Ciscoans Must Win from Bucks to Stay in Oil Belt Race; Tie Will Virtually Eliminate Them

The cheering at the Lobo game in the Breckenridge stadium Saturday afternoon came from Buckaroo partisans. Advance sale of tickets in the stadium indicated that there will be hundreds of Lobo fans in the stands when the opening whistle blows at 3 o'clock.

Lobo pep squad will be out there. Likewise more students from the halls of Cisco High may be inside the stadium at that time than anywhere else.

Business men and matrons regret their worries of store and home as they pass the turnstiles.

The game will be the first opportunity to see and cheer the new crew in a crucial contest.

The El Paso team has anything but a set-up for the hearing on the outcome of the oil belt championship.

Fans of Loboville had themselves comfortably in seats to wait until the opening day fracas with the San Angelo team to settle all disputes. The San Angelo team has a drastic change in plans.

In recent years the Lobos have been manhandling the Buckaroos but much trouble and Lobo-land little attention to the game until they snuffed the East-Mavericks under, something like 36 to 6, and then a week later won 75 points against John Tarleton reserves while they drew with San Angelo.

MR. AND MRS. HERBERT HOOVER NOW FOR AL. THEY'RE HOUSTONIANS

HOUSTON, Oct. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoover of Houston joined the Al Smith club here. Mr. Hoover claims to be a third cousin of the Republican presidential candidate. He said that he and Mrs. Hoover were two real Hoover Democrats.

POSSE SEEKS SLAYER OF 2 IN HASKELL CO.

ROCHESTER, Haskell County, Oct. 25.—Sheriff J. S. Tanner and a posse of more than 100 men were searching the brush west of here today for the man who last night shot and killed C. W. Hamilton and his son Earl on the porch of their home. The name of the fugitive was given officers by Mrs. Hamilton who also furnished a good description. She said that her son recently gave officers some information in their liquor investigations and that she believed the double murder was the outgrowth of his testimony.

400 ROTARIANS EXPECTED AT ABILENE MEET

ABILENE, Oct. 25.—An attendance of approximately 400 is expected for the Inter-City Rotary club meeting to be held in this city Friday evening. Rotarians from Abilene, Ballinger, Cisco, Hamlin, Stamford and Sweetwater will participate in the program and many of them will bring their ladies.

Due Parcedis, Amarillo, district governor for this area in the Rotary organization, will give the feature address of the evening. Clifford Goldsmith, New York humorist, will also appear on the program.

Other parts of the occasion will be a dinner furnished by the local Rotary club; sing-song led by Ed Shumway of Abilene; vocal solos by "Bill" McDonald, Stamford, and Violet Graham, McKnight, Lubbock. "Sweetheart of Rotary" and short addresses by James P. Stinson, Abilene; H. C. Lyon, Ballinger; Henry Littleton, Hamlin; N. S. Holland, Stamford; Ed Nienaste, Sweetwater; Dr. T. T. Roberts, Cisco; Warren Lynn, Ballinger; and Andy Anderson, Ranger. Doyle T. Brooks, president of the Abilene Rotary club, will preside at the meeting.

FIVE CISCOANS ON HONOR ROLL AT RANDOLPH

The honor roll just published at Randolph College shows the following Cisco students making this coveted honor: Mrs. L. A. Carter, highest average in the entire school; Calhoun Anderson, second highest average; Louise Pryor; Mrs. H. B. Allan; Velma Morrison.

Three of the above five students graduated from the Cisco high school at the end of the last session. Most of the other graduates of last year who entered Randolph are doing excellent work.

Convicted Carbon Bank Robber to Take Case to Appeals Court; Try Jack Ingram for Auto Theft

After completing the hearing of the motion for a new trial in the case of E. V. Allen, convicted and given the death penalty for robbery with firearms in connection with the raid on the First State bank of Carbon, Dec. 13, last year, Judge Elzo Been has rendered his decision overruling the motion filed by Attorney J. Lee Cearley, counsel for Allen. All of the jurors who rendered the verdict sentencing Allen to the electric chair, were examined. The hearing began Monday morning, was continued until Wednesday on account of the absence of two jurors from the county. Notice of appeal to the court of criminal appeals was given by Allen's counsel.

Jack Ingram, who was tried Tuesday and given a sentence of 90 days in jail after his conviction of driving a car while intoxicated, was arraigned this morning on a charge of theft of an automobile. This case was argued at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and will likely be given to the jury before court adjourns today.

