RAILROAD INCOME INCREASES

The net income of railroads operating in Texas shows an increase of 7.55 per cent during the first seven months of 1928 as compared with a like period in 1927. This amounts to the same increase of $1,147,927, despite the fact that both freight and passenger earnings fell off. The increase in net income was due to a decrease in all major items of operating expenses. The decrease in passenger traffic was due to private automobile and motor bus travel, and some of the decrease in freight receipts was attributable to competing truck lines. Both bus and truck lines are offering quicker service in most cases than the railroads and deliveries at destinations closer to business centers. Greater frequency of both bus and truck trips also tends to make them more popular.

COTTON GOES BY TRUCK

Each of the cotton from interior points in Texas is now going by trucks to Houston, Corpus Christi and other coastal shipping points. Egin reports that truck shipments from that point to Houston run from 150 to 200 bales a day, trucks being loaded with from 15 to 25 bales each, and making a trip every 24 hours. Shippers say that the great advantage in truck shipments is that when the cotton is loaded it goes right through to the port without delay in railway yards for days, or switched off at sidings. The railroads are going to have to give quicker service or they will eventually lose most of the local freight shipments. The public is looking always for better service and turns to the agencies supplying it.

CORPUS CHRISTI PORT

Business at the port of Corpus Christi is increasing at a marvelous rate, providing that the development of that port was a great economic need. Foreign ships are loading and unloading there from all seaports. Cotton shipments are especially heavy, much cotton being loaded at Corpus Christi that otherwise would have to go by longer freight hauls to Houston or Galveston. Corpus Christi has become the popular port of a vast area of the richest part of Texas.

POINT ISABEL PORT PROJECT

If government requirements are met by the people of the Lower Rio Grande Valley, Point Isabel will become another important Texas port. The requirements are $600,000 in cash and title to some islands in Point Isabel, on securing which the government will make $1,000,000 appropriation for port development and budget $150,000 annually for maintenance as recommended by its engineers. This will provide convenient and quick outlet for the large cotton crop and vegetable output of the Valley and result in complete development of that part of the state. It seems that all that is now needed is the cooperation of that section in meeting the requirements.

FALLS COUNTY BOND ISSUE

Plans are being formulated for a $2,000,000 road bond issue for Falls county. A large part of this—nearly half—is to be used for retiring outstanding district road bonds and the rest for improving its state-designated highways, of which Falls county has six two of them traversing the entire length of the county.

WEST CHEESE FACTORY

West is to have a cheese factory; the first to be built in that part of the state. West and the surrounding country is populated largely by thrifty farmers of Bohemian descent and it is a safe prediction that they will make a success of the enterprise and that it will make money for the owners and the farmers.

LOCKHART'S CREAMERY

Lockhart has a co-operative creamery, which has been running only a short while. Because of the fact that it started right at cotton picking time, it is not running yet to its capacity. Citizens of Lockhart already see one great advantage from it. Dairymen now sell their milk to the creamery, and instead of having a half dozen or more milk trucks rushing all over town and awakening the people at early morning hours, orderly delivery is made by the creamery at a great saving of noise and expense. The creamery products may also be bought from the grocery store and meat markets.

TEACHING BY CONTRAST

The Lulime Foundation Farm, which is the Edgar B. Davis enterprise conducted for the special benefit of the farmers of Caldwell, Gonzales and Comal county farmers, is making an unusual exhibit at the county fairs. The exhibit consists of good types of feeders, sheep and hogs shown side by side with poor and unprofitable types. Figures are given

CARDINALS TO MEET YANKEES IN BIG SERIES

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Yankees will renew the hostilities of 1926 in the world series of this year. The Cardinals clinched the National League pennant when they defeated the Boston Braves at Boston 3 to 1 while the New York Giants were leading the Chicago Cubs for the third time in four days by a score 6 to 2. Had the Cardinals lost and the Giants won the championship would have been decided when the teams meet at the Polo grounds here tomorrow in the closing game of the league season. The world series will start here Wednesday. A second game will be played Thursday and the teams will travel Friday. The next three games will be played in the Missouri city beginning Saturday. If a sixth game is necessary it will be played here and the seventh game, if also necessary, will be decided by the toss of a coin. The Cardinals defeated the Yankees in 1926 classic which went the limit of seven games.

HOUSTON WINS THIRD GAME OF DIXIE SERIES

HOUSTON, Sept. 29.—Thirteen thousand fans saw the Houston Buffaloes, Texas League champions, win the first game of the Dixie series on Texas soil here today when they outscored the Birmingham Barons to the tune of 6 to 4. The first two games of the series in the Alabama metropolis were won by the Barons. Pitching good ball, Jim Lindsey held the Barons to one hit and one run until the eighth inning when they scored three times. The Texas pitcher Luther Roy in the early part of the game for five of their six scores. The score—R.H.E. Birmingham . . . 061 000—4 6 2 Houston . . . 301 100—6 12 0 Batteries: Roy, Francis, Moran and Yarran, Cooper, Lindsey and Jonnard.

MORE HUMBLE EMPLOYEES TO MOVE TO CISCO

The Humble Pipe Line Co. is concentrating the residential headquarters of the company in Cisco and will bring several families to this city just as soon as desirable residences can be secured for the families of employees. To facilitate the coming of these families the chamber of commerce is assisting the Humble company in securing desirable residences. These people will be permanent residents and most desirable citizens. Those having desirable residences for rent of from three to six rooms can help locate the new people by calling the chamber of commerce, telephone number 365. Cisco will welcome these new citizens, as they will mean quite an addition to the population. It is stated that four families will be included in the first employees to move to Cisco, but others will come later, as the company is concentrating its employees in Cisco, which will be residential headquarters for a large per cent of the pipe line workers. It was not stated definitely how many families will ultimately be moved to Cisco.

PRESIDENT INTERVENES IN RAILROAD DISPUTE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—President Coolidge today intervened in the wage dispute between 96 western railroads and 70,000 conductors and trainmen by appointing an emergency board with bringing the employes and railroads together.

LEADING REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPER CONDEMNNS HOOVER SPOKESWOMAN

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general in the Republican administration and a high official in the Republican convention which nominated Hoover, replies to Governor Smith's charges against the Republican campaign manager based on her recent conduct, and fails utterly to answer the charges. The fact remains that the Republican candidate and the Republican campaign managers have permitted an official of the national government to appeal to religious groups to defeat the opposition candidate. How the Willibrandt incident is viewed by honest Republican journals is exemplified by this editorial quotation from the Chicago Tribune, one of the leading Republican newspapers of the country: "Governor Smith holds the Republican party management responsible for some of the whispering campaign. He has disregarded the advice of some of his friends that he ignore this feature of the campaign. His personal inclination is to take up the fight, and his political judgment evidently supports his fighting instinct. "Naturally, in seeking to make the whispers odious he will seek to make the opposing party managers carry the odium. That is good politics, even if his reputable party opponents would not demean themselves to slander him as a candidate. But in one instance Governor Smith scores soundly, and that is in his reference to Mrs. Mabel Willibrandt, assistant attorney general, who has been given so much to do in the prohibition enforcement. "Mrs. Willibrandt is a federal officeholder under a Republican administration. Mr. Smith calls attention to what she said, speaking to the Ohio conference of the Methodist church in Ohio, when she urged the clergymen to appeal directly to the 600,000 members of their church in that state. By any construction of her language she appealed to religious prejudices and urged that they be stirred and used against the Democratic candidate. "That was not done by an obscure whisperer, but by a federal officeholder who has made herself strangely conspicuous in her application of the Volstead act in certain selected regions. IT IS AN ACT FOR WHICH AN OFFICIAL SHOULD BE REMOVED FROM OFFICE. Governor Smith says that the silence of the administration gives sanction, and that stands as an effective charge until it is answered equally effectively. "The administration has permitted one of its conspicuous officials to promote a church war in a presidential campaign, an instance of pernicious political activity which it would be hard to equal. The only adequate squaring of this episode would be THE REMOVAL OF THE OFFENDER FROM OFFICE. Government silence condones or supports it."

