TEXAS

FAIRS SHOW PROSPERITY.—The county fairs being held in Texas this fall all report large attendance and greater financial success than ever before. These fairs are held at the busiest season of the year, but the people feel that they can afford to take a few days off from their work to see exhibits of the best products of their communities, to meet their friends, and to exchange experiences and ideas gathered from their activities of the past year. The larger crowds indicate larger prosperity among the people. Good roads make it easier to put the whole family into the car and go whatever distance may be necessary to reach the fairs. Good crops at fairly satisfactory prices provide the family with the "spending money" so necessary to a good time.

THE CIRCUS DRAWS CROWD.—The big circus is finding it difficult to provide enough rent space to take care of the large crowds that is drawing this season. The ease with which people can go long distances in a short time has made it unnecessary for the circus to make so many "stands." The circus now advertises over a radius of 100 or 150 miles, and draws his crowds from 75 or 100 miles around where as formerly it was an undertaking for a family to drive 20 miles to see the "big show." The automobile has been a wonderful boon to all the people, and it has helped to put more money into the pockets of the circus folks.

TEXAS MARINE FOODS.—Texas people have little idea of the magnitude of the marine food industry of the state. Fish and shrimp compose the bulk of the salt water products. The report of the Game, Fish and Oyster department shows that in 1927 the state produced 1,281,660 pounds of fish and 2,917,985 pounds of shrimp found their way from Texas waters to markets. Corpus Christi led in fish production with 1,023,320 pounds, with Point Isabel a close second with 1,918,390 pounds. Port Lavaca kept its share in shrimp marketing with 1,116,960 pounds. Corpus Christi was the leading oyster and crab market of Texas. Other plants that contribute notably to the marine food production of the state are Aransas Pass, Port Aransas, Port Lavaca, Freeport, Rockport, Matagorda, Port O'Connor, Palacios and Seadrift.

CUTTING BIG MELONS.—Smith and Hoover appear to have entered a melon-cutting contest in which Texas has enabled Hoover to be the winner. Post Arkansas Hoover received 130 pound melon from a Texas admirer, which afforded a feast for a large party in Washington and an opportunity for the photographers to get some good snapshots. Al Smith was presented with a 110 pound melon at Oklahoma City, grown in Choctaw county in that state, when he visited there.

ELGIN, MUSICAL CENTER.—Is there a town of the size in Texas that can beat Elgin as a musical center? Its four brass bands seem to entitle it to first place in band music. Band Director Nichols directs the Elgin American Legion band, which has a statewide reputation; the Kiwanis band, the pride of the town and the country about; the high school band; and the Senior band, composed largely of young married people. If there is more musical talent to be found in any other Texas town I have yet to hear of it, and it is used in a way that is rounding up the reputation of Elgin as a place where the people give attention to the better things of life.

LEE COUNTY NEGRO FAIR.—The county fair given annually by the colored people of Lee county at Giddings is proving that where they are given the right kind of help and encouragement the colored people of Texas take justifiable pride in their activities. There are a negro agricultural agent and a negro home demonstration agent in the county, and largely through the efforts of these, there are 12 negro community clubs in the county around which the annual fair is centered. Prizes are offered for the best community booth, the best decorated community car in the parade, and the best vocational school exhibit, as well as for live stock, farm products, home economics work and other exhibits. The fair is proving of much help to the colored people in stimulating pride in all kinds of efforts for their race, and it has the whole-hearted endorsement and support of the white people of the town and county.

TEXAS LEGION LEADS.—Membership in the Texas department of the American Legion is the largest the organization has.

TEXAN LAUDS GOVERNOR AS 'HUMAN SORT'

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—A statement urging the election of the Democratic national ticket, was issued here today by Jesse H. Jones of Houston, chairman of the finance advisory committee of the party. "Governor Smith," said Mr. Jones, "is neither the creator nor the tool of any organization except the Democratic party—he is essentially a man of the people, a very human sort of man, a great Democrat, and would undoubtedly make a good president."

The statement in full: "The policies of Governor Smith and Senator Robinson, as amplified in their speeches, can be accepted by all who believe that our national government should insure equal opportunity for all citizens and all kinds of business and industry wherever situated, large and small alike. They both recognize the very critical situation in the farming industry and Governor Smith makes it paramount. His way of meeting it is businesslike and direct, while the Republican program is vague, to say nothing of the fact that they have shown no aptitude toward solving this difficult problem during eight years of uninterrupted opportunity and responsibility. At Omaha he approved in principle the McNary-Haugen bill, which was twice vetoed by a Republican president without offering anything better. In addition he proposed to call a meeting of those best qualified to solve this problem immediately after his election and not wait for his inauguration. "All thinking people must realize that the prosperity of the entire country is threatened because of the chronic conditions in the farming industry."

Law Enforcer. His views of prohibition were already well known, but his speech makes it clear that he recognizes the chief executive of the nation to be a law enforcer and not a lawbreaker and states unequivocally that he will enforce the laws that will correct abuses now prevailing in prohibition enforcement. Certain it is that the Republican party, as such, is not a friend of prohibition; eight years of non-enforcement demonstrate that the governor's position in all specific questions is sound. His speeches show that he has given a great deal of thought to the problems that will confront him if and when he is elected president. He will do nothing to interfere with legitimate business so long as it is conducted fairly, but gives warning to those who expect special privileges. "His speech of acceptance and his record as governor of New York show that he has made a deep study of the philosophy and science of government and that he will emulate the examples of Jefferson and Cleveland and Wilson. He made 11 references in this speech to Woodrow Wilson."

Humanitarian Laws. "As governor of New York state he has wrought much legislation of a constructive and humanitarian nature and usually over the stubborn resistance of a Republican assembly. "I feel that I know all the complexities of our present campaign, but when they are analyzed and frankly considered there is no sound reason for any Democrat forsaking his party. Party affiliation is to a large extent like family affiliation and should not be broken because of a disagreement on a subject not necessarily vital. "Governor Moody's analysis of the situation can easily be accepted. He says frankly that he opposes the nomination of Governor Smith, but that he accepts his decision of the majority of his party. He makes this further observation that record of the Democratic party has been one of service, the record of the Republican party has been one of corruption in high places and that hope for the enforcement of prohibition law lies with the Democratic party and not outside of it. "That view can easily be accepted."

West Texas Gets Wintry Blast

Ciscoans Who Hear Gov. Smith at Oklahoma City Enthusiastic about Nominee; Greet Texans

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. Will St. John returned home Friday night from Oklahoma City, where they attended the reception and heard the address of Governor Alfred E. Smith, Democratic nominee for president, in his second speech of his western tour. Mrs. Fleming and Mrs. St. John were honored by being two of the Texas women who were in the receiving line, two others of whom were Mrs. Sevier Lawrence, Democratic national committee woman, and Mrs. King, member of the advisory committee of the state executive committee. Other Cisco people who went to Oklahoma City to hear the Democrat nominee were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bearman and J. E. Spencer. Eastland was represented by Milburn McCarthy, Sylvia and Milburn McCarthy, Jr., personal page of Governor Smith, traveling with him.

Will St. John reported that the ovation given Governor Smith was one of the most enthusiastic he ever witnessed. The auditorium in which the candidate delivered his speech, which has seating capacity of 12,000, was filled to overflowing with every seat and inch of space in the aisles occupied, augmented by about 600 on the rostrum, swelled the audience to at least 15,000 people. In addition to the main auditorium at the fair grounds, equipped with loud speakers, was filled to capacity. The Daily Oklahoman, the leading newspaper of that city, which is supporting the Republican ticket, estimated that 80,000 people in the two auditoriums and nearby heard Governor Smith, among whom were about 500 Texans.

The hotel where the governor's party was entertained, was thronged with those who wished to see the nominee. The crowd was so dense that the mezzanine floor had to be roped off to prevent it from invading his quarters. To control the crowd the national guard was on duty at the hotel.

