DAN HORN BOY HIT BY AUTO, ARM BROKEN

Woodard McCulloch, the 15 year old son of G. L. McCulloch, residing in the Dan Horn community, was seriously injured about 9 o'clock Saturday morning when struck by a Studebaker car driven by young woman. The accident occurred on D avenue, near the Price filling station. The boy was taken to the offices of Drs. Clark and Ball where his injuries were given surgical attention. The little fellow is suffering from a broken collar bone, cuts on both arms and head, and an injury in his side. Dr. Clark stated that he had not determined whether any ribs were broken. The boy was seen at the physicians' offices, but stated he did not know the women that were in the car that struck him, saying there were two girls in the car and that it "was a Studebaker." The father of the injured boy stated that he had been informed that one of the occupants of the Studebaker was named Lingle. Police had no report of the accident, and just how it occurred could not be learned.

TRADE TRIP KEEPS DOWN EL PASO FAN DELEGATION

Expressing his regrets at his inability to be present at the Liberty-Tiger football game here Friday, President H. L. Birney, of the El Paso chamber of commerce wrote the Cisco chamber that the El Paso directors had just returned from a trade excursion into Mexico, which accounted for their failure in getting up a large representation from the border city. "However, I hope if the same relations keep up between the two schools that Cisco will be coming to El Paso next year, and that we will be returning the visit two years hence when no other matters will be in the way that will prevent a large number making the trip to Cisco and put this thing over," said President Birney.

DR. MORRIS LETS CONTRACT FOR STUDIO-RESIDENCE

Dr. G. C. Morris, Cisco musical instructor, has let the contract for a modern stucco residence to be built on a lot in the 400 block on West Seventh street, and the work will start the latter part of this week, according to E. P. Crawford. The building will contain four rooms and bath, and will be a combination residence and studio, as Dr. Morris will reside in the building, and also maintain his music studio there. Joe Clements, the contractor, will construct the building, which will cost about $2,500. The building will occupy the lot on which the Episcopal chapel formerly stood, which was recently purchased by Dr. Morris.

ILLINOIS LEADS WORLD IN PRODUCING LIPSTICKS

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Illinois leads the world in the manufacture of lipsticks. This was brought out when ground was broken here recently for the largest lipstick factory in the world, founded by Cicero Avenue, Pensacola, Kiltpatrick and Hutchinson streets. Representatives of the Illinois Manufacturers' association and other industrial and commercial organizations attended the dedication which was featured by a beauty contest. The domestic market for lipsticks is estimated at twenty million "gals" of all ages and sizes. Three to five lipsticks are used by each customer. Reckoned at four to six million lipsticks are used annually. Of this total, one Chicago concern provides 10,320,000 for domestic trade and about 5,000,000 for export. As each lipstick is about two inches in length it follows that the annual output end to end would cover some 443 miles.

FRAT STUDENT DEATH IS HELD AS ACCIDENTAL

RESIDENCE DEMAND HERE IS IN EXCESS OF SUPPLY

E. P. Crawford, local real estate man, reports that the demand for rental property in Cisco is greater than the supply. "I have calls for houses to rent nearly every day, and I have none on my list at present. Prospects for a building campaign looks better right now than at any time in the last two years," Mr. Crawford said. "Several nice buildings will be started right away. Besides the residence of Henry Stute, on West Ninth street, and the G. C. Morris residence on West Seventh street, I know of four other new residences that will soon be built in Belmont addition. Also other contracts are now in the course of preparation but have not yet been closed. The outlook for more new residences is more flattering than at any time in recent years."

NIGRO TO TALK FOR BAYLOR AT ALBANY MEET

WACO, Oct. 6.—Baylor university at Waco, the oldest educational institution in Texas, will be the subject of H. V. Niemo of Cuba when he speaks at the Cisco district association meeting to be held in Albany on Wednesday. His address will center about the Greater Baylor university campaign to raise $2,000,000 in Texas for the Baptist university. More than 5,000 workers are engaged in putting over this campaign in Texas. Dates of the popular campaign are from November 23 to December 4.

