Raskob, national chairman, that they are subject to his for any service within their power. George L. Berry of Tennessee, president of the International Printing Pressmen's union and one of the founders of the American Legion, also will attempt to undertake the organization of a national labor committee.

Washout Causes Cancellation of Trains Between Breckenridge and Cisco; Rains Aid Crops Greatly

Rail and highway traffic has been considerably interrupted by rains since Wednesday. The Texas and Pacific and Katy trains have been running nearly on time. In appreciable delays since Tuesday, when the Texas and Pacific fast eastbound train, Texan, was delayed several hours by a washout on the Western division around Big Spring. The Cisco and Eastland train has not fared so well. The train from Breckenridge failed to arrive Thursday night. All trains today on that road have been canceled, cutting off all connection with Breckenridge for the day, caused by washout between Parks and Breckenridge. Highway traffic was also held up several hours Wednesday on the Cisco-Breckenridge road, and the line schedule between Cisco and Breckenridge was canceled for today. This trouble was said to have been caused by high water. The Ranger, Fort Worth and Wichita Falls was also out of commission, according to reports reaching Cisco. Telephone service in Cisco was somewhat impaired. The lines to Humbleton have been out of commission, due to trouble in the cable. The local office reported that

LIFE-SAVING CLASSES TO START TODAY

With the water as clear as crystal, classes in life-saving instructions at the Lake Cisco Amusement Co. swimming pool, will commence this afternoon. Scheduled for Thursday, it was postponed on account of the rain. "These classes will be every evening from 6 to 7 o'clock, and will be free to all who care to learn something of the modern methods of life-saving in the water, as sponsored by the American Red Cross society," said J. E. Spencer, chairman of the Eastland county Red Cross chapter, at the Rotary luncheon Thursday. "These instructions will be of benefit to all, whether participating or merely lookers-on. Naturally those who take this life-saving course will be more benefited, as they will be instructed just how to save a person, if the emergency should arrive, as they will learn how it is done by doing, but the spectators will also be made acquainted with the most effective methods in saving life, in the easiest and most practical manner, by observation. These classes will meet every day until next Friday, the seniors in the evening, 6 to 7 o'clock, and the juniors every morning, to 10 o'clock, and will be free to all who care to enter. Friday, August 3, A. T. McCue, national life-saving instructor of the American Red Cross society, will be in Cisco to give the life-saving tests to those who care to take them."

BOYS SHAKE SCALES FOR PENNY; EXPLAIN IN COURT

A charge of damaging the scales in front of the Leach store filed against two Cisco boys was being investigated by Mayor Williamson today. The boys stated that they were weighing on the scales, but the penny failed to operate the machine, and they were merely shaking the penny loose. Both boys told the court that the scales were functioning this morning, and not damaged. The complaint was made by the night patrol, so the mayor continued the hearing till 6 o'clock this evening, when the night officer could be present. The mayor admonished the boys that destruction of property would not be tolerated.

Crude Oil Price Advance Affects All of State Except South Texas; General Business Gain Expected

Crude oil price advance, announced in Cisco Thursday by the Humble Oil & Refining Co., affects all fields in Texas, and is as follows for the production in the several fields, except South Texas: Ranger, North Texas, Mexico, Powell, Richland, Wortham, Lytle, Spring, Curry, Moran and Nocona.—Bacon gravity 25, 60 cents; for each degree above to 44 gravity, the price increases 5 cents. For 44 gravity and above, $1.76. It was stated this new price will boost prices in the Cisco fields three cents above old prices for all degrees of crude oil. Gray county crude—25 and below, 68 cents; 29.9, 75 cents, with five cents advance for each degree to 44 gravity. For 44 and above, $1.36. Wheeler county crude—Below 39 gravity, 65 cents; 39 to 39.9, 72 cents, with five cents advance on each degree to 44. For 44 and above, $1.46. Carson and Hutchinson county crude—32 and below, 69 cents, with five cents increase for each degree to 44 gravity. For 44 and above, $1.26. Crane, Upton, Crockett and Pecos county crude—All degrees, 63 cents, which is five cents advance over old prices. The increase, the first of consequence since the downward trend started some 18 months ago, is expected to quicken business and commercial life throughout the oil territory of West Texas. While amounting to only a few cents per barrel—in the "sweet oil" district the average increase is from 12 to 16 cents, slightly more in the Panhandle and only 3 cents per barrel in the West Texas Permian Basin—the aggregate addition to income of the oil districts of West and Central Texas is bulk large. Estimates based on average grades and current production put the increase in oil producers' income in these districts at more than $1,500,000 per month. Since this margin, in the areas of settled production represents a sum above actual operating costs, barely returned by the oil prices—it is expected to have a stimulating effect on general business channels in the district. An even larger benefit is expected to accrue from the psychological effect of the increase. This will apply to general business, as well as to the oil business in particular, for business generally in these districts feels the effect of the ups and downs of the oil producer. As for the oil business, the effect will come from the feeling that now, with the feeling of the depression of the past 18 months being reached, but an actual step taken toward recovery. The better feeling is expected to prove the deciding factor in many trades and transactions. Many oil producers expect the rise in price, small as it may be, to be a start toward recovery of the business, and a more commensurate return from the state's greatest resource.

