PARIS, Aug. 3.—Majors Louis Idzikowski and Casimir Kubala, Polish army fliers, hopped from Le Bourget field here at 12:09 o'clock, New York time, this morning for New York. Their plane, the Marzialek Pilsudski, carries 1,200 gallons of fuel, enough for a 3,600 mile non-stop flight. It is an Amiot metal biplane, powered by a 650 horsepower motor. The ship has a 63 foot wing spread and a cruising speed of 100 miles an hour.

Leaves Coast of France. Lorient, France, Aug. 3.—The Marzialek Pilsudski was reported out over the Atlantic ocean at 8:10 o'clock, Paris time, this morning, according to a local wireless station. The naval prefecture later announced that the coastal vessel Penguin had sighted a white airplane 600 feet in the air 60 miles northeast of here. It is believed to be the Polish plane.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Captain Frank Courtney's trans-Atlantic seaplane, the Whale, forced down by fire during an attempted flight yesterday from the Azores islands to Newfoundland, has been abandoned at sea, according to a radiogram from the liner Cedric to the Evening News this afternoon. Courtney and his companions are safely aboard the liner Minnewaska, enroute to New York.

A Cisco woman transplants nature's beauties in West Texas desert lands, said Mrs. M. I. Tarrant, who has just returned from a visit to Mrs. F. H. Shink, in the Yates-Pecos field, where Mrs. Shink recently moved from Cisco to join her husband, who is assistant foreman for the Humble Pipe Line Co. Mrs. Shink is a great lover of flowers, and enjoys having plants and grass growing in her yard, as was demonstrated by the beauties of nature that could be seen at her home in Cisco. Removing to the arid country of West Texas at Iran, she carried her ideas of flowers and verdure with her, but received no encouragement from those who had preceded her to that section, as she was told that nothing green could be grown there. This discouragement failed to stop her efforts to prove the contrary to be true, and as a result Mr. Tarrant said that Mrs. Shink's yard was a marvel of beauty in the many flowers growing on the premises, surrounded by a grassy lawn of verdant greenness. Mrs. Tarrant said it was the only green spot she had seen in that camp, as there was not anything green growing in any other yard. Mr. Shink was recently transferred to the Yates-Pecos pool from Cisco, where he was also with the Humble Pipe Line Co.

Big Bill Thompson's resignation in Chicago has been further complicated by the sudden resignation of "Go Get 'Em" Hughes, the rough and ready chief of police who accompanied him into office. Hughes' failure to run down gangsters who killed Assistant State's Attorney William H. McSwiggan caused the convening of a special crime and jury in Chicago.

GOLDTHWAITE MAN HELD FOR GIRL'S DEATH

GOLDTHWAITE, Aug. 3.—Bert Mayfield, of Indian Gap, who was arrested Thursday morning at Hamilton, was formally charged with the murder of Miss Ruby Osborne, which brought to this city by Sheriff Carl Bledsoe and Deputy Owen Priddy. Mayfield waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to await the action of the grand jury and bond was set at $1,500. The Osborne girl was found unconscious on the Pecos belt highway at midnight ten days ago and died in a hospital here. Motorists who found her lying at the side of the road thought she had fallen or had been thrown out of an automobile. She did not make a statement, never having regained consciousness. She had been last seen about an hour before, at a carnival show here.

MRS. F. A. SPEARS, QUITE ILL, IS GROWING WEAKER

The condition of Mrs. F. A. Spears, mother of Alex Spears, was reported less favorable today, as it was stated that she is gradually growing weaker. Mrs. Spears, 82, has been ill for the past month and while she does not apparently suffer it appears that the ravages of years are gradually sapping the vitality of a long and useful life. She has been making her home with her son for the past year.

Never Throw Child into Water to Make It Learn to Swim, Is Advice of Red Cross Instructor

Never throw a child into the water to make him learn to swim. That is the advice of A. T. McCue, field representative of the American Red Cross who opened a course in lifesaving instruction here today under the auspices of the Eastland county chapter of the Red Cross. "The idea that the child will learn to swim like that because he thinks he will drown if he does not is entirely wrong," McCue said. "The child may manage to scramble to the bank without aid but a fear of water is instilled in him that may last for life. I have known adults who could hardly conquer that fear put into them by foolish but well-meaning parents."