The indebtedness of Baylor represents the bulk of the state demoralized debt in Texas. Money realized in the campaign will be used to retire that indebtedness and to create additional endowment. D. K. Martin, state chairman, has declared this campaign to be the most significant and far-reaching endeavor of Texas Baptists since the seventy-five million campaign.

Picking Most Valuable Players to Be Hard; Might Be Cochrane of Athletics, Grimes of Pirates

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Largely because what it actually is varies sharply from what it purports to be, the Most Valuable Player award in the major leagues will be distributed in the course of a month or two, so that all elements, having any of the features of the famous kindfold test, may be banished from the competition. Those eligible by the time the vote is cast will not be the leading players of the two leagues. They largely will be the winners of two clubs—the winners in each league.

Of course there have been exceptions in the past but these were predicated on either or both of two counts. The successful candidate was an absolute standout or the winning club had no adequate candidate to offer. For the most part, the committee's policy has been "hold on" if simply waited until the official standings were in and then observed the winner.

No Radical Ideas
No radical idea, such as giving recognition to a pitcher who has been fifteen or eighteen games for a second division club, are entertained. He undoubtedly is of greater comparative value in his outfit than the pitcher who wins 23 for the champions but that isn't the idea at all. Apparently, one is required to be a home ground umpire in thinking the decision however unusual, must appeal to the majority and no one doesn't become too insensitive about what may be going down below third base.

As for the "delisted" past procedure, noted above, the system is not without its recommendations, at least on the material side. Three years ago, the American League justified its nomination of Roger Peckinpaugh as its most valuable player to last. Its party was such that Peckinpaugh even won Peck and committed eight errors in the series of that year, 1925, or naturally it would have voted unanimously for somebody who really deserved it. Jay for instance, the man who caught a third strike with the bases empty.

Peckinpaugh's endorsement was long or less typical of the later careers of those thus honored—the good Mr. Carter, George Thome, Walter Johnson and Hornsby will do sufficient—but I have yet to learn of a candidate who approaches the quality with reluctance.

There are about a dozen American leaguers approaching it now. Peckinpaugh's nomination is a man being persuaded to accept a verified check and in line with my persistent idea of value, I don't think I should seriously consider any member of the New York Yankees. He is the most commendable of the lot, although Lammie was an excellent bet until injured.

Cochrane Invaluable
However, I don't think either quite embodies the degree of value to team success that Cochrane, "Mickey" Cochrane, gives to the Athletics.

If the Yanks had lost Gehrig, they probably wouldn't have been forced to worry about the position very much, but they still would have been a ball club. Without Cochrane, the Athletics would have been nothing. A great catcher and hitter, he was the spark that ignited the club's late season flourish. Furthermore, he was the man who made the pitchers what they were and, therefore, I don't see any particular reason for becoming over-wrought about Lefty Grove. Lefty, too, was a great factor in the club's climb. But, without Cochrane, where would he have been? I fear he would have been exactly where he used to be, which was nowhere in particular. Bishop was a great man for getting on and the connecting rod of his infield defense but his candidacy is overshadowed on his own team.

As far as Grove is concerned, was he of any more value to the Athletics than were Mammal and Sam Gray to the Browns or Ed Morris to the Red Sox? They got less attention but at least as many results. Besides, when you have a stand-out candidate on one side of the one-two club, it is well, according to the system, not to look too far for your man. The only man Cochrane has to fear, therefore, would seem to be Lou Gehrig.

In the National League, the National League has much the same situation with the Cardinals advancing only Jim Bottomley as a serious candidate. He is a very serious one, at that, but I would like to know if he ever did as much for any club as Burleigh Grimes did for the Pirates this year. There Grimes out and you wouldn't be able to see the Pirates this year with a television. Adams and Paul Warner the 1927 winner, also will receive consideration from the club but Grimes should have been badly liked before a vote is cast.

The Giants naturally will receive a big play from their position and so Fred's likelihood won't finish worse than second and deservedly so. He has had as great a year as a third baseman has known during the current generation. Lefty Benton, the pitcher also must figure strongly since he carried McGraw's staff for months. And what of Hughie Crite of the Reds?

But don't be ahead. Courtesy. There can't be any value in the second division.

