MONEY FOR SCHOOL BONDS RECEIVED

State Apportionment Is Due Soon; Liberty Hill and Tuition Problems Are Discussed by Education Board

The money derived from the sale of the Cisco school bonds, $50,000 and accrued interest of $221 has been received by the Cisco Banking Co. and placed to the credit of the school board. It was announced at the meeting of the school board Wednesday night. Business Secretary Walker also stated that the first allotment of the public school apportionment for the coming year was due to be disbursed Sept. 15.

The board held a lengthy session. There were present F. D. Wright, president, W. J. Armstrong, Dr. F. E. Clark, Dr. C. C. Jones and J. E. Spencer, trustee. J. J. Youngblood, superintendent, and F. W. Walker, business secretary. The board continued in session until 11 o'clock, and considerable business was transacted.

The application of M. H. Ray to be janitor of two of the ward schools was referred to the building committee with power to employ. Miss Louise Roddy, of the teaching faculty, was granted a leave of absence for three months.

The Liberty Hill School problem asserted itself early in the deliberations of the board. This school continues to give the board more trouble than all the other schools combined. Though the smallest unit in the Cisco school system there is generally a problem to be solved.

J. T. Berry, H. L. Mobby and R. W. Mansell were named as the board of equalization to equalize the valuation of property value for school taxing purposes.

The board placed the salary for the position in the high school, vacated by the resignation of Miss Dee Bacon, at $100 per month, and the superintendent was authorized to employ a teacher from those whose applications are pending to fill the vacancy.

$23,075 BUILDING PERMITS TAKEN OUT IN AUGUST

Building permits for the month of August amounted to $23,075, according to the records of City Secretary Statham. In the permits issued several nice cottages are being built, including brick and stone veneer. With the exception of the month of June, when a permit was issued to construct Cisco's $400,000 hotel building, the permits have averaged practically the same for the past several months. While those permits do not show as large an aggregate as some towns, yet a steady building pace is indicated. Following are those who were granted permits to build during August:

Banner Year Is Looked for at Cisco Junior College; Many to Enter from C. H. S.; Classes to Start Wednesday

Randolph college will open Monday for the enrollment of students in Cisco, President T. T. Roberts announced today. This will give more opportunity for those who need to arrange about their courses to have a chance to talk the matter over with Dean Isaacks. Those who do not find it convenient to come Monday may do so Tuesday.

From all indications Randolph will have the best course it has had in its history. President Roberts said. "Students are coming from various sections of Texas and from a number of outside states. We will have students coming this year from as far away as Cuba. We have never had the inquiries concerning the college that we have had this year. This only goes to prove the growing interest that is being manifested in Randolph college. A visiting friend said the other day that in his travels in West Texas he found Randolph college more favorably talked about than any institution of his acquaintance. The recent rains have aided in making the campus beautiful. I do not think I have ever seen the hill look so well as it does at this time. The trees and shrubbery have grown in a fine way and our superintendent of grounds has spent a good deal of time in beautifying the campus and I am quite sure that the old students will be delighted on their return with the conditions that will greet them."

We are happy indeed to have the assurance that practically all of the graduating class of Cisco high school who are attending college anywhere will enroll in Randolph college. This is as it should be. However, this speaks well for the citizens of this community who are interested in a vital way in building up their own institutions.

Professor Bruce Jones just returned from New Mexico, where he has been taking a course in social sciences, and he was delighted with his experiences there. Miss Read, who has been attending the University of Chicago in on her way home now, and a coming back with Mrs. Roberts and family, who have been in Chicago during the summer with David Allen, the son of herself and Mrs. Roberts, attending the graduate medical school of the University of Chicago. Miss Jones has had a year's leave of absence and has been studying piano in New York City.

Miss McClintock has spent the summer in graduate work in E. M. U. at Dallas. Professor Reid is on his way to Cisco from his wife's home in Iowa to resume his work abroad, studying in both England and Scotland. With the return of the old faculty fresh from the classrooms at home and abroad, and with the additional faculty of Miss Hallie Strange and J. P. Sanders, Randolph will have the strongest faculty that it has ever had. We are quite sure that Cisco will be proud of the record that we shall make this year.

Coach Garrett has a very strong schedule in football and bids fair to have one of the best teams that Randolph college has had.

We desire to invite the public to attend the opening at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, September 12.

SECOND WHITE WOMAN PLEADS GUILTY AS DRUNK

Pleading guilty to a charge of being drunk Erma Schultz was the second white woman to plead guilty to this charge in the city court this week, and the third white woman arraigned before the mayor. Police stated they picked up this woman on South street last night in an intoxicated condition. The woman, when arraigned in court this morning, was nearly dressed in an ensemble suit of light gray wearing a beautiful hat of a rose pinned to the lapel of her jacket and appeared refined and intelligent. She stated she drank with a man in a local hotel, and became intoxicated. According to her statements she remembered very little after that. Failing to remember where, or from whom she procured the liquor, Mayor Williamson turned her over to the county officers to appear before the grand jury now in session. She was given a fine of $10 and costs in the city court. A man, who stated he was a traveling salesman and had taken the woman out for drive last night to sober her up, was arraigned at his hotel this morning and pleaded guilty to a vagrancy charge and paid his fine. Several negroes who were held for investigation in connection with selling intoxicants to the liquor, Mayor Williamson turned them over to the county officers to appear before the grand jury now in session. She was given a fine of $10 and costs in the city court. CISCO, TEXAS, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1928.

STATE TO ACT AGAINST SPREAD OF PINK BOLLWORM

Agriculture Commissioner May Destroy Crop When Pest Shows Up; Farmer Compensated by U. S.

Five pages of closely typed regulations have just been issued by George B. Terrell, commissioner of agriculture, governing ginning, crushing of seed and the movement of cotton lint, cotton seed, linters and cotton refuse within and from the pink boll infested territory of West Texas.

Little is heard about the pink bollworm at this time, but the season of the year is approaching when the insect (if it survived the winter and the clean-up measures) is expected to make its appearance.