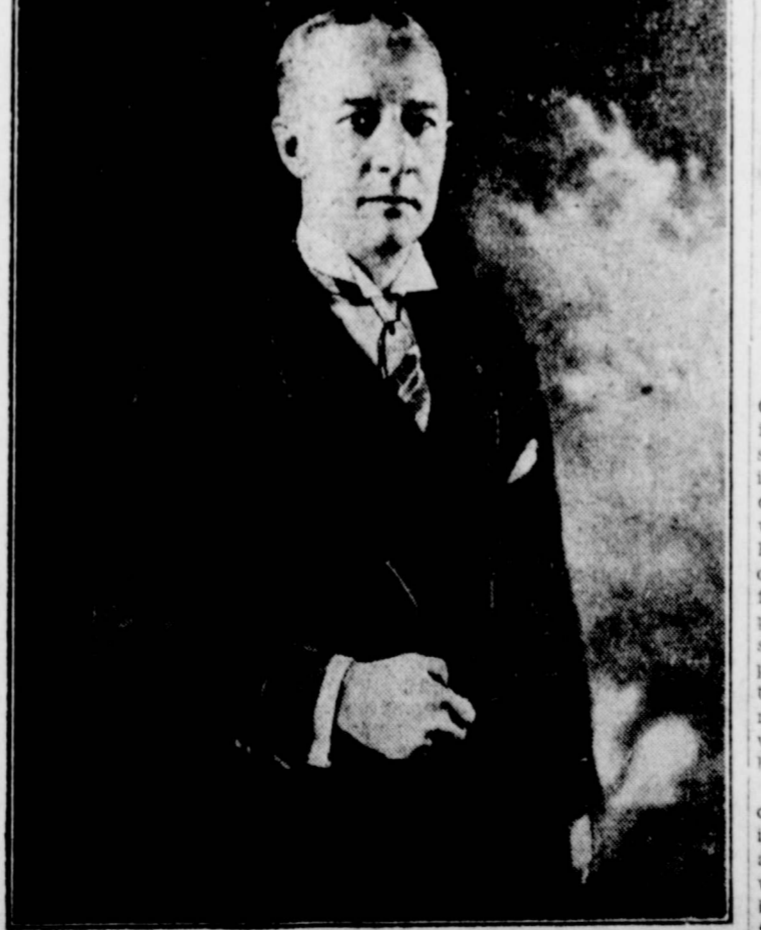

Contending that the indictment on which Thomas Davis was tried for murder in connection with the slaying of Lucius Shook on Sept. 7, was not a grand jury one, motion for the arrest of judgment was filed in the 88th district court, Tuesday by attorneys for the defendant. Davis was found guilty as charged and sentenced to death. In their motion, defense attorneys state that there is no such organization as "grand jurors" known to the law and that there is no averment in the indictment that it was by a grand jury or that the body of grand jurors was ever organized into a grand jury. The bill of rights is referred to in support of the claim that the failure of the indictment to show a

MAIL CARRIER AGAINST SMITH IS SUSPENDED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Harry S. New, postmaster general, took further drastic steps today to stop the circulation of attacks on presidential candidates by postal employees. He suspended Omar P. Hillborn, letter carrier at Bristol, Pa., because he was charged with having distributed copies of a circular attacking Governor Smith.

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 25.—The charge that Catholic students attending state schools and supporting Governor Smith for president are being intimidated was made today by the Democratic state chairman, John W. Wells. Wells declared that a woman student at a state school had been forced to give up her position in the Smith club.

EVERY INCH A GOVERNOR

This formal picture of Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York shows the Democratic presidential nominee in morning attire, facing the camera with the family before his office.

COMMUNITY DINNER NEXT TUESDAY NIGHT

The community dinner, originally set for this evening, has been postponed until Tuesday evening, Oct. 30, according to A. D. Anderson, Dr. Charles Hale and J. T. Elliott, the committee having the arrangements in hand. All Cisco men and women, who are interested in seeing Cisco go over big, are asked to see that no other engagement interferes with their attendance, as matters of vital importance to Cisco will be discussed at this community dinner. Those already having tickets are requested to hold them for Oct. 30, the date on which the dinner will be definitely held. If you have not secured your tickets see one of the committee or any director of the chamber of commerce.

U. S. WOMAN TO MAKE SEA TRIP WITH ZEPPELIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The first American woman to cross the Atlantic ocean by dirigible will be Mrs. Clara Adams of Tannersville, Pa. She was accepted today as a passenger for the return flight to Germany of the Graf Zeppelin.

BAIRD SCHOOL TO HAVE FULL STAGE LAYOUT

BAIRD, Oct. 25.—The board of trustees of the Baird independent school district has purchased the entire equipment of stage scenery which is to be installed in the new school building. The cost of the scenery will be between $800 and $1,000 and when installed will give Baird one of the most modern equipped auditoriums in this section of the state. Special lighting equipment is also being installed, which will give the proper electrical effect necessary to insure the beautiful color effects used in many new plays.

CISCO SHOWS STEADY PACE IN BUILDING

New buildings are going up in Cisco all the time. It is no building boom, but just a constant, steady growth of the city as manifested in the starting of new residences each week. G. C. Morris will soon be occupying his new home and studio in the 400 block West Seventh street, the site formerly occupied by the Episcopal chapel. This is a modern stucco home, and is nearing completion. Joe Clements is the contractor, and he stated that the roof will be on the building and well under way on the interior before the week's end.

Clements also has laid the foundation for a splendid modern residence for Asa Skiles in Belmont addition. This will be of brick veneer and contain five rooms, breakfast room, bath, glassed-in front porch and terrace.

Mr. Skiles owns three lots in Belmont, and possibly may build on the others at a later date.

Governor Moody Indicates That He Has Said Last Word in Case of Slayer of Theater Cashier

AUSTIN, Oct. 25.—That Governor Dan Moody will not interfere further with the scheduled execution of J. R. (Bob) Silver in the state penitentiary at Huntsville shortly after midnight tonight was indicated here early this afternoon when the executive told newspaper men that he "had taken no action in the case." At that time the governor gave every indication that he had said the last word in the case.

He denied the unfairness which places the responsibility of life and death in the hands of the governor.

It is almost a certainty that the condemned man will be executed at Huntsville tonight. The only ray of hope left, and it is very slim, lies in Moody's action on the proposed last minute plea which will be presented to him some time late this afternoon by W. P. Thurmond of Decatur, cousin of Silver.

Silver is to die for his part in the robbery and murder of Roscoe Wilson, cashier of the Majestic Theater at Fort Worth, on January 31, 1927. His accomplice, W. A. Stone, is serving a 99 year sentence for his part in the crime. After his conviction, Stone confessed that he fired the shot that killed Wilson but it was contended by the prosecution that Stone made the admission merely to save Silver, knowing that he could not be tried again and that there was no possibility of his receiving a death sentence.