Mrs. Fleming, on her return, was most enthusiastic in her estimate of the presidential nominee and the reaction given him. "The Cisco people were given choice seats in the auditorium, where we occupied a box within 30 feet of the speaker, hearing every word he spoke," she said, "and all Texans occupied varicose seats. This was probably due to the activity of W. H. Kittrell, Jr., of the Dallas Democratic headquarters, who headed the Texas delegation. Governor Smith was presented to the Texas representatives by Kittrell, who procured a chair on which the candidate would while greeting the Texans in the doorway of his apartments, and everyone was given an opportunity to see as well as hear him. Governor Smith told the Texans that he intended to confer with the Texas delegation regarding the campaign, but was prevented from doing so for the lack of time. "We saw much of Mrs. Sevier while in Oklahoma City. She was still thanking Cisco for the wonderful hospitality accorded her while a guest of this city at the speaking of Senator Robinson. We also met Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Warner, wife and daughter of the governor, who are both lovable women, thoroughly democratic in their manner, dress and deportment. Mrs. Daniel O'Day, vice chairman of the New York executive committee, was the principal speaker at the luncheon tendered the women present at the speaking. "At every function Texas women were given every consideration, and it seemed that everybody tried to make our visit one that none of us will forget, as nothing seemed too good for the women of the Lone Star state."

"I came back a greater admirer than ever of the Democratic presidential nominee, who impressed me as a man of the higher character and ability, a square shooter, one who is frank and talks in plain language that all can understand."

SUBSCRIPTIONS TO RED CROSS FUND LAGGING

The appeal of Eastland county Red Cross chapter for subscriptions so the fund may have relief of the victims of the hurricane that swept Porto Rico and the southeastern states the past week is meeting with slow response. The national Red Cross organization has asked the county chapter for $300 in the fund for relief work and only $11.50 of that amount had been reported yesterday.

In the past Cisco and Eastland county have always contributed generously toward funds to succor storm sufferers and Red Cross officials are hopeful that the citizenship will meet the appeal in this emergency. Contribution may be made through Mrs. Don Sivalls or the Daily News office.

EASTLAND CO. NOMINEES TO BE ON BALLOT

There is no cause for alarm or belated names for the Democratic nominees for district offices in Eastland county will be omitted from the general election ballot of November. County Clerk Jones said Saturday. His statement followed an announcement by the secretary of state, Mrs. Jane V. McCallum, as Austin to the effect that Eastland county will be one of the 26 counties in which the certified returns and nominations in the Democratic primary in August had not been received at her office, as required by law. She said that unless these certificates were forthcoming the names of the Democratic nominees would have to be left off the ballot in the general election.

"I was at first under the impression that the certified returns and nominations were to be sent to the secretary of state by the chairman of the Democratic county executive committee," Mr. Jones explained. "When I learned that it was my duty, I sent the necessary papers in. These, evidently did not reach their destination. I have just received a communication from Mrs. McCallum, marked 'third notice,' saying that the certificates were missing. I sent another certified list to her Saturday by special delivery and it should be in her hands Monday morning."

NORTHER AND COLD DRIZZLE END SUMMER

Cisco and all West Texas shivered at the first coming of winter over the week end. Lowering clouds Friday morning were followed by a sharp drop in temperature and a slow drizzling rain in the late afternoon. The cold, steady drizzle continued with only occasional let-ups throughout Friday night, Saturday and Sunday.

The further the first of the season, was all the more noticeable because it followed a week of fairly warm weather. The drop in temperature brought out many overcoats and shirt sleeves, prominent earlier in the week, were no longer evident and the housewives resorted to winter bedding. Thermometers last night stood at 56 degrees. At 8 o'clock the gauges at the city had registered one-half inch rainfall. So slow and steady was the precipitation that there was little or no runoff, so all the moisture that fell was soaked into the ground as fast as it fell.

All of eastern West Texas was visited during this precipitation as the rain extended over a majority of the 40 counties served by the West Texas Utilities Co. A light drizzling rain began falling at most points late Friday night and increased in many counties to a steady rainfall. The area of the precipitation extended from Stamford, Jones county, on the north to Junction, Kimble county, on the south end of the properties, east to Cisco and west as far as McCleary.

The rainfall in every instance lowered closely upon the heels of a drastic drop of mercury, some points reporting temperature falling from 15 to 40 degrees. Farmers and ranchers reported the rainfall of great benefit to growing crops and to cattle ranges.

M'MURRY AND RANDOLPH TO PLAY IN CISCO

Coach H. R. Garrett, of the Randolph Badgers, announces that he has just arranged a football game with McMurry university here next Saturday. McMurry won the T. I. A. conference championship last season, and is playing 16 letter men this year, so the Badlene college will bring some of the strongest senior college players to meet the Badgers, and Cisco fans may expect some gridiron thrills. The McMurry team and that of the Cameron State College of Oklahoma will be the only senior college teams that will play the Badgers on their home grounds this season. The game Saturday will start at 3:30 on Chesley field. Garrett states the Badgers are working out fine and he is expecting them to give a good account of themselves when they meet this senior college aggregation. The coach states that he will likely start four former Lobo players in the game Saturday, but has not definitely formed his lineup for the play.

Republican Administration and Hoover Are Friendly to Interests Seeking Power Control, He Says

DENVER, Col., Sept. 22.—Speaking in the Coliseum in which 20 years ago William Jennings Bryan was nominated for the presidency by the Democratic party for the third time, Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York tonight carried his presidential campaign into one of the western states by hopes to carry in November. He stated that the labor's executive director, Judge Davis, formerly was an assistant secretary of commerce under Hoover. The governor also charged that Paul Clegg once a secretary to Hoover, was named secretary of the bank committee and in the executive director of the National Electric Light Association. He also stated that former Senator Leonard Woodson, who he said was retained by the joint committee to improve the Walsh resolution for investigation of public utilities, "was also Hoover's counsel at Kansas City in the matter over the seizure of delegates from several states."

ALVIN MOODY SAYS HOOVER MAY ACCEPT

DALLAS, Sept. 22.—Alvin F. Moody of Houston, chairman of the anti-Smith Democratic campaign, will spend the remainder of the campaign in Dallas directing the work of his organization from its headquarters, he announced here this afternoon. "B. D. Sartin, campaign manager, will spend most of his time on speaking tours," Moody explained. Moody has just returned from Washington where he extended a personal invitation to Herbert Hoover, Republican presidential nominee, to speak in Texas. Moody said that Hoover is seriously considering accepting the invitation. "Hoover is greatly impressed with reports of his chances in Texas and is thinking seriously of stopping here when he goes to California to vote," Moody stated.

LOBOS SHOW BETTER FORM TO DEFEAT DE LEON 48-0

Bearcats Helpless Before Cisco; Little Leads Chapman Crew with Four Touchdowns against Foemen

Next Friday, 3:30 p. m., at Chesley Field: Cisco High vs. Stamford High.

Displaying an entirely different brand of football from the kind used against Haskell last week, the Cisco Big Dam Lobos turned in their second pre-conference victory Friday, defeating the strong De Leon eleven 48-0. Many fans responded to the cool norther blowing up suddenly before the game, and flocked to the Lobo Den to witness a real football game played in real football weather.

As was the case of the Haskell game, the Lobo backfield showed up better than the line. The Lobo "Four Horsemen," Little, Van Horn, Kelllogg and Eddleman, skirted edges, snatched passes and smashed the Bearcat line for many gains. Again it was the grinning Little who led the attack, scoring two touchdowns, Kelllogg can not be overlooked for it was through his generalship that the team ran so smoothly. Captain "Shoney" Eddleman scored two touchdowns by his terrific smashes through the line, and Van Horn's passing was again one of the bright spots of the day. The line, by its charging and blocking, showed marked improvement from their first appearance.

The line showing of "Little Sheriff" Miller at end has convinced the Lobo fans that Coach Chapman has made a wise selection in placing this curly-haired youth at that position. The zip of Anthony at center, McCannles and Ray at guards, Caldwell and Slatten at tackles, and Jimmie King, wing-man of Miller made Coach Chapman feel that he still had "that old Cisco line."

The work of the reserves was an important cog in the victory over the Bearcats. Wilbur Brian, giant back developed by Coach Goughly this year, looked especially good. Coates, Bedford and Stovall all looked pleasing to the home fans as backfield stars. L. Miller at center, Watson and Kennedy at guards, Swink and Pratt at tackles, and Stockard and Meadows at ends showed promise of being capable reserve linemen.