The lifesaving courses are not conducted by the Red Cross for the purpose of training lifeguards, McCue said. Some of the persons taking the course become lifeguards but that is a secondary consideration with the Red Cross. "What the Red Cross wants to do is to teach individuals how to take care of themselves in the water and by other means where emergency may arise," McCue said. "If some of those we teach follow the course up and specialize in lifeguard work that is their doing and not ours."

With the building of regular swimming pools at which lifeguards are stationed the number of drownings is decreasing rapidly, he said. A drowning at a pool where lifeguards are stationed is almost unheard of now. The fatalities are nearly always in streams of water which are not supervised and among persons who have only a scanty knowledge of swimming, if any, he said.

Statistics show that the majority of persons drowned are men between the ages of 15 and 25 years. "They are most guilty of the crime of carelessness," McCue said. "Death for that reason, takes a heavy toll among them. Forty-five per cent of the victims of drowning are between these ages."

"Fear attacks the inexperienced swimmer, frequently causing him to lose his life within sight and hearing of companions," he continued. "Parents instill a fear of the water in children that often results fatally when they are put on their own. A large percent of the drownings occur within 20 feet of shore, a fact which in most cases is explained by fear."

Cramping or extremely weakened condition cause the only deaths among experienced swimmers. The only advice to practiced swimmers is that even they should not trust themselves alone and that they should judge their swimming capabilities by physical condition at the time they are swimming, not by past performance.

The death rate by drowning has decreased rather than increased during the last few years, McCue said. "Considering the much greater number of people who seek the water than in former years the toll by drowning has materially decreased," he said. "Greater emphasis on swimming and a safer view of the sport explained the decrease."

COMMERCIAL SECRETARIES' ASSOCIATION IS ENLARGED

At the meeting of the Heart of Texas Commercial Secretaries' association at Ballinger, Wednesday the organization was increased by the admission of Taylor and Tom Green counties, said Secretary Peters of the Cisco chamber of commerce on his return from the meeting.

This association has very little general business to transact," Peters said, "as it is merely for the purpose of assembling of the commercial secretaries who are members of the organization, where they discuss their problems, most of which are of local interest, and for the purpose of formulating a program of general work." New officers were elected Wednesday when J. D. Motley, of Ballinger, was made president; Wayne C. Hickey, of Ranger, first vice president, and Carl Blassig, of Brady, was elected secretary-treasurer. Peters was appointed to formulate a program of work for the next year. The secretaries were luncheon guests of the Ballinger Rotary club.

BRECKENRIDGE CATHOLICS TO LOSE PASTOR

BRECKENRIDGE, Aug. 3.—Rev. Jos. G. O'Donohue, pastor of the Sacred Heart Catholic church, has been transferred by the bishop of Dallas to the parish of Sherman, Texas. While this is a promotion for Father O'Donohue it comes as a great surprise to the members of the congregation for he has been their pastor for only a little over eight months and it is with deep regret that they see him take his departure from them. Sunday will be his last day here. Services will be in the church at 8 o'clock Sunday morning and Sunday evening from 8 to 10 a forenoon reception will be held for him in the Rectory for members of the congregation and friends under the auspices of the Catholic Daughters of America Court Mary A. Drake. Father O'Donohue said "although I came here as a rank stranger last November, I feel as if I had known the good people of Breckenridge always for they took me right into their hearts and refused to let me remain a stranger. I appreciate the many acts of kindness and courtesy shown me while here and in leaving I shall take with me the happy memory of the wonderful spirit of the people of this big hearted and broadminded city. My stay in Breckenridge will always be a beautiful memory in my life and I want to express my appreciation to the many friends I have made while here. The business men, the merchants, the doctors, the teachers, the chamber of commerce, the Lions club and the members of my own congregation."

He laughed but refused to comment when informed that Colonel Theodore Roosevelt declared that George Peck, Illinois farm leader, misrepresented rather than represented the farmers.

PEACEFUL JAPAN.

Of the dozen powers that are expected to sign the American treaty "repudiating war as an instrument of policy," Japan is the only one agreeing to accept it without reservations.

Europe has learned only too well the American lesson of reservations in practical detail, while agreeing in principle. Japan does not argue or define or note exceptions. She takes the treaty apparently in spirit and letter as our state department offers it.

This situation calls for no criticism of the European powers. They have their own domestic, regional and international reasons for stating their proposition as they have done. They have assumed obligations to their own people and each other which they are obliged to fulfill, and they naturally want to make it clear that they are not violating or signing away those obligations.

But the Japanese position is pleasing because it gives new evidence of Japan's sincere desire for peace with the United States. The relations of these two countries have changed much for the better.

PREPAREDNESS.

One of the men who circled the world in 23 days makes a remark showing it was not luck which was the determining factor, nor even human endurance. He is speaking of the travel charts carried on the trip. "We worked until 3 or 4 o'clock every morning for several months on these charts," he says, "and I think there was more preparation on them than for most other flights. I knew every 15 minutes of the trip just where every star and point was." They worked for many months, day and night, to save hours when the test came—incidentally, too, to save lives. Some of the aviators and explorers who have dared greatly and come to grief trusted too much to luck and resourcefulness and too little to careful, patient preparation. Commander Byrd, outfitting his Antarctic expedition, is a good example of the polar explorer taking the same pains in his field, and accordingly will probably come through without failure and tragedy. "Are you sure there's enough depth here to anchor?" a worried guest asked a good yachtsman as they entered a strange harbor after a long run. "If I hadn't known the depth here before I started, I wouldn't have started," the yachtsman replied.

There ought to be a good market in Hollywood for that telescope that will magnify a star a million times.

A RECORD BREAKING EDITOR.

Harry Hammond is a name every publisher of a country weekly or smaller city daily newspaper should remember. For 22 years he has published the Byron Times at Byron, California. It is not too much to say that during this time he has been the greatest driving force in agricultural development in the back of San Francisco, California. Each two years a special edition, the "Special," consists of 234 pages, printed on fine book paper for a dollar a copy and 1. The cost of preparing the current issue exceeded $13,000. Editor Hammond has done what many claim is impossible—publish a successful country weekly which issues the finest special edition in the United States, within 50 miles of a great metropolitan district comprising some million population. Such a situation is supposed to "kill" a country newspaper. Hammond has demonstrated just the opposite. He has a better paper and a better business than most of the publishers in metropolitan areas anywhere in the United States. He does this by boosting industries, agricultural development and enthralling the public about the territory in which he lives. It is a pleasure to recount the record of the Byron Times, for in unselfish work for community development, Mr. Hammond has brought success to his own publication and has added to the dignity and standing of the smaller town daily and weekly newspaper in all parts of the United States.

OIL ENTERING NEW ERA.

The oil industry is making a determined cooperative effort to find a solution for its problems as an industry. It is entering into a new era. The old hit-and-miss days are forever in the past. Recent years have seen unprecedented progress made in the science and method of producing oil and its many by-products. In conjunction with this has come a progressive business attitude on the part of the heads of the industry that places oil on a sound economic plane. Seventy years ago the oil industry consisted of a 69-foot well that cost $2,000. Since then 700,000 wells have been drilled, and the investment is estimated at about $11,000,000,000. Last year 24,143 wells were drilled. This tremendous growth naturally resulted in a certain amount of waste, confusion, duplication of operation and excessive competition. Yet the public has always had an unflinching oil service at a low price, due to executive competency. As the cooperative movement takes form, this great industry, second only to agriculture and the railroads in investment, gains still more stability, waste is eliminated, and the public is served economically and efficiently.

LIVING COMFORT.

Recent statistics show that gas fuel serves the immense total of 52,000,000 persons in the United States, though almost nine million stoves, 3,400,000 water heaters, 4,400,000 space heaters and several hundred thousand central heating systems. The great increase in household gas use in the future will be in these central heating systems. Its development in this direction has barely begun, and since 1919 is said to have gained 2,000 per cent. The evolution of gas is another milestone on the road leading to greater living comfort.

Couldn't Read It

By WICKES WAMBOLDT

Six months ago a man called on me and solicited my patronage. I didn't want anything in his line at the time, but I told him to leave his telephone number and I would give him a ring the first time I could do anything for him. A few days ago I saw where I could throw some business that man's way, so I fished up the slip on which he had written his telephone number, but nobody could read it. Everyone in the house took turns trying to decipher the hieroglyphics that chap had put down on that piece of paper. Finally I called the number and was unanimously conceded to look most like. There was no such number. Then I called another number somebody said it looked like, and another and another. There were no such numbers, or they were not party lines, which the number I was looking for was, and which was the only point I was sure about. I became convinced I couldn't locate that chap and gave the business to someone else.

What is the use of a fellow's going to school and studying writing and then writing so that no one can read it? Some folks are under the impression that just because they scribble something down and they themselves can decipher it, everybody else can make it out, too.

If you have anything to do with correspondence that comes into a business office you are forever noting consultations about what some inscription on a sheet of paper stands for.

I walked into a friend's office one day. He was sitting at his desk studying a bill which had been made out by hand. "I have had that thing three months," said my friend, "and I have never been able to pay it. I can't make out the fellow's address, so I can't send him a check and he doesn't come around for his money."

One of the greatest difficulties that confronts the person who receives a wide variety of letters is making out the names signed thereto. Hours and hours thus are wasted; tempers and tempers thus are ruffled; patience upon patience thus is exhausted. If one cannot write one's name so it can be read, then one should have one's name printed in type or by hand. Once I received in the mail an envelope on the front of which the sender had pasted my signature cut from the bottom of my letter. He couldn't read my writing so he had passed the buck to Uncle Sam. When I looked at what I had written I couldn't blame him. After that if I wasn't using a letterhead with my name on it, I always had my name typed under my signature.

DEMOCRATIC LEADER IN MAINE TO BACK HOOVER

AUGUSTA, Me., Aug. 3.—William R. Putnam, who until his appointment as associate justice of the Maine supreme court two years ago was the outstanding leader of the Democratic party in Maine, will support Governor Smith for the nomination in the Republican state and national tickets in this year's elections. In a statement he announced that he agreed with his wife, Mrs. Gertrude M. Putnam, for nine years a member of the Democratic national committee, who last week announced that she would support Governor Smith for the nomination because of his stand on prohibition and also would not support Maine's Democratic candidate for Governor.

FIRST KANSAS CAPITOL

FORT RILEY, Kan., Aug. 2.—Kansas' first capitol at Pawnee was dismantled Thursday except for a cleanup squad following the dedication ceremony which was attended by 10,000 persons. The building in which the first legislature of the territory of Kansas convened will be maintained as a memorial by the Kansas State Historical society. After being neglected for almost three-quarters of a century, the old capitol, its roof gone and its walls in disrepair, was restored by the Union Pacific railroad and presented to the state.

ROMANCE ISN'T DEAD—QUITE

Maybe George D. Noebeling, Greenwich Village habitue and scion of wealthy Philadelphia family, is a throwback to the age of chivalry—or something. At any rate he fought a duel for his "lady fair" and then tried to take his life because he couldn't get a job as an actor. The lady in question, Billy Netcong, is pictured consulting him in Knickerbocker Hospital, whether he was taken after leaping 75 feet to the hard pavement in Morningside Park. He's going to recover, marry Bill and live happily ever after.

WOMEN'S PAINS. Which This Georgia Lady Took on Her Mother's Advice. Columbus, Ga.—"I don't see what women will drag around in a hurried way, never feeling very nearly able to drag when they might help put them on their feet as it did me," says Mrs. O. Hunter, of this city. "I suffered with dreadful pain on my sides. I had to go to bed and stay sometimes two weeks at a time. I could not work, and I dragged around the house. "I got very thin. I went from a hundred and twenty-six pounds down to less than a hundred. "My mother had long been a user of Cardui, and she knew what a good medicine it was for this trouble. So she told me to get some and take it. "I went to the store for Cardui, and before I had taken the first bottle I began to improve. My mother said, 'I told you so, it's a voice of health. I took the second bottle and felt much better. I followed this by two more bottles. "Cardui acted as a time tonic, so I do not feel like the same person. I am well now, and still gain weight. My sides do not trouble me at all. Give it a trial. My father, who is a doctor, has regarded Cardui as a potent medicine of all ailments of the female sex. It cures my ailment, Remittent and Bilious Fever due to Malaria. It kills the Germs."

"Horrors!" Miss Massenbird sank back into the nearest chair and began searching for her smelling salts. "Oh, dear! Oh, dear! To think that things should ever come to such a pass." She sniffed her salts violently and fanned herself with the little black fan that she kept in her "indispensable" for just such emergencies. And, thanks to Betty, she sniffs and the fan were kept in fairly constant use.

ONE PIECE DRESS A LEADING NOVELTY
PARIS, Aug. 3.—The one-piece frock which is really made truly cut in just one piece is the leading novelty of the late summer collections which are now being shown. It is a true Paris invention.

It is easy enough to produce something chic with gorges, flounces, etc., when they are all joined by seams. But to just use one length of material for the whole creation is a feat worth writing about. One of the most striking of these one-piece models comes in white crepe with bands of yellow, red and black intercrusted upon it in the fold-over top which reminds one a bit of the old Greek tunic. Below this comes expert draping which produces the slender girle effect, the skirt falling in a soft fold at the left side. The sleeves with three little bands of color at the cuff are really the only separate pieces of the frocks.

Nicole Groult is now making a lovely one-piece creation in supple red crepe. There are varied pieces that wind about the figure and drape into long separate points giving the frock both chic and shape. One cannot tell where they begin or end but they come from the one long length of fabric. The side effect is a veritable problem in solid geometry which, however, does not prevent it from being extremely chic.

Rev. S. J. Vaughan, Late Leader of West Texas Methodism, Eulogized in Funeral Sermon by Fellow Minister

High tribute was paid by Rev. P. T. Stanford to the late Rev. S. J. Vaughan, former presiding elder and pastor of the First Methodist church of Cisco, in the funeral sermon at that church Thursday afternoon. Rev. Vaughan died at his home here Tuesday evening from heart disease.

"Brother Vaughan was reared in a religious atmosphere. His home was a house of prayer," Rev. Stanford said. "His parents made it a place of high thinking and noble living. For 50 years his father was an itinerant Methodist preacher. At the age of nine years he gave God his heart and his father his hand and joined the Methodist church. He was licensed to preach at the age of 19. In 1880 he was admitted to trial into the Northwest Texas conference. He ably served God and the people in the following places as pastor: Granbury, Whit Jackson, Breckenridge, Moody, Granbury, Hutto, Round Rock, Colorado, Mineral Wells and Merkt; presiding elder of the Galveston, Dublin and Cisco districts and special representative of the Southern Methodist university. In 1920 at the conference held in Fort Worth after prayerful consideration, he asked for and received the supernumerary relation and since that time until his death made his home in Cisco. For some time he was the efficient business secretary of the Cisco board of education, exhibiting the same diligent business acumen and methods in that position that he had in his long years as a preacher.

"He was a worthy and valued member of the old Northwest Texas conference and the Central Texas conference. The years of his ministry were full of high endeavor and noble achievements; years full of tears and joy, full of hardship and heroic service during his many years as pastor and presiding elder. Thousands of people were converted, many churches built, large sums of money raised and the kingdom of God advanced.

"On December 23, 1920, he married Miss Laura Alice Spruill. It was a happy consummation of mutual love. It was a union blessed of heaven. She did not hinder but helped him. Her ministry in the home made him stronger for the ministry without. They were the complements of each other—both were made stronger because of their union.

"He was a good man. He did not claim to be perfect but he was and is going on to perfection. He did profess to be the best man in the conference and community, but struggled to be the best man it was possible to be. It is a character like this that enriches the world and makes it a happier and safer place to live. His faith and works have made rich contributions to the people who knew him, to the conference he loved and especially to the citizenship of Cisco. Measured by the true standard Brother Vaughan was a great man. It is not riches or place or pomp that makes life great. For these may be accidental rather than achievements of life. It is a heart that makes greatness and this was his preeminent life. It was his great heart that made him the beloved husband, father and friend.

"Brother Vaughan fought the wrong, loved the right, walked with God, loved his community where he spent his last years. His godly example will live to bless, comfort and save men and women. We shall cherish the hope of some day looking on the face of Jesus and our departed friend and brother."

RAIN MAN MISSED SOME OF RISING STAR COUNTRY

RISING STAR, Aug. 3.—While the greater part of the Rising Star territory received fine rains the past week it seems that the weather man overlooked quite a strip of country south and east of Rising Star, embracing the Blake, Union Grove, May, Macedonia, Amity and Imola communities. In fact little rain fell south of Rising Star from some mile out until about 10 miles this side of Brownwood. The folks living south and southeast of Rising Star are planning a petition to ask the rain forecaster, C. E. Huston, to have them a nice rain next week.

DELMAS DEAD; WON FAME BY THAW DEFENSE

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Aug. 3.—Death has taken Delphin Michael Delmas, the fighting little Frenchman who won fame in 1907 to act as chief of counsel in Harry K. Thaw's famous murder trial. The brilliant intellectual, who earned the word "dementia Americana" as descriptive of the "unwritten law" defense before the Thaw jury, died Wednesday at his home here. He was 54, and had ceased active practice only a few months before. Heart trouble was the cause of his death. Delmas commanded a noted devotion to the stand to testify, he received a note from Thaw, which said, "you are no longer in charge of my case." Permission was given the thunderstruck lawyer to halt the trial while he questioned Thaw regarding the note.

"The note means," Thaw told him, "just what it says. You are trying to prove me insane. I am sane and you know it, and you no longer are in charge of my case."

The attorney attempted to resign forthwith but Thaw would not sanction this, and finally he continued after Thaw had flatly announced he himself was the leading counsel, and wanted his orders carried out. "Well, under the circumstances, I'll be a good soldier," the Frenchman observed, and removing the physician, began summation of the case. Later, with the observation that "Thaw was not so much in need of an attorney as he was of a valet, Delmas resigned his connection, for which it was reported he was paid $100,000. Born in France in 1844, he came to San Jose, Cal., 10 years later where he was early known as "the Napoleon of the West." He took some pride in the nickname, and was said to have borne considerable likeness to the Corsican conqueror.

REPUBLICANS TO ATTEMPT TO LINE UP BIG BUSINESS MEN

'Hoover or Havoc' to Be Slogan; Massachusetts Worrying G. O. P.; Gratified by Primary in Texas

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—A strong line of business men of the country for the Hoover-Curtin ticket is under way through the New York organization headed by Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, who is vice chairman of the Republican advisory committee. The business vote in this election, the organization believes, will be considerable of an item and while Hoover is presumed to be the favorite with the small business man, the organization is looking after those classed in big business.

It is the business vote of the Eastern states, particularly those along the upper Atlantic seaboard, that is counted as determining the political fate of these states. In adopting his slogan, "Hoover or Havoc," Senator Moses intimated his appeal to keep the country true to the Republican party. The word "Hoover" is being wrapped, politicians believe, will have a far-reaching effect in determining the vote on election day.

G. O. P. Stresses Prosperity

Republicans are stressing the issue of prosperity, and a tariff adjustment which will continue the idea of protection. It is not altogether appealing in some sections of New England, however. In Massachusetts, for instance, dissatisfaction in the textile districts have caused Republican managers no end of concern. The question is being asked there, that if there is prosperity in the country, why some of it has not come to the president's state. Right now the pro-ponderance of talk in Massachusetts is far in favor of Governor Smith.

Says South Crumbling

The Democratic South is crumbling, according to an editorial printed in Thursday's New York Herald-Tribune (Republican), discussing the Texas July primary result in the lieutenant governor race. The editorial says that despite the hardships encountered by Tom Love he polled about 30 per cent of the total vote in the race.

Flouts Tradition

"In no other presidential campaign should such a phenomenon as the Love vote in Texas have been conceivable. It flouts a tradition of regularity which was supposed to

SEGRO DROWNS TRYING TO KEEP CLOTHES DRY. AUSTIN, Aug. 3.—An effort to keep a 40-pound bundle of clothes dry in an attempted swim across Onion Creek near here, cost James Houston, 22, nearly his life. Houston fell his clothing in a sack and tied it on his head with a cord under his chin. The clothing got wet and heavy. He sank and drowned. Historic Feud That Resulted in Slaying of Kentucky Governor Is Recalled in Death of Bitter Foe

DRILL REPORT OIL ACTIVITY IN DISTRICT 8

Following is the report of oil activity in the Cisco field, district 8, as made to Omar Burkett, oil and gas supervisor:

August 3—Midland Oil Co. No. 4 (Heikman, McGloin survey, Brown survey, intention to drill to 1350 ft.)

W. F. Seabold and L. E. English, Jr., No. 7, English survey, in county, intention to drill to 1350 ft.

When Taylor fled from Kentucky he was almost penniless. He had spent a fortune in the gubernatorial campaign and in the fight to retain the office. He engaged in the practice of law here and later became vice president and general counsel of the Empire Life and Accident Insurance company.

It was during this time that Goebel was shot down on the streets. J. C. W. Beckham, elected lieutenant governor under Goebel, assumed office after Goebel's death.

death. The Taylor forces took the case to the federal court in an attempt to override the general assembly decision. But Chief Justice William Howard Taft, at that time a judge of the United States court of appeals at Cincinnati, applied the assembly verdict. An appeal was filed and in May, 1900, the United States supreme court upheld Judge Taft's decision. Taylor fled to Indianapolis the same day.

"IMPERIALISTS" TOPIC OF INSTITUTE OF POLITICS
WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 3.—Activities of "industrial and financial imperialists" and the trend of thought of other nations will be discussed at the eighth annual session of the Institute of Politics, now in session at Williams College, Dr. Walter W. McLaren, executive secretary of the conference, said.

This year's discussions, he said, will deal largely with economic imperialism and matters concerning Latin America and the Pacific, since the Caribbean countries and Mexico, China and Manchuria are looked upon as areas of possible future conflict.

Also we reckon the kind of people who attend a gangster's funeral are the kind who have more curiosity than civic pride.

PROGRAM OF MERIT HEARD BY ROTARIANS

In the absence of President T. Hunter Foley, Rotarian B. C. Boney presided at the weekly Rotary luncheon Thursday. J. B. Cate was in charge of the program for the day, and one of the most interesting features was the vocal number by Rotarian Boney, rendered in German, with Rotarian Morris as piano accompanist.

Rotarian W. W. Wallace made an interesting talk on the outlook of the petroleum industry in West Texas, which was one of the most pleasing numbers on the program, for the speaker was most optimistic in his discussion of the subject that is closely identified with this part of the world.

A. C. McCue, national representative of the American Red Cross, who is in Cisco under the auspices of the Eastland County Red Cross chapter to give instructions in first aid and lifesaving, was introduced by Rotarian J. E. Spencer, chairman of the local chapter. McCue spoke of the necessity of everyone taking instructions in lifesaving and explained the lifesaving and first aid courses now being given at the Lake Cisco swimming pool. He paid nice compliments to the Rotary club and the swimming which he said was one of the best artificial swimming pools he had visited.