ZEPPELIN MAY CANCEL FLIGHT TO MID - WEST

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Officials of the Goodyear Zeppelin company who are handling the flight plans of the Graf Zeppelin for Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander, admitted today that it is quite likely that the dirigible will return to Germany without making a tour of American cities if it does not get off on its western tour tonight. Low visibility and adverse winds are still holding the ship at Lakehurst.

May Get Off This Evening. LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 25.—Unfavorable weather continued to delay the westward flight of the giant Graf Zeppelin today. The time of departure has now been tentatively set for shortly after 6 o'clock this evening.

CISCO B. & L. STOCK RAISED TO $1,000,000

The authorized capital stock of the Cisco Building & Loan association was raised from $500,000 to $1,000,000 at the meeting of the stockholders held in the directors' room of the chamber of commerce Tuesday evening. At the same time W. J. Armstrong was elected a director of the association to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of C. G. Gray, who has removed from Cisco.

The secretary's report showed the association's finances to be in a most healthy condition, and that the association was now one of the strongest of its class in Texas. This was also verified in the auditor's report of the financial condition which was published in the Daily News during June.

The addition of W. J. Armstrong to the directorate further strengthens that association, as he is one of the leading business men of Cisco, and a man in whom all have the utmost confidence.

The following officers and stockholders were present at the meeting: Dr. F. E. Clark, president; F. E. Harrell, vice president; T. Hunter Foley, secretary-treasurer; J. M. Williamson, J. J. Butts, F. D. Wright, P. J. Borman, J. T. Berry and W. J. Armstrong.

WOMAN ACCUSER OF GRID STAR FAILS TO SHOW UP

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Harold (Red) Grange, former football star named by Mrs. Helen Flozak as the father of her seven months old child, failed to appear in the court of domestic relations today when the case was called. The attorney for Grange denounced the suit as an "out and out attempt at blackmail."

Contributions to Red Cross Relief

Contributions to the fund for the relief of storm sufferers in Florida and Porto Rico continue to come in slowly. One donation today, the first of the week, brought Eastland county Red Cross pledges up to $87. The quota of the county was set at $300. Subscriptions may be through Mrs. Don Stivalis or The Daily News.

KEEPING EDUCATED.

We Americans pride ourselves on our intelligence and our educational standards. We are sure that we are the most enlightened of nations. It is therefore something of a shock to read these sober statements from the scholarly Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, who is actively interested in educational movements of many kinds:

"We are still far behind Denmark, whose adult population is probably the best educated in the world."

Perhaps we educate our children as well as any other country. But too often it stops there. "The advance of knowledge through invention and discovery and research," remarks Mr. Baker, "is so rapid that unless people continue to obtain education after they leave school, they cease to be educated."

"Newspapers and magazines do a great deal to keep people educated, but if the job is to be done thoroughly, adult education will have to be recognized and organized just as much as the education of children in school."

The old idea that a person "got an education once for all will not do. It always was a foolish notion. Knowledge not used or kept freshly in mind is lost. Thus nine-tenths of our schooling is forgotten. And too often nothing takes its place, except disjointed and unrelated facts that none but a moron could help picking up as he goes along."

Knowledge not organized and systematized for convenient use isn't much good, any more than windows and joists and bricks and stones are until they're put together in a house. Education that amounts to anything is a continuous process. Anyone who is not adding right along to his stock of knowledge is already dying at the top."

PURSING AND PURSUED.

In a strange novel called "The Worm Ouroboros," published a few years ago, which ought to be better known than it is, the author tells, among other marvels, of an enchanted land where three ghostly armies have been marching around and around for many years. The first army is pursuing the second, the second is pursuing the third, and the third is pursuing the first. Each army is flushed with chase, and disheartened that the army ahead will not stop and fight it out. Each army is both pursuer and pursued. And so the shadowy warfare goes on incessantly, around and around. Political campaigns in some ways are curiously like that fairyland set-up.

Some industrial pioneer talks of cornstalks being "ennobled into paper." We'd say that depends on what is printed on the paper.

TRAIN SPEED.

Americans have a self-satisfied notion that they excel the world in all forms of speed, especially in railroad service. Apparently this is not the case. The fastest train in America today is said to average 53.6 miles an hour, including time for its infrequent stops. England has a train on the Great Western railroad which averages 61.8 miles an hour. France is said to have more than 50 trains running regularly on schedules calling for 55 to 60 miles an hour. Now a new passenger train, on the Orleans railroad, running toward the Spanish frontier, surpasses all competitors. On a recent trial it made 78 miles an hour with a full load. It is expected to run 100 miles an hour, using steel cars and a short train. This, it should be added, is an electrified railroad. Such great speed is scarcely practicable with steam. Electric locomotives, given a fine roadbed, are capable of almost any speed.

Some political warriors are happy, some snappy and all scrappy.

EQUALITY IN ASIA.

Opportunities for trade with China, says an American well acquainted with the situation, are better today than ever before. But it depends greatly on how the trading nations treat China. Governments and business men alike must approach China as an equal, not as an inferior nation. "The day has passed in international relations," he finds, "when any nation can demand from China more than it can justly demand from another nation." The same is true of Japan. Nations that keep this in mind, and have the goods to deliver, should profit in oriental trade. This applies with special force to the United States, the greatest of Pacific powers, fronting a market of half a billion people across a rapidly narrowing sea.

SAFETY FOR WALKERS.