TO ORGANIZE CISCO TRADE ASSOCIATION

Considerable discussion among Cisco business men has been had regarding the organization of what will probably be termed the Cisco Trade Extension association, with all Cisco business and professional men and others interested in the welfare of this city, eligible for membership. As a result of these discussions a meeting will be called some time this week for the purpose of organizing. Already 15 or 20 local business men have endorsed the movement. The objective of such an organization will be to attract trade to Cisco that is not coming here now, through such inducements as thought advisable.

Duncan and Grasty Win Way into Final Round of Country Club Golf Tournament; Meet This Afternoon

T. J. (Jeff) Duncan and Mingo E. Grasty emerged victorious over the field of 32 golfers participating in the annual championship golf tournament at the Cisco Country club and will play the final match to decide the championship for 1928 this afternoon starting at 2 o'clock. Duncan reached the finals by defeating J. W. Love, A. H. Becker and J. R. Almond, while it was necessary for Grasty to eliminate T. C. Williams, W. T. Graham and George M. Simpson. The opponents to a tight match between these golfers, both having clinched the medals in the qualifying rounds, while Grasty eliminated the 1927 champion, W. T. Graham, which should about square accounts as it was none other than Graham that put Grasty out of the picture in the previous tournament. Duncan will be trying for the championship for the third time, having emerged to the finals in both the last two tournaments, but suffering defeat both times. Matches in the second and third flights have been completed and the honors go to C. C. Moore and W. W. Wallace. C. C. Moore is the champion of the second flight through his defeating J. A. Lash in the final round for this flight. W. W. Wallace defeated Homer Slicker for the championship of the third flight. Moore defeated W. W. Brown, Garland Shepherd and J. A. Lash to win his flight while Wallace defeated W. B. Statham, Nick Miller and Homer Slicker for the championship of the third flight. The final match in the championship flight which takes place this afternoon will be played to determine who will become the winner of a silver trophy cup presented to the club champion each year by the president of the Country club. This cup will be presented to the winner immediately after the match has been completed by President Wallace. Any one desiring to witness this match this afternoon is welcome on the club grounds as a visitor and indications point to quite a gallery to see these players battle it out for the club championship.

Randolph Opens Season with 6-2 Victory over McMurry; Redskins Unable to Cross Goal in Pinches

Fighting with blood-stained faces and gnashed teeth, the Randolph Badgers, Cisco's collegiate pride, defeated the McMurry Indians Saturday afternoon, 6-2. It was the closest and hardest fought game seen on Chesley Field since the Lobo-Eagle clash of 1926, and one of the most exciting ever seen here. McMurry, last year's T. I. A. A. champion, came to Cisco a heavy favorite to win, but were met by a group of determined fighting Badgers, who accomplished the seemingly impossible. Both teams fought through the whole first quarter without a score. Randolph had advantage in yardage gained, although McMurry looked the most impressive. At the beginning of the second quarter, Randolph got the ball on the McMurry 25 yard line. Coach Medley of the Indians, who had pulled a Knute Rockne trick and started his second string against the Badgers, immediately rushed in his first team in an effort to start off a touchdown. But the damage was already done for on the next play, Wax shot a bullet pass to Yeager, who sped to the 4 yard line before he was downed. From there Wax split right tackle for a touchdown. Banks' try for goal was blocked, making the score 6-Randolph. The remainder of the half was spent in pinches, by which Randy gained. At the close of the half, however, McMurry had the ball on the Badger 10 yard line and was desperately trying for a marker.

CARNES SAYS BLACKMAILERS RUINED HIM

WINNIECO, Kan., Sept. 29.—"Blackmailers ruined me," Clinton C. Carnes, under arrest for the embezzlement of $1,000,000 of Baptist funds at Atlanta, Ga., told detectives here today. "People who knew my past were continually blackmailing me and I finally got into a shape that there was nothing else to do except run away. My affairs had gotten so black that I could bear it no longer," he said. "Discussing charges that he had taken more than $1,000,000 of Baptist funds Carnes declared he never would say in answer to a question, whether he had taken any of the funds of the Home Mission Board. He has agreed to return to Atlanta voluntarily."

J. A. FLORES, 84, CALLAHAN CO. PIONEER, DEAD

BAIRD, Sept. 29.—John A. Flores, 84, retired cattleman, one of Callahan county's oldest, if not the oldest original settler, died this morning at 8 o'clock at the home of his son, J. A. Flores, where he has made his home for the past few months. Funeral services will be held at the home at 1 p. m. Sunday, conducted by Rev. C. S. Wright, pastor of the Methodist church, and Rev. C. A. B. B. Baptist minister, with interment at the Plain cemetery. Mr. Flores was a Catholic, being a member since childhood. Uncle John, as his numerous friends knew him, came to Callahan county in 1874, settling in the central part on Pecan Bayou. He came here when the famous old 74 Ranch was established by Jasper McCoy and C. W. Merchant, two of West Texas' oldest pioneers. He was a nephew of Merchant. Mr. Flores joined the Confederate army when he was 16 and spent four years in the infantry. He married Miss Mary Slack in 1868, at Pilot Point, Denton county. To this union seven children were born, two boys and five girls. His wife died January 10, 1914, and two sons and three daughters survive him—Bays, Willie Flores Barnhill, Baird; Mrs. Betty Benham, Cisco; Mrs. Carl Young, Tulsa; J. M. Flores, Baird; and Claude Flores, Belle Plain. The old Flores home seven miles south of Baird is the first building erected in Belle Plain and was built by C. W. Merchant. It was originally used as a church and school house but in later years was remodeled for a residence. It is now occupied as the country home of Claude Flores. In 1928 oil was discovered on the Flores estate and today there are 43 producing wells on the tract.

OUSTING FROM COMMITTEE OF BOLTER O.K.'D

FORT WORTH, Sept. 29.—In a far-reaching decision handed down here today the second district court of civil appeals held that the Wichita county Democratic executive committee had acted within its authority in ousting J. W. Nicholson from the committee because of his refusal to support the national ticket. The case was appealed from Wichita county when the 93rd district court at Wichita Falls upheld Nicholson and granted an injunction restraining the committee from declaring Nicholson's place vacant. Edgar Scurry, county chairman, filed an appeal from the lower court's ruling. The civil appeals court here reversed the lower court and held in effect that party loyalty is a condition to party honors. The court declared Nicholson in seeking relief against equitable grounds did not come into court with clean hands.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILE

INDIANS SCORE BY SAFETY

In the beginning of the third quarter, the Indians worked the ball deep into Badgerland, and seemed on the verge of a early Randolph's line then stiffened, and McMurry was held for downs in the shadow of Randy's goal. Wax tried to punt, but it was blocked. There was heavy silence in the stands as the players were all piled up but when the dust had cleared away, Wax had recovered the pigskin behind his own goal. This gave McMurry a safety, but four points better than a touchdown, which it would have been except for some fancy diving by Wax. This ended the scoring for the day, but not the thrills. With only five minutes to play, Poole shot a pass to Hale who raced to the Badger five yard line. Three thrusts at the line failed, and then Poole's fastest man in the T. I. A. A. sped around right end. But before he had progressed very far, Nard brought him down. And so the game ended.

BADGERS COVERED WITH GLORY

The whole Randolph team deserves a world of praise for its spunk and grit. To name individual stars would be difficult for the Badger team worked and fought like terrors, but the work of Wallace Nard, versatile, fighting, little end stood out. He was in every play of the game, and although the lightest man on either squad, he stood out as perhaps the brightest star of the day. Injured by a deep spike wound on his leg, he refused to go out of the game. Bill Smith, last year's Lobo captain, was the mainstay on defense, but he was more than ably assisted by Mayer, Melton, Christian, Burleson, and Beard. In the backfield, B. Wax, heady quarter, scored his team's only point, and kept the enemy well in their territory by his long, high soxals. Captain Yeager, Couch, and Banks all played a whole of a game by their ripping thrusts at the line and their ability to knock down tandem passes.

NO SKIN OFF HER.

A woman out walking with her dog was strolling by a place where a flock of chickens were on the lawn catching bugs and otherwise disporting themselves as chickens are wont to do.