For the visitors, Sharp diminutive half-back and Pearson his running mate at the other half position, turned in creditable performances. The whole De Leon team should be commended for they were a game and scrappy bunch.

First Quarter
De Leon kicked to Kelllogg on his own 20 yard line, who returned to his 35 yard line. After one thrust at the line, Van Horn threw a beautiful pass to Little who ran 60 yards for a touchdown. Kelllogg kicked goal; score Cisco 7, De Leon 0. De Leon kicked to Little on the 15 yard line, and the fleet little half-back returned it to the 40 yard line. From there Van Horn wiggled through center for 20 yards. After Little had spilled out 5 yards at left tackle, Eddleman sped around right end for a touchdown. Kelllogg added the extra point, making the score 14-0 for Cisco. Anthony, Lobo center, kicked to Nicholas off his own 5 yard line and he returned to 11 a 20 yard line. Anthony hit Holleman, Bearcat captain, and forced him to fumble. Cisco recovering on De Leon's 25 yard line. A pass from Van Horn to Little netted 10 yards, but the Lobos were held for downs on De Leon's 17 yard line. De Leon punted to mid-field where Little, playing safely, returned to the Bearcat 25 yard line. The elusive little half-back then squirmed through right guard for a touchdown. A bad pass from center prevented Kelllogg from kicking goal; score, Cisco 20, De Leon 0. Cisco kicked to De Leon on her own 15 yard line who returned to the 30 yard line. A Bearcat again fumbled, and Slatten, steady tackle for the Lobos, recovered. The quarter ended as Van Horn made a first down on the Bearcat 15 yard line.

Second Quarter
Little circled left end for a touchdown, and Kelllogg kicked 2000 score, Cisco 27, De Leon 0. Cisco kicked to Nicholas on his own 8 yard line who returned to his 30 yard line. The Bearcats were held for downs, and they punted to Little on his 40 yard line where he was downed in his tracks. The Lobo made Coach Chapman feel that he still had "that old Cisco line."

Lobo 30 yard line, who returned to the 45 yard line. Chapman then sent in Swink for Caldwell. Purvis for McCannles, Miller for Anthony, Purvis for Caldwell, Stockard for King Smith for Meadows, Bedford for Kelllogg, Stovall for Little, Whitehead for Van Horn, Coates for Eddleman, De Leon—Cromer for Pearson, King for Bell.

Bedford advanced the ball to the Bearcat 41 yard line. De Leon intercepted a Lobo pass on its own 30 yard line. Meadows broke through and threw Holleman for a 12 yard loss. De Leon punted to Stovall in mid-field, who was downed in his tracks. After three incomplete passes, Coates punted 30 yards to the Bearcat 19 yard line, and the De Leon safety brought it out to the 35 yard line. Stovall intercepted a pass at mid-field and returned to his 30 yard line. After Stovall and and Slatten blocked and recovered a kick on the De Leon 35 yard line. Fourth Quarter

Coach Chapman sent in the original lineup except Van Horn, Little, Kelllogg and Miller. He also substituted Whitehead for Brian. The Lobos were held for downs, and Coates got off a bad punt to the Bearcat 25 yard line, from where the safety offered it to the 35 yard line. After De Leon carried the oval to the Cisco 45 yard line on passes, the visitors were held for downs, Chapman substituted Van Horn for Coates, and Kelllogg for Bedford, making the backfield consist of Whitehead, Eddleman, Van Horn, and Kelllogg. Whitehead and Eddleman made two successive first downs to place the ball on the Bearcat 20 yard line. Little was substituted for Whitehead. "Shoney" Eddleman hit right tackle for a touchdown. Kelllogg added the extra point with his educated toe. Score, Cisco 41, De Leon 0. Cisco kicked to De Leon on the 19 yard line, from where it was returned to the 30 yard line. De Leon was held for downs and punted out of bounds on its own 30 yard line. On the next play the Lobos were penalized 15 yards for roughing, and Kelllogg punted out of bounds on De Leon's 15 yard line. The Bearcats punted to Little at mid-field who returned to the De Leon 25 yard line. On the next play, Van Horn threw Little a pass for a touchdown. Ollie jumped high into the air to snag the oval and several Bearcats. Kelllogg kicked goal, making the score 48-0. Cisco kicked to De Leon on the 25 yard line as the game ended. Score, Cisco 48, De Leon 0.

Eddleman 2, Stovall 1. Points after touchdowns—Kelllogg 5, Bedford 1.

TWO RANGER BACKS FOUND AS INELIGIBLE

RANGER Sept. 22 — Alfred Glenn, backfield man and end, and Lee Hammett, quarterback of the Ranger high school Bulldogs, have been deemed ineligible to participate in games this year, by Roy Henderson, athletic director of the intercollegiate league at Austin.

According to Henderson's letter, the records show that both of the boys played in the season of 1927 and therefore are out on the four year participation ruling.

The records show in this office that both of the boys mentioned in his letter of September 15, Lee Hammett and Alfred Glenn, played in the season of 1924. Henderson's word, "Hammett played as a substitute in the Cadde-Dendemann game October 3, 1924, and Glenn played as a substitute in the Ranger-Westwood game November 21, 1924."

Participating in any game between schools counts as one year on the four year rule. The game counts whether both schools are members of the league or not.

The removal of two of Coach Eddy Currie's star backfield men will necessitate his filling the gaps with other men from last year who have showed up exceptionally well this spring and fall.

It is probable that Rawls Rowden, stocky young flash, will be shifted to the backfield position. Although the ineligibility of the two men will affect the Bulldogs, it is thought that the places can be filled capably. It was announced this morning that in all probability Glenn and Hammett would enter the Ranger Junior College aggregation.

Where the Money Goes

THE Telephone Company, like any other industry, operates on the money it receives from its customers for service furnished them.

The greater portion of this revenue is used to pay operating expenses,—wages, taxes, rents, maintenance of equipment. Then dividends must be paid to the thousands of stockholders who have invested their savings in the telephone company, and who are entitled to a fair return on their money.

The remainder goes to provide financial stability through periods of depression and emergency, and to give more and better service to you and other telephone users.

It is the fundamental policy of the Company to provide the best possible service at the lowest possible cost.

OPINIONS ON FARM AID SOUGHT BY U.S. CHAMBER-COMMERCE

Seven Recommendations Dealing with Agriculture Are Submitted to 1,500 Members, Business Men

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—and farmers which drew the resolutions a committee of the agricultural industry have submitted in the form of a referendum by the chamber of commerce of the United States to the 1,500 member organizations of the chamber. The ballots are to be returned by Oct. 15. The recommendations to be voted on are:

1. Strict co-ordination of land reclamation and re-forestation projects of the federal government.
2. Postponement of further reclamation projects until demonstration of need for the additional production.

Tariff Protection

3. That the National chamber expressly declare that its advocacy of reasonable protection for American industries subject to destructive competition from abroad and of benefit to any considerable part of the country is antipathetic to agriculture.
4. That co-operative marketing of agricultural products should be supported and that producers of agricultural commodities should be encouraged to form co-operative marketing associations along sound economic lines.
5. That agricultural credit requirements be met through full development and adaptation of existing facilities.
6. Creation of a federal farm board, to report its recommendations to congress.
7. Adequate federal appropriations for economic and scientific agricultural research by the Department of Agriculture.

Bagwell also asserted that Lane made a move as if to draw a gun on him (Bagwell) before he fired the fatal shot. A gun was not found on the body of Lane, however.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT OFFERED STRIKE JOB

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—A $100,000 job is to be offered to Col. Theodore Roosevelt. It is the post of district commissioner of the United States Customs and Dives association. Irving L. Cohen, president and general manager of the local district, made the announcement. Roosevelt is a candidate to accept a five-year contract. In the position, according to the source, he is to remain on the bench, where he receives yearly compensation of $12,000. A year ago Mayor Walker turned down a similar offer.

WOMAN WITH PITY TALE HELD FOR BEGGING

Police were holding a woman Saturday for investigation. She gave her name as Mrs. L. W. Stretcher and her address was 1004 1-2 Broadway, Tulsa, Okla. She was picked up for violating the city ordinance against begging. Approaching her prospective victim the woman, it was said, would dole out a pitiful tale of having a son in the state tubercular sanitarium at Carlsbad, whom she had just been informed was in a dying condition, and she wanted assistance to reach him before he died. As she related her pitiful story tears (real tears) would stream down her cheeks, and so well had she rehearsed her story that the stoniest heart was melted and the victim came across with a donation. Police stated she had collected $6 or $8, and as she was seen to purchase a ticket at the bus station for Ranger, instead of San Angelo, the most direct route to Carlsbad, she was detained.

Parents Urged by Mayor to Keep Boys from Downtown Loafing at Night; Complaints Registered

One of the growing juvenile evils which is causing city and school officials considerable concern is the nightly congregation of school boys on the downtown street corners. Complaints have been made by Cisco women that it times the sidewalks at street corners are so congested that they have been compelled to go into the streets to pass. It is not only the congested conditions of these street corners that are causing these complaints, according to reports made to traffic officers but the language used is hardly decent and oftentimes vulgar and obscene. Concerning this evil Mayor Williamson had the following comment:

Parents should know where their boys are every night. Certainly street corners are not proper places for their nocturnal gatherings, as their presence, in large numbers, on any street corner where these boys congregate, renders such places near intolerable. They block the sidewalks and force pedestrians into the traffic lanes. It is not infrequent that these boys are guilty of using vulgar and indecent language, and seem to be unmindful that such language is offensive to women pedestrians. Then the association of a boy meets in these nightly gatherings are anything but wholesome. Those who have no money, and others, more fortunate, spending freely, and naturally a desire to run with the gang is engendered, thus placing a temptation in the path of the penniless boy to do likewise. This temptation leads him into questionable methods of supplying himself with funds that possibly may lead to life of crime.

Parents should cooperate with teachers and officers in keeping their boys off the streets at night. Unless they restrain them they are liable to find them arraigned in the city courts, as the traffic officers have instructions to keep the sidewalks open for pedestrians, and certainly vulgar and indecent language will not be tolerated.

Complaints have come to the officers from Cisco women who are trying to beautify their premises that children are forming the habit of walking across lawns and thus destroying the grass and flowers. These are some of the evils that parents can correct by proper instruction, and I hope this warning will have the desired effect.

In this connection H. A. Bibbe, the Cisco Motor Co. stated last week that he watched a bunch of boys examining cars that were parked in the streets one night, thinking that possibly they had a mind engaging in stripping a car, he followed at a distance in several blocks as they inspected the parked cars, but no attempt was made to damage any of the machines inspected.

This evil has also reached the school officials, according to Superintendent Youngblood, who stated that the teaching faculty could do little to prevent the nightly congregation of school boys on street corners, as the teachers have no jurisdiction over the pupils after they return to their homes from school. There the jurisdiction of the teaching ceases and that of the parent begins. Mr. Youngblood had the following to say on the subject:

Complaints are frequently brought to school officials relative to the large number of public school students who may be seen in the streets of our city each night during the week. These complaints come from city officials as well as from other persons who are interested in school and community affairs. As a usual thing, very little good ever comes from street loafing. The environment of the boy or girl on the street at night is not the best in the world. If you are interested in the proper moral development of our boy, protect him from the conversations and temptations of the crowds on the streets at night.

The youngster who spends his forenoons and evenings on the streets does not usually do the best work in school. Parents who desire to co-operate with school authorities, can do a great deal by keeping their children at home at night. If, instead of studying at night or spending the time in the proper kind of environment, our child spends his evenings away from home forming habits and entertaining thoughts that will lessen his power of concentration in school the following day, you may expect the results to be far from gratifying at the close of the year. We had many failures in school last year, and a great number of these failures were due to a lack of the proper instruction in school affairs on the part of parents. You have a right to expect a great deal from teachers, but you should not expect that which is impossible from them. Is the environment of your home such that your child should like to stay there each evening and study when necessary? Do you stay at home with your child regularly? How much do you sacrifice in order that you may send your child to school each day a child who is stronger mentally, physically, and morally? Do your part by seeing the year child in school in the best condition possible.

The next notification ceremonies will be participated in by the electors at large—Charlotte (N. C.) News.

In history-making flights Lindbergh, Byrd, Goebel and a host of others have established dramatically and conclusively the superiority and reliability of twin ignition, high compression, valve-in-head motor performance.

And all three principles are combined in the great new Nash Twin Ignition Motor which powers every Nash "400" Special and Advanced Six model.

The Nash Twin Ignition Motor, with two ignition coils instead of one, two spark plugs (airplane type) to each cylinder instead of one, 360 sparks a second instead of 180, at top speed, burns the highly compressed gases more thoroughly and economically.

The result is more power from less gasoline, and ordinary gasoline at that. No special, high priced fuels are required for the Twin Ignition Motor.

Once you drive the great new Nash "400," you are certain never to be contented with the performance of older types of motors.

STYLE OF PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGNING CHANGES WITH YEARS

Half Century Ago Candidates Too Dignified to Hit Trail for Votes; Bryan Champion Speech-Maker

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Governor Alfred E. Smith's invasion of the West to win the presidency is similar to the tour of other presidential nominees have made in national campaigns. It has been only in comparatively recent years, however, that extensive tours became the order. Generally speaking, the activity of an appealing directly to the voters has depended on the amount of campaign funds available. There have been campaigns where the national organizations allowed the state organizations to finance themselves and send the funds mainly to bring the party nominee in touch with the people.

Some presidential nominees of both parties have made long tours and delivered many speeches, depending on the amount of money that could be raised before the voting public effectively. This was Bryan's campaign technique, and made him the greatest traveler of the sort in American politics.

Always there to meet speaking time by scores of women on tour, who would give the women of the election district. There is something of a tradition with the public, however, to meet when visiting candidates or to appear in places in which they see the candidate, that is, that the women should be sought by the candidate instead of him going to the people.

Rear Train Talks

Fifty or sixty years ago presidential nominees were not given to hitting the trail for votes. There was a traditional dignity then, and with the nomination for the office. A few appearances in some of the larger centers near the nominee's base of operations sufficed, while the nominee in the state lead the battle in the outlying districts. Speeches of the nominee were made at the state and local level, and in some cases, candidates in political circles that have been and passed on history. The campaign was almost entirely in the hands of the

New Jersey base when a candidate for re-election. Harding used the front porch of his home in Marion, Ohio, with speeches as far west as Tennessee. Cleveland was another to travel little.

Bryan, however, was the long-distance political traveler of note. He went over the country making speeches at every opportunity. It is a train stopped for two minutes and a crowd assembled, he would address it. His resourcefulness and facility of expression probably exceeded that of any other presidential nominee. During his three campaigns he covered thousands of miles, was much his own agent, and where he would go and made up his campaign after his own liking. The route of a candidate over the country is accepted as a serious piece of work in that detail is necessary. A tour is adopted after careful figuring of the political opportunities in the sections to be visited. But Bryan was not given to following the rule. He would skip about as where he pleased, while those at headquarters spent most time heading their hair.

Hughes Traveled, Too

During the years of his candidacy, Bryan was young, vigorous and always in the best of voice. With a speaking attractiveness that in the moment could be the lightning of the moment, political workers who traveled with him as they could hardly see the safety of some of the assembled crowds. They demonstrated and shouting when he spoke. That he was so successful in his campaign was due to his own ability to connect with the people. He knew how to connect with the people and how to connect with a set speech of words.

In the first Bryan campaign the Republican party was advised that they should avoid McKimley and the gold standard, notwithstanding the fact that McKimley was a third ticket in the field. Three times during the campaign Bryan visited the gold standard and each time adopted a new line of campaign. The third and last time was when Bryan left his wife in his standard Republican tour that adopted an address on the railroad workers and gave to showing that in case of Bryan's election their wages would be cut in half. Once the free speaker had been represented as being worth only 50 cents.

Hughes, Republican nominee in 1916, was another long-distance traveler who made the trip from New York to the Pacific Coast in what was spoken as "the million-dollar train." It was traveling equipment of the latest in everything. The man that had been such a marked success as a jurist, according to political saying around Washington, "did not touch home" until he got back to New York. In the meantime he failed to shake hands with members of one of the California factions, an incident that lost him the state and the presidency.

Opportunity to See South

Hoover differs from his illustrious predecessors of recent years in that he does not travel across the country. He is making only one speech in the campaign and one of them is to be non-partisan. When politicians come to see him they are ushered to the second floor of his personal quarters in Washington, instead of the campaign. There are no large delegations coming from a distance and no front porch appearances except for photographs.

Governor Smith's trip to the West is so much to allow the people of the country to see him as to give him an opportunity in all campaign tours. He delivers prepared addresses, but talks as he goes in New York with the use of notes only for occasional references. Politicians meet that it is the most effective method, but they require special ability to do successfully. Bryan was chosen as an effective speaker, and especially so in 1900 when he had to make a speech and handle the law in his text.

As often in reading a speech I find there is something I want to see at a given time," said Bryan, "but can't get it in without virtually changing the text. There is always the desire to change the language to make it more effective."

Governor Smith is of much the same disposition in campaigning and was never so lost himself turned. His voice is not so strong, neither is it so musical as that with which the Nebraska held his audience spellbound. It was plain to see that while Governor Smith was reading his speech of acceptance in Albany that he was not accustomed to address an audience. He will not speak in front of air, it can be avoided. Neither will he

Grand Thrill of '24 Oil Belt Season When Alsabrook Leaped on Mate's Back to Block Kick, Saved Loboes

By BOYCE HOUSE.

The greatest season in the history of Breckenridge high was 1924 — when they overwhelmed Eastland, tied Ranger and Cisco, outplayed Abilene though defeated, and lost by a single touchdown to the last great team that has borne the colors of Comanche. In that splendid season, the Buckaroos' most glorious game was a scoreless tie with the Cisco Loboes.

It should be remembered that in 1923, Abilene won the state championship. Then in the first official game of the following season, the Cisco Loboes leaped into statewide fame by eliminating the Eagles, 6 to 3. The following day, Breckenridge and Ranger fought to a 0-0 deadlock.

And then the next week, Breckenridge and Cisco met. Only ancient Buckaroo spectators believed that Breckenridge could stop the Loboes. Most predictions were a victory by two or three touchdowns for the conquerors of the Eagles. However, as the game reached the first conflict for the Big Dam team after their victory at Abilene, it drew the greatest crowd that had ever witnessed a football game in the district, outside of Abilene. Hordes of fans were packed to see the contest and so great was the attendance that it was said after Breckenridge paid the cost of building the bleachers, and Cisco took part of the revenue, paid for the expenses of the game and paid out of the district association, there was still a goodly sum on hand.

The Loboes started with a rush and registered several first downs but when they reached a three-point position, the Buckaroos rose like a storm, led by the huge Hans Harrison, 265-pound tackle. On offense, the Green machine however could not get started. The spectacular Zarnfenetz, one of the prettiest end-runners the state ever saw, was held in check by the black and gold warriors of Cisco.

When the half ended and the Lobos fans realized their favorites had not scored, they still believed that the Cisco eleven would break loose.

Imagine then their astonishment when in the second half, there was a sudden turn of events—had the sports to what they hoped for. George Zarnfenetz received the ball from center. He stood stock still and took a pass. One of the Breckenridge ends sped behind him, took the ball from his backward extended hand and dashed around the other end for 18 yards. The ancient "statue of liberty" take, originated by Pop Warner had proved effective once more.

This dashing gain caused bedlam to break loose among the Buckaroo fans.

Details escape us—four years after the game was played—but a play made a short gain. Hans Harrison was then called back and twice smashed into the heavy Lebo line and on fourth down only two yards were needed for a first down.

The ball was on Cisco's 18-yard line. What should he do, doubtless Schulman, the quarterback, asked himself. Should he let Harrison hit the line again? If the powerful Hen made those two yards—and he had gained more than that on each of his preceding plunges—it would be first down with only 16 yards to go for a touchdown.

On the other hand, suppose the fighting Cisco line should brace and stop Harrison—then the ball would go over.

Schulman decided to try for a field goal. The game was well advanced and three points would win the game almost as surely as six or seven points. He was back for a place-kick. The center snapped the ball; the receiver dilly put the pylon in position; the kicker's shoe came forward accurately and the ball started with the speed and accuracy of a bullet squarely between the goal posts and well above the cross bar.

But wait! It never reached its destination. Pinky's eyes, however, were fixed on the back of Hank Irvin, 210-pound Cisco tackle, and knocked the ball down as it was zipping over the line of scrimmage and then Pinky sprang down and covered the ball. And that ended the chance to score that day.

There have been lots of great games but never one more hard-fought than the one that was played when the mighty Loboes were held to a scoreless tie by the brave Buckaroos.

TRAPPER GETS GRAY WOLF IN PEANUT PATCH

CROSS PLAINS, Sept. 22.—Two more live gray wolves, one a 35-pound animal, have been captured by the government trapper, F. Bromelow. The large wolf was captured on the Harrell ranch, where several others have been caught during the preceding weeks. The other, a medium size wolf, and the one reputed by the citizens of that locality as being the "varmint" that couldn't be caught, was trapped in Jim Pizor's peanut patch. Many futile efforts have preceded the final capture of this animal, as was indicated by the number of marks, inflicted by steel-jawed traps, which he bore. One foot and two toes from another foot had been lost in traps. This brings the number of gray wolves captured in this locality by Mr. Bromelow, to twenty.

ABILENE, Sept. 22.—Giving the town of Shamrock, company of electrical service, the West Texas Utilities Co. is constructing 37 miles of 66,000 volt highline from Wellington to Shamrock. It was announced by the construction department here. The company also will erect a 600 kv. 66,000 volt steel substation at Shamrock. The town here is being supplied with electricity by a local generating plant of 344 kw capacity. Because of the rapid growth of the town it was found the old station was inadequate to care for the electrical needs, and provide required reserve capacity.

W. T. U. BUILDS BIG HIGHLINE TO SHAMROCK

ABILENE, Sept. 22.—Giving the town of Shamrock, company of electrical service, the West Texas Utilities Co. is constructing 37 miles of 66,000 volt highline from Wellington to Shamrock. It was announced by the construction department here. The company also will erect a 600 kv. 66,000 volt steel substation at Shamrock. The town here is being supplied with electricity by a local generating plant of 344 kw capacity. Because of the rapid growth of the town it was found the old station was inadequate to care for the electrical needs, and provide required reserve capacity.

the SUPERIORITY of this patented engine NOW AT LOWEST PRICE?

The brilliant success of the Standard Six has brought the number of Willys-Knight owners to more than 325,000. And now thousands are being constantly added—motorists find that the patented double-sleeve-valve engine even surpasses its reputation for high compression, velvet smoothness, silent power and carefree, economical operation.

Naturally, it costs more to build this superior power plant—but the Standard Six has definitely broken down the price barrier. All of Willys-Knight's exclusive advantages are now made available to a great new market—at the lowest price in history!

GOOD TIME GUY—"It All Checks Up."

YOU UNDERSTAND WHAT'S HAPPENED? ORLANDO COPIED A LIST OF STOCKS OUT OF GUY'S NOTE BOOK, AND IT LOOKS AS THOUGH IT WAS THE SYSTEM!

COURTESY IDEA IS STRESSED BY OAKLAND FIRM

To expedite the work of commercial men calling on the Oakland Motor Car Co. of whom there are more than 2,900 a month (approximately one for every ten cars built), Charles O. Miller, supervisor of purchases, has installed a courtesy plan designed to eliminate so far as possible the annoying wait in the lobby.

Under this system the information clerk checks the time of arrival of all callers having business with members of the purchasing department, and the time each caller had to wait before seeing his particular party. In the operation of the plan during the past few months, the average wait of each caller has been reduced to 3.16 minutes. The best day's average was 1.5 minutes. This is the more remarkable in view of the fact that from 100 to 200 men are interviewed every day by the Oakland buyers. A poster in the lobby tells the aim of the courtesy plan and a bulletin board hanging by the information desk shows the number of men interviewed in previous days and their average waiting time. Each buyer also has a button which, when over the signature of Mr. Miller, this constant reminder of the courtesy creed.

