

The Dynamo

(A Garland Adair)

James K. Polk was the first president to learn of his nomination for that high exalted office by telegraph. The radio's way now already. "De worl' do move, Brother Jasper."

Eastland county is building an imposing temple of justice. Now if the good people of that great and prosperous county, in "the egg basket of Texas" will take as much pains selecting the men and women who serve there as they do in the material that goes into that structure, Eastland county will be "more wonderful still."

An Englishman, who served as a brigadier general in the world war, got a job as a waiter in a Canadian restaurant. He tried to get something bigger; failing, he buried his pride, hid his medals, put on an apron and a bright smile, drove the wolf from the door and won. Peace has her problems and victories as well as war.

The Rev. Earl Montgomery, pastor of the First Christian church, Graham, as "Friendship Ambassador" for the Young County Fair association, is now visiting various communities in his section in the interest of the even which opens Wednesday, September 19. "It's the personal touch that counts most," he says, illustrating his point out of his own experience. "Many men and women refuse to go church any more," the preacher makes friends with them. "Some way in business."

It don't hurt a town one whit to have a lot of friends, to have a name for being friendly, to have a name for seeking friends and holding them when once won. Alden's special train through her trade territory, and expeditions by her business men to scores of other Texas towns, sent a dagger to the heart of towns that claim they have no time to spend on Good Will tours.

The revered and lamented Dean John C. Towne of the law department of the University of Texas for many years, once delivered an address to Junior Law on "Beware of the Little Foxes." Two points which many a Texas lawyer retains in mind are: "Don't make a mistake, poor farm out of your court house," and "Don't vote for a man who has to swell up to fill the office."

Crime prevails. Crime predominates. Crime is very prominent in the picture of today. Who's fault? First of all, it's the fault of the home. Children who won't heed their parents are sure to grow up heedless of police. Most crimes committed today are by young fellows who were neglected somewhere back down the line.

The Star Witness says that some folks have trouble getting shoes that fit their feet and that they have to go to the big cities after them, but he adds: "My trouble is that I wear them out."

Canonizer speaker: "This country is cursed with laws." "Poor it or 'em," shouts a voice in the crowd. "There are so many laws that cannot be enforced," continues the orator. "Amen," roars the audience. "Elect me to office and I'll see that there is a law enacted in this state that will protect the sanctity of the sacred home," exclaims the candidate in his peroration. "He's the man," says the crowd, and so there's another law on the books.

SCORE BOARD IS PRESENTED TO GRID FANS

Fans attending the first game of football of the season will keep track of the score this afternoon during the Lobo-Haskell game, from a score board that has just been erected at Chesley field by the management of the Palace theater. This board is 15 by 28 feet in dimensions, and the scores will be chalked up in such large letters that they can be read from any part of the grandstand. In erecting this score manager Greer, of the Palace, has rendered a service to the football fans, and one that has been badly needed. Heretofore the score could be seen only by those nearby, and few kept up correctly with the points made by the teams. With the large letters on this huge board, it will be easy to know just how the game stands at any period of the play.

BUILDING THAT OVERLAPS LOT IS REMODELED

The building of the West Texas Utilities Co. being erected on the grand block on E. avenue and West Fifth street, necessitating the remodeling of the rear of the Lankford building, just east of this location. This building is divided into three compartments. The Stanton confectionery is located in the front compartment, fronting on D. avenue. Noah Fowler's electric shop is in the middle compartment, fronting on West Fifth street, while A. B. Cloud's tire and casing shop is in the rear section of this building, also fronting on Fifth street. It is the rear section that is being remodeled.

When plans were made for building the new Utilities company home it was ascertained that the rear of the Lankford building overlapped on the property of the Utilities company. About ten feet of this part of the building has been torn away and workmen are now rebuilding the back and side walls within the dimensions of the lot.

The side walls will be built up level with that of the section occupied by Fowler's New doors and larger windows will be placed on the Fifth street front, and the entire west sections of the building will be greatly improved. The present tenants will remain in the building.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Sept. 14.—Sweeping in from the southeast, the most violent hurricane in the history of Porto Rico swept this island during the last 24 hours, leaving a trail of death, devastation and suffering in its wake. The property loss is estimated at $3,000,000. Telephone and telegraph wires are down, crippling communication.

