Smith Squarely for McNary-Haugen Bill

Democratic Nominee Promises to Work for Quick Relief of Farm Industry in Address at Omaha

OMAHA, Sept. 19.—Assured by enthusiastic Nebraska leaders that he has "ripped Nebraska squarely" into the Democratic column in his speech here last night, Governor Al Smith left today for Oklahoma City where he speaks Thursday night. An enthusiastic crowd met the special at Lincoln where he visited briefly with Governor Adam McMillen, one of the McNary-Haugen bill supporters and a Republican.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 19.—Governor Alfred E. Smith endorsed the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill in principle without limiting himself to the exact mechanics of that controversial measure twice passed by congress and twice vetoed by President Coolidge in the opening speech of his presidential campaign here Tuesday night.

"Various people have attempted to misrepresent and confuse my attitude with respect to the McNary-Haugen bill. I do not propose to leave the slightest doubt in anybody's mind on that subject," Smith declared.

"As I read the McNary-Haugen bill, its fundamental purpose is to establish an effective control of the sale of exportable surplus with the least impact upon the community benefited. For that principle the Democratic platform squarely stands, and for that principle I squarely stand. Mr. Hoover stands squarely opposed to this principle by which the farmer could get the benefit of the tariff. What remains of the McNary-Haugen bill is a mere matter of method, and I do not limit myself to the exact mechanism and methods embodied in that bill.

"Here is a clean-cut issue which the farmers and the voters of this country must decide. It remains to be worked out the details by which the principle shall be put into effect, and I have pledged myself to name a nonpartisan commission of farm leaders and students of the problem to work out these details.

"I shall make that appointment."

EASTLAND CO. CANDIDATES GIVEN REFUND
Eastland county people who were candidates in the recent primaries are now being agreeably surprised in getting a refund on their assessments levied for holding the Democratic primaries. It seems that the candidates were over-assessed, as A. B. O'Flaherty, secretary-treasurer of the Democratic county executive committee, has mailed out checks refunding $1,502.50. The total represented 37.8 per cent of the assessment on each candidate, and some of those who were taxed the larger sums for the primaries received rather nice checks.

Oil Folks Ask of Facilities Cisco Offers
Inquiries about office and residential facilities are being received by the chamber of commerce, which indicate that the eyes of the oil fraternity are once more being directed to Cisco, as these inquiries are coming from oil men. One letter received this morning from an Oklahoma man wanted information regarding offices and a desirable residence, stating that he was contemplating moving to Cisco to engage in the oil business.

Perhaps no town in the Oil Belt offers better facilities as headquarters for oil men than that of Cisco. Ideally situated within a short distance of the best oil fields in the South, with hard surfaced roads in all directions, it enables those engaged in this line of business to reach all parts of the oil fields by one hour's drive. Also desirable residences and office facilities are here, with plenty of recreation, for those who desire facilities for amusement, entertainment and recreation during their leisure hours. The letter received this morning especially inquired regarding recreation facilities.

It is probable that those wanting work can get information at the chamber of commerce where employment can be had.

The night police was called to 608 West Ninth street last night, in response to a phone message from that address, stating that some one was seen prowling around the premises. The intruder had departed when the officers arrived.

POWDER MY BACK
A NOVEL BY ARLINE DE HAAS

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

POWDER MY BACK, starring Irene Rich, in a Warner Bros. production of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
Adele Dayton, famous musical comedy actress, while starring in Paris in a show called "Powder My Back," has had photographs taken of her while admiring powdering her notoriously beautiful back, to be used as a publicity stunt in America. The show opens later on Broadway and the pictures appear in the newspapers. Mazie Atkins, Adele's sister, out in town, sees the pictures and is horribly shocked. She writes Adele, insisting the actress to visit her, with the idea of leading her to a "better life." Adele's manager has just received a proposition from a powder manufacturer.

