CLAY PRODUCT PLANT IN CISCO BEING SOUGHT

E. P. Crawford and J. E. Peters have been collecting samples of clay in the Cisco country with a view of submitting it to parties interested in establishing a clay products plant in Cisco. It is understood that nothing definite has yet been accomplished regarding the security of the clay for the purpose of being a determining factor. Crawford and Peters secured many samples of Cisco clay, some of which appears to be excellent quality.

FILM COMBINE OF $200,000,000 IS ANNOUNCED

NEW YORK, Oct. 10. — A new $200,000,000 motion picture combination was announced today between Warner Brothers Pictures, Vitaphone, the Stanley company and First National Pictures. The contracts have been drawn up ready for the signing.

GAIN OF $417 FOR THIRD QUARTER

Cisco postal receipts for the quarter ending September 30, 1928, were $9,195.72, against $8,778.55 for the corresponding quarter of 1927, a net gain of $417.17. According to Postmaster J. W. Tripitt the receipts at the local postoffice have shown a steady gain each quarter of this year. The first quarter, ending March 31, the receipts were $8,383.89. The second quarter ending June 30, showed $8,514.98, or a gain over the previous quarter of $131.09. This gradual gain in postal receipts is reflected in the receipts for each month of the third quarter, ending Sept. 30, as the monthly receipts were as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Month, Receipts. July: $2,856.83; August: $3,120.30; September: $3,217.49. Total receipts for the first three quarters of 1928 were $26,994.59, or $13,903.41 shy of $40,000, which Postmaster Tripitt thinks will be easily obtained during the last quarter of the year, as the Christmas postal receipts are practically certain to swell the business to the desired yearly total of $40,000, necessary for continuance as a first class office.

SLAYS GIRL, STAGGERS TO POLICE OFFICE

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 18 — His face burned by poison, Glen Jenkins, 20, staggered into a police station here today crying that he had killed Marie Young and then collapsed. The body of the young woman was found in a rented automobile outside.

LIONS ENJOY BOAT RIDE ON LAKE CISCO

The Lions club met 15 minutes earlier Wednesday at noon in order to enjoy a boat trip around Lake Cisco through the courtesy of P. G. Berry, of the Lake Cisco Amusement Co., the trip having been arranged specially for the Lions by K. H. Pittard, who was chairman for the day.

About 40 members of the Lions club, after a hasty luncheon at the hall, were rushed to the lake in automobiles and were taken in two large boats on a cruise of the lake and its tributaries. Many expressed surprise at the amount of water that has already been impounded. Acres and acres of fine duck shooting waters are available for the Nimrods who enjoy the sport. As the season for duck shooting is not far away this thought was in the minds of many.

SISTER OF CISCO WOMAN DIES AT JONESBORO, ARK.

NEW WALK TO BOAT LANDING AT LAKE LAID

Making easy access to the boat landing at Lake Cisco a splendid walk from the brow of the bluff to the water's edge has been completed. This work was done by the city contract crew and a splendid piece of work is the result. The walk takes the place of the long flight of steps that visitors to the lake formerly had to climb, and as the grade is gradual, the descent and ascent are more easy to negotiate. The boat landing, or wharf, has also been repaired and improved, and those who go to Lake Cisco for the Sunday boat excursions, can now board the craft without fear of breaking through and falling in the water.

DRIFT TO SMITH IN MARYLAND SEEN BY TEXAS CONGRESSMEN

Spirit of Fair Play Reacting in New Yorker's Favor But Outcome Will Depend on Baltimore Voters

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—An appeal to the American spirit of fair play for Governor Smith as Democratic nominee for president is making gains for the ticket in Maryland, and that there is a gradual drift to the Democratic ticket of both men and women, is the impression of two members of the Texas congressional delegation who have been making campaign speeches there. Congressman E. W. Black made speeches in the western part of the state and Congressman Luther Johnson spoke in counties along the eastern shore.

As in practically every other state, the issues in Maryland are membership in the Catholic church. The state has a large Catholic population, but Protestants predominate. Thirty days ago the state was rated unopinionably in Hoover. Today there is reported a gradual drift in the other direction, due somewhat to the victory resulting from the election that the religious question should have its place in a political campaign.

According to Mr. Black, the two issues are not always found twined together there, yet both are treated in a large degree. The largest favorable response he obtained from his audiences was upon the declaration which he is a member of the Methodist church and tried to live up to its doctrines, he went there for spiritual guidance and not political advice. Also voters of Maryland were impressed by Mr. Black's denial that Smith is to be linked with the immoral forces of the country because he suggests changes in the constitution. The Texas delegation Smith in Maryland as in other states assert that prohibition is a moral issue.