MANY STARS TAKE PART IN "THE KING OF KINGS" screen. He was aided in the work by representatives of many faiths and research scholars of authority. Mass Jeanie Macpherson, the costar, is said to have wrought a more finely constructed story than "The Ten Commandments."

Among the eighteen stars of the production are such favorites as H. B. Warner, Jacqueline Logan, Rudolph and Joseph Schildkraut, Victor Varconi, William Boyd, Montague Love, George Siegmann, Theodore Kosloff, Julia Faye, Robert Edeson, Sam De Grasse. In fact, the cast of principals is a roster of eminent names in pictures. Approximately $2,500,000 is said to have been expended on the production. As the actors embody the cherished characters of the New Testament narrative, so the hundred great sets faithfully retrace the scenes in the life of Jesus.

The picture was shown with extraordinary success in this country and abroad and it won commendation of press and public alike. Its beauty and charm evoked the general praise.

FLARING COLLARS ON WINTER COATS

PARIS, Oct. 6.—The very smartest trick on coats that will be worn in the winter is the modernized Medici collar, very high and very flaring. It comes entirely in fur or of fur and cloth combined and stands out to make a charming frame for any pretty face.

Then, there is a new kind of fur handkerchief collar which some of the dressmakers are making in the very soft and supple skins. Extra wide and deep shawl collars are of new types, as well as padded roll ones.

Coat-sleeves are also original this winter. Many of the newest coats have half sleeves of fur or they flare below the shoulders. In some cases they flare between shoulders and elbows.

Coats are probably dressier than ever before, with all manner of flounces, tuckings and panels to give the same graceful lines of the frocks that are worn beneath them.

Phillipe of Gaston use diagonals, a woolen material with a straight, diagonal wave and velvet surface for a very smart winter coat. It is trimmed with beige astrakhan which forms the scarf collar that ties in back and has band cuffs. The unstitched reverse box pleats at the sides of the front and back are caught into the shoulder seams and end at the inner pockets in front and at the belt in the back.

WOMEN ARE TAKING ACTIVE PART IN SEEKING NATION'S VOTE

Walker Willebrandt Holds Night; Other Feminine Leaders Include Ex-Gov. Ross and Mrs. Hert

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The part played by women in the presidential campaign is solid and rather than spectacular, a notable exception. Leaders in both the Republican and Democratic camps include Ex-Gov. Ross and Mrs. Hert.

Genevieve Clark Thompson, daughter of the late Champ Clark, is speaking for Smith throughout the South and East. Lillian Wald, Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson, Mrs. J. Borden Harriman and Mrs. Mary T. Norton also are in demand for speeches in behalf of Smith, in person and other the radio.

Two prominent women in the League of Women Voters, Mrs. Louise Slade and Mrs. Casper Whitney, are in opposite camps. Mrs. Slade is a leading Hooverite. On the Republican side Janet Hert is organizing the college women of the country for Hoover.

Orleanian Helped Quell Revolt Argentina, Was Made Admiral and Then Fled to Escape Firing Squad

ORLEANS, Oct. 6.—It is a story from the quarter-deck of a ship's flagship to a paint-staining house on Camp New Orleans. But Wandell has made the trip. Orlean has always been a refuge for wandering adventurers.

Wandell boarded his warship—an antiquated steam-propelled frigate, with a broadside of eight muzzle-loading guns and a crew of 400 swabby cutthroats. Wandell organized them and then inquired as to his duties.

At last the signal came. Wandell took his warship up the river, cleared for action. "I'd been doing some heavy thinking," he explains. "I know that gang in Boca, and it took more than blank cartridges to fire them. So I made up my mind to use regular cannon balls, so they'd know I was shooting for keeps."

Wandell thought of the waterfront dives where sailors were drugged and robbed. He decided to get even. "I spotted a lot of those dumps, and I shot hell out of 'em," he remarks. "I never had such a good time in my life. I kept it up from 9 in the morning to 4 in the afternoon."

Faces Jail Term

Wandell broke a window and escaped. Down the streets of Buenos Aires he fled the soldiers at his heels, firing at his fleeing figure. Wandell headed for the waterfront. There he found a haven on a German ship, the crew of which, learning his nationality, protected him from the mob.

