Trial of Hyden's Companion Is Begun

E. V. Allen Also Charged with Complicity in Carbon Robbery, Which Gave Pal 99 Year Term

Wilson for Congress

A recent picture of Mrs. Anna Hart Wilson, Democratic candidate for congress in her home district in Pennsylvania. She is also an ardent worker for the Democratic national committee's division in the Smith-Robinson case. She is a daughter of former Secretary of Labor William B. Wilson.

Introduction of testimony began in the 82nd district court this afternoon in the case of the state of Texas vs. E. V. Allen, on trial for robbery with firearms in connection with the raid on the First State Bank at Carbon last December. Following the conviction of S. P. Hyden Wednesday morning, when the jury brought in a verdict of guilty, assessing his punishment at 99 years in the penitentiary, the case against Allen, under indictment for the same offense, was called at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The afternoon session was continued in preliminary matters and the selection of the jury. The full panel was in the jury box at 11 o'clock this morning, and the court recessed till 1:30 this afternoon when the introduction of testimony began.

After his conviction Wednesday of 99 years Hyden accepted his sentence and was delivered to federal authorities and has been conveyed to Amarillo to answer a charge of postoffice robbery pending against him. Before being brought to Eastland to answer the indictment in connection with the Carbon bank robbery, Hyden was sentenced on a burglary charge at Plainview, where he was sentenced to the penitentiary for three years. This sentence is now pending against him in addition to the 99 year sentence imposed by the Eastland county jury Wednesday.

M'COY, FORMER BOXING CHAMP, SAVES PRISON

SAN QUENTIN, Cal., Sept. 27.—"Kid" McCoy, former lightweight champion of the pugilistic world, today saved San Quentin prison from disaster by fire. McCoy, the only convict chief of a fire department in the world, extinguished the blaze in the prison kitchen in record time.

CISCO IS WELL PRESENTED AT COUNTY FAIR

Cisco has gone visiting today, as many of its people are attending the Eastland county fair, which opened in Eastland this morning. Cisco automobile dealers are well represented in the automobile display at the fair, there being 22 cars entered from here. These machines were concentrated on D avenue in front of the Daily News and Weekly American and Roundup office, from which the motorcade started to the county seat. Practically all of the local dealers have cars in the display, and these machines were in the motorcade that left Cisco this morning, and were in the automobile show which was held on the court house square at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The Lobo band entered in the county band contest, participating in the band contest at 10 a. m. There were three prizes in this contest—$15, $10 and $5. Only bands of Eastland county being eligible to enter.

In the band contest the Lobo band won second place, with the Magnolia band, of Odgen, winning first place. Rangers was third, Eastland fourth. These four bands were the only ones entered in the contest.

The fair will be continued through Saturday, concluding with an old fashioned contest Saturday night, which will be followed by the grand square dance with the old fiddlers supplying the music.

A neat auto sticker was furnished for the cars at the fair by the Banner Ice Cream Co., of Cisco, showing a Lobo in action with the Lobo schedule on the reverse side.

TWO ARE INJURED WHEN SHERMAN THEATER BURNS

SHERMAN, Sept. 27.—Dudley Little, projection-operator of the Lamar theater here, was burned last night in a fire that destroyed the theater. Miss Etta McDuffie, ticket seller, received burns. Several patrons were hurt in the rush from the building. Four other buildings were destroyed.

LONGHORNS AND SOONERS TO VIE AGAIN AT LEGION MEET FOR 'OLD GRAY MARE' HONOR

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 27.—The battle for the historic "old Gray Mare" is on again. Texans and Oklahomans have lined up for the contest. The fight is expected to reach its most intense stage when the Oklahoma Legion plays the rollicking tune as its marching song at the American Legion convention Oct. 2-12.

Texas' famous "Old Gray Mare" band of Brownwood, favored and led by several Legion national conventions, will be on hand for the San Antonio gathering. The Brownwood boys say they are going to give the Oklahoma musicians a run for their money when they strike up the old army tune.

Pending the opening of the convention, the war of words rages with General Roy Hoffman, of Oklahoma, and Walton D. Hoffmann, commander of the Texas department in the principal roles. Hoffmann says:

Capt. R. E. (Doc) Flynn, the leader of the First Oklahoma Infantry on the border stationed at San Benito during the Mexican border, composed this music (the "Old Gray Mare" song), and claiming entire originality but taking snatches of melody from other pieces—but he "tuned the parts and made the present "Old Gray Mare."

"It is distinctly our tune and nobody else's. We are going to San Antonio to claim it and anybody who interferes any way with our authorship or ownership is going to get an argument on his hands right quick."

Hoffmann proceeds to recite that Oklahoma won title to the old gray mare in a membership contest in 1925 and that at the Philadelphia convention that fall Dr. W. T. Dunning, of Okmulgee, chairman of the Texas delegation, "arose in his place and handed Oklahoma a perpetual bill of sale for the old gray mare."

To all of which Hood replies, on behalf of Texas, that the "Old Gray Mare" song was originally composed during the war between the states from an incident occurring in Hood's Texas Brigade, commanded by General John B. Hood, a relative of the Texas commander.

Following the terrific battle of Cold Harbor, the famous brigade, as the story is told by its commander in his autobiography, was asleep on the ground when the old gray mare made her bid for immortality. Becoming frightened, this favorite animal of one of the regiments dashed madly up the hill out to the forest, taking, as the story is told, a terrible clatter with the kettle, tin cups and frying pans she freighted.

"This incident," as General Hood wrote, "is the origin of the brigade song, 'The Old Gray Mare.'"

It's going to be a hot fight at San Antonio when Oklahoma and Texas both mix it on the old gray mare. Miss Kathie Merle Parks, of Brownwood, will ride Sarah H., successor of the old gray mare that formerly led the Brownwood boys at legion gatherings.

Huge Concrete Bridge, Perhaps Largest in Texas, Is Completed by Texas & Pacific Near Baird

BAIRD, Sept. 27.—One of the largest concrete bridges on the T. & P. system, and perhaps the largest of its kind in Texas, has just been completed five miles east of here. The bridge is made entirely of concrete reinforced with steel and is 269 feet long with 14 concrete piers supporting the big spans of concrete, which were used in the construction of the bridge. Each slab weighs 62,000 lbs.

Louis Williams, construction foreman, who during the past 26 years has built practically all the concrete bridges between Baird and Fort Worth, as well as many on the east division, has been in charge of the building of this bridge.

A huge steel crane was used in putting the big 31 ton slabs in place. These slabs were made to certain specifications, and when the last was ready to place, much anxiety was shown by those watching the operation as to whether they would fit or not, but when the big crane let the last slab gently into place it fitted with absolute perfection, completing what looked almost impossible.

With its modern heavy steel rock ballasted roadbed, concrete bridges and culverts, and electric block signals now being installed, in addition to the modern equipment used; the Texas & Pacific railroad rates as one of the best equipped railroads in the United States.

BOMB WRECKS CHICAGO ICE CREAM PLANT

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Powerful bomb blasts rocked Chicago's west side today. The Giancana Ice Cream Manufacturing Co.'s front was wrecked. The blast shattered windows for three blocks.

THE WEATHER

West Texas: Tonight and Friday partly cloudy, occasional rains.

RAIN FALLING OVER MUCH OF WEST TEXAS

ABILENE, Sept. 27.—Rain falling from light showers to heavy downpours has fallen for three days over some 20 or more counties on the south and west properties of the West Texas Utilities Co., according to reports received in the traffic department. The area covered by the rainfall is from Whithers on the north to Junction, on the south, from Santa Anna on the east to McCamey on the west. Cool and cloudy weather is reported in the other counties served by the company.

OIL BELT EYES WILL BE UPON CISCO FRIDAY

In view of the unimpressive showing made by the Abilene Eagles in the opening game of the season, what team in the Oil Belt district at this time shows the greatest promise? That is the question being asked in the cities of the Oil Belt and the fans in other West Texas cities.