"You see, we especially wanted to have a man powdering your back, Miss Dayton," one of the men interrupted, "with the long puff that you use, and holding, in his other hand, a can of our talcum powder. We can offer you—"

"Did you talk about the price, Ben?" Adele turned to her manager. "Yes," Ben nodded, "and they've agreed to pay you five hundred dollars for magazine pictures, and two thousand dollars for posing for the photographs they want to use on their big outdoor posters. Personally, I think it would be good advertising for you—"

"Yes, Miss Dayton," one of the men explained. "You see, we're starting this big publicity campaign, and we feel that your name would be of great value to us. You've already had so much publicity for your famous back—"

"I think the proposition sounds fair enough," Adele spoke at last. "But it is one of the stipulations I have made," Ben interposed. "Naturally, Adele, the publicity will do you a lot of good, but I want the name of the show brought in and the costume—as a matter of fact, it would be fine for your ad, considering the fact that 'Powder My Back' is our show, and you might be able to work it in quite cleverly, if Miss Dayton will agree to the proposition."

Adele looked at Ben, and caught his meaning. She was to hold out until the talcum company would promise to use the name of the show. In that way she and the show would both benefit. So she considered the proposition, to all intent and purpose, quite seriously. "I think the proposition sounds fair enough," Adele spoke at last. "I do think that my costume should be used, as well as the name of the show, because, after all, we have been playing it both here and abroad, and almost everyone has heard of it."

"All right, then," one of the men spoke up quickly, almost snatching the words out of Adele's mouth. "If you'll get your make-up on and your gown, we'll be all set by the time you are."

"Very well," Adele agreed.

The men filed out the door, and Adele began changing her street costume for her stage clothes. Finally she sat down before her dressing table and began making up, with Renee's help, as usual. But as she smoothed the creams over her face and applied the grease paint, she couldn't help thinking of Mazie's letter. The note she thought of it the more she heard from Mazie after all these years. Why, she hadn't heard from Mazie—goodness, she didn't even want to think how long ago that was.

She took the mascara from Renee mechanically and propped her sister's letter up in front of her, so that she could read a line now and then. It amused her to hear studies," Mulroy said this morning. "The Federal campaign is now 90 days old and district B has 191 votes of Federal machine started early in July but we never got squared away for some time, and have only put in about 60 working days. Since the coming to Cisco of Miss McMillan, who conducted the laundry school, giving the women of the Cisco country new ideas about laundering, and explaining the merits of the Federal, the sales have been materially augmented. The business has been unusually good, and records have been set in to meet the demand. We now have another car of Federal machines on the road, but the way the sales have been going in other lines will not last long. The Federal sales, which these machines are being sold outside the women to pay for them in the laundry bills paid. Each machine is guaranteed for one year, and in addition the buyers have the assurance that new parts, if needed, can always be secured through the West Texas Utilities Co., which is a permanent home institution."

"We have added two new men to the sales force, Bill Curran, of Clinton, and C. F. Martin, of Dallas. Both are high-powered salesmen, and any territory shown them by the sales of district B will be appreciated by the West Texas Utilities Co. These salesmen are pushing Federal washing machines exclusively, and their chief ambition is to place a Federal in every home in the district."

The fact that Chicago is a great buying center probably is due to everybody up there being taught to put up his hands. (Carleton Daily News.)

BELTS ARE FEATURED FOR STYLISH GOWNS
PARIS, Sept. 19.—A frock without a belt is as rare as jewels on the Mikado's brow this season. A narrow belt is placed at the nape, a wide waistline, or a little below it, of almost every frock, be it made for sport, afternoon or evening wear.

These belts are usually of suede or leather, but in some cases of the same material as the frock. An evening gown of black chiffon is embroidered on the bodice and on the edge of the full, many-pointed skirt with elliptical motifs in pearl beads and has a belt of black suede with a pearl buckle. One of beige and black printed velvet with a drooping skirt and semi-fitting bodice has the same kind of belt with topaz buckle.

A quaint little daytime costume is of black and white figured velvet with a full full below the waist and a narrow belt of the material, fastened with a green buckle. An effective ensemble has a black coat lined with red worn over a laquered coat which has a soft wide belt of black leather.

Ribbon belts drawn close to the normal waistline are a charming novelty. Shashes tied at the front appear on a number of evening gowns and front belts are used on some of the coats.

RADIO POWER IS INCREASED 100 FOLD WITHIN FEW YEARS

500 Watt Station of 1920 Nearly Extinct Now, 50,000 Watts Today Common, 1,000,000 Watts Forecast

When broadcasting first started, back in 1920 and 1921, a station that sent its program into the air on a power of 500 watts was considered a big broadcaster.