Palatial Train Carries Party of Gov. Smith on Trips; 50 News Men and Photographers Are Cared for ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 6.—The special train carrying Gov. Alfred E. Smith and party in the presidential tour of the Democratic nominee is the last word in both convenience and equipment, especially put together to comprise a work institution on wheels. Republican organizations like to refer to the political caravan as "Governor Smith's Million Dollar Train." In fact the cost of the equipment of eleven cars might be as high as $100,000, the property of the New York Central lines and the Pullman company, but a few ripners added in these days of political campaigning probably matters little to the casual observer.

When Charles E. Hughes, Republican nominee for president in 1916, left New York for a tour of "winning the West," his palatial train was referred to by Democrats as "a million dollar" affair, against which the score now is evened now by the trips Governor Smith is making. Mr. Hughes' last trip to the Pacific coast was a disastrous venture politically. He lost California and the election.

Political campaigning has grown to be a serious undertaking from the party standpoint. It wins or loses the election and much much depends upon the work of the vice presidential nominee's approach of the voting public, the presidential nominee to the big card upon whom the vision of the electorate is trained. In his work of seeking for popular support, Governor Smith virtually takes his entire office along. It might be unfortunate were he to be speaking in Corn Hollow or some other place and he asked a question he could not answer by the record, or to have a certain incident bob up in the campaign and have no material by which he may make himself clear. The vice nominee is accompanied by a staff of about twenty-five and fifty are making the rounds with Governor Smith and probably as many go with Mr. Hoover.

The Democratic committee has equipped an innovation in equipment by use of newspaper men by fitting out the Pullman East Pulls like the city room of a great newspaper, which is the place where the city or local news stories are prepared for publication. Between thirty and forty typewriters are set in tables in the newspaper office on wheels. A compartment is made over to serve as a room for developing photographs taken en route by staff photographers who incidentally have become a fixed institution on all large news events. The telegraph companies have special representatives and messenger boys along to handle the millions of words being written about the speeches, and the crowds.

There is a car devoted to the publicity department of the Democratic national committee, equipped with mimeographing machines for putting Governor Smith's speeches in type to be passed out

Contrary to the usual method of campaigning, the Democratic nominee is preparing no speeches in advance but delivers them off-hand, one might say, the same way he campaigns in New York state, so that it becomes necessary to make available the speech in full immediately after being delivered so that it may be telegraphed broadcast throughout the United States. Then there is the political literature to be passed out in the shape of posters, pamphlets and buttons, tens of which are being carried, and attendants go through the crowd and supply the literature at every stop.

Club Car Is Feature.

In addition to keeping the newspaper writers on the train informed, the organization mails to newspapers in the city and vicinity of the speech such matters as have bearing upon the nominee's visit, including the speech itself. Members of this branch of the party include typists and rapid shorthand writers.

While there is no more exacting or difficult work in the business of producing a newspaper than the covering of a political tour of this character as it applies to the writers themselves, it may not be said that they are entirely disheartened. There is a club car in the train where Governor Smith conducts his press conferences, but when not so in use is a lounge and equipped with radio. The Hughes train of twelve years ago was considered elaborate in its time, but that nominee was accompanied by only seven or eight newspaper men.

Other cars in the train include the private car St. Nicholas, the property of Mr. Kenny of New York, one of Governor Smith's closest friends who has leased it for the occasion. There is an observation drawing room car for use of Governor Smith's immediate party, three compartment Pullmans for the press, a diner giving twenty-four-hour service, an extra sleeping car and a baggage car.

There is some playtime for those aboard the train, but it is a hard-working job to keep up with the various events and the particularly applies to the newspaper correspondents. After the nominee makes his speeches, whether they be at night or daytime, the reporter rests in the city room car and begins hammering out the stories, which must be finished for the readers of their newspapers before any sleep may be theirs. This carried their work far into the night, but as the stops are not frequent, they are able to rest meanwhile.