"Pedestrians should be seen and not hurt," parodies the Chattanooga News. That is all right, as far as it goes. Since it seems to lay all the responsibility on the motorist it obviously does not go far enough. Pedestrians have certain obligations toward the general safety. In cities they should obey traffic signals as carefully as drivers do. In the country they have no business to walk along a paved highway at night without showing a light of some sort—an electric flashlight, a lantern or some such device. Highway commissioners, too, have an obligation in the matter. There is gradually developing a real demand that footpaths or sidewalks be provided along all highways, where pedestrians may walk at leisure and with security to themselves, without interfering with motor traffic. Such paths would not have to be wide or expensive. If planned and prepared at the same time a highway was laid out, they would cost comparatively little. The saving of nerves and lives would be of tremendous value.

INDUSTRIAL WAR.

The New Bedford textile strike, one of the most stubbornly fought contests in the history of American industry, ended in a compromise. The workers, who had demanded a raise, accepted a reduction, but it was not so great a reduction as the employers had proposed in the first place. Thus neither side gains anything. Both sides lose. The workers have lost $20,000,000 in wages. The employers have lost sales amounting to more than that. And business lost is not immediately won back. The sales gap in the cotton goods market left by that shut-down was filled by other factories. The New Bedford manufacturers will have a struggle to regain their market. Until they regain it, the whole textile industry in New Bedford must suffer, and the whole community with it. This is not much essentially different, in general results, from any other industrial battle—merely worse than usual. Someone has said, "There never was a good war or a bad peace." Was there ever a good industrial war?

A TERRIBLE STREET.

Pennsylvania avenue in Washington, as Secretary Mellon told an audience in Pittsburgh the other day, is "perhaps our most important street. It is the principal artery of the national capital." It was planned by L'Enfant, who designed the capital city, as a great and beautiful thoroughfare. "And certainly," proceeded Mr. Mellon, "there is no avenue of corresponding importance in any capital which can compare with its sheer ugliness or lack of architectural dignity. It is the street over which great processions pass in triumph to the capitol. Yet never, in the days of either the ancient or modern world, has anyone seen before a great, triumphal way bordered throughout much of its length, by gasoline stations, lodging houses and Chinese laundries." Fortunately congress at last has begun to realize the shameful situation, and has appropriated a large sum to acquire land and erect suitable buildings on Pennsylvania avenue. The country owes it to its own self-respect to support the project and see that it is carried through.

THE TIP COMPLEX.

Cuban guides, street vendors, hotel employees and so on prefer American tourists to European because the former tip so unscientifically. They say an American is capable of any sized tip. Europeans, on the other hand, methodically figure out 10 per cent of their bills and tip just that much and no more. The tipping evil in this country—it is very often regarded so even by the people receiving the tips—will probably never be overcome while Americans remain so extravagant. Some skilled psychiatrist or psychoanalyst ought to look into the American mind and find out what sort of complex it is that makes people tip even while protesting that they don't believe in doing so, why they often tip more than custom requires, why they tip shoe shiners and barbers and taxi drivers when they do not tip shoe clerks or street car conductors or motormen. It is a state of mind that certainly bears looking into.

AT NIMROD.

NIMROD, Texas, Jan. 7, 1895.—Last week's inclement weather resulted in augmented wood piles and better prepared the people to appreciate the pleasant weather we are now enjoying.

The little patches of cotton continually grow smaller and in a few days we weary pickers will gladly receive our quietus from the present crop.

Rev. G. W. Parks has moved to Curtis and is teaching school there.

Our school, under the management of Mr. Tyson, is progressing nicely, with large attendance.

Rev. J. J. Walser, accompanied by his son Bill, returned home last week.

Mr. Sam Short of Battle Creek, attended the supper at Mr. Moody's Monday night and the "shindig" at Cal Bryant's Tuesday night.

A number of the young people enjoyed a social hop at the residence of "Monkey" Wright Friday night.

R. E. Williams now occupies his new residence near the gin.

The Baptist church has, for the present, discontinued the 3d Sunday service owing to Bro. Parks' call at Seranton on that day.

Rev. H. Meadows contemplates moving to Cisco in the near future for the benefit of the school.

The boys of our community are prosecuting a diligent search for Drew Tipton's dog. The finder will receive a handsome reward. It should be remembered that no matter how popular a young man is he can, by no means, more rapidly annihilate his popularity and degrade himself than by striving to degrade others, especially worthy young ladies. If you would retain old friends and make new ones, do not rate those who may be your superior with those whom respectable persons would eschew.

We regret to chronicle the death of Mrs. Cora, wife of Thos. J. Ferguson, who died at her home Saturday night, after a brief illness. She was interred in the old graveyard at Monroe school house Sunday evening. The funeral was conducted by Rev. G. W. Parks, her pastor. She leaves a devoted husband and an infant five days old. The community extends heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved. AVILO

Rather Write Than President

By WICKES WAMBOLIT

There is one big job in this country that I never wanted. I never wanted it even when I was a young blade and the world looked rosy, and I sat on the front porch in balmy weather and daydreamed and builded air castles. I wanted to be king, or prince, or robber-chief, or pirate, but never, never—not for one irascible second—have I entertained even the slightest desire to be president of the United States.

So far as personal preference is concerned, I'd rather be a lowly negro with a yellow wife and a gang of peonies in a low cabin on a Southern creek than president of the United States. That is how much the job appeals to me.

Of course, if I had to choose between the aforesaid mentioned conditions, I should take the latter, because of its higher degree of mental and spiritual opportunities for the earth is to attain mentally and quickly, and that any avenue open to us which will lead to the best development of our minds and souls should unhesitatingly be followed—whether or not we care for the line of travel.