The dog ran into the yard and began to chase the fowls. He tried to catch first one and then another, but had succeeded only in pulling out a few tail feathers when the owner of the flock appeared and drove the dog off.

The woman watched the entire proceedings quite complacently. What did she care? They weren't her chickens. And when she came back from her walk, the same episode was repeated. The dog chased the chickens. The owner ran the dog off. The woman looked on indifferently.

Had that situation been reversed, had the man who owned the chickens taken his dog out for a walk, and the dog run into the woman's yard and attacked her chickens, and the man hadn't yelled, "Here, Tige, here!" and whistled and commanded and otherwise endeavored to dissuade his beast from its pestiferous activities, wouldn't that woman have been furious? Wouldn't she have given the neighbors an awful about that man? We'll say she would!

Wouldn't this be a much nicer world if everybody in it would give as much consideration to the other fellow's feelings and protection as he wants given his own feelings and protection? Wouldn't this be a much easier sphere in which to get along if no person would do a thing to another person that he wouldn't want that other person to do to him?

Suppose we leave the great temptations out of the picture. Suppose we do not consider the things that we merely desire to do which are to someone else's disadvantage or distress. Let us contemplate merely those matters in which one who offends or inconveniences or injures has no vital self-interest at stake.

A motorist parks his car in front of a driveway so that no car can get in or out; parking there is no large matter to that man; he could easily find another place to leave his machine. Folks come into the theater in the midst of a performance and stand up and argue about who shall sit in this seat and who in that, and take plenty of time getting off their wraps, the while cutting off the view from those in whose line of vision they are, and distracting everyone within sound of their voices. Persons throw fruit peelings on the sidewalks for other persons to slip on, and toss bottles onto the highway for others' tires to be cut on. Persons get wrong numbers and snap out "Oh, the devil!" and jingle the hook in the ear of the wrong number. Persons going nowhere in particular and in no particular hurry to get there, elbow their way through the throngs and crash into passers-by and tread on their feet. Persons won't move along in pews, compelling others to crawl over them, or fall over them, or sit elsewhere.

If all the crimes that are committed were big crimes there wouldn't be much crime. It is the vast number of little crimes piled one upon another that make the world so criminal.

If all the discourtesies that are committed were big discourtesies there wouldn't be much discourtesy. It is the vast number of small discourtesies piled one upon another that irritate and aggravate and make unhappy the souls of mankind.

And between you and the writer and the station, indifference to the other fellow's feelings and welfare is the stuff that crimes are made of.

PYRAMIDED PROFITS.

It is expected that General Motors will "recommend a readjustment in its capital structure" in November. This language is meant to convey the idea that there is to be a new stock distribution and an increase in regular dividend payments. General Motors has done very well in this line, and may do still better. Its regular cash dividends have been supplemented by special cash dividends and occasional stock dividends, until original investments bring in an enviable rate of income—not so enviable as in the case of Ford stock, but very comforting. In the present year the corporation has made more money in nine months than in all of last year, which was a very prosperous year for it. General Motors is merely a conspicuous example of what has become a regular practice in recent years among successful corporations. It is an interesting phenomenon to anyone who remembers the time when "watered stock," first made famous by the "capital structure" of the U. S. Steel Corporation, was a familiar term of reproach in the realm of big business. Since U. S. Steel and other big brethren have plowed in their own stock issues, and gone right ahead repeating the same thing, the public has come to view the proceeding as a thing of course, and has come to view the proceeding as a thing of course, and has come to view the proceeding as a thing of course. Excess profits are being turned into new capital stock, which naturally pected thereafter to pay dividends, and usually does. Then as profits mount up again, there may be new stock issues distributed as dividends, to earn new profits, and so on in a course that can end only with the end of prosperity. Only occasionally does some old-fashioned economist rise up to remark that all this capitalizing of profits imposes an unfair burden on the consuming public, and that more of the profits ought to go to the consumers in the form of lower prices. As long as prices are falling anyway, with growing production, the critics are ignored.

THE BIGGEST FLAT.

The home requirements of John Merkle, New York coal magnate, are few and simple. All he wants is a duplex, 45-room apartment covering the two top-most floors of a sky scraper, with two dozen bathrooms, four private elevators, 26 extension telephones, three kitchens and 18 rooms for servants, along with a $250,000 marble stairway and a few other little original features, and of course appropriate furniture for the rooms and enough servants to take care of them. Quite an establishment! It will be the largest apartment in the world, and one of the most luxurious. And it will be occupied merely by a 70-year-old bachelor. How big a flat would that man need if he had a family?

BORDER LIQUOR.

A resolution approved by the Assembly of the League of Nations, in its present meeting at Geneva, condemns the smuggling or bootlegging of hard liquor across international borders. The resolution recognizes, according to the interpretation in a cable from Geneva, "that it is the business of a government to stop contraband trade that is carried on in violation of treaties." Americans, reading this, and knowing of the vast smuggling traffic in alcoholic liquors carried across our northern border, to the profit of Canadian liquor interests, with the apparent connivance of the Canadian government, naturally wonder what Canada will do about it.

BACK IN THE FOLD.

Costa Rica, the little Central American country which withdrew from the League of Nations a couple of years ago, has returned and is taking an active part again in the work of that body at Geneva. Some other members whose interest or loyalty wavered for a while, for one reason and another, are back in the fold. The League seems to be strengthening its hold on its members. The case of Costa Rica is of special interest to the United States. It probably means that, like other neighboring Latin-American countries, Costa Rica looks to Geneva as well as to our Monroe Doctrine, or in place of it, for protection against aggression. The traditional American interpretation of that doctrine is being challenged by Latin-America more than ever before.

LITERATE VOTERS.

New voters in New York this year must give "proof of literacy" when they register. An elementary or high school diploma will be accepted as such proof; also school records showing that the applicant has done the reading and writing required of a sixth grade pupil. Without such evidence he must take an examination given by the state department of education, if he wants to qualify. Such requirements are not yet customary generally in the United States, but probably will be before many years. The variety and importance of the political issues at stake in the present national campaign emphasize the value of education more than usual. True, it isn't certain that literacy will make much difference in the practical outcome. Ignorance has never been arrayed definitely against knowledge in this country. There is no convincing evidence that high school or college graduates vote any more intelligently, that their minds are more open to logical persuasion, than those who have only the rudiments of a common school training. Both, in their political thinking, are moved by inherited prejudice, family and social influence, class feeling and economic stress, rather than an unbiased quest for truth. Thus literate and illiterate may agree politically. But there is at least this benevolent citizen can give and others, of the political everybody is better satisfied there is an educated man educational equipment to "political thinking which illiterate man.

TEXAS

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE. STOP BUTTER FAT LOSS.—The dairymen of DeWitt county last year sustained losses of from 9 to 11 cents on butter fat because of unsanitary methods of handling cream on the farms. The county agent has been giving demonstrations on how to keep cream separators, milk cans and other vessels clean, the result being that the loss has been largely eliminated. Last year the total sweet creamery was receiving 125 gallons of sour daily, this year the quantity of sour cream has dropped to 16 or 15 gallons daily. The change is due to more sanitary methods of handling the milk. TERRELL'S COTTON ESTIMATE.—George B. Terrell, Texas commissioner of agriculture, in his latest report, estimates the Texas cotton crop at 4,775,000 bales and the total crop at 14,000,000. The heavy equinoctial rains will likely cause a still further decrease in production estimates. Commissioner Terrell says the crop justifies a price of 20 cents, and there are good reasons for believing he is right. TEXAS CRATE FACTORIES.—There are several crate factories in Texas. Another, with capital stock of $400,000 has recently been organized at San Antonio to manufacture vegetable and fruit crates and boxes from East Texas gum wood. Which shows that increased production is expected in Texas, as that amount of money is not placed in factory equipment unless there is good reason to expect profitable returns. NUMBER 162

CISCO IS PRAISED BY FORT WORTH HEALTH CHIEF

"What I want to do and what I will try to do is to get the entire city council of Fort Worth to visit Cisco and see the cleanest town in Texas," Dr. L. H. Martin, city health superintendent of that city, told Dr. John H. Brice, Cisco city health physician, when here recently after inspecting the sanitary conditions in this city.