"It is our aim to have the purchasing department callers delayed as little as possible in seeking an interview. It is the duty of each buyer to see salesmen promptly. It is also his duty to see that the salesmen have the proper regard for other salesmen who may be waiting their turn. I wish this policy to be something more than a framed notice on the lobby wall. It is up to each buyer to see that this is the case."

ALBANY BOYS AND GIRLS LEAVE FOR UNIVERSITIES

ALBANY, Sept. 22.—Albany is sending the following boys and girls off to attend the colleges and universities of the state: Dick Browning, Jason Gordon, Miss Nina Gordon, Sally Hollowell and Mildred Palmer go to Tech college at Lubbock. Miss Alice Reynolds and Elizabeth King go to Baylor. Miss Swenson King, Ben Clark and Nathan Webb will be students in S. M. U. Dallas. Misses Betty Price, Dorothy M. Kelley, Mary Southland Long and Adeline W. Williams go to C. L. A. Denton. Miss Maxine Clarke to Canyon Normal. Bobbie Nail goes back to Princeton.

Facts About Your Car and Its Gas

The first trip by motor car across the continent was made in forty-two days. In 1901 L. L. Whitman and C. S. Caris made a transcontinental trip from San Francisco to New York in a motor car in the record time of thirty-two days, seven hours and twenty minutes, covering the "short route" in the west. It is no longer the Bureau of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture, has just had occasion to describe the United States Route No. 40, extending from Atlantic City to San Francisco, which is about the same route as that taken by these pioneer motorists of 1901, and now the motorist is told how this trip across the continent can be made in thirty days by easy stages including week-end stops and side trips for sight-seeing!

Excesses from state gasoline taxes have been a very vital figure in making the trails of the early settlers great arteries of traffic for the pleasure-bound motorist. There are now only three states which are not taxing gasoline and the funds derived from this source are being applied to state portions that become integral parts of a transcontinental highway.

The state gasoline tax is now one of the most important sources of highway revenue, its yield representing nearly one-fourth of the total of all funds available for road purposes.

In 1924, when thirty-five states and the District of Columbia taxed gasoline, the total revenue was $29,754,450. The exact figures for subsequent years as reported to the Bureau of Roads by state authorities are as follows:

1925.....	$146,028,940
1926.....	187,602,231
1927.....	258,828,813

Thomas H. Macdonald, Chief of the United States Bureau of Roads, says that the initial improvement of the Federalaid system will be an accomplished fact within a very few years, and that the improvement of the state highway system is proportionately advanced. By this, however, it is not meant to imply that these systems will be fully improved in a few years. On the contrary, no more than a beginning of the ultimate improvement can be completed in that time.

Anything You Like in Indian Line With 101 Ranch

If you've had a hankering to talk a little Sioux, Cheyenne, Apache, Ponca, Blackfoot or any other aboriginal American tongue, gratify it when the 101 Ranch Real Wild West comes to Cisco for afternoon and night performances at the Kaasbach street show grounds, for there are plenty of Indians from those tribes, as well as others with the big show. The chief will also discuss Eugene O'Neill with you, but that's not supposed to be good form around the show. However, the majority of the Indians, who are all old school, hard-riding redbuds, talk only their own tribal languages.

Army Bombers Being Developed into Major Weapon; in War They Could Go Far into Enemy's Land

LANGLEY FIELD, Va., Sept. 22.—Bombing airplanes, the greatest enemy of communications and supply services in wartime are able to fly more and more surely in fog and darkness.

Perfecting and prospective developments of flying land speed and navigation devices in large airplanes have transformed the bombing plane from an unwieldy "crab" dropping a few "eggs" 100 to 200 miles from its base into a major weapon of warfare according to air corps officers who are leading in this branch of national defense research here.

New planes which the army will have next year will be able to carry a ton of bombs 10,000 feet—more than twice as high—in the air, carry them from 200 to 300 miles and drop them. The newest planes cannot operate much higher than 10,000 feet. The additional altitude will enable them more easily to dodge the "archie" anti-aircraft guns.

Radio beacons, gyroscopic controls, new compasses and indicators, and possibly even a fog or smog-dispersing device to clear away artificial or natural barriers to vision of the airman's target, are likely to be used in the wars of the future, the military prophets foresee.

With such devices, a group of bombers could set out high above the clouds at night and fly unseen to their destination, never descending once to locate their course or to betray themselves to enemy scouts. Then a fog disseminator could clear away the vision for a tremendous attack before descending planes could leave the earth to repel it.

One of the most vaunted defenses against bombers, a very delicate "mechanical ear," can be rendered totally ineffective by the process of sending a single scout plane close to the earth nearby. The noise of the nearer plane prevents the microphone from ascertaining the exact direction of the approaching bombers, according to flying men.

The war department has refrained from controversy with recent claims or ordinance experts that "archie" has kept up with the airplane, but any individual flyer will say privately that the situation is far to the contrary.

SECRETARY OF STATE GRANTS 297 CHARTERS

AUSTIN, Sept. 22.—Charters were granted by the secretary of state to 297 new corporations last month, the bureau of business research at the University of Texas reports. Two hundred and fourteen charters were issued in July of this year and 108 in August last year. The report said. Total capitalization of the 297 companies this year was $22,984,000 against $9,685,000 in July and $36,059,000 in August, 1927.

GORMAN, Sept. 22.—Gorman's new department in high school, that of vocational agriculture is taking hold in true shape of the mind and energies of the boys of the school. They have arranged a busy program of activity for this year and will work to that end. The first big feature of their work was their trip today to John Tardien by a stock judging contest. They are also working on an exhibit for the Eastland county fair and with almost forty boys on the job there will be a new one arranged. They are all equipped to a place in the work and each of them are to bring some one product in sufficient quantities to make up the exhibit. They are also planning a fair-day and sea picnic for the Friday

NEW COLEMAN WELL MAKING OVER 100 BBL.

COLEMAN, Sept. 22.—Registering the first successful completion in ten days in Coleman county, the Charter Oil Co., E. J. Cunningham, No. 4 Crump, diagonal northwest offset to the Humphreys' Brothers No. 1 Matthews in the Santa Anna pool is flowing more than 100 barrels daily from the regular Santa Anna sand around 1,850 feet.

For several days the well has been in a semi-completed condition but a shot which exploded halfway down the hole has necessitated nearly one week cleaning out the casings and setting on bottom of the hole. E. J. Cunningham, part owner of the well, is of the opinion that the test will be the best producer in the field when placed in proper producing condition.

The case in this department of Gorman high school is taking lots of interest in their work and they are going to be among the best in this section before the year is out.

U. S. TIRE DEALER

U. S. TIRES ARE GOOD TIRES.

POWDER MY BACK, starring Irene Rich, is a Warner Bros. picture of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
Adele Dayton, famous musical comedy actress, while starring in a show called 'Powder My Back' has had photographs taken of her while she is in her dressing room. The photographs are used as a publicity stunt in America. The show later opens on Broadway and the pictures appear in the newspapers. Maimie Gordon, Adele's sister, who is in love with her, is shocked to see the photographs. She writes Adele, inviting the actress to visit her, with the idea of taking her to a 'better life'. Adele, who amuses Adele, and she decides to accept the invitation. Maimie, who is in love with her, is shocked to see the photographs.

'Look, Maimie!' Mrs. Gordon pointed an accusing finger across the street, while the eyes of each member of the group followed, as though irresistibly drawn by some fascination. Maimie stared with the rest. There taking form on the board each sheet was slapped on by the bill poster's brush was the face of Adele Dayton with a faint smile, using the long-handled post-prinkled from a tin of Silverglow Talcum in his hand. Certainly no one would have known that the back belonged to Adele, but there, quite unashamed of themselves, were great red letters proclaiming that this was none other than Adele Dayton, Star of 'Powder My Back', Who Uses Only Silverglow Talcum.

