WRECKAGE OF LARGE PLANE FOUND AT SEA

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 13.—Wreckage of a large plane found in the sea this morning led to the belief in maritime circles that in the final chapter of some ill-fated trans-Atlantic flight had been discovered. It was sighted by the steamship Seapool about 400 miles northeast of Cape Race. Owing to darkness color and markings could not be distinguished but indications were that the plane had been in the water a long time, the captain reported.

COMMITTEE AT WORK ON NEW SCHOOL PLANS

A committee appointed by the school board Saturday night spent all day Sunday visiting nearby cities where they inspected school buildings in connection with plans for the new West Ward building. This committee was composed of J. J. Yeungblood, superintendent of Cisco schools; George Simpson, construction foreman of the Humble Oil & Refining Co., and T. C. Williams, principal of West Ward school. The trustees' meeting Saturday night lasted till after midnight, and was attended by Simpson, who gave the board many valuable suggestions, volunteering his services to the trustees. Several local and out of town architects met with the board and submitted plans, but no definite action was taken. President Wright stated that the board will meet tonight or Tuesday night, when the committee will make its report and an architect will be employed to supply the plans and look after the construction of the building as soon as the contract is let.

A PROTEST.

I have just learned that the Katy railroad is about to sell a part of the beautiful little park near the depot, on which the corporation purchasing intends to erect another filling station. This ought not to be. Cisco has no parks and no room in the city on which to make them.

This little plot of land and the vacant half block near or just north of the First Baptist church is all we have that can be utilized for park purposes. We do not have an outdoor meeting place in the city. The city has improved the property near the depot and now to allow it to be used for any purpose other than a park is a serious matter.

The writer would like to suggest that the City Dads purchase this land and thereby prevent it from becoming a filling station and Hot Dog Stand.

The city commission could not spend a few thousand dollars to greater advantage than to purchase this little park and further beautify it. It is sorely needed.

If the city is to allow this park to get away from them, I had just as soon have a filling station as any other business; but the point is that we need the park—the entire city needs the park. It is not an individual matter at all, but something that every citizen of Cisco is interested in. Surely the Katy railroad would sell to the city as cheaply as to any individual. Why not more so? We believe that if the city commission would get behind this proposition the Katy would cooperate with them. Wonder what is the matter with the Women's club?

Would it not be a big thing for the Women's club, the Lions club and the Rotary club and all forward looking citizens to cooperate this year and the next in putting over a "park drive" for Cisco? The need is greatly felt by all. Why slumber on the job? A CITIZEN.

HIJACKERS GET $150 FROM GAS STATION AT EASTLAND

Financial conditions in West Texas are evidently improving, as hijackers are again plying their avocation. Elmer Lawrence, chief of police of Eastland, reported to the Cisco police this morning that a pair of hijackers held up the Bankhead filling station in that city Sunday night and relieved the proprietor of $150. The hijackers, whom Lawrence described, were driving a Ford, and both were in their shirt sleeves, when they held two six-guns on the proprietor and compelled him to deliver the contents of the cash register.

FUNDERBURK'S LEAD REDUCED BY RECOUNT

Judge Eustace W. Patterson, the runner-up candidate in the July primary with Judge O. C. Funderburk of El Paso, by a narrow margin of the court of civil appeals for the seventh supreme judicial district, who has recently made a tour of portions of the district since the first primary, says the political outlook is quite a bit more favorable as the authentic election returns of Eastland was. Taylor estimates reduce the lead of Judge Funderburk to less than 1,000 over the vote polled for Patterson.

In Sunday's press the election bureau gave out a statement showing the complete unofficial returns for the July primary in the race for associate justice of the court of civil appeals of this district. Funderburk received 2,878 votes, while Patterson received 17,617 votes and Judge A. Stephens received 12,947 votes, thereby indicating a plurality in favor of Judge Funderburk of 332 votes over Patterson. In commenting on this statement Judge Patterson said:

I did not think Eastland county is reported as giving Judge Funderburk 2,354 votes, while he received but 2,294 votes, thus reducing his lead 60 votes because of this error. It was also reported that I received 1,103 votes in Taylor county, while I received 1,796 votes, which reduced his lead a further 693 votes, because of this error, or a total of 1,100 votes. Assuming that the other counties are correctly reported by the bureau, and allowing deductions for the two errors indicated, it gives Funderburk a lead over me of but 2,762 votes out of approximately 56,000 votes.

Probably one-third of the people voting for county officers did not vote in this race, but more interest is being manifested than was shown in the first primary, and my reception on my visit over the district this week has been most encouraging. The fact that Eastland county, the home of both candidates, gave me a majority of 1,640 votes, and that my home box gave me 1,655 votes and my opponent 129 votes is generally taken as an indication of a decided choice between me and my opponent among the people who know us personally.

PEACE REIGNS AS G. O. P. OF TEXAS MEETS

FORT WORTH, Aug. 13.—Representatives from all over the state gathered today for the state convention to nominate candidates for United States senator, governor and other state offices. The session promises to be the most harmonious in years, although five delegations are to be contested, including those of Bexar, Frio, Robertson, Hidalgo and San Augustine counties. The only serious fight is expected to develop from Bexar county, stronghold of Texas' lone Republican congressman, Harry Wurzbach.

COTTONSEED CONSUMPTION SHOWS DROP

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—A report of the census bureau issued today showed 4,386,150 tons of cottonseed were received at mills for the 12 months ending July 31, compared with 6,379,447 tons a year ago.

Foul Play Indicated in Death of Dr. J. G. Church at Point Isabel; 2 Youths Held for Investigation

Dr. J. Garret Church, former Cisco physician and brother of Mrs. N. F. Payne, was killed at Point Isabel Saturday night, according to a message received by Mrs. Roy Chandler, 561 West Eleventh street, friend and former neighbor of Mrs. Payne. That Dr. Church met his death by foul play was indicated when the message stated he had received a blow on the head, though the verdict of the coroner who conducted the inquest, was to the effect that death was due to strangulation, "caused by his neck being tightened in a scuffle."

Isaacs says the prospects are looking brighter for the largest student body in the history of the college to be an attendance during the fall term.

WORK HELD UP ON PROPOSED GAS STATION

Work was held up on the proposed new filling station at the corner of D avenue and Third street Monday after workmen were on the ground for the preliminary steps. The action was the result of a request by Mayor Williamson that construction be delayed until a conference could be held between representatives of the city and protesting individuals and William Reagan, manager of the Texas Co., who had leased the site from the Katy railroad. Reagan was out of the city Monday.

THE SNOB.

Why is a snob? What is a snob? Webster's dictionary defines a snob as one who places a false and vulgar over-estimate on material possessions and fashionable standing; especially such a one who modifies his mental or outward attitude toward persons or matters because of wealth, station, etc., or the lack of them.

So we see that a snob is a person who kneels and knocks his head on the ground, so to speak, to those of fashionable standing or material wealth or both, and who looks down on and perhaps is discourteous to those whom he considers nobody in particular socially or financially.

Why is a snob? Undoubtedly a snob is because of lack of a sense of true values. A snob esteems himself because he is kin to George Washington, or because he is rich or his father is rich. He places a high esteem on others because they have notable blood in their veins or large sums in their banks.

Yet a man may possess the most distinguished kind of blood and the biggest sort of bank balance and still be one of the sorriest specimens of humanity. He may be a cheat, a thief, and so low down spiritually that when he looks up, if he ever does, he can see only the bottoms of his own shoes. Therefore, the snob is one who has a distorted idea of the verities; of what makes real men and real women; of what constitutes true worth. Snobbery then, if you please, is a form of ignorance and ignorance is the basis of most of mankind's defections.

We think one of the most pitiful exhibitions that a so-called human being can put on is to walk down the street, meet some honest, reliable, hard working, hard palmed man in overalls and cut him dead; then half a block further on bow and scrape and smirk and pull the forelock to some scallawag who is not in the penitentiary because his money and drag are keeping him out.

However, there are persons who have the reputation of being snobs who do not deserve it. An old professor came home one day and said to his wife, "My dear, I am afraid I offended Mrs. Wren this morning. I have a dim recollection that she spoke to me, and that I looked right at her and didn't reply."

Perhaps Mrs. Wren was displeased and thinks that the professor considers himself some personage just because he is a professor. But as a matter of fact the old man is so absent minded that on one occasion while crossing a pasture, he bumped into a cow, doffed his hat, bowed, and said, "Excuse me madam."

Near-sightedness is another common cause of failure to speak. A myopic person may look straight into the face of an acquaintance without seeing his features; then if the acquaintance does not happen to be aware of the other's optical deficiency he may snort and say to himself "He doesn't have to speak to me if he doesn't want to."

Then there is the person who is unusually reserved and can't help it; or who is timid and hides behind a cold front. Such persons can easily be mistaken for snobs until one has gotten to know them.

There are not many real snobs nowadays, for which the Lord be thanked. And as general intelligence develops they will become scarcer.

RUSSIA WOULD OUTLAW WAR.

The question now arises whether the Kellogg treaty to outlaw war is really an effort to line up civilization against war or whether it is only a very private and exclusive agreement against war among friends. The determination not to let Russia sign has brought the question forward. Russia says she would like to help outlaw war. Yet, letting her come in and sign the treaty would be tacit diplomatic recognition of the Soviet government. This is something that our state department still strongly opposes. The Russians, whatever their secret counsels among themselves, can make a pretty good case before the world. It was their suggestion not long ago that the way to disarm was to disarm. They followed that suggestion with such a sweeping proposal of disarmament that the other powers looked upon the whole thing as a trick. Now, Russia can say that the other powers are signing a treaty outlawing war among themselves, and that, by ignoring Russia, they impede the way to disarmament on Russia. That, of course, is far from the truth. This is the case with Russia, and probably with any other power. Then why not let Russia war on any of them? If she pledges, then the other you so, and punish her a make the pledge and keep much clear gain for world been built across the Pyrenes, which so long were preserved as a military barrier between France and Spain. The Alps are being bored for another international tunnel. Talk continues in England and France of a railroad tube beneath the English Channel. Rail gauges on various lines have been brought to standard width, enabling the rolling stock of one to continue into a neighboring country instead of stopping at the border. The airplane is naturally a great ignorer of boundaries. Likewise the radio. Intelligent men realize clearly that the age of isolation is past. Intelligence, with growing speed, overcomes ancient ignorance and prejudice.

THE ARAB RUNNER.

Ordinarily, "fleet-footed Arab" would mean a horse of a certain breed. Since the running of the Olympic Marathon, the phrase refers to El Ouafi, the Algerian farm boy who became a despatch rider against Adb-el-Krim, and later an automobile mechanic in Paris. El Ouafi is the first representative of a southern race to win the Marathon in the past 28 years. His success should serve as encouragement to athletes of other small countries and other races who have never been thought of as sportsmen in the English and American sense.

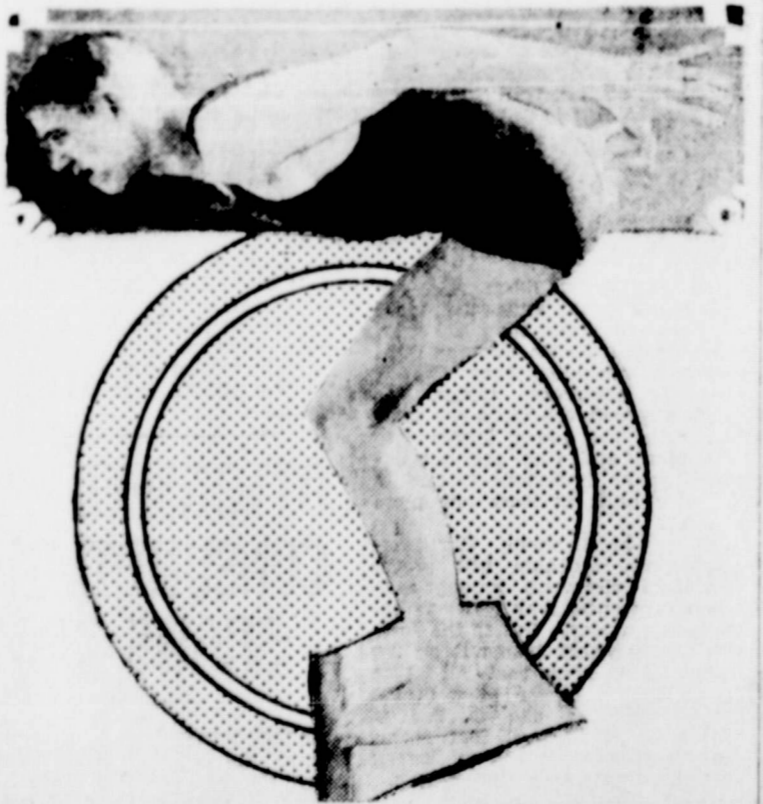

HEALTHY YOUTH.

For two and a half years the white population of Hagerstown, Md., has been under the close observation of the United States Public Health Service. That town was considered a representative small city of the middle eastern section of the United States. The purpose of the survey was to determine the amount of illness and its causes at different ages. The result of this unusual survey is the discovery that the golden age of human life, in the matter of freedom from illness, is the period between 20 and 25 years of age. Most illness comes in infancy and early childhood. The next greatest proportion of illness occurs in old age. A pretty strong health hint can be taken from this information. If young adults could be made to appreciate at its full value that golden age of health, perhaps they could be taught to conserve it. It is during that period of freedom from illness that they do foolish things, weaken the foundations of their health and start themselves on the way to some of the degenerative and organic diseases of middle and old age. That glorious health is a priceless possession, more valuable than the education or financial opportunities of that period. It should be used joyously but thriftily, made to serve as the basis for continued health in later years. It should not be squandered like a temporary windfall of good luck.

THE LAND LINER.

A super-vehicle has been designed by a German engineer for travel through steppes and deserts. It is said to be more like an ocean liner than anything that runs on wheels. It is 125 feet long, 25 feet wide, 45 feet high, with wheels 40 feet in diameter, and two 450-horsepower Diesel engines. It will accommodate 150 passengers, its own crew and 200 pounds of freight. Its fuel load allows for a trip of 8,000 to 10,000 kilometres, giving an unusually large cruising radius without need of supply stations. Like the ocean liner, this amazing automobile will have four stories or decks, with wireless room, cabins, office rooms, baggage room, promenade deck, bathrooms, kitchen, dining room, reading room, smoking room, and even a cooling room. If that means a place to escape the desert heat it ought to be very popular with passengers. If it is only a refrigerator room for storing food, it should be still more popular, because it will insure fresh food even in the desert. This land liner, according to reports, will go where other means of transportation (such as railroads) would involve unwarranted expense. Its designer and promoters evidently think there is a need for it, in spite of the development of airplanes, which are commonly thought of as the quickest and cheapest way to get into hitherto inaccessible places. At any rate, it offers de luxe travel comforts that the camel caravan never provided.

TEXAS

FERTILIZER USE INCREASES - Texas has doubled its use of commercial fertilizers in the last year. In 1928 137,687 tons of the commercial product was bought. Texas farmers also use more fertilization from their own farms, much that was formerly wasted now being used in a way to bring increased farm production. A pound of fertilizer is worth about 2 cents, but will return an increased crop yield about three-fourths of a pound of seed cotton worth from 5 to 7 cents. It is stated by the chemistry division of the A. & M. College that East Texas alone could use 750,000 tons of fertilizer annually to advantage.

LONDON HEAT WAVE SENBURNS MILLIONS - London's teeming millions have become sunburnt, as result of the heat-wave that has swept the country. Many people who usually do not become sunburnt even when exposed to prolonged sunshine are wondering how it is they have become "browned."

The explanation of the unusual process of sun-burning, which is happening even in the center of London, was given by Doctor Albert Edinow, of the National Institute of Medical Research, who declared:

"People are being browned, because of the large quantity of ultra-violet rays penetrating the atmosphere. Not for five years has there been such a host of these rays which are so beneficial to the human body."

"The penetration is greater now than at other times, said Dr. Edinow, "because there is only a thin layer of ozone at a high altitude. Consequently the ultra-violet rays are able to get through instead of being absorbed by the ozone."

"A number of people are suffering from sores and other skin complaints because they are not accustomed to this large amount of ultra-violet radiation," Dr. Edinow concluded.

Miss Zella Blanche McClinton, head of public speaking department at Randolph college and teacher of expression and dramatic art, will return September 1 to enroll pupils for work in expression which will begin September 15. Phone 564.

CROSS PLAINS, Aug. 13. - A modern new school is now being built on the Conley place about three miles south of Cross Plains. It will be a small building, but adequate for the attendance in that district. It will replace the old Gunn school building, which was located about one mile east of the new building, and will be completed in ample time for the opening of the fall term. It was believed up to a short time before starting the new building that this small district would consolidate with the Cross Cut district which is also building a new and larger school, but recent developments decided that the small district remain to itself.

AMBULANCE CHASERS ARE BARRED IN ATLANTA BY ORDER OF POLICE

ATLANTA, Aug. 13. - "Ambulance chasers" have been barred from the Atlanta police station on orders of chief of police James L. Beavers.

"The time has come to stop the ambulance chasing lawyer who has been visiting the police station," said Beavers. "A great many of them employ runners to stay in the police station constantly and telephone the nature of every accident."

"These lawyers then hurry to the persons involved, assume an intimate knowledge of the case, assure the person of heavy damages, and before the victim knows it, he has hired a questionable attorney."

Beavers withdrew police reports of accidents from public gaze and put them into the keeping of a special secretary.

GLORIOUS BETSY

NOVELIZED BY ARLINE DE HAAS

Copyright 1928, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc. 'GLORIOUS BETSY,' starring Dolores Costello, is a Warner Bros. production of this novel. Based on the play by Rida Johnson Young.

CHAPTER VII—Continued. "What! Is that all, Betsy?" she whispered softly in her ear.

"Oh, John, you are always so serious. Oh, please don't be serious," she begged, laughing now. "Tell me she demanded, 'is there anything about me you would like to see?'"

"I don't care for you—I've loved you from the first time I ever saw you," she said.

CHAPTER VIII. The great Patterson home was ablaze with light. Through the French windows opening onto the veranda could be seen figures moving busily about, superintending the final arrangements for one of the greatest fetes ever given in the old Monumental City.

As though the very gardens themselves were anxious to do homage to this Captain Jerome Bonaparte, brother of Napoleon, the flowers were more profusely than ever before and sent out auras of fragrance to the sweet evening air.

IRISH SAILOR 85, BIDS ADIEU TO HOSPITAL

DANIEL, Aug. 12.—Michael O'Grady, 85-year-old Irish sailor, who admitted he had fought the "great war" in every civilized port town, had passed away in the hospital.

Brought to the City-County hospital June 21, from England, he remained here until August 1.

Every day when Dr. A. K. Weir, assistant county health officer, would walk into the room the old man would get up, shake his head, and murmur as to the time when he would be released.

"What do you want to leave for?" Dr. Weir would ask. "You are comfortable here, you are fed well and you have a bed."

The forthcoming answer was always the same, "I want to go to work."

The first of this month he was released from the hospital. Friday afternoon he drifted back into the hospital with a smile extending from ear to ear.

"Where is Michael?" he was asked, and the answer was nearly the same.

"To work."

For Michael O'Grady, who is nearing his sixtieth milestone in a life that savors of the sea and in-jury ports, has a job. He was on his way to Louisiana where he was going to work for a doctor.

The directors of General Motors corporation at their meeting held last week declared on the common stock a regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 a share, payable September 12, 1929, to stockholders of record August 18.

The president, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., announced that the corporation's earnings for the quarter ended August 12, 1929, were $1,250,000.

The president also made the following statement: "Mr. Pierre D. DuPont submitted to the directors his resignation as chairman of the board."

The board felt that the position of the corporation, having been taken as understood, and that all should appreciate that Mr. DuPont's activities in connection with that association's work are entirely those of an individual and did not concern the corporation.

The resignation was therefore not accepted and Mr. DuPont was accorded a leave of absence instead.

THE REFRIGERATOR AND THE BABY

By KATHERINE G. CORNELL, Director of the Kellogg Domestic Institute

BABIES are most important personages these days! To be sure they have always been the darlings of the family, the very center of everything that went on in the household; but today they are more—they are real people. Their needs, their health, their growth, their food are the most important topics of conversation in the home.

The modern mother realizes that the babies of today are the men and women of tomorrow, and if they are to be healthy, normal men and women, it is necessary that they be safely started along the right road.

Must Safeguard Food

Scrupulous care of his food is one of the most important safeguards toward perfect health for the baby. It is not enough that the food should be selected with the utmost regard for its purity and health-giving properties; nor is it enough that it be properly prepared. Baby's meals must be safeguarded so strictly that not the tiniest, most infinitesimal decay spore or other bacteria can possibly attack them.

Every morning when mother prepares the baby's food, she washes and sterilizes his bottles, cooks his cereal with a watchful eye on the clock, painstakingly makes up his food formula, and prepares his soup, prunes juice or orange juice, and boils the drinking water for her wonderful baby.

The next step is to store baby's food in a perfectly sanitary way. It must be kept in a place so cold that no germ can exist in it and in a temperature that is almost stationary, neither rising nor falling more than a few fractions of a degree in twelve hours. Further, it must be in a place that is more than merely soap and water clean. It must be scientifically spotless.

Keeps Even Temperature
The modern electric refrigerator answers all of these requirements. Within its chill, clean depths baby's food is safeguarded from every possible harm. The rounded corners of its food chamber permit no gathering of minute particles of food, and the thickness of its walls assures a uniform, safe temperature of less than fifty degrees.

In such environment baby's food will keep pure and wholesome and perfectly fresh. Mother may prepare it in quantities to last for several days, devoting the time, she saves by such a plan to enjoying the fresh air and the sunshine with her baby.

Herbert Hoover, Missouri Farmer, to Visit Maryville 'Ranch' Soon; 16 Acres of Corn and 20 of Oats

MARYVILLE, Mo., Aug. 13.— "Herbert Hoover—the Missouri farmer!"

It is likewise not fiction, as the recent unobtrusive demonstration against Herbert Hoover at the Republican national convention at Kansas City by the rustic supporters of the McNary-Hangen bill, might lead one to think.

Any Maryville citizen will tell you, not without pride, that the "highly-esteemed piece of near-Graham" belongs to the gentleman from California and the District of Columbia, who recently resigned as secretary of congress to take up the duties of the presidential nominee of the Republican party.

Creates Excitement There is no end of excitement too, locally over the prospect of a visit from the famous Missouri farmer.

And already they are brushing up the Hoover farm in anticipation of the visit of its owner. Weeds that were three feet high, have been cut. Fences have been repaired and old buildings torn down.

It is not at all clear as to just when Hoover actually became a Missouri farmer. He is said to have become interested in the tract near Graham when some 28 years ago he inherited some of his earliest savings through a fellow student at Leland Stanford University.

Hoover's 1928 farm crop is not figured to be of such proportions that it will require a McNary-Hangen bill to regulate the market. Only sixteen acres were planted to corn this year and twenty to oats.

It was under the efficient Hoover's ownership that the present crop rotation with a view to building up the soil, was begun.

Phases said that he was told by Hoover on his recent visit to Washington that "the agriculture problem is present and it must be met, regardless of what political party is in power."

Fancy leaders including J. Fred Hull, postmaster and former editor, say the Hoover visit to Maryville will be made when the candidate is on his way back east. They point out that a Hoover visit to a Missouri farm which he owns— with a speech or so on the agricultural problem would win for him many followers among the Midwest farmers.

HUBBY-SLAYER IS SORRY NOW

Mrs. Frances Kirkwood, who slew her handsome young husband with a carving knife in a fit of jealous rage, occupies the same cell in the Long Island City jail that Ruth Snyder lived in before she went to the death house at Sing Sing. She's sorry now, she says. Top right, Duane Wallace, Ruth Snyder's lawyer, who has been engaged to defend Mrs. Kirkwood; below, the veterinarian-husband treating a "patient" in his office.

The taste of scorched milk can be taken away if the saucepan containing it is stood in cold water and left for a few minutes.

Why Is it—

That a man who owns a house, while yielding him an income of $75 a month, never fails to insure it against fire?

While that same man, who is himself earning $300 a month, sometimes fails to insure himself against accident?

He is more likely to be disabled by an injury than his house is to be destroyed by fire.

It is difficult to understand this, and even more so, when you think how reasonably a Travelers Accident Insurance Policy can be bought.

A. E. FALLS OF OIL-CEMETERY FIGHT IS DEAD

RANOFF, Aug. 12.—A. E. Falls, 45, died at his home at Merriman Friday after an illness that had extended over a period of a year. Mr. Falls had been a resident of Eastland county for 25 years.

He was an active layman in the Baptist church and during the oil boom was one of the factors who kept oil wells from being drilled in the famous Merriman cemetery. At one time he was in business at Staff and he was known all over this portion of Eastland county at the time of his death he was superintendent of the Sunday school at Merriman.

In 1904 he was married to Miss Beade Shover, the daughter of a pioneer Eastland county family.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, Kenneth and Gene of Merriman, four sisters, Mrs. Stallings, Miami, Texas; Mrs. Long Oklahoma; Mrs. Joe Hunter, Ranger; and Miss Neenie Falls, Merriman and two brothers, Phillip and Bob Falls of Merriman.

Funeral service was held Saturday at the Merriman church, Rev. J. C. Taylor, pastor, officiating. Burial followed in the Merriman cemetery.

Realizing that the result of the July primary, in which I received such a splendid plurality over and above my nearest opponent is the result of the confidence reposed in me by the people and through the untiring efforts of my friends, I certainly feel very, very grateful and desire to express my deepest and most sincere appreciation thereof.

I shall continue to conduct my campaign upon the same high standard and principles, as my sole ambition, hope and desire is to be nominated upon my own merits. And to my friends who supported me in the July primary, I wish to sincerely thank you and solicit your continued support in the runoff on August 25. VIRGE FOSTER 128

ANGLES TO BE CONSIDERED IN MATING TOLD

After the wedding of Miss Helen Horne and J. D. ... at the First Presbyterian church Sunday night "The Holy City" was sung by the pastor, Rev. D. C. Boney, who then spoke on "Home: the Nation's Stronghold" under the subtitle "Love Is the Key."

The preacher's thought was "Love is the only key that dare be trusted in entering the marital estate, and to know the key itself one must ask: Are we physically attractive to each other? Do we crave the presence of each other, or are we indifferent when separated? Are we mentally compatible, are our tastes suited to each other, or do we find that we are mental opposites in taste? Are we spiritually in harmony or must that be a hushed subject in the new relationship contemplated?"

"No matter how well equipped otherwise, if the spiritual side is lacking a great handicap is placed before the pair. It is unwise to contemplate the other party, or do you find yourself asking 'what will I gain?' This estate is not one where practical gain may be considered primarily, that comes as a result of unselfish devotion. More consideration given to these things in time would save heartaches and wrecked homes. Let us stop condemning and criticizing, and in love try to offer helpful preventives and aids to wholesome conditions."

At the morning hour Miss Josephine Robinson played Kreutzer's "The Old Recluse" in her usual effective manner, the choir sang and the minister preached on "The Power of God."

The morning issue said Secretary Hoover, as he was fishing for trout in Northern California, is less time between bites. That ought to land him the pastoralist vote.—Roanoke Times.

CRIPPLED MAN FAILS TO SWIM CHANNEL

DOVER, England, Aug. 12.—Dorothy Lumsden, the crippled Dover-shire swimmer who entered the water here at 11 o'clock Saturday night on the first attempt this year to swim the English Channel, abandoned the effort when five miles off the French coast after being in the water ten and a half hours. Exceptionally rough seas forced him to quit after he covered approximately twenty miles.