Accompanied by V. M. Ehlers, sanitary engineer of the health department of Texas, Dr. Martin was here recently; and both made a thorough inspection of Cisco from a sanitary viewpoint, and both of these men approved Cisco's claim to being the cleanest town in Texas.

While here Engineer Ehlers and Dr. Martin were guests of J. M. Williamson, mayor, and Dr. John H. Brice, city health physician. They were shown Lake Cisco, the state fish hatchery, dairies, the sewage disposal plant and other places of sanitary interest.

Engineer Ehlers was surprised when told that screens had ceased to be a necessity to ward against flies and mosquitoes in Cisco. He was convinced, however, when he saw no screens on the doors and windows of the city hall and other buildings here. Both of these visitors were greatly interested in the details of the methods employed in the eradication and prevention of pests in Cisco, and both stated that Cisco was the cleanest town they had visited in the state. They commended highly the sanitary regulations of health officials and what is being done here for the conservation of health—the rigid examination of all persons handling food, oiling places where flies and mosquitoes breed, the stringent enforcement of the sanitary ordinances eliminating stagnant water and preventing accumulation of manure in back lots of premises.

Crank Case Drainages Used
Engineer Ehlers was told that heavy oil—old crank case drainages from the filling stations—was being used in oiling the breeding places of flies and mosquitoes. He stated that the state department had recommended coal oil, but when told that coal oil would evaporate while the heavier oils would remain even after the water was gone, he agreed that this was the better treatment.

Ehlers was further amazed when he visited the sewage disposal plant and saw the water, clear as crystal, devoid of every disagreeable odor, flowing into the fish hatchery and the healthy, thriving condition of the fish, stating that Cisco's sanitary system was the most complete and perfect of any town he had inspected.

These officials also expressed their complete approval of Cisco dairies, which they also visited, saying that no other city's dairies in the state were kept in so perfect a sanitary condition.

Not Alone in Opinion
What these men said about the perfect sanitary condition of Cisco, and this city being the cleanest town in Texas, is voiced by all men of authority who visit this city. Even casual visitors are impressed with the sanitary systems employed to keep Cisco clean.

Commenting on the visit of Engineer Ehlers and Dr. Martin to Cisco, and their statement that "Cisco was the cleanest city in Texas," Dr. Brice said:

"I know this to be true—that we have the cleanest city in Texas—but I am not satisfied with present conditions. My objective is a flyless and mosquitoless city, and such a city we will make of Cisco if we can get the perfect cooperation of our people. It is the purpose of the health and sanitary department of the city to destroy every cause for these pests. We want every citizen to report to the health authorities whenever a mosquito is seen on his premises. First, it would be well for them to make an inspection of their back lots and yards to see if there is a cause for these pests, then destroy them. If they are still bothered report the matter and an investigation will be made to ascertain the cause. I know there are no flies or mosquitoes in Cisco except those produced from individual causes. If these causes are eradicated, the flies and mosquitoes will disappear.

Simple to Starve Pests
"It is a simple method to rid a town of flies and mosquitoes. Just starve them to death. See that they have nothing on which to subsist.

WEST GIVING REPUBLICANS SOME WORRY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—National Chairman Work, Senator George Moses, in charge of Hoover's Eastern campaign; Ogden L. Mills, undersecretary of the treasury, and others connected with the Republican campaign, issued statements through the Republican national headquarters Friday criticizing the speeches of Gov. Alfred E. Smith at St. Paul and other Western points. Nothing came from Mr. Hoover himself.

The only information given at the Hoover headquarters Friday was that the New York speech had been changed to Oct. 13 and that it would be given in Madison Square Garden, which is New York's largest gathering place. Senator Moses declared that the application for tickets far exceeded the accommodations, and it is certain that the hall will be filled to its capacity, which is 20,000.

Republicans are still disturbed about the possible inroads made by Smith into the Western situation as a result of his trip to that section. The demonstration given Smith in Minneapolis and St. Paul Thursday night has caused anxiety about Minnesota, with indications that the Democratic trend there has reached alarming proportions. Senator Borah is to follow Smith in Minnesota and probably Wisconsin.

The appearance of large advertisements in practically all of the Western farm publications inserted at the instance of the farm leaders backing Smith for president and appearing this week, was an unexpected attack in the agricultural sections. The advertisements purport to give Hoover's record on agriculture, some of which had already been disputed by statements issued from Republican headquarters. One of the claims is that Hoover was responsible for fixing the price of wheat during the World War at $2.20 a bushel. Republican national headquarters have disputed this and quoted President Wilson to the effect that Hoover did not participate in that action.

MEAN COME-BACK

The young married couple were having a disagreement while awaiting lunch at a modest Soho eating house. The woman was grumbling because they were unable to afford the luxurious restaurants which had been a feature of their honeymoon. "You can't have a brass band everywhere you go," said the man crossly.

"Oh, yes I can," snapped his wife. "I've got it with me now—on my finger."

FIFTH SUNDAY SINGING TO BE AT GORMAN TODAY

GORMAN, Sept. 29.—The regular De Leon Fifth Sunday dinner singing will be held again in Gorman tomorrow at the Church of God tabernacle. At least a thousand people are expected to be present at the meeting and there will be something doing all day under the big tabernacle. Several prominent singers will be present for the day and there will be delightful hours for those lovers of the music of the day. There will be dinner on the grounds for all those who wish to spread dinner. It is not planned for the local people to feed all who come but everyone is expected to bring their own dinner and have a good get-together time at the noon hour.

There will be a lot of politics in the air, but the fellow who wants to get the drift will have to keep his ears to the ground.—Omaha World-Herald.

'WHISPERING' AUTHOR NAMED BY DEMOCRATS

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Campaign managers for Governor Alfred E. Smith attempted this week to stop another "whisper" concerning the Democratic presidential candidate, by revealing the source.

They made public an accusation, allegedly by Miss Lois Penney Clark, secretary of the Brooklyn Women's Constitutional Hoover-Curtis campaign committee, saying the governor had appeared intoxicated at a boys' camp.

Miss Clark was said by the Democratic national committee to have made the charge in a letter to Mrs. John Carlin, after the latter declined to serve on the Brooklyn committee because of Smith sympathies.

The letter, as turned over to the Democratic committee by Mrs. Carlin, said: "Do you think it right or fair for him or anyone else to appear at a boys' camp in such condition that a 10-year-old boy would remark: 'His breath would knock you over? Do you think it right that a man paid as a public servant—holding a prominent position—should openly violate any part of the law of the land every day and seldom be sober enough to appear in public?'"

Miss Clark also was said to have alleged that Smith ran New York state "extravagantly" and his garden power to get underworld votes, still employed "the language of the East Side" and had "all his speeches written by a Jewish woman (Mrs. Belle Moskowitz, secretary) who holds no official power, but is the power behind the throne."

Miss Clark admitted writing such a letter to Mrs. Carlin, but said it was "personal in nature."

Mrs. Ida B. S. Woodruff, chairman of the Brooklyn committee, announced that Miss Clark would tell where she obtained her information regarding Smith's alleged drunkenness, but only to a joint investigating committee composed of both Democrats and Republicans.

Their Place in the Sun

The comparatively recent discovery that old Sol's rays are particularly good when they are filtered through special materials proves conclusively that there is something new under the sun. The new cult extends all the way from chickens to flappers, who now reside in houses especially built to permit the infiltration of the beneficial violet rays.

About ten thousand hens live in the chicken house at Vineland, N. J., the largest poultry house in the world. Daily ultra-violet baths are enjoyed by the hens through the colorless windows, which greatly improves their vitamin condition. Over 40,000,000 chickens are now being raised under the newer methods of poultry science with a steady increase in egg production.

COURT ORDER HALTS SCHOOL CONSOLIDATION

BRECKENRIDGE, Sept. 29.—Judge C. O. Hahn, judge of the 90th district court, rendered the decision Thursday that an injunction should be granted the defendants in the Caddo independent school district and Oak Grove common school district case.

