SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 29.—The following review of activities of the United States biological survey in Texas has been prepared by L. C. Whitehead, leader in rodent control work for Texas, covering almost every section of Texas: Organized rat campaigns were conducted in fifty-four counties and 56,437.55 in prizes were offered in thirty-five organized rat-tail contests.

LABOR GROUP PUTS ITS O.K. ON AL SMITH

CLEAN UP OR WE'LL DO IT, MAYOR WARNS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—One of the most interesting figures in political life will gamble his future career on Al Smith's chance of election to the presidency.

WACO, Aug. 29.—Among the eleven prisoners who left here Monday afternoon in "Bud Russell's special" for Huntsville was one Aubrey Ray, a youth, who faces serving sentence for bank robbing and other offenses that aggregate 387 years.

PORT WORTH, Aug. 29.—The Texas Livestock Sanitary commission has under consideration the installation of dipping vats for sheep at all the fairs over the state as a preventative against spread of scabies and other diseases.

A total of 2,690,528 counted rat tails were counted in these contests, representing net saving of $5,535,792 to the people of Texas. Also, 22,290 pounds of barium carbonate exposed in adult poisoning campaigns.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 29.—The New York state Federation of Labor in session today voted to endorse Al Smith for president of the United States by a vote of 534 to 6.

"ALL EXHIBITS ARE GUARANTEED"

On the other hand, if Smith should be elected president, Wagner, in the senate, would be one of the most important figures in national politics.

When asked about how he felt with 387 years in prison staring him in the face longer than he will live, he said, "It is surprising but a comfortable feeling. It's hopeless, you know."

OLD ERIN PAYS HOMAGE TO U.S. SEC OF STATE

NO SORE SPOTS TO PATTERSON FROM PRIMARY

Judge B. W. Patterson, who was nominated for associate justice of the court of civil appeals for the eleventh supreme judicial district by Judge C. O. Funderburk, incumbent, was seen this morning in his offices, and when asked if he cared to make a statement, replied: "There is very little to say except that which is already known, that Judge Funderburk was the choice of the people as expressed by their votes in the runoff primary. As I was eliminated I am now back at my desk trying to clear up the work that has accumulated during the campaign."

Work on the Will Hogg tabernacle will be completed today according to Rev. S. J. Williams, fore-runner of the evangelist, who stated that because of a shortage of workmen Wednesday they failed to complete the job in one day.

TRAIN BANDIT IS CAPTURED BY KATY FIREMAN

PARSONS, Kan., Aug. 30.—An attempt made by a lone bandit to hold up the northbound Katy train this morning was frustrated 20 miles north of here. The man, who apparently boarded the train at Erie, climbed over the tender, entered the cab of the locomotive, pointed a pistol at the engineer and fireman and ordered the train stopped. He was caught off guard by the fireman who grappled with him. The bandit, disarmed and captured, was taken to Jola, Kan., where he was lodged in jail.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 30.—The steamboat Alquippa overturned early this morning while maneuvering in the Ohio river. Three of 23 persons aboard the river craft are believed missing while 20 were rescued or swam ashore. The Alquippa, a steel lowering steamer, was maneuvering in midstream preparatory to picking up two barges loaded with 6,000 tons of steel at the time of the accident. A pipe break in the boiler is believed to have caused the accident.

MURDERER OF DAUGHTER TO HANG FRIDAY

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Aug. 29.—The scaffold on which Wallace Gaines, convicted of murdering his daughter, a graduate of Smith College, is scheduled to hang Friday, was completed today a short distance from the cell. The crime was committed two years ago. The body of the girl was found on the shore of a lake near here.

BOLL WEEVIL MOTH FOUGHT IN WEST TEXAS

Though defeated I have emerged from the campaign without a scar, and with nothing but the kindest feeling for all. The campaign left no sore spots in my heart for a single man or woman. In fact I am proud of some splendid friendships formed which are worthwhile.

A perfectly good cub bear is missing from the zoo at Lake Cisco, and the custodian of the animals will appreciate it if anyone seeing this youngster running at large will report its whereabouts at once. The cub was chained to a tree this morning while its cage was being cleaned out, but disliking restraint, broke the chain and escaped into the brush.