It is needless to say that the most careful watch will be kept by state and federal inspectors for the first fall-toe signs of this destructive cotton pest in this year's cotton fields.

Before any of the $5,000,000 fund voted by congress to compensate Texas cotton growers (whose crop may have to be destroyed) can become available, a live worm must be found as evidence of the pest's existence this year. When a live worm is found the commissioner of agriculture has powers to destroy the infested crop and to throw around that infested area such safeguards as may be deemed necessary, after the governor has issued an emergency quarantine proclamation and after the pink bollworm compensation board shall have visited the infested field to determine a basis for damages.

New Regulations. Regulated zones will be in effect in El Paso, Hudspeth, Presidio, Brewster, Terrell, Pecos, Jeff Davis, Culberson, Winkler, Crane, Upson, Glasscock, Reeves, Dawson, Midland, Martin, Ector, Andrews and that part of Howard and Borden counties lying west and south of the Gulf-Big Spring Highway and Moran creek.

No seed cotton bolls or brambles (cotton refuse) or other parts of the cotton plant or cotton products liable to carry infection of pink bollworm shall be kept in storage in regulated zones in any year after March 1.

Seed cotton shall not be used in the manufacture of any article. No seed cotton shall be carried from one county to another within regulated zones except for ginning at nearest gin to point of origin, after which all products thereof shall be subject to the regulations of the county to which carried.

No seed shall be carried from the regulated area except from Dawson county to designated gins located within the city limits of O'Donnell in Lynn county.

No cotton seed shall be carried from one county to another within a regulated zone except when permit is issued therefor by an inspector. Conditions of infestation and utilization of such seed shall be taken into consideration in issuing such permits.

For Price Protection. The entomologist of the state department of agriculture shall investigate conditions of pink bollworm infestation in each county in the regulated zone and if he believes it will not be dangerous to the cotton industry to allow cotton seed from any gin in an approved county to be carried outside the regulated zone for crushing (and the selling price of cotton seed in any vicinity be less than a fair market value), he shall cause to be posted on that gin a list of designated oil mills to which cotton seed may be carried after permit is issued by the inspector in charge. In the case of a gin located on the Mexican border before such a list shall be posted it shall be clearly shown that the cotton industry of Texas will not be endangered by any condition that may exist on the Mexican side.

All cotton lint, linters, delinted and ginned cotton, as well as samples thereof shall not be moved from regulated zones to points outside except under permits, which are to be issued only where evidence is had that these products have been compressed to a density of not less than twenty-two pounds to the cubic foot and that they have been disinfected according to law. Cotton lint and other above products ginned outside regulated zones shall be returned to a designated fumigator and compress for fumigation and compression and shall not be moved therefrom except under compliance with the regulations.

Baled Cotton Lint. Baled cotton lint grown outside of but concentrated within a regulated area, on the furnishing of evidence satisfactory to the inspector that it has been handled in a manner to safeguard it from possible contamination with the pink bollworm, may be moved under permit. Cotton stalks, gin and mill waste and other parts of the cotton plant shall not move outside of or within the regulated zones. Railway cars, boats and all vehicles which have been used to convey cotton and cotton products or which are fouled with such products, farm household goods, farm equipment, contaminated with cotton or other materials, shall not be moved from a regulated area until they have been thoroughly cleaned satisfactorily to the state department of agriculture. Similar regulations apply to bagging, wrappers and containers used in connection with lint, cotton seed, bolls, cake and meal.

Gin Restrictions. No gin shall gin cotton from a regulated zone unless authorized in writing by the entomologist of the state department of agriculture and unless such gin is properly equipped with disinfecting machinery and its premises being clean. All gins shall disinfect all cotton seed in accordance with the law and all gin waste and trash shall be destroyed daily.

Similar regulations apply to cotton oil mills located within or without regulated zones, and the strictest cleanliness is to be enforced to safeguard against escape of the insect in any form.

No fumigation of bales, samples of articles of cotton, will be recognized as done by duly authorized agencies in accordance with state regulations, and the commissioner of agriculture may at any time cancel such permit for non-compliance with the regulations. All cotton and cotton products or articles fouled with cotton, brought into Texas from any area outside of Texas known to be infested with pink bollworm or other dangerous pests and under quarantine of the secretary of the United States department of agriculture, shall be subject to such inspection and disposition as the laws of Texas authorize, unless such products are moved in accordance with rules and regulations promulgated by authority of the federal government.

AUSTIN TO OPEN BIDS ON NEW NEGRO HOSPITAL

AUSTIN Sept. 6.—Bids will be opened by the city council here Sept. 27 for the construction of the new unit to the negro hospital. The addition will cost approximately $50,000. The plans, as prepared, provide for two-story building and basement to accommodate 82 beds. The new structure will replace a unit that has been in service for almost 50 years. The city already has under construction a unit that will cost approximately $100,000, which will be ready for service, according to present plans by Nov. 30.

ESTIMATE OF TEXAS COTTON CROP REDUCED

AUSTIN Sept. 6.—The Texas cotton crop will fall below the $323,208 bale estimate made a short time ago by Agricultural Commissioner George B. Terrell, the commissioner said today.

"There appears to have been considerable deterioration in the crop since I made that estimate. I expect that in face of existing conditions the crop will run less than five million bales," he said.

IMPORTATION OF JERSEYS IS GOAL IN FLOYD

LOCKNEY Sept. 6.—The importation of a carload of pure-bred, registered Jersey cattle was adopted as the major accomplishment to be attained by the recently organized Floyd county Jersey Cattle club whose officers are J. B. Potter, Jr., president; Albert Kim, vice president; and Herman Hoffmann, secretary.

The organization is composed of men who own pure-bred, registered Jersey cattle and has as its purpose the promotion of the registered dairy cattle industry. Plans are under way to hold farmers institutes in Lockney, the subject of each meeting to bear directly with some phase of the dairying industry tending towards the more economical production of milk and butter fat.

In order to derive the greatest profit possible from the dairying industry, members of the Floyd county Jersey Cattle club have decided to use one main blood line in the improving of their herds, only bulls descending from Masterman of Oakland, head of the famous caprock herds, will be purchased by individuals and circles.

STATE NEARLY $8,000,000 AHEAD OF YEAR AGO

AUSTIN Sept. 6.—Cash balances in the 36 state funds totaled $19,248,648.96 at the beginning of the fiscal year, September 1, as compared with $11,725,450.90 on the same date last year but the total would have been $11,319,159.90 if the August gasoline tax had been received in time to be included.

The three-cent gasoline tax for August, which was not paid to State Treasurer W. Gregory Hatcher in time for inclusion in the total, amounted to $1,830,511 as compared with $1,716,000 for July. The

This is a photograph of Daisy Aggie Ormsby, a Holstein-Friesian cow, who holds the United States championship as a unit-of-all producer over all ages and breeds. Her record is 1,238 1-4 pounds of butterfat in a year. Many other fine Holsteins will be on display at the Southwestern Dairy Show at the State Fair of Texas, October 6 to 12.

Texas is just beginning to learn what a wonderful dairy country it is destined to be but the knowledge is spreading fast and one community after another is encouraging the farmers to weed out their scrub cows and replace them with better stock.

High-grade bulls are being purchased on the spot and community plans over 100 of the best animals obtainable having been placed in various strategic points in North and East Texas since in the last few months. These include Jersey, Holstein and many fine dairy breeds.

The Southwestern Dairy Show, to be held at the State Fair of Texas, Dallas, Oct. 6 to 12, will be the same as a sort course in modern dairying. It is stated. The best of cattle will be on display for the inspection of those who are becoming dairy-minded and there will be experts representing the various breeds, to offer advice and counsel, free of charge. The display of modern dairy machinery and appliances will be made in the new Dairy Building, near the cattle barns.

SMITH GREATEST LEADER SINCE JACKSON, SAYS ROBINSON

West Texans Told Governor Does Not Mix Church and Office, He Is Capable, Tammany South's Friend

Addressing tributes to Governor Al Smith as a man and as a public official formed the gist of the address at Lobo stadium Tuesday night of Senator Joe Robinson of Arkansas, visiting mate of the New York senator on the Democratic national ticket. Some 15,000 persons—perhaps more—packed the stadium and cheered the Arkansasian repeatedly and left no doubt that they were with him.

Characteristic of the man, Senator Robinson said in his speech, was his qualifications. He had had his friends and fellow Democrats, Al Smith as the most magnificent American of the generation because of his honesty and his loyalty in behalf of the common people. However, the speakers who preceded Robinson praised him as much as he did Smith.

"The Robinsons and I have felt that we are not alone in our admiration for Governor Smith," Robinson said in his address. "We have seen hundreds of former Arkansians here and they have made us feel at home."

In his closing remarks he said that whenever he moved away from Arkansas he intended to come to Texas to make his home.

WELCOMED BY WEST TEXAS

Senator Joe T. Robinson, Democratic vice presidential nominee, who was given a warm ovation by West Texans at Cisco Tuesday. In his address here he praised Governor Al Smith as the greatest leader since Andrew Jackson and told the audience that there was nothing to fear through his election as president.

They have not endorsed the law against bribery. If they did they could not have a cabinet meeting. They have not endorsed the law against conspiracy and against robbery. If they would have prevented the exploitation of the people by predatory interests during the last eight years, they haven't endorsed the anti-trust laws because they have approved the biggest mergers in our history.

In 1923 Hoover did not know whether he was a Democrat or a Republican. Today we don't know whether he is wet or dry and whether he does lie.

Smith to Retain Post Offices.

Senator Robinson is bringing to Texas the message to do its duty but Texas will do it only when the Democrats of the South looked to the Democrats of the North to fight their battles and they did not look in vain. Today the Democrats of the South shall not prove untrue to the Democrats of the North. The Democrats of Texas will help to drive out the unscrupulous persons in high places.

The Copper Club of West Texas, who were one of the clubs at the Country Club dinner, proved a hit with the stadium audience. The audience rose when the girls sang "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You."

The final speaker before Robinson was Eugene Lanford, Ohio lawyer and chairman of the committee, who introduced him.

Robinson Lauded by Lanford.

Joe Robinson has won the confidence of his colleagues and of the people by always doing his duty. Lanford said.

He drew a laugh from the audience when he said that the public naturally expected Senator Robinson would visit Cisco if he were to visit Dallas.

"The people know if he visited one of the two leading cities in Texas he would visit the other because of the rivalry between them," he said.

Lanford told of the behind-the-scenes home of Robinson, paid a personal tribute to him and said that while Smith "the heavy warrior" had the success habit, Robinson had the habit just as much.

New Address in Nashville.

WIDOW SAVES TO ADD MITE TO AL'S FUND

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—It took her three months of scrimping and saving to do it; of going without things and of dropping little coins, one by one, into a china pitcher in the cupboard. But Mrs. Theresa A. Foley at last has saved $50 out of her yearly wage of $600, earned as a clerk for the city, to add to the campaign fund of Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

Mrs. Foley lives at 284 Mott avenue, the Bronx, and is employed in the Municipal building, as a temporary clerk in the teachers' house department of the city.

Her husband, who was a contractor of the firm of Foley & Kelly, is dead, and she has no other source of income but her own earnings, she said.

She brought the money in to Democratic national headquarters, her plans were finished and smiling and her eyes a little moist with the emotion and excitement she felt. She had the coins changed into small bills and she drew the fat roll out of a worn, bulging purse.

"I always hoped I'd live to see Al Smith in the white house," she said. "Herbert H. Lehman, chairman of the finance committee, who received her. "I guess I'm going to, after all. When he ran for governor last time I got 76 votes for him. I got every neighbor in his neighborhood out to the polls to vote for him."

"Way did I save my money for him? Because I think he's such a best, honest, sturdy man who means right by the country."

Harold F. Payson of the finance department received the money from Mrs. Foley, and gave her a receipt. Col. Lehman passed a gold coin on her and Governor Smith himself has arranged to receive her when next he comes to New York.

"How did you manage to save this much money?" she was asked.

"Oh, I just went without things. You know I don't crave a lot. I can get along on just a little."