The case was between the trustees of the Oak Grove common school district, vs. Caddo independent school district and the county board of trustees, to enjoin the latter from putting into effect an order passed August 16, purporting to consolidate the two school districts.

Suit was filed to set aside the order and for asking for writ of injunction against the defendants from using the money for the Caddo district which belonged to the Oak Grove district.

During the past year, two elections were held to consolidate the two districts but both failed.

ELECTRA, Sept. 29.—Mary Cleveland, 18, daughter of A. C. Cleveland, died Friday at a local hospital from internal injuries received when she was run over by an automobile Thursday. The girl was returning home from school when the accident, which was said to have been unavoidable, occurred.

25 YEARS IS GIVEN IN SLAYING IN 1922

GILMER, Sept. 22.—Found guilty of the murder of O. F. Crane, his landlord, in 1922, Dick Gilman was sentenced Friday to 25 years in the state penitentiary at the conclusion of the most bitterly contested criminal trial in Franklin county. The conviction marks the fourth time that Crane has been declared responsible for the offense. One case was reversed on evidence that a juror had expressed his opinion in the trial. He was granted new trials in two other instances.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The rise of Herbert Hoover from an Iowa farm village, and Alfred E. Smith from the sidewalks of New York, will doubtless be pointed out to many a poor and ambitious boy this fall, with the moral that "only in America could such a thing happen."

But that will be claiming a little too much for our country, for similar careers were possible nearly five thousand years ago in the Egypt of the Pharaohs.

Excavations near the famous pyramids of Giza, reported by Prof. Hermann Junker of the University of Vienna has disclosed the climb of a poor young man to a place in the highest offices of the ancient nation on the Nile.

Senef, the prince who started as an underling in the chambers of the royal wardrobe, hid an even heavier handicap than most modern, self-made men, for he was a dwarf, deformed and laughed at by his fellow servants, he stuck to his job and learned it thoroughly, learned to outstep his fellow job and took him over, climbing by degrees until he held several portfolios in the king's cabinet.

In a land where rulership was not only hereditary but a divine office, and the Pharaoh considered a god, he could not of course aspire to the throne; but he did the next best thing and married a royal princess. Their three fine children are remembered by statues in the sculptured family group in Senef's tomb.

The expedition of the University of Vienna also turned up in the same "city of the dead" a tomb with a true dome. It has always been thought that the ancient Egyptians did not know the art of making arches and domes, and that they learned this architectural device from foreigners.

But this burial place dates back to the Fifth and Sixth Dynasties, whose kings ruled Egypt from 2750 to 2463 B. C., long before foreign influences ever came up the Nile. The first Egyptian dome showing evidence of a foreign pattern are of a date over 1000 years later than this.

BRECKENRIDGE BOY, 13, IS BEING SOUGHT BY FATHER
Cisco police were requested to look out for a 13 year old boy missing from Breckenridge. Any information will be appreciated by the boy's father, a Mr. Tabor, of that place, police were informed. The boy was wearing a blue shirt, cap, overalls and Boy Scout shoes when he disappeared Friday. Police picked up two boys Friday night at D avenue and Third street, aged 13 and 17 years of age. The younger of the two did not fit the description of the Breckenridge boy. They gave their names as Earl Jones and James Napier. They stated they lived at El Paso. Police were holding them Saturday while an attempt was made to get in communication with their parents.

LOBOS WIN THIRD PRE-CONFERENCE GAME FROM STAMFORD

Visitors Go Down in Defeat in Play Made Listless by Heat; Score 47-6; El Paso Tigers to Invade Den Friday

The Cisco Big Dam Lobos annexed their third straight pre-conference victory Friday afternoon, turning back the fighting aggression of Stamford Bulldogs, 47-6. As there was no other game in the O. Bell, some 1500 fans, many of them from out of town, flocked to Ghessy Field to see the two eleven clash. These three victories fully prepared the Lobos for their first real test of the season—the game with the El Paso Tigers, here next Friday.

Playing on a typical Indian Summer afternoon the two teams played a hot, hard, and exciting game, characterized by many fumbles and by many substitutions for those who had been fatigued in the heat. The same tactics of a dazzling offense which neither Haskell nor De Leon could cope with, caused the Lobos to defeat the Bulldogs. Again it was the character of the offense, and not the defensive, that was the key to the victory. The Lobos played the game of the game, Coates, playing fullback, while Bettman moved a minor ice injury, shot his bullet-like passes into the unobstructed hands of the Lobo receivers, and his high spirals kept the enemy in their territory most of the time. Brian, another fullback, ripped the Bulldog line to shreds. Stovall and Whitford, two substitute backs, also turned in neat games.

The towering figure in the line was the giant Anthony. This broad-shouldered youth stopped every thrust made at his part of the line. Many times he broke through and threw the enemy back for noticeable losses. He wasn't alone—Red Caldwell, quiet, unassuming, young tackle, was a terror on defense. Sliton, Ray, McCantles, Meadows and King were the other members of the Lobo stone wall that stopped the Bulldogs' powerful thrusts.

Stamford kicked to Ollie Little on his 50 yard line who returned to the 35 yard line. Van Horn reeled off 30 yards at tackle, and a pass, Coates to Little, put the ball on Stamford's 10 yard line. Little circled right end for a touchdown, a touchdown, making the score 7-0. Cisco, Stamford kicked to Van Horn on his 20 yard line, who returned to the 30 yard line. After Little had made a first down on his own 40 yard line, Van Horn fumbled and Gambin, alert Bulldog back, snatched the ball and ran for a touchdown. Caldwell blocked the try for point after the marker. Score, 7-6. Cisco, Stamford kicked to Bedford on the 10 yard line, who returned to the 45 yard line. From there Coates passed to Little for a touchdown. Bedford missed the try for points by inches, making the score 13-6 for the Lobos. Stamford kicked to Little on 15 yard line, who brought the ball out to the 35 yard line. The Lobos were held and Coates punted to the Stamford 10 yard line, where the safety was downed in his tracks. After three thrusts at the line, the Bulldogs punted to their own 40 yard line where it was grounded. Van Horn and Little both reeled off first downs to place the ball on Stamford's 15 yard line, but two fumbles, an incomplete pass, and a cross-back failed to produce the first down. The quarter ended with Stamford in possession of the ball on its own 15 yard line.

Second Quarter Stamford's punt was blocked, but a Bulldog recovered it on his own 6 yard line. Stamford again punted to Little on the Stamford 45 yard line who brought it back to the 25 yard line. Stovall was substituted for Coates. With Bedford, Little, Stovall and Van Horn carrying the ball, the oval was advanced to the 2 yard line. From where Bedford went over for a

ALSABROOK, FORMER STAR OF CISCO LOBOES, IS EXPECTED TO BE ONE OF TEXAS AGGIE MAINSTAYS IN CLASH WITH SEWANEETIGERS AT STATE FAIR

ALSABROOK RICHTER CAPT. BARTLETT

COLLEGE STATION, Sep. 28.—Despite the inroads that graduation made in the strong Aggie line of last year, Coach Dana K. Bible still has four veterans to count in the new line and the quarter-back starlets are expected to bear much of the brunt of action when the Texas Aggies meet the Sewanee Tigers at Fair Park Stadium, Dallas, Oct. 6, as a feature of the opening day of the State Fair. These veterans include Z. W. (Willie) Bartlett, Marlin, captain and center of the 1928 Aggies, who held down the pivot position on the Aggies championship eleven last fall and was the all-conference selection of many sports writers; S. J. Petty, Decatur boy who flashed brilliantly at end for the Aggies last season and was another all-conference contender; C. E. Richter, Laredo, a tamer of strength in the Aggie forward wall last season; and "Pinky" Alsabrook, halfback last year but now of condition for the Sewanee game, an end at which position he starred for the Cisco Lobos in high school days.