Die at Enforcement.

The state section of Maryland is dry and Protestant. Governor Smith is being attacked from both sides. Mr. Johnson by campaign promises found a decided drift away from the idea that the church should have a place in politics and on the prohibition issue there are found belief that Smith's administration would be better than that of Coolidge's in enforcing prohibition. The Texas member charged that if there has been any failure in prohibition it is due to the lax enforcement by the Coolidge administration, the policies of which Hoover has promised to continue. He also attacked Republican claims that the country is prosperous and found considerable approval in that section of the state where they have a farm problem.

In any event, however, Maryland's eight electoral votes may now be counted in the doubtful column, whereas a month ago it was left Hoover was on the ascendency, said Mr. Johnson.

"When Democrats step and think they will not leave the party on a false issue such as religion in a political campaign."

A survey of the state shows that women are registering heavier than usual, a fact that has made the political leaders change their tactics of past years. At the outset of the campaign, women directed the Democratic ticket in some instances on the issue of prohibition, religion and Governor Smith's social standing when measured by White House correspondence. Religion, although slow, is definitely setting in.

May Depend on Baltimore.

The Maryland result may be said to depend upon Baltimore or the general prevailing ratio of cities versus the rural communities. The Baltimore Democratic organization is torn by factions as a result of the death of the Democratic boss in July. The Republican boss died last week and factions in that party are already setting for control. Leaders in both camps are working to bring about harmony, and ten days ago it was thought accomplished among the Democrats. At any rate, it is considered that Democratic victory depends upon how much of a majority can be rolled up in Baltimore to offset the anti-Smith trend in the country districts.

Observers are waiting for the visit of Governor Smith in the closing days of the campaign when he will speak in Baltimore, but unless the factions are able to harmonize their differences, there is danger of his losing the electoral vote.

first among all for which records were kept at the school. Demand for birds from the Frazar farm has become heavy, and orders have been received from breeders in all parts of the United States. Last year 700 choice pullets were shipped to Louisiana State University. Recently 500 were sent to Ardmore, Oklahoma, where a Frazar exhibit was made at the fair last year. A few months ago an order for a large number of birds came from a breeder in California.

To meet the increasing demand for their chicks and pullets, the most modern methods of hatching and rearing are used. All incubators and brooders are heated by electricity from their own transformer on the 12-acre farm. More than 40,000 chicks are hatched every year all from eggs produced by their own hens. This year the number will reach nearer 50,000, about half of which number were sold as chicks.

The electric brooding system used maintains the correct temperature at all times. Chick starter is used as the feed for the first six weeks, after which the diet is gradually changed to growing mash. The mash is fed in sanitary open troughs, and is kept before the baby chicks at all times. The chicks are also given grain three times a day, and all the semi-solid buttermilk they will eat. Recommendations of the A. & M. College as to ration are followed.

About 2,500 laying hens are kept at all times. Of these, approximately 1,000 are kept for commercial production of infertile eggs. When the market price is low, the eggs are kept in storage at the local ice company.

Mrs. Frazar recommends germinated oats as a feed for layers. The laying hens are given a feed of oats the first thing in the morning, and have access to mash at all times. Plenty of fresh water is kept constantly before them. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon they are given a heavy grain feed, and after another hour are given a feeding of mash made up with semi-solid buttermilk and water. The mash is fed after the grain to avoid risk of indigestion caused by the packing of mash at the crop.

Sanitation in pens and houses, Mrs. Frazar believes, is one of the greatest requisites for success with poultry. Dropping boards are cleaned and limed every day, and the chicken houses scraped, sprayed and whitewashed every three weeks. In this way many of the common diseases which affect chickens are avoided. As a second precaution against prevalent diseases, vaccines for typhoid and colds are given.

If the flock is well bred, free from external and internal parasites, and properly housed, and well managed, much of the farmer's loss through the low price of eggs can be avoided, Mrs. Frazar believes.

POLICE CALLED AS GOLF BALLS CUT UP

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—There were so many golf balls cutting glasses in the atmosphere around 1237 Loyola avenue early Tuesday morning, it was a wonder some one didn't get hit on the head. John Smith was practicing his "hook" in the dark of the moon. Passing by, hearing the balls falling all about them like hail on a green house roof, called police. The officers found young Smith, in his room tearing off for another drive through the shattered window. At the police station a friend of the nocturnal golfer told police the man under arrest was in reality the son of an Evans-ton millionaire. Police decided, however, that John Smith, under any other name, would be just as guilty of disorderly conduct, so the cell door banged closed.