CHAIR ASKED FOR WOMAN BASTROP

BASTROP, Texas, July 27.—The state today asked the electric chair for Mrs. Rosie Waybourne, on trial here for the murder of her husband, W. W. Waybourne, a retired railroad man. Mrs. Waybourne, a special prosecutor, transferred charge after charge against the woman in an attempt to cement the state's theory of a conspiracy between the woman and Hugo Middleton, also charged with her and the state's main witness.

West Ward School Passed on as Unsafe by Architect Who Had Nothing to Profit

Editor's Note: This article explains the steps in the building of the West Ward building as unsafe for the housing of Cisco's children, as written by Supt. J. J. Youngblood. Cisco property owners will be called upon Saturday to vote on the proposed bond issue of $50,000 for the construction of a new building to replace it.

By SUPT. J. J. YOUNGBLOOD.

In view of the fact that on July 28 the resident qualified property owners of the Cisco Independent School district will have an opportunity to express their desires relative to the question of issuing additional school bonds to the amount of $50,000, it seems to me that it is entirely appropriate for a few things to be said by way of explanation concerning the proposed bond issue.

Complaints against the West Ward building this year were begun by patrons of the school and not by members of the school board. The board knew that funds were short, and it was not anxious to undertake the task of trying to construct a new school building, but the members of the board as representatives of the patrons of the school district felt that it was their duty to take proper steps to inform themselves concerning the condition of the West Ward building. Hence they decided to have a competent architect inspect the building and make a report on same.

S. R. McCoy, architect for the state board of control, was asked to make the inspection. Mr. McCoy inspects the buildings at all of our State Teachers Colleges, at C. I. A. and at all other state institutions of higher learning except the University of Texas and the Agricultural and Mechanical college. He is responsible for making inspections of the state capitol at Austin, and he also inspects the buildings at all of our state elementary institutions. When public school systems call on him, he gives them his services for no remuneration except for expenses incurred by him in making the inspection.

Mr. McCoy has held his position during the administrations of several governors. Under these circumstances the school board felt that he was well qualified to make an inspection of the school buildings of the Cisco district.

In addition to the fact that Mr. McCoy was considered well qualified to make the inspection desired, the board was also mindful of the fact that he would not expect to be called upon to submit plans for a new building in the event the old building should be declared unsafe. It was thought by the board that he would be entirely free from any personal or selfish motives in regard to the matter. Of course, there are many excellent architects in private life who would have given honest reports on the condition of the building, but it would have been possible in their case for people to register the complaint that they were probably looking for a job in connection with the construction of a new building. In this connection, however, it may be stated that several local contractors and builders have inspected the building. They say it is in an unsafe condition. One local man who is considered to be an excellent builder and who is an entirely disinterested party as far as the construction of a new building is concerned, made an inspection of the building a short time before Mr. McCoy inspected it, and stated that if he had a child in the building he would take it out immediately.

A few people seem to be laboring under the erroneous impression that the state superintendent condemned the building. As a matter of fact, he has not been consulted about it. He does not attempt to pass on such matters. He is not an architect. Hence it is not correct to say that the state superintendent condemned the building because probably he had been led to believe that the people wanted it condemned. The man who did make the inspection was expected, of course, to give a fair and complete report on the condition of the building but he was advised concerning the financial condition of the school district before he made his report, and it was made clear to him that the school board was not seeking a chance to build another school building. In fact, the board was very anxious that the old building might be found to be in a safe condition.