It has always seemed to me that the most thankless job in the United States is that of president. What with the mud-slinging, the epithet-casting, the misunderstanding of every motive, the misinterpretation of every action, the nerve-killing, body-destroying, soul-harrowing details and problems of the office, I never could see why any man should accept the post—much less seek it.

A monarch offers his kingdom something. But a republic offers its president principally a lock from the rear.

"But what about patriotic duty?" When it comes to patriotic duty that is another matter. I am always ready to serve my country when needed. I'd shoulder a gun and go to war if necessary—but it would have to be mighty necessary. I have no yearning to shoot down some innocent chap whom I do not know and who does not know me, and who never did me or mine any harm.

So if the country should come to me and say, "We ain't got no president. I'd serve—until a president could be found—that long and not a minute longer, just as Cal did. I wouldn't even be vice president for the president might die."

I had rather be where I am in my little home on the top of a high hill in the mountains of Western North Carolina, writing my daily stuff, than in the white house at Washington, shaking the hands of a lot of folks I never saw before, countenancing the wills of the Indians, and trying to propitiate the pine trees.

I think that our sincere sympathies yours and mine, should be extended to the candidates for the job of president of the United States, and that to the one elected we should give our fullest cooperation and utmost cooperation. May God help the poor devil.

I WILL GIVE YOU THE SUMMER

I will give you the summer For what you have in your hand: Fishing and kissing And-walking on the sand.

I will give you the autumn For what you have in your lap: Tunes and books and travel Aboard a big ship.

I will give you the winter For what you have in your heart: Warmth and comfort In a place apart.

But the least green glance Of the hazy spring I will not give you For anything. —Edna Millay.

HOOG REVIVAL GETS UNDER WAY AT RISING STAR

Ciscoans Attend Opening of Series; Cross Plains to Send 300 in Delegation to Meeting Tonight

RISING STAR, Oct. 25. — Following the conclusion of a highly evangelistic effort at Plains Sunday night the Will evangelistic party opened a series of special services Monday night under the auspices of the combined churches. The campaign is being held in the Baptist tabernacle which has been considerably enlarged and enclosed so as to be proof and comfortable at night. It is well lighted and has been made into an auditorium for the services.

Dr. J. T. Williams, advance man of Dr. Hoog, has been here over a week preparing for the opening of the series in the tabernacle Sunday night while Dr. Hoog and Dr. Rodgers conducted the opening service of the Cross Plains effort. Monday night Mr. Hoog met the local singers and had a splendid chorus for the service. Mr. Williams delivered a brief message to a good effect. Dr. Hoog lectured at 7:30 on Monday night and Dr. Rodgers on Tuesday. Tuesday night the attendance was at almost capacity size by reason of a delegation of over 300 citizens who brought the same zeal and the recent revival as an impetus to the effort. Many Cisco singers joined with the local choir. The platform with applications which rendered

Stock Conditions Throughout Texas Generally Favorable in September, Shown in Research

AUSTIN, Oct. 25. — Although developments during September were not altogether desirable, the stock market is generally favorable, according to Bervard B. Blevins, editor of the Texas Business Review, issued monthly by the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas.

Advanced in line with the usual seasonal influences and higher quotations are expected. Eggs were also bringing higher prices, but the poultry market weakened slightly. A few turkey growers have experienced some fall losses of young birds, but the crop is expected to be larger than that of a year ago. Poultry are growing rapidly in most cases.

1,801 STUDENTS ARE ENROLLED AT TEXAS TECH

LUBBOCK, Oct. 25.—The biggest summer session in the history of the Texas Technological College is the aim of the board of directors who met here Tuesday to make plans for the next session and to work out matters of the expansion program which they will lay before the next session of the Texas legislature.

Weather Favorable

Weather conditions over the month were favorable for the part, although additional moisture is needed in the northeastern part of the state. Moisture fell in sufficient amounts in most districts to start fall growing of crops and grasses. As a result, crops are gaining in flesh and are in good condition before winter.

LIFE'S GREAT GAMBLE

Acker C. Miller, Pastor First Baptist Church, Cisco, Texas.

Life is not a gamble with fate; it is an adventure with God.

In this great adventure, we must look four ways: Backward for counsel with our past; about us for the opportunities of the present; forward for fields of new discoveries; and upward for the guidance of God.

It is the forward look that saves a life from the tragedy of low aims and directs it to the heights of great accomplishment.

It is the upward gaze that lights the fainting heart with brightest cheer and girds the failing life with lasting hope.

The power that brings to the soul this forward and upward look is "faith in God."

"When Faith in God Goes—

Man the thinker loses his greatest thought; Man the worker, his greatest motive; Man the sufferer, his greatest refuge; Man the lover, his fairest vision; Man the mortal, his only hope."

On the sea of Life's adventure without these guiding stars, man becomes a derelict of danger, and ultimately, a hopeless wreck.

"Have faith in God."—Mark 11:22.

Stock Judging Team Ranks High in National Dairy Show at Memphis; Gold Watch to Taylor

H. Varnell, vocational agriculture teacher of the Cisco high school, accompanied by his state champion judging team, has returned after attending the Dallas fair and the National Dairy Show at Memphis, Tenn. These two events were N. L. Taylor, Chairman, B. E. Ezell and Floyd Varnell.

Varnell stated that while his team ranked in their objective of winning all the prizes and winning the national championship, nevertheless made a very valuable showing, which was very high.