NEW RANGER WELL MAKING 285 BARRELS

RANGER, Oct. 10.—A splendid well was drilled in Monday night in Cisco's 2001 section, of Range by the Belva Oil Co. The No. 2, on the Good and Range lease, is flowing 285 barrels of oil and is making 2,450,000 feet of gas from the Bond sand.

This lease has proved one of the finest developed in the pool that was discovered almost two years ago. The No. 1 of the Belva came in for 750 barrels and is still making 150 barrels a day after having been in for 18 months. This producer is probably the finest in the pool on the basis of long-time sustained output. The No. 2 came in for 200 barrels and is holding up well. Both these wells are producing from the Bond. The No. 3, which went on down to the Ranger sand—was the biggest of all on Bush production—500 barrels a day. With 40 operations in progress, Eastland county retained its lead in the deep producing fields activities last week, according to the regular weekly drilling reports.

Stephens county was next with 25 operations. Brown county led the shallow field activities with 78 operations. Coleman county had 61 and Shackelford county 35.

Operations in other counties were: Palo Pinto 14, Erath 7, Comanche 7, Callahan 5, McCulloch 4, Hood 3, Parker 1, San Saba 1, Burnet 1.

Two New Wells. Ed Parsons and others have begun work on two new oil wells in the Cheaney district. One will be put down on the Calvert tract and the other on the Jones tract.

Some promising development has been going on in the Cheaney area and these two new wells are in what is regarded as semi-proven territory.

SPORTS DRESSES GET TOUCH OF PRACTICAL

PARIS, Oct. 15.—The sports dress, practical and easy to wear, continues to be the mainstay of every smart wardrobe for winter. In spite of the growing insistence upon floating draperies, flounces and frills which make for more and more femininity.

Houses of the regulation two-piece jumper suits are shorter and caught at the natural waist-line with a wide leather belt. Where the blouse is decorated with diagonal insets or appliques in sodae designs, the contrasting fabric has been cut on the bias.

The design in many of the new hand-knitted pullovers is confined to the greater front, leaving the sleeves and back in a solid shade. Color has been applied courageously to the sweaters for practical sports wear, and such combinations as bright yellow and black, red and black, or plaid or red, white and blue are not unusual. White is added effectively to these winter sports ensembles in the form of detachable collars and cuffs of satin crepe de Chine or tulle.

Singular for its half way shoulder-cape which covers one sleeve and drops to the elbow is a sport coat from Beers in brown tweed. Brown and beige, or black, white and gray form the most attractive combinations in tweed fabrics and in general the weaves are rough and colors quite emphatic.

Essentially masculine are double-breasted "jumper suits" of tweed with stitched box pleats front and back. Because the new skirts are either circular or pleated and offer little protection against penetrating winter winds, a pair of fitted tweed knickers usually accompanies the suit.

Brass buttons trim some of the smartest sports costumes, and where they are omitted, costume jewelry in brass or silver supplies a military touch.

'Wild Parties' Held No Spur to Delinquency by Criminologist; Modern Generation Is No Worse

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 15.—Gin fizzes, wild parties, excessive smoking and riotous living—discarded by moralists to be responsible for the rapid increase in juvenile delinquency—in reality have nothing to do with it.

That is the opinion of Dr. H. M. Alder of Chicago, noted criminologist, who conferred with the governor here after meeting with the California Commission for the Study of Problem Children.

On Decease

"It's a mistake to think that boys and girls of today are any worse than in previous generations," said Dr. Alder. "As a matter of truth, juvenile delinquency is on the decrease all over the nation.

The present so-called crime wave in California and elsewhere, is largely a result of a general loosening of the social structure of the country following the World war. It is not a problem of morals, nor of mind, nor of psychology.

California should have a state department devoted exclusively to the study of behavioristic disorders in children. Such indications are the surest proof of criminal tendencies.

"The critical age in young people is from 17 to 25," he said. "It is during this stage that our most dangerous criminals are developed. Our purpose in searching for criminal tendencies in children is to protect the community, and make it a safe place to live in. The state doesn't want revenge; it wants adequate protection.

Watch the Child

"Schools should be on the alert for criminal tendencies in children. When a child enjoys being cruel to animals, it is time to watch that child. Callousness and cruelty are sure indications of a criminal instinct.

"An ideal solution would be a two-