The answer is the Cisco 1928s, according to the opinion expressed in more than one newspaper in the district. The crushing defeat that the Big Dam team has administered to two opponents have caught the attention of Oil Belt grid followers to a greater extent than at any time since 1925.

For that reason, the Friday game here with Stamford will be watched with interest—many out-of-town fans coming to watch it directly while a host of others will watch it through the press afterward.

If the fans of Cisco will demonstrate their interest in the Lobos by turning out in great numbers, it will be another link in the chain of morale, of confidence and enthusiasm that will carry Cisco's team far in the 1928 season.

Ranger Bulldogs defeated Stamford two weeks ago but it was the first game of the year for Stamford and it has developed rapidly since then. Furthermore, the Bulldogs overpowered Stamford largely through skill of two triple threat backfield men who have since been declared ineligible.

Stamford will put up a stronger fight against Cisco for the season than two seasons ago the Lobos barely defeated the Jones county team and a decision which Stamford fans still dispute prevented its favorites from tying the score.

As Ranger invades Fort Worth on Friday, many fans from Ranger who are unable to spare the time to journey to Fort Worth will motor to Cisco to see the game here. Eastland does not play until Saturday as numerous Mavericks fans will be on hand. It is quite likely too that the game will be scored on behalf of El Paso, whose eleven evades Cisco next week. All indications point to a large and enthusiastic crowd and to real football weather—which is almost half of a football game.

NEW STUDENTS ENROLL AT RANDOLPH COLLEGE

New names are being enrolled by the student body of Randolph college almost daily. The latest are a young minister and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Alexander, who come to Randolph from Texas. They arrived here Tuesday. In addition to his studies at the junior college Mr. Alexander will preach for the Moran Christian congregation three Sundays in the month. T. H. Whitlock, of Graham, is also another student who enrolled at Randolph this week.

Dr. T. T. Roberts, president of Randolph college, stated this morning that he had no further information from J. W. Gates, the new business manager for the college, since the message announcing the death of Mrs. Gates last Sunday night, and did not know when to expect his arrival in Cisco.

Moody Grants Execution Stay for Fort Worth Bandit So That Appeals Court May Review Case

AUSTIN, Sept. 27.—Governor Dan Moody today granted J. K. (Bob) Silver, scheduled to die tonight in the electric chair for the murder and robbery of Roscoe Wilson, Fort Worth theater cashier, a stay of execution until Oct. 26. The governor said that it had developed that the second appeal for a rehearing of the case was filed with the court of criminal appeals two days before the court's adjournment June 30 and for that reason a new respite was given in order that the court might review the case.

Silver's fight to escape the electric chair has been one of the hardest in the history of Texas. The plea of his aged mother with a counter-plea by the mother of Roscoe Wilson that the death sentence be carried out brought the case before the entire Board of Pardons.

Wilson, cashier of the Majestic theater, was shot to death on the morning of January 31, 1927, as he was taking the theater's receipts of around $4,500 to the bank. It was on a Monday when the amount of cash he carried was doubly heavy.

Cashier Waylaid by Two
Two men lay in wait across the street from the theater for him. One was in a coupe, the engine of which was running. The other was leaning against a telegraph pole with a brief case in his hand. As Wilson drew up with him the man pulled out a pistol and ordered him to hand over the satchel containing the money.

"Please don't," Wilson pleaded as he held the satchel forward. The bandit started firing and Wilson fell. The bandit grabbed the satchel, leaped into the car and it sped away. Wilson died in an ambulance enroute to the hospital. Stone said was not the actual slayer, should not receive a heavier sentence than Stone. Silver's mother made repeated pleas for leniency while Wilson's mother insisted just as firmly that the death sentence be carried out. At one time it was reported that she and a daughter and son were preparing to attend Silver's execution if permission could be obtained.

A petition asking commutation of Silver's sentence to life imprisonment was signed by 10,000 persons on the contention that Silver, who Stone said was not the actual slayer, should not receive a heavier sentence than Stone. Silver's mother made repeated pleas for leniency while Wilson's mother insisted just as firmly that the death sentence be carried out. At one time it was reported that she and a daughter and son were preparing to attend Silver's execution if permission could be obtained.

REBEKAH ASSEMBLY HERE TONIGHT

Goodwill lodge, Daughters of Rebekah, will be host to the president of the Rebekah assembly, Mrs. Anna Savage, of Dallas, at the regular weekly meeting of the lodge at Odd Fellows' hall this evening. Every member of the lodge is urged to be present and meet Mrs. Savage, who is on tour visiting the lodges in West Texas. Wednesday evening Mrs. Savage was the guest of Ranger Rebekah and Odd Fellows' where she was tendered a reception by the members of those lodges.

Ghosts Fail to Bother Occupants of White House; Most Presidents Farmers' Sons; Only 1 Bachelor

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The American public generally may be adverse to buying or renting a house in which a former occupant has died, but it is not so with one home in the United States. No one has ever complained of "ghosts" in the white house. Yet two presidents have died in the big cool rooms of the Colonial mansion of the chief executive. Presidents William Henry Harrison and old Zachary Taylor. If there are "spirits" an interesting host must keep watch over the white house. From the frock-coated knee buckles and silk stockings they stretch down a colorful, costume corridor to the modern garb-die class. There have been few rich presidents.

All presidents except Buchanan were married, and Tyler, Fillmore, Benjamin Harrison, Roosevelt and Wilson were married twice, Tyler had the most children, seven by each of two marriages, while Washington, Madison, Jackson, Polk, Buchanan and Harding were childless. John Adams son became president, and William Henry Harrison was the grandfather of a president.

Twenty presidents went to college, several by their own efforts. Fifteen were soldiers, twenty lawyers, fourteen served in the house of representatives, twelve in the senate and nine were vice presidents. Four presidents were never elected, merely serving out the remainder of the term after a promotion from the vice presidency due to a president's death.

Eight presidents were Episcopalians, seven Presbyterians, four Methodists, four Unitarians, two Dutch Reformed, and one each, Baptist, Disciples and Congregational. One married a Catholic, President John Tyler.

Roosevelt Youngest
President Roosevelt, who was inaugurated when 42 years old, was the youngest president. William Henry Harrison, 68, was the oldest. Garfield died youngest, at 48, from an assassin's bullet, while John Adams, who lived until he was 90, died oldest.

Three presidents were assassinated, Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley. Jackson was shot at while in office, and Roosevelt, when a candidate, was wounded in 1912.

REPUBLICAN IS ACTION PARTY, HOOVER SAYS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The Republican party has always been a party of action, prosperity and progress, Herbert Hoover today told a group of first voters from Maryland and Virginia who called at his headquarters.

Hoover had a series of rather mysterious conferences with Dr. Hubert Work, national chairman, Franklin Fort, national secretary, Senator Moses and Colonel Homer Mann, southern manager. He declared that they had discussed Mrs. Isabel Walker Willebrandt.

PAROLED BOY CONFESSES TO BLACKMAILING

WACO, Sept. 27.—James Whiteley, 18, paroled from the Gatesville reformatory, has confessed to writing threatening letters to Professor J. W. Dwyer of Baylor university, detectives announced today. Whiteley denied that he meant more than fun and stated that he never appeared at the rendezvous where Dwyer was supposed to give him $500 on pain of death to himself or the kidnapping of his daughter.

NATIONALISTS KILL AND ROUT LAST OF FOES

TIENTSIN, Sept. 27.—More than 3,000 Shantung anti-nationalist soldiers have been killed by nationalists who fired upon their troop train along the route between Luanchow and Tongshan, advisers today stated. The fleeing troops constituted the last remnants of the old Shantung army. The nationalists poured a withering machine gun and rifle fire into the train as it passed. The survivors surrendered.

DRY LAW O. K. WHEN OFFICERS RIGHT—MOODY

AUSTIN, Sept. 27.—The prohibition law is well enforced in counties that have vigilant sheriffs and prosecuting attorneys, Governor Dan Moody told the sheriff's association today. He termed as mere propaganda the charge that there has been a breakdown in enforcement. He cited penitentiary records to show that there has been a material increase in conviction of violations of the prohibition laws.

JOHN COOLIDGE IN AUTO THAT IS IN COLLISION

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 27.—Alfred Veno, well known hockey star, was seriously injured when his automobile crashed with one in which John Coolidge, son of the president, was riding. Veno's mother was also slightly injured.

WACO BAPTIST PASTOR RILES CHURCH FOLKS

WACO, Sept. 27.—A bombshell was exploded among Texas Baptists today following publication in "Plain Talk," a monthly magazine published in New York, of an article entitled "Baptist Illiteracy in the South" by Dr. J. M. Dawson, pastor of the First Baptist church here. He declared that although it applied to him as a Baptist the major responsibility for illiteracy in the South rested with the Baptists.

He retortured the bitter warfare waged against college professors of known scholarship by certain Baptist papers and cited attacks upon President Brooks of Baylor university and former President Poter of Lake Forest college.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 27.—Packed streets gave Governor Al Smith, Democratic presidential nominee, an enthusiastic reception upon his arrival here today.

MORE COWS, MORE MILK, MORE MONEY' PROVES TRUE

Subscription at Entrance to Bank in Tupelo, Miss., Holds Good in Many Communities in Southland

Painted in bright red letters on a gallon milk can which swings in a large clock in front of the Bank and Trust Co. of Tupelo, Miss., there is the following inscription: "More Milk; More Money." Inside the door of the bank the farmer is asked to sign a card to make a crop on, was met by the stereotyped questioner pronounced by all Southern farmers to farmer borrowers: "How much cotton are you going to plant?" Answering that question, the farmer signed a card and went home to plant his crop. The card is a promise to put in a few more acres the next year. In either case he was always on hand when the Grand Credit-Opening took place in the Spring.

The Milk Can Enters Today, whenever he looks at the milk can he sees the milk can with its red-lettered inscription: "Let the Dairy Cow Make the Land of Milk and Money." He is handed a statement, signed by Mr. High, which tells him that the bank believes "if all the farmers in this section will plant good dairy cows and have to a hundred good hens and good brood sows on every farm, will greatly add to the prosperity of the entire section." This statement further assures him that the bank of Lee County will be glad to assist their customers to additional cows if they are in position to handle and care for them.

The Great Campaign Comes South. Sufficient dairy development already has taken place in the South to warrant the statement at natural advantages make it essentially the greatest dairying section of the country. Much of the development has come about during the last two or three years.

with the big milk products companies locating their plants in the South—in Tennessee, Mississippi, Texas and other states in which the industry is but a lusty infant. Among the great companies which have come into the South within the last two or three years are such leaders in the milk product business as Borden, Carnation, Kraft and Pet. The large manufacturers of milk plant machinery, such as the Douthitt Engineering company of Chicago, also are turning their attention to the South, with the result that independent milk products plants are springing up. Texas has two of these independent plants, one located at Marshall and the other at Sherman, producing powdered milk butter, etc. Borden condenseries are located at Starksville, Miss., and at Lewisburg, Tenn. A Borden powdered milk plant is operating at Fayetteville, Tenn. Carnation has condenseries at Murfreesboro, Tenn., Tupelo, Miss., and other points; Pet has erected several plants. Kraft cheese plants are at Durant and other points in Mississippi; at Wichita Falls, Texas, and elsewhere in the South.

Thus are new markets supplementing the demand for milk over the South. The dairy development in the past was of course slow because of restricted markets. Local consumption, retail trade in the cities, a few creameries and sour cream stations afforded virtually the only outlets for the farmer's milk. As a result, he gave little serious attention to dairying.

But now that the markets are expanding, what is the result? Wherever adequate markets open, dairy communities are springing up. Modern methods are superseding the slipshod, haphazard practices once followed in the South; and what is more important, the Southern farmer is winning his independence. Consider a typical example of the power of the dairy cow to bring about general prosperity: Starksville, Miss., site of Borden Condensery and one of the oldest co-operative creameries in the South. A few years ago the business streets of Starksville were lined on both sides with the establishments of "advance merchants"—and they numbered most of the farmers of Octobella county among their steady customers. Today there is not an advance merchant in Starksville. The farmer "got on the payroll" either at the milk plant or at the creamery. Octobella county has always been a cotton raising county. It still is, but cotton has ceased to be the sole source of cash income for the farmer. In most cases, cotton has become virtually a surplus crop. That is, cows are paying the living expenses on the farms and the cotton money doesn't have to go to pay the mortgage. The Borden plant at Starksville was put into operation in April, 1925, and received only a few thousand pounds of milk the first day it was opened. However, it was not long before the farmers came to recognize their opportunity. Today they market about 140,000 pounds of Octobella county milk at the plant every day. They have brought in as much as 189,000 pounds in a single day. Once a month the plant declares a payday, and about a hundred thousand dollars is put into the hands of Octobella county farmers. With a ready market at their door, the farmers in Octobella county are becoming dairymen in earnest. They are learning how to feed to get the best production; they are learning the value of well-bred stock; they are learning to select good individuals and are weeding out the "boarders" among their herds. Formerly, not one Southern farmer out of a dozen knew whether any particular individual cow was paying its way or not. The good and the bad were mixed indiscriminately. Not so today in Octobella county. One cow testing association is already at work with about 490 cows. Others will follow. Considerable advance registry work is going on in the county. The scrub bull is a thing of the past. Only purebred Jersey bulls are there, and about fifteen per cent of the cows in the county are pure-bred. Thus the farmers are gradually building profitable herds.

The Creamery Thrives. The other markets in Starksville is the co-operative creamery, run by the Mississippi A. & M. College there. The opinion has often been advanced that creameries are adversely affected by the establishment of condensing or drying plants. The reverse of this has proven true in Starksville. In April, 1925, a year before the market for whole milk was established, the creamery manufactured 49,161 pounds of butter. In April, 1926, at the time the whole milk market opened, the creamery produced 48,978 pounds of butter. In April, 1927, a year after the whole milk market had been established, the creamery turned out 92,981 pounds of butter.

In the opinion of dairying and marketing authorities, there will always be farmers who prefer to separate their milk market, the cream and feed the skim at home. The establishment of a whole milk market at Starksville gave Octobella farmers the assurance that they could always dispose of their production in any form. With that assurance, they immediately set about increasing production. Present production is far in excess of expectations. Furthermore, there is a decided tendency to continue the increase. The farmers are well satisfied with their markets both for cream and for whole milk. Tupelo affords another example of a section rescued by the dairy cow from the clutches of King Cotton. Not that Lee County farmers have quit raising cotton. Far from it. But, as in Octobella county, they are making their cotton more of a surplus crop, and are borrowing less money on the prospects of a few profitable barrels they hope to make.

The Bankers Get Interested. A little over a year ago a Carnation condensing plant was opened in Tupelo. Lee county production had been built to the point of providing enough surplus milk for the establishment of a plant. But it was only the beginning. Lee county bankers, recognizing the possibilities of the industry, employed a dairy specialist to work with the farmers. Today the plant is receiving about 75,000 pounds of milk a day—and production is increasing. An immense amount of educational work is being done in Lee county. Feeding, breeding and care of animals are receiving special attention. The boarders are being discovered and removed from the herds. New animals are being shipped in almost continually.

The extent of interest in dairying in Lee county may be judged by the fact that the bankers recently decided to import fifteen headers from the Isle of Jersey, and place them with farmers. These headers would cost about $500 apiece. Expensive animals—but worth every penny; worth far more, in fact, because of the stimulation of interest in better dairy animals that might be logically expected to follow their importation. Several weeks ago about 40 headers were brought into the county and distributed among the club boys and girls. These boys and girls—some of them not more than nine or ten years old—went to the banks and signed notes for the animals they got. Starting early—but they'll have real herds and real bank accounts in a few years. Whenever a market for milk or cream has been established the story is the same.

NEW CHURCH AT BAIRD TO OPEN OCT. 7

BAIRD, Sept. 27.—Arrangements are being made for the formal opening Sunday, Oct. 7 of the new $15,000 Church of Christ. An all day program is being arranged and several speakers of note will participate on this occasion. Plans are under way to secure some of the best singers of the state, and although final arrangements have not been completed the day's service are expected to draw a very large crowd. Numerous out of town people have expressed their intention of attending this event. Dinner on the ground, served in the old fashioned way, will be furnished by the Baird people. Rev. Albert S. Hall is pastor of this church and is very busy arranging for this opening. THE EASIEST WAY to keep your rooms rented is the Daily News classified way. Call 30.

ONCE CHAMP EATER QUITS—LESS THAN GALLON OF ICE CREAM

MARYVILLE, Mo., Sept. 27.—The palmy days of Tom Lyle of Pennell, Mo., one time champion of the title champion eater of the world, have passed away. Twenty years ago Lyle on a visit here, consumed a gallon and a half of ice cream and then devoured a dozen oranges. But in a recent visit here, he was unable to approach his former record. While the thermometer hovered about 102 in the shade, Lyle pronounced the weather conditions ideal. With a big stomach Lyle started on a gallon of ice cream but was able to consume only three-fourths of it. "I guess I should retire and leave the field to the youngsters," he remarked as he gave up.

T. C. U. TO MEET SIMMONS U. AT BRECKENRIDGE

FORT WORTH, Sept. 27.—The Texas Christian University Horned Frogs will invade West Texas for the first time in four years Oct. 6, when they journey to Breckenridge for a game with the Simmons University Cowboys. The Cowboys, coached by Frank Bridges, former Baylor mentor, are making a strong bid for the place in the Southwestern conference that will be left by the withdrawal of the University of Arkansas, and the showing of the team this year will materially affect their chances. The game with T. C. U. will be the Cowboys' first tilt with a member of the conference, and from indications the throng of coaches, fans and critics that will follow the teams to Breckenridge Oct. 6, will form one of the largest crowds ever to attend a football game in that section. Coach Matty Bell and Ed Kubiak are clearly counting their charges toward the Frogs and Cowboys from the Simmons game. Interest in contest is at a high pitch and a large number of Pros and Worthians are expected to see the game.

HARVEST TIME

This is the time of year when we are thinking of reaping the fruit of what we have sown. What a glorious law it is! How we can rely upon it in the large! The world has never starved to death. Men have never ceased to sow, although they are helpless to sprout a single seed. It is not by chance that we are fed. Link our gifts and common reason with the sure forces of nature, and we reap what we have sown.

So youth sits down to the desk the same law to obey. He believes that industry, mental application, the honest sowing of facts, ideas—knowledge—will bring their fruitage, and he is not disappointed. He practices at the ivory keyboard of labor to make his awkward fingers slip along the strings; he does all because HE KNOWS that certain results follow. He will reap if he faints not.

Now there is no use of dodging the question or of hoping for fate and chance to change the law. We do not want it changed. Love can not improve upon it, for Love made it so. The law of sowing and reaping is in the spiritual realm, the realm of mortals—Life itself. We will get out of life what we put into it, plus a multiplication.

What are we sowing? Let us not be foolish. Give heed to those things which make for a rich life of character, remembering that sowing and reaping are BOTH but means to the ever larger thing we call IMMORTAL LIFE. "Be not deceived, God is not mocked; whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

Itchell Co. 4-H Boys Turn in Splendid Hog-Feeding Records to Break Mark 3 Times in 2 Months

Has Faith in Youth

There is nothing the matter with our youth, declares Miss Neysa Mein, in a statement in which she announced her support of Hoover for president. "All we talk about ruined youth looks like a very sappy red herring across the trail of Mr. Hoover's wonderful humanitarian rec-

COLORADO, Sept. 27.—Splendid records have been made by Mitchell county 4-H club boys in their pig feeding work this summer. The county record for the heaviest 6-months-old pig has been broken three times in the last two months, the best pig to date weighing 324 pounds at six months of age.

William Griffith of the Loraine high school 4-H club was the first to beat the 1927 record. His pig weighed 267 pounds at 6 months of age and the cost of a pound of gain was 6 cents. He fed ground milk, skim milk and the last 90 days a pound of pig feed per day.

This record was beaten by Vernie Prescott of the Loraine club when his pig weighed 310 pounds at 6 months of age. Prescott started with a fullblood Poland China weighing 43 pounds at 2 months of age. The pig gained 267 pounds in 120 days averaging 2.2 pounds per day. The pig was fed soaked threshed milk, skim milk and 100 pounds of bought pig feed. A pound of gain cost slightly less than 6 cents.

Has Heaviest Pig

J. L. Galey of the Buford club club made his pig weigh 324 pounds at 6 months, which is probably the heaviest pig for his age ever produced in the county. His pig was a cross between a Poland China and a Duroc Jersey and weighed 85 pounds at 2 months of age. The pig was fed ground milk, skim milk and 70 pounds of bought pig feed and gained 230 pounds in the 120-day feeding period.

Don Blanshame, also of Buford, made his pig weigh 276 pounds while the heaviest of four littermates given better than average farm care weighed only 179 pounds at the same age. All the pigs of this litter had a callon of skim milk a day and all the maize they could eat. The club pig had the same ration except that the maize was fed ground instead of in the head and in addition had 100 pounds of pig feed. This difference in the ration resulted in ninety-seven pounds greater weight for the club pig over the heaviest of the other four pigs at the same age.

Raise Best Pigs

A number of other club members have pigs weighing around 250 pounds at 6 months of age. Two of the fathers of club members stated that their boys had raised the best pigs ever produced on their farms and another stated that he never again expected to feed a pig without balancing the ration with milk or pig feed.

The value of a balanced ration has been effectively demonstrated and at the same time, the records show that one pound of ground maize is better and cheaper than two pounds of head maize when fed to hogs under average farm conditions, due to the fact that a large part of the head maize is wasted and some of it is not digested by the larger weight hogs.

The pig club is under direction of County Agent W. S. Foster, who says the contest will close Oct. 1 and the boys whose pigs make the greatest gain in 120 days will be given a free trip to the 4-H Boys club encampment at the State Fair of Texas.

MANY DEAD IN FIRE THAT SWEEPS HANKOW

HANKOW, China, Sept. 27.—It is feared that many persons are dead as a result of a fire which started in a gambling den in the native city Tuesday morning. The flames spread rapidly, burning 2,000 houses and shops and raising one of the principal streets in the Chinese city. Seven bodies have been recovered and seven thousand persons are homeless.

URGES INDIANS CAST CURTIS VOTE

Indians of the United States are urged to cast their first presidential vote for Hoover and Curtis by Chief Buffalo Child Long Lance, chief of the Blackfeet, author, West Pointer and World War hero. The aborigines will cast their first vote this year under an act of Congress passed after the last presidential election, and Chief Long Lance feels that Senator Curtis' Indian blood will make him sympathetic to the Indians' needs.

JUSTIN MAN FOUND DEAD IN DE LEON

DE LEON, Sept. 27.—The body of George Brantley, 33, Justin, was found on the M-K-T station platform here Wednesday morning by Policeman L. C. Bills. Brantley's body was not identified until about noon. He is survived by a wife and three children. Witnesses said Brantley arrived on a late stage Tuesday night. Nothing more was seen of him until the policeman stumbled across his body.

TWO KILLED BY FAST TRAIN NEAR ATLANTA

ATLANTA, Sept. 27.—G. W. Sharp, 50, of Atlanta, and Joe Banks, negro, were instantly killed four miles north of Atlanta by the Texas, fast train of the Texas & Pacific, Tuesday night. Sharp is survived by his wife. The bodies were taken by the Texas to Texarkana, 29 miles distant. Funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.

Ancient Annual Tobacco Curing Process under Way in Virginia; Possum Hunting Will Be Sideline

BOYDTON, Va., Sept. 27.—Virginia today was preparing for its yearly presentation of a picture old as Crinoline days of the early colonies—tobacco curing time.

The speed of this amazing world increases, modern methods replace hand work but in the small hamlets that dot the countryside of Mecklenburg county the same old fires in the same mud calked barns that were here when Robert E. Lee surrendered to Gen. Grant are being renovated, and at night freight flickers in the woods just as it has year after year for more than a century.

All through the early part of the month the big green leaves of the tobacco have been cut and matted into a thick curtain folded over tobacco sticks. Then it was placed in barns, where today it hangs like nests of great green bats.

With Cool Days

With the first cool days will come activity. The fires in the barn flues will be lit, and the "watching" will begin. This "watching" necessitated in order that an even temperature may be maintained for the curing of the tobacco, is the most picturesque custom of the many that attend tobacco curing in its early fall. A group of farmers or negro workers remain with the tobacco from the day it is stored in the big barns, green and soft, until it is brought out ready to be carted to the markets and sold, crisp and brown.

Throughout the day they potter around the barns, watching the fire and mending old and broken equipment. At night, barefoot, they sit in the shadows that streak through the woods as the wind fans the fire this way and that, to discuss tobacco prices, politics, and the world in general, to the accompaniment of periodic snags from a cedar jug.

Few night travelers see the cheerful pictures of negroes sitting around the barns singing, whanging away on old homemade banjos, contented after the long, hot summers work.

Possum Hunting

And tobacco curing is inseparably connected with possum hunting. May are the nights when the countryside rings to the happy bark of floppy eared hounds, listless by day, but alert and happy when searching through corn fields at night, nosing a furry animal to the woods, where they will "tree" him and raise an unearthly amount of noise until the hunter's arrive, breathless.

In a few short weeks the chill happy nights beside the tobacco barns and fires will end in a general trek to the city markets. Like some migration of a nation the dilapidated trucks and cars move, procession like through the night to the markets. They start at midnight, and the gray mist of morning usually finds them waiting anxiously in some big warehouse for the staccato bark of the auctioneer who will give them gold in their hands for the brown, crisp gold they carted into the markets.

GUEST BREAKS GAME LAW, HIS HOST PAYS PENALTY

AUSTIN, Sept. 27.—The story of a man that took the blame for the killing of six curlews by one of his hunting party guests and paid the justice court's fines and costs for each bird killed, was revealed Wednesday when Governor Dan Moody restored the hunting rights to A. R. Epperson of Fort Worth. Epperson was fined in Cochran county where he had a hunting party. The governor's proclamation said reports on the case showed that the man that killed the birds "was not a sportsman and a hunter." Epperson pleaded guilty to the offenses.

Senator Heflin accuses Governor Fuller of a "false and malicious" attack. The senator ought to know what he was doing. —Springfield Daily Republican.

ISLAND HOME LOOTED WHILE FAMILY SLEEPS

One of the boldest burglaries recorded recently was committed in Island last Sunday night when the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene was entered and practically everything of their wearing apparel, jewelry and other movables were taken. Mr. and Mrs. Day were asleep in the house at the time and were not awakened by intruders. An entrance was effected by making a hole in the screen on a window, and the door unfastened. The loot amounted to several hundred dollars in value.

Tracks left in the yard indicated that two men and a woman were implicated in the burglary. It was indicated that the woman had watch behind a pivot hedge in the yard while the men entered the building and carried away loot.

HANDLING SURPLUS CROP, ORDERLY MARKETING, U.S.C.C. IDEA

Cooperative Action, Facilities for Credit Are Recommended by Business Men to Help Farmer Out

The report of the special committee on agriculture of the chamber of commerce of the United States, which has just been made public makes these recommendations:

1. Intelligent control and distribution of seasonal or annual surplus production, thus stabilizing prices and avoiding glutted markets.
2. Improved methods of orderly, efficient commodity marketing through cooperative action.
3. Development and maintenance of favorable facilities for production and marketing credit.

The report flatly states that the committee does not advocate any single piece of legislation for the solution of all the agricultural problems it has encountered and studied. Rather it has developed recommendations with a view to strengthening here and there the economic structure of American agriculture, believing these to be sound in principle as well as practicable.

Farming Overextended
Among the factors which the committee found to be contributory to the agricultural depression which began in 1920 is the general overextension of agriculture in land and equipment to the extent that the public domain. The World War stimulated production effort greatly, and much land, which ordinarily would not have come under the plow, was put into cultivation.

In many regions there is surplus land "with the seed sown" as the committee's report puts it. The World War left American agriculture vastly overextended by peace-time production. Also, farmers have had to practice tight economy since 1920 to pay off loans incurred during the period of high price levels. In an effort to liquidate indebtedness farmers have perhaps inadvertently consumed a high volume of production.

Mechanization of Farming
The report further states that farmers in order to cut cost of production have reduced the number of farm hands by substituting machinery and horse power. The net decrease in farm population in the United States in the last eight years has been about 2,350,000 or 11 per cent. In the last five years the gross value of agricultural and livestock production has decreased from $24,000,000,000 in 1919 to $17,000,000,000 in 1924, although the average educational level has increased.

The productive efficiency of the American farm has increased greatly, which may be considered to be one of the cardinal factors at the bottom of the crop surplus problem.

It is not necessary to cite more than one example of the huge cotton crop of 1926, 1927 or 1928, worth approximately $1,000,000,000, as against the $1,500,000,000 brought by the 1924 crop of 12,152,000 bales, which brought about $1,600,000,000.

Shifts from low to higher producing crops and animals resulted in the period between 1922-26 of an increase of nearly 5 per cent in aggregate crop production and approximately 10 per cent in animal production over the period 1917-1921. Labor-saving machinery has contributed its part to greater efficiency, which in turn has resulted in the crop surpluses, which have not been taken care of.

Reclamation Not Needed
After investigation of reclamation projects in the West, many of which are not nearly utilizing all the land put under irrigation, the committee urges that the bringing into cultivation of additional areas for agricultural purposes, at public expense, be delayed until such additional production of farm products can be demonstrated to be an economic need of the nation.

The marginal lands of the country are also taken to task. These are the large areas which produce crops which frequently are sold below cost of production, yet in the aggregate these unproductive acres add to the sum total of the whole, often resulting in disastrous surpluses. In order to check this evil the committee recommends strict reclamation of the land, reclamation and reforestation policies of the federal government. There is no need of reclaiming large areas in the near future whether they be remained land in the Southwest or cut-over timber lands in the Southeast, says the report.

Tariff Is Necessary
Without the tariff many American farmers would suffer from competition with foreign countries which are now going through the stage of land exploitation and lower production costs which the United States once went through, says the report. The committee recommends that the chamber of commerce of the United States reaffirm its commitment to the principle of reasonable protection for American industries, including those branches of agriculture subject to destructive competition from importations of foreign agricultural products and of all of these resources available to the farmers of the nation are being used.

READY FEAR MARKET FOUND BY R. L. POE
"It is harvest time for pears," learned R. Lee Poe, who stated that he has practically disposed of his entire crop grown on his farm in the Pleasant Hill community, where he had 300 bearing trees.

"I have sold about all the fruit to those coming to the orchard and getting them, saving me the trouble of delivery. Two trucks from Abilene were loaded out last Thursday, one carrying away 40 bushels and the other 60 bushels. A party drove down from Sweetwater in a touring car Friday, expecting to carry home a few pears for family preserving, but after seeing the fruit decided to carry back all that he could load in the car. He bought 12 bushels. An apple man from Russell, N. M., was here last week bringing a load of apples. After disposing of his produce he carried back a load of 40 bushels of pears for the Russell market. He said they had plenty of apples in Russell, but pears were scarce, and he anticipated no trouble in disposing of all he could carry back. Mrs. Henry Collins, wife of the school principal at Pioneer, was one of the last to come and load her car with pears for family preserving."

"Last week a load of 30 bushels went to Abilene and another load to Colorado City. All came to the orchard and got them."

"The pears are better than usual this year, though the crop is not as large as some previous years. These pears are the Ketter variety, and stand this climate splendidly. My orchard this year will yield about 400 bushels."

Mexican benefits have released an American engineer, having collected a ransom of $9,000. His return to the United States will not be in the nature of a goodwill tour, Akron Beacon Journal.

MORAN COTTON PROSPECTS ARE IMPROVED NOW

MORAN, Sept. 27.—Present cotton prospects are better in the Moran territory than at any period during the past three or four years. The crop matured early. The boll worm exterminated during the past month, but a good portion of the crop was made and other bolls are coming on that will make a fair crop. The Moran territory is expected to gin around 2,000 bales this year.

Sam Yeager of Putnam bought an interest in the Moran gin in the spring and spent the summer in reconditioning the gin and has added four of the newest model Mitchell boll extracting stands. These new stands give the local cotton raiser a better sample, thereby giving them a better price. Cotton is coming to Moran from all surrounding territory, some being hauled 15 or 20 miles.

Local merchants state that business is fair so far this season and are expecting one of the best years in several years. The present good prospects for cotton and a slight increase in oil activities are responsible for the improvement in business.

The feed crop in the Moran section is considered very good. A large acreage was planted to feed this year. The drought in the spring caused the crop to suffer, but rains in the latter part of the spring and during the summer have brought out plenty of feed.

Nation-Wide War to Exterminate Rats by Starvation, Eliminating Hiding Places Is Being Waged

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—A war to exterminate the rat which estimates is costing the American public about $400,000,000 annually in food consumed and property destroyed, is being waged by the United States Health Service.

Conservative figures, the health service says, place the rat population of the United States at 120,000,000, or one rat for every person. In certain places the ratio is believed to be much higher, while in localities where rodents are systematically fought, the rat population has been considerably reduced.

If the prolific breeding of rats were not controlled by disease, natural enemies and cannibalistic tendencies of the animal, the world would soon be overrun and man himself forced to fight a losing battle for scraps of food, it added.

"The general unawareness of a condition which has assumed the proportions of a grave national problem," the health service declared, "is proof of the marvelous conservatism and clinging to the past of what other campaigns, and de-

NECESSITY TO DEDICATE NEW SCHOOL FRIDAY

NECESSITY, Sept. 27.—The citizens of Necessity community will dedicate their new school building and teachers Friday night with an impressive program. The program will get under way at 8 o'clock.

J. W. Ramsey, president of the Necessity school board, and Mrs. Ute Beckman, county superintendent, Judge W. J. Arrington, county judge, will deliver the dedication address, and special musical numbers will be rendered by a church orchestra. The general public is invited to attend the dedication.

Necessity citizens have erected one of the most modern school plants in the county, following the burning of their old building last spring. A four room school building with a large auditorium has been erected, as well as a five room kindergarten and a separate cottage for the junior economic department.

Approximately 100 students attend the Necessity school, which teaches through the tenth grade.

Smith Will Keep His Promise on Law Enforcement, Hatcher Says; Prefers Him to Mellon's Tool

Declaring that as an uncompromising prohibitionist he prefers to trust Governor Smith with enforcement of the prohibition laws to Herbert Hoover, Republican presidential nominee, W. Gregory Hatcher, Texas state treasurer, has issued a statement setting forth reasons why he intends to vote for the Democratic national ticket in the general election. Governor Smith, who admits dissatisfaction with present prohibition measures, has said that he would enforce the prohibition laws and he has shown that he keeps his promises. Hatcher says while Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury and claimed to be the largest distiller in the world, head of the prohibition enforcement forces, deflated the nomination of Hoover by the Republicans.

Hatcher's statement follows: To the Democrats of Texas: The hour for straight shooting on the part of candidates, as well as individual Democrats, in my opinion, is at hand. The Democratic party in this state is now facing the greatest crisis in its history and no man can or ought to be permitted to dodge the issues involved in the coming November election.

Personally, I am a Democrat, who next to his God and his country, loves his party and who because of his love for his God and desire to best serve his country, is loyal to his party, whether I agree with all that my party stands for or not.

Next to my Democracy comes the cause of prohibition, and wherever and however I can serve that cause within my party, I shall do so to the uttermost of my ability.

I stand squarely behind every prohibition measure that has been enacted into law in this state and squarely behind the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act, and am opposed to any change whatsoever being made in the Constitutional amendment and national law, and any change being made in the state law, except to tighten it up to the extent that the same can be done under the constitution of Texas and to have it enforced, which is not now being done.

The national Democratic convention recently held at Houston did not name for president the candidate of my choice but named another, Governor Alfred E. Smith, whose views of prohibition are diametrically opposed to mine in every respect, except that he promises to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment and Volstead Act, and in this particular only does his view on the prohibition question agree with mine. However, he is unquestionably a man of his word and I least name his successor. With this prospect and record before me, were I inclined to put prohibition ahead of my party, which I am not, then and in that event, for the good of the prohibition cause alone, I would vote for Governor Smith in preference to Mr. Hoover.

I am opposed to the nullification of the Eighteenth Amendment. I have examined carefully into the records and speeches of Governor Smith, and I am convinced that he is in no wise favor of that favored the nullification of this amendment. On the other hand, I favor the nullification, to the extent that they have been nullified for the preservation of our white civilization in this Southland, of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments.

Not until after the election of a Democrat and New Yorker for president of the United States did the South get out from under the negro domination that was placed over it by the Republican party, and I am one who joined in suffrage parties held in my home county after Grover Cleveland was elected president, and helped to drive away from the ballot box negroes who had controlled the elections in that county for years.

From the English district of Illinois (Chicago) there have been removed on the Republican ticket and in November that district will vote for the congress of the United States a negro, the first of his race to sit in the American congress since the days of reconstruction. This negro has already announced that if Mr. Hoover is elected, nullification of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments as practiced in Texas and other Southern states, will cease, and his word has been passed on to the negroes of the doubtful states to secure their votes, as they have always done, the Republican ticket.

In addition to this Mr. Hoover since being named secretary of commerce issued an order that he issued an order that the like of which was never before issued by any government official, white or black, Republican or what not, placing negro men at desks in departments across from white girls.

These are facts which cannot be denied and constitute some of the reasons why I believe that the white people of the South, to any great extent, will not, and ought not to vote for Mr. Hoover, or vote the Republican ticket, for another generation at least. There are numerous affirmative reasons why Governor Smith should be elected, which I shall go into later, but it is sufficient for me to know that he is the nominee of my party to insure my support. I have been signally honored by the Democrats of Texas, many of whom are now wavering in their loyalty to the Democratic candidate, and some of whom will vote for the Republican candidate for president in the coming general election, or refuse to vote at all, and not only would it be unbecoming but it would be unjust for me to say one unkind word about any such, and I shall not do so.

While this is true, it is also true that I feel that I owe unqualified allegiance to the party of my choice, and of my fathers back to the days of Thomas Jefferson, and I am not exercising my unquestioned privilege and discharging what I believe to be my sacred duty in declaring my party loyalty, and calling upon the Democrats of my beloved state to stand by the party of their fathers, as well as mine, in the November election and vote the Democratic ticket STRAIGHT—from president to congress.

W. GREGORY HATCHER.

CALLAHAN CO. SCHOLASTICS NUMBER 3,948

BAIRD, Sept. 27. — Callahan county has 3,948 approved scholars for the present school year, BaIRD having the largest number in the county with a total of 707. Already over 500 pupils have been enrolled in the BaIRD schools and when the new additional $40,000 building is completed November 1 it is expected to increase the total attendance to nearly 700 pupils. The per capita tax is $15 per pupil, which gives Callahan county $32,227 paid by the state for school purposes.

PROVING HIMSELF MAN OF HIS WORD

James looked coldly at his friend, Brown. "A short time ago I thought you were making a mistake, you said Brown but lately I have changed my mind." "Oh! And what caused you to alter your opinion?" asked Brown. "You remember having borrowed $5 from me?" "Yes." "You said that if I lent it to you, you would be indebted to me forever." "Yes." "Well, you are keeping your word like a man."

Major Burke, Civil War Vet and Louisiana Hero, Dies in Exile in Honduras, His Refuge 40 Years

BRICKENRIDGE, Sept. 27.—A cablegram from the American consul at Tegucigalpa, Honduras, announcing the death of Major E. A. Burke, 87, has been received here by his nephew, Judge William E. Hawkins.

A life that ran the gamut of almost every human emotion and experience ended with the death of Major Burke. Starting humbly, he rose high and then sank to the depths of exile during which he refused to return his effort to remove a stigma from his name. Honduras, the place of his death, also had been the place of exile to which he fled forty years ago against an embezzlement indictment charging him with appropriating Louisiana state funds to his personal use while serving as state treasurer.

Entranced in Honduras, which refused to surrender him to the United States, the major grew old and feeble in his efforts to have the blot removed from his record of gallantry in the Civil War and service to the state of Louisiana. After numerous failures, his friends in the state finally succeeded in having the indictment quashed last February, but Major Burke still refused to return unless he officially was declared innocent of the charges.

While waiting he died and his body will be buried in his adopted land. Forty years ago Major Burke, dressed with repeated honors by his state, surrounded by influential friends and with a substantial personal fortune, sailed from New Orleans to London to interview British capital in Honduras mineral lands. While there a grand jury returned an indictment against him on charges of misappropriation $200,000. Louisiana was enraged and the major also professed amazement when the news reached him and declared he would return to face the charges.

But the major never returned. Instead he went to Honduras and stayed there to his dying day. Major Burke held a warm spot in the hearts of Louisianians, as he was given credit with doing more for Louisiana during the reconstruction days than any other man. Before him and his friends, the carpetbaggers and freed negroes were put to rest and much had been done, much yet remains to do. The meeting was attended by: Alex Clark, president; J. M. Perkins, Eastland; J. C. Smith, Rev. H. B. Johnson and Walter Harwell, Ranger; W. H. Kilgore, and Sergeant Major Ohio Venable, of Rising Star; A. A. Carter, of Cisco; L. E. Jolly, of Breckenridge; C. G. Norton, of Eastland, and Guy Quirk, scout executive. It is the right of every subscriber to the support and maintenance of the Eastland County Boy Scouts to be informed how the money has been spent and what has been accomplished. This was the opinion generally voiced at a meeting of the executive committee. Arrangements are now being made to give widespread publicity to the financial status of the Boy Scouts. In addition to letters that will be sent to those subscribers living outside the cities, speakers are to be named to address the Rotary and Lions clubs of Ranger, Cisco and Eastland, and the Lions club of Breckenridge, and inform the Rotarians and Lions, nearly all of whom subscribed to the support of the Boy Scouts, how their money has been spent and what a lot of good it is doing.

MISS MINTA LAY AND O. J. TUNNELL MARRIED

The marriage of Miss Minta Lay and O. J. Tunnell, two popular young people, has been announced. This event was solemnized Sept. 19, at Meridian, Texas, by Rev. R. W. Nation, pastor of the Meridian Methodist church. The officiating minister was an old friend of the father of the groom, the late Rev. J. S. Tunnell, a Methodist minister. In the ceremony the ring service was used. Immediately after the marriage Mr. and Mrs. Tunnell left on a brief bridal trip to Waco and Dallas.

Mr. Tunnell, who is well known in Cisco, is the son of Mrs. J. S. Tunnell, and is district chief clerk of district B of the West Texas Utilities Co. Mrs. Tunnell is a daughter of Hugh A. Lay, of Los Angeles, Cal., but formerly resided in Fort Worth where she was a member of the 1921 graduation class of Central high school. Mrs. Tunnell has lived in Cisco for the past three years where she holds the position of stenographer for the Bedford-Carriage Cat Stone Co., and it was here she met the man who has chosen her for his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Tunnell will be at home to their friends at 436 West Seventeenth street.

PARIS DRESSMAKERS EMPHASIZE DETAIL

PARIS, Sept. 27.—It must still be the little things that count, according to the smart French dressmakers who are putting more emphasis on detail than ever before. Four fashions showing the barest fullness on a slightly bell shaped skirt is one novel note. The use of large flat buttons on hip yokes and side closings is interesting and new. Tunics over narrower skirts take on unusual lines, sometimes dropping down in points a few inches below the underskirt giving a most conservative interpretation of the uneven hemline.

A large applique or knitted motif in new and delicate patterns. Another new note is introduced with some of the cuff workings. Coats often have fur cuffs from wrist to elbow or longer and the Richard silhouette of sleeve emphasize it. Some of the new collars have a hint of the popular kerchief and others are in the form of a wide band of fur wound about the throat. The ends slipped through a slit forming a stiff butterfly bow at the side or front. Others have a long narrow paddle shaped cloth scarf which hangs from the neck in the middle of the front.

SPLENDID MUSICAL NUMBERS FEATURE REVIVAL SERVICE

Mineral Wells Singers Add to Effectiveness; Large Audience Hears Dr. Hogg in Earnest Plea

Despite the severely cool weather which just preceded the hour for the evening service last night, the largest crowd of the week gathered at the tabernacle last night to enjoy the special musical program which was given by the splendid chorus choir, assisted by Mrs. Elina Beck White and Miss Priscilla Steger of Mineral Wells with Mrs. Bernard Webb at the piano and to hear Dr. Hogg deliver his appealing message on "The Invitation of Jesus."

The weather moderated considerably after the service was in progress and so the folks had come with warmer wraps everyone was apparently comfortable and enjoyed the inspirational service to the fullest. Dr. Hogg delivered his message with his usual earnestness and effectiveness emphasizing the simplicity of the gospel and the fact that any man, regardless of past sins, could, if he would, have pardon in accordance with Jesus' Christ and surrender to His will. The message was especially illustrated by the biblical story of the conversion of Matthew Levi and by incidents taken from Dr. Hogg's own experience. At the conclusion of the message Dr. Hogg gave a brief appeal, but did not press it. Several conversions were reported after the service had left the building.

Mr. Rodgers last night, at the suggestion of the local business committee in charge of the offering of a free-will love offering for Dr. Hogg, distributed to every person in the audience a specially prepared envelope containing a check and a complete picture of Dr. Hogg, and asked the people to take the envelopes home with them and bring them back at any of the remaining services with their contributions to Dr. Hogg in appreciation of his services here for the past four weeks. No collection was taken at the service last night and all factors affecting the collection will be for Dr. Hogg personally, at either expense of the musician, including compensation of the other members of the choir, having already been cared for.

True to promise that special musical program would feature the preliminary service, the choir of some 100 or more, the large choir was on the platform promptly and Dr. Hogg's aid in the singing of several of the beautiful choruses which have won the hearts of the people. He then introduced to the audience Mrs. White and Miss Steger who sang with beautiful effect the first part of "Near My God is Thee" in an arrangement of "Whispering Hope" with the choir supporting them on the choruses. The next special number was a big favorite with the crowd, "Benedict Be the Name of Jesus," with Mrs. White carrying the solo solo with even more brilliant effectiveness than on the previous occasion when she sang for the revival services. Just before Dr. Hogg's sermon, Mrs. White sang an effective and appropriate song, "Have You Forgiven God?" so impressively that the singer was almost hidden behind the message of her song. All numbers were warmly received by the big crowd and the congregational numbers were singing and inspiring. Mr. Rodgers, shortening his program considerably and ran through the program quickly in order not to hold the crowd in the open too long, using only the visiting talent in the special numbers and reserving the remainder for the service.

The entire service last night occupied considerably less time than usual and the heavens reached their homes at an early hour. Mr. Rodgers called for the loan of wagon shafts and tent walls last night with which to wall in the tabernacle and render it more comfortable for the remaining services in the event of a continuation of the cool weather.

Another large crowd heard Dr. Hogg in a great message this morning on "The Christian's Source of Supply." Tonight he is to preach on "The Unpardonable Sin."

PITHY PARAGRAPHS FROM HOGG

There are four looks. There is the backward look which is a sign that you are getting old. There is the forward look which is a sign that you are a progressive forward looking man. There is the upward look which is the sign that you are a man of faith and eternal perspective.

Do you know what a worldly woman is? She is an impatient woman who will wait to wait on the promises of God for pleasure and satisfaction but says "I'm going to have mine now." Those that "see" Christ are identified with those that "see" Him. They are not the "the" which are not rather those things which shall appear.

On Tuesday night a committee composed of the pastors of the churches and representative laymen from each church met and discussed plans for the raising of a free-will love offering for Dr. Hogg which will be his only remuneration for his services here in accordance with the plans outlined at that time. Mr. Rodgers last night distributed special collection envelopes to the audience asking that they be returned if possible by Friday night at latest before the closing service on Sunday night by each individual with his contribution for Dr. Hogg in appreciation of his services here. Announcement was made that the envelopes will be turned over to the pastor of the church of which the donor is a member and their church will also get credit for their contribution on their annual budget for missions and evangelism. The committee in charge of this offering is composed of the following laymen: together with all pastors, Alex Spears, E. P. Crawford, G. A. Garrett, J. E. Spencer, B. W. Patterson, A. I. Scales, E. J. Pae, treasurer, L. D. Wilson, C. R. West, E. B. Isaacks, Wm. Reagan, George Winston, Dr. F. E. Clark, John Thomas, Elmer Berry, A. E. Armstrong, Mr. Mason, J. D. Hall, and C. N. Clifton.

Dr. Hogg awarded souvenir Bibles last night to the following young people: Helen McKisick, Charles McKisick, Ann Dawsell and Bill Ed Hightsmith.

Prescriptions are very important and two things about getting them filled are all important—

They must be filled by a careful, competent, registered pharmacist. No mistake must ever occur in their compounding. It might be serious or even fatal to the patient.

They must be compounded from fresh, active medicines, else there will be no healing properties and in addition, old chemicals are sometimes positively harmful when taken into the system.

FUTURE FARMERS CLUB ORGANIZED AT CISCO HIGH SCHOOL

Vocational Agriculture Pupils Name Officers; Organization Is Part of Movement in 12 States

The vocational class of the Cisco high school is now an affiliated unit of the F. F. T. clubs of Texas, an organization consisting of the present and former years' students of vocational agriculture in the high schools. The Future Farmers' club is now functioning in twelve Southern states in schools where vocational agriculture is taught.

The Cisco class in vocational agriculture met Tuesday morning and organized as a unit of the Future Farmers Clubs of Texas by electing the following officers and executive committee: Glen Kinard, president; N. L. Taylor, vice president; Arlin Burt, secretary; Carlson Yenger, treasurer; E. H. Varnell, advisor and sponsor; Ben Camp, reporter; Willie Phipps, executive committee; Eldon Burt, executive committee; Garland Ramsey, executive committee.

There are a few of the things that the F. F. T. club has planned to do during this club year:

Sponsor the entry of 2 to 4 teams at the annual judging contest held at A. & M.

Beautifully the high school grounds by grading and leveling ground at rear of building, setting out Bermuda grass, planting shrubbery, etc.

Conduct an agricultural program in chapel.

Hold a father and son banquet for members of the club and their fathers.

Annual fishing trip for members of the club.

At least one written story during the year from each boy on his project.

Help promote a dairy show in Cisco during November by constructing "Instruction Booths" as follows: Show a balanced ration; show how to construct a safety bull pen; showing profits from Cisco sweet cream routes; showing contrasts in profits from a good cow and the average cow. Sponsor dairy development by doing systematic cow testing free of charge; have every boy present a ton litter entry; class to set a goal of 1,000 acres of land to be irrigated.

PETROLEUM HIGHWAY LOGGING COMPLETED

BRECKENRIDGE, Sept. 27.—The mapping and logging of the Petroleum highway, a good road project started by the Breckenridge chamber of commerce for a highway which will serve "the oil men from Tulsa, Okla., to Chihuahua, Mexico, has been completed and copies of the proposed trail received here, according to W. S. Cooper, secretary of the local chamber of commerce. According to Mr. Cooper, the highway is so arranged through the Oklahoma and Texas oil fields that it can be reached from any direction within an hour's drive.

H. C. BAGWELL MURDER TRIAL OPENS MONDAY

BRECKENRIDGE, Sept. 27.—The first case to appear on the criminal docket in the 90th district court here Monday is that of H. C. Bagwell, 43, dairyman, charged with murder of Otha (Peg) Lane, 26, taxi driver, early in the morning of July 28 at the Bagwell home two miles east of town.

Bagwell was released on $5,000 bond since he gave himself up to local officers immediately following the fatal shooting. Recently he moved his family of a wife and three daughters to Sweetwater, but will appear here in court Monday to face the charges against him.

Bagwell and his attorneys will enter a plea of self defense, according to the statements made by Bagwell after the shooting. In relating the fatal shooting of the taxi driver, Bagwell said that on the morning of the shooting, he had returned home late from a business trip to Abilene and was tired. Soon after he retired to his bed, Bagwell said that Lane and a companion came to his home and were talking with his wife.

When Lane was asked to leave he didn't do it, Bagwell related. He was asked several times to go away. Then, the accused man related, Lane stepped back, put his hands to his hip as if to draw a pistol, and Bagwell started firing, killing Lane instantly.

Local officers later said that Lane had no pistol on his person when they arrived on the scene. Lane was a taxi driver here at the time of his death, and had lived here for many years. Bagwell was formerly in the dairy business here and in surrounding communities.

According to Bagwell's wife her husband fired five shots at Lane, two of them taking effect.

CRIME TOTALS INFLUENCED BY TEMPERATURE

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Temperatures apparently has a marked effect on crime, according to a study covering a period of six years, just completed by Edwin G. Dexter. The survey was made in New York and Denver.

The number of arrests, Dexter found, increased regularly with the rise of the thermometer. But at 85 degrees crime of violence began to decrease. Extremely hot weather may make a man feel like fighting but it also takes away the desire to put his inclination into action.

Studies made in many countries seem to indicate that temperature has its effect on the kind of crime committed. Assault and battery, murder and crimes against morals reach their maximum during July and August. In winter, crimes against property are in the ascendency. John Lewis Gillin, professor of sociology of the University of Wisconsin, has given the following explanation:

"In summer, people get out of the houses more, contacts are more numerous, the opportunities for disagreement are greater, and consequently, there is a greater possibility of personal violence than in winter.

TEXAS LEAGUE CHAMPS DROP OPENING GAME

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 27.—"Wild Bill" Hallahan of the Houston Buffaloes, Texas League champion, was right but Eddie Wells of the flag-winning Birmingham Barons of the Southern Association was more so and the first game of the Dixie series here yesterday went to the Barons, 7 to 0. Hallahan allowed seven hits to five for his opponent. A single, two walks, a sacrifice fly and an error resulted in the only runs of the game.

There is some evidence to support the theory that heat exerts an influence upon the action of the nervous system," Dexter said. Cloudy weather was found to be the most from personal encounters due to the depressing influence of moods. Dexter believes that murders increase during excessive, dry periods and seems to accompany high winds.

On the other hand, cold indirectly produces crimes against property by reason of the fact that in winter economic need is greater, seasonal occupations are closed down, and therefore, money is scarce with which to buy the necessities of life. The temptations to steal are consequently greater than in the summer.

BLUE BONNET TRIO ON DESEMONA PROGRAM

The Blue Bonnet Trio, a musical organization composed of young Cisco women, furnished the music Wednesday night at the chautauque now being held at Desdemona for the benefit of superannuated ministers. Dr. J. T. McKinnock of Randolph college, was in the program and made an interesting address. The chautauque is being held in the high school auditorium, which was well filled for the program Wednesday evening. Those from Cisco who attended the entertainment were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jensen, Dr. J. T. McKinnock, Mrs. Ben Krauskopf, Misses Oual Hale and Ruth Jensen.
