BOSCOBEL, Wis., Oct. 15.—Senator John J. Blaine, former governor of Wisconsin, announced today that he would support Governor Alfred E. Smith for the presidency. Senator Blaine is a progressive Republican. "America needs a courageous and independent leadership of our social and economic problems are to be solved in the interest of the masses," the senator said in a statement. CONG. BLANTON TO SPEAK FOR DEMO TICKET

The Democrats of Eastland county will hold a grand rally at Eastland next Saturday night at which Congressman Tom L. Blanton will be the principal speaker. Congressman Blanton, it will be recalled, was in congress during the administrations of Presidents Wilson, Harding and Coolidge. He is well acquainted with Herbert Hoover, the Republican nominee for president and is familiar with matters connected with the present and past administrations. What Congressman Blanton has to say will be first-hand information, when he tells of matters that have transpired during the years he has been in congress. He is also intimately acquainted with the Democratic nominee, Alfred Emanuel Smith, whose administration as governor of New York state are familiar to him. Blanton's speech will be of especial interest. Mrs. W. D. Moore, of Denton, who is one of the most forceful women speakers in Texas, will also make a short talk at the meeting, and will have something of special interest to say to the women of Eastland county. It is hoped that a large number of Cisco and Eastland county people will be at this meeting, as matters of vital importance to the organization will be transacted.

BRECKENRIDGE TAX RATE CUT 25c TO $2.15

BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 15.—The 1928 tax rate for Breckenridge has been set at $2.15—a reduction of 25 cents from the rate of last year's rate.

This announcement was made by Mayor Charles H. Clark in behalf of the city commission, after a force of property valuation experts, in connection with his local citizens, had spent two months in planning a 100 per cent valuation on both real and personal property in Breckenridge.

The valuations of Breckenridge property was reached in an entirely new way this year. The standard system was used. By this method, experts in valuing property studied every foot of property in the city and placed a 100 per cent valuation on it.

However, the 100 per cent basis outlined by the unity system was not used for a tax rate basis. Mayor Clark explains. Only a 75 per cent valuation was used for this purpose.

The new unit system did not raise all valuations as might be thought by the public. Mayor Clark stated that about 90 per cent of the valuations were really lowered. 25 per cent were left as they originally were, and 25 per cent increased.

In fact, he explains, the valuations were really lowered in general. The increase in total valuations came from the increase in building and expansion he added.

DEMOCRATS ARE FIGHTING HARD TO CARRY CONNECTICUT

G. O. P. Professes Confidence But State Went to Cleveland 3 Times; Hoover Forces Soft Pedal Dry Law

BOSTON Mass., Oct. 15.—New England Democrats are getting up a hard fight to win some of the normally Republican vote for Governor Alfred E. Smith, Connecticut this year again is a presidential battleground. Republican leaders that journeyed to Hartford Sunday to be in the official presence of Hoover, frankly admit their opponents are fighting, but hold there is not a large element of danger in the situation.

Connecticut has but eight counties. It is not much larger than Rhode Island. Cleveland carried it's state the three times he was Democratic governor and Wilson carried it the first time he was in the presidential race. Normal, however, it is rock-ribbed Republican. Coolidge took the state from Davis by a majority of 120,000.

But this is not a depiction of the Coolidge year. Connecticut Republicans admit, and it they do, that they are convinced they will win it all by a comparatively small majority. John H. Macdonald of Hartford, Republican national committeeman and one of the more vigorous, said in a state-wide speech: "Connecticut is interested in both Smith and Roosevelt, but we are afraid that once the Democrats are in control they will reduce the tariff and the protection on milk and factories which this would do disaster."

Election of presidential candidates also is preferred. A speech by Hoover in the state, they think, would have strengthened the national ticket considerably. The Republican nominee is not given to making many speeches. He talked his way to a position with the experience he has, he does not follow that the official method of Governor Smith. When asked to make a speech in Hartford during his Boston trip the nominee said it would not be possible, but consented to arrange for a radio and conference with party leaders. This was not what was wanted. Five Connecticut leaders will contact themselves with a speech by Senator Curtis, the Vice presidential nominee, scheduled for October 20.

Coming to the presidential requirement many in the state hold against present day production, the Kansanimator will be asked to lay down on his statements in the West and the South, that while he was coming attorney at Topeka he closed every railroad in Iowa. Connecticut and Rhode Island are states which refused to ratify the west coast amendment, hence the issue in the presidential campaign is being played down rather than up.