GENEVA, Aug. 30.—The fifth session of the League of Nations council opened today. The opening was marked by the absence of Foreign Minister Chamberlain of England and the foreign ministers of France and Germany. The session was opened by the Finnish foreign minister. The league assembly will open Monday.

CADET KILLED IN AIRPLANE CRASH

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 30.—Cadet Raymond Seider, student in the advance flying school, Kelly Field, died late Wednesday afternoon at station hospital, Port Sam Houston, from injuries received when his plane crashed, thirty-eight miles west of here. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Seider of Hollywood, Calif.

WICHITA FALLS, Aug. 30.—The bodies of Mabel M. Merrill, veteran Curtiss field flyer and Edward Ronne, head of the Buffalo airport, were found today in woods near Milford, Pa., where the plane crashed while enroute from Buffalo to New York.

West Texas chamber of commerce, announced various methods are being employed to eliminate the pest. Arsenate and Paris green are proving effective and lighted lanterns placed above kerosene to attract moths at night also has been used. Wade said that unless serious damage is done immediately, he believed the season's cotton crop will be good.

It appears that there is an error in the figures given out by the election bureau, which shows that Judge Funderburk carried Eastland county by 45, while the figures as reported to the Cisco Daily News shows that Judge Patterson carried the county by over 700.

GUEST OF HONOR

The speaking will take place in the large stadium at the Loop football team, where there are seats for 15,000 persons and the football field will accommodate 5,000 more. Ample provision outside the stadium will be provided for those who cannot be accommodated within the stadium proper. This will not interfere with any person hearing the distinguished visitor, as loud speakers will be placed on the grounds, which will be brilliantly illuminated and there will be ample space within the vicinity of the stadium in which to park cars. However, the stadium is within easy walking distance of the business section of the city, and those who prefer may leave their cars downtown and walk out to the stadium.

REDUCE COST OF GOVERNING, IS SMITH IDEA

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 30.—If the farmers of America want relief they should insist on a reduction in the cost of local, county and town governments, which should bring about a corresponding decline in taxes. This is Governor Al Smith's notion about solving the perplexing farm problem which he revealed today to a group of farm leaders attending the New York state fair.

HOOPER USES SAME METHOD OF WAR DAYS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—The principles upon which Herbert Hoover conducted the vast relief operations for the Belgians and directed the American food administration during the World War will be relied upon to build the Republican organization which is expected to bring victory to Hoover and Curtis in November, it was disclosed today.

TWO OLD HENS.

A woman set two hens at the same time, with the idea of combining the broods when they should hatch and giving both to one hen.

The attitude of the sitters toward the woman whenever she came to minister to them were distinctly different. One of the biddies was a kind, gentle bird. Of course she didn't like to be disturbed, no sitting hen does. But she only clucked plaintively, as much as to say, "Please don't interrupt me; I have serious work to perform;" and she was courteous and diplomatic. The other was one of those creatures who tell you where to get off.

Now when those eggs hatch do you suppose was given that had behaved the usual feeling existed you just quite naturally and with the nicer of the two? Human beings gum themselves out of what they disagreeable hen; they take no effort to offend.

And some folks think dependent, courageous, independent, absolutely to be nice to do something for their philosophy as could be create a strong character; it "I never cotton to a man just get something out of him sometime," declares an ungracious youth.

Well, Son, the thing to do is to be nice to everybody, regardless. And if something good should happen to come your way because of your being nice, there is no harm in taking it to your bosom.

There is an old saying that kissing goes by favor. Other kinds of nice things too go by favor—patronage, promotions, elective offices, the best seats at the theater, and the extra pieces of pie at the boarding house table.

Because she was pleasant, one old mother hen is happy in the possession of a double portion of downy, yellow, black-eyed, twittering chicks, while another mother hen stalks around, pessimistic and disgruntled, with feathers on end, scolding the world, as the direct result of pecking the hand that fed her.

WORLD AMERICANIZATION.

Americanization is no longer confined to the foreigner who has migrated to this country. It goes on in distant lands at an amazing rate, and makes it easier for people coming here from other countries to adapt themselves to our ways. This was pointed out by Prof. R. D. McKenzie of the University of Washington, speaking at the Williamstown Institute of Politics. "Americanization," he said, "is going on beyond our national borders. Culture is migrating more rapidly than people and is producing changes in distant regions. Thus, Japan is becoming Americanized as rapidly as the Japanese on the Pacific Coast." The same thing is taking place in other parts of the world, in varying degree. Cultural differences are being leveled. Eventually people can move freely from one side of an ocean to the other without finding themselves transplanted into absolutely strange conditions. Modern methods of communication and transportation have hastened their development. Perhaps it will mean making the world a more monotonous place, with fewer differences among nations and races. It should certainly simplify the assimilation of immigrants. At least, it should do this if American ideals are accepted abroad along with superficial American manners and methods.

OLD MEN.

President von Hindenburg, who was an old man when he commanded the German armies in the World War, is going to hunt chamois in the Bavarian Alps as usual. That involves strenuous mountain-climbing, calling for endurance of toil and cold usually associated only with youth. It calls, too, for a steady hand and clear eye. Hindenburg has them at 89. Meanwhile Thomas Gallagher, an American railroad man living comfortably on a retired pension at the age of 100, announces that he wants to marry again if he can find "the right kind of a red-headed girl." Gallagher is active mentally and physically. He indulges in two recreations—taking long daily walks with a blackthorn stick that has been in the family for 300 years, and then reads all night. Evidently old age "ain't what it used to be."

LOFTY READING.

More interesting than the time record of Captain Hubert Broad, an English aviator who remained aloft for 24 hours in a light plane, is the way he passed his time while making the record. He took a couple of books up with him, and another airman who soared up after a while to see how he was faring found him absorbed in reading, while munching a sandwich. He must have suggested a lady of leisure sitting back in a comfortable chair at home, reading a novel and nibbling chocolates. This is nothing new for Captain Broad. Once in making a flight across Europe he read a long novel through. Here is a new slant on aviation. It is evidently safer than most of us have supposed. It also affords unexpected opportunities for leisure and self-improvement. Harassed by the turmoil down below, we may buy planes and take to the air to get our reading done.

LATIN AMERICAN DIPLOMACY.

Arthur Ruhl, a travel-writer who has written much about Latin-America and probably understands it as well as any American, says most of our diplomatic differences with our Latin neighbors are due to the "tactlessness" of our diplomats. He holds this true especially in Central America. Our representatives there, he complains, often fail to appreciate the importance of their posts and to conduct themselves wisely, looking down on the countries they are accredited to. The fact is, as Mr. Ruhl points out, that these posts are extremely important because they involve close neighbors and vital interests and delicate problems. The present Mexican ambassador is an example of the good that may be accomplished by a capable man who takes Latin-Americans seriously and makes a genuine effort to understand and sympathize with them. Such an attitude is as essential in the "American Balkans" as in Mexico. Our government, for its part, can help by making due allowance for the difficult living conditions in those small, undeveloped, semi-tropical countries, paying adequate salaries, giving liberal vacations, etc. and so on.

COST OF AN EYE.

A verdict of $23,000 has been rendered against a New York storekeeper for selling an air rifle to a child, contrary to law. It is a misdemeanor there to sell a weapon to anyone under the age of 16. Richard Keane, 13 years old, bought an air rifle from William Markowitz without his parents' knowledge. When he took it home, his mother tried to return it, but the storekeeper refused to take it back. She then forbade the boy to use it, and hid it from him, intending to give it to him when he was old enough. One day when the mother was away, Richard found the gun, started shooting with it in a neighbor's cellar, and shot out the eye of a seven-year-old child. That child gets $20,000, and his father $3,000. It is a drastic verdict, some business men will say. But parents will not resent it. Perhaps the case will persuade parents everywhere to be more careful about what their children play with. It may also give merchants and manufacturers a new light on children's playthings.

PERCENTAGE OF FAT IN CREAM IS EASILY CHANGED

Variations in Tests May Result from Temperature of Milk, Rate of Flow or Many Other Causes

E. H. Varnell, who is giving much of his time to the development of the dairying interests in Eastland county and adjoining sections says that one of the most common causes for dissatisfaction among creamerymen and cream shipping patrons, is in the variation which occurs in the percentage of fat in cream from farm separators. When the cream is separated from the milk of the same cows, fed the same ration and milked by the same men, it seems natural for the farmer to think that the percentage of fat or test of the cream should remain the same unless the cream or skim milk screw is changed. When variations in the tests occur, he frequently concludes that it is due to inaccurate or careless testing. As a matter of fact, he says, one should be more suspicious if tests are uniform, as it is practically impossible to run a farm separator without some variations. He enumerates some of the causes which are the principal factors in variation in the test of cream and skim milk:

The speed of separator bowl—Changes in the speed of the separator bowl are undoubtedly the most common causes of variation in the test of the cream. As the speed of the separator is increased, the amount of cream is reduced and the percentage of fat increases. If the speed is reduced below normal, a large quantity of cream is secured with a lower test.

The richness of the milk separated—The percentage of fat in the cream is directly influenced by the percentage of fat in the milk separated. When all other conditions remain the same, the higher the test of the milk, the higher will be the test of the cream. Of course the matter of the ration fed will have largely to do with this variation. Other factors enter into this, also.

The temperature of the milk separated—Milk should be separated at a temperature of 90 to 95 degrees Fahrenheit. If separated at a lower temperature the test of the cream will be increased slightly and there will be larger loss of fat in the skim milk.

The condition of the milk separated—Dirty milk may clog the cream or skim milk outlets during the separating process, affecting the test. Sour cream clogs the machine and makes separation less efficient. Reheated milk is likely to break up its fat globules and hence does not separate completely.

The rate of inflow of milk into the separator—The rate of inflow into the separator bowl, ordinarily regulated by a float, does not vary to any great extent. However, if the flow of the milk into the bowl is retarded the percentage of fat in the cream will tend to be slightly higher.

The steadiness of running, or vibration of the bowl—Unless the separator is kept perfectly and securely fastened to a solid foundation, vibrations will occur. Worn bearings and bushings may also cause the bowl to vibrate. Vibrations may cause imperfect separation and considerable loss of fat in the skim milk.

The amount of skim milk or water used to flush the bowl—Unless the water or skim milk used to flush the bowl is always measured, this may cause a reduced test of cream, depending upon the amount running into the cream.

The cleanliness of the separator bowl—The separator, as well as all utensils with which the milk comes in contact, should be thoroughly cleaned each time after being used. The best method is perhaps to first rinse with cool lukewarm water and then warm with hot water to which has been added a quantity of good washing powder. After this it should be scalded with boiling water or thoroughly steamed. Neglect of this will result in loss of butterfat and cause variation in cream test.

The adjustment of the cream or skim milk screw—The percentage of fat in the cream is readily regulated by adjusting the cream or skim milk screw. The proper adjustment of this screw is often neglected and hence the variations in the test from this cause.

Those selling cream have the right to demand a proper testing of their cream, however, and they should inform themselves from bulletins on the subject and from other sources that are available to those interested.

CREAM ROUTE DOING NICELY; OUTLOOK GOOD

In a letter to the farmers along the cream route, south of Cisco, the chamber of commerce announces that this route continues to do well. The outlook for increased production is optimistic in view of more cow addition from freshening of dry ones. Patrons along the route were paid $607.09 for sweet cream last month. The carrier, Paul Weiser, is selling from 1,500 to 2,000 pounds of ice each day—on Mondays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

The sale of a number of new separators, together with an expected rise in sweet cream prices, will have a tendency to add more patrons and to increase the optimistic ones of the route patronage. To further improve the service now being offered an improvement to the route patrons, standard cream boxes have been built for each patron. They are large enough to hold several cans of cream and are neatly built and painted. It is expected that they will serve to increase community pride and help advertise the route in addition to operating as can containers.

These boxes, which have been built at a cost of $2.65 each, are being paid for and furnished by Garner's Department store, Bankhead Feed Mill and the First National bank. They will be substantially erected and conveniently placed so as to afford the least loss of time to the carrier.

LOW RAIL RATES LABOR DAY TO FORT WORTH AND DALLAS

The Texas & Pacific railroad, in this issue of the American and Roundup, is advertising an exceptionally low rate to Fort Worth and Dallas for Sept. 2, on account of Labor Day celebration in those cities. The rate from Cisco to Fort Worth or Dallas and return is $2.65. Tickets are not good for trains Nos. 1, 2, 15 and 16, but good on all trains arriving in Dallas or Fort Worth on the morning of Sept. 2 and limited to return on train arriving at starting point before midnight of Sept. 4. The labor unions of both Fort Worth and Dallas will stage big celebrations on Labor Day.

Being an international pastime, it's funny there is no event in the Olympic for gliding at the umpire—Detroit News.

ELLIOTT DRUG STORES

Elliott Drug. Corner Drug "Two Stores to Serve You"

To Our Customers --

In the eye of the purchaser, no store is larger than the article he wishes to buy; especially is this true if you do not have the article in stock. You may have thousands of dollars worth of merchandise in your store, yet the customer who wants syrup of pepsin, for instance, cannot be given real service if you cannot supply syrup of pepsin.

Only a few days ago one of our foremost customers said, "Look to the Leader for leadership," and to whom should we look for drugs other than the house that is in the drug business—a house that is trying to maintain a first class drug business.

We try to keep a complete stock of merchandise. By doing this we can better serve your interests and it is the proper consideration of your interests that makes a safe and steady growth possible for ourselves.

We are experienced in the drug business and are in a position to anticipate your requirements. We want your business, we have the merchandise and can deliver the goods.

To tell you we appreciate your business is not enough; we want to warrant your confidence and deserve your business.

The Soul of the City

BUILDINGS are the body of a city, and their bulk against the sky line suggests giant strength. The streets and avenues are the veins and arteries through which flows the city's traffic. Its lines of communication are like a network of nerves. Its factories, stores, banks and homes suggest industry and frugality. Schools and concerts promote intelligence and culture. The churches represent the soul of the city—here the sense of God is cultivated—here the discernment of moral values is encouraged. In the churches inspiration is furnished for all charities and reforms and welfare work which bind the community together in good will. Cities have individuality and churches give the city a good name. When you worship on Sunday and encourage attendance at church by your example and influence you enrich your own soul and also the soul of our city.

NOTICE, VISITORS!

Don't think that because you are away from home you are away from friends—there are many friendly churches in Cisco and Eastland county, all denominations. They extend to you a cordial invitation to attend their services.

VETERAN RURAL MAIL CARRIER GIVEN ANOTHER EXTENSION

W. Tickner, Eligible Since 1923 to Retire, Has Served under Three Postmasters and Five Presidents

Cisco's veteran rural mail carrier, W. J. Tickner, has just been granted another year's service extension by the postal department in Washington, although he has been eligible for retirement since 1923. This is the fourth extension that has been granted to him who has served under five presidents and three local postmasters. He began carrying mail on rural free delivery No. 1 under President Roosevelt and has served successively under the administrations of Woodrow Wilson, Harding, Coolidge, and is now preparing to continue in the service under President Al Smith. Only Herbert Hoover, as he is known, but not an offensive partisan Republican. He began carrying the mails on this same route as Postmaster Gomer Williams continued under Postmaster S. John and the incumbent, E. Dupitt, as he is still hale and hearty, and not thinking of retirement.

Mail carriers are eligible for retirement with pension at the age of 65, but Tickner believed he was going to be placed on the retired list. He has successfully requested a permit to continue in the service. This was granted, and he was given an extension of one year. Since then his extension has been for but one year at a time, as he says "the department is afraid he might get a little older than a chance."

His route is 32 miles long, which he covers and is back in Cisco every morning. He is now requesting the department to give him more territory to serve. He has been serving the mail patrons so long and so punctually on route No. 1 that the people no longer feel the necessity of clocks to tell the time of day in the forenoon, as they know what time he will appear.

When he first began carrying the mail on this route he was driving a pair of broomtail ponies, and 12 hours were consumed in making the rounds over roads that were sometimes impassable. When automobiles were put on the market he changed his ponies and mail wagon for a model T Ford in which he served his patrons more expeditiously. Later the better highway enabled him to cover the ground at a faster clip. But having started in a Ford he is still driving that make of car, though Tickner is progressive, and has discarded his model T for a late model four door sedan of the same make. Tickner has been on this route so long that he knows every man, woman and child by their first name.

This veteran carrier is also a minister of the gospel, and not only serves the people on his route but frequently preaches to them and performs other ministerial offices, such as marriages, christening the children that are born, substituting to the sick and performing burial rites. Many of the children who greet this veteran carrier are those of parents for whom he officiated at their marriage.

He is the oldest rural mail carrier in Eastland county and one of the oldest in the state.

Another good rain fell last Thursday night doing much good to growing feed and the pastures.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lamberth of Fort Worth are visiting this week with Mr. and Mrs. N. M. White, side, parents of Mrs. Lamberth.

Bruce Curry was the creator of quite an excitement in our community one day, or rather one night last week leaving his team with the harness on, he mounted his saddle horse and told his wife he would be back in a short time as he was going out in the pasture to see about some cows. The cows were seen after and Bruce started home. In opening a gate his mount broke away and left his master afoot. It took Bruce until 11 o'clock that night to catch his horse. During the time Mrs. Curry got her neighbors to look for the missing cowboy. We were all excited and

FINE PEACHES ARE GROWN IN CISCO YARDS

And still they come, meating peaches. In spite of the late frost that killed much of the fruit crop last spring, Eastland county has produced the best peach crop since 1919 when the fruit rotted by the hundreds of bushels in the orchards. Even the city orchards have produced some of the finest peaches ever grown in any county. This was proven when a batch of very fine clings was brought to the Daily News office by W. P. Pulley, who secured these samples from those grown by his neighbor Mrs. W. L. Harwell, of 500 West Second street. Mrs. Harwell was canning as Pulley passed by her home this morning, and the fruit was of such excellent quality that he picked a few from the culls left over from the canning and brought these down to show what can be grown in Cisco and Eastland county.

Nearly every yard where there are peach trees has shown some excellent fruit this year. Another yard that has produced more peaches than the owner and next door neighbors could consume is that of Judge J. L. Shepherd, 607 West Ninth street. Some of this fruit was as large as an orange, uniformly ripened and of excellent flavor.

It is noted that the flavor of Eastland county fruit is superior to that grown on the Pacific slope, and this year has grown to much larger proportions.

Lee Leading Callaway by 4,484 for Congress, Election Bureau Says; Funderburk Nearly 3,000 in Front

With returns practically complete, Lee won the Democratic nomination for congress from the 19th Texas district by a majority of 4,484 over Oscar Callaway in the runoff primary of last Saturday, according to figures announced by the Texas election bureau. It gave Lee 26,203 votes and Callaway 21,719.

O. C. Funderburk of Eastland had a lead of nearly 3,000 votes over W. W. Patterson of Cisco for associate justice of the eleventh district court of civil appeals. Their votes were 22,352 and 22,359, respectively.

Tom Connally, Martin congressmen, defeated Senator Earle B. Terrell for senate by nearly 60,000.

WICHITA FALLS AIRPORT INSTALLS GIANT LIGHT

WICHITA FALLS, Aug. 29.—Wichita Falls municipal airport, Kell Field, has been brought up to date as a terminal for night flying with the installation of a rotating searchlight. Beams of the giant light can be seen more than 20 miles away, observers have reported. A similar searchlight is maintained on top of a local office building, upon which is painted an arrow directing pilots to the airport.

Don't Guess—KNOW

Don't start out with your car, thinking that the brakes are all right. If you haven't already formed the habit start today by driving your car onto our Jumbo Giant Brake Tester. In two minutes you will know definitely what you have a right to expect when the time comes to jam down the right pedal. The test is free.

Four gauges—one for each brake report accurately on the "jumbo". If all of your brakes are not in perfect condition, keep your car on the jumbo to be repaired and adjusted.

When the gauges show that all brakes are in perfect shape, drive away, knowing that you are sure of your ability to stop your car when and where you want to.

After your first test drive in every thousand to fifteen hundred miles. The Jumbo Brake Test is just as important as oiling and greasing.

A Plain Statement of INTERESTING FACTS

OUR POLICY—
We strive to aid you in the selection of furniture that will make your Home a place of Beauty and Comfort. With this in mind, we keep our stocks complete at all times with the newest, most modern furniture that the markets afford.

BUYING POWER—
We buy in car-load lots, thereby securing discounts that the small buyer does not enjoy. This, together with our large volume of business and quick turnover, results in worthwhile savings.

SAVINGS TO YOU—
It is with pleasure that we pass these savings on to you. Our continued success depends upon the confidence which the buying public places in this store, and each day we work harder to increase that trust and confidence. We especially invite you to visit us and see the New Fall Furniture.
