MIDGETS PLAY TEAM

Lobbies of Cisco, the teams of the Grammar school won the championship elementary school by teams of the ward and are now going to play the Brownwood Junior High school Friday afternoon. The second time the boys played the Browns, as they held the boys to a scoreless night, well played game and this, too, in spite of the fact that the Midgets were several pounds to the Midgets seem to have fighting spirit of their plays on the gridiron creditable to a much extent.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Governor General Coolidge today set in motion today to break the $65,000,000 contract whereby royalty oil in the Salt Creek field, adjacent to Teapot Dome, is sold to the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Co. The contract was given the Sinclair company by ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall. Last January it was renewed by Fall's successor, Dr. Hubert Work, now chairman of the Republican national committee.

FUN IS ORDER OF PROGRAM AT LION SESSION

The Lions luncheon program today was in charge of W. B. Statham, who acted for Nick Miller, who had been called out of town. This was one of the liveliest and most entertaining programs of the year, consisting of a series of contests that shook the sides of the audience. The first contest was the naming of four musical numbers which were played by Pianist Miss Walker. The prize for this was a necktie and was won by B. B. Longacre.

SMITH'S TRAIN TURNING EAST ON TRIP HOME

SEEDALIA, Mo., Oct. 17.—Governor Al Smith, Democratic nominee for president, turned eastward today for the duration of his campaign. His train left here at 10 o'clock this morning for Chicago, by way of St. Louis, Springfield and Bloomington. It is due in Chicago tonight where he speaks Friday night.

DUCK HUNTING IS TAKING LEAD OVER FISHING

Duck season is on and will likely shove fishing into the background in sporting circles for the rest of the year, though some of the nimble still report landing some of the big ones at Lake Cisco. But the northern of Tuesday night made Wednesday morning ideal duck weather. The Daily News has heard of only one party going out this morning, but it had fairly good luck, bagging seven of the aquatic birds that were in a small bunch, about the first of the season. The hunters were W. H. Brown and G. J. Eiders, both employees of the Bellows-Macley Construction Co. and working on the new hotel. Brown stated that he shot three and Eiders killed four. The ducks were teal and mallards or Canvasbacks, and there were but few of any kind on the lake when they reached there. With the sharp rise in the lake from the summer rains, hunters think there will be many ducks this year, as there is considerable mast out in the shallows at the western end of the lake and a splendid duck season is anticipated.

BROWNWOOD PLANS PECAN INSTITUTE

The Brownwood chamber of commerce will stage a pecan institute in that city Nov. 15, according to a communication to the Cisco chamber, at which will be experts in pecan culture to discuss subjects of importance to growers in West Texas. Appropriate prizes will be offered for the best individual, community or county exhibits; for the best native and western varieties shown. This institute will be of special instructive value to visitors, as experts will talk of topping, budding, care of trees and such other matters that will interest pecan growers. An auction sale of pecans will be conducted when many buyers are expected to be on the ground. An effort will be made to perfect a permanent organization, according to J. T. Stovall, chairman of the program committee.

CONFEDERATE VETERANS TO BE DINNER GUESTS

The old Confederate veterans will be the dinner guests of the Cisco chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, at a dinner Thursday noon at the First Baptist church. HICKMAN TO WALK CALMLY TO GALLOWES, VETERAN GUARDS AT SAN QUENTIN PRISON BELIEVE

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal., Oct. 17.—Veteran prison guards who, in years of service have learned to study the habits of inmates of death row, were of the opinion today that William Edward Hickman will go to the gallows Friday with the minimum show of emotion. They point out that the slayer of little Marian Parker has demonstrated few of the characteristics of the men who "crack" when the last little door of the death house is opened. Hickman has been under close observation during his period in condemned row—a period which began last April and which will end this evening when he leaves his death cell, No. 29, for the "condemned cage" behind the death chamber. According to Warden James Holahan and guards, Hickman has been a model prisoner. Guards declare that it is but rarely that an arrogant condemned man maintains his nerve to the gallows. As the day of his execution nears, Hickman maintains a calm that is unbroken by any fits of depression or forced hilarity. At Tuesday's exercise period he ran from his cell to the enclosure where the condemned men play and engaged in a baseball game with six or eight others. His only comment was "I'm a little wild" when he threw the ball over the head of another player. Tiring of baseball the young slayer worked toward the table where a domino game was in progress. As soon as the game was over one of the players considerably gave his seat to Hickman. Later he quit the game and spent the rest of the time in conversation.

ARRANGE FOR DEMO RALLY AT EASTLAIN

Preparations are being made for a large attendance at Demo rally at the county-wide rally which will be held at Eastland Saturday according to Luther McCrea, who is looking after the matter in Cisco. Mr. McCrea says he expects several hundred from Cisco to attend the rally. In addition to prominent men and women will address the Democrats. Arrangements have been made to have the Sweetwater Gypsy band at the rally as one of the entertaining features. The Girls will render a concert on the occasion. Those who heard musical organization here or occasion of Senator Robin address will remember with use those talented young women. This feature alone will be welcome and should be an incentive for many to attend the rally. Congressman Thomas L. Blain who will deliver the principal address, will be introduced by Cyrus Frost, prominent attorney and forceful public speaker, Eastland.

FEATHERS STYLISH ON FALL BONNETS

PARIS, Oct. 17.—Feathers are frankly fashionable for fall, borrowing from the smart feathered bonnets coming from the chic modistes. Feather trimmings are seen on any number of new hats, flat against the hair or crown and even beneath the brim. One particularly noticeable at the Chantilly race-meetings had the brim lined with ostrich feather frond, so soft and silky, and placed so flat they almost seem to lose their identity and appear to be made of soft shirred red silk.

AMERICAN MEN SPEND $750,000,000 ANNUALLY IN KEEPING GOOD LOOKS

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Mere men in the United States spend more than $750,000,000 yearly in 75,000 barber shops trying to make himself beautiful, according to Joseph Byrne of New York. Byrne, secretary of the National Beauty and Barbers Supply Dealers association, addressing the annual convention here, said there are thousands of men who have their hair marcelled or permanent waved. "There are more than those who admit it who have their faces massaged and have facial treatments to rub out wrinkles," Byrne declared. "There are many men, too, who have their faces lifted. "It used to be an oddity to see a man get a public manicure. Today men give almost as much trade to the manicure shops as do the women."

GAMBLING WITH OUR MONEY.

A financial writer makes the rather obvious remark that stock paying 5 per cent or less cannot be carried indefinitely with money that costs 7 to 10 per cent. The speculators who have bought near the top of a bull market will have to unload sooner or later, unless money rates drop considerably. Money rates may drop, the same writer suggests, about the middle of November—after election, though the election may have little to do with it. If that happens, the market may resume its frenzied upward course, with prices driven higher and higher by people who expect the process to keep on at least long enough for them to sell out at a profit. The higher prices go, the more stocks become worth as collateral and the more money will be borrowed on them. There are better uses for money, and more deserving uses. Farmers ought to have more of that money to carry their crops. Manufacturers and merchants ought to have more of it for constructive business purposes. People everywhere ought to have more of it to build homes and educate their children. Those who imagine there is more wealth in this country, and the future is more assured, every time quotations jump another point or two on the stock exchange, are dreaming. This stock inflation and the financial spree that accompanies it are benefiting nobody except a few bankers and stock gamblers.

DEATH PENALTY.

A movement as been started in Great Britain for a national petition to abolish the death penalty. At the same time it is urged that a parliamentary commission study the effect of the abolition of capital punishment in Holland, Belgium, the Scandinavian countries and eight states of our own country. If it is found that murder has not increased with elimination of the death penalty, it is suggested, Britain might enter upon a trial period, granting reprieves and commutations of death sentences, to see what effect it would have. Definite abolition might come later. This is not so serious a subject over there as it is in America, because the British commit fewer murders. Probably one powerful reason is that when a murder is committed in England, the murderer stands as good a chance of being hanged as he would of going free on this side of the water. It may be, though, that any severe punishment, if quick and sure, would serve as well. It is mainly the uncertainty and delay of justice in the United States that encourages crime.

FEWER POLITICAL SPEECHES.

Stump speaking, modified at the beginning of this campaign to suit the exigencies of radio, now enters another phase. There is a disadvantage found in the very fact of being able to reach so many people at once by broadcasting. When half the nation has heard a speech once, the candidate can't deliver that speech again. Arguments and issues soon grow stale and the supply of new ones plays out. There is only one remedy, which is for the principal speaker to make fewer speeches. That is the situation now. The candidate will remain at home more during the rest of the campaign; or if they are touring, they will trust more to personal appearances and consultations and less to stumping. The Bryan method of stumping continuously with one or more speeches a day for many weeks is one forever. That is a good thing for candidates, who have a hard enough ordeal at best. Good also for the public, which has more chance to weigh important utterances and come to a calmer decision.

LATIN-AMERICAN AVIATION.

Eudora Hay, assistant secretary of the Mexican department of communications, who flew to the United States with the first Mexican air mail, has announced he is planning a great air conference to be held in Mexico City within a few months, attended by representatives of all the Latin-American countries. The purpose is to develop aviation below the Rio Grande, and to establish "a sort of Pan-American air highway to supplement the Pan-American steam roads and also the motor highway which is now planned from Canada to South America." Such a highway would be a wonderful thing for this hemisphere. And it may be a reality, in successful use, before either the Pan-American railroad system or the Pan-American motor route is completed.

SHERIFF IS NOMINATED IN SPECIAL UPTON ELECTION

RANKIN, Oct. 17—Upton county had a Democratic nominee for sheriff today as a result of a special election which was necessitated by an error on the ballots in the original primary. Sheriff J. O. Darnfield, who won the first primary by a margin of 26 votes from W. C. Fowler, apparently won Monday's election by 40 votes. Fowler contested the first primary because the pieces at the top of the ballot board the voter to support the nominees of the "party" instead of the "primary." Judge C. B. Stanton declared the election illegal.

HOOVER'S ECONOMY CLAIMS FALSE, AL SAYS

Harding and Coolidge Regimes Most Wasteful, Governor Claims, Despite Camouflage by G. O. P.

SEDALIA, Mo., Oct. 17.—A challenge to Republican claims of economy in administration of the federal government was issued last night by Governor Alfred E. Smith...

The second, he added, was a picture. "Setting up real facts which show the government is costing more this year than when President Coolidge took office..."

By rigorous economy federal expenses have been reduced by two billion dollars per annum... "The true explanation of this reduction, however, he did not discuss..."

On the other hand, the governor said, there was a picture of wilful waste by the administration with respect to property acquired for public buildings throughout the country...

WELL BROUGHT IN SIX MILES S. E. OF BAIRD

BAIRD, Oct. 17.—The second important discovery of oil in the vicinity of Baird within a week was reported Monday night when the Bruce-Power Oil corporation No. 1 P. G. Hatchet, in section 22, east and dumb system lands found a rich gas sand at a depth of 219 feet to open an entirely new gas territory, according to a report from the Baird chamber of commerce.

The Hatchet well is three miles from the Maudray field, which was extended three-eighths of a mile southeast late last week when a well on the Ace Halkman lease came in for initial production of approximately 120 barrels. It is now making 125 to 240 barrels daily, according to a report from Baird.

Test of the day will not be completed until casing is set, as only one joint of pipe was in the hole when the sand was found. This "gas" sand production is of high gravity, according to a report from the Baird chamber of commerce.

Birthdays and Wedding Anniversary Are Occasion for Family Reunion at Home of Mr. and Mrs. T. Matthews

The birthdays and wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Matthews were celebrated the past week by a surprise dinner and homecoming of all their children. The dinner was a glad surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Matthews as their birthdays and wedding anniversary were so close together.

Mr. Matthews was 71 years old the 16th, and their wedding anniversary was the 12th, and Mrs. Matthews was 59 years old the 14th of October.

Their married children all decided to surprise them with a dinner and presents. It was all understood for their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Walker, of Carbon, to go and get Mr. and Mrs. Matthews and carry them to Sunday school and church that day. At 8:30 o'clock they came after them and while they were gone the other children all arrived except one. Walter West of the Springs who could not be there but sent a nice long letter with flowers.

They have eleven girls and two boys, all living. They decorated the dining room all up with flowers and had the table spread with all kinds of good things to eat and arranged the presents to show when they walked in.

There were lots of nice presents from silverware to silk dresses and ribbons.

Everyone enjoyed the occasion. Old childhood memories were brought to mind with many hearty laughs. There were four generations present. In the afternoon at 4 o'clock they all gathered around the family altar and Mrs. C. E. Brownfield, Mrs. Matthews' mother, who resides with her, read one of her favorite scriptures, the fourteenth chapter of St. John, and a beautiful prayer by her altar.

It all seemed so natural to the children to be gathered around the family altar once more although the family was much larger with the sons-in-law and 14 grandchildren. All sons-in-law and grandchildren were present except two.

Rev. P. D. O'Brien, of Florida, Texas, came at home and kept their two little girls in school while Mrs. O'Brien motored through over 200 miles with the twin boys who were a year old October 2, to be at her mother's, Aubrey Herrington, of Colorado, Texas, could not be here.

Football Not Everything at C.H.S.; Stock Judging, Wood Work, Dressmaking Learned

By LOLA WILD

Publicity can create a notorious "hero" out of a flagpole sitter, and the lack of notable attention can cause an indifference on the part of the general public for even the most worthwhile labors in the world. In every department of the Cisco High school there are really splendid and thrilling exercises and activities going forward all the time. Yet, only one department—sports—is given a fair share of this potent and valuable "public mention."

Don't misunderstand, The Lookers and their activities are splendid and significant, and they deserve all the public approval they get. But, so are the activities in the other departments of the school deserving of praise. They are activities that will have a more vital influence upon the success or failure of our boys and girls than the ability to play ball could ever have. A very few of these future citizens are going to become professional athletes or physical directors. The great mass of those who go out from Cisco High school will enter other professions—the professions for which the departments of the school are awakening appreciation and laying the foundation of technique. Let these school youngsters find that the public believes these vocations, for which they have a secret interest, worthy of public acclaim and discussion, and the students will have a real pride in their work. Why do some folks say that "nothing is being done at this school" when ball playing" when that is far from the truth?

This year's school work has been going on for five weeks now. The first report cards of the term will be issued to all the students Wednesday of next week. Mr. Youngblood is anxious that parents be especially conscientious about insuring that their children present the cards to them at that time. The first card shows to the observer many things, attention to which will mean much for the child's happiness and success throughout the school year. Perhaps the child only needs encouragement, or real praise, or social help to make an outstanding and easy success in his work. Mr. Youngblood believes that the children have made their "normal" progress, in spite of the handicap of crowded conditions, but the cards will tell him more definitely what has been done.

Following with the patrons of the school is especially welcomed by the faculty. Come in at any time and see the splendid work of your children. The Ministerial Alliance sends one of the pastors of the town out to speak at the 10 o'clock chapel period every Wednesday. You would enjoy coming at that time perhaps.

The fire drill has been practiced since school began this term, and the report is that the building was cleared in one minute.

E. H. Varnell and his agricultural team were in Dallas last week at the Fair looking at all the classes of stock, getting pointers from real cattle experts, and preparing themselves in general for the stock judging contest they enter Monday and Tuesday of this week in Memphis, Tenn. This contest is in connection with the National High School Stock-Judging meet. These boys—Coburn Yeager, Burt Essel, Floyd Thurman and N. E. Taylor won the state stock judging contest at A. & M. last year, and thereby won this free trip to Memphis. Let's root for them to win in this national meet this week.

Mrs. Helen Cobb, home economics teacher, reports interesting activities in her department. Her class No. 1 has been making "undies" and palamas, but is now beginning on the "school girl's wardrobe." They plan to study style and taste in the school dress and its accessories, and to make garments to conform to the principles they learn. Class No. 2 has been working out the problem of the tailored garment. It made a very delightful trip to Garner's store and to Miss Ledford's Shop to study styles. Miss Cobb wishes, on behalf of the class, to take this opportunity to thank publicly the people of these stores for the most courteous and helpful entertainment they gave this school group. These young women are to study next the subject of the layette. Miss Cobb said that they became so interested when looking over the things at the baby clothes counter that they left it with real reluctance. The class in foods has been exploring a series of breakfasts in the school kitchen. The class carried trays to the teachers who were off duty at that hour, and found them very enthusiastic in praise of the repeats. These girls plan to start a home project, which involves the taking of the responsibility of the family breakfasts in their own homes. Luncheons will be their next study.

P. L. Kelly, of the commercial department, is particularly proud of the tangible results of the work done in his classes. He says that there are pupils from the high school commercial department in almost every office in Cisco, and many in other towns. They go directly from the classroom to actual jobs. He says that the special student—the one not attending the high school—is welcome in his department. Mr. Kelly can fit him into the class, and can prepare him for his job.

T. J. Pettie, manual training instructor, describes much activity in his department: "My class in wood work has been for the most part, working on exercises. The boys have, however, done one real problem—that of making bookends from their own designs. A little later on we shall be engaged with footstools, flower stands, and things of that sort. In the last part of the year we get ambitious and make such things as cedar chests, library tables, etc."

"Our class in printing does all the work on the Gusher, including the ads. It also prints all the school report cards, school blanks, and things like that. It even prints the school tax report blanks. All of this is done as school over- and all our work is in school business. We have about $1,500 worth of equipment, and I suppose we do that amount of printing each year, if we include the Gusher."

"Our class in mechanical drawing is drawing machine designs, and is learning accuracy, precision, and neatness in its work. Of course it learns something of perspective and blue prints. We try in our study here, not to cover all the knowledge used by the draftsman, but to create a real appreciation of the craft."

Many activities in the other departments are just as interesting to the students as the Cobb score, when you come right down to it. They why don't we discuss them, and why don't we give them their rightful share of public approval?

The first of the four Sundays the pastor will preach at the morning hour and Rev. C. O. Shugart, presiding elder of the Cisco district, will speak at the evening hour. Prof. Thomas Reid has been engaged to direct the choir for the remainder of this conference year and we are assured of the very best music. The Workers' council will meet tonight at 8:30 with the superintendent, J. T. Elliott. Prayer meeting will be at 7:30, and personal workers' meeting at 9:15.

Ed C. Lasater, Once Republican Candidate for Governor of Texas, Warns the People Against Hoover

DALLAS, Oct. 17.—Ed C. Lasater of Palfurris, veteran stockman and breeder of dairy cows, once a leader in the Bull Moose movement in the state, at another time Republican candidate for governor and during a part of the war a member of Herbert Hoover's food administration, urged the defeat of Hoover in a statement here last night.

Lasater said that "it would be a terrible blow to the hopes and aspirations of the average man and woman of America if Hoover should be elected president of the United States."

Mr. Lasater said that he resigned as chief of the division of live stock and animal food products in Hoover's food administration because he became convinced that Hoover had no sympathy for "the common people."

"He has set in the cabinet and has made no move to give the producer a square deal," Lasater continued, and his promise to bring relief to agriculture are worse than idle."

Cupid Wins Again; Jail Sentence Remitted That Marriage May Be on Bride's Parents' Golden Wedding

AUSTIN, Oct. 17.—Clemency remitting a jail sentence extended by Governor Dan Moody to Jack Alexander, convicted in Comal county of driving an automobile while intoxicated, fined $250 and sentenced to 60 days in the county jail, was given to allow Alexander to be married, the wedding date having been set to occur on the golden wedding anniversary of the bride's parents, according to Moody's proclamation, filed Monday.

The proclamation stated that a family reunion was to be held in celebration of the golden wedding anniversary and that it would be a great disappointment how hard your wedding was permitted to take place on that day.

It was represented that the 60-day jail sentence, in addition to the large fine assessed, was more severe than the circumstances justified.

The prosecuting attorney stated that he has no objection to making recommendations in such cases, but that this is the first case in the county where more than a 30-day jail sentence has been assessed for a similar offense.

It is further represented that Alexander is a young man of good reputation in the community in which he resides. It is shown that he expects to be married on the date of his bride's parents, who live in another part of the state, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary with a large family reunion.

Moody said remission of the remainder of the jail sentence would be justified, since the fine and its costs had been paid. The conviction was in September of this year.

"Goodbye, Anxiety!"

To the 5000 who daily become owners of the new Ford car

THE service obligation of the Ford Motor Company and its dealer organization is now growing at the rate of 5000 cars a day. It is to these new car owners that this message is addressed.

The new Ford is a remarkably fine car for one that costs so little. It is simple in design, constructed of the finest materials, and built to unusually close measurements.

These are the reasons it performs so wonderfully. These are also the reasons its service requirements are so few and the up-keep cost so low.

When you receive your new car, the dealer will explain the simple little things that should be attended to at regular intervals to insure the best performance. He will also tell you something of his own facilities for doing this work promptly and at small cost.

With the purchase of your car, you are entitled to Free Inspection Service by your dealer at 500, 1000 and 1500 miles. This service is due you and we urge you to take full advantage of it. Proper care during this breaking-in period means a great deal to the life of your car.

Included in the Free Inspection Service is a check-up of the battery, the generator charging rate, the distributor, the carburetor adjustment, lights, brakes, shock absorbers, tire inflation and steering gear. The engine oil is also changed and chassis lubricated.

No charge whatever is made for labor or materials incidental to this inspection service, except where repairs are necessary because of accident, neglect, or misuse.

The labor of changing the engine oil and lubricating the chassis is also free, although a charge is made for the new oil.

We believe that when you see the good effects of this inspection you will continue to have it done regularly throughout the life of your car.

You will find the Ford dealer very helpful in keeping your car in good running order for many thousands of miles at a minimum of trouble and expense.

He operates under close factory supervision and has been specially trained and equipped to do this work promptly, thoroughly and economically.
