Judge Hayden and I enjoyed every hour we were in the community," Hutton said. "The home of J. D. Cochran was extended every courtesy, and we desired all the information desired, and took pains in the operation of his farm. Though he lives quite a distance from town, and has no electricity, this does not prevent him from using power to operate his farm and household machinery. In the absence of electric power, he has installed a gasoline engine which is connected to a main shaft on the porch of his house, and this engine operates the separator, churn, sausage and other labor saving devices. Cochran really needs machinery. His care of his dairy products, his milking 19 cows that produce 100 pounds of milk per day, and his worth of butter each day, so one can readily see the power to operate both the separator and churn. He produces, not did we question regarding the quantity of milk made, but I presume his house was on a par with the butter produced, as he has power to operate the mill. Cochran farm consists of 515 acres, which he is cultivating 315 acres, with 315 acres in alfalfa, 22 acres in sorghum and the remainder in various crops of staple and truck. There are 200 chickens and hogs on the Cochran farm, but most of that time four hogs, many good ones. He is going strong for dairying, and finds a profitable business in it. The census indicates, besides there are in his 315 acres 10 cows that are milked, and heifers that will be milked later."

Often Seen—but Seldom Passed

Many times on many highways you will glimpse the red Indian head that identifies a Pontiac Six from the rear. Sometime you will find a man at the wheel who shows that he's headed for distant points. Follow him hour after hour, all day long. Follow him, that is, if your car will stand the pace.

When you do you will witness a marvelous exhibition of high-speed endurance. You will see the Pontiac Six reeling off the miles, topping the hills with ease, sprinting past car after car. And if you can have it checked from radiator to tail-light at its destination, you will find it none the worse for hard driving, no matter how strenuous the trip.

The Pontiac Six is built for just such a test as that. That's why it's often seen on the road—but very seldom passed!

CHIROPRACTIC IS RIGHT

Coincidental with the condition of "broken neck" or "broken back" is demonstrated proof final, against all disputation, that when bones of the spine are in position to impinge nerve tissue (spinal-cord or spinal-nerve) they then CAUSE an obstruction (stopping) to the normal flow of the LIFE-FORCE, and is dangerous to the life and health of the person.

Chiropactic is ABSOLUTELY RIGHT when it teaches that bones of the spine impinging the spinal-cord or spinal-nerve CAUSES sickness and "disease." And that these bones must be properly adjusted before this CAUSE for "disease" to be, is corrected.

STYLES BROADMINDED AT COUNTRY CLUBS

PARIS, June 28.—Country club costumes are causing considerable comment among chic circles in Paris. Fashion is nothing this season is not broad minded and smiles alike upon severe or fluffy creations as long as they are smart and becoming.

There are any number of country club costumes in beige georgette or georgette combined with lace of the same shade. One consisting of a long coat and frock is finished around the edge with two rows of scallops, the same trimming being used in several rows on the full overskirt which is long in front and short in the back giving a new touch to the irregular hemline.

Country club ensembles of velvet are printed in tiny designs of the same color, one in gray green with a bodice of plain green satin being particularly effective.

A navy-blue wool georgette has the skirt in three tiers each cut on the edge in square indentations with the same square designs extending up the front and around the neck opening over a slip of red plaid and worn with a wide belt of bright red patent leather. A grayish beige lace has a long, straight jacket bodice and huge bow of golden-brown velvet at the side.

Brandt is showing a charming country club frock in dull blue woolen voile with dull blue sequin trimming on the collar and revers of the straight coat and at the bottom of the jacket.

ORCHARD PAYS NEWCOMER IN THREE YEARS

Aaron Brown of the De Leon section, disposed of a load of fine peaches Tuesday, which he said were grown in an orchard only three years old. For a long time, he said, he hesitated about putting out an orchard, because his neighbors told him that it would be several years before his trees would bear fruit and then it might be killed by frost or destroyed by insects. Being a newcomer in the country, he thought they were right about the matter, but finally decided to put out a small orchard of peaches, plums, apricots and pears. The peaches and plums bore the second year they were out and are just loaded with fruit this year. He sprays his trees and cultivates them late in the autumn. The late cultivation keeps the trees growing and uses up surplus energy that would cause them to bloom too early in the spring. At any rate he is convinced that fruit pays and will enlarge his orchard continually putting out young trees to replace those that may get old or die out from other causes. He raises chickens and hogs, finding that they fit in nicely with his idea of farming. Some people say that hogs and chickens do not go together as the hogs will eat the chickens. He keeps them apart and finds that it is cheaper to fence them away from each other than to try to do away with either of them. He also raises melons and Irish potatoes as money crops.

BIBLE SCHOOL OF LUTHERANS CLOSES TODAY

The vacation Bible school taught by Rev. H. F. Peiman of the Lutheran church for the past three weeks came to a close this morning. The school was held from 8 to 10:30 five mornings of the week. One week was spent on each of the following topics: "The Holy Spirit and His Work," "Prayer" and "Baptism." Tonight the children will give a program on the church lawn for their parents, friends and the general public, in which they will review some of the work. In the part of the program they will view some of the stories and songs they have learned. The second part of the program will consist of flag drills and patriotic songs. The ladies will serve cake and ice cream.

ACCEPTANCES OF W. T. C. C. DIRECTORATE ARE SOUGHT

STAMFORD, June 28.—Acceptances from those already named upon the directorate of the West Texas chamber of commerce for the ensuing year are being requested by the management in a letter sent from the headquarters office this week. The first official notification carries with it an announcement of the first executive board meeting, called for July 6, at Coleman. This has gone to 101 leaders of West Texas who were recommended by the nominating committee at the tenth annual convention.

Hoover to Quit Cabinet in Near Future to Enter on Campaigning; Secretary Work Also to Resign

YOUNG BULLS GIVE FARMER GOOD RETURN

Ed Hayden, of Moran, was in Cisco this week. Mr. Hayden said he had just shipped a car of young bulls that netted him a very satisfactory price. In speaking of crops in his vicinity, he said pastures were unusually good and feed crops were looking their very best. People have planted an unusually heavy amount of corn and a heavy amount of the shortage in small grain yield. Cotton is being chopped out and is making rapid growth. Corn will soon be in the feeding stage. Mr. Hayden thinks the dairy men will appeal strongly to his section of a part of their farm program. He does not raise dairy stock himself but thinks any line of livestock will pay well. He raises only pure blood beef cattle and takes many ribbons at the Fort Worth stock show each year. He gets very high prices paid for this quality and kind of cat-

REGULAR CIRCUS UPKEEP REQUIRED FOR 'THE CIRCUS'

Some idea as to the physical magnitude of Charlie Chaplin's production "The Circus," which comes to Palace theater Sunday for two weeks may be had from figures compiled by George Webster, general manager at the Chaplin studio. Livestock housed at the Chaplin studio for a period of more than a year included elephants, tigers, horses, cats, monkeys, pigs, dogs, mules, ducks, geese and geese. To properly feed and care for such an assortment of the commissary department required to handle for many thousands of pounds. Greater bulk of this being in sand tons of hay, corn, carrots, peas and bread.

When the statement of facts was read before Charlie for his scrutiny, the comedian dryly remarked: "The circus work must be interesting. But I note we use any butter!"

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Secretary Hoover has determined to resign his cabinet post almost immediately in order to be unhampered in his campaign as the Republican candidate for president. He will present his resignation before July 15 personally to President Coolidge at the summer white house in Wisconsin and then will go to his home in California.

Hoover also disclosed that his speech of acceptance of the Republican nomination would be delivered during the first week of August at Stanford University at Palo Alto, Cal., where his home is located.

Hoover is devoting himself almost entirely to closing outstanding matters in the department, a statement issued at his office in the commerce department said, "so that he can ask the president to be relieved from the secretaryship at some early date. He hopes to start west about the middle of July, calling upon the president en route. His speech of acceptance of the Republican nomination will be delivered during the first week in August at Stanford University.

The announcement came as a distinct surprise and settled a matter which has caused considerable division of opinion among the presidential candidate's advisors since his nomination. The secretary personally was understood to be loathe to leave his position because of many personal attachments in the department and of his liking for the duties.

His political advisers, however, almost unanimously have held the view that an early retirement was necessary. It is also thought that Hoover was motivated in his decision by the increasing pressure of campaign duties and the belief that it would be better to devote all his activities to the fight from now until the election campaign will produce two vacancies in the cabinet for the president to fill during his vacation. Secretary Work of the interior department, the new Republican national committee chairman, will leave Washington for Wisconsin Saturday, according to his present plan, to present his resignation to Coolidge.

"I can't marry him, mother. He's an atheist, and doesn't believe there's a hell."

"Marry him, my dear, and between us we'll convince him that he's wrong."

Camp County Farm, Long Believed Worthless, Is Making Over $6,000 Yearly for Enterprising Brothers

PITTSBURG, Texas, June 28.—Six years ago two brothers, Clay and Bryant Harris, left town and decided to seek new fields of environment. They bought 120 acres of Camp county land, said to be a worn out at the low figure of $14 an acre, and are now making a small fortune raising Irish potatoes. The land was considered the poorest in the county, and had been handled by tenant farmers for years, and for the last few years before becoming the property of the Harris brothers had scarcely paid the owner the taxes, and improvements were neglected. The Harris boys used seven mules to the plow, and broke the land more than a foot deep. They have plowed it this deep every year since, turning under all the green vegetation possible, until now it is like a garden, and for the last three years they have made a gross income of $6,000 to $8,000 off it. For Irish potatoes they use a ton of fertilizer to the acre, costing $40, and produce from $300 to $400 worth of potatoes per acre, then plant the same ground, as soon as potatoes are off the last of May, in cotton and sweet potatoes, making over a half of cotton to the acre and 200 bushels of sweet potatoes. They also raise ribbon cane, with an income of more than $500 per acre. They believe they will further develop this land and improve their skill by experience to where, with a double cropping, they will in a few years make some of the land bring a gross income of $1,000 per acre. The Harris brothers have a fine bunch of fat hogs, which fed on unsaleable sweet potatoes, peas and other refuse farm products, make all their meat and lard. They also keep good stock of poultry and a few Jersey cows, bringing in a nice income. They have abundantly proven that they can depend on a big income after an Atlantic flight?—Indianapolis Star.

ABILENE HOME LOST IN FLAMES

ABILENE, June 28.—Fire of unknown origin practically destroyed a six-room frame bungalow and the contents, owned and occupied by E. M. Little early Wednesday morning. Members of the family were away from home when the blaze started and the building was in flames when the local fire department received the alarm at 1:37 o'clock. The loss was partially covered by insurance, it was reported.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Little in Cisco will regret to hear of their loss. Before their removal to Abilene they were well known citizens of Cisco, where they still have many friends. While here Little was distributor for Chrysler automobiles.

"VICTORY IS HIS HABIT," ROOSEVELT SAYS OF AL SMITH

New Yorker Compared to Lincoln and Wilson as Friend Places Him in Nomination Third Straight Time

HOUSTON, June 28.—"Victory is his habit—the happy warrior!" With this prophetic characterization, the name of Governor Alfred E. Smith was presented to the Democratic national convention last night by one of the closest personal friends and political allies, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

It was the third time Roosevelt had placed Smith's name before the quadrennial assembly.

"The faith which I held, I still hold," he said, in recalling his eight years' fight to win the presidential nomination for the man who was the boy of the sidewalks of New York.

The speech, was short, uttered in crisp ringing sentences remarkably free of bombast and high oratory.

"Between him and the people is that subtle bond which makes him their champion and makes them enthusiastically trust him with their loyalty and their love."

With that unadorned keynote, Roosevelt presented Smith as a New Lincoln and a new Wilson.

"It was Lincoln's human heart, and Woodrow Wilson's passionate desire to bring about the happiness of the whole world which will be best remembered by the historians."

Roosevelt followed the lead of the temporary chairman, Claude Bowers, in assailing "the crass materialism" of Republican prosperity, political corruption, and spiritual lethargy in administrative leadership.

"There was no reference to prohibition, either in the exhaustive review of Smith's record or in the summary of the personal attributes which his friends deem mark him for high service in the party and nation."

"He is well called 'the pathfinder to the open road for all true lovers of humanity.' He has the honesty that hates hypocrisy and cannot live with concealment and deceit," Roosevelt said.

"Personal leadership is a fundamental of successful government. I do not mean the leadership of the band of good fellows and good schemers who followed President

Harding, nor the purely perfumery party loyalty which has part of the time in past of the country sustained the present chief executive. I mean that leadership which by sheer force of mind, by a chain of unanswerable logic has brought friends and foes alike to enact vitally needed measures of government reform.

"His staunchest political adversaries concede the governor's unique and unparalleled record of constructive achievement in the total reorganization of the machinery of government, in the business-like management of the state finance, in the enactment of a legislative program for the protection of women and children engaged in industry, in the improvement of the public health, and in the attainment of the finest standard of public service in the interest of humanity. This he has accomplished by a personality of vibrant, many sided appeal which has swept along with it a legislature of a different political faith."

"As to the requisite of honesty, I do not mean an honesty that merely keeps a man out of jail, or an honesty that while avoiding personal smirch, hides the corruption of others. I speak of that honesty that demands faithfulness to the public trust in every public servant, that honesty which takes immediate action to correct abuse."

"The voting public of the nation is fully wise enough to compare the ethical standards of official Albany with those of official Washington. The soul of our country, lulled by ease, so long as the drivers and mechanics do not disturb our comfort. We must be concerned over our destination, not merely satisfied that the passing scenery is pleasant to the eye. We must be interested in whether that national destination be heaven or hell and not content that the man at the wheel has assured us that we shall there find a full bank account and a soft bed.

"In an era of the ready-made we must not accept ready-made government; in a day of high powered advertising we must not fall for the false statements of the most highly organized propaganda developed by the owners of the republican party. We do not want to change these United States, States of America into the United States, Incorporated," with limited and self-perpetuating boards of directors and