All of these men have faced the Tigers before, and Petty, Bartlett and Richter are playing their third year as quarterbacks of the Sewanee eleven. Bartlett, Alsabrook and Richter were factors in the Aggie recent victory over the Trinity Tigers, but Petty was kept out of that game because of leg injury. He is expected to be at the post of condition for the Sewanee game, an end at which position he starred for the Cisco Lobos in high school days.

STUDEBAKER IS BEST SELLING 8 CYLINDER CAR

Although it made its appearance in January and February, the President Eight took the lead in registration of eight in July. Just six months later, August registrations showed that this lead was substantially increased.

"There are four distinct reasons for this success," said F. A. Blauvelt, executive vice president of the Studebaker Corporation. "The President Eight has proved its performance superiority by traveling 20,000 miles in 26,320 consecutive minutes, a record unparalleled in history. Studebaker engineers have given these cars outstanding beauty in body lines and exterior finish. The President Eight offers matchless ease of riding comfort due to Studebaker's exclusive ball bearing spring shackles, easy chair, comfort, two-finger steering and gear shifting and amplified 4-wheel brakes. And the fourth reason—the greatest of them all—is the value of the car, which is offered to the public at one profit price as low as $1,695 f.o.b. factory."

Kansas Boy, 6, Imitates Birds So Accurately That Doctors Study His Throat Formation and Annoy Him

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 29.—Physicians annoy Howard Baughman, 6 year old son of Mrs. Elsie Baughman, here.

It isn't his fault that he has a music box in his throat. But the doctors think it peculiar, nevertheless, and have been almost running little Howard crazy by their examinations and investigations to determine how he can imitate bird calls from his larynx.

Medical men are continually putting reflectors on their heads and saying "Open wide" and peering down his throat to find out how he does it. For the bird calls are issued from the larynx and not from the lips, as is usually true.

Fond of Birds.

Howard isn't a bit interested in the formation of his vocal chords. But he does love birds. At the age of six one hasn't had much opportunity to make the acquaintance of birds, particularly if he is a city boy like Howard. Nevertheless, he has learned a great number of bird calls that he gives with startling accuracy.

Howard is a well-mannered boy and accommodating about imitating birds, when guests ask "Howard, give that call of the black bird." Howard gives it and the guests sigh as if applauding as they say, "Now, isn't that wonderful."

But all these comments have very little effect on Howard compared to the annoyance of inquisitive medical research men. The big words they use hold no meaning to Howard.

The young imitator of bird calls was "discovered" in the Topeka municipal clinic of the city hall. Howard accompanied by his mother, who was receiving treatment there, and in the research ward for her imitated a crow. Nurses and physicians stared.

"Do that again, son," a physician requested. Howard did it again. Although the boy purred his lips the clear sound he made was different from a whistle. He imitated other birds with the same unflinching accuracy and perception.

Specialists Surprised.

Physicians wanted to look into his throat. Accommodatingly Howard widened his mouth as requested, showed out his tongue and said "ah. Technical talk followed.

A visitor's solicitation that the boy be taken to a throat specialist is caused him other to take him to one of those specialists.

A few days later they appeared in the office for his visit before he was called in. He imitated birds for the specialists and he was eyed quizzically. Then more of that "open wide" solicitation.

A few more calls by Howard and the office attendant was sent

U. S. IS BEING AIR MARKED TO AID AVIATORS

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—America is being "air marked." Aerovane "signals for flyers" are going to be set all over the country enabling the aviator to determine at a glance exactly where he is and in which direction he is going.

The aerovane is one of the latest inventions in the field of aviation and, according to air men, fills a long needed want.

The air traveler needs guide posts just as much, if not more so, as does the motorist, said Purben Fairborn, former captain of the British Air Force and now an official of the Aerovane Company of New York.

"We're just beginning to mark the country for the aviator. It should have been done long ago. And within the next two years I predict that the country will be completely air marked for planes with the aerovane."

Many Lost.

"It is almost a daily occurrence for flyers to get lost over densely populated sections of the country because there are no signs with which to identify the places they fly over."

The aerovane airway marker is a unique device, a brightly painted apparatus that is easily discernible from a great height. Anchored at the top of the 30-foot marker is a wind-vane giving wind direction. On the upper side of the large arrow, which points the way and which is 13 1/2 feet in length, is painted the name of the city or town toward which the arrow is pointing while superimposed on the tail is a smaller arrow pointing due north, giving the aviator his compass bearing.

An oblong sign hangs below, with two circular dials attached. It gives the automobile tourists necessary road information. Thus looking at the aerovane from the sky, the aviator sees the name of the city he is passing over, such as for instance—ATLANTA.

The smaller arrow gives him direction. He has his bearings at once. The marker is visible and readable at a minimum of 3,000 feet. Markers soon ready.

J. J. White, president of the Aerovane Company, and a well-known New York capitalist, believes that thousands of these airway markers will be in operation in the not distant future. Already fifteen towns in North Carolina are using the device, as are several towns in Pennsylvania and Connecticut. The marker has the endorsement, it is said, of William P. McCracken, assistant secretary of commerce in charge of aeronautics.

A government committee is now studying in Washington ways and means to mark the air routes of the country so that they will be an open page for the air traveler. Installations of aerovanes are being made constantly in Eastern states and in the Middle West and negotiations are under way by the Aerovane company to completely air mark the state of California within the next four months according to Capt. Fairborn.

ACTION NEEDED

Sandy called the police station. He was excited, almost incoherent. "Throw a dragnet around the city immediately," was the substance of his speech.

"Why?" asked the practical chief, who was also an Elk, Odd Fellow, fireman, chamber of commerce, I. O. T. C. and what have you.

"I dropped a half-dollar out of the window," came the far-off, fainting reply.

POWDER MY BACK

NOVEL BY ARLINE DE HAAS

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
POWDER MY BACK, starring Irene Rich, is a Warner Bros. picture.

SYNOPSIS
Adele Dayton, famous musical comedy star playing in "Powder My Back," has numerous photographs of titled men powdering her nose. One of these pictures appears in her home town paper in Brookton, Iowa. Mazie, her mother's sister, sees it and is horribly shocked. She writes to Adele, begging her to visit Brookton, saying that some purifying course might do her good. Adele, amused and accepts. On the way Brookton Harry Stark, recognizing Adele, introduces himself as friend of her sister, Mildred. The three towns is waiting at the station to greet the actress.

So now Mildred was inwardly bubbling with excitement that she dared not show. She looked rather like her aunt—might grow to look more like her later. She had the same soft, dark hair, which, despite the earnest efforts of the village barber and her mother's determination to make her hair curl, it rippled around her face. It was something of the dark about her eyes that suggested Adele—but an unsophisticated, timid Adele. Her fluffy organdy dress of pale blue was set off mainly by the youthfulness of the girl, and the fact that she had the same slim, beautifully modeled legs and ankles as her aunt.
Mazie had made John dress in his light Palm Beach suit—it was all he could do to make him wear it;

Adele had timed her appearance perfectly.

she always seemed to feel slightly out of place in it, and thoroughly interested in. She herself had put on her best white linen dress, and its starchiness irritated her, and her face became more and more red and weeping as the train pulled in. She looked anxiously at the people about her, not quite sure of the situation.
"There's that terrible cat, Mrs. Morgan," she nudged John. "I just know she's here so she can talk."
"What—huh! What'd you say?" John granted, mopping his forehead. He never could understand these "asides" of his wife, and furthermore, he wasn't interested.
"Mrs. Morgan!" Mazie whispered louder than ever.
"Yeh! John answered mechanically.
Meantime, Adele was gazing out the window curiously, anxious to see whether she recognized any of the waiting crowd. The agitated Joujou chattered and shrieked as she actress and her maid, followed by Harry, bearing as many of the bags as he could, filed slowly down the aisle. Adele had timed her appearance on the platform perfectly, for she waited until everyone else could alight. Then, as they all hatched impatiently, she suddenly appeared on the top step, poised for the moment, her one hand on the railing. Then in another moment she stepped down, her silken-encased limbs gleaming in the sun; the soft satin of her suit swathing her graceful form.
Mazie's eyes popped. She gasped. But already Adele was coming to ward her, and the plump woman in white linen reached out her arms.
"Mazie, is it really you?" Adele blessed her sister on both cheeks, and glanced about, as though waiting for more worlds to conquer.
"Oh, Addie—Addie—, I'm glad to see you." Mazie was swallowing lumps in her throat and trying to look truly important. "And here's Mildred—Oh, Mildred," Mazie called her eldest offspring away from the dramatic club group. "I scarcely expect you'll remember Mildred, Addie."