The "Million Dollar Train"—officials at the Democratic national headquarters in New York lately at the idea, also do they discount the entire venture is coming out of the campaign funds. In fact, the party's war chest is contributing no more than about one-third the cost of the train's operation. Each of the newspapers pay the way of their representatives, together with telegraph tolls, which becomes a small item as the campaign goes on.

Star of Raided Show in Court

COTTON PRICE IRREGULAR AS REPORT IS DUE

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Approach of the third government crop estimate Monday brought about some irregularity in the cotton market this week. Trading was fairly active, however, and several rallies occurred in the face of rather heavy raining by long.

Early in the week, the sentiment was bullish, with many looking for a reduction in the estimate, but when the weekly weather report told of more favorable weather conditions and good development of the crop, these ideas in many cases, were revised upward. Some went so far as to predict a crop of 15,000,000 bales.

Several private estimates were made, ranging from 13,500,000 to well over 14,000,000 bales. The Fossick-Bureau of Memphis estimated the crop at 13,990,000 bales while F. A. Pierce & Co., placed it at 14,250,000 bales, and Bennett & Co. 13,985,000 bales. The average expectation around the floor of the exchange seemed to be for a crop of around 14,200,000 bales for the next bureau estimate.

Notwithstanding the approach of the bureau report, the market maintained a fairly steady keel. It was bolstered up on weak spots by improved trade advices.

Development of Auto Repairing from Screw Driver and Hammer to Be Shown at Fair at Dallas

DALLAS, Oct. 6.—How the automotive repair and maintenance business has developed from the screw driver and hammer since a few years ago to a highly specialized business employing precision tools and labor saving equipment in the maintenance and servicing of motor vehicles is being demonstrated at the Action Maintenance Clinic in progress as a feature of the State Fair at Texas in Dallas.

kind to be held this year in the South, although similar clinics will be held later at New York, Chicago and other large Northern and Eastern cities.

Many automotive dealers, mechanics, service managers and garage owners are taking advantage of the opportunity to visit and enjoy the many attractions of the State Fair and at the same time profit from a visit to the automotive and maintenance exhibit.

The Dallas State Fair clinic is being sponsored by three Dallas A. E. A. automotive equipment wholesalers, the Automotive Appliance Co., the Ferris-Simpson Co. and the Schoellkopf Co. It includes the exhibit of 25 leading manufacturers of automotive maintenance tools and equipment.

FIRST TEXANS TO WIN IN SONG TILT

Encouraged by winning first place in the Bryan local singing contest—Texas' first local competition in the 1934 National Radio Audition—Miss Kathryn Frances Cason, 23, and George G. Griffin, 21, both of Bryan, are training diligently for the Southern Texas State Audition at Radio Station KPR, Houston, October 13, when city vocal choruses aim to qualify for Atwater Kent Foundation awards of $17,500 cash.

With a widespread awakening of the fact that more life is being built into motor vehicles, but which can be profited from only through adequate preventive maintenance, the interest in the maintenance clinic at the Texas State Fair Motor car owners are rapidly becoming "maintenance wise" and have learned to distinguish between the well equipped shop prepared to render adequate service and the less efficient establishment where haphazard methods still prevail.

Another factor to which is attributed the unusual interest in the Dallas maintenance clinic is a growing consciousness of the safety hazard created by faulty safety equipment on motor vehicles.

BRAKES cause accidents or prevent them -which kind are yours?

It only takes one skid—one emergency in which brakes fail to hold—to cause an accident. It might be slight—perhaps a jammed fender—and it might cost a life. Why gamble with chance? Brakes, out of balance or not equalized will cause a car to skid to the right or left. Four-wheel brakes—when out of adjustment—add no more to your ability to stop than two-wheel brakes. Your car is only as safe as its brakes. Keep them in perfect adjustment.

We have installed a new JUMBO Giant Brake Tester that scientifically tests two or four-wheel brakes. Use our accurate test every 1500 miles. If adjustments are needed we will make them quickly—at a very reasonable charge.

Goodyear TIRES

at Wholesale Cost!

Regardless of what others say we are selling these wonderful tires at Wholesale Cost list. Our profit will come from a rebate from the factory, based on a quantity sale for the year.