For a moment Maimie averted. Things turned black and red before her eyes, and she felt quite certain that she was going to faint. She caught hold of Maimie Gordon's arm and tried to steady herself. 'Oh, how terrible! How awful!' she murmured. 'And just to think! I've just received word that she is visiting me this summer! The secret was out before she could catch her tongue. 'Oh, Maimie! Not really!' Suddenly the women rallied to her support. A moment ago they were ready to place the red hot crime on the head of Maimie for having such a sister. But this new interest brought them suddenly to her side. It was the most thrilling news anyone had brought them for weeks—not since Mrs. Simpkin's hired girl had run off with the garage man had they had such news. To think that a woman—most certainly a scarlet woman, to say the least, was going to be in their midst this summer. They reached for poor Maimie's hands to console her and hear all about it. 'Maimie! And you didn't tell her!' Maimie Gordon reproached her.

'But I just got the letter—a few days ago,' Maimie lied feebly. 'But on earth am I going to do?' she wailed. 'Just to think—having a sister like that, and then to have her visit you! 'You'd think she wouldn't have the nerve to show her face in her home town after showing the rest of herself to the whole world,' one of the women exclaimed, turning her nose. 'But Maimie can't help that, can you, Maimie?' Mrs. Gordon asked maliciously. 'No,' Maimie murmured feebly. 'But how and why is she coming to visit you?' another woman questioned. 'I knew that you hadn't seen each other for a long time, and I had almost forgotten about Maimie—Adele, she calls herself now, I see.' 'Well, I saw a horrid story about her in one of the papers,' Maimie interrupted, anxious to remain the center of attention as long as she could. 'And so I wrote to her. The story mentioned the theatre where she was playing in New York.' 'And then what?' the women questioned eagerly, each anxious to know on her way to spread the glad tidings.

'Well, I told Adele that I was shocked at her conduct.' 'As I should think any proper person would be,' a woman broke in. 'So I told Adele,' Maimie continued quickly. 'That I thought it would be a good thing for her to come out here and get some of our pure western air and give up this terrible, vicious life she must be leading.' 'And quite right,' interrupted another. 'I thought that if Adele once came out here and lived some regular home life she might not care to go back to the stage.' Maimie stated, producing her trump card. 'Now that might be true,' Maimie Gordon agreed. 'I remember what a sweet little girl Adele used to be. Perhaps we might interest her to such an extent out here that she would stay. We have the Literary Society, you know, and she might be able to handle the library books—or something like that.' 'You know we'd all help you—for your own sake, Maimie,' one of the women patted Maimie's hand reassuringly. 'Suppose we discuss the matter at the meeting tomorrow, and then we can decide what to do.' 'Yes, I think that would be a splendid idea,' Maimie agreed happily. 'We could find out what everyone thinks, and then—' 'Yes, indeed,' Maimie Gordon nodded. 'Well, I must be running along home. I have to get something for dinner on the way,' one of the women suggested. 'And I have to go to work. We'll see you all tomorrow.' The four women started down the street, two by two. 'Just think of it,' exclaimed one to another sotto voce, 'having that terrible woman on our hands. I do think Maimie might have had some feeling for us.' 'But what could she do,' the other argued. 'Adele's her own flesh and blood, and you know what the Bible says about blood being thicker than water.' 'That's all very well, but I've got a son growing up, and I don't want him to have to associate with such women.' 'Well, I have two daughters—but perhaps we won't have to have them meet her. Remember, my dear, she's forty, if she's a day—' 'Oh, she can't be that old—why, we went to school with her—' 'I know, but she was always grades ahead of us, don't you remember?' 'Yes, I guess she was—but—just the same—' 'But just the same, women of her type,' the woman turned sharply to those behind her, 'have ways of keeping young. They never raise any children—they haven't any cares or anything. Certainly, they can keep young that way. It makes a lot of difference when you scrub your fingers to the bone, and wash and iron and cook. She's probably a lot younger—' 'Well, she can't be much less than forty—' Their voices trailed off as they made their way along. Meantime, Maimie was holding forth with Maimie Gordon. 'I've never seen anything so brazen in all my life,' Maimie confided to Maimie. 'I'd never have asked her if I had thought this was going to happen, honest. I'm so ashamed, I don't know how I'll ever hold up my head again.' 'Now, don't worry, Maimie,' Maimie comforted her. 'We'll all try to help you with the reception, Maimie.' 'Of course I will, dear. Now don't you worry any more about it. We all have our troubles.' The two bade each other a fond farewell, and parted at their separate gates.

CHAPTER V
A small steam engine, trailed by three day coaches, moved caterpillar-like through the wide, repetition plains that bounded on all sides the train. As far as the eye could reach stretched gleaming yellow vistas of rippling wheat that moved like breeze-driven water, rippling and free. The glow of the yellow grain reflected the heat of the July sun and sent up intolerable waves of stuffy, blinding glare. Now and again the yellow was interspersed with the tall stalks of corn, green and gleaming and restful, tossing their yellowish tassels in slow, lugubrious movement. (To be continued) of Wilbur B. Sims, of Cross Plains, and Miss Alberta Parsons of Cisco, which was solemnized at the home of Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Miller August 25, with Rev. Mr. Miller officiating. Mr. Sims is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sims of Santa Anna, Texas. He is a graduate of Santa Anna high school and was a student in Randolph college in 1925, 26 and 27, where he met his bride. Mr. Sims is an all-around athlete and football star, being captain of the Randolph Badgers in 1927, and three times captain of the basketball team. He is at present employed with the ice company at Cross Plains. Mrs. Sims is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Parsons, of 367 West Seventh street, Cisco. She is popular among the younger set and is an active church worker. She is a graduate of Cisco high school and member of the Lobo Queen basketball team. She was also a student at Randolph college in 1926 and 1927, and was twice captain of the Randolph Badger Kitten. Mrs. Sims is at present employed as office assistant to the deputy oil and gas supervisor at the Cisco chamber of commerce. Only the families and a few close friends knew of the marriage until its recent announcement. Both bride and groom are very happy.

Club House Opens With Tea Friday Afternoon. The City Federation club house on West Seventh street had its formal opening Friday afternoon when the members entertained with a tea and silver offering. The club house was very attractively furnished by the Cisco Furniture Co. and cases of flowers carrying out the club colors of lavender and white were placed artistically in the room. The guests were greeted at the door by the receiving line which was composed of the presidents of the various clubs, which are Mesdames O. T. Maxwell, H. I. Stock, J. D. Barker, S. E. Hillman and Jack Kelly. Others in the receiving line were Mesdames M. A. Wright, P. P. Shepard and Bob Herron. The table was laid with a lovely cloth and a center piece for the punch bowl of roses. Mrs. Martin Mason served punch to a large crowd which included women from several surrounding towns.

Industrial Arts Club Adopts School Slogan. Mrs. John Shertzer entertained the members of the First Industrial Arts club Thursday afternoon at her home on West Sixth street. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. D. Barker, and 18 members answered to roll call with a favorite Bible character. During the business session several matters were discussed and new matters discussed. The club adopted the slogan 'Help put physical education in the schools.' Stress was made to begin the meetings promptly on time. The program in charge of Mrs. J. J. Youngblood was on the 'Holy City.' The verse which was at the beginning of the program was 'The kingdom of God consists of the brotherly sons of God using their power in a friendly way.' Rev. B. C. Boney sang the 'Holy City' accompanied by Raleigh Tredway. Rev. Boney also gave a most interesting talk on 'Jerusalem, the Beautiful.' The hostess served ice cream and cake in the club colors with hand painted handkerchiefs as favors. The refreshments were donated by Mrs. G. M. Stephenson, who was to have had the club but on account of illness of a relative was called out of town.

