CISCO WELCOMES SENATOR ROBINSON

Male Bathing Revue Proves Big Success

More Than 2,000 See Mermen in Parade Before Feminine Judges; Seven of 14 Entrants Win Prizes

A crowd estimated at 2,000 to 2,500 was present at the Lake Cisco Amusement Co. bathing beach Monday night to witness the womanless bathing revue, staged by the John William Butts post, American Legion. The display of the male form proved equally, if not more attractive, and just as great a drawing card as when the beautiful mermaids were wont to display the female form before the admiring throngs on previous occasions.

Humble company offered a special prize of $15 to its winning entrant, which went to Aaron Robinson. Yates thanked the Daily News for the publicity given the bathing revue, and requested this paper to express the appreciation of the post to those who assisted in making the revue a signal success. Especially the post wished to thank the women who acted as judges.

FRENCH FLIERS ON FIRST LEG OF HOP TO N. Y.

RAMBOUILLET, France, Sept. 4.—The single motored Norman monoplane "Yellow Canary" in which the French fliers, Adjutant Jean Assolant and Sergeant Rene Lefevre, are flying to the Azores Islands on the first leg of their trans-Atlantic attempt to New York passed over this city at 2:33 a. m. New York daylight saved time, today. The plane was making good speed at a height of 2,100 feet.

ONCE GROCERY BOY HERE IS BACK ON VISIT

Dr. and Mrs. K. J. Scott and children, of Pharr, Rio Grande Valley, arrived Monday night for a brief visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Scott, and other relatives here. Dr. Scott stated that he was enjoying a splendid practice in his adopted home, where he is making the practice of surgery his principal line of his profession work.

NOMINEE LIKES HOT DOG, TOO!

Here's Governor Alfred E. Smith, Democratic standard-bearer, buying himself with a hot dog at one of the open stands at Syracuse State Fair. A liberal helping of mustard, a well-ovened roll, plus the succulent filler, and the nominee was ready for another round of speckmaking.

PILOTS READY FOR AIR RACE ACROSS U. S.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Pilots and mechanics were making final mechanical adjustments and putting their planes through the last tests today in preparation for the start of the transcontinental air races to Los Angeles tomorrow at dawn.

BANDITS KILL OFFICER WHEN INTERRUPTED

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Leonard Jagla, attached to the detective bureau squad, was shot and killed this morning when a squad of officers interrupted three bandits in the act of robbing a collection here. One of the bandits was captured. The other two fugitives are known to the police and a dragnet has been spread for them.

4 CHARGED AS DRUNKS TELL IT TO COURT

Two white women charged with drunkenness and disturbing the peace and two men, held on charges of drunkenness and vagrancy, were arraigned in the city court this morning. Harris Gibson pleaded guilty to drunkenness and was fined $10 and costs, in default of which he was sent to Lake Cisco training camp. Jack Martin, charged with vagrancy, was passed for investigation but in the meantime will earn his board at the training camp.

REPUBLICAN BOURBONISM

Whom the gods would destroy politically they first make stupid. This applies to the leadership of the Republican party in the state of New York. Nothing has done more to make Governor Smith a national figure than the senseless opposition of the Republican bosses to his progressive policies.

HOOVER PLANS FOR INVASION OF NEW YORK

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Herbert Hoover, Republican presidential candidate, today decided to open his eastern campaign with a speech at Newark, N. J., September 17. He will stress labor problems in his address. During the end of September he will invade Governor Smith's native New York but the itinerary there is not completed.

MRS. THERESA SMITH, FORMERLY RESIDENT OF CISCO, PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Theresa Smith, daughter of John Harwell, formerly of near Cisco, died at her home in Brownwood Monday, according to a message to relatives here. The cause of her death was pneumonia. She will be buried in Brownwood this afternoon. Mrs. Smith was 26 years of age and was a sister of A. A. Harwell, of Cisco. She is survived by her husband and two small children by a former marriage, who are now the adopted children of their aunt, Mrs. Bertha Harwood, of Dothan. She had been married only three months at the time of her death.

Vice Presidential Nominee Is Warmly Greeted; Keynote Speech of Campaign to Be Made Tonight

Cisco is the capital of West Texas today. The Democracy of this section of the state began its trek this morning to the Big Dam city where Senator Joseph T. Robinson, vice presidential nominee of the party, is to address his fellow Democrats tonight.

There was no doubt when Senator Robinson stepped off the Texas & Pacific train early this afternoon that the Cisco and West Texas were glad to see him. The welcoming committee assured him that it was glad, collectively and individually, that he had come. The decorations in the business and residential districts and his pictures in the windows proved that the city was anxious to pay him homage.

The nominee himself was just as glad to be here as West Texas was to have him. His words told it. His famous smile told it and his actions told it. The salutations of the crowd were returned throughout the parade.

The hours that Senator Robinson and his wife and his party are to spend in Cisco will be busy. Immediately after the parade Mrs. Robinson is to be the guest of honor at a reception by West Texas women at the home of Mrs. J. E. Spencer, 222 West Broadway. While that is being held former Arkansians now living in West Texas will be making merry at a watermelon feast at the bathing beach at Lake Cisco.

At 4 o'clock Senator Robinson will be the guest of honor at a dinner at the Cisco Country club to which newspaper men and Democratic leaders have been invited. At the same time Mrs. Robinson and the women in her party will be the guests at a dinner in the home of Judge and Mrs. Eugene Lankford, 509 West 18th street. Both dinners are invitation affairs.

A band concert will be given at the Lobo stadium, beginning at 8 o'clock. It will be the Cisco band and bands from Abilene, Stamford, Dublin, Eastland and Ranger.

The ceremonies will begin at 8 o'clock. Mayor Williamson will introduce R. Q. Lee, congressman-elect, who will be master of ceremonies. Among the speakers who will precede Robinson will be Mrs. Clara Driscoll, Governor, Democratic national committee woman from Texas, Senator-elect Tom Connally and members of the senator's party, all speaking briefly. Judge Lankford, boyhood friend of the senator who was a prime factor in having the nominee come here, will present him to the audience.

The career of his running mate, Governor Al Smith of New York, will form the main topic of Senator Robinson's address which he will broadcast over Station WJAP of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. It will be the keynote speech of his campaign. Amplifiers will carry his words to the listeners in automobiles parked in nearby streets.

Police have been assigned to handle traffic before and after the ceremonies. To accommodate those here from Fort Worth, Dallas and points east, to attend the speaking, the Texas & Pacific will operate an extra 14 section standard Pullman on train No. 6 which leaves here at 2:40 Wednesday morning. The ticket office will be open at 9:30 tonight, and the Pullmans may be occupied as soon as reservations are secured. The Pullman will remain in the railroad yards until the arrival of No. 6, enabling the passengers to secure a good night's rest. The train will arrive at Fort Worth at 6:30, and Dallas at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning.

OVATION AT FORT WORTH. FORT WORTH, Sept. 4.—Senator Joe Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic vice presidential nominee, received an ovation when he stopped here briefly this morning enroute to Cisco where he will deliver an address tonight. He was accompanied by Mrs. Robinson and a number of prominent Texas Democrats.

BRADY SEEKS $275,000 POWDERED MILK PLANT. BRADY, Sept. 4.—A campaign to raise $275,000 for the establishment of one of Texas' largest powdered milk plants has been launched by the Brady chamber of commerce. The plant when finished would have a total daily capacity of 120,000 pounds of milk. Fifty per cent of the stock would be raised locally and northern capitalists would be asked to furnish the remainder.

STRATON MAY DEBATE WITH SEN. ROBINSON

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 4.—Dr. John Rosh Stratton, New York Baptist minister, enroute to Atlanta where he speaks tonight, revealed that a movement is afoot to have him meet Senator Joseph T. Robinson in a series of debates in Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Rev. A. E. Pele, Baptist minister of Clarksville, W. Va., in a statement replying to Stratton's attack on Governor Smith, declared that the minister slandered Governor Al Smith and added that he would be willing to match the so-called Tammany corruption with the record of the Anti-Saloon League. He intimated that revelations of corruption in the league have been suppressed.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU WARNS OF GULF GALE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The weather bureau today issued a warning of a tropical disturbance moving at the rate of 300 miles a day toward the Gulf of Mexico which may strike within 36 hours. It is increasing in intensity and may pass through the Yucatan strait tonight.

M. E. SUE PASSES AWAY AT HOME IN EASTLAND

M. E. Sue, 42, brother of J. O. Sue, well known Cisco man, died at his home in Eastland Sunday night, and was buried in that city Monday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Sue were called to his bedside Sunday afternoon and were with him when he passed away. He is survived by his widow, two children, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Sue. His father was a former treasurer of Eastland county. Besides J. O. Sue he also has a surviving sister, Mrs. P. H. Davis, of Eastland.

WEATHER. West Texas: Tonight and Wednesday fair and warmer.

Democrats Fighting to Control Congress; Must Retain 20 Seats and Win Three to Rule in Senate

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Democrats must save 20 seats in the senate and gain three additional ones in the November election if they hope to wrest control from the Republicans in the next congress. Inasmuch as the Republicans have only 14 seats at stake, and these in normally Republican strongholds, the Democratic party is faced with a difficult task.

Only a sweeping Al Smith victory in November can put the Democrats in power in the 71st congress, political observers say. The place themselves in control, the Democrats must have 49 senators. They have but 46 and the terms of 20 of that number expire next March.

DEMOCRATS FIGHTING TO CONTROL CONGRESS

state which is usually Democratic. There is a possibility that Democrats may be able to oust him. Frazier, Greene, Hale, Howell, La Follette, McLean, Reed, Robinson and Vandenberg all seem certain of victory, according to their local supporters. Thomas of Idaho comes from a normally Republican state. The Democrats whose terms expire are Ashurst, Arizona; Bayard, Delaware; Bruce, Maryland; Copeland, New York; Dill, Washington; Edwards, New Jersey; Gerry, Rhode Island; Locher, Ohio; McKeller, Tennessee; Mayfield, Texas; Neely, West Virginia; Pittman, Nevada; Reed, Missouri; Stephens, Mississippi; Swanson, Virginia; Trammell, Florida; Walsh, Massachusetts; and Wheeler, Montana.

DEMOCRATS FIGHTING TO CONTROL CONGRESS

Three Already Out. Reed, Mayfield and Locher already have dropped from the picture. Reed did not seek reelection, while Mayfield and Locher were defeated in the primaries and other Democrats nominated in their places. Whether the Democrats can save Locher's seat in November depends upon that state's attitude toward the presidential election. Governor Vic Donohue, who appointed Locher when Senator Willis died, is having tough sledding, according to reports from the Buckeye state. Bruce is facing a stiff fight in Maryland, and Dill an equally strong one in Washington. Not so much danger is seen in the other states.

MRS. KNAPP IS SENTENCED TO MONTH IN JAIL

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Mrs. Florence S. Knapp, former secretary of state, was sentenced to 30 days in the Albany jail today for theft of money from the census fund.

BAKERY WAGON DRIVER IS INJURED IN ACCIDENT

It was stated that Waddell was coming to work, and failed to see the red light where a concrete culvert is being placed across the street. Realizing his proximity to danger too late, he attempted to turn to the left, but in doing so the car turned over, pinning him underneath. He was unconscious for several hours after the accident. Reports stated this morning that he was dead, and later it was reported that he was in a semi-conscious condition. These proved to be untrue.

WHY PREACHERS REPEAT.

"I wish preachers wouldn't repeat so much," a man complained recently. "They say the same thing over and over again in the same sermon; they take 30 minutes to deliver a 15 minute message all because they iterate and reiterate."

There is a sound logical reason why ministers go over the same ground repeatedly in the same sermon. If they didn't do that they couldn't get their ideas across to a large percentage of their congregations.

Phil T. Luker sits in his pew Sunday morning and listens while the minister announces the text; then about that time Phil's mind wanders off onto some scheme for making more filthy lucre. He isn't getting a word out of what the preacher is saying. The minister works up to and makes his point; Phil doesn't hear it; his thoughts are still on that business.

But Phil is jerked back to consciousness by hearing the minister declare with loud emphasis: "It is the greatest gift ever bestowed upon mankind." "What's the greatest gift? What is that man talking about anyhow? The greatest gift?—what's that?" Phil is interested in any sort of "greatest gift." Like most folks he wants to get something for nothing any time he can, particularly if it is a great something.

Now if the minister should go onto another point after making that declaration Phil would still be wondering what that "greatest gift" is. But lo, the minister proceeds to repeat the thought he had been trying to drive home, he puts the same idea forth in different language, and Phil T. Luker listens this time and gets it.

However, by the time the minister takes up another angle of his discourse Phil T. Luker has dropped off again onto that financial proposition, and comes to again only when the preacher catches his attention again with some compelling phrase or gesture; then Phil gives heed while another vital truth is repeated.

There are persons whose power of concentration and faculty of comprehension are such that they grasp an idea the instant the speaker throws it out; they grow weary and restless under repetition. But most folks cannot keep their minds focused for more than a minute at a time on what a speaker is saying.

"Did you hear me?" demands a minister after making his point. Half the congregation come to mentality with a jerk. They hadn't heard him; and the minister knows they hadn't heard him. But they hear him now. So he repeats his point.

That's why ministers repeat and repeat from their pulpits. Experience has showed them that they must repeat if they would drive their message home.

DRAMATIC PROPAGANDA.

Interest in the patron of "The Ladder," which has had a long run in New York on a purely philanthropic basis, seems stronger than interest in the play itself.

The piece deals with reincarnation, as the ladder of human life, setting forth in a series of stage pictures a group of characters appearing and reacting on each other over and over again in successive ages.

It is an idea which would be taken as a matter of course by hundreds of millions of Asiatics, but seems strange in America. The western view is, "We have only this one life to live on earth." The eastern view is, "We have many lives, each of them determined by those going before, and itself determining those to come after, until the individual attains self-mastery and perfection." It is a gospel of soul-evolution comparable with the western theory of physical evolution.

This play was written evidently merely as a play, for entertainment, without any thought of propaganda. It is not a box office success. It was taken up by Edgar B. Davis, an oil operator who had millions in Texas, and exploited somewhat as another wealthy philanthropist some years ago exploited a book entitled "Crowds," but on a far more expensive scale. Mr. Davis is said to have sunk a million and a half in keeping this play running in New York, because of the good he thought it would do.

The public, however, does not appear to have been profoundly impressed by the philosophy of the play. Free performances have not awakened enough interest to develop a paying crowd. It has been demonstrated again that propaganda cannot succeed as a substitute for art. Art must come first; propaganda must be merely incidental. Mr. Davis's experiment should save other business men and philanthropists much money.

AIR AS FUEL.

Those German "rocket motor cars" seem to have failed, not because they wouldn't run but because they ran away with themselves. The power was uncontrollable. The Breslau Society of Aerial Navigation still has hope for the rocket idea of propulsion, and aims to apply it to aircraft, with a new element of interest. A motor planned by that group of engineers will be operated with liquid air instead of powder. In preliminary experiments the liquid air has been mixed with alcohol. It is said to be safe and probably practical. If it works, vessels may soon propel themselves through the air as the squid does through water. The nature of the fuel is as intriguing as the mechanical principle. Liquid air must have many possibilities not yet realized. There were wild dreams indulged in when it was first produced, most of which have now been forgotten. It is reasonable to believe that when by the use of great power as gas like air can be liquified, it should be able to liberate corresponding power when returning to gas. If this potential energy of liquid gas can be used for motors, there will be a boom in the liquid air industry and a new industrial use for cheap coal and waterpower.

FREE SPEECH.

One of the notable decisions of the federal radio commission has been that dealing with the Socialist broadcasting station, WEVD, on Long Island, N. Y. That station was established as a memorial to Eugene V. Debs, for the express purpose of serving the cause of Socialism. The radio commission asked it, along with a hundred or more other stations, to show cause why it should not be discontinued. The cry was raised, naturally enough, by various Socialists, that discrimination and persecution were planned. The commission obviously contemplated no such thing. After hearing the case, it has given the verdict that WEVD has pursued a "satisfactory policy," and meets the tests required. The commission explains that it will not discriminate against any station which is engaged in altruistic work, or is serving as mouthpiece of a substantial political or religious minority, as long as it complies with the law and is conducted with proper regard for the opinions of others. There has been much criticism in this country lately, some of it justified, regarding restrictions placed on free speech and the rights of minorities. Here is conspicuous proof that free speech is still valued as an inalienable right in the traditional land of liberty. It is a victory for constitutionalism and old-fashioned Americanism.

U. S. HEALTH BOARD WARNS OF TYPHOID

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—A warning to the country to take precautions against typhoid fever comes from the United States public health service.

It was not an alarmist statement, but, advised that while typhoid fever may occur at any time during the year, it is most prevalent in the United States during the late summer and in the autumn months. Typhoid fever germs are taken into the body through the mouth with the food or drink, or by means of direct infection with flies.

"This history of the remarkable control of typhoid fever which has taken place in the United States within the past 20 years is one of the striking examples of the value of public health work," it was said.

GLORIOUS BETSY
NOVELIZED BY

SYNOPSIS
Captain Jerome Bonaparte, brother of Napoleon, falls in love with the bewitching Betsy Patterson on a visit to America. Against the advice of his suite he marries her.
They sail for France to brave the anger of the Emperor. Betsy is refused permission to land and while Jerome is about to leave the ship to plead anew with his brother a small tug comes alongside. The Emperor has come in person to command Betsy to give up Jerome.
She tells him that it is only for a little while but she knows it is forever.

CHAPTER XVI
Once again the city of Baltimore
seethed with important news.
Betsy Patterson, or rather Madame Jerome Bonaparte, was returning to her native city. Gossip of all sorts had run rife concerning her eventful trip. But whatever Mrs.
Grundy had to say concerning the matter, it bothered not one whit
the Patterson household, for the very fact that their beloved Betsy was returning to them was enough to cause all the members of the establishment to go about their tasks, singing happily, decorating
the great rooms and apartments
under Mary's supervision.
The rose garden had been stripped of the late summer blooms and now great bowis of

"I would do anything for France."
daisy flowers were scattered about, gleaming daskily in the shade of half-drawn shutters. Tall stalks of goldenrod shed a radiant yellow in the corners of the rooms.
A great pot of azaleas brightened
the dark mahogany of the hall
table. Salvia and zinnias spread their splashes of color against the white woodwork. Fragrant pink and white cosmos lent an air of delicacy to the black marbled-topped table.
On a step-ladder by the window
sat Pippin where he had endorsed himself early that morning with a spyglass. All the efforts of Ephraim to remove him were of no avail. He watched the road relentlessly, now and then setting up a shriek as he saw a cloud of dust approaching. He could hear the sounds of a banjo strumming as the coachmen made merry celebration in the stables.
"Hi, dar!" Ephraim entered from the dining room, his feet shuffling
in time to the music, his white teeth displayed in a broad grin.
"Hi, dar, Pippin, you know what dat music am sayin' to ole Ephraim? Dat dar music sayin'
'Mis' Betsy comin' home, Mis' Betsy comin' home dis day. Ain't heard dem niggers sing so much since Mis' Betsy went away."
"Yab, she ain't comin' yet."
Pippin looked down from his point of vantage. "The moon's comin'
up, and I ain't seen her yet."
Ephraim pulled back the curtain
and looked out. "Hi, dar, ole man," he addressed the new moon that was already faintly outlined in the sky. "Lor' bless my soul if he ain't gittin' a special polish on his ole face dis day. Shine away, shine away, moon, you cain't be no brighter an' de eyes we gwine see round
here directly."
"Lookit, lookit!" Pippin exclaimed, jumping up and down on his precocious perch. "I see somethin',
I see somethin'," he pointed down
the road.
Ettie waddled in as fast as her fat legs would carry her. "Miss Mary, Miss Mary," she cried. "Miss Betsy's comin'!" she thrust past
Eph and guided her nose to the window.
It's her, Missy, Betty's comin'." Ettie was jumping up and down and scouting a clog dance on the highly polished floor.
A jangle, a clatter of horses'
hoofs, a creaking of wheels, and the vast bulk of the coach turned into the Patterson drive, surrounded by friends who had ridden to meet the homecomers.
Amid laughter, shouts and greetings, Major Patterson stepped out of the coach and helped Betsy to

BAIRD DELEGATION ATTENDS UNION REVIVAL

Over 100 from Neighboring City
Hear Splendid Musical Services,
Sermon; Church Census Is Planned

An audience which almost filled the big Will Hogg tabernacle was present last night in the second night service of the union evangelistic campaign being launched under the sponsorship of the combined local religious forces of all denominations and a service even more effective and inspiring than that of Sunday night was held. A delegation of over 100 was present from Baird, and occupied a reserved section in the center of the auditorium where it took an active part in the service. The delegation was accused of a warm reception by the large audience when Chorister Rodgers officially recognized its presence. Rev. Cal C. Wright, pastor of the Baird Methodist church, was introduced to the audience and led in the opening prayer.

Chorister Rodgers and Pianist
Tredway took charge of the service promptly at 7:30 o'clock and led in a 20 minute service of inspirational pulpit features, happily combining new and beautifully effective choral numbers by the choir with old time favorites of the people in which all present responded spiritually. A splendid aggregation of singers was on the platform and Chorister Rodgers announced that he plans to assign seats and definitely organize his chorus on Thursday night, at which time he urges every singer in Cisco to be present so as not to lose a seat. The musical director urged that Cisco men-ture up to its fullest possibilities as the chorus to the greatest success of the spiritual effort and maintaining Cisco's high religious and civic standard before the hundreds of out-of-town visitors which will visit the tabernacle during the stay of the noted evangelist.

$66 in Initial Offering Campaign Director Williams
heartily commended the large crowd for its presence in such numbers at this early stage of the meeting and made a brief statement of the financial budget of the campaign which is regarded by local leaders as remarkably small for the dimensions of the effort. E. J. Poe, official treasurer for the campaign, reported that the initial offering on Sunday night totaled approximately $66, which Williams stated was slightly above the average first night offering in a town of this size.

Announcement was made that on next Sunday morning beginning promptly at 8:30 o'clock, a large group of specially trained workers from all the churches will unite in taking a city-wide religious census
which will be used by the campaign workers in the progress of the meeting. Williams stated that this census would be taken, completely covering the city in 30 minutes and emphasized the importance of cooperation on the part of each and every worker. The committee from the churches heading up the census work locally is composed of H.
S. Drumwright, W. B. Statham,
J. T. Elliott, S. E. Hittson, C. S.
Karkalis, W. F. Walker, F. E.
Shockey, Oscar Gless, C. B. Powell, F. D. Pierce, T. C. Williams
and L. Y. Siddall.

Elijah's Faith is Told
Dr. Hogg took the platform last night evidently much more refreshed and vigorous than at his opening service Sunday night and from the opening moment of his address in which he quoted from memory the 1st Psalm, he gripped
his hearers and held them in rapt attention throughout the 50 minutes of his early address. The prophet Elijah was again the central figure around whom the evangelist built his message, emphasizing Elijah's implicit faith, his prompt obedience to every direction from God. The one word "there" was selected as the text for the message which Dr. Hogg captioned
"Keeping Appointments With God"
and the entire discourse, replete with apropos anecdote and illustration and heart-stirring applications, emphasized that in the spiritual world the blessings are to be found in the exact place indicated by the will of God for the individual.
The service tonight has been canceled in recognition of Senator Robinson's visit, but regular schedule of services will be resumed tomorrow with Dr. Hogg's third lecture, on the Book of Acts. Tomorrow night he speaks on "The Land of Beginning Again."

BOTH PARTIES FIGHTING SHY OF DEFINITE STAND ON TARIFF

G. O. P. Admits System Is 'Not Perfect,' Is 'Sorry' for Farmer; Democrats Want 'Honest' Plan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The tariff reform, as affecting property tax, takes shape as a great "operational" issue of the presidential campaign.

Republicans think they hold an advantage therein and their nominee, Herbert Hoover, says Charles Curtis, have hammered home the party doctrine of high tariffs at every opportunity. The Democrats have countered with a promise of an "honest" tariff-revising one that will not cause a business collapse.

Stated on implicit apologies for party tariff mistakes are profuse on both sides. Although the Republicans are proud of their high tariff system, Hoover readily admitted in his acceptance speech that "no tariff is perfect," and Senator Charles McNamara, at Rocky Point, N. I., that he was "sorry" the Republican tariff tax agricultural interests too lightly.

Democrats Line Up
The Democratic platform for the first time in history, abandons the policy of tariff revision only and advocates thorough re-consideration of the tariff in its entirety, at the end of production at home and abroad, with adequate adjustment for the wage of the American laborer. Most of the extreme measures of every tariff rate.

Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic nominee, attacked the present Feeder-McCumber tariff as having the farmer to pay high prices for what he imports, while not protecting him proportionately against foreign competition.

Smith interpreted his own party's "honest" plan as placing tariff on a business basis. "In adding that 'this principle was recognized as far back as the passage of the Underwood tariff bill' in 1913, he drew a Republican assault.

War of Words Starts
Senator Curtis, Feas and Stuart declared that Smith is the very opposite of the farmer's friend. They charged that the Democratic party's change in the tariff policy is therefore meaningless. Democrats, including Senator Pittman, replied that the Feeder-McCumber tariff had deliberately misrepresented Smith's meaning, and a war of words followed that probably will continue until election.

Smith also promised that if elected, he would restore the tariff commission to the non-political, quasi-judicial fact-finding basis which Smith Woodrow Wilson established. Anticipating Republican charges that this would mean a "new tariff commission," Smith charged that the commission under President Coolidge had been a vehicle of "special interests."

Issue Is Dangerous
Politicians are finding as they have found every four years, that the whole issue is so complicated that to emphasize a tariff's benefits to one set of manufacturers or producers is to risk losing the votes of another faction.

The farmer, for instance, demanding equality with the industrialist, is likely to be offended at any tariff policy that ignores him. The same is true of the manufacturer. The fact that both parties seek the farm vote as well as the support of business men accounts largely for the evasions and explanations in campaign statements to date.

As for the central property issue, Hoover and his associates of Republican power on the theory that this country, helped by the Feeder-McCumber tariff, has introduced its wealth and comforts.

Unemployment Cited
Smith asked whether four million unemployed indicated general national prosperity. He admitted there was some degree of prosperity, but said it was concentrated in two few hands, and that it was achieved in spite of, rather than because of the tariff.

Both Hoover and Smith recognized that the consumer as well as the producer and manufacturer, has a vital interest in any tariff. Hoover explained his party opposes "protection to all our people from competition with lower standards of living abroad," while Smith says a Democratic tariff "will do justice to every element in the nation."

TWO MADRID LEADERS CONGRATULATE CALLES

HAVANA, Sept. 4.—Sept. 4.—Two members of the former Madrid party in Mexico Monday sent a telegram of congratulations to President Calles, praising his ability for maintaining control over the country. The message was signed by Juan Sanchez Arce, who was private secretary to the late Francisco Madero, and to Juan Luis Nolasco, who was secretary to Francisco I. Madero, former president of the republic. They claimed to be acting in the name of the Madrid party. In the message they said that President Calles' pronouncement on the need for true democratic control was in accord with the doctrine "preached" by the Maderista school since 1911.

Stand for Al Smith Defended by Sheppard; Woman Told Governor Is Honest in Attitude, G. O. P. Is Not

TEXARKANA, Sept. 4.—In a letter written by him to Mrs. Claude de Van Watts, Senator Morris Sheppard, Monday defended his stand in announcing some time ago that he would support the candidacy of the Democratic national ticket, for which statement Mrs. de Van Watts recently criticized the senior Texas Senator. Sheppard's statement in full follows:

My Dear Mrs. Watts: I am in receipt of your letter of Aug. 30. You state that Governor Smith's action in signing the bill which the New York legislature had passed for the repeal of a state prohibition enforcement act left the state since that time practically without prohibition enforcement. Permit me respectfully to suggest that you are laboring under a misapprehension. The federal prohibition enforcement law, known as the Volstead Act, remained in operation throughout the state of New York after the state enforcement measure was repealed and continues in operation in that and every other state today.

Urges Law Enforcement.
Governor Smith announced at the time he signed the act repealing the state enforcement law that on every state peace officer would continue to act—I now use his exact words—"the sacred responsibility of enforcing the Volstead Act with as much force and as much vigor as they would employ any state law or local ordinance, and that he would expect—again I employ his own language

—the discharge of that duty in the fullest measure by every peace officer in the state."

This shows that Governor Smith's attitude was not one of nullification. I see nothing in his action in connection with the repeal of the state enforcement act on which to base your contention that he would be consistent in interpreting his oath as president as permitting him to use his office to secure either the repeal or the practical nullification of national prohibition. He would have the right, without violating the Democratic platform, to advocate repeal or modification through legislative and constitutional enactment and has had as frankly that he favors modification of both the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act, pointing out exactly in what respect he would modify. This advocacy, however, would be in no way inconsistent with, and would have no relation to, his oath to enforce these measures as long as they remained in the statutes—an oath which I believe he will live up to, as he assures us, to the last degree. Nullification means refusal to enforce an existing law.

"Saturated With Corruption."
You quote Oswald Garrison Villard's assertion in an article in The Nation of Nov. 30, 1927, to the effect that he was reliably informed that Governor Smith drinks every day. Mr. Villard does not give his authority. Before I pass upon the question you raise in this connection I must have been ter proof than the hearsay evidence submitted by Mr. Villard. My stand is that without modifying our vigilance or our views as to prohibition we must immediately restore the Democratic party to control in order that it may apply democratic principles to such other questions as the condition of agriculture, integrity and efficiency of government, equal opportunity for all, justice in taxation, aggressions of trusts, monopolies and other forms of lawless wealth. To say that the Democratic party is to be excluded from power because its nominee for president, although thoroughly sound on these other questions and in active sympathy with true Democratic solutions for all concerned, has personal views opposed to prohibition, views he can never carry out, is in my judgment to imperil the welfare and freedom of America.

You say that you regret my present stand. You can not regret my stand for democracy more than I regret your stand for the Republican party whose continued rule, hopelessly saturated with corruption, in my judgment will destroy the integrity of free government, undermine prohibition and every other safeguard of our civilization. With highest personal regard, I am, Yours very sincerely,

PRINTING OF SMALLER SIZED CURRENCY IS BEGUN BY U. S.

New Paper Money, Two-Thirds as Large as Now, to Be in Use in Year; $1 Bills Come First

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4. — The first of the new small sized paper money to be placed in circulation next year are being printed at the United States bureau of engraving and printing. The new bills are two-thirds as large as the present ones and eventually will supplant the larger notes now in circulation. The present size of the paper currency is 7 1/2 by 14 1/2 inches, while the dimensions of the new money are 5 1/8 by 11 1/2 inches, which is approximately the size of the Philippine currency. It is about a quarter of an inch less in width and one and three-eighths inches more in length than the French five-franc note.

Recommendations for reduction in size of the paper money was approved by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in May 1927. The currency has been brought in its present size since 1861. The treasury's decision to reduce the size of the money was based on an exhaustive investigation covering several years. Currency of the dimensions of the new money has been used in the Philippine Islands for a number of years and the treasury's investigation there disclosed that money handlers such as bank tellers, paymasters and others found it to be more convenient in every respect than the larger size bills now used in the United States.

Run Up to $19,000
In announcing the treasury's decision to issue the smaller size money, Mellon said the new bills would not be reduced to such an extent as to make obsolete either money counting machinery or cash registers now in use. In their smaller size the notes will generally fit into pocketbooks without being folded, which is not possible with currency in its present size, Mellon explained. This frequent folding and creasing eventually breaks the fibers of the paper and hastens its deterioration and retirement from circulation. Furthermore, the protection afforded by the smaller notes against imitation and alteration will be increased by the fact that the new bills are printed on a heavier paper than the present larger size.

The smaller sized bills will be printed in denominations of $1, $2, $5, $10, $20, $50, $100, $500, $1,000 and $5,000. The $1 bill comprises about 53 per cent of the total of bills used by the American people. Consequently production of the $1 bills was started first and the printing of the higher denominations will follow later. In expanding the program for the introduction of currency in the reduced size, Secretary Mellon said, "it has been decided that the initial production shall be confined to bills of the $1 denomination and to accumulate a sufficient stock of the new bills so that on some future even date, later to be announced, all of the $1 bills of the larger size then in circulation can be redeemed on demand. For this reason the public should understand that no request for specimens of the new currency can be considered until the smaller $1 bills make their appearance simultaneously in all parts of the country."

Means Saving in Cost
A vast will be required for the printing and distribution of the $1 bills alone. Bills of the present size must be printed in the regular amounts while the new currency is being produced. It is tentatively anticipated that it will not be earlier than July before the new money will be placed in circulation. Some changes in the design of the new currency will be necessary. These changes, however, will not be material. The new notes retaining practically all the major characteristics of the present paper money. Portraits now appearing on the notes will be reallocated in some instances in order to avoid repetition. The plan is to restrict the use of a particular portrait to a given denomination of currency. This Washington's portrait, for example, will immediately identify the

HOW TO KEEP FROM GROWING OLD WITH AUTO

The following hints are prescribed by the American Motorists' association for motorists who desire to keep from growing old:

Always drive fast out of a hole.

Always race with locomotives to crossings. Engineers like to break the monotony of their jobs.

Always pass the car ahead on curves or turns. Don't use your horn. It may unnerve the other fellow and cause him to cut out too far.

Demand half the road—the middle. Inset on your right.

Always speed; it shows people you are a man of power even though an amateur driver.

Never stop, look or listen at a railroad crossing. It consumes time.

Always lock your brakes when skidding. It makes the job more artistic.

Always pass cars on hills. It shows you have more power and you can turn out if you meet a car at the top.

Never look around when you back up. There is never anything behind you.

Drive confidently but as though there were not 23,000,000 other cars in service.

STEW PAN HANDLE SHOWN AS GRIEF FOR MOTORIST

WACO, Sept. 4.—On display in one of the garages here is a bent and rusty stew pan handle. This handle is not a thing of beauty and is anything else but a joy forever. On it is fastened a large card that tells the reader that this stew pan handle costs the owner of good automobiles the sum of $52.35. The handle got in contact with a tire and punctured a hole in said tire. Before that said tire could be used again, it had to be replaced.

This garage has several other interesting exhibits that caused him to live, and almost made some folks lose their religion.

STYLE HINTS

By ALICE LANGELIER, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW SUMMER SUITS OF SOFTIE MATERIAL

PARIS, Sept. 4.—Late summer suits are being made of soft silk, satin and chiffon, more elegant, softer and of more feminine materials than ever before. They are anything but "tailored."

Most of them are cut on the lines of the sports suit with short, simple jacket, skirt and jumper but they are very frilly and fluffy. Sometimes it is composed of jacket and one-piece dress.

Satin suits come with collarless, cardigan jackets and pleated skirts worn with bloomers of satin or printed chiffon in contrasting colors. Jean Patois makes a one-piece dress in white with jacket in bright blue. It is of very heavy and handsome satin with a straight blouse trimmed with sunburst tucks in front and back. The blouse is sleeveless.

Lace shading from beige to brown makes a charming summer suit combined with georgette. The coat has a yoke at the shoulders and is gathered on below, the lower half of the three-quarter coat being made of lace. The one-piece lace frock has yoke, belt and under-arm panel of georgette and there is a smart scarf collar.

WADER STEPS

ON 73 LB. FISH; SUBDUED BY 3

TYLER, Sept. 4.—Strength of three men was required Sunday to land a 73-pound catfish at the mouth of the Lynn Branch in the prize catch of the season.

Busty Atwood and L. A. Dale of Winters were wading at Lynn Branch when Atwood stepped on the fish. He thrust his arm up to the elbow in the mouth of the fish in an effort to grab it, and in the ensuing struggle Atwood and Dale were thoroughly soaked by the fighting fish. A husky negro came to their rescue and the three managed to carry the fish ashore and kill it.

$4,500 PURSE IN

DERBY IS WON BY TERRAPIN

161 RANCH, MARLAND, Okla., Sept. 4.—Sunday, best-waddling terrapin owned by M. W. Gaffey, night watchman at the Marland oil refinery in Ponca City, won the fifth annual renewal of the 161 Ranch Terrapin derby today, carrying with it a purse of $4,500.

Sunday stopped the 75 feet from the center of the circle to the rim in which the terrapin raced, in one minute and 47 seconds.

Calley, 66, picked the lucky reptile up on the streets of Ponca City three weeks ago Sunday and named it for the day on which he found it.

Second money was won by H. L. Helton of Fairfax, Okla., with his terrapin, "Anonymous." The second prize purse was $750.

"Uncle Joe," shelled speedster owned by Sam Bowden of Electra, Texas, carried off the third prize, $500. "Lucky" belonging to J. J. Lewis of Fairfax, came in fourth to win $250 and "Chad," entry of Earl Chudwell of Hardy, Okla., took the fifth prize, $125. Forty-five others also ran.

SINCERITY

The business of this bank is administered by men to whom banking is a life study and work. They render depositors a sincere banking service; they mean it; they are emphatic about it.

To them the enviable regard in which this bank is held, not only by those it serves, but by the community at large, is a thing of personal pride and personal honor.

And for this reason the patronage of the First National Bank has steadily increased—just as the quality of its service has been bettered month after month and year after year.