Taylor was second high in the contest, being a fraction of one point below the high point man at the Dallas fair. Taylor was awarded a handsome 17-jeweled gold watch, valued at $600. The team, as a whole, ranked fifth in the milk-making contest. Yeager was high in judging Holsteins and in judging jerseys. The members of the team were awarded certificates of merit and made members of the Gamma Gamma letter fraternity, of which leading live stock judges are members.

The Dallas team was furnished fine cattle for their practice by the breeders showing at the Dallas fair, had assistance and instructions from some of the judges of that exposition, including Darnell, Shepherd and W. T. Stangle, head of the small husbandry department of Texas Tech. Varnell said the team traveled to and from Dallas and Memphis on transportation furnished free by the Texas Pacific and Cotton Belt railroads secured through the efforts of J. L. Lancaster. We were every courtesy at Dallas and Memphis and each member of the he took, and each member appreciates the assistance given them by the railroads and chambers of commerce. They won the right to go to Memphis in the state contest held at College Station last spring.

CALLAHAN CO. PAYS $1250 FOR WOLF SCALPS

BAIRD, Oct. 22.—A call meeting of the Callahan County Wolf club was held recently for the purpose of starting the fall membership campaign.

President W. P. Strange presided and Secretary A. M. Cooper reported some 275 wolves had been killed and bounties amounting to about $1750 had been paid by the club since it was organized last April. The club has some money left in the treasury but committees were appointed to raise enough funds to take care of the bounties which will be required as soon as the trapping season opens. One cent per acre for land owners and those leasing or controlling lands in this county is the customary assessment, however, these are volunteer contributions and in not a taxation as some seem to think when the club was organized. The membership to those who do not control or own land is $1 and many people interested in the welfare of the farmers and ranchmen have sent in their dollars to help the cause. The club voted to pay bounties to land owners, tenants and members of the club who support the organization. Many of the largest land owners in the county are now members of the club, and the cattle, sheep and poultry men are exceedingly well pleased with the work the organization is doing.

SCHOOL BUSES EXEMPT FROM TAX OF $4 SEAT

AUSTIN, Oct. 23.—Common school districts operating or owning or contracting with owners of motor buses for transporting students to and from school are not liable for the $4 per seat tax provided in the motor bus law. Assistant Attorney General Page ruled today in an opinion to Bascom Cox, Cameron county attorney.

RAISE PECANS, STEPHENVILLE MAN ADVISES

Stephenville, Oct. 16, 1928. The Cisco Weekly American.

I read the article by Mr. W. B. Starr about the Quakers with great interest. I had always thought the Quakers attended their churches and set around so quiet because this quietness had been handed down from the times of persecution and men were afraid to talk. However, the article by Mr. Starr showed that friend Starr is up on history as well as on potato growing. This season we have been by pears like your people have been—we have been unable to supply the demand and unable to convince people that we have no more. Twenty years ago the writer had a big pear crop and was unable to sell them all. This year with a great deal bigger crop I was unable to supply the demand and turned people away every day or two empty handed. Thirty years ago Captain Jenks who was then editor of one of our country papers said young man "the going west is about over with, but go buy you a piece of land and plant it to pears and paper shell pears." But very few if any took such advice. I now regret that I did not pay much attention to such advice. Today there is the brightest future for the pear and pear grover, and to come right down to brass tacks it is hard to say which would pay best. There is another thing about pears—some of the newer varieties are simply delicious. They make the best canned fruit of all and are as good as the best apples right off the trees. This year we are gathering quite a pear crop, we have in our orchard trees of Delmas, Stuart, Schley, Western Schley,

Burkett, Halbert, Van Deman. Success and Texas Prolific. It seems our best varieties are the Burkett, Halbert and Success and another one we forgot to name called Bradley. Years ago we read an article in some agricultural paper stating that pecans would not grow on peach land. The writer was a leader at that time in nut culture. He stated that upland that was good for peaches would not be good for pecans. Right there the fellow was badly mistaken. On upland peach trees will bear quickly, they do not get killed by frost as often as the bottom pecans. We are getting some very productive peach trees, but as yet none of them bear often enough unless on sheltered land. Naturally as the country gets more thickly populated better varieties will be found. It is ever thus. A country with a small population can afford to put up with trees that do not bear much, but a thickly populated country must have the producers. Last week I visited a pecan cracking plant in Waco. I saw great piles of pecan meats and I said to the owner that there might be an overproduction of pecans. He seemed to "know his okra" and answered there are not enough pecans raised in Texas to give all the school children of the state what they could eat for a week. Maybe so.

CISCO FREE OF TYPHOID FROM JAN. 1 TO OCT. 1

According to the reports of Dr. John H. Brice, city health officer, there was not a case of typhoid originating in Cisco between January 1, 1928, and Oct. 1. There were only three cases of typhoid developed in Cisco during that period and each of these was contracted elsewhere and developed after the patients came to this city. In this connection there were only a very few contagious diseases of all characters reported in this city, though no record has been kept.

During the time covered by this record there were only 44 deaths from all causes, a large portion being elderly people. The birth record for this period shows there were 135 babies born in this city, 68 of whom were boys and 67 girls.

CALLAHAN CO. SELLS COURT HOUSE BONDS

BAIRD, Oct. 23.—The $125,000 issue of Callahan county court house bonds, voted at a recent election in this county, were sold Monday to Caldwell & Co., of Nashville, Tenn. The bonds brought a premium of $102.82. It is expected that work will begin on Callahan's new court house about January 1, but the plans and specifications have not yet been definitely adopted by the commissioners' court, County Judge White stated.

Judge White stated that the new court house would be erected in the center of the square, immediately north of the old court house, which is on the south part of court house block.

FLOYD COUNTY IMPORTS PURE BRED CATTLE

LOCKNEY, Oct. 25.—The importation of a carload of registered Jersey cattle marks another step forward in the development of the dairy interests of Floyd county.

Working under the auspices of the Floyd County Jersey Cattle club, several members headed by the president, J. B. Potts, secured advance orders for the cattle. After the orders had been secured, the buyers selected E. W. Thomas, manager of the Lactview Farm, to purchase the cattle. Thomas assisted by officials of the Texas Jersey Cattle club purchased the cattle at Cleburne, Texas.

Bankers of this city, after having seen the result of dairy farming in this county, have been instrumental in assisting the farmers in securing cows that should produce a greater profit return.

Efforts are now being made to establish more bull circles in this county and prospects are good at this time for the installation of at least two more circles.

Pure Breeds for Dickens Co.
SPUR, Oct. 25.—E. L. Tanner, county agent of Dickens county, has just returned from a trip in north central Texas where he has been buying some pure bred dairy cattle for the farmers of the Spur country. This first car was secured in accordance with the county-wide campaign which was started two years ago by the chamber of commerce and banks of Spur.

Farmers of Dickens county have thoroughly convinced themselves of the value of bull circles. The first crop of grade heifer calves, sired by these bulls, is just coming into milk and their evident superiority over their dams has created keen desire on the part of the farmers to own a registered cow of equal breeding with the bulls. Other cars of pure bred cows of the best breeding will be brought in as fast as proper blood lines can be located.

SATURDAY IS PROCLAIMED TO BE 'NAVY DAY'

AUSTIN, Oct. 25.—Proclamation has been issued by Governor Dan Moody proclaiming Saturday, Oct. 27, as "Navy Day" in Texas. The purpose and aim of Navy Day is to acquaint the people generally with the aim and purposes of the navy, of the changing conditions affecting the continued uninterrupted of our commerce, of the importance of the navy as an institution of defense and the influence it lends to the voice of America throughout the world when our country speaks for justice, altruism and law.

Patriotic organizations throughout the state are urged to observe the day with appropriate ceremony.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Limited areas in the irrigated valleys of the Southwestern states afford almost ideal conditions for the production of good cotton, so that large crops of good fiber can be grown, says the United States department of agriculture. But in the irrigated region as a whole, the conditions are more varied and irregular than in other parts of the American cotton belt. Some of the valleys are too cold, while others are too hot for obtaining the best results, and the character of the soil is extremely uneven. In parts of the same valley, or even in the same field, the soil conditions may be so different that cotton of uniform character is not produced. The land may be spotted with alkali, or the soil may be too hard and impervious, or water shortages may occur. The crop can be protected to a great extent by careful farming, but the combination of hard soils and high temperatures often sets a definite limitation to the production of normal fiber.

Hot Weather Damage.
The cotton on the heavy lands may appear very promising in the spring, but is subject to severe injury in hot weather, sudden checking of growth, wilting of the leaves and blasting of all of the floral buds and young bolls. Older bolls are retained but remain small and pinched, and do not open well. The damaged bolls have many abortive or shriveled seeds, and the fiber does not attain the length and strength of normal, well-grown cotton. Even the fruiting branches may be shortened or aborted as a result of alternate checking and forcing of growth on rich, heavy soils.

On account of the irregular character of some of the irrigated cotton districts in marketing were encountered last year, though not sufficient to discourage the planting of larger acreages in all of the irrigated districts. The irrigated cotton areas in New Mexico, Arizona and California were increased from 372,800 acres to 527,000 acres. Adding 73,000 acres in Western Texas and 160,000 acres in Lower California, brings the total of irrigated cotton to 770,800 acres. In several counties of California the cotton areas are more than 50 per cent greater than in 1923, and in some of the counties from three to four times as much cotton was planted this year.

Marginal Land.
The larger acreage means that more of the irrigated cotton is being raised on new or marginal lands where fiber or normal uniform character is hardly to be expected, on account of irregular conditions of growth. A warning is needed that special caution must be applied in the irrigated districts to discriminate between good and bad cotton. The market difficulties of last year have been reported widely, and often in ways that have given an adverse impression, as though all of the irrigated cotton were inferior. In reality, much of the cotton has been of good quality and very satisfactory to the manufacturers. The difficulties arose from the irregular shipments that made trouble in the mills.

The same need of precaution is to be recognized with both of the types of cotton that are being grown in the irrigated valleys, the Egyptian type represented by the Pima variety and the upland type represented largely by the Acala variety. Without being aware that adverse conditions cause damage to the cotton, buyers often assume that the varieties have "run out." That the same stocks of seed are producing cotton of excellent quality in other places is not considered, nor the precautions that are being used in the same districts to maintain pure stocks of seed.

Irregular Fibers.
Cotton that shows irregular quality in the fields is also irregular in the bales, though the fact may escape detection until the damaged fiber makes trouble in the mills. The customary classing of samples from the bales may give no idea of the irregular character of the cotton, since a good sample may be drawn from a bale that contains a large proportion of damaged fiber. Some of the buyers have made costly mistakes in buying irregular cotton at the same prices as good cotton and forwarding the mixed lots to Eastern spinners, only to have them refused. The best precaution against buying uneven fiber is to know the character of the cotton in the fields.

No "Soft" Cotton.
Complaint of the "soft" character of the cotton have been made in some of the irrigated valleys, as a reason for a lower scale of prices, even for cotton that has not been exposed to stress conditions. Careful spinning tests of "soft" cotton, recently reported from the bureau of agriculture economics, have not shown that the strength or other spinning qualities are affected.