In 1924, a five-kilowatt station was called a super-broadcaster. Today this term is applied to the stations, fast increasing, that have raised their transmitting power to 50 kilowatts, or 50,000 watts—100 times more powerful than the first station.

Five powerful stations will be the "super-power" broadcasters.

One famous radio engineer, Dr. Alfred N. Goldsmith of New York, has ventured an opinion. It is that the radio station of the future may reach the maximum of 1,000,000 watts—1,000 kilowatts, against the present 50.

Dr. Goldsmith's view shows, in this prediction, broader views of other engineers of importance. Commissioner C. H. Calverly, member of the Federal Radio Commission, said a radio station transmitter himself, could be that in order to have efficient transmitters, our broadcasters should have three power at least 100 or even 200 kilowatts.

Way to Sublime Music.

Only by raising their power, it is believed, can broadcasters overcome the interference of static and atmospheric electrical disturbances. As Commissioner Calverly said:

"When nature broadcasts, she does not limit her station power to any mere 500 watts. Instead, depending on the maximum permitted by the Federal Radio Commission, she calmly turns on power of 500,000,000 watts, and even 1,000,000,000 watts in our average lightning flash."

"Using this as the elementary principle, we WJAZ or KJWA have called into existence a station which is a broadcast signal which sends a message broadcasting power, some half a million watts, and we will increase these powers to amounts comparable to other electrical power applications."

Next, Consideration.

Oddly enough, the million-watt station would be present in the country, far removed from cities.

From Ranger comes the dope that the Bulldogs are the "dark horses" of the district. According to the book on sports writers, coaches, and players from each of the seven towns in this district "the Bulldogs are covering up."

Wes of Breckenridge says: "Killogg, starting quarter, didn't show up so well. Outside of his punting we fail to see where Killogg did so badly. The Lobes had no play on which Killogg could carry the ball and the only time Killogg caught a punt he ran it back for a touchdown and his only pass was caught for a 70 yard gain to be called back on a penalty."

Wes also said: "In all, Cico appears to be weaker by quite a bit in the forward wall than what they were in 1927." Also made comment on the running and dodging of Ole Little, halfback of the Lobes. Wes says that "there is something wrong about the way Little runs. Looks like he would be easy to bring down, but he can start, pivot and squirm faster than any little man we have seen. He will bear watching."

The following from the Ranger Times:

"What is the only team in West Texas that has ever defeated Coach Chapman's Cico Lobes, and has never been defeated by Cico?"

The DeLeon Bears. Since Chapman assumed the reins of the Big Dam city in 1922, he has defeated every team he has met in the all West district, except the Lobes or another, except DeLeon.

DeLeon and Breckenridge have met only once and that was in 1927. They are going to meet again Friday afternoon at 2:30 on the Cico ground at which time Cico has hopes of winning a game and thereby evening matters up in the standing.

DeLeon has always been noted for good football teams. They defeated Rising Star for the Class B championship of this territory last year. They met Anson for the 6-district title the season before last. Not so many years ago they had a good claim to the state championship—and we don't mean Class B, either, we mean the title for all schools irrespective of size. Hank Irwin played at DeLeon. So did Johnny Walker, likewise Black who was formerly a halfback at Harpeth college. The famous Pitman brothers who starred at Baylor once there for DeLeon.

That Cico-DeLeon game six years ago was an odd affair. The Bears won by the score of 21 to 7—and yet did not make a first down. They ran back punts or recovered fumbles and thereby scored three touchdowns. Cico had a good team, too. Ernie Wilson and Pinky Akabrook played. "Red" Smith later of Texas Tech, and Westfield, also a later college star, and Chigger Brown, then a substitute, were in the game.

As neither Eastland nor Ranger plays this day it is quite probable that there will be a big turnout of Eastland and Ranger fans Friday afternoon to see Cico and DeLeon resume their ancient rivalry, renewed after six years.

Big Dam Chatter

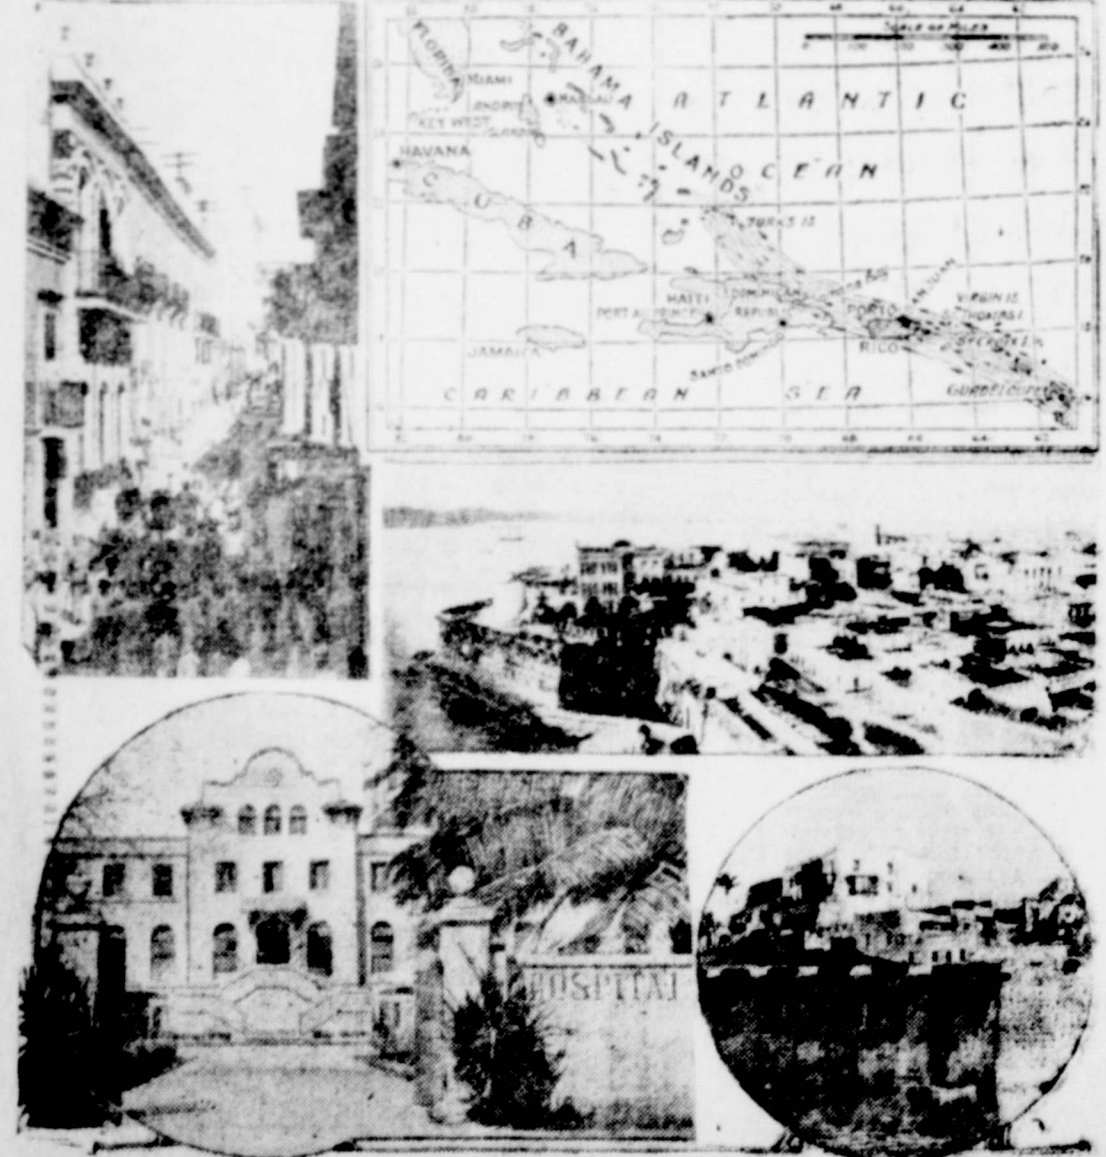

The 1928 football season is under way and the Lobes have their first football scalp on their belt. Mackrell fell before the Lobes to the tune of 22 to a last Friday and since that time the remarks from the critics of teams in the Old Belt have been many. Most of the scribbles are hopeful that the Lobes will play treated against their respective teams as they did Friday. However, the Lobes will only four summer plays to show the public last week and could not be expected to show a great deal.

Phay Anderson of the Abilene paper says that the Lobes' front end appears weak, that it needs more to replace Smith, all-around center of last year and Miller, guard, who has been shifted to end.

The Breckenridge writer says: "Cico doesn't look a bit better."

'BLOCKERS' AND 'KNOCKERS' ARE SCORED BY EVANGELIST

'Healing of Paralytic' Sermon Is Followed by invitation to Hearers; Musical Program Best of Revival

An audience of 2000 was present at the tabernacle last night for one of the best services of the entire campaign. A sermon of unusual power and effectiveness on "The Healing of the Paralytic" was preceded by the best musical program of the campaign thus far and was followed by an effective invitation service in which quite a number responded to Dr. Hogg's invitation to publicly assert their stand for Christ and the church. The minister did not press his appeal, but merely gave opportunity to those who felt so impressed to take their stand and then abruptly dismissed the service, clearly indicating that he has no intention of trying to coerce men beyond their convictions, but expects his hearers to act promptly on their spiritual impressions and of their own initiative.

The pastors of the city are meeting in a special men's prayer service each morning preceding the morning service in the basement of the Christian church. Tonight Dr. Hogg is to preach on "On the Witness Stand," said to be one of the most vital messages of the campaign.

PITHY PARAGRAPHS FROM HOGG.

I have noticed that the results from a cooperative revival are always in direct proportion to the size of the morning crowd.

Instead of smiling and saying we are having a great meeting we had better get on our knees and ask the Lord to help us not to let our opportunity pass.

This town needs a revival of loyalty to the churches.

People don't like to be sprayed with black narcissus perfume for malaria.

You know and I know that setting out and working doesn't save you. It is the blood of the Lamb that saves you. But the 70 whose names Jesus said were written in the Lamb's Book of Life were doing personal work.

Do you know what is the deadliest thing in the world? Did you ever have a big high-powered auto and then give out of gas? Do you know the most helpless thing next to a car without gas is a church without power or a member without experience. They can't run, climb or do anything in the world.

I would rather have a little Ford, with every fender flopping, than a Pierce-Arrow without gas. I would rather be an ignorant man with the love of Christ in my heart than the best educated man in town and out of touch with God.

Just remember whenever you are ready God is ready to give you a revival.

I believe the light that shines the farthest shines brightest at home.

I would rather see my children paralyzed in the arms and limbs rather than see them paralyzed in the soul.

Wherever there is sensation there is life. Wherever there is life there is sensation. The most disgraced person in the world is a corpse.

You quit worrying about holding out. You just hold on and let Jesus do the holding out.

Sidelights On Union Revival

A delegation of some 250 were present in the service last night from Eastland. This is the second large delegation. Cisco's sister city has sent to the revival, Rev. T. C. Singleton, pastor of the Methodist church at Eastland, led in the opening prayer of the evening.

The 20 minute musical concert furnished preliminary to the service last night by the Ely orchestra was thoroughly enjoyed by the big audience and heartily commended by Chester Rodgers. Splendid orchestral arrangements of many favorite numbers were rendered with finished effectiveness and each number brought a round of appreciative applause from the big crowd. The orchestra also furnished a special offertory number. Mr. Rodgers stated that he was renewing acquaintance of early boyhood with Mr. Ely, who formerly lived in Mineral Wells and was active in musical circles there. The orchestra was composed of J. B. Ely, cellist; J. Ely, violin; Mataline Ely, piano; Julian Ely, xylophone; Kate Rue Ely, Mandolin.

One of the most enjoyable treats of the campaign thus far was the magnificent violin interpretation of "The Holy City" given by Miss Wilma Drago during the preliminary services last night. Miss Drago attended the service with the Eastland delegation and her number was warmly applauded by the audience.

Dr. Hogg last night awarded two of his souvenir Bibles. The first went to Mrs. J. T. Berry who responded to Dr. Hogg's condition that it went to a member of the choir who had not missed a service. The second was won by D. W. Burleson who qualified as a business man who had not missed a service.

Women's prayer services are being held in every section of the city this afternoon under the direction of a committee headed by Mrs. E. J. Poe. Mr. Rodgers last night reminded each group at this afternoon's service to select its next place of meeting and its next leader and report same to Mrs. Poe immediately following the services this afternoon. Announcement of the Friday prayer services will be made in this column Thursday.

A large group of young people under 15 years of age met Dr. Hogg at the tabernacle yesterday afternoon for the second of his special services for the youngsters. The minister entertained them for a few minutes with slight-of-hand and then turned the service into a religious service.

Rev. S. J. T. Williams consecrated Christian worker and gifted campaign organizer, who has rendered such telling service in this campaign is seen, having slipped out of the colorful tabernacle picture as unostentatiously as he made his appearance in Cisco. Mr. Williams preceded the party to Cisco two weeks and, in keeping with his custom, has gone on to the next field of labor to prepare the way for the coming of Dr. Hogg and his helpers. During his brief stay in Cisco, Mr. Williams has won the whole-hearted good will of every element of the citizenship and commensurate with him its high esteem and the appreciation of all the Christian workers of the city for his untiring efforts for the upbuilding of the spiritual life of the community. Mr. Rodgers is now in charge of the business details of the campaign.

The message for tonight, "On the Witness Stand," has been announced as one of the vital messages of the campaign and Dr. Hogg has especially urged every church member in Cisco to be present.

MOST OF DAY SPENT IN SAFE BY B. DOLLAR

Cisco, Texas, Sept. 19, 1928. Kind Friends:

Kind friends, is a good salutation for my letter today. I certainly crave your pardon. I've laid down on the job. You expect Bill Dollar to hit the ball and I spent practically all of yesterday locked up in a safe. I didn't contribute to anybody's prosperity in that dark vault. Know how the fellow felt who had the one talent loan the Bible talk about and instead of using it buried it in a vault. I sympathize with that talent.

At 6 o'clock I was in Elliott's drug store. They gave me a warm welcome and reported at once to phone 385 as requested by me. I then kind a number of other dollars in paying the salary of I. C. Inzer. He's a chap who works for the company instead of for his salary. The salary part is just an incident to him. That same night Inzer let me pay an account with E. B. Clamant at the Penant, Phillips Station. He was getting late and Clamant put me in his safe. Stayed there that night and nearly all day yesterday. Never got on real time in my life. Late yesterday afternoon I paid for Dr. Hogg party at Lee Motor Co., where I was at 6 o'clock. I just did $1 worth of business in 24 hours. Monday I changed hands ten times. Hope I make a better record today.

Yours for action, BILL.

Dry Democrats of South and Wet Republicans of North Offer Same Arguments to Hold Votes in Line

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. — The presidential election, which was heralded as a clear-cut fight on prohibition, will be anything but that, in the opinion of Senator Edge of New Jersey, leader of the wet bloc in the Senate.

from voting against Hoover. The drest and wettest sections of the two parties are striving frantically to submerge the wet-and-dry issues. Edge pointed out. Both are using the same talking point, namely, that Smith could not remedy present evils or change the dry laws, even if elected. Republican bosses in New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts and other wet northern states, Edge said, have devised another argument expected to prevent Smith from winning over the wet. They make the point that "there is too much at stake" in this election to jeopardize a GOP victory by repudiating the party's nominee on the prohibition question. Still another method of checkmating Smith's drive for votes in this section is depended on by the GOP. Almost all these wet states have set up state tickets which lean toward the liberal view of the prohibition controversy. Hamilton F. Kean, New Jersey's senatorial nominee, is an avowed modificationist, and so is the candidate for governor. The state ticket in New York, which will be nominated late this month, is also expected to favor views nearer Smith's than Hoover's. With this program for offsetting Smith's strength as a wet, and intensive campaigning by Hoover, Coolidge and other Republican big-wigs, Edge said, states now doubtful will be kept in the Republican column. The five states are New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island.

STRANGE PALS WITH 101 RANCH WILD WEST SHOW

She's Lonely Now!

Naturally, the 101 Ranch Wild West, with its Far East sections, which will be seen in Cisco, Tuesday, Sept. 25, is a touring melting pot of all races. Then, too, there are many species of animals this season, for a menagerie has been added, to say nothing of a horse fair. Indians make friends with Cossacks; Arabs pal with cowboys; belies of the cattle ranges chum with girls of the Argentine, and Hindus chat for hours with Japanese, but the strangest of all friendships is that of "Jojo," the chimpanzee, for little Redding Elk, son of a Sioux Chief. Here we see them together. "Jojo" looks rather ferocious, doesn't he? However, he is just registering "delight" for the cameraman.

C. Killian.