The people of the district are familiar with the report that Mr. McCoy made on the building. He stated among other things that he considered the building to be very unsafe. He stated furthermore that members of the school board could not afford to take the responsibility of keeping innocent children in such a building. He advised that we should be extremely careful if we continued to use the building until the close of the past school year. However, the board, after serious consideration of the matter, decided not to continue to keep the children in the building, and they were moved out immediately.

The school board feels that it has done its duty by putting the situation squarely before the patrons of the school district. If the proposition is defeated on July 28, or if the election results favorably to the bond issue and the bonds are not approved by the attorney general on account of insufficient property valuations to care for the issue, the board will feel that the people of the district have assumed at least a part of the responsibility for keeping some 450 children wherever they may have to be placed during the next few years. If you are entirely satisfied for your child or your neighbor's child to be forced to attend school in the West Ward building, you will probably use your influence to defeat the bond issue. Otherwise you will probably support it. At any rate, the school board is anxious to have an expression on this matter from as many patrons of the district as possible. Do not fail to indicate your desires at the polls July 28.

TARIFF TREATY BETWEEN U. S. CHINA SIGNED

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The treaty annulling existing tariff treaties between the United States and China and substituting a complete tariff autonomy was signed in Peking Wednesday by the American minister, John V. A. MacMurray, and T. V. Soong, minister of finance in the Chinese nationalist government, the state department announced today.

Nationalists Are Elated.

PEKING, July 27.—The United States note offering to enter into a treaty and negotiations with the victorious nationalists and judging American aid in restoring Chinese tariff autonomy was regarded by the nationalists today as virtually de jure recognition. They said that the United States was the first world power to award such recognition. Publications of the communication caused a sensation in diplomatic circles, indicating that the United States had acted independently of the other powers.

CONSTABLE'S RACE QUIT BY 'TUB' WILSON

"Tub" Wilson, who announced as a candidate for constable of precinct No. 6, has withdrawn from the race, and is not a candidate. In fact he withdrew from the race some time ago, but through some misunderstanding he failed to notify the executive committee in time to keep his name off the official ballot. Wilson requests the Daily News to state that he deeply appreciates the support promised his candidacy, but as he is not a candidate, asks those to cast their votes for others who are in the race.

ROTARY CLUB IS PLEASED BY BLUE BONNET 3

DEL RIO TO BE 1929 HOST CITY TO SHEEPMEN

SAN ANGELO, July 27.—Selecting Del Rio for the 1929 meeting place and re-selecting T. A. Kincaid, Ozona, president, to serve his fifth consecutive term, delegates to the thirteenth annual convention of the Sheep and Goat Raisers' association faced the necessity of traveling ramdrenched roads to return to their homes as the convention closed Thursday.

Thirty-seven hundreds of an inch of rain fell Thursday morning, bringing the total to 1.32 inches for the week. It was an inconsequential rain that brought no discomfort, however, as ranchmen are jubilant over range prospects and are apparently pleased with prospects of remaining long after the convention's close.

Rogers Gilles, Del Rio, was elected vice president and V. A. Brown, Rockport, second vice president. The nomination of Kincaid was placed by Julius Real, the only Republican in the Texas senate.

Brady was nominated for the 1929 meeting place by Sam McCullum. Then Judge C. C. Beicher presided with the ranchmen to return the convention to its month-old city, Del Rio, where the association was organized 13 years ago. The vote was 89 for Del Rio and 52 for Brady.

SIMPLIFICATION.

RRPA set out to make a list of all the prohibitions. It would be about the size of a book with their millions of prohibitions, making of a face at somebody's sister's baby.

Our law-makers have tried to put down and white every tiny detail of everything that is considered unlawful, our legal affairs are so up and confused with technicalities and red tape that many times equity and human justice cannot be arrived at. You can't see the trees for the woods.

"Can the state prove that the murdered girl knew that she was dying when she testified who shot her?" No, the state cannot prove that fact. All right. That throws out the dying girl's testimony, and turns the murderer loose, or gives him a couple of years when he should have had a couple of shocks.

We have often wondered why justice is not measured by the command "Love thy neighbor as thyself." Why are all these multitudinous angles and cross-angles? Why shouldn't judges and juries decide cases by the simple gauge of right and wrong as laid down by the greatest of law-givers?

"Love thy neighbor as thyself?" What violation of law, civil or criminal is not covered by that one regulation? Why shouldn't that single test be applied to every case before the bar of justice? "Love thy neighbor as thyself."

Was the defendant loving his neighbor as himself when he made an ugly face at somebody's sister's baby and made it cry? Was he loving his neighbor as himself when he killed the president of the United States? Was he loving his neighbor as himself when he stole the people's money? Was he loving his neighbor as himself when he went by the hospital at eighty miles an hour with his cutout open and his horn torturing the ether?

Is it necessary to have all these intricate statutes of minute provisions and dead-wood and snares that trip up or hamper the most astute, when there is one simple law that the simplest mind can comprehend? Has the man loved his neighbor as himself? Has the woman loved her neighbor as herself? That is the question, Gentlemen of the Jury. That is the question, Your Honor. And the question should not be hard to answer.

"FIRES HURT ALL BUSINESS."

"In the present economic scheme of things," says the Modern Fire Chief, "we live in a very closely-knit and interrelated world. Cooperation is the basis of our economic order, which is affected and regulated by a very intricate system of exchange. Each of us can enjoy success in the long run, only as long as the whole system of things prospers. Because of this cooperative interdependence any waste of labor or capital affects each of us. Knowing this to be true, why do we Americans so complacently regard our annual fire loss as a matter of course—something that only affects those who suffer a fire? What a fallacy it is to believe that the effects of a fire are limited to the factory or the building or the home that is destroyed! What happens when an industrial plant burns? Production ceases, and when work stops, men naturally are thrown out of work. When work ceases, salaries and wages cease. Perhaps it soon becomes necessary to draw out the savings accounts and the like. Only the absolute necessities of life are purchased. The buying power of the people is lessened." The public should realize that our tremendous annual direct fire loss of nearly $60,000,000 is but a small part of an incalculable total. The indirect loss in wages, business, time and employment is a great additional burden that must be borne by all of us, and which is not insured.

PLAIN TOMBSTONES.

The ornate and sentimental tombstone has gone, a "memorial craftsman" remarks, along with other examples of Victorian art. No longer are stones carved with angels, olive branches, doves, wreaths and miscellaneous emblems of woe or hope, and covered with amateur elegies or verses from scripture. Simplicity and severity rule. Usually the grave stones are plain markers bearing only the name and age of the departed. Thus artistic taste reveals itself in the cemetery as well as the home, church, office and hotel. It is a part of the esthetic development now making rapid progress in America. Simplicity is always good taste, and an infallible rule for the doubtful or inept in any sort of art. It is easier and safer to omit ornamentations than to add it. Ugly homes and furniture of the last generation are often made handsome, or at least endurable, by the simple process of taking off everything removable. That is because it used to be thought that art was something added to a thing after it was made. People understand better now that beauty and grace are basic, depending mainly on structural form and line. Good architecture, for example, makes the framework beautiful in its proportions, and then doesn't have to stick foolish ornaments all over the building in a futile effort to cover up defects of plan. To come back to tombstones—what is the most beautiful monument in America? By general agreement, the Washington monument, an absolutely plain obelisk.

AUTOMOTIVE GOOD WILL.

An entertaining variation from the "good will flights" is a recent exchange of good will by France and Germany. The vehicles chosen for this purpose are of historic interest. The love-feast was started by the visit to Paris of Berlin's oldest "cabby," Gustave Hartman, in a cab of very ancient vintage. It was returned by a visit of a French chauffeur in a vehicle of truly monumental age—a Peugeot motor car made in 1889. It seems incredible that there was an automobile in the world so long ago as that, and still more incredible that it should still be able to run. It did run, contributing to the gaiety of nations. A long procession of luxurious modern cars rolled out from Berlin to meet the new-comer, but fled in dismay when it appeared. The old wreck emitted such a Vesuvian cloud of smoke and smell that they didn't dare line up with it in the expected parade. It developed that this was not the car's fault, exactly; the chauffeur had been called back to Paris by family sickness, and the newspaper correspondents were operating it. The Peugeot-Vesuvius, otherwise dubbed Locarno, smoked its way down Unter den Linden, while thousands cheered. This demonstration was probably as effective as any other. It is as good as a statesman's Peace of Locarno for the people of two rival countries to have a good laugh together.

Regardless of party affiliations, the public is grateful to both presidential nominees for recent conspicuous good sense—to Hoover for refusing to kiss babies for publicity purposes, and to Smith for refusing to pose for "baloney" pictures.