A tearful "thanks" she looked down at her shoes, which were plain black oxfords.

"I went without shoes for one

BLIND WOMAN TO SEEK SEAT IN U. S. SENATE

EXETER, Neb., Sept. 6.—Despite the fact that she lost the sight of both eyes at the age of eight because of an accident, Dr. Claire E. Owens has hopes and political aspirations to become a United States senator.

In the recent Republican primaries in Nebraska she defeated a veteran politician for state senator and if elected she plans to run for the United States senatorship to succeed Senator George B. Norris.

Senator Norris is a close friend of Dr. Owens and has promised to give her support in the race she plans to run for the state senatorship this election, she says.

Dr. Owens has had a very strenuous life of business and profesal activity since her graduation from the Nebraska state school for blind.

While in the school she became interested in music and later graduated with honors and made her living in and about Exeter for some time teaching.

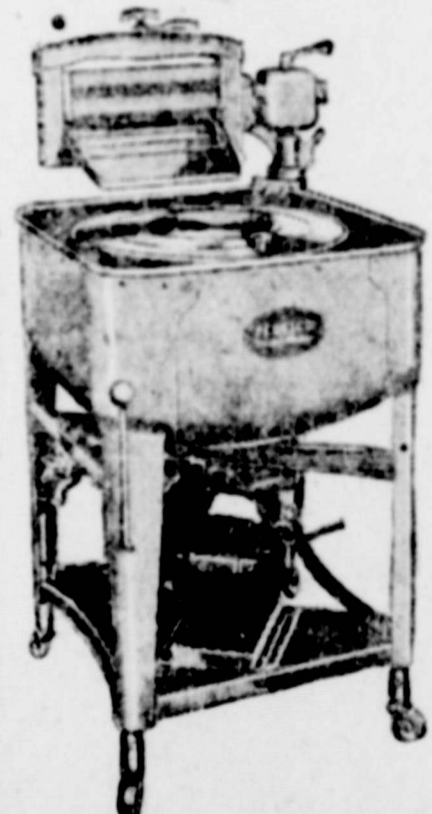

Dr. Owens saved enough money from this work to go to a college of osteopathy and has now built up a practice which has made her well to do.

GAS TAX GIVES TEXAS $2,868,000 IN 5 YEARS

AUSTIN, Sept. 6.—Since the original gasoline tax became a law in Texas, July 14, 1923, it has produced $43,868,000. This bulk of this money went to the highway commission. The less than a year and a half that the three-cent rate has been in effect, it has produced almost half the amount produced in more than five years that Texas has had a gasoline tax. Concrete evidence of where the tax has gone is found throughout the state in the way of splendid all-weather highways.

veiled nothing for them when he was asked. Neither did Charles E. Hughes when he was governor. But when they laid their case before Al Smith he listened to them and got the bill through a Republican legislature. And, mind you, most of the teachers that bill helped were Protestants. When he became governor the salary of the average teacher in New York was around $500. Today it is over $2,000.

Tammany's Friend of South.

The Democrats of the South have nothing to fear from Tammany Hall, Robinson said, adding that Tammany had more than once proved its friendship for this section of the country. Smith dominates Tammany and not Tammany Smith, he said.

"Thomas Jefferson, founder of the Democratic party, was an ally of Tammany," the speaker said. "He and Tammany stood shoulder to shoulder in fighting the battles of the common people. He gave credit to Tammany for the victory in the fight for equal rights."

When Jefferson Davis was in jail at the close of the Civil War, charged with treason, it was a Tammany lawyer who came to his rescue and defended him without compensation. In the black days of reconstruction Tammany fought the South's battles and saved independence for the South.

After reading tributes paid to Smith by the newspapers of New York, most of them Republican, he turned to the question of the governor's religion.

Five Catholics in Smith's Cabinet.

"We must meet the question of being a Catholic," Robinson said. The most sacred principle, to Thomas Jefferson was that of religious freedom. The epitaph on his tombstone which he himself asked be placed there, does not say that he was twice president of the United States. It does say that he was the author of the Virginia statute guaranteeing religious freedom. And Jefferson was also responsible for the religious freedom guarantee in the national constitution.

A ray was taken of the speaker at preachers who charge that Smith would turn the government over to the Catholics.

In Smith's cabinet as governor of New York there are nine Protestants, two Catholics and one Jew," Robinson said. "The proportion in his appointments is about the same."

Despite the searchlight that has been turned on him and despite the open that have hounded him in public and private life he has stood the test and no one can point to a single dishonest act in his life.

Religion, Freedom Guaranteed.

After declaring that the cause guaranteeing religious freedom was just as much a part of the constitution as any other section, Robinson took a parting shot at the bottom of the national ticket on account of Smith's religion with this statement:

"Anyone who is against Al Smith because he is a Catholic is unworthy to be in the party of Thomas Jefferson."

The ceremonies at the Lobo stadium followed a dinner at the Cisco Country club at which Robinson was the guest of honor and which was attended by newspaper men and Democratic leaders of West Texas. Mayor J. M. Williams introduced R. Q. Lee, congressman-elect, who presided as master of ceremonies.

Mrs. Sever Sees Big Majority.

Mrs. Clara Driscoll Sever, Democratic national committeewoman, predicted that the Smith-Robinson ticket would give the largest majority in the history of Texas. She said that Texas would prove itself as true to the principles of Smith as to the principles of Sam Houston and the heroes of the Alamo.

In the carpet bag days after the Civil War the women of the South looked to the Democratic party for salvation. The party did not fail them. Today they are looking to the Democratic party for relief from the most corrupt administration in American history. The Democratic party will not fail them in 1928," Mrs. Driscoll said.

Tom Connally, senator-elect, followed Mrs. Driscoll. He too predicted a tremendous majority for the Smith-Robinson ticket in November.

Connally Raps Republicans.

"The Democratic party was founded almost with the beginning of the American nation," he said. "It is the only party to survive the shocks and battles of the years. The Democratic party has been national in scope in all things and that is why it has survived. That and redeeming the government for the American people."