Police Dogs
By FRANK SULLIVAN
Another thing against Mr. Hoover is that he owns a police dog. Now, the first few police dogs were all right and nobody minded them but when it came to a point where there got to be 15,000,000 police dogs in the country, police sentiment became aroused. Nowadays, police dogs are all over.

You can't turn around without having one—or, probably, two—up your nose at the front door. You wake up in the morning and two or three straight police dogs are liable to be under the bed, or in the bed and you under it. They get in your hair and they drop in for meals just when you've got only enough for the family. Why, a couple of mine got engaged to a drummer from Detroit and when it came time for the wedding ceremony, he turned out to be a police dog. Naturally, she called the marriage off. Give me the old-fashioned pug dog any time.
At least a pug was fairly friendly, but will a police dog respond to a friendly, neighborly word? No. "You get nothing but abuse from them. Americans will stand a good deal, but after all we are descendants of George Washington clay hachoisim, and the time is coming when we will rise en masse and throw off this irksome police dog yoke. If Hoover and his police dog are placed in the White House there will be no standing the police dogs throughout the country. They will be pushing us taxpayers off the sidewalks. To arms, Americans! Down with the police dog! No man who owns a police dog shall ever be elected President of this country!

LACE FROCKS FOR DINNER AND EVENING

PARIS, Sept. 29. — Lace frocks for dinner and formal evening occasions are very much in evidence in all the autumn collections and bid promise to be very popular this winter.
This means lace in all colors, with black of course and many other tones, but also wine and claret red, bright blue and green. There are lace frocks with a narrow upper part and skirts that flare considerably at the bottom. There are also skirts that dip at one side, touching the ground and then ascending in a graceful curve toward the opposite side which is very short.
A lovely dinner frock comes in dark blue lace with a band of tulle at the edge of the skirt and a huge clasp of the same at the side. Another in black chenille dotted net is very graceful and one in black lace is embroidered in a little gold paillettes. Germaine Lecointe uses black tulle with a full-pleated skirt dipping to a point at the back and worn with a long tight jacket of net embroidered in jet and square motifs of rhinestones, the same trimming being used around the neck and at the wrist.

A charming filmy frock in apricot has a lace overskirt and dipping ever so slightly in the back is girdled by a twist of metal with a 3-stone buckle at the normal waistline in front and large oval bow of metal-edged chiffon low on the hips in back so that the girde line slants down paralleling the skirt edge.
Yellow lace with a cross rich front, cap-back and skirt panels edged with tiny ruffles makes another charming gown for evening wear in winter.

THREE BIG SERVICES TO CLOSE UNION REVIVAL HERE TODAY

New Members to Be Received into Cisco Churches at Sunday School Hour; Hogg Party to Cross Plains

Three great union services will mark the closing of the Will Hogg revival today, with all local churches dismissing their regular church programs, both morning and night in order to give full cooperation to the final drive for righteousness which has been made during the campaign.

A special rally will be held in each of the local churches at the regular Sunday school hour this morning when the pastors are calling for a rally of all their regular forces to welcome into the fellowship of the church the new members which are to be received at that time. Each church under the direction of its pastor has had large groups of personal workers here all through the week visiting in the homes of those who have indicated professions of their faith and a large group of additions is expected to be received at the church rally services.

At 11 o'clock all churches will join forces at the tabernacle where Dr. Hogg is scheduled to deliver his widely heralded sermon on "Heaven and How To Get It," said to be one of the greatest sermons on this topic being delivered in the present-day evangelistic field. At 3 o'clock he will preach on "Apprenticeship," and the most unique and impressive service of the campaign is promised by those who are familiar with his usual programs in connection with this sermon.

Tonight he will deliver his far-well message on the subject, "The Morning," and the largest crowd which has yet been seen at the big pipe tabernacle is expected to hear the message. Special musical programs, appropriate to the various messages, will be given at all services with an especially attractive program scheduled for the closing service on Sunday night when the full choir choir is expected to be present.

Friday night witnessed a great crowd at the tabernacle and one of the most impressive services of the meeting when Dr. Hogg preached on "Paul Defies Felix." An impressive after-service followed this message in which a number of decisions for Christ were recorded. Dr. Hogg delivered another impressive message last night, speaking on "The Great Salvation," with still more decisions recorded to swell the total for the campaign thus far.

The big pipe tabernacle which has housed the campaign services has been salvaged to Ann Skiles and will be wrecked during this week. R. J. T. Williams, campaign director for the large party, who will after the second week of this meeting has been in Cross Plains where elaborate preparations have been made for a sweeping revival for that entire section. Dr. Hogg and Chandler Redburn will leave Cross Plains in time to take charge of the services there Monday night. Before going to Cross Plains the evangelist is scheduled to give in Eastland where he will picture in the Rotary club of that town.

A farewell offering is being collected by Dr. Hogg to be presented to his workers here and a local committee composed of the pastors and representative laymen from each church is in charge of this work and is urging hearty cooperation on the part of the entire community toward making the offering a worthy one for Cross Plains as one of the great good accomplished by Dr. Hogg during his stay here. Rev. A. C. Miller spoke for the committee at Thursday night's service and E. P. Crawford presented the offering appeal on Friday night. Additional offerings will be taken at all three services today and the total amount raised will be announced and accounted to Dr. Hogg at the close of the service tonight.

R. F. Holloway, Ranger, is Named Head of Interscholastic League Committee in Oil Belt District

RANGER Sept. 29.—R. F. Holloway, superintendent of public schools, is the head of the district committee of the Interscholastic League, having been elected to that place at a called meeting of the committee.

He succeeds Superintendent L. T. Cook, of Breckenridge, who resigned. The meeting was almost a Ranger session with the eligibility of two Ranger high school players being up for consideration and action.

Definite action against Alfred Glenn, halfback, was taken and he was declared ineligible to the committee. Although Glenn's football record was found to be free from reprehension, regarding his year participation, he was omitted on account of participation in basketball.

At the meeting, triple threat man and quarterback of the Bulldogs, is still in the lineup. No definite action regarding his eligibility was taken.

According to L. H. Hovet, principal of the Eastland high school, and secretary of the committee, the committee did not have Hammett either eligible or ineligible, but authorized Hovet to pay the man at his own risk until further evidence could be obtained.

Affidavits from 1924 which at DeWitt's team in 1924 revealed that Hammett had not participated in the game of which he is accused.

Speer said another called meeting of the committee would be called soon to determine the eligibility of Hammett.

The standing of Bertis Magness, Breckenridge ace and transfer from Comanche, is also hanging fire.

He is in the same condition that Hammett is in and it is possible that action regarding both of the men will be taken before the conference games begin.

Hammett played in Friday's game with Central high of Fort Worth and was one of the outstanding stars of the game.

EASTLAND CO. DISCIPLES TO AID BIG DRIVE

Plans for the erection of a National City Christian church at Washington, D. C., are being brought before the Christian churches of Eastland county this week, looking forward to the observance of Washington church victory Sunday on October 21. On this day, set apart by the international convention of the Disciples of Christ (Christian churches) held at Columbus, Ohio in April, the Christian churches of America will seek to complete the fund for the erection of this representative church. A goal of $300,000 has been set for the day. Already more than $1,000,000 has been raised toward the fund.

The building of the National City Christian church is a part of a three-year program of the Disciples, anticipating the celebration of the ninetieth anniversary of Pentecost in 1920. It is the plan that the program of evangelization now being carried on by the communion will culminate in the dedication of this monumental building in the nation's capital at the world convention of the Disciples to be held in that city in 1920.