THE LUCKY RURALS.

A recent survey made in Missouri shows that every community having a population of more than 700 in that state is provided with electric lights and telephones. There are 175 villages of but 250 population which have electric service, and 211 with telephone service. Contrasting the modern small town with that of 25 years ago and less, shows what American industrial initiative has done to improve living conditions. The day of isolated communities, living apart from the world of ideas and affairs and action, is past. Where once dwellers in rural sections had but the bare necessities, and none of the comforts and luxuries of life, they are now provided with almost all that once belonged exclusively to the cities. Now the small town citizen and the modern farmer is as far removed from the life of his father and grandfather's time as they were from Neolithic man. Industry has given the country-dweller a complete and enviable civilization.

RAILROADS PROMOTE SAFETY.

During the past eight years American railroads have spent $323,701,000 of new capital for safety purposes. All but $22,395,000 of this has been spent voluntarily without orders from any commission. The railroads have shown themselves eminently fitted to promote safety and prevent accidents. In the past few years continuous, undeviating progress has been made with the result that the present accident rate is the lowest in history. A branch of a great road recently established a record by operating 195 days without a reportable accident, and during 1927 an important line transported over 10 million passengers an average of 107.59 miles each, without a fatality due to a train accident. Other lines have made equally admirable progress.

It takes all kinds of amusements to make a summer vacation. Among them is education. There are 14,000 people spending their vacation, for instance, in studying at Columbia University.

A SOUND BUSINESS ATTITUDE.

At a recent meeting of the chamber of commerce of the United States expressed a sound and progressive business attitude. One of the resolutions adopted is especially admirable, and should be the viewpoint of every American citizen who wishes to see our prosperity increase and our national character made stronger and more unified. "The very essence of civilization," it said, "is that there shall be placed upon the individual, only that degree of restraint which will prevent his encroachment upon the rights of others, thus releasing to the utmost individual initiative in every proper direction. Our form of government most efficiently expresses and maintains this principle. Within our basic law exists ample provision for such changes as may from time to time be necessary to safeguard our people. It is therefore essential that our government should scrupulously refrain from entering any of the fields of transportation, communication, industry, and commerce, or any phase of business, when it can be successfully undertaken and conducted in the public interest by private enterprise. Any tendency of government to enter such fields should be carefully weighed in the light of its possible effect upon the very genius of our institutions." The chamber of commerce is to be complimented on adding its voice to the chorus of informed and scientifically progressive opinion.

STATE TREASURY SETS JULY RECEIPT RECORD
 AUSTIN, July 27.—State Treasurer W. Gregory Hatcher reported Thursday that treasury receipts for the day reached $1,521,900—a new high mark for a single day in July.
 The greater portion of this sum represents collections of the 3 cent gasoline tax, three-fourths of which goes to the highway funds and one-fourth of which goes to the school fund. Hatcher returned a two-day tour in the upper Rio Grande Valley in his campaign for re-election, and left tonight for Fort Worth, from where he will go to Dallas to vote Saturday.

WHY DON'T YOU BANISH THOSE UNSIGHTLY PIMPLES?
 It is foolish to go on enduring the embarrassment of a pimply face or the suffering of eczemic torment when relief can be so easily obtained.
 Go to your druggist, ask for Black and White Ointment, use it according to directions and banish those unsightly skin blemishes. It is pleasant to use, highly beneficial and scientifically safe.
 For best results use Black and White Skin Soap with Black and White Ointment. All dealers sell them at small cost.

GLORIOUS BETSY
NOVELIZED BY
ARLINE DE HAAS

Copyright 1925, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"GLORIOUS BETSY," starring Dolores Costello, is a Warner Bros. production of this novel. Based on the play by Rida Johnson Young.

SYNOPSIS
Five men are seated around a table at the old Sweet Springs Inn, playing an all-night card game. Down is breaking. A stranger, wearing the inn has stopped outside the open casement, attracted by the play of a wineglass within. He looks for a moment, taking in the scene before him. Four of the players in the room are beginning to take stock of their winnings, arranging the gold in neat piles. The fifth, Preston, slays them suddenly with the mumbled words: "Wait a minute. I'm not through yet. Get me more stable to play."

CHAPTER I—Continued
He was fumbling about beside the basin of his voluminous white shirt, his head drooping languidly. At last he drew forth a small case, pressed a spring, and the tiny oval box opened. He stared at the contents for a few moments with unseeing eyes, and then threw the object out on the table, face up. The other players leaned across the board and then they spoke.
"Phew!" one of them draw his breath with a sharp intake. "Betsy, pattern!"
The others nodded and examined the cards closely the delicate mistake about with tiny diamonds.
"Egad! I'll risk anything for that!" another exclaimed, getting ing each move of his victim, forcing the victim to play, and yet never allowing him any opening to return the blows. With vicious little strokes he kept up this annoying game, quacking himself with an ease and striking with a surety that held the onlookers spellbound.

Now with quicker, shorter strokes the school teacher was forcing his way. With each thrust he took a short step. With each step he was driving his opponent more surely into a corner. Diagonally across the room the two went, Preston watching for an opportunity to break through the other's guard; the other watching that no such opportunity came to his antagonist. Quicker! Quicker! Until the clashing steel struck sparks backward! Backward! Until Preston was in the opposite corner and forced to defend himself under those relentless strokes raining on his steel, allowing him no opportunity to do more than guard himself.
But a moment. And then with a sudden slash of his sword the steel dashed and the man in black struck. Preston's weapon went hurtling through the air, quivered for an instant as it struck into the floor in the opposite corner and then dropped with a dull thud. Preston seized the wrist of his sword arm with a sudden, spasmodic gesture, and his face went white, and his lips compressed.
The man in black rested, stepping back.
Then as Preston's friends rushed to him the school teacher darted toward the table. He flung his sword across a chair and bent over the miniature that rested so complacently in the center of the board, the silent cause of all the trouble. Then he picked up the portrait, closed the case and placed it carefully in his pocket. With a smile he drew a heavy purse from another pocket and held it up, shaking it.
"Monseur!" He commanded the attention of Preston, whose friends dropped back. "In payment for that which you seem to value much less highly than I." He bowed low, clicking his heels together, and tossed the purse on the table. With another bow he stepped towards the window, over the casement and out.
Preston stared after the departing figure and turned to his friends. "A school teacher!" one of them gasped. "And he easily defeats the best swordsman in Virginia."

FOR SALE—ONE "USED HUSBAND"

That's the remarkable proffer which Mrs. Janet Quittner (above) with her husband is alleged to have made to Mrs. Esther Feldman Beck (lower below) according to papers in a $30,000 heart balm suit instituted by Mrs. Quittner against Mrs. Beck. The latter denies the charge, saying that plaintiff came to her and said: "If you pay me $10,000, you can have my husband for your husband."

BRECKENRIDGE CREEK FALLING AFTER THREAT

BRECKENRIDGE, July 27.—Gonzales creek, on a rampage all afternoon, began to fall early Thursday night. The creek, coursing through the heart of the town, rose bank full, the overflow sweeping property estimated at several thousands of dollars before it. Small houses were moved from their foundations, steel storage tanks rolled down stream, livestock were driven to higher grounds and water rose in many of the plants and railroad yards of the industrial district. Debris were used in saving household effects and supply houses had large crews salvaging what they could from their yards. The creek passes just east of the business district, where a viaduct has been constructed across it and which was crowded with thousands during the afternoon, who were watching the water rise, coming down from points south around Parks.

PELLAGRA EXPERT SEES TREATMENT CONDUCTED

ALEXANDRIA, La., July 27.—Surgeon Joseph Goldberger of the United States Public Health Service, an expert in pellagra, visited the Central Louisiana Hospital for the Insane here Wednesday and conferred with Dr. J. N. Thomas, superintendent. He found the treatment of 16 pellagrous insane by cases being properly conducted. Dr. Goldberger left Wednesday night for New Orleans, and a conference with Dr. Oscar Dowling, president of the State Health board.

UNION AIR-RAIL DEPOT IS PLAN OF WICHITANS

WICHITA, July 27.—"Get right out of your airplane, Mister! Your Pullman leaves the union air passenger station in five minutes for the coast," field employees of the new municipal airport will be telling Eastern business men making a hurried call to the Pacific coast, soon, according to indications here.
It will be with a mingled air of pride and exultation that Wichita has completed what promises to be the most modern airport in the country, that these employees will give the commands to the hurried businessmen. The new municipal port under construction is the crowning work of the untiring efforts of an enlightened city administration, backed by an enthusiastic citizenry, in an effort to make the city as important as the terminal point for transcontinental air traffic as it has become in the manufacture of the airplanes themselves.
The new airport will have the unique feature of a union station for the air passengers and for transfer to the Santa Fe railway's line to the coast.

The National Air Transit company and the Transcontinental Air Transit company officials view this added Pullman service afforded by the Santa Fe, pioneering as it is in the matter, as a needed service. Many of the passengers from the East do not care to make the entire trip to the coast by air. Rather than await the departure of the company's planes the following morning, many prefer to make the trip over the mountains by trains, the officials claim.

MASTER WOLF FALLS PREY TO U. S. TRAPPER

CROSS PLAINS, July 27.—The master wolf of all the wild rovers of his species in this part of the country was captured by the federal trapper, E. Bromow, a few nights ago. This trapper has worked the past two months over a varied range of the timbered section south and southwest of Cross Plains, and this shy old beast which has eluded all efforts for his capture for the past five years, was caught in a steel trap on the north side of the Harrell ranch. Two residents of that community, W. C. Pinkston and Albert Conlee, report that this wolf alone has been a source of destruction to them of nearly one hundred dollars each, turkeys being the principal loss. This wolf, as indicated by its teeth, was probably seven years old, and in the twelfth of its kind called the gray wolf in this locality, but classed by the government as the red wolf, captured by Mr. Bromow up to the first of this week. He states that there are many more wolves in the Harrell ranch section, and he will probably capture all of them before entering other territory. The examination, which the government requires to be made by the official trapper, revealed that this wolf had been devouring sheep, goats and turkeys.

527 STATIONS LICENSED BY RADIO BOARD

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The federal radio commission Thursday renewed until September 1 the licenses of 527 stations, revoked the licenses of 26 and accepted the voluntary surrender of broadcasting rights from four other transmitters. The remaining 123 in the nation's broadcasting band of 680 stations were included in the commission's order dated May 25, which provided for termination of 162 transmitters on August 1 as not justified by "public interest, convenience, or necessity." Representatives of the 123 stations have appeared at hearings to refute this finding, and judgment on their cases was deferred until August 1. The 36 revoked licenses, also were found unwarranted in the commission's order but these stations failed to appeal the decision. One station, WFLB, at New York City, which gave up its license voluntarily to clear the tangled situation, did not come under the commission's disapproval. The other withdrawals, stations WJMB, Cambridge, Mass.; WJAX, Chicago, and KOKS, Maryland, Ore., had been notified to show cause for their continued existence or stop sending. The usual period for these extensions is 60 days and the one-month extension in the present case is taken as an indication that the long-awaited publication plan of the commission will be ready on September 1.

South Carolina Lady Then Tried Cardui and Says She Noticed Remarkable Improvement.

Anderson, S. C.—"I suffered a long long time, before I tried Cardui, and my only regret is that I did not know about it sooner," says Mrs. Lillie Pruitt, 133 "K" Street, this city.

"I was badly run down in health. My nerves went to pieces, and I had to go to bed. I was not able to do my house work for many months. I got so bad off, I could not bear to leave anybody walk across the floor of my room. The least little thing upset me. Sometimes I became hysterical. I had had pains in my back and sides, and my head and limbs would take spasms of aching which almost set me wild.

"One day I was reading and I saw where a woman, who had a trouble like my own, had been relieved by Cardui. I decided at once to try it, so I began on a course of the 'Home Treatment.'

"It began to help me from the very first. I took Cardui regularly for several months, and my improvement was so remarkable, that my family and friends were delighted.

"Cardui has no equal in my opinion. I gladly recommend it to others.

CHURCH CENSUS SHOWS 55,000,000 MEMBERS

Catholics Have Total of 18,604,000, While Other Denominations Number 37,396,000; Methodists and Jews Next

WASHINGTON, July 27.—There were approximately 55,000,000 church members in the United States in 1926, including the 18,604,000 members of the Roman Catholic church. The Catholic tabulation was announced by the census bureau.

Churches of all denominations own buildings and equipment worth approximately four billion dollars, and their expenses for 1926 ran well above $900,000,000.

At the last religious census, in 1916, the bureau enumerated 41,900,000 church members, who owned property worth $1,676,000,000 and had annual expenses of $328,000,000. The figures are not strictly comparable, however, since denominations with a membership of about 5,000,000 were not reported in the 1916 enumeration.