We are going to sell $50,000 worth of tires this year and that is the way we will get our profit.

Now where do you come in? You are going to purchase these wonderful Goodyear Tires for less money than you have ever been able to buy such quality tires at before. And since you get the Goodyear quality at wholesale cost, you are going to be mighty glad you read this in the paper.

Do it today. Do not worry along with tire trouble, end it now.

CHAPTER X
 Adele and George sped along the highway in the big car. Both were silent, now, for the heat and dust were choking and the stillness was fearful after the afternoon of coaching Adele had just concluded. In a few minutes George swung the car around into a side road where there was a suggestion of leafy coolness and the actress sat up and looked around at the familiar scene. At last they came to a small path that led away from the road.

"That's that, George," Adele called, pointing to the mill. "where we go in towards the mill." George smiled happily at Adele's recollection of the old byway that led to the pond where they had some tramping, picnicking and skating when they were children. He shut off the motor and helped Adele out of the car.

"Are you sure you can walk in those shoes?" he questioned, looking dubiously at the small, high-heeled footgear.

"I couldn't walk in anything else, George," Adele laughed. "These heels aren't really very high—they're medium," she informed him. "And perfectly comfortable. Come on, I know the way." She ran ahead, George following.

As the banker watched Adele's lithe figure scampering on; the printed crepe dress with the short skirts that barely covered her knees softly enveloping her graceful form, George was carried back to thoughts of other days, when he and Adele had run along that same path, hand in hand. Then, however, they had had barefoot, and Adele's hair hung in braids down her back. Now, although Adele looked almost as young as ever, George realized that he was panting and straining his muscles to keep up with her.

Miss Cordie Guthrie Was Honored at Two Events.
 Complimenting Miss Cordie Guthrie, who will leave soon to make her home in San Angelo, she was the honoree at two social affairs the past week. The first of these was a moonlight picnic dinner Thursday evening when several friends of Miss Guthrie drove to Lake Cisco, where a delicious spread was enjoyed at the Wedding camp grounds. Those present were Misses Mamma and Letta Estes, Miss Shipman, Miss Landreth, Miss Alice Strickland, Miss Lois Grantham, Mrs. R. F. Joiner, Mrs. McClelland and Mrs. Irene Hallmark.

Miss Letta Estes was the gracious hostess, and Miss Guthrie was the charming honoree at a most delightful bridge party Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. H. Kennon, where Mrs. Kennon assisted the hostess in doing the honors for the occasion. Two tables of bridge were enjoyed and a most pleasant evening was spent in social intercourse, which was only marred by the thought of the early departure of Miss Guthrie, who is loved and esteemed by all of her friends and intimates. Mints were served during the games. Many regrets were expressed on account of this popular young lady leaving Cisco, regrets which were only ameliorated by the thought that she would still be near enough to visit her Cisco friends occasionally. Miss Guthrie will make her home in San Angelo, where she will retain her present position as office manager for the Gray Hardware Co., which is moving to that city. She has been with this firm for the past ten years, and has proven one of Cisco's foremost business women, enjoying the respect and esteem of everyone having business dealings with that firm.

For the occasion the rooms were beautifully decorated with pot-plant and cut flowers with roses, geraniums and ferns predominating. The honoree was presented with a beautiful bouquet of roses, mute expressions of the love and esteem of those with whom she was the monoguest on this occasion.

Obviously this was a bridge party, but to the surprise of the honoree, the affair partook more of a going away shower, as Miss Guthrie was the recipient of many appreciated gifts from those with whom she will soon part, pleasant mementoes from those she is leaving behind.

During the evening Miss Erwin served a delicious refreshment of fruit punch and cake to the honoree, Miss Cordie Guthrie, Miss Blanche Norvell, Mrs. Myrtle Rominger, Miss Letta Estes, Miss Lois Grantham, Miss Willie Sandifer, Mrs. Irene Hallmark, Mrs. Ida Kennon and the hostess.

Anderson, J. T. Dean, J. T. Berry, Ben McClinton, Joe Shackelford, William Reagan, B. W. Patterson, J. J. Butts, Hubbard, W. P. Lee, G. B. Kelly and J. B. Cate.

First Industrial Arts Club Votes to Help With Park
 The First Industrial Arts club members were entertained at the home of Mrs. H. A. Bible on E avenue Thursday afternoon. The president, Mrs. J. D. Barker, conducted the business session, at which time the club voted to cooperate with the chamber of commerce in securing a centrally located park for Cisco. The program was in charge of Mrs. L. W. Hilgenberg. Mrs. A. J. Olson gave an splendid paper on "Famous Women of Today." The round table discussion was given by Mesdames A. L. Lankford, R. E. Grantham, Sherman Roberts and P. P. Shepard. The hostess served refreshments to 20 members, and three new members added to the roll—Mesdames Rex Moore, A. L. Lankford and C. H. Van Eman.

T. F. I. Class Meets With Mrs. J. V. Heyser
 The T. F. I. Class of the First Baptist church was entertained Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. V. Heyser, 1666 N. avenue. A profusion of cut flowers adorned the room. Mrs. Heyser was assisted in entertaining her guests by Mrs. S. E. Hittson, Mrs. S. G. Blount led the devotional, after which she announced the term of office had expired for the officers of the class, that election of new officers was the order of the day, and resulted during election. Mesdames J. I. Shepard, W. H. La Roque and Parsons had been appointed on the nominating committee and Mrs. La Roque was requested to read the recommendations of the committee. The following officers were elected by acclamation: Teacher, Miss Cora Harris; president, Mrs. S. G. Blount; first vice president, Mrs. A. E. Etheridge; second vice president, Mrs. J. V. Heyser; third vice president, Mrs. W. H. La Roque; secretary, Mrs. C. F. Ferguson; assistant secretary, Mrs. L. A. White; treasurer, Mrs. J. J. Butts; reporter, Mrs. P. P. Shepard. Cisco Music Study Club Begins New Year's Work.
 The Cisco Music Study club began its year's work on Friday with a noon luncheon at the home of Mrs. W. V. Hoyt, 855 West Thirtieth street. A very enjoyable concert in musical terms bearing on the football game was enjoyed by the ladies, after which a delicious two course luncheon was served, consisting of creamed chicken in pastry shells, vegetable salad, sweet pickle, stuffed olives, hot buttered rolls, strawberry preserves and loaf tea, with a beautifully garnished nesselrode pudding and cake for dessert. After the luncheon was disposed of the meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. H. I. Stock. Announcements were made and reports of committees read for, after which the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Hoyt, who was leader for the day's lesson, the subject being primitive music. Mrs. Stock gave a very interesting talk on "Early Greek Cultural Arts." Mrs. S. E. Hittson discussed "Early Roman Cultural Arts" and Mrs. H. E. Barnett discussed the "Progress of Civilization Through the Dark Ages." The officers for the coming year are: President, Mrs. H. I. Stock; vice president, Mrs. H. E. Barnett; recording secretary, Mrs. S. E. Hittson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. P. P. Shepard; treasurer, Mrs. W. V. Hoyt. Those present for the meeting were Mesdames Barnett, Hittson, Land, Maner, Pass-

STOCK JUDGING TEAM WILL LEAVE TODAY FOR STATE FAIR

Youths, Champions of Texas, Will Participate in Competition at National Dairy Show at Memphis

Executive Leader

E. H. Varnell, vocational agriculturist of the Cisco chamber of commerce and high school, will leave today for Dallas with his champion stock judging team, where they will spend the week training at the Dallas state fair for the national dairy show to be held in Memphis, Tenn. In which the team will participate in judging contests during that event. The team is composed of Floyd Thurman, N. L. Taylor, Bert Ezzell and Osborn Yeager. They will be instructed at Dallas by J. J. Brown, assistant state supervisor of vocational agriculture, and other prominent dairy judges of the state.

The Texas & Pacific and Cotton Belt railroads are furnishing free transportation to Mr. Varnell and his champion team to Memphis, and the Dallas state fair association is furnishing the team and Mr. Varnell with complimentary tickets to the fair during their stay in that city.

The team will depart from Dallas for Memphis Oct. 13, and will be ready for the national judging contests Monday, Oct. 15, in which practically every state in the union will be represented. Quite an array of prizes will be awarded to the winners of these contests, the most valuable of which will be an $800 cash scholarship in the A. & M. college at College Station. This scholarship was won last year by Charles Taylor, a Dublin, Texas, boy.

Cisco people are counting on this team making a splendid showing at the National Dairy show, as they won this trip to Memphis at College Station with the sharpest kind of competition in which were teams from nearly every county in the state.

EDDIES OF AIR OFTEN RESULT IN HURRICANE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6. — An explanation of the origin of hurricanes such as the one which hit the Florida coast, was given by the National Geographic society, as follows:

Most of the so-called West Indian hurricanes come into existence over the warm seas. They are probably gentle little eddies of air at first, but gather momentum owing to differences in temperature and air pressure. Then they become gigantic whirls sucking air toward central vortex like vacuum cleaners.

The fact that the hurricane at San Juan blew at the rate of 120 and perhaps 150 miles an hour stamps these eddies of air as extraordinary violence.

Since hurricanes are formed by the intersection of heat and atmospheric pressure, the summer months and those of early autumn, when the cumulative effects of the summer sun are still to be felt, are naturally the periods of greatest hurricane occurrence. Porto Rico has not experienced a hurricane in July during the past 49 years, as shown by a study by the United States weather bureau. Only one or two have occurred in July.

duce order and sure justice and we should begin with the federal government."

Gov. service—"I believe in the best system of the civil service and I believe further that appropriate offices must be filled by those who deserve the confidence and respect of the citizenry they serve."

Methods—"It is absolutely essential to the normal development and the enlarged opportunity of the boys and girls in every home that we increasingly strengthen our public school system and our institutions of higher learning."

Legislation—"All legislation, all administrative action, must stand the supreme test that it provide equal opportunity for all our citizens, not for any special group."

Against Federal Competition.

Government in Business—"I do not favor any general extension of the federal government into the operation of business as competition with the citizen. It is not the system of Lumber or Bookmaking. It is not the American system. It is not only undemocratic but it undermines state and local self-government. It is the destruction of state rights. Federalism, however, must be master of its own house."

Hoover laid down for himself what might be termed "rules for a president."

The president has primarily the great task of administration—the broad business in the world—the United States government," he began. "The president has the responsibility of cooperating with congress in the enactment of laws and securing their enforcement. In the determination of policies, he is not only the leader of a party. He is greater than this. He is the president of the whole people. He must interpret the conscience of America. He must guide his conduct by the idealism of our people."

"The presidency is no dictatorship. It is not intended to be. Safeguards are provided to prevent it. Our government rests safely upon the will of the people. It springs from the people; its policies must be approved by the people."

"Main Street" Is Defended.

In conclusion, Hoover reaffirmed his devotion to the American home and made defense of "main street."

"I with other Americans, have perhaps unduly resented the stream of American life, the status and character of our people," he said. "More particularly have I resented the sneers at main street. For I have known that in the cottages that lay behind the street rested the strength of our national character. When it comes to the organization necessary to meet that great catastrophe (the Mississippi flood), the measure of time alone made it necessary to rely wholly upon the leadership, the intelligence, the devotion, the integrity and service of hundreds of towns and villages on the border of the flood. It was they who most undertake the important work of rescue, the building of gigantic camps, the care of children, the provision of food, the protection of health of three quarters of a million homeless people.

"I do not wish to disparage the usefulness of Broadway, Pennsylvania avenue, or State street, but it is from Main street and its countryside that the creative energies of the nation must be replenished and restored."

John H. Garner's, Cisco, Texas. Heartly congratulations. The Greater Store for Cisco represents the achievement of an ideal toward which we've been working for a long time, and clearly demonstrates that quality merchandise, at a reasonable price, is always appreciated. Cisco deserves the best. We will contrive to put forth every legitimate effort to meet all the requirements of a Dependable Department Store. Growing as Cisco grows, never sacrificing the ethical ideals to which we've steadfastly adhered. My sincere appreciation and thanks to all who have had a part in this forward movement. Regret that it is impossible for me to be present on this auspicious occasion.