PARIS FURRIERS ARE NOW OFFERING MUFFS

PARIS, Sept. 22.—Madame is going to 'muff' it again this winter, according to the latest news from Paris furriers who are showing muffs in generous sizes matching collars and cuffs of the coats with which they are worn. They are not the dainty little ones of Empire days, just large enough to toast the fingers; neither are they the large flat rag variety which could never be called beautiful. They are just large enough to be chic as well as comely. All shapes are being shown as well as all kinds of fur. Max is making a big lynx muff to go with a charming coat in deep red velvet trimmed with black lynx. Another in black is trimmed with gray astrakhan. A very original note seen at one of the furriers is the little sleeve-muff which goes with several of the coats. It fits over one sleeve so as to form a cuff with such perfection that it is with a little shock of surprise that one sees them removed and used as muffs. Another rival is that of real fur. Very little imitation and cheap varieties will be used this winter. Astrakhan in all shades will be very popular as well as broadtail in different shades. EASTLAND CO. BOY SCOUT COUNCIL TO MEET MONDAY

EASTLAND, Sept. 22.—Alex Clarke, president of the Eastland County Council of the Boy Scouts of America, has called a meeting of the executive board for 7 o'clock. 'We have been spending a lot of money on football, which is all right, but the weaker students are only onlookers. They are not permitted to play. They cannot. However, they should have the advantage of physical training. In fact the rank and file of the students are the ones who really need it. Recently I have been noticing people from 35 to 40 years of age. If they have to climb a stairway, they are nearly dead. They puff and blow. What is the reason? The want of exercise. # CLIMAX IN UNION REVIVAL IS EXPECTED AT TODAY'S SERVICES

New Members to Be Received into Churches This Morning; Vital Messages in Final Week

Two special sermons will feature the tabernacle program for today, Dr. Will Hogg, evangelist, preaching on "The Christian Home" at 3 o'clock this afternoon when all churches of the city are asked to attend the service in delegations with as nearly 100 per cent attendance as possible and again tonight on "The Crucifixion of Jesus Christ," said to be one of his outstanding messages.

The services today are expected to mark another climax in the union revival services and local religious leaders are optimistic as the revival swings into its final week confident in their expectation that great results will be witnessed during the final services. Dr. Hogg has announced especially vital messages for each service of the final week, both at the morning and night services and the largest crowds of the series are expected to hear him. At the morning services the audiences will be swelled by the managers and employees of local business institutions which are closing their doors for the services and at night services, having inclement weather, the tabernacle is expected to be packed. In event of severely inclement weather provision will be made for the services.

Over 100 additions have already been reported to the various churches of the city and it is expected that as many more will identify themselves with local churches at the services this morning with the climax in addition to churches expected to be reached at the morning services on the closing Sunday of the campaign.

A large crowd braved the cold and dampness on Friday night and heard Dr. Hogg deliver the most direct and intensely earnest message of the series, speaking on "Choose Ye This Day Whom Ye Will Serve." On account of the chilly weather the service was short, but was one of the most gripping and fruitful services of the series, some 25 or 30 came forward at the conclusion of the brief message to make a public decision for Jesus Christ and identify their intention to unite with some church.

Servants Saturday night were well attended and Dr. Hogg spoke forcefully on "Prepare to Meet God."

Sidelights On Union Revival

Local pastors are planning to receive new members at all churches this morning at the 11 o'clock worship service and have requested all persons who plan to unite with a church to present themselves at the church of their choice at that time for reception.

Large groups of out-of-town visitors are expected to attend the services this afternoon and tonight. Dr. Hogg has asked every church member in Cisco to be present this afternoon if at all possible to hear his message on "The Christian Home" and that the churches sit in delegations. A hearty response to this appeal will easily tax the capacity of the tabernacle and much interest is being evidenced in this service which will mass together the church forces of the city simultaneously.

The large chorus choir and the usher force are being warmly commended for their faithfulness in spite of inclement weather. On Friday night, the choir platform was well filled and a most enjoyable and inspirational musical program preceded Dr. Hogg's sermon. Special music will feature both services today.

PITHY PARAGRAPHS FROM HOGG.

An evangelist that really loves God is always interested in what becomes of the converts.

Everyone in this town who is not willing to give up his pride and some of his pet schemes, do you know what you are doing? You are tying the hands of Jesus.

Do you know what it cost you to be a Christian? Just what your life is worth.

Have you ever risked anything for the Lord? A lot of you are not willing to put God before you in a little club. Brother, you read in the Bible about Paul and his companions who had a hard life for the Lord.

Do you know what happiness is? Happiness is the complete satisfaction of every normal desire.

In every life there are two graveyards. One out there where the marbles are and the other is

POSSE SEEKS CONVICT WHO SLEW DEPUTY

WOODVILLE, Sept. 22.—Aided by hoodlums a posse tonight was searching for an alleged escaped convict who today shot and killed Deputy Sheriff L. N. Walker and wounded N. V. Walker, another deputy, on a farm 10 miles from here. According to officers the two Walkers, who were not related, were members of a squad of five men who attempted to arrest the alleged convict. Three members of the group went to the front of the house, leaving the Walkers at the rear.

Called upon to come forth and surrender, the fugitive replied that he would, officers said. Instead he attempted to escape by the rear door and shot at the Walkers. L. N. Walker was killed instantly. N. V. Walker was seriously wounded but is expected to live.

by one of the club members, had the following comment:

"I am glad your club has made this move. Physical education in the public school is very essential. We have been spending a lot of money on football, which is all right; but the weaker students are only onlookers. They are not permitted to play. They cannot. However, they should have the advantage of physical training. In fact the rank and file of the students are the ones who really need it. Recently I have been noticing people from 35 to 40 years of age. If they have to climb a stairway, they are nearly dead. They puff and blow. What is the reason? The want of exercise. Why is it that we have so many grunting women? The want of exercise. Why is it that so many men crack and die at the age of 50 to 55? For want of exercise. The same principle obtains in the school room. I hope the school board may be induced to make physical education a part of the public school curriculum."

LIONS CLUB OF CROSS PLAINS TO CELEBRATE

CROSS PLAINS, Sept. 22.—The Lions Club of Texas, known as the Century club, will hold its first anniversary banquet Tuesday evening. Officers of the Lions club of Cross Plains, Board, Coleman, Santa Anna and Brownwood will be present and possibly some of the state officials. A dove barbecue will await the 200 Lions and their ladies which are expected to be present. The Brady quarter, well known West Texas amateur entertainers, together with several other dinner speakers, will furnish an interesting program.

Movement for More Thorough Physical Education in Public Schools Praised by Judge Barker

The First Industrial Arts club, for and more thorough physical education for the underdeveloped children. These club members sets in the past for cooperative work, are the ones in the greatest movements with the Cisco public need of physical training, but un-derstand regarding child welfare, the present system get the children and kindred projects have least training are those selected for the athletic team.

Concerning this movement of the club, Judge J. J. Barker, in being interviewed, said:

WHAT IS SERVICE?

This Is the BANK that SERVICE Is Building

MEMBER FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

First National Bank in Cisco, Texas.

The mere routine of banking, however efficiently it may be performed, constitutes only a part of banking service.

To attain the highest standards of service there must be dominant in all transactions a note and tone and spirit of personal, friendly, sympathetic interest in your requirements.

These are notably characteristic of the service of the First National Bank.

ed by the most ardent believer in prohibition. Personally, I am convinced that the future welfare of the country lies in the administration of our government upon Democratic principles, not Republican policies.

The Office Economist says he doesn't see how people can think up anything sillier than a marathon dance, but feels sure they will. —Nashville Banner.

Government Smith is neither the creator nor the tool of any organization except the Democratic party. He is essentially a man of the people, a very human sort of man, a great Democrat and would undoubtedly make a good president.

Of course Sir Arthur Conan Doyle lives in a country where you can get plenty of the stuff that enables one to see things. — Terry Haute Star.

Sale Goes On ALL THIS WEEK

Our Re-Organization Shoe Sale will end this week. Meanwhile, we will continue our drastic reductions on all Ladies' Shoe prices.

Your Opportunity!

It is your opportunity to save money on Shoes. This is not an ordinary shoe sale where out of date shoes are being worked off on people who do not know the difference, but it is a case of reducing a stock that was bought too large and which, on account of our changes in ownership, must be reduced. This means that all new fall patterns and styles must be sacrificed along with all other shoes. You can save money on your shoes and at the same time wear shoes in the very latest styles.

Only One Week More!

Our reorganization sale will last only one more week. By that time the stock will have been reduced to suit our purpose and our reduction in prices will cease.