With a largely increased registration, as many other states, Connecticut looks for the heaviest vote in many years. Women, have registered heavily. Republican women have been anxious to cut loose on Governor Smith, but are being held in restraint or they might develop a half dozen Mahal Walker Willibrands.

Republican claims are being offset not only by Democrats but by those that have gone into the Connecticut situation. There has been a rather remarkable drift toward Smith in the state, due in part to the alleged unfair attacks made on

MAYTAG GOES ON BYRD'S TRIP TO ANTARCTIC

Five-day school men with Commander Richard E. Byrd of the United States Navy have left for the Antarctic. They are on their way to two weeks in the desolate country with its midnight darkness, and during that time every domestic task from sewing on buttons to washing clothes, must be done by the men themselves.

One of Maytag's specialties, 25 washers were selected for the trip after passing rigid tests and physical examinations. Movement of all kinds was selected with the same care, and the Maytag washer, with its variety of washing and ironing, and its many other outstanding features, was chosen as the standard.

Not only the success of the expedition, but the health and life of the men depend on proper equipment and careful methods of living. Washers, which save time and space, are also necessary to wash their clothes in Maytag.

On the ice edges of the Antarctic continent, when the men dress in heavy skins and furs, the Maytag will of course be impractical, but on the supply ship and during the long journey through the ice, and on the return, the Maytag will be of great use in the thermometer drops, nearly out of sight there will be many days when the Maytag will find plenty to do keeping clothes fresh and clean for 35 men.

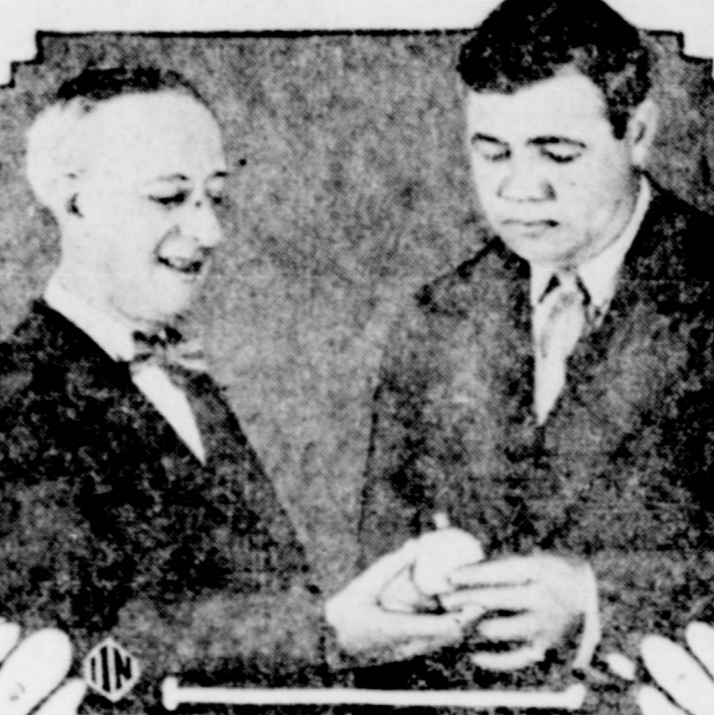

Count the dirty socks, however, which are washed daily, and what you get for 35 men. There is no place or which to purchase new supplies when clothes wear out. The nearest store is many miles away, so enough clothes are taken to last two years.

From these clothes the Maytag will have to wash away the dirt. It won't be dry-wash in the Antarctic, but it will be grease from engines, grease from guns or instruments, grease from seals which are caulked with rubber dirt, but with a good supply of salt water soap the Maytag will take it out.

Only one school in the entire city shows an increase, and that is the senior high school, with an enrollment of 482 as against 452 for 1932. In all of the ward schools and the junior high show up to date a decrease.

Mr. Cook pointed out the unusual happening that for the first time in the history of Breckenridge schools there were more boys than girls.

OFFER NOVELTIES FOR WET WEATHER

PARIS, Oct. 15.—With an approach of autumn and winter rains, the dress-makers are coming out with charming wet weather novelties, quite as beautiful as they are practical.

Like many fabrics, leather has taken on such a different appearance and texture that one can scarcely recognize it these days. One of the newest leathers for the construction is a soft, supple, smooth velvet and as soft as down. One model in grey is trimmed with stripes and bands of silver fastenings so that they do not show when the dress is down.

Another has a long cartridge pocket on the left side which accommodates a telephone, umbrella, which cannot slip out because of the fastening.

Waterproofed velvet is also used for raincoats with original linings in hush which keeps one warm as well as dry.

One in dull satin has silver buttons from neck to the bottom of the hem. The collar stands out stiffly as well as the cuffs which are held tight to the wrist by a clasp. A ruffled effect in an irregular line decorates the front and continues from the waistline down to a border along the opening.

Hats for wet weather are offered in the hat that is impervious to rain. They should match the water-repellent underclothes, some of the best are made of cases of three or more different colored underclothes, one each, which is common to each.

The newest cuffs for a rainy day consist of a bar of hair crocodile which is covered with a soft silk raincoat. Inside the flap of the bar are three rows through which to thread a steady woven umbrella that protects only an inch on either side when the hat is turned.

Shooting coats of leather are just in line with the shorter rain wear. The shirt is suspended to show a shoulder below it. Linings are either attached in plain or figured in plain or figured.

Cable ship "Domina," largest vessel of her type, which laid the world's newest submarine cable between Bay Roberts, Newfoundland, and Horta, in the Azores. This vessel can carry a total of 2,500 miles of modern type cable. Her length, 520 feet, and gross tonnage of 9,265, indicate the elaborateness of the equipment required for present-day cable construction and maintenance.

DEPTH IN FEET. DISTANCE, BAY ROBERTS TO HORTA, IN NAUTICAL MILES.

This central copper wire carries the electric current. If it breaks, these flexible copper tapes carry the current around the gap. This is the "mumetal" wire wrapping, which has wonderful magnetic qualities that keep the telegraph signals from jumbling. A thick covering of gutta-percha holds the currents to their path. A wrapping of jute serves as a cushion against the pressure of three miles of sea water. Eighteen steel armor wires protect the cable from injury. Last of all comes a wrapping of cotton, and then the soft skin of ocean's floor.

will never be entirely removed. The world's newest and fastest duplex cable, just laid by the Western Union Telegraph Company between Newfoundland and the Azores for connection with other cables to Germany, Italy, Spain and Africa, represents an investment of $1,500,000 for the cable alone, exclusive of the enormous expenditures which will be necessary for the operating equipment especially designed for it. Made at a time when radio is very much in the public eye, it is entirely natural that questions should be asked about the necessity for such an expenditure. The surprising answer is that cable traffic has more than doubled since the World War, and that over the cables of the Western Union alone, 92,375,990 words were transmitted in 1927, as compared with only 27,512,000 words in 1912!

Landing the cable—one of the most dramatic moments in the job of establishing cable communication between continents. This scene is duplicated at both ends of the operation—first when the shore end is landed at the beginning, and again when the task is successfully completed.

As the world's newest cable passed over the stern of the "Domina," it came to rest on the hills and valleys of the black and cold ocean depths, where at three miles the pressure is 10,000 pounds to the square inch.

first step, then was to chart this new route. It was the Domina's job not only to lay the cable but to survey the route as well. This newest and largest cable ship in the world was equipped by her builders with every latest device for her task, one of the most intriguing instruments aboard being the echo depth finder. Sometimes referred to as the "sonic depth finder," this device determines the depth of the ocean beneath the ship by measuring the time required for sound to travel from the ship to sea floor and back again. This echo depth finder radiates into the water a sound which is produced by an electro-mechanically driven diaphragm. This sound travels to the bottom of the ocean under the ship and rebounds in

Moody Reiterates Support of Gov. Smith But Declares That He Will Fight Dry Law Change

STIN, Oct. 15.—Reiteration of support of Governor Alfred Smith for the presidency was made by Gov. Dan Moody in a speech at a local Democratic campaign. It was his initial speech. He has always voted the Democratic ticket and in this election will vote it from the top to bottom, Moody said. He reiterated his support of prohibition and declared that Governor Smith could not change the prohibition laws if he is elected. He urged if all prohibitionists should desert the Democratic party they would leave it in control of anti-prohibitionists. He would bring shame to it. He was opposed to Smith's nomination. Moody said. "I considered a campaign and made every effort to prevent his nomination. But in that I was unsuccessful. He was nominated and I accept the philosophy of Jefferson and the will of the majority. I stay with my party and shall

FORMER CISCO GIRL HONORED AT TEXAS U.

The Beville Pleasure of last Thursday carried a very complimentary story concerning the daughter of a former Cisco physician, Dr. L. L. Griffin, who practiced medicine here several years. The young woman in question also lived in Cisco when a child, and is a niece of Dr. J. E. Griffin, Cisco physician. The Pleasure said: "The highest honor which can be conferred by the student body of the State university at Austin has been bestowed upon a Beville young lady, Miss Ella Griffin, rider daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Griffin. "Miss Griffin was at dinner Tuesday when an envelope was handed to her by the chairman of the honor roll. It was an invitation to become a member of the Orange-Jackets—an organization of the best all-around girls on the campus. It is the highest honor available to the young lady students of the university. Only eight young ladies out of the entire number attending the university this year have been invited to join the select society, and the invitation is greatly prized by

BOSS MILLER AGAIN HONORED BY WACO FAIR

DE LEON, Oct. 15.—For the thirtieth time J. Deas Miller, Sr., local banker and farm and ranch owner, has been honored by the officials of the Texas Cotton Palace at Waco. Mr. Miller, or "Uncle Deas" as he is known all over this section of Texas, is again on the board of honorary vice presidents. The honor comes in recognition of the long and active service Mr. Miller has rendered in Central Texas business affairs. He came to De Leon back in the 80's and has been vitally connected with almost every forward movement in this entire section. His success in the old days as a practical farmer and ranchman was outstanding and he has been no less successful banker in more recent years. It is said that no man in public life in De Leon has had more to do with the development of the farming industry here than has "Uncle Deas." While "Uncle Deas" wears the official title as honorary vice president, Mrs. Miller also will attend the Cotton Palace with him this year and share equally in the honor. The officials are to honor guests at banquets, and a series of entertainments in Waco at the time of the opening of the big show. Such prominent men as Governor Dan Moody, Dr. S. P. Brooks, Dr. T. O. Walton, Dr. W. B. Blazell and many others make up the list of honorary vice presidents of the Cotton Palace.

Howard County Is Center of Oil Squabble, Controversy Coming Up Over New Area Opened by Henshaw

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 15.—The controversy between the Henshaw Oil corporation of San Angelo with the Texas railroad commission, with the oil company contending it has opened a new pool in Howard county and the commission declaring the acreage comes under production orders already in use, brightened up an otherwise dull week in the Permian Basin of West Texas.

The San Angelo firm has threatened to carry the fight to a federal court. The discussion has to do with Henshaw's No. 1-A Settles, 7,000 barrel producer, in Howard county.

But two completions were recorded in each Walker and Pecos counties. A decrease in production in Sig Richardson and others No. 1, O'Brien, in Winkler county, was noticeable of a disappointment.

Amerasia's No. 1 Leck, 9 1/2 miles north and west of the main Henshaw pool, got an increase to 7,000 barrels per day of gas, where the gas blew mud out of the hole and later was raddled off.

Financing Plans Delayed

A bond issue of $4,000,000 by Transcontinental to build a pipeline from Yates pool in Pecos county to Texas City was rumored through Sunday by F. B. Parrant of Tulsa, president, who explained that the engineer's report is complete, but that it would be a month before the project is considered and financing plans drawn up.

Texas Co. is clearing its right-of-way for the 10 and 12-inch line from Monahans to Port Arthur, clearing work now going ahead through Yates pool.

Gipey's No. 1 State, section 31-21-25, Lea county, New Mexico, was estimated to be making 20,000,000 feet of wet gas, after tools were blown out of the hole in the same area. Welch & Yates No. 1 Jackson, in section 13-17-30, Eddy county, is reported to have yielded 10 barrels of 32 gravity oil after drilling through saturated lime at 1,910-25 feet and getting 500,000 cubic feet of gas.

Rules Cover, Says Parker

Henshaw Oil corporation has advised the railroad commission will operate its lease in section 6, block 22, township 2 south, T. & P. survey, independent of production order, after being refused a hearing before the commission at which it would explain the basis on which it looks a variation order governing the 2-mile western extension of the Roberts-Settles pool on the line of Howard and Glasscock counties.

R. D. Parker, chief of the commission, maintains that production order is obeyed. It was indicated that if necessary the attorney general would be requested to enforce the order.