This city is badly damaged and thousands are homeless. It is feared that the sugar, coffee and fruit crops have been virtually destroyed. Stragglers from the storm zone say that whole villages were demolished.

The coasts are strewn with wreckage. Military relief is being organized to aid the homeless in the storm zone. The gale raged for hours, reaching a velocity of 150 miles an hour. Houses were picked up bodily by the wind and carried away.

Lack of communication is hampering the gathering of facts and highways and railroads are impassable because of the debris.

Storm Moving Northwest
WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—The hurricane which tore through Porto Rico moving northwestward, will likely pass Turks Island tonight, according to the weather bureau. The navy wireless station at San Juan was wrecked, cutting off Washington communication. Efforts are being made to establish connection with Porto Rico through temporary wireless hookup at Guantanamo, Cuba.

The death list may increase.

CARELESS CAR DRIVING GETS $5 FINE, COSTS

The city court was engaged this morning in trying a case of an auto collision that occurred Wednesday afternoon on West Second street, at A. avenue, when Bernard Carroll was charged with running into a car driven by a Mrs. Simpson. Several witnesses were heard for the prosecution and defense, the testimony being that the accident was due to a lack of attention on the part of Carroll, as it was stated by one of the men riding in his car, that they were looking at a hole in the bottom of the car, and as the sun was shining in their faces, failed to notice the car ahead of them. The Simpson car was slightly damaged where the Carroll car struck its left front fender. Carroll was fined $5 and costs, which he paid.

Another case that occupied the attention of the city court was two more women drunks, both white. The night police stated that both were in an intoxicated condition when they alighted from No. 8, Texas & Pacific passenger. They were brought to the city jail where they were docketed on drunk charges under the name of Louise Boyd and Bettie Murray. The latter entered her plea of guilty, paid her fine and was discharged. The Boyd woman was still being held at noon today.

Otto Condon and L. S. Dardin were docketed on vagrancy charges, fined $5 and costs on their pleas of guilty, after which they were sent to Lake Cisco training camp for instruction in citizenship.

"WELL, THERE'S AN UNDERSTANDING"

Returning from the Riviera aboard S. S. Lapland, pretty Florence Trumbull, daughter of governor of Connecticut, and subject of considerable attention on part of John, son of President and Mrs. Coolidge, smiled happily at camera barrage and admitted that there "is a sort of an understanding between us." She hinted that wedding bells would ring out during the Yuletide.

CONNIE DAVIS AND WIFE BACK FROM GEORGIA

Mr. and Mrs. Connie Davis returned home Thursday afternoon from a visit to relatives in Georgia and Alabama, having been called to the bedside of a sister of Mrs. Davis, Mrs. J. D. Smith, whose death occurred shortly after their arrival at her home at College Park, a suburb of Atlanta.

"Except for the death of Mrs. Davis' sister the trip was rather enjoyable for both of us," Davis said. "We enjoyed a visit with many of our relatives in and near Atlanta. We were unable to visit them all, for they are legion."

"While in Georgia we visited Stone Mountain and saw the great Confederate monument that is being carved on the side of this huge pile of granite. That is, we saw what has been completed of the monument, which is classified as the eighth wonder of the world. But very little progress has been made, as only a portion of General Robert E. Lee and his horse, Traveler, has been completed. But enough can be seen to give one an idea of its immensity when it is completed. A better idea may be conveyed when it is said that the head of General Lee is 30 by 30 feet in dimensions. We were told that 11 people sat down to a picnic luncheon on the shoulder of General Lee, besides there were several others standing who could not procure seats."

"On our return home we visited one of my brothers at Boaz, Ala., and passed through Birmingham. We found cross rather poor through Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia. The boll weevils have made their appearance in Alabama and Georgia, but I was told that they were doing very little damage in the hill sections."

It had been 22 years since Davis had visited his old home, though Mrs. Davis was there six years ago. He stated that many changes have been wrought since he was there last, especially in Atlanta, which has grown wonderfully. They left Cisco August 25.

DAIRY CATTLE JUDGING TEAM VISITS ROTARY

E. H. Varnell was in charge of the program for the Rotary luncheon Thursday, and as might be expected, the program was vocational. He introduced as his guests the state championship dairy cattle judging team, who were awarded this honor in competition with teams from practically every county in the state in contests held by A. & M. College last April. These boys was a free trip to the National Dairy show, which will be held in Memphis next month. Transportation for which will be furnished the team and the vocational instructor by the Texas & Pacific railroad. Varnell explained, thus composing the team present at the luncheon were Glenn Kinard, Creason Yeager, D. L. Taylor and Floyd Thurman.

Another guest introduced by Rotarian Varnell, and who was the principal speaker at the luncheon, was E. R. Eudaly, state specialist of the A. & M. extension service, who was the champion hog raiser of Texas for six years. Eudaly made a very interesting and instructive talk on his line of work, stressing the importance of taking care of the little things.

"It's the little things that count," the speaker said, "in successful hog raising as well as in other lines of endeavor. Most any person can raise hogs, give them a balanced ration, etc., but if the details—the little things—are not looked after the profits will show on the other side of the ledger. The hogs that eat up the profits, must be stopped."

The Rotarian gave a hearty welcome to Rotarian Tom Reid, who made his first appearance at the club since his return from Europe and to Miss Velma Walters, pianist, who has been absent for the past three months.

Talliaferro, acting chief of the airport section of the department of commerce, referring to a former communication in which he stated that the department will be glad to arrange for one of the airport specialists to visit Cisco and confer with the chamber of commerce directors regarding the establishment of an airport in Cisco. Talliaferro said that the department of commerce has been glad to add Cisco to the itinerary of Wm. J. Mackenzie, who is now on a tour of Oklahoma, and should arrive in Texas by October 1. He stated Mackenzie would advise Secretary Peters as to the exact time of his arrival in Cisco.

Clyde Thompson, Davis Brothers to Be Brought to Trial Early on Charge of First Degree Murder

The grand jury of the 98th district court returned true bills of indictment this morning against Clyde Thompson and Thomas and Woodrow Wilson Davis held in the Eastland county jail without bond in connection with the murders of Lucius and Leon Snook, brothers, whose horribly mutilated and badly decomposed bodies were found near Leray last Tuesday. Each of the three was indicted separately and the indictments returned for first degree murder, according to Sheriff John Hart, County Attorney J. Frank Sparks has indicated that he will request the court to set an early date for the trial, that the cases might be disposed of at this term of the 98th court.

Expediency is seen in the action of the grand jury in finding these indictments, as the body was re-recovered by Judge Bean only this morning for the purpose of investigating one of the most brutal crimes ever committed in Eastland county. The grand jury returned on the afternoon before which the murder is alleged to have been committed that night, as Thompson, in his confession, stated the murders was committed on the night of Sept. 7.

The death penalty will be asked of Thompson and Thomas Davis, Sparks has indicated. The county attorney has not decided what punishment to ask for the younger Davis, who is said to be only 12 years old.

SWISS WATCH SMUGGLING IS AROUSING U. S.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—Five men armed with revolvers and shotguns today held up the retail butcher store of Wilson & Co. in the heart of the stockyards and escaped with $5,000 cash and $1,100 in checks after lining up 10 employees against the wall.

The effective was started by Commissioner Customs E. W. Camp, whose information furnished by Canadian officials revealed that more than 1,800,000 watch movements were smuggled into this country in the past year, to avoid payment of high duty fees. All watch movements can be legally imported in Canada for 50 cents each, regardless of value, whereas the American duty ranges from 75 cents on movements of seven jewels or less to $10.75 on movements with more than 17 jewels.

Canadian customs officials advised Camp that last year more than 2,800,000 watch movements were imported legally into Canada from Europe. The estimate that normal Canadian consumption would use but 125,000 of these, with 50,000 or more re-exported legally to Mexico and countries other than the United States. Treasury officials say that all the balance, or more than 1,800,000 watch movements, were either smuggled into this country or are being prepared for illicit entry.

AMERICA'S FOREIGN STAKE.

"It is not the international banker who is lending money to foreign countries," explains Robert DeForest Bloomer, a New York investment banker.

"It is not Wall Street that has a stake in Latin-America. It is the farmer, the doctor, the college professor, whose savings are building a new world to the south of us."

No longer is the old term, "bloated bond-holder," used in this country. Bonds are held now not by a few rich men but by masses of people moderately well off, or merely above the poverty line.

One person out of every 40 in the United States today owns bonds, says Mr. Bloomer. That is almost one in every eight families. There are nearly 3,000,000 of them, of whom 1,000,000 have bought foreign bonds.

In seven months of this year, Americans invested about $260,000,000 in Latin-America, while all other nations invested $40,000,000. Our people's stake in 25 republics south of the Rio Grande is $5,600,000,000. We have a similar stake in Europe of a dozen billions.

To this, as much as anything else, is due the new popular interest in foreign affairs.

CIVILIZATION TO ORDER.

King Amanullah of Afghanistan evidently profited by his recent tour of Europe. When that oriental monarch got back home, there was something doing. Afghanistan is still dizzy from the aftermath.

The king called a parliament of 700 head men. When they came trooping into Allahabad from their mountain homes, in turbans and flowing robes, they were promptly supplied with outfits of frock coats and felt hats, and told to wear them.

Other horrors encompassed them. There were women going with unveiled faces, and actually speaking to men in public places, and driving motor cars. They have all gone back home now, and are telling the neighbors about it, in their comfortable, baggy clothes again.

It's no use struggling against manifest destiny. Tailors, motor manufacturers and schoolmasters are going to rule the world and make it all alike.

DOCTORS OF COOKERY.

It is reported that the Johns Hopkins Medical School is going to teach its students cookery in their final year. The course will probably deal with very plain cooking, placing most of the emphasis on the dietetics side—vitamins, calories and such.

There is a bright side to this innovation. Perhaps, if these students are made to eat the dietetically perfect dishes they prepare, they may learn just how unattractive such viands are to afflicted patients.

ARITHMETICAL ROOSTER.

The town of Shirley, Mass., is trying to steal the laurels of Winsted, Conn. It boasts of an educated rooster, belonging appropriately to a school teacher. The master's instruction has been so effective in his favorite branch of study, mathematics, that the rooster can count up to six and do simple problems in addition and subtraction.

All this may be true. Roosters, in spite of appearances, may have brains. But it is impossible to believe that any such intelligence can be found in hens. A rooster may be able to count his flock, but what hen ever counted her eggs?

If that schoolmaster wants a real test, though, of the intelligence of dumb creatures, let him try his skill on a cow.

POWDER MY BACK NOVEL BY MARLINE DE HAAS

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc. 'POWDER MY BACK,' starring Irene Rich, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS Adele Dayton, a famous musical comedy actress from New York, has recently opened in Paris in a new show called "Powder My Back." Adele's beautiful back is part of her notorious charm, and the show is a sensational hit, while she, herself, is being pursued by titled noblemen, all of whom she refuses. Her manager has just decided on a publicity stunt for the American papers, and is having pictures taken of Adele's admirers powdering her back. As it is all a part of her work, Adele agrees.

CHAPTER I—Continued "Splendid," Adele assured him. "The more the merrier, then. I'm all set." "Fine!" the manager exclaimed. "I'll leave you to the gentle mercies of the press agent and the photographer." He opened the door, and called out to the photographer. "All right, Bill, you can shoot whenever you like, now. Good luck, Adele," he turned to smile at his star before he closed the door behind him. Adele settled her headress again and turned to Renee. "Where is Joujou?" she asked, looking about the room. "Here he is, Ma'mselle," Renee

Like school children they seemed to play at the game of "Powder My Back."

...from a large pocket a tiny marmoset. "All the little baby!" Adele laughed, as the tiny monkey ran to her and perched himself on her shoulder. "The little baby want some candy—does Joujou want some candy?" She too, the marmoset, chattering and murmuring, held in her hand a little candy. She sat down at her dressing table, took a lamp of sugar from a gilded box and dripped some heavy perfume onto it from a large gold bottle. She tasted the delicacy herself. "M-m-m, good!" she held the sugar up to her nose, who snatched at it with his front paws, and still seated on Adele's hand, ate the sweetmeat greedily.

"Renee, will you finish powdering me, now," Adele requested, handing an immense powder puff of fluffy white attached to a long herbaceous stick, to the maid. "Oui, Ma'mselle." The girl took the stick and dipped it into the huge powder bowl that stood always ready. With deft fingers she began her operations, which were of no slight measure. For, as Adele sat before her dressing table, the noted back of the musical comedy star was revealed, so to speak, in all its fullness. Only the slightest of straps kept the dress from falling completely off the actress' shoulders, but it was because of her beautiful back, as much as her beauty, her personality and her dancing, that Adele Dayton was now a headliner. And in order to keep the back the exact shade of the facial make-up, many minutes had to be spent on it each evening. And Renee was now at her nightly chore.

As her hand patted the back gently another knock came at the door, and Renee passed to admit a small, dapper man dressed in the most correct of evening clothes. Tall hat and cane in hand, he moved fastidiously over to the dressing table and saluted Adele with a sigh and a kiss, bestowed on her hand. "Ah, Ma'mselle—you are ravishing—positively ravishing—never have I seen you so beautiful!" The little man threw up his hands at the spectacle. Then he flung his hat and cane on the lounge and reached for the powder puff. "Allow me—a favor, please—" he begged. He took the powder puff from Renee and tried to imitate her delicate movements with the fluffy toy. Adele smiled at one of the most fa-

'Who's Who in Hell' Includes Many in Good Standing in World, Dr. Hogg Tells Large Audience

Like a weather vane reversing its position in the face of a sudden strong wind, Dr. Will Hogg last night changed the tone of his message and platform demeanor and delivered a straightforward, uncompromising message bristling with emphatic presentations of the Bible teaching concerning an eternal punishment for those who have neglected or rejected the plan of salvation given to the world in the person of Jesus Christ. "Who's Who in Hell" was the subject of the discourse and constituted an interesting and informative character study of men whom the Bible places in hell, so surely located there at this time that an asbestos postman could deliver an asbestos letter to their address if such were possible," Dr. Hogg asserted.

Sidelights On Union Revival

The service last night was considerably shorter than heretofore, moving rapidly from start to finish. The song service was, as usual, enjoyable and featured by several, splendidly rendered choral numbers, but moved rapidly to the climax and Dr. Hogg came to the platform, evidently much more vigorous than on the two previous nights, when he was suffering from an indisposition. The message was delivered with gatling-gun rapidity and with the most telling effectiveness of any he has yet brought and before 9 o'clock the service was ended and the audience had left the tabernacle carrying deeper spiritual impressions than at any previous service.

The evangelist brought out in his discussion the Bible narrative concerning the five foolish virgins, the rich man and Lazarus, the wealthy farmer of whom Jesus spoke who spent his time in building "bigger barns" for his worldly possessions, but neglected the welfare of his soul, and the character in Jesus' parable who attempted to attend the wedding supper without the wedding garment. In the recital of each of these instances, Dr. Hogg first quoted verbatim from the scriptures and then made a study of the character of the person rejected by God and emphasized the fact that in each instance the damning sin in that life was not one which the world would condemn, such as adultery or murder, but it was neglect of obedience to God and the placing of other interests in the life ahead of God. The message was a clear-cut presentation of the startling difference between God's standard of judging and was an earnest appeal to his hearers to put God first in their lives.

The service last night moved off swiftly and the enjoyable song service moved rapidly to a stirring climax after which Dr. Hogg came to the platform and plunged at once into a rapid-fire delivery of his message. Before 9 o'clock the most spiritually effective service of the series had come to a close. The attendance was up to its usual large standard, a good delegation from Moran being present with unofficial delegations present from Ranger, Eastland, Graham, Ahlens and other outside points. The seating capacity of the tabernacle to take care of the overflow. Considerable more than enough people to fill the tabernacle proper were present at the service.

Tonight a great young people's service is scheduled when young people from this entire section will come to the tabernacle to hear Dr. Hogg on "The Great Divide." No service is scheduled for Saturday morning but Dr. Hogg will preach on Saturday night and

The sin against the Holy Spirit isn't an act—it is a habit.

Here is your definition of sin against the Holy Spirit—saying "No" to the Holy Spirit too long. was while he was preaching Christ. But he was wrong. A man can be sincere and go to hell. The Bible uses the same phrase to measure the length of life of the damned. Both are eternal. News want ads bring results.

Buckaroos with 40 Practicing Are Hopeful of Giving Loboes and Eagles Scrap for Honors

BRACKENRIDGE, Sept. 14. — With more than 40 men reporting to him regularly and with more than a week of practice now behind him, Head Coach P. E. Shotwell is fast developing what appears to be the first real threatening football squad that has appeared against the Cisco Loboes and the Abilene Eagles in many a moon—the 1928 Buckaroos.

With the start of school this week, at least ten or fifteen boys will report to Shotwell and his two assistants.

Eleven letters from the '27 machine are back again this year as well as a small army of new material that will make many of the letter men from last year hump it to land a berth on the first string this season. Seven men have passed on from the picture of last year due to graduation and otherwise.

Old lettermen from last year's line who are working out every afternoon on Buckaroo field are: Captain Delbert Downing, tackle and center; George Beale, center; Ernest Thompson, guard; Mingo Mueny, guard; Claude Cox, tackle; Troy Carey, end; Herbert McClain, end; Beverly's brother who are back are: Carl Carey, Doyle Pruett, Max Robertson and Gordon Smalley.

Most of the old men are showing up well in the little bit of signal practicing that Shotwell has put them through so far, but no one can afford to lay down on the job this year as too many more are clamoring for a chance to put the Bucks on top this year.

Magnus Brothers Good. Some of the most promising new men that are bidding for a berth on the Shotwell machine this year are the three Magnus brothers who have been starting with Comanche for the past years, especially "Bull" 190 pound tackle of all state qualifications. The two younger brothers are bidding for backfield positions and look good if there were not so many others that are bid as good as dead.

Nebraska's younger brother of Jim and George Zaralomenis of past Buckaroo fame, has entered camp again this year and looked mighty good in his first afternoon out. He is the hardest fighter that ever slipped off a yard in this district. In fact he is one of the fighters that his great drawback is getting out of games for fighting.

A wonderful running mate for Nebs would be little Cecil Carey, half, who looks like now the "big anybody's" leg. Dave Graham has followed from last year's squad.

eighteen, is showing some real class and if he can stay off the black list, he will go straight out.

The cream of the crop, according to the first impression on this writer, is another one of the Carey family—Troy Carey, contender for a wing position. Troy will tip the scales at about 160, almost six feet tall, straight as an arrow, wood shoulders, big hands, fairly fast and red-headed fighter.

Four Full Teams. Coach Shotwell had four teams running signals Monday afternoon, and it would have been hard to pick the best bunch from three of the squads.

Light scrimmaging will be on the program soon. Some hard and fast training has got to be done before Friday, Sept. 21, when the Comanche Indians from Comanche county are to Breckenridge to open the 1928 season and dedicate the almost new Buckaroo field which will stack up with any field in Texas now with its new concrete steel bleachers and the beautiful sodded playing field.

Builders of a Greater Southwest

A College Whose Campus Is the Southwest

The constructive forces expressed in the Agricultural and Mechanical Colleges and in the Agricultural Experiment Stations and extension service of State Universities, in States where no separate A. B. M. College is maintained, hold high rank among the influences which are building a Greater Southwest. The dependence of civic and industrial growth upon a healthy agricultural foundation is so commonly recognized that the service of the A. B. M. schools is seldom mentioned for appreciation.

The fruit growers, lumbermen, corn, cotton and wheat planters, cattlemen, poultrymen, dairymen, swine raisers, in fact, all workers in agriculture and its related fields in the Southwest, profit by the scientific research and practical experiments conducted by the A. B. M. Colleges and departments. By a wide exchange of students and through the work of short courses and traveling extension departments, the Agricultural schools have extended their campuses until they overlap and include every county in the Southwest and even some distant States and countries.

Upon the firm foundation designed and built up by the Agricultural and Mechanical Colleges and departments the Greater Southwest of the future may rest in security.

The contribution of the Magnolia Petroleum Company to the growth of a Greater Southwest takes the form of efficient production, refining and marketing of petroleum products. Departments for the control and improvement of its motor fuels, motor oils and lubricants and all its related products, with special provisions for research, testing and experiment, are constantly maintained.

In this way we assure the dependability of such well-known Magnolia products as:

- Magnolia ANTI-KNOCK Gasoline—A gasoline for high compression motors and motors troubled with combustion knock. It gives extra power for the heavy pulls and is knockless without containing poisonous foreign chemical compounds.
- Magnolia Motor Oils and Lubricants—A grade of paraffine-base motor oil, transmission oil, or grease especially refined to meet the conditions under which it is to be used. The Magnolia Magn 1000, which you should have.
- Magnolia Gasoline (regular)—A clean, quick-starting, powerful gasoline added to give the utmost in fuel economy, for motors of low and moderate compression which are not troubled with combustion knock.

Two New Vice Presidents Are Created by Southwestern Bell; $36,000,000 Improvements in 1928

FORT WORTH, Sept. 14.—E. D. Nims, president of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, has tonight announced creation by its directors of two new vice-presidencies and the appointment to one of them of C. Starnard, general traffic manager, and to the other of Fred M. Hoag, new general commercial manager. Hoag, newly appointed vice president in charge of the commercial and associated activities of the company, was formerly general manager of the state of Texas. He came to the Southwestern in 1923, after five years with the Cleveland Telephone company. Since that time he has held many important positions with the engineering, plant and commercial departments of the company. At one time he was division plant superintendent, with headquarters at San Antonio and later was division plant superintendent in Dallas. He was assistant general manager for Oklahoma, and was then transferred to Dallas as general manager. He was appointed general commercial manager in St. Louis in 1926, when Edward F. Carter resigned that position to become president of the Ohio Bell Telephone company in Cleveland. Starnard, the other newly appointed vice president, will be in charge of the engineering, plant and traffic departments. Starnard, since February, 1921, has been general traffic manager of the Southwestern company. During the more than 20 years of Starnard's telephone career, before coming here, he, at various times, was with the American Telephone & Telegraph company, the New England Telephone & Telegraph company, the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph company, and finally the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone company, for which he was general superintendent of traffic at Washington at the time he was called to the Southwestern. The company was taken to meet requirements of the rapid expansion which is under way in the telephone business. Nims said: "Growth of the tele-

FORMER BANK TELLER GIVEN FINE OF $1,000

EASTLAND, Sept. 14.—A fine of $1,000 was assessed against Jimmie Eckles, former Ranney bank teller, who was found guilty of the theft of $3,000 of bank funds. The case was tried in the 28th District court before Judge Elza Eren. The punishment is an unusual one, but the offense of which he was found guilty was a misdemeanor. When a man commits a theft, but returns the property voluntarily before a complaint is laid, the law provides that his act is only a misdemeanor. A fine of $1,000 is the maximum penalty in such a case. Eckles, formerly teller of the Citizens State bank, took the $3,000 from the bank vault. He had been discharged two days previous to his act, but was still remaining around the bank. When he saw the pile of money he yielded to sudden temptations, he said, but realized soon afterward that he should not have committed the act. W. W. Housewright, formerly active vice-president of the bank but now a merchant at McAllen, was the chief witness for the state. He said that within 45 minutes after the money had been taken, it had been recovered. Mr. Housewright said that he and Eckles searched Eckles' apartment without success but that Eckles then told him where the money was. It was in a store room in the apartment house and was thrust behind a heater. Witness testified that Eckles had always been of good character with the exception of his one misdeed and that he never has an important job and is making good.

If all brakes were in excellent condition there would be fewer automobile accidents and few people killed. Since we installed the Jumbo Gauge Brake Tester we have found and corrected thousands of faulty brakes.

Here is a device that in two minutes time gives you an exact check on your brakes. There is a separate gauge to report on each wheel. If the brakes are in need of repairing and adjusting, the place to have it done is right on the "Jumbo". In this way the brakes may be perfectly equalized.

You drive away certain that regardless of the emergency your car is going to stop when and where you want it to. Test your brakes every thousand to fifteen hundred miles. It is just as important as oiling and greasing and the rest of it.