"The Republicans say they will enforce the law but they don't. The Democrats say that they will enforce the law and they will. Why, the Republicans haven't even enforced the law against common theft. If they did, their main supporters would all be in jail."

Smith's Friend of Public Schools.

The change has been made that the public school system of the United States would be ruined if Al Smith is elected president. The best answer to this is that Smith has done more for the public schools of New York while he has been governor than has any other governor of the state. He has shown that there is no reason to fear for the public schools of the country. Nine times as much is being spent for the schools of New York now as when he was first elected governor.

For years the school teachers of New York tried to get through a retirement bill to provide for pension of the public school teachers of the state when they became too old for active service. Roose-

"If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say unto this mountain 'Remove hence to yonder place'; and it shall remove; and nothing shall be impossible unto you."—Matthew 17:20.

MAN'S faith is always the limit of his blessings. He never obtains more than he believes in. We live in a world of unappropriated truth and unused power that can only be realized by ventures of faith. The central tragedy of man's life is that God in Christ is willing to do so much more in, for and through us than we have faith to let Him do. We tie the hands of God by our lack of faith. "He did no mighty works there because of their unbelief." Faith unlocks spiritual resources. The one thing we are forever overlooking in our calculations is Almightyness. In the long run it is spirit that wins in the crisis of life. Whenever enough folks have faith in any campaign for human betterment, victory is assured. The challenge to faith calls out the best. Jesus was constantly saying to men, "you can." He hands to us a blank check, signed, and bids us fill it in "according to thy faith." We need this challenge of faith to make us realize how real God is and what we can do by his help. He can who thinks he can. This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith.

ONE CROP SYSTEM IS BEING BROKEN UP IN CENTRAL TEXAS

Farmers Around Waco Turning from Cotton to Dairying and Poultrying and Finding It Pays

WACO, Sept. 6.—Blazing Central Texas farmers have found that the crop system has proven to be one that calls for all the dynamism that can be mustered. Lured and business leaders, after about two years of gradual effect in the Waco section, are now solidly committed to the new line of crops.

The first cow leasing specialists to operate in the "black land" stock farm in August, the leader, supported and supported by A. M. Collins, state agricultural agent, E. J. McConomy, county agent, and a scattering of progressive-minded citizens that milk production in Central Texas is for the first time going upon a business basis with a trained dairy staff to keep the records of the profit or loss in each cow.

Some of these producers have already had private records, but are turning to the "black land" stations in order to get official records of A. M. and of breeding stations upon their records.

In recognition of the demand that has developed for stock with known records of production.

Farmers Informed.
A year or two ago, a farmer in Central Texas talking butter fat milk production by pounds a year, or feed balanced in pounds to maintain normal of production—such a farmer would have been known as a fish in the Texas sands. Today such a farmer on the public square at Waco is likely being intelligent and well-informed. As J. H. county farmer agent, has ing the Dairy Herd Improvement Association, and as its president, built up interest to the point where the cow leasing work was begun. Good bulls have been introduced through the herd improvement association, and as the testing and breeding work gather headway this fall, drafting of bulls into circles will be definitely worked out.

Milk Cows Pledged.
Fifteen hundred farmers recently pledged, in McLennan County, that they would supply an average of ten cows each for a milk plant at Waco, and the chamber of commerce has committed itself to the establishment of such a plant, which will be in operation in the fall, and will be in operation in the fall.

The 1,500 farmers represent only one-fourth of the total number of farmers in the county, and it is the belief of the agents which took the canvass resulting in the pledges that the number would have been doubled, at least, if it had been found practical to see and talk with more than 15,000 in East Waco. The management experts that its capacity of 18,000 lbs. per head for feeding will prove sufficient two years from now at the rate the poultry business is developing.

Marketing Improved.
Increasing volume of diversified products has brought with it increasing market facilities and more competition, with resultant better prices, all tending back to draw more production. The Waco chamber of commerce program is directed toward marketing facilities which will take care of any amount of milk, eggs and poultry, handling them in a manner which will make them acceptable to world markets.

To start this somewhat rolling has been an arduous and at times discouraging task. But the ball is picked up in size now at a rate which warrants those who started to draw a breath of relief and satisfaction.

Out of the darkness of the depression in McLennan county has come a bond between city and country, which is not the least of the lights which mark the new dawn. Menaced by catastrophic loss and countryside have found a mutual consideration which they never approached in the days of undimmed prosperity.

New System Is Devised by U. S. Agriculture Dept. to Determine Farm Products' Purchase Power

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The agricultural department has adopted a new system for measuring the purchasing power of farm products. It is based on the retail prices that farmers pay for what they buy instead of the wholesale prices of non-agricultural goods for comparison. Officials believe it more accurately reflects the farmers' financial position because farmers obtain most of their supplies at retail rather than at wholesale and a retail index is therefore more appropriate as a measure of the exchange value of farm commodities.

The change is illustrated in the June price index number, first determined. It showed the purchasing power of farm products was 91 per cent of the level prevailing in the five-year period from August, 1923 to July, 1924. The general tendency is to show a higher purchasing power.

Purchasing Power
"It should be noted, however, that the new index numbers do not measure the purchasing power of the farmer, but merely that of a fixed quantity of farm products," the department warned.

Under the new system the department takes the prices since 1910 of commodities purchased by farmers for the family living and for operating the farm. Indices of these prices are considered more practically the same base period, 1910-1914 and as nearly as possible in the same manner as the index of prices received by farmers for the commodities they sell.

The prices paid are weighed by estimates of quantities purchased for the average farm in the period, 1920-1925. In other words, an attempt is made to measure the purchasing power of farm commodities in terms of the actual things that farmers actually buy. But the list of such things does not include all the values for which farm income is disbursed. It does not include, for example, such items as interest on mortgages and loans, rent and railroad fares.

"Naturally, measurement of farm commodity purchasing power on a basis of retail instead of wholesale price comparisons tells a slightly different story from that told by the index numbers previously in use. Retail prices commonly lag behind wholesale prices in receding periods. When prices are advancing it is usual for wholesale prices to advance more quickly and more steadily than retail prices.

When Prices Drop
"The opposite happens in periods of falling prices. In consequence the new index number system shows for the early years of the post-war depression period, a smaller disparity between the prices of farm products and the prices of other goods than was shown by the old system. On the other hand, when prices are advancing the tendency is for the retail comparisons to show less advance than would be shown by the wholesale comparisons."

In June of this year the purchasing power afforded by farm products was the highest since 1920. The index number was 93, with the base 100 representing 1920-1924. Corresponding figures based on the new system, are: 99 for 1925, 75 for 1921, 81 for 1922, 86 for 1923, 87 for 1924, 92 for 1925, 87 for 1926, and 85 for 1927.

In June the prices received for farm products were 148 per cent of the pre-war level, compared with 130 per cent a year ago. Among the restricting factors to the high cost of living on the farms in June were: furniture and furnishings at 206 per cent of the pre-war level; clothing, 179 per cent; home building materials, 171 per cent.

DRILL TEAMS TO CONTEST AT LEGION CONVENTION

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 6.—Plans for the various contests to be held in connection with the American Legion national convention here, October 8 to 12 will be worked out by a convention contest committee. Nat. M. Wadler, general chairman, has announced. Among the contests to be held are included band, drum corps, quartet, auxiliary quartet, drill teams, rifle shoots, pistol and others.

Now, if there was a grass-cutting costume and a system of scoring, lawn-mowing could be made to appeal to father.—Durham (N. C.) Sun.

SHACKELFORD COUNTY PLANS POULTRY FAIR

ALBANY, Sept. 6.—Plans for the second annual Poultry Fair of Shackelford county are being speedily worked out by County Agent A. C. Magee. For the past several years the Shackelford County Fair Association has been disbanded. The Hereford breeders have their annual Hereford show and sale in February of each year, and with the establishment of the poultry fair in the early fall months leaves an avenue through which the livestock breeders of this county may exhibit their stock. The show this year is being conducted on a more extensive scale than last year. Exhibitors are going to enter the competition from adjoining and near adjoining counties. Also instead of being held only one day the fair will be conducted over a two day period. Magee has been in touch with poultry officials of Texas A. & M. College, and has been assured by these officials that they will be on hand to conduct a series of lectures on the various phases of poultry industry. It is the aim of Magee and chamber of commerce officials to broaden the poultry fair into a dairy and poultry fair in 1929, but as yet dairying is not advanced to that stage in this county to cause any predictable stimulated interest along these lines from the display that would be made at the time of this show. The dates are as yet unannounced, but circulars will be sent out inviting some of the largest owners of show birds in Texas to compete. Since the poultry fair of last year there has been a noted increase of interest in Shackelford county.

Career of Moses, Fugitive from Justice at 80, Forms Subject of Revival Sermon by Rev. Will Hogg

An audience which almost filled the big Will Hogg tabernacle heard Dr. Will Hogg, evangelist, in his third night sermon last night and thrilled responsively at the stirring climax in his message on "The Land of Beginning Again." A turning study of the life of Moses formed the background of the address and the widely varied experiences of the famous Bible character gave free rein for the unusual dramatic and heart-appealing capabilities of the evangelist. Picturing Moses as a failure and a fugitive from justice at the age of 80 years, Dr. Hogg outlined the reason for his failure as his defiance of God's plan for his life and then traced in a most inspirational manner that brought a message of hope and encouragement to discouraged hearts the path Moses followed back to the land of beginning again which led to success and joy and crowning glory when he attained the age of 120 years.

Sidelights On Union Revival

Comanche is planning to send a delegation of approximately 100 to the services tonight while Ranger plans to swell the attendance by 150. Dr. Hogg has held campaigns in both these cities and is greatly loved by their citizenship. Abilene is planning to send possibly the largest delegation which has yet attended the meeting. A local committee in Abilene in charge of organizing the delegation is carrying daily reports of their plans in the Abilene press and is working to make their delegation a real testimony to their belief in Dr. Hogg and his message.

Choister Rodgers has started to work in dead earnest to mobilize the steps into a highly efficient musical aggregation. He expressed himself last night as delighted with the Cisco talent and with the splendid showing which the singers have made thus far in the face of outside interests which demanded the personal attention of many of them. However, now that other responsibilities are over, he urged that every singer be present tonight promptly at 7:30 for the official enrollment of the chorus. A music committee was appointed yesterday by the executive committee composed of Messrs. Ben McClintock, W. B. Statham, L. A. White, G. M. Stephenson, W. J. Armstrong, L. A. Carter, J. M. Carter and M. T. C. Williams, and this group met with Mr. Rodgers last night for instruction in the plans for organization. They are personally soliciting the local singers and Mr. Rodgers announces that on tomorrow night, following the enrollment to-night, he will assign a definite platform seat to each singer for the duration of the campaign.

The audience was very much interested yesterday to learn that Dr. Hogg was at one time a ball player. It developed that he was captain of his team at Tulane university when in college and subsequently played semi-professional ball.

The folk were also interested to learn that the evangelist has established an orphanage home during his ministry. The orphanage was located at El Paso during Dr. Hogg's pastorate in that city and is now still in operation as the only Protestant orphanage in that section.

When he left El Paso to enter the evangelistic work Dr. Hogg deeded the property of the institution to the New Mexico Methodist conference and it is now operated as a denominational institution. Sixteen of the children now in the home are Dr. Hogg's legally adopted children. In addition to his own family of four girls and one boy, make him a fair sized family. Nine foundlings were left on Dr. Hogg's doorstep in one year during his El Paso pastorate, it is said. The evangelist assured his hearers, however, that the institution is financially provided for and he does not take collections for it.

Intensive organization for the taking of a city-wide religious census is going forward through all the church forces under the supervision of Campaign Director Williams. The census will be taken in 30 minutes on next Sunday morning between 8:25 and 9 o'clock, over 150 workers being employed in the task.

Abilene Eagles to Send 180-Pound Line against Foes; Ranger Likely to Suffer by Ineligibility of Glenn ABILENE, Sept. 6.—Coach Mayhew of the Abilene Eagles is going to have a line when he needs his football team this month that would do credit to a college aggregation, at least so far as weight is concerned. For that matter some of the teams he has produced in recent years could hold their own with many college elevens.

When the Eagles meet Anson September 24, in the first game of the season, it looks as if the line-up will be as follows: Luby, center; Barber and Baker, guards; Black and Shackelford, tackles; Smith and Captain Salkeld, ends; Kincaid, quarter; Phelps, half; Baldwin, half; Hannah, full. This lineup will give Mayhew a line that will average over 180 pounds, and a backfield that is shifty and with plenty of speed.

Other men that have shown up well in practice are: Murphy and Hampton, center; "Red" Boyd, Barber and Bentley, guards; Daniels and Burton, tackles; Allen, half; Murphy, quarter; and many more likely prospects.

The schedule is as follows: Sept. 24, Anson at Abilene; September 29, Stamford at Abilene (tentative); October 2, Haskell at Abilene (tentative); October 12, Winters at Abilene (tentative); October 26, Eastland at Abilene; October 26, Ranger at Ranger; November 2 or 3, open; November 9, Breckenridge at Abilene; November 16, open; November 24, San Angelo at San Angelo; November 30, Cisco at Cisco.

RANGER, Sept. 6.—The axe of eligibility that has hung over the Ranger high school football team for the last two years, again makes its appearance and singles out Alfred Glenn scheduled for the quarterback's place this year.

Coach Esker, Curtis announced this week that Glenn's record was now up for question and was before Roy Henderson of the State Interscholastic league for settlement.

According to Curtis, Glenn stands a good chance of going out on the four year participation record. The blank signed by Glenn show that he played in 1924, 1925 and 1926.

Last year Glenn was declared ineligible at the beginning of school. Despite this, however, he entered school in order that he might be sent to school the nine months passed the required work satisfactorily, and was thought to be eligible.

When the Ranger Bulldogs launched their attack against Central high school of Fort Worth, however, Glenn was in the fray. In addition to this, he played basketball and participated in spring training football games. With the three year participation record signed by himself in the interscholastic league files at Austin, and last year's work against him, it is not thought by school officials that there is a possibility of Glenn being in the Bulldog lineup this year.

Clare Seay, substitute quarterback of 1927, will in all probability be placed at quarter, should Glenn be declared ineligible. Final declaration on Glenn's eligibility will be made in a few days.

SUDAN GRASS PROVES TO BE EXCELLENT CROP FOR FEEDING

A. B. Sprawls, Scranton Farmer, Is Netted $10 to 12 Weekly from Five Cows with No Other Expense

Eight acres of sudan grass have fed five cows for A. B. Sprawls of the Scranton community during the summer. With no additional expense, these cows have netted Sprawls from $10 to $12 per week from the sale of sweet cream, leaving the skim milk for home and poultry on the farm. Granting that the skim milk is of sufficient value to pay cost of milking, the sudan grass has in this case netted Sprawls $10 to $12 per week, or about $5 per acre per month, which is a very good pasture return. Others on the local cream route have said that "If I had my sudan grass my cows would be doing better."

It is hard to overestimate the value of good pasture for cattle, particularly during the winter months. In this connection, here are some suggestions as to the various winter pasture crops which are recommended for this section.

The small grains such as wheat, oats, rye, and barley are best under the best winter pasture conditions. It is suggested that they be planted thicker than usual and a little earlier than usual when the crops are to be grazed. In this connection it is well to call attention to the fact that soil which is washed away during the winter months, wears less than soil that has no winter crop, and also that there is considerable building up of the soil due to fertilizer left on the soil.

Another winter pasture crop which is growing in importance each year and which has been grown here very extensively is Austrian winter peas. This crop seems to have unusual ability to make considerable growth during the winter months, whereas many so-called winter pasture crops do most of their growing in early spring. So far as E. H. Varro, agricultural warden, known as "Charlie" Wende of the Wood community is the only local farmer who has tried this crop, Wende reports he yields very satisfactory and that the crop made splendid winter growth. F. E. Condit, superintendent of the state experiment station at Denison, Texas, reports that these peas are broadcast with a drill at the rate of 50 pounds per acre. In some instances the peas are planted with oats or other winter grain, in which case the oats should be drilled in rather deep and the peas drilled near the surface. If mixed with grain the drill and planted at the same time, the peas will not be planted uniformly. By this method up to 20 pounds will feed an acre.

—Sweet clover, which is classed as an early spring and summer pasture crop is growing in importance in some sections at a very rapid rate. Collins county planted over 20,000 pounds of sweet clover seed last year. This crop has been grown to some extent for several years around Cisco, but on a small scale. William Stroebel reports that his results with sweet clover for the past two years have been entirely satisfactory, and that it fits in nicely with sudan grass and oats for summer, winter and early spring pasture. F. E. Harrell, W. H. Johnson and others are planting sweet clover this fall. It is sometimes sown with oats or other grain in the fall or may be planted in the spring.

—The principal difficulty in growing sweet clover seems to be in getting a proper stand. This difficulty is being overcome by planting the seed in a rather hard seed bed. It is said that sweet clover is a lay man's crop, because when planted on land that has not been stirred for some time, about 15 to 20 pounds of seed per acre is recommended. It may be sown in one field even after the oats are growing without serious damage to the crop. When sown with oats or other grain, the clover does not grow rapidly until after the harvest of the oats. Sweet clover grows for 120 years without reseeded. It makes splendid pasture, particularly the second year.

3 SOURCES OF INCOME FROM DAIRY HERDS

There are three sources of income to be derived from your dairy business. They are first, the milk you sell second, the calves you sell and third, the manure you produce. Conservatively figured, a Jersey cow will furnish you with from 15 to 18 tons of barn yard manure annually. This is by far the best fertilizer known, and nothing in the world comes so near to making a bale of cotton on an acre of West Texas farm land.

Due to the widespread things about the development of dairy work in Kibburg county is that the dairy men are building good, modern dairy barns and milk houses. They are building large, expensive barns, but barns with concrete floors and conveniently arranged and built to stay. This is one of the signs that the dairy business is going to establish itself in the county and will continue for years and years. Make up your mind now to become a winter leauge grower if you have not already secured this increasing number.

If you have been in the habit of letting your soil fertility run down, turn about, grow some legume and become a soil improver. The great need of the soil in Texas is organic matter. Winter leauges help to provide this organic matter which, when turned into the ground, increases the waterholding capacity of your soil, reducing losses from leaching and erosion. Legume vegetable matter decays rapidly and is therefore quick to improve the soil. Sowing the seed with a drill will make the plants more resistant to winter damage. This applies to field peas, vetch and other legumes. One cow of a Harrison county district's herd returned more above feed cost than eight other cows that represented almost as large an average investment. The best cow purchased for $300 paid $25 above her feed cost, while eight others that cost an average of $100, taken together returned only $22 above the cost of their feed. And these cows were fresh cows and were receiving balanced rations fed according to production. It is an

CROSS PLAINS SCHOOLS WILL OPEN MONDAY

CROSS PLAINS, Sept. 6.—The Cross Plains school will open Monday, Sept. 10. An increased enrollment is expected due to the fact that the high school became fully affiliated last year. A large number of students are expected to come in from the country to take advantage of the excellent school facilities.

The Cross Plains school has made rapid progress during the past two years. A $20,000 school plant has been erected, the teaching staff has been increased from 12 to 19 and fifteen and a half units of affiliation secured last year.

HOGS TO BE SPECIALTY AT CARBON C

Will Be Only Swine Exhibit This Fall in Eastland County; Expert Husbandman of A.-M. to Be Judge

Hogs are to be the specialty at the Carbon Community Fair and Pig Show to be held at Carbon Sept. 14 and 15. Agricultural products of the community around Carbon will be exhibited just as at all the other Eastland county community fairs but hogs, pure bred, big and little will be the center of attraction. This has been designated as the official hog show of the county and hogs will not be shown at the Eastland County Fair, nor the Ranger Poultry Show nor the Cisco Dairy Show.

E. R. Eudaly, swine husbandman of the A. & M. College extension service, has been chosen to serve in the capacity of hog judge and will also speak on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 15, on "Economic Hog Production."

We are particularly favored in getting Eudaly here to help out with the Pig Show," according to J. C. Patterson, county agent. "It was Eudaly who made the protein supplement famous as a hog fattener, and this supplement probably has done more than any other factor to make hog feeding profitable. Hogs can be fattened on corn or grain sorghums alone, expensively; but, by balancing the ration with protein supplement it can be done profitably and economically."

The A. & M. College extension service has prepared and is circulating a pamphlet described as C-56 which briefly describes the system of economical hog production as outlined by Eudaly. This pamphlet is also available from the county agent.

Regular classes are to be arranged for all breeds of registered hogs and entry is open to the world. All breeders of the county are urged to exhibit some of their good animals in order that prospective purchasers may see and recognize the excellent type of animals that are being produced right here at home.

Doc Romish, Rufus Cox and Clayborn Eldridge each maintain that they have the young boar which will take off the championship honors so competition will be keen and exciting.

Cox, who resides in the Okra community, is said to have produced and sold more registered Poland China hogs than any other man in Texas during the past 12 months.

Cotton Acreage Expansion of Late Years Breaking Down Fertility of Soil; Higher Acre Yield Needed

When reduced to the last analysis by experience and study the problem of land used in the cotton belt is a matter largely of individual solution on the farm. The wide expanse of cotton acreage to produce the annual needs of American cotton for consumption has resulted in the exhaustion of soil and self-sustaining fertility, the breaking down of the natural fertility of the soil and backtracking to a large extent the growers.

Production of cotton is inefficient and disastrous to the growers. It should not require over seven acres to produce the same amount while the best methods of intensive culture are averaging a bushel per acre. Thirty million acres in cotton intensively cultivated and highly fertilized on good land would produce all the cotton the world needs and become a profitable industry to the farmers.

The raising of ample food and fiber supplies and crop rotation to reduce the soil has given way to widespread dependence upon cotton among the rank and file of the growers. According to the federal crop growing bulletin, issued Aug. 8 the average estimated yield of lint cotton 1927 over this season was listed at 132 pounds on 45,000,000 acres. At the average cost of production of approximately $25 per acre it can be readily seen that even at 20c per pound the farmers generally will lose money no matter what their system of marketing.

While cotton acreage has largely increased in the last few years, the average yields of lint per acre has decreased, except in the abundant crop year of 1926. And in that year the farmers lost money heavily at the low prices at which the crop was sold. The only cotton state in the South maintaining a high average per acre yield of half a bale is North Carolina, and this is due to the planting of smaller acreage per plot, diversification of crops and systematic crop rotation. The Alabama average per acre this year is only 122 pounds of lint, Georgia 135 pounds and Texas 140 pounds.

Extensive acreage in cotton per plot, especially in the old cotton states, instead of being profitable, invariably shows a distinct loss for the growers. Planting fewer acres in cotton, increasing the acre yields by intensive culture at a lower cost of production is the only sure method of profit. Expanded food and fiber acreage, and by crop rotation, rebuild the soils is the only way to permanent prosperity in the agricultural South.

To do this the individual farmer must evolve a more efficient and economic system of farm operations. Before governmental aid will be of real value in solving the problem of farm relief.

To require the planting of over fifteen acres of land to produce five

SCHOOLS OPEN SEPTEMBER 17 AT EASTLAND

EASTLAND, Sept. 6.—The Eastland city schools will open September 17. P. B. Bittle, superintendent, is working on a teachers' institute program which has to be approved by the state department of education before being announced. He will announce the plans when approved.

The schools are being thoroughly prepared for the opening, and everything points to the most successful term in the history of the schools. Bittle announces that the faculty is one of the strongest in the state.

All pupils must attend the school in the district in which they live; the district line is designated, and this rule must be complied with, school authorities announce.

All pupils must present a certificate of vaccination against smallpox upon entering, or they will not be enrolled.

The faculty for the 1928-29 season includes:
