Huge Crowd at Opening of Revival

Audience That Packs Tabernacle Greets Rev. Hogg; Nearby Towns to Send Delegations to Services

Climaxing months of anticipation on the part of local pastors and church leaders and several weeks of intensive preparation by the religious forces, the Will Hogg city-wide evangelistic campaign, sponsored by the combined church forces of the city was formally launched Sunday night at the big pine tabernacle which has been specially erected for the purpose of the campaign. Work of intensive preparation has been under the personal supervision of Rev. S. J. T. Williams of Abilene, campaign director for Dr. Hogg, who has also supervised the erection of the tabernacle and mobilized the church forces to insure the successful launching of the effort last night. Dr. Hogg, nationally known evangelist and leader of the party, arrived last night from Memphis to deliver his evening message. Earl S. Rodgers, of Mineral Wells, Dr. Hogg's musical director and Rawley Tredway of Mansfield, La., pastor and secretary of the organization, both arrived in time for an advance choir rehearsal yesterday afternoon.

HOGG REVIVAL PROGRAM

Tonight
7:30 p. m.—Regular evening tabernacle service. Sermon subject: "Keeping Appointments With God." Special music by the large chorus choir directed by Earl S. Rodgers. Rawley Tredway, accompanist. A large delegation from Baird will be special guests at this service.

Tuesday
10:00 a. m.—Morning service at the tabernacle. Dr. Hogg will deliver the second of his morning series of addresses on "The Book of Acts."

No further services Tuesday on account of Senator Robinson's address.
Wednesday
10:00 a. m.—Dr. Hogg's third address on the Book of Acts.
7:30 p. m.—Regular evening tabernacle service. Sermon subject: "The Land of Beginning Again." Delegations from Rome, Palmiton, the Twelfth street Methodist, the Nazarene and East Side Baptist churches will be special guests.

Regular services continue throughout the week at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. daily. Hanger and Comanche will send special delegations on Thursday night. Abilene will send a large delegation on Friday night.

was laboring under a severe handicap in that he is just recuperating from a painful jaw operation, it was easily evident that the reputation which has preceded Dr. Hogg as one of the nation's outstanding evangelists, is not an exaggerated one and local religious leaders are enthusiastic over the successful outcome of the initial service and are confident in their expectation that the effort will result in the greatest spiritual awakening in the history of Cisco.

A good crowd heard Dr. Hogg this morning at 10 o'clock in his first address on the Book of Acts, the first of a series of addresses he will make at the morning services constituting a running study of this New Testament book. Tonight he will preach again at 8 o'clock, his subject being announced as "Keeping Appointments With God." The second lecture on Acts will be given tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock after which all other services of the day will be canceled in view of Senator Robinson's visit to the city. Regular services will be resumed Wednesday morning and on Wednesday night Dr. Hogg will preach on "The Land of Beginning Again."

SMITH PLAYS GOLF, RESTS OVER HOLIDAY

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 3.—With a busy week ahead of him Governor Al Smith rested at the executive mansion here today with only a game of golf and an auto ride on his holiday program. The governor plans to go to the capital tomorrow on state business. Later in the week he will announce his campaign itinerary through the West.

JESSE LOONEY HELD AFTER ALLEGED HAMMER AFFRAY

According to reports reaching police headquarters in Cisco, Jesse Looney is being held by Shackelford county officers on charges growing out of an affray between Looney and another man at a dance near Moran Saturday night. According to reports reaching Cisco, Looney is alleged to have struck his antagonist on the head with a hammer. It was first reported that the blow had killed him, but this was denied in the phone message to Police Chief Miller this morning, when it was stated the man was only slightly injured and would recover. The name of the injured man could not be learned.

WITH SENATOR ROBINSON AT HOT SPRINGS

Senator Joe T. Robinson listening to Mrs. Warner, the eldest daughter of Governor Smith, greeting the thousands that assembled to hear the Senator accept the nomination to the vice presidency of the United States at Hot Springs, Ark., Aug. 30.

Democratic Ticket Offers Hope to Labor of Continued High Pay, Robinson Says in Dallas Speech

DALLAS, Sept. 3.—Opening his first campaign tour here today Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, vice presidential nominee, told a Labor Day audience here that the Democratic national ticket offered the greatest hopes to the workers of continued high wages, increased employment and improved labor conditions. He cited the action of the New York state Federation of Labor in endorsing the candidacy of Governor Alfred E. Smith as the best evidence of the presidential nominee's standing with labor in his own state.

KELLOGGS END THEIR VISIT IN EMERALD ISLE

DUBLIN, Ireland, Sept. 3.—Secretary of State and Mrs. Frank B. Kellogg concluded their Irish visit this afternoon and left for Kingstown, where they boarded the cruiser Detroit which will take them to Cherbourg.

FRANK KUTER'S FATHER TO BE BURIED BY HIM

Albert Kuter, father of Frank Kuter, who was buried August 30, following his death in Trinidad, will be buried beside the grave of his son Wednesday afternoon, immediately after arrival of body on the Texas & Pacific passenger train here at 2:05 o'clock. A. C. Green, of the Green Funeral Home, will meet the train and take charge of the body and direct the funeral. Rev. P. T. Stanford, pastor of the First Methodist church, will conduct the funeral services at Oakwood cemetery.

H. W. WINSLOW, HOTEL KEEPER HERE, IS DEAD

Henry Walker Winslow, 53, who has been operating the Mecca hotel on East Ninth street, died at that place this morning about 9 o'clock. The body was prepared for burial by the Wippen Funeral Home, and will be conveyed to be held in Tyler beginning October 5. The appointments were made by Mark Marshall, assistant general inspector of the United Sons of Confederate Veterans. They are Mrs. K. E. Howze, sponsor; Mrs. S. S. Posey, chaplain; Mrs. Cable Kilgus, matron of honor; Miss Bessie Milam, Miss Abbie Maxwell and Miss Evelyn Smith, maids of honor.

CONGRATULATES CISCO

Wichita Falls, Sept. 3. Cisco Daily News, Cisco, Tex. Thanks immensely for invitation to dinner Tuesday. Regret impossible to attend. Congratulations to citizenship on bringing Senator Robinson to your good city and to acquaintance with West Texas. Best wishes for all and a real old Democratic rally.
J. H. ALLISON,
Wichita Daily Times and Record-News.

ROCKFORD IS JOYOUS AFTER FLIERS SAVED

ROCKFORD, Ill., Sept. 3.—After a night of profuse celebration prompted by the news that Bert Hassel and Parker D. Cramer, missing Illinois to Sweden fliers, had been found and were safe at Mount Evans, Greenland, Rockford was still in the throes of a mighty demonstration today. The first news of the rescue was received in Rockford by radio, causing rejoicing in the entire city. Bonfires were lighted throughout the city. The fliers left here August 16.

PLAN TO AVOID RAIL STRIKE IS TO BE OFFERED

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Details of a peace plan which it is hoped will avert the possible strike of 70,000 trainmen and conductors of 55 western railroads will be presented here today before an association of general committees of the two unions involved, it is understood. President A. P. Whitely of the trainmen's brotherhood and E. P. Curtis, president of the conductors' organization, arrived last night. They are expected to make public today or tomorrow the result of the strike ballot taken by employees during the last three weeks.

PHILADELPHIA MAYOR ORDERS RAIDS ON VICE

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 3.—Incensed over criminal conditions here Mayor Harry Mackey today called all police officials together and ordered them to close every bootlegging joint, gambling den and house of vice in the city within 24 hours or to turn in their badges.

HOME MISSION BOARD TO HEAR AUDIT REPORT

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 3.—Members of the home mission board of the Southern Baptist church gathered here today to hear the report of the auditors of the books of Clinton S. Carnes, treasurer of the organization, who disappeared August 15. A countryside search is being made for him as the result of the disclosures that he had served two prison terms for fraudulent use of the mails. His friends maintain that he disappeared because of blackmail threats and that no discrepancies will be found in his books. Carnes has handled millions of dollars in his work during the past nine years.

MEN RATHERS TO PARADE AT LAKE CISCO TONIGHT

A great time is expected at the men's bathing revue, at Lake Cisco bathing beach this evening, which will begin at 8 o'clock sharp. Every detail has been arranged for the event, stated C. E. Yates, post adjutant of the American Legion post, under whose auspices the revue is being staged. The Lobo band will furnish music for the occasion. The women judges are requested to be in the places in front of the reviewing stand promptly. Any business firm not included in the list published Sunday, that wishes to have entries, may do so by notifying the post adjutant.

MUNICIPAL AIRPORT AT AUSTIN WILL OPEN SOON

AUSTIN, Sept. 3.—Austin expects to have its municipal airport open within the next few days. All the details surrounding the purchase of land for this purpose are being ironed out. The airport will contain 340 acres. Funds were provided for its purchase in the recent bond issue of $4,250,000.

Cars Desired at Katy Park That Delay May Be Avoided; Senator to Arrive at 2:05, Speaking at 8:30

A call was issued by the Cisco chamber of commerce today for at least 30 automobiles to carry the distinguished guests and visitors in the parade Tuesday afternoon, following the arrival here of Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, vice presidential nominee who is to speak to West Texas Tuesday night. The committee arranging the parade asked that auto owners be on hand at the Katy Park with their cars in readiness of giving the satisfactory promise that "you may have my car if you need it."

CISCO IS INDEBTED TO AMON G. CARTER

Amon G. Carter, publisher of the Star-Telegram at Fort Worth, has proven himself real friend of Cisco. Not only has he given much space in his papers to the coming visit of Senator Robinson to this city, but because of his generosity and desire to serve West Texas in every corner of the state and nation will bear the message of the Democratic vice-presidential nominee here Tuesday night.

WLBK, radio station of the Star-Telegram, will broadcast the senator's speech. The cost of broadcasting political addresses is high but Mr. Carter saw to it that this expense did not fall on Cisco. The speech doubtless would have been broadcast anyway but the Fort Worth publisher made it a specialty and relieved Cisco of the financial burden.

For this act of friendship The Daily News wants to thank Mr. Carter on behalf of Cisco and the Democracy of West Texas.

Should every owner whose car is to be in the parade adopt that attitude it is probable that the parade will be delayed while such cars are being assembled, the committee pointed out.

Mayor J. M. Williamson will call the meeting to order at Lobo stadium Tuesday evening on the occasion of the Senator Robinson's speech, after which the meeting will be turned over to Col. R. G. Lee, congressional nominee, who will introduce the distinguished guests here for the occasion.

Mrs. Clara Driscoll Sever, Texas national committeewoman, will welcome the nominee to Texas, who will be followed by the address of Tom Connally, senatorial nominee. During the intermission following Connally's speech the Sweetwater Gypsy Club will be presented in some of their original stunts, after which Judge Eugene Lanford will formally introduce Senator Robinson to the people of West Texas.

The speaking program will begin at 8 o'clock sharp and Senator Robinson is expected to start speaking at 8:30. Final arrangements for broadcasting the speech were concluded this morning when Secretary Peters, of the chamber of commerce, received a telegram from Joseph F. Israel, director of the radio bureau, announcing that a hook-up had been arranged.

Senator Robinson's special car will arrive at the union passenger station here at 2:35 p. m.

The parade will start at 3 o'clock from the Union station, led by a platoon of mounted police and the Cowboy band of Abilene. With all guests in cars the position in the parade will be as follows:

Mayor Williamson and party; Senator Robinson and party; Mrs. Robinson and party; Two decorated cars; Stamford firemen's band; Cars containing distinguished guests;

Dublin band; Citizens' cars; Big Dam Lobo band. The line of parade will be up D avenue to Ninth street, thence west to Front street, thence north to Seventh street, thence to the city hall, where the parade will disband.

The reception to Mrs. Robinson will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Spencer, 519 West Broadway, from 4 to 5:45 p. m., where the women here attending the speaking will have an opportunity of meeting the wife of the vice presidential nominee. At the conclusion of the reception Mrs. Robinson will be the honor guest at a private dinner at 8:30. Final arrangements for Mrs. Eusebia Lanford at 8 o'clock. At 5:30 o'clock a watermelon feast will be enjoyed at the Lake Cisco Amusement Co. bathing beach, where Senator Robinson will appear and make a short talk. W. P. Pulley, R. L. Poe and Dr. Charles Hale, the original Arkansas trio, have declared Tuesday to be a holiday for all Arkansians in West Texas, who are requested to attend the melon feast. However, this is not confined to former Arkansians, as all are invited to be present at the bathing beach, and those who can do so are expected to bring one or more melons. Donors should phone 393 how many they can bring.

66 OF FRIENDS ELECTED, SAYS JIM FERGUSON

AUSTIN, Sept. 3.—"I just got a blamed good kicking last Saturday and I am not going to spend any time trying to alibi around the proposition," is the statement that appeared on the front page of Ferguson's Forum following the runoff primary held August 25.

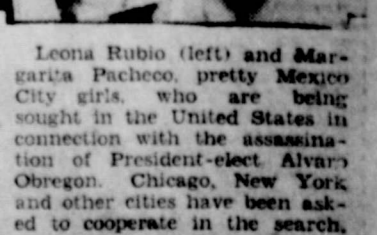

Ferguson supported Senator Earle B. Mayfield in the runoff for the senate in which Congressman Tom Connally of Martin defeated Mayfield for the second term.

Continuing the editorial said, "After all I don't have much to complain about for 30 of my friends have been elected to the lower house and sixteen to the senate. Many of my friends were elected to other state offices and I saved more votes than I lost."

BOOTLEG IMMIGRATION.

Self-congratulation over immigrant restriction need not go too far. The situation is not so good from the standpoint of the restrictionists as is usually supposed.

It is figured conservatively that 175,000 persons a year are stealing into the country, mostly over the Canadian and Mexican borders.

Bootleg immigration, too, seems to share some well known features of bootleg liquor, including bribery, violence and exploitation of the bootleggers' customers.

Here is a matter which evidently deserves more serious consideration. What we have is partial prohibition of immigration, roughly comparable to liquor prohibition.

Yes, our Olympic games team failed in some respects, possibly from bad training. The next team should have a course of instruction in not yelping over adverse decisions.

NATURE AND CHILDREN.

A children's fair is to be held at the Museum of Natural History in New York City. Its purpose will be to show citizens how well the rising generation is prepared for its future task of caring for city parks, gardens, trees and highways.

Everything shown at the fair will be the work of city children. There will be models of properly cared for parks and attractive city blocks.

There will be exhibits of back yard gardens, adapted to small city yards. Bird houses and feeding stations and all kinds of woodcraft and nature study which may be pursued on hikes in and near a city will be represented there.

A great many other cities and small towns could hold a similar children's fair. This is an age when youngsters are taught the enjoyment of nature instead of being left to destroy it through ignorance and carelessness.

MILK IN GOTHAM.

An Englishman sailing home from the American metropolises makes the unusual statement that "New York is a city flowing with milk and money."

It may be great to write the songs of a nation. But the author of "Asleep in the Deep" and "Only a Bird in a Gilded Cage" and numerous other favorites, when he was found dead the other day, lay unclaimed and friendless in an undertaker's with $3.90 and a pawn ticket for 95 cents in his pocket.

RAILROAD UNIFICATION.

Recent news stories have indicated the possibility of an immense railroad merger. To the Great Northern and Northern Pacific, whose consolidation is now before the Interstate Commerce Commission, would be added the Burlington, the Southern Pacific and various other competing or inter-connecting lines, with a total mileage of nearly 40,000, including virtually all the rail transportation west of the Mississippi river.

Such a system would be almost comparable to the temporary unification of all the railroads in the country under the government during the war, except that the merged lines would all remain under private control.

The country is now more favorable to rail mergers than it used to be, and the present laws reflect this attitude. The Interstate Commerce Commission, while favoring such mergers in principle, is very Missourian when it comes to any concrete proposal, as the experience of the promoters of the eastern Nickel Plate system has shown.

Operation of all rail transportation under one head, over large areas, is a natural economic development. It is evident, however, that this must remain subject to the public control sufficient to preserve competition, safeguard shippers' interests and insure justice to all sections.

Sweet are the memories of age. A citizen of Rockland, Mo., remembers when he celebrated the Fourth of July by attending a big festival, buying firecrackers, peanuts, lemonade and an orange, and went home with nine cents out of the 25 he had started with.

Political Thought

Hon. Josephus Daniels of North Carolina.—The state chairman is organizing the state by districts and is reporting that conditions are favorable. There is a thorough organization in all districts and he is confident that the state will continue in the Democratic column.

Hon. Evans Woollen of Indianapolis.—President Coolidge carried Indiana by 220,000 in 1924. Two years ago Senator Watson carried the state by 12,000. The influence that brought about that change was still operative.

Hon. M. M. Neely, United States Senator from West Virginia.—"Through long years of public service our candidate's integrity has never been questioned; his honesty has never been doubted; his fidelity has never been doubted; his courage of Jackson and the statesmanship of Wilson."

Prof. John H. Latane of Johns Hopkins University.—"As a result of our political campaigns there has been a revival of the political spirit which has obtained in the past eight years."

Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana.—"It is to be judged by his political conviction how shall the Republican nominee receive consideration? He is not in the cabinet with Full and Daugherty without even a right to be heard."

Her Remarkable Right Arm Stronger Than Steel Cable

But Lillian Leitzel Can't Take a Vacation Like Ordinary Folks

By SHIGLEY KIRKE

CHICAGO (I. I. N.)—"The interesting little lady in the adjoining column raises her right arm and throws her agile body over her right shoulder 194 times in about six minutes. As she weighs only about 110 pounds, she therefore lifts with the muscles of one arm roughly 21,000 pounds—or ten and one-half tons—in that brief space of time."

Two times a day pretty Lillian Leitzel performs this feat of strength and endurance before circus spectators. No flexible steel cable ever devised by man would stand this strain. No sharply on edge are the tendons, muscles, ligaments and trained nerves of this remarkable arm that the queen of the world's acrobats doesn't dare to take a vacation like other girls.

Of course, nature never constructed the human frame to perform any such miracle of stress and strain. Nobody else in the world ever undertook to accomplish this achievement. But if little Miss Leitzel can lift ten and one-half tons under the disadvantageous circumstances of hanging by her wrist—what is there remaining to be accomplished in future generations by other industrious, persistent trainers of human functions like the voice, the fingers, the legs, or, greatest of all, the human brain?

The pretty Lillian, in private life the wife of Alfredo Cordona, believes it is possible to do whatever one wishes to do—provided one fights hard enough for victory.

LILLIAN LEITZEL

Heaven knows the United States are involved in this issue, but not in the way these preachers declare. There is no danger of a foreign ecclesiastical setting his hand on the government of our country. American Catholics are in a great minority but for our part we believe any such issue could be safely left to them alone. They would come up to the mark of fundamental Americanism. The real question of freedom involved in this attack is whether any Catholic in our free country can have all the rights and privileges of a free man. Especially is the question raised as to whether a man may be tested by what he actually is and not by what someone else is who belongs to his church by his record.

GLORIOUS BETSY
NOVELIZED BY
ARLINE DE HAAS

Copyright 1928, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"GLORIOUS BETSY," starring Dolores Costello, is a Warner Bros. production of this novel. Based on the play by Rida Johnson Young.

SYNOPSIS
Captain Jerome Bonaparte, brother of Napoleon, falls in love with the beautiful Betsy Patterson on a visit to America. Against the advice of his aide he marries her. They sail for France to brave the anger of the Emperor. Betsy is refused permission to land and while Jerome is about to leave the ship a small tug comes alongside. The Emperor has come in person to command Betsy to give up Jerome. After a desperate struggle Betsy submits. Courageously she tells Jerome to go with the Emperor, persuading him it is only for a little while.

"It is as Mademoiselle says," Napoleon walked over to the small gangway and stood waiting. St. Pierre and Dufresne took their positions on either side of him. He turned his back.

"There, you have the word of your great Emperor. Now you believe me, don't you? You do, you do! Oh, how happy I am." She was laughing, laughing. "Do you think I could laugh if it weren't only for a little while, sweetheart? Why, I am positively hysterical with joy at the thought of your going away, just for this little time, to serve your country, and when I think of your return—" The tears welled up in her eyes.

"Betsy, cheer, I love you!"

his, and gazed up happily on her tearful face. "Are my eyes red," she half sobbed, half laughed. "Yes, they are. A motion to wipe away the tears. 'Do I look very ugly when I cry?' 'Betsy, cheer, I love you, I love you more than I can ever tell you.' He kissed the pink-tipped fingers again and again.

"Then take me in your arms once more," Betsy sobbed, clinging herself to his breast, and clasping her hands about his neck. "Let me lay my head on your breast and hear your heart beating for me, and I will be waiting, waiting." She struggled hard to suppress her crying. Slowly the sobbing died. "And then go." She looked up at him, a very, twisted smile on her lips. "And when you've served the cause of your Motherland come back to me and I'll be waiting—waiting!"

Vilification of Fellow-Man from Pulpit Shows Clergyman Unfit for Calling, Maryland Senator Says

ROCKY POINT, R. I., Sept. 3.—Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland, chairman of the speakers' bureau of the Democratic national committee, opened the Smith campaign in Rhode Island Sunday with an address from which he bitterly regarded as an attack on Rev. John Roach Straton, who from his New York pulpit twice has called Governor Smith "the bitterest foe in America today of the forces of moral progress and true political wisdom."

48 LB. FISH IS PRIZE CATCH OF CISCOANS

The Graphic and Frontier Times, published at London, Kimble county, has the following to say concerning the piscatorial ability of two well known Cisco men: Frank E. Harrell, a lumber dealer of Cisco and P. O. Berry, manager of the Lake Cisco Amusement Co., caught a 48 pound cat fish on the Llanos near London last Thursday. It seems that these gentlemen have discovered a nest of the big ones for last June they caught a 33 pound fish in the same place. This is their fifth annual trip to London, which speaks well for the vicinity as a place to go fishing which writer of this item has a pretty good idea as to where this nest of big ones is, but has no time to go after them.

FAMILY REUNION IS HELD ON 32ND WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

An enjoyable family reunion was held August 23 at the home of Mrs. M. L. Latham, 703 East Broadway. This event was given in honor of Mrs. Latham's 32nd wedding anniversary. Mrs. Latham is an old resident of Cisco and has been in feeble health for the past 15 years. Three years ago relatives and friends planned to hold these reunions annually. In keeping with her custom at former reunions, Mrs. Latham called for certain religious songs to be sung, and on this occasion the song service was led by her son, Charles Latham. After a short talk and prayer by J. B. Jordan dinner was served to those who had assembled to honor this pioneer woman on this, the 32nd anniversary of her marriage.

LABOR SUPPLY FOR HARVESTING COTTON CROP IS INADEQUATE

Pickers Returning from Fields of South Texas and Rio Grande Valley; Shortage to Continue for 2 Weeks

C.O.P. PLAYING UP TO COLORED VOTE ELEMENT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Importance of the negro vote especially in the border and northern states has been stressed by the Republican national campaign in an effort to insure it for the Hoover-Chittick ticket in November.

In search to control the balance of voting power is recognized in some sections.

There has been established a "colored voters division" at national headquarters on the first floor of the Barr building, with Dr. John R. Watkins, chairman of the committee of the division in charge. General offices of the Republican national committee are on the third and fourth floors.

According to the committee's announcement, Mrs. Alvin T. Holt, of Kentucky, chairman of the women's division, declared "the vote of the colored woman is of vast importance" and urged the campaign committee to "pay special attention to them."

"The women of the colored race," Mrs. Holt declared, "are tremendously important. They possess organization possibilities of which even the men can not boast. Bring them into the organization and make them an integral part of it."

FORT WORTH, Sept. 3.—The supply of labor needed to harvest the cotton crop in Central and East Texas is inadequate to meet the demand, according to C. W. Woodman, in charge of the farm labor bureau of the federal government here.

Pickers now are returning from South Texas and the Rio Grande Valley here at the rate of 400 to 500 a day. These are being placed by the farm men where needed the most. The supply will continue short for at least another two weeks when there may be a lull let up in Central Texas before the harvest season sets well under way in the North Texas.

By the time the North Texas crop has been picked, hands will be needed in the northwestern and western sections of the state.

Just now the majority of the pickers are being placed around Kerrville, Brownwood, Waco and in the north as Chabarro.

Some pickers to come west in and around Fort Worth and Dallas. Where a field is found ready to pickers, there is another one usually not across the road that will be opened soon for hands to enter when the first field has been harvested.

It is expected that harvesting will begin later than usual in the northwestern and northern areas because of the late start of the crop.

POSTOFFICE VAULT OPENED AT CORPUS

CORPUS CHRISTI, Sept. 3.—Corpus Christi postoffice vault was found open, and the city used a search party. When the vault was opened, it was necessary to chain authority from Washington to tamper with it. The vault contained about $100,000 worth of stamps and supplies, and after one day's business, Corpus Christi postoffice officials were forced to appeal for aid. Postoffice first came to the rescue with 10,000 two-cent stamps. Then Houston filled the breach with $1,000 worth of stamps. And last but not the least supply was exhausted, the ultimate vault door opened. Now Corpus Christi has its stamps.

PUBLISHER IS BACK IN U.S. TO VOTE FOR AL

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Van Lear Black, publisher, arrived from Liverpool Sunday night on the liner Casimira after an absence of nearly eight months.

He said that one of his reasons for returning to America was to register that he was able to vote for Governor Alfred E. Smith in the election. "I can't back up to my country or my friend Dick Byrd and to say hello to my good friend Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Black said he had planned to return to Europe next January, when he plans to fly to Cape Town and Tokyo, Japan, a flight that he expected to make this summer but postponed because he said the commercial planes in which he planned to make the trip were capable of only eight hours of continuous flying.

$110,000 FOR ONE RUG PAID AT LONDON SALE

LONDON, Sept. 3.—The "Emperor's Carpet," the most famous Persian rug in the world, has been sold here for $110,000 by the International Art Gallery. Measuring 30x50 feet, it was made in a factory of the Persian court some time during the sixteenth century. Tradition says that it was taken to Vienna in 1680 as a gift from Peter the Great to the Emperor of Austria. It remained in possession of the Hapsburg family until the Austrian revolution in 1807. Since then it has been in the state museum, Vienna, until sold to a private buyer.

The program will last only 45 minutes, and will not conflict with the revival of other church services.

Byrd Takes 140 Tons of Food On $1,000,000 Flight to Pole

Home Made Meals to Keep Crew Happy on Two-Year Antarctic Trip.

IF Commander Richard E. Byrd fails to reach the South Pole it won't be from exhaustion or lack of food. When the City of New York, the flagship of the Byrd expedition, steamed out of New York harbor, the hold was crammed with food—140 tons of it and all had been picked by Sidney Gresson, the chief steward. Byrd's men are going to have three or four square meals a day as long as they remain in the Antarctic, which will be anywhere from 14 months to two years.

"It takes a lot of food to keep 40 human furnaces going in frigid climates and it takes just the right kind of diet," Gresson states. The care with which the food problem was worked out is just one indication of the thoroughness used in planning the entire expedition. Nothing has been left to chance. Every item of fare was studied and passed upon by Dr. Francis D. Coman of Johns Hopkins Hospital, the dietitian, before it was purchased and each article of food had to be supplied in just the proper amount so that meals would be correctly balanced for the length of the stay away from civilization.

What Explorers Gobble

Stored in the hold of Byrd's ships bound for Dunedin, New Zealand, the last port before pushing on into the Antarctic, are twenty-five tons of meat, wrapped by a special process to keep it in prime condition indefinitely, two thousand pounds of cocoa, a ton and a half of powdered milk, two tons of dried fruit besides thousands of pounds of canned fruits and fresh and dehydrated vegetables, and sugarless other products in similar huge quantities. And for deserts—for real "Home Made Meals"—there are cases of dates, fruit flavored gelatines, plum puddings and the like, all nourishing foods, but tasty. Then to top it off 3,000 dozen eggs will be taken on at Dunedin.

With such stupendous food requirements it is no wonder that space on shipboard was at a premium, and here again careful planning solved a crucial problem. There is no waste material in the foods carried—all bones were removed from the meats, the milk was powdered, the water was removed from most of the vegetables reducing the bulk to one-third, and even the dates were pitted to eliminate 15 per cent unnecessary weight. No luxuries are being carried. Every article of diet must yield its full quota of necessary food elements.

The preparation of menus was no simple task. "Supplying rations for an army is much easier than preparing proper food for an Antarctic expedition," said Dr. Coman. "You have severe climatic conditions to contend with and you can't rush orders back to headquarters to ship supplies which might have been forgotten at the start, or to meet emergencies. Then supposing one of the airplanes crashes hundreds of miles from one of the food caches and the fliers are forced to trek back. Each ship must be provisioned for just such emergencies—not just food but the right kind of food so that the men can live to reach one of the sub-bases." The sub-bases are food depots placed about 100 miles apart on the route over the ice. Each depot, or "cache" as explorers call it, contains an outfit of food, utensils and cooking equipment for two men.

If the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, Commander Byrd should have a super-loyal crew. Sydney Gresson has seen to it that the "cats" are the best the land has to offer and Gresson knows his foodstuffs from actual experience. Fifteen years as a butcher, then running a restaurant of his own and finally acting as steward for two well-known clubs in the South taught him what to buy and how to buy it.

NEW JERSEY TREND TO SMITH IS WORRYING REPUBLICANS

Wet in East, Dry in West, Cloudy Everywhere, Says Florida Senator of Hoover and Stand on Prohibition

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The purpose is to leave this third speech to be delivered by Herbert Hoover in the campaign with as local conditions warrant will be at Newark, N. J., Sept. 14. It became known Sunday when his headquarters continued reports from the New Jersey city. The only other formal speeches delivered by the Republican nominee were the acceptance address at Palo Alto, Cal., and the old-fashioned coming occasion at West Haven, Conn., the last named being non-political.

Actually the speech engagement will be the first of Hoover's appearances as a free speaker in the presidential campaign and will mark his only appearance in that state. The Hoover administration Governor Smith in the New Jersey campaign has been disputing to the Republican organization yet reports from New Jersey on which confirmation of the engagement was obtained as now arranged. A large radio broadcast will carry the address over the country while it is being delivered in one of the main industrial centers of the Atlantic seaboard.

According to information from New Jersey on which confirmation of the engagement was obtained in Washington, Hoover probably will avoid any discussion of prohibition. Under the deerskin-tracked policy of conducting the campaign adopted by the Republican national committee one of the repudiated Smith's nomination, but the contest is to be taken up there by Senator Lee S. Overman, who will bring into activity an effective political machine made up of the younger Democratic element.

In their campaign in the state, Republicans are preparing to use the newspaper statements and the Senate speech against Governor Smith made by Simmons, long the state's strong Democratic leader.

Reports to the leaders in Washington show that the widespread campaign, based on Governor Smith's church membership, is in progress in practically every Southern state. In meeting the issue Republicans will seek an outside aid. They feel they are in a better position to talk in their home state than to rely on strangers.

Sen. Nathan Forester of Virginia, but now of New York, will be in the Southern campaign. He was once the head of Tammany and will tell Southern audiences what that organization has done for the South in the past.

G. O. P. Dry Stand Attacked.

In a formal statement issued from Democratic headquarters here, Senator Forester of Florida attacked the Republican position on prohibition.

"Wet in the East, dry in the West and cloudy everywhere" is prohibition," he said, "Republican campaign managers will not only be able to maintain this policy of evasion."

Added to this it was pointed out that Col. Jennings C. Wise, leading Virginia Republican, who has talked with Hoover, asked this question in a speech recently delivered by him in Virginia:

"What are Hoover's convictions about prohibition? The truth is he is too wise to state them known and thereby prejudice himself as presidential candidate."

Senator Harrison of Mississippi, who has been in charge of the Southern campaign, is confident the South will remain Democratic and in this calculation he includes Tennessee and Kentucky.

Archer H. Goessler, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Guatemala, whose home-

Del Rio Cables He'll Duel Carew in Paris and Then Denies It

DOLORES AND JAIME DEL RIO

Ex-Husband and Director Laugh at Reports of Bloody Meeting

By International Illustrated News

PARIS.—On the assumption that there must be some flame where there is so much smoke, friends of Dolores Del Rio, noted movie director, and Jaime del Rio, handsome former husband of Dolores del Rio, are daily expecting a clash between the two. Perhaps an exchange of shots in old Vincennes forests may be a meeting with rapier in one of the many secluded dells in the Bois de Boulogne.

But both the millionaire Mexican land owner and the movie impresario insist that they are the best of friends. They push-push the idea that either would be so "romantic" as to challenge the other over an affair of the heart. Nevertheless, the reports persist.

DOLORES DEL RIO AND EDWIN CAREW

Millionaire Mexican Is Silent on Plans for Writing Future

The Carews and the del Rios became friends.

Struck with the beauty and allure of Dolores, the director persuaded her to go to Hollywood with her husband. The latter seemed delighted with the experiment. He devoted himself to writing, until suddenly the couple decided on a trial separation "for the benefit of their careers."

A complete divorce soon followed and del Rio left Hollywood for New York, ostensibly to be near a market for his stories. Meantime the pretty wife of Carew herself obtained a divorce, gossip linking the name of Dolores with her husband. Then the director and his pretty star sailed for France on an extended vacation. The dramatic meeting of young del Rio, his ex-wife and the director followed.