A real state, county and local church organization is outlined for the observance of Washington church victory Sunday. Rev. A. Carson, associated with E. L. Day, director of the work in the Southwestern area, composed of Texas, New Mexico and Louisiana is visiting local church leaders and forming the working organization for the movement in this county. The program in this state is coordinated by a state council with the following membership: D. C. Reed, Austin; Arthur A. Everets, Mrs. B. A. McKinney, Graham Frank, L. N. D. Wells, Ben M. Edwards, W. W. Phares, P. W. O'Malley, of Dallas; Van Zandt Jarvis, L. D. Anderson, F. M. Whits, Ft. Worth; Harry G. Knowles, Houston, and C. A. Johnson, Brownwood.

BUSINESS MEN WHOLEHEARTEDLY IN FAVOR OF CITY PARKS

Benefits of Municipal System of Play Centers and Beauty Spots Are Pointed Out by Ciscoans as Needed

(By LOLA WILD.)

Cisco has the knack of securing municipal prizes for herself that other towns of her size only aspire to as a possibility at some future time. Cisco rises and reaches for desirable advantages, great or small, and she finds in her hands such things as dams, airports and spas of highest note. In reality she is "the city that team-work is building." That is why many of her citizens, with their practical, clear-sighted minds, are looking about for available space for parks, playgrounds and centers of recreation and beauty.

The city commission is heartily in favor of having a foundation for a system of parks all over the city by purchasing the land at present low prices and setting it aside for play centers and parks to be developed gradually over a period of years. The commission would welcome every citizen's practical suggestions in all the different parts of the city in regard to the more effecting of such a task. May M. Williamson has been busy on the subject of parks for some time, and he is personally sympathetic to a gradual development of a system of parks and playgrounds. He states that the city itself is financially willing to cooperate in the development. NOW of one centrally located park in the section it is most needed. That's getting warm, what! Viva El Mayor!

E. P. Crawford expresses himself as sympathetic with a movement to provide parks for Cisco. "Parks will raise the value of property all over town. Anything that beautifies the town raises real estate values. Property is worth more in a town of well-kept homes than in a town whose citizens take no pride in their surroundings."

The Mothers' club has been working for a centrally located park in the residential section for several years. Mrs. Charles Fleming, president of that club, says: "If there is anything the Mothers' club can do to help get a park, you may call upon us. We need a place for our children to play, where they are safe from the dangers of traffic. Many children are playing in the streets because they have nowhere else to play. Busy mothers in Cisco would feel that a load is off their shoulders if their children had a safe playground, responsible supervision to protect them from their van, rash daring, and proper play apparatus to develop their bodies hygienically."

Judge Eugene Lankford's mind runs along the way of the small down town business parks. Savannah, Ga., is a much praised city because of the restful little parks every third block down town. Visitors in the hotels, weary shoppers, or tired business people can find a shady bench to relax upon, breathe health-giving fresh air, and watch the world go by for a few minutes. Cisco ought to have a few such little parks."

J. J. Youngblood, superintendent of Cisco schools, is concerned with the relation of parks to character building. "The value of expert supervision of play upon the forming of character of the child cannot be over-emphasized. Proper play apparatus. I'll cooperate in putting a safety of the child and to the growth of his body. Cisco is much in need of more and better play apparatus. I'll cooperate in putting a well equipped playground in Cisco."

M. V. Ningo is interested in the fact that a park would be for the growing as well as the children—a sort of family playground, as it were, that everybody could enjoy together.

Coch W. B. Chapman is in favor of giving the "future Labor" room to grow, and proper apparatus and supervision to help them develop into an "unbreakable line."

Dr. J. H. Mize sees in a park improvement in general health. "Recreation is good for health. A play park with shade trees, especially in hot weather, engenders relaxation in youth and age. Contrivances for exercise are excellent agents for health too."

Coach W. B. Chapman is in favor of giving the "future Labor" room to grow, and proper apparatus and supervision to help them develop into an "unbreakable line."

Dr. J. H. Mize sees in a park improvement in general health. "Recreation is good for health. A play park with shade trees, especially in hot weather, engenders relaxation in youth and age. Contrivances for exercise are excellent agents for health too."

Coach W. B. Chapman is in favor of giving the "future Labor" room to grow, and proper apparatus and supervision to help them develop into an "unbreakable line."

Judge F. D. Wright, always Cisco's "Big-hearted Gus," has been casting about, and he has in mind a well located plot of ground that is worthless as residential property because it is low and water comes up on it, but which could be made a nice park for about $500 if it were bought for the purpose. He says that park spaces can be bought now for nominal prices, and Cisco ought to buy them whether she raises the money by private subscription or otherwise.

Mrs. J. V. Heiser has been making investigations because she is distressed that Cisco has no places for little picnics and lawn parties, and no beauty spots. Speaking of the same plot mentioned by Mr. Wright, Mrs. Heiser says: "It is valuable as residential property, but it would make a lovely summer garden like the San Antonio's."

Mrs. O. T. Maxwell, president of City Federation of Women's clubs, says the federation is enthusiastically back of any movement to develop parks in Cisco.

Mrs. J. D. Barber, president of Industrial Arts club says that an easily accessible park for Cisco is a cherished dream of her club.

Alex Spears, of the First National bank, thinks the immediate development of a park is a step in the right direction for a prosperous city like Cisco.

Every one of the business people seen this week in a preliminary survey to feel out the general attitude on the subject of a park for Cisco—Ernest Hiltner, of the Cisco Banking Co.; Bob Heron, of the Heron-Owen Shipper shop; H. L. Drumwright, of the Garter store; J. J. Collins, of Collins hardware; J. T. Elliott, of the Elliott Drug store; Mrs. Cunningham, Spence Shop; to mention but a few of them—expressed themselves as being substantially and practically back of any movement to develop a park in Cisco. It was their opinion that Cisco really needs to reserve her park spaces NOW and not lie in the position of many cities who were not far-sighted enough to buy their park reservations before they were forced to pay enormous prices for them. It is the opinion of these alert citizens that CISCO NEEDS A PARK NOW in an easily accessible residential section where the children can safely play after school.

E. H. Varnell, Cisco vocational agriculturist, urges the development of a park as a matter of city pride because other towns, not so large nor so widely known as Cisco, have pretty parks. "Then he adds: "Let me emphasize the appropriateness of this time for beginning the park. Trees and shrubs should be set out before November and frost are here."

Judge J. J. Butts: "Is it going to be a beer garden? If it is a beer garden, I am for it." So many of us don't like the taste of beer with our sandwiches that we couldn't give the judge positive assurance, but if there were with a fat check if any heavy cooperating is required.

J. E. T. Peters, of the chamber of commerce, is quoted in detail because what he says is such an extraordinary summary of the subject: "One of the pleasant features of Kansas City, Mo., is a system of city parks built on the Esplanade plan at the cost of millions of dollars. It could have been acquired at a small fraction of that cost had it been done earlier. Sherman, Texas, transferred a whole section of that city from almost shacks into a high class residential edition of modern buildings of a score of parks along what had been almost an open sewer. Today it is one of the show places of North Texas. In this day of fast automobiles, recreation for little children must be provided in some other place than the city streets."

The words of J. B. El of Cisco Floral company are: "Does Cisco need a park? I should say several of them. But if we have them let's have what belongs in a park—grassy lawns, shady nooks, flower-lined walks, rows of shade trees, banks of blooming shrubs, beds, benches, circles of flowers. And above all let's have lots of evergreens so that the park won't go dead in the winter time."

And let's do.

There! Now Mr. and Mrs. Citizen of Cisco, the lid is off this subject. Dig in; your spoon is as large as your neighbor's.

Who will be professional men, business men, manufacturers and wholesalers of Cisco that will say

"WE BELIEVE IN CISCO"

Doubtless this question has occurred to the citizenship of Cisco when the wording first appeared "We Believe in Cisco." If you believe in Cisco and want your firm constantly before the buying public of Cisco it's nobody's fault but yours that your firm isn't with the leaders of their particular line of business!

Thousands of dollars go out of this trade territory yearly—WHY? Just because we fail to let the public know who we are—where we are—and what they can expect by calling on us.

By all means get in on the Booster Page of the leading business men of Cisco and say:
