Opposition of Ex-Congressman to Woodrow Wilson Recalled by Lee in Declining Debate with Opponent

Q. Lee of Cisco will not meet Callaway of Comanche in debate, he said in a letter to the public today. The two are opponents for the Democratic nomination for congress from this district in the runoff primary of August 23. Lee's letter was in reply to a challenge for debate from the other congressman, who attacked Callaway's record in 1917-18. Lee's letter follows:

Dear Sir: Your letter of the 7th inst. came to me yesterday and I am interested in what you have to say. I am wondering why you, who have spent six years in congress, should attack me personally and do so in a public place.

I am wondering if, through this kind of campaigning, you are not trying to cover up your attitude toward our own President Woodrow Wilson and the government at the time when they needed and entitled to the support of patriotic American citizens.

I am wondering whether you are trying to hide the fact that in the old 12th district, you were defeated in the election of 1917. I am wondering if you are not going to hide from the scrutiny of the voters of the 17th congressional district, that your conduct as the president of the United States and the federal government was such that they found necessary to exercise a surveillance over our activities, and stenographers to take your notes.

I am wondering if you will not divert the attention of the voters of the 17th congressional district from the two campaigns being conducted against our worthy congressman, Hon. Thomas L. Blanton, in which you were overwhelmingly defeated on the record you made.

HAZZARD CASE NEARLY READY TO GO TO JURY

COMANCHE, Aug. 8.—The defense failed to introduce a single witness in the case of the state vs. Dick Hazzard, on trial in the district court here for criminal assault on Miss Velma Bankhead, 19, in which the state is asking the death penalty. When the state rested the defense made the same announcement. All the evidence in the case has been introduced and arguments of counsel are now being made. It is expected the case will go to the jury before court adjourns this afternoon.

STRATON WILL MEET SMITH IN JOINT DEBATE

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Dr. John Roach Straton today accepted Governor Al Smith's challenge to debate the charges made against him.

CALIFORNIA OARSMEN WIN FROM CANADA

SLOTEN, Holland, Aug. 8.—California's brassy eight-oared crew went into the finals of the Olympic championship today when it defeated Canada after a thrilling duel over a 2,000 meter distance, winning by a scant half length. California Friday will meet England, which fortunately drew a bye into the finals.

NEW ANGLE IN MELLUS CRIME IS TURNED UP

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8.—The police investigation into the murder and mutilation of Mrs. Myrtle Mellus was thrown into turmoil and confusion today when Sergeant H. L. Barlow, expert of the police identification bureau, announced that the bloody finger prints found in the bathroom of the palatial Mellus home were not those of Leo P. Kelley, the woman's butcher boy sweetheart, who is charged with the murder. The sensational development pointed to another person involved in the crime, police said.

SUMMER BEACH TOGS SIMPLE AND GRACEFUL

PARIS, Aug. 8.—Beach togs for the summer of 1928 are more simple and graceful than ever before. Dressmakers have happily lost the idea that to be chic the bathing costume must be an elaborate article of silk or satin. The aim was taken toward definite plans for the building, as President Wright stated that the board desired to confer with other architects, who will appear at the next meeting of the board Saturday night, at which time it will be definitely known whether the board of education has purchased the bonds. Wright stated that several other architects had informed the trustees that they wished to submit plans for the new building. At the meeting Saturday night it is expected that the type of plans for the new building will be definitely decided and an architect employed and as soon as the plans are accepted the contract for the building will be let. Supt. J. J. Youngblood is still in Austin, but will return home in time to attend the meeting and assist the trustees in their deliberations.

GUARDING THE PERIL

300 FIGHT TO SAVE SEQUOIAS FROM FIRE

FRESNO, Cal., Aug. 8.—Nearly 300 men Tuesday were concentrating their efforts on saving the giant trees of the Sequoia National park from the fire which, since Sunday morning has raged on both sides of the south fork of the Keweenaw river, said information received here from the fire area.

Mayor and Aldermen Are Elected at Tuscola But Are Without Office as Town Defeats Plan to Incorporate

TUSCOLA, Aug. 8.—Citizens of Tuscola Monday "elected" a mayor and two aldermen and by the same election failed to provide officers for the chosen officials. Moreover, that part of the citizenship whose one-sided vote of 99 to 29 selected the officers, in turn made office holding for them impossible.

The election was to determine whether or not Tuscola should be an incorporated town. Opponents of the idea, backed by officials, as well as proponents of the idea, turned heads of officials. The anti-city government crowd hoped to at least partially control the new regime of things, if new regime there should be. But by the very vote which they elected their ticket of officials, the anti-incorporation people failed to provide officers for their favorites, which was the very thing they intended to do, and such the candidates hoped would happen. For incorporation was defeated.

Ciscoan, Studying in New Mexico's Chilly Mountains, Understands How Indians Became Worshipers of Sun

W. F. Bruce of the faculty of Randolph College, Cisco, apparently would enjoy right now the warm sunshine of West Texas. He is a member of a party of school men and women studying the Indians of New Mexico in their native mountain fastnesses. So deep in the party in the mountains and so high are the trees that an occasional ray of sunshine is greatly appreciated.

Bruce's letter follows: Camp of Summer Field School, Jemez Springs, N. M., August 5, 1928. Editor Daily News, Cisco, Texas. Dear editor and readers: According to promise I will write you a few notes. After a strenuous drive of several hours with Dr. T. T. Roberts, I caught (that is the right word) a train at Lubbock. Another delay at Vaughn, N. M., on account of a washout during the night, put me into Albuquerque via Santa Fe either as parties were going from both places too late to go with the group. But as they had stopped on the way to camp to witness the green corn dance—which is not a peculiarity of New Mexican corn but of New Mexican Indians—I grabbed a bus and intercepted them on the way.

Our camp is located at a fork of the Jemez (pronounced as it may be) river northwest of Albuquerque. These folks have worn down the rock several hundred feet until an abutment of solid rocks stands overlooking the camp from the east in the angle formed by the two streams. The altitude of the location is at least 7,000 feet. Several members of the expedition froze during the night we heard but are now alive again and about under the influence of the warm morning sun. I myself was out early after a painful night of cover shifting, trying to find the spot along the cañon where the sun would first find a rift in the pines and shed a spot of warmth. As I stood there shivering out my feelings melted and I could realize as I had not before why the Indians whose lives we are studying, living in these dark cañons and in this rigorous altitude, had sometimes become sun worshippers.

I am spending Sunday in an unusual way. No church near enough to attend so I reread the Genesis account of primitive man and am sitting up the side of the cañon among the pines in what Bryant calls God's first temple, a worshipper in the love of nature, "holding communion with her visible forms" and listening to her varied language.

Dr. Edgar S. Hewett, of the San Diego Museum and connected with the University of New Mexico and the museum of New Mexico, is director of the school. Another member of the faculty is Dr. Patton of Hartford Theological Seminary and director of archeological research in Palestine. I believe the course will be fine and it is an enjoyable way of taking it. Yours truly, W. F. BRUCE.

TWO COUPLES WED JULY 30, SECRET IS OUT

Engineers of the West Texas Utilities Co. were in Cisco recently making a survey of the situation preparatory for beginning the building program which will start within the next 30 days, according to P. P. Shepard, manager of division B.

The building crew is now finishing up some work at Dalhart, which I understand is the last job before moving into Cisco, Shepard said. "The new ice plant of the company at Albany has been completed, and is now making ice for that community. I was expecting the crew to move down here as soon as that job was complete, but the work at Dalhart called them, which was a much smaller job than that at Cisco. Then this is vacation time with many of the employees of the company, and for this reason the jobs on which they were engaged have necessarily been slow.

But all indications now are that the Cisco job will commence the latter part of August or the first days of September. The building crew is getting the smaller jobs out of the way before moving into Cisco, as it will be here quite a while, for it will require several months to complete the building program.

"The first work to be done will be the erection of the warehouse and shops, which will be located just west of the rear of the Red Front drug store, leaving a driveway on the alley for the company's wagons so as not to congest the alley. When this work is complete the merchandise and work shops will be moved into this building from the building in the alley back of and just south of the ice plant. This building will be converted into a cold storage plant, which with the present storage facilities, will give Cisco ample storage for all products for the present. The plans for complete remodeling of the present warehouse, as a driveway will be provided between this building and that of the Turner-Coffield Co. There will be an air wall between the ice plant and the cold storage vaults.

"All this work will be completed before work starts on the main office building, which will be erected on the same quarter block on which the new warehouse and shops will be built, only the office building will front on West Fifth street, and be east of the Elks club.

"When the buildings are all completed the grounds will be laid off in driveways and parks, which will be paved and beautified, making the Cisco home of the West Texas Utilities Co. one of the prettiest headquarters of the entire system."

Prohibition Ignored by Missouri Democrats in Nomination of Dry for Senator, Wet for Governor

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 8.—Missouri Democrats have turned Missouri down on Senator James A. Reed. It was apparent today on the basis of returns from yesterday's primary election and prohibition is not to be an issue. Missouri apparently has chosen Charles M. Hays of St. Louis for the Democratic senatorial nomination by a landslide vote over Reed's candidate, James A. Collett. Hays is dry while Collett is wet. The Democratic vote then turned around and nominated Francis M. Wilson, wet, as the gubernatorial candidate by an even larger majority than Hays was given.

The Republican senatorial candidates, Homer Patterson and Davis Prector, drys, are running a close race. Henry S. Crawford, of St. Louis apparently has won the Republican gubernatorial nomination from Phil A. Bennett.

ILL-FATED F-14, DEATH TRAP OF 31, IS IN PORT

POLA, Italy, Aug. 8.—The Italian submarine, F-14, which sank in the Adriatic sea near here with the loss of 31 lives after a collision with a destroyer, was towed into port this morning, supported by a 200 pound pontoon. A black flag was flown at half mast from the pier. The whole city is in mourning.

SCHOOL HEAD FOUND SLAIN BEHIND HEDGE

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 8.—The body of Miss Jennie Constance, 42, head of the English department of Bradley Polytechnical College of Peoria, was found at dawn today behind the hedge in front of the palatial home of George H. Peck here. She apparently was headed to death with a piece of lead pipe after being mistreated by a negro. Valuables which she carried were untouched.

WHEELHORSE OF DEMOS IN ILLINOIS DIES

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—George E. Brennan, Democratic national committeeman from Illinois, died here today following a week's illness from septic poisoning and kidney complications. He was 63 years old. He was a close personal friend of Governor Al Smith and as one of the pre-convention campaign leaders, looked to mould sentiment that resulted in the nomination of the New Yorker for the presidency at the Houston convention.

YOU'RE DEAD RIGHT, MAC.

"A railroad station is usually the stranger's first contact with a city," says O. O. McIntyre. "It is where he likely receives lasting impressions, New York is more conscious of this than most cities. Every attendant is schooled in a cordiality that is warming. They go out of their way to render services the rest of the rushing city oftentimes ignores."

"For instance, sleeping on the station bench is not regarded favorably. One beefy fellow with his mouth agape was rattling the rafters with snores. A station detective gently touched his shoulder and when he awakened with a surprised snort the detective began pleasantly to discuss the weather. The sleeper was not aware he had been awakened by a detective or had disobeyed a station rule."

One might expect big New York City, with its enormous number of daily visitors to be a little blasé in its attitude toward those who detract at its railroad terminals; but according to the above quotation, New York, great as it is, senses the vital importance of favorably impressing the stranger the instant he arrives at the supermetropolis.

How different is New York's attitude toward the incoming public from that of many cities and towns that need people and money. We know places depending on tourists for their life-blood, that poke visitors in the eye the minute they step off the train.

Dingy, dirty, insufficient, unaccommodious stations; surly gate keepers; indifferent information clerks; impudent ticket sellers. The whole atmosphere at the depot says to the stranger: "We don't care a darn about you. And we don't care a darn if you don't care a darn about us."

A municipality will spend millions beautifying itself, creating tourist attractions, advertising throughout the world, yet permit visitors to get off the train in a mess of conditions that are enough to cause them to turn around and get right back on again.

If you call on a man, and his front fence is unpainted, the gate hanging on one hinge, the walk full of holes, the yard piled with barrels and boxes, the front of his house streaked and smoky, the steps rickety, the porch littered, and a slovenly, cross-eyed maid with a curt voice, opens the door on which you knock because the door bell wont work, and leads you through a disordered front room down a dismal hall, what would be your impression of the place, even though you should emerge into a beautiful garden?

It would be to the highest benefit of every town to see to it that the railroad tracks leading into the station and the streets leading away from it, look onto something pleasing, instead of shabby and dirty buildings, pleasing to the eye, with modulations; and employ courteous and helpful.

PUGILISTIC PI

Yes, that man Tunney has the evident belief of a lot of kind expected in a pugilist him" yet. His interests of reach does. Nothing done man recently is more impressive than his sending a check for $1,000 to Commander Byrd as a contribution to his Antarctic exploration fund. "I believe," he wired, "that if the American people knew what you are going to do, and the difficulties attending the financing of an expedition of this magnitude, they would overwhelm you with support that is now lacking." Probably they would. Byrd's enterprise is not only a great scientific undertaking but a man-sized task, calling for rare resourcefulness, courage and endurance. It is a sporting venture as great as the world offers, and therefore one which should appeal to all lovers of manly sport. To the scientific mind it should appeal no less, and even to the practical business mind. The North Pole has had nearly all the publicity. But the North Pole is nothing but a mental concept—an invisible point in an icy sea. The South Pole is a definite, observable spot on firm land where the visitor may drive a permanent stake and every visitor forever may say, "Here it is." It is the apex, moreover, of a great continent, spacious and elevated, with vast, unknown possibilities of mineral and other resources. Some day it may be exploited. Some day, ages hence, with the periodic tilting of the earth's axis and shifting of climates, it may be inhabited—as it may have been long ago. There should be a fascinating geological story to tell, among many things, when that expedition returns.

SOUTHERN FORESTRY.

Modern forestry methods have been urged heretofore mainly in the North and West. Now they are to be taught in the South. The American Forestry association is starting a big campaign in Florida, Georgia and Mississippi to educate the people in general matters of forest growth and conservation, especially the prevention of forest fires. There will be motion pictures, lectures, personal visits and work in the schools. Fire dangers in the southern woods, unlike those in other sections, are caused mostly by intentional "burning off." Fires are started deliberately in the belief that they will improve the soil and destroy insects. It is an old, wasteful Indian custom. The Indian would burn, then plant. That does serve to remove brush and weeds, and kills some insects. But it also kills saplings, burns out the humus of the soil, and prevents the natural reforestation of the timberland. Saplings, especially of valuable trees, seldom survive a brush fire. Wild flowers and other desirable plants are destroyed. It would be a blessing if owners everywhere could learn this lesson.

It would be worth while renewing diplomatic relations with Russia if the captain of that icebreaker were sent to Washington as ambassador.

NATURAL COLOR MOVIES.

Although Edison describes the process of making the new moving pictures in the full scale of natural colors as "simple," we will leave it to the experts to explain it fully. For most of us it is sufficient to know that the thing is possible, that dyes are not necessary, that the entire physical equipment for the new process is contained in the microscopically small lenses on the surface of the film and the tri-colored lens for the camera and projecting machine. Among the advantages of the new process are its reproduction of all the natural colors and the fact that the films cannot fade. Historic pictures in colors can be preserved indefinitely. From now on it will be possible for each generation to hand down to posterity pictures of people and scenes of great historical significance. At present the new method cannot be used commercially because duplicate films cannot be made. This is a limitation which may be overcome some day. The amateur moving picture photographer appears to be chiefly benefited. He can make pictures in natural colors at a cost only twice that of the ordinary black and white films.

Charles Levine, going to France in an ocean liner and taking his airplane along, has joined Mabel Boll, and the two are planning a flight westward across the Atlantic again. Couldn't they fly in some other direction?

DOCTORS FIGHT NOISE.

Now the British are getting after unnecessary noises, with the medical profession taking the lead. The medical association has adopted a resolution declaring street noises a menace to the nation's health. It is urged that needless noises be made a punishable offense. Among those so classified are the noises made by parties going home from dances, the early morning milkman, the barking dogs and the cut-out of motorcycles. Anyone could mention off-hand numerous others, though England suffers less in this respect than America. The old viewpoint was that noises in general were natural, and were to be endured. But in a mechanical age noises grow louder and more offensive, the world's nerves grow more touchy, and man learns more about the inner workings of his mind and body. The physicians say that any unpleasant noise works insidiously by affecting the central nervous system, producing functional disturbances and loss of energy. There is an American touch in the British estimate that this loss costs the country $5,000,000 a week in diminished working efficiency. It would be worth eliminating merely for the bad temper it induces.

Stand by Him

By WICKES WAMBOLDT. What should a parent do with the child who is impudent, arrogant, unruly, and inclined generally to slip the principles of good behavior in the face? The human thing if the child is of age is to take him to the front door and kick him down the steps. But the divine thing is to say, "Here is a soul that needs help, and needs it badly, and for whose development I am directly responsible."

Earnings of Big Corporations Exceed Those of 1926; 20 P. C. Gain Shown by Auto Industry

Kidnaper's Victim

Two-year-old Dean Ruth who was being bludgeoned last New York home came early to June when a wave and swimming strokes obtained her parents permission to take her to a children's party. Police now believe it only a question of days before the kidnaper will be in their hands. The child is destined to be alive and well.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The year 1934 promises to bury the old superstition that campaign years are bad for business beneath the great volume of corporate profits in the history of the country.

This is indicated by the semi-annual statements of earnings of many large corporations whose profits for the first half of this year are rather conservatively ranging ahead of the same period last year.

While corporate profits for the year 1933 were about 2 per cent smaller than the record breaking year of 1929, most of the decline came in the last half of the year.

During the first half of last year the high profit level of 1928 was maintained, and with profits for the first half of 1934 thus far reported, ranging far ahead of the first six months of 1933 in all-time record in its progress.

Auto Industry Gains
On the semi-annual statements of profits of industrial corporations, those of the automobile industry shows the largest gain over the 1933 period, with an increase of approximately 20 per cent. For a large and representative group of industrial corporations the average increase in profits over last year is about 15 per cent.

Profits of a limited number of public utility firms reported an increase of approximately 3 per cent over the high level of last year.

The steel industry, with profits for the first half of this year about the same as last year, is reported to have an excellent outlook for coming months.

Coal Profit Lacking
While some industries—notably the distinguished soft coal industry—are making virtually no profits, the steel of such business manufacturers is not wide.

In view of the continuance of a substantial volume of unemployment, observers have expressed surprise over the high level of profits being reported.

The most generally accepted explanation is that industry is continuing at a rapid rate the process of cutting costs by improved efficiency and that profits of individual products are either remaining steady or rising slightly. This opens the way to profits. It is also held accountable for much of the present unemployment, men being opened out of jobs by improvements in mechanical efficiency.

BIRTHDAY OF ELEPHANT TO PLEASE KIDS
DALLAS, Aug. 8.—Children of Dallas are eagerly looking forward to August 14, when an "animal fair" will be held complimentary to Wilbur, prize elephant who on that date will celebrate his birthday.

The animal world will be well represented at the affair. Among interesting guests expected to be on hand are the ones from Australia, tigers from Asia, leopards from America, lions from Africa and the white fallow deer from Europe. In addition, a number of very interesting birds will attend the function. Refreshments will be served the youngsters. Indications point to a veritable swarming of this city's younger population.

ASSASSIN TELLS HIS STORY

The Flying Frau

Franz Lina Backer of Germany, who captured first place in the 200-meter run for women at the ninth Olympiad, outstripping eight rivals to finish in the record time of 2 minutes 16 4/5 seconds.

BABY BLOWN THROUGH ROOF, PARENTS ALSO DIE

AJO, Ariz., Aug. 8.—Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Thompson and their eight-day-old daughter were instantly killed early Tuesday when a blast demolished their home in the Mexican quarter of Ajo. The blast, which shattered windows in many parts of the city, threw the baby clear through the roof of the house to the top of an automobile parked in the yard. The body of the baby, which was found fully clothed in the house, was not located what caused the blast.

TWO NAVY FLYERS DIE IN FALL AT SAN DIEGO

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 8.—Ensign Clayton Schuch, U. S. N., and Aviation mechanic mate, second class, Harold T. McFaire were killed Tuesday morning when the plane in which they were flying fell into San Diego Bay.

TWO HEAT PROSTRATIONS IN OKLAHOMA CITY

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 8.—Two heat prostrations were reported in Oklahoma City Tuesday to a 95-degree temperature. H. F. Reams, restaurant employe, fell on the sidewalk shortly after starting for his home. He was taken to a hospital in a serious condition. Billie McGuire, 15-year-old girl, was overcome and taken to a hospital, where it was reported she would recover.

Election Laws Vary Widely in U. S. But Year Residence in State, Half Year in County Generally Required

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—With the exception of one state only registered voters may cast their ballots for Herbert Hoover or Al Smith in the November election.

Compilation of election laws of that state. These vary according to the state constitutions or the acts of the legislature. Assuming that all voters must be 21 years or more of age, the first requisite is residence in a state, county and precinct. Residence in the state of one year, the county six months, and the voting precinct 30 days is the usual rule. There are some variations.

Two-Year Residence.
Four Southern states—Alabama, South Carolina, Louisiana, and Virginia—require two years, residence in the state and one year in the county. Many states, mostly western, require only six months' residence. The state of Washington requires 11 months and 10 days in the state, 10 days in the county and 10 days in the precinct.

Sixteen states require literacy tests as a qualification of registration. They are Alabama, Arizona, Connecticut, Delaware, Georgia, Louisiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Mississippi, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, Oregon, South Carolina, Virginia, Wyoming.

The literacy test has several forms. In some states ability to read a section of the state constitution and the writing of one's name is sufficient. In some the writing of excerpts from the state constitution is coupled with a requirement that the prospective voter understand what he is writing.

"Moral Character."
In several of the original 13 states the voter must have a "good moral character." Connecticut bars one "who has during his minority been convicted three or more times of any offense punishable by the laws of this state with imprisonment or with fine and imprisonment, or who has within 12 months before reaching his majority, been convicted of any offense mentioned in section 3 of article 6 of the constitution; or who, at the time of reaching his majority, was serving a term in jail or in prison for any such offense. Idiots or insane persons are barred. Georgia and South Carolina bar whites and negroes who intermarry.

Require Poll Taxes.
Fourteen states require payment of poll taxes. They are Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Maine, Massachusetts, Mississippi, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia. In the main payment of these is only mandatory before registration.

Indiana's 1927 legislature abolished that state's registration law, throwing the polls open to all of legal age who appear to vote. Although this is the only state not requiring registration, the act is merely a gesture in some of the others. Twelve do not require registration except in the larger cities. They are Colorado, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, North Dakota, Ohio, and Wisconsin. Others recognize that all persons are entitled to a vote and will permit it without registration during general elections, providing certain conditions are complied with.

FUNDERBURK THANKS MANY BACKING HIM

Following the official tabulation of returns from the first primary, Judge O. C. Funderburk, who a few months ago was appointed by Governor Moody to fill a vacancy on the court of civil appeals and who is a candidate for that post of the unexpired term that comes after the next general election, made a statement as follows:

"I am exceedingly grateful for the earnest and faithful interest manifested by my many friends in behalf of my candidacy. It appears I have led the next high man in 13 counties of the district and have a total lead of nearly 4,000 votes. I interpret the returns to manifest a spirit of fairness on the part of the voters in recognizing the fact that I gave up my law practice to accept the appointment and in being willing to permit me to finish out the unexpired term in order that I may have the opportunity to make a record by which I may fairly be judged.

"I am thankful for many assurances from friends over the district that they will be more active than ever to see that my appointment is not repudiated by the people.

HOW FLIERS WERE RESCUED AT SEA

Capt. Frank T. Courtney (inset) and his companions in the Dornier-Napier flying boat were within 150 miles of their goal—Newfoundland—when their craft took fire and compelled them to alight on the ocean. They extinguished the blaze, then clung to the trail fastenings until picked up by the S. S. Minnewaska. Above is the conception of Louis Rodermann, noted artist, of the dramatic sea rescue.

Drink Coca-Cola
Delicious and Refreshing

But what a difference! You've got to stop at a traffic sign. No law says stop at the little red Coca-Cola sign, but eight million a day do, just because they want to. They know it's good to pause amid the work and hurly-burly of the day to refresh themselves with an ice-cold Coca-Cola. With that delicious taste and cool after-sense of refreshment, a little minute is long enough for a big rest.

The best served drink in the world
A pure drink of natural flavors served ice-cold in its own bottle. The Coca-Cola bottle you can identify even in the dark. Every bottle is sterilized, filled and sealed air-tight by automatic machines, without the touch of human hands—insuring purity and wholesomeness.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 8.—

Possibility that Mexico will demand that Plutarco Calles serve two more years as president of the republic became stronger today.

Governors of all Mexican states this week will receive a petition from Governor Amado Aguirre of the southern district of Lower California urging that the constitution be amended so as to permit Calles' term of office to run six years.

The president's term expires Dec. 1 and, according to the constitution, he can not succeed himself.

"Lone Hope for Peace"

Governor Aguirre's petition will say that Calles is the only person who is fitted to assure peace, inasmuch as General Alvaro Obregon, the president-elect, has been assassinated.

A similar petition has been voted by the party of Adalberto Tejeda, who Sunday was elected governor of Vera Cruz, and several agrarian groups have made similar actions in the last fortnight.

Another important angle on the belief Calles will be requested to continue in office is the statement of Aaron Soehn that the Oregon headquarters in the capital will be disbanded. Some quarters interpreted this as meaning the Obregonistas' new victory are leaderless, with Calles their one hope.

Catholics Might Agree

It is expected that if the demand is great enough Calles might agree to an additional two years in office, through patriotic motives, despite his announced desire to relinquish control of the government Dec. 1.

Meanwhile, Bishop Miguel de la Mora, of San Luis Potosi, who at present is hiding in Mexico, has absconded the Catholic church of all blame in the assassination of General Obregon. He said that Jose de Leon Toral, the slayer, and Manuel Superior Concepcion, who is held as one of the instigators of the plot, are abnormal and in no way representative of the Catholic laity or clergy.

PRODUCTION OF OIL INCREASES IN WEST TEXAS

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 8.—Oklahoma's daily average crude production showed an increase last week for the first time in several weeks, the estimates of the Oil and Gas Journal showed today.

Production climbed 2,865 barrels to 502,109 barrels.

Mid-continent production showed an increase of 10,172 barrels to a total daily average of 1,412,917 barrels.

West Texas mounted on 344,870 barrels to 323,189 barrels.

National daily average was 2,412,617 barrels, a slight general increase of 6,738 barrels and a slight oil increase of 8,850 barrels.

AMERICAN ARMY TRUCKS STILL USED BY FRENCH

PARIS, Aug. 8.—Uncle Sam's army trucks, are still doing service on French roads, ten years after the Armistice! Fifteen thousand of them, and chances are they will last another ten years. Eleven years of war and peace have not diminished their usefulness in the least. Compare this with the passenger cars left behind by the army of seven thousand odd cars, only a few are in commission.

Proposing an amendment to Section 2, Article 8 of the Constitution of the State, so as to authorize the Legislature to exempt from taxation any property owned by a church or by a strictly religious society for the exclusive use as a dwelling place for the ministry of such church or religious society, and which yields no revenue whatever to such church or religious society, and property used exclusively and reasonably necessary in conducting any association engaged in promoting the religious, educational and physical development of boys, girls, young men or young women operating under the auspices of National organizations, and one of the officers fired at him. The charge was dismissed, it was stated at the sheriff's office, and the man was only slightly injured. He stated that he wounded man was convicted of the crime of kidnapping.

'MANLY PIPE' FINDING FAVOR WITH ENGLISH

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Cigarettes are decried in London, because they are deemed effeminate. The "manly pipe" has superseded them and returned to its old-time popularity.

To find this out, one has only to spend ten minutes in the fashionable area of London between Bond street and Saville street.

The young men, who twelve months ago were drawing clouds of smoke through long and weird-colored cigarette holders, are now to be seen puffing at a severely reasoned but, and, to boot, appearing to enjoy it.

"It is probably due to the fact that the Prince of Wales hardly ever smokes anything but a pipe," explain the leading fashionable tobaccoists.

"And also, practically every young woman nowadays smokes cigarettes constantly and openly. The result is that young men are beginning to look upon cigarette smoking as effeminate and have returned to the pipe as a man's exclusive privilege."

"Women play a part in another way. Many of them prefer to see men with pipes rather than cigarettes, and not hesitate to say so."

"To meet the new demand for pipes special designs are being manufactured which can be smoked in a pipe. One of these, a very small pipe holding enough for five minutes' smoke, has been designed for dandies."

"Pipes with long stems are the most popular. They are cooler and prevent smoke getting into the eyes."

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT—AUTHORIZING RELIGIOUS SOCIETIES TO OWN PROPERTY

Section 1. That certain articles of the Constitution be so amended as to read hereafter as follows:

All occupation taxes shall be equal and uniform upon the same class of subjects within the limits of the authority levying the tax; but the Legislature may, by general law, exempt from taxation public property used for public purposes, actual places of religious worship, also any property owned by a church or by a strictly religious society for the exclusive use as a dwelling place for the ministry of such church or religious society, and which yields no revenue whatever to such church or religious society; provided that such exemption shall not extend to more property than is reasonably necessary for a dwelling place and in no case more than one acre of land; places of burial not held for private or corporate profit; all buildings used exclusively and owned by persons or associations of persons for school purposes and the necessary furniture of all schools and property used exclusively and reasonably necessary in conducting any association engaged in promoting the religious, educational and physical development of boys, girls, young men or young women operating under a State or National organization of like character; also the endowment funds of such institutions of learning and religion not used with a view to profit; and when the same are invested in bonds or mortgages, or in land or other property which has been and shall hereafter be bought in by such institutions under foreclosure sales made to satisfy or protect such bonds or mortgages, that such exemption of such land and property shall continue only for two years after the purchase of the same at such sale by such institutions and no longer, and institutions of purely public charity; and all laws exempting property from taxation other than the property above mentioned shall be null and void.

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the State at an election to be held throughout the State on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1928, at which election all voters favoring said proposed amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words "For the Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas, exempting from taxes property owned by churches or strictly religious societies for the exclusive use as dwellings for the ministry," and all those opposed shall write or have printed on their ballots the words

Part of a limited number of air-cooled tires for reporting are available at approximately 10 per cent below the regular price.

Mrs. M. Howard of Waco, Texas, visited in Cisco Tuesday.

Miss Elizabeth Summers returned Thursday night from a visit in Waxahatchee and Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Brummett and son, of Fort Worth, are spending their vacation with relatives in Cisco.

In view of the continuance of a seasonal volume of unemployment, observers have expressed concern over the high level of production reported.

The most generally accepted explanation is that industry is continuing at a rapid rate the process of rationalization by improved efficiency and that prices of industrial products are either remaining steady or showing slight declines.

First Physician of Profession in Texas Is Chosen as President of American Osteopathic Association

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., Aug. 8.—The first osteopathic physician who ever practiced in Texas, was today elected president of the American Osteopathic Association at the A. T. Still Centennial convention which is meeting here.

He is Dr. D. L. Clark, Denver, who located in Sherman, Texas, after his graduation from the American School of Osteopathy in 1898.

Away back in the nineties of the last century, young Clark was cured of an injury which had failed to yield to other treatment when he came under the care of Dr. Andrew Taylor Still, who organized the American School of Osteopathy at Kirksville in 1892. It was natural for a man of Clark's disposition to want to study the science which had given him so much benefit, in order that he might render similar service to others. He therefore entered the American School of Osteopathy and graduated in 1896.

Dr. Clark located in Sherman, being the first osteopathic physician in Texas. His pioneer work in the line of legislation for the protection of osteopathy was such that when he went to Fort Collins, Colo., in 1905, he was drafted into the legislative work and kept at it actively until 1915 when the present law was passed regulating the practice of osteopathy in Colorado. The governor appointed Clark to serve for a term of six years on the medical examining board of Colorado, and he has been twice reappointed, also he has twice served as president of the board.

Away back in 1897, while still a student at the American School of Osteopathy, Dr. Clark helped to organize what is now the American Osteopathic Association, which was then largely a student enterprise. In April, 1898, he was elected as the second treasurer of the organization. He has been an ardent worker in it, and has held many offices of trust and responsibility.

Last year he served as president of the Colorado association, because of the insistence of the people of Colorado that he be at the head of the plans for the convention of the American Osteopathic Association which met in Denver in July, 1932.

LEAF WORM ON COTTON FOUND NEAR RANGER

RANGER, Aug. 8.—The first instance of the leaf worm was detected this week when Ben Whitehouse, vocational agriculturist, discovered a 12-acre tract infested. The cotton patch is located on the Strawn highway about one mile from Ranger. Whitehouse treated the cotton with calcium arsenate and expects to treat the 12 acres. The worms are small, which is an indication that they have just started work in this section. The worms are scattered throughout the 12 acres, Whitehouse said. Very little cotton is planted in the territory where the worms have been discovered.

SCHOOL HOUSE AT NECESSITY ALMOST DONE

NECESSITY, Aug. 8.—The six-room school house under construction at Necessity is almost finished. A five room teacherage has already been completed. The new school and teacherage are two of the finest school buildings in the county. When it is necessary, the Necessity school house can be converted into a large auditorium by opening up the large rooms. Plans are being made to erect a home economics practice cottage and a manual training department for the boys. It would make this school one of the best equipped in this county.