Such unwarranted objections to irrigated cotton should not be allowed to confuse the practical issue of separating the damaged and irregular cotton from the normal well-grown fiber.

Communities that raise uniform cotton are notably injured by having it marketed with mixed or damaged cotton from other places.

Some of the valleys have a larger proportion of irregular or damaged cotton, but in all of the cotton areas there is need of greater discrimination in buying.

BUS LINES TO CUT RATES TO BAPTIST MEET

34 CONVICTED TO 1 ACQUITTED IN DRY CASES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—There were 35,720 federal criminal prohibition cases prosecuted by the department of justice for the fiscal year ending June 30 and jail sentences imposed reached a total of more than 7,700 years.

The department of justice in a summary of the year's activities said the number of cases prosecuted marked an increase of 13,620 over the preceding year. The number of cases terminated during the year was 58,429, leaving 18,299 cases still to be dealt with. In the record of the cases terminated, the results were: Convictions 46,220; acquittals 1,431; nolle prosequi or discontinued 6,114; quashes, dismissals, demurrers, etc. 2,046.

There were 34 convictions to each acquittal, a slight gain over the preceding year. The aggregate of fines, forfeitures and penalties imposed were $7,302,569. Jail and prison sentences imposed reached a total of more than 7,700 years, an increase of 48 per cent, the highest aggregate of sentences since the prohibition law went into effect. There were 4,857 trials by jury, an increase of 1,100. Pleas of guilty numbered 45,293, an increase of 16,414 over the preceding year. The number of civil cases terminated was 2,617, a decrease of 1,892 compared with the previous year. The aggregate amount of judgments in favor of the United States was $382,853, an increase of $30,756.

The record in regard to smuggling of liquor into the United States by watercraft disclosed that during the last year 379 domestic tin snippers were made and of foreign vessels seized there were 22.

ODESSA FARMER BUYS 15 HEREFORD BULL CALVES

ALBANY, Oct. 25.—F. W. Alexander, owner of the Diamond ranch of Albany, has just sold to John M. Gist, of Odessa, 15 Hereford bull calves. These 15 brought the owner $3,000, and were 15 as pretty calves as could be found in this section. All of these calves were sired by the noted bull Diamond, head founder of the Diamond ranch herd. Mr. Gist is to use these animals in his famous herd of fine registered cattle, which is known throughout the United States. These calves range in age from 8 to 12 months old, and will be shipped immediately.

1 DEAD, 1 RECOVERING FROM BLAST BURNS

ELECTRA, Oct. 25.—J. N. Nowell is recovering in a hospital here from burns he received in an explosion which cost the life of D. B. Bruton, 28, near here Wednesday. Bruton died an hour after the explosion, which was caused by an engine back-firing into a quantity of gas. Nowell's injuries are not expected to prove fatal.

EASTLAND CO. ENTRANTS WIN $266 AT DALLAS

EASTLAND, Oct. 25.—Checks to a total of $256 have been received in Eastland from the management of the Texas State fair at Dallas, representing prizes awarded at the fair to Eastland county and to individuals and communities in Eastland county.

One of the special individual prizes was awarded to Mat Bailey living north of Ranger, who got first prize for his ten-head exhibit of heifers. With that award went the sweepstakes for all grain sorghums, making Bailey's prize $15.

Less than fifteen per cent of the twenty-three million cars on the highways have their brakes in good condition. That means that over eighty-five percent of the drivers are careless, for there isn't any excuse for bad brakes. It takes just two minutes on our Jumbo Giant Brake Tester to know exactly what condition your brakes are in. A separate gauge gives an accurate report on each brake. The test is free. If adjusting is required, the time to have it done is while the car is on the "Jumbo". In this way your brakes can be perfectly equalized. When you drive away you will be secure in the knowledge that when you want the car to stop it will stop.

The Jumbo test should be made every thousand or fifteen hundred miles. It is just as important as oiling and greasing and we repeat—the test is free.

7 NEW HOMES IN ALBANY ARE BEING BUILT

ALBANY, Oct. 24. — Building seems to be booming again here in Albany, and the erection of seven new residences will attest the fact. Some of these homes are being expensively equipped, beautifully located, and handsomely furnished.

These homes are scattered about in different sections of the city, but four of them are being built in the northwestern part of town. This section of the town seems to be making a fair bid to become a large residence section of Albany, and is ideally located for homesites.

The business district is also changing appearance. Several having repaired their fronts, and others completely remodeling and enlarging their stores. John E. Sedwick has just finished remodeling two buildings on Main street, and J. L. Castleberry is also about through with his remodeling. The Castleberry building in which will be located a furniture store presents one of the prettiest brick fronts in the city.

A pretty brick pattern has been worked out and with its large show windows and vestibule entrance this building will be second to none in West Texas.

CONG. BLANTON TO SPEAK HERE MONDAY NIGHT

Congressman Thomas L. Blanton will address the voters of the Cisco County at the city hall here Monday night at 7:30 in the interest of the Democratic national ticket. He will also speak in Ranger Tuesday night. To fill these engagements it was necessary for Judge Blanton to cancel two other dates in West Texas where he was billed to speak.

Judge Blanton is very popular with Eastland county people, and the Daily News predicts that large audiences will hear him at both of his speaking dates in this county. His speech recently delivered at Merbel is being given a large circulation all over West Texas, and reports that have come to Democratic headquarters here are to the effect that they have received many voters who were straying dangerously near the Hoover coral, according to Luther McCrea, Democratic campaign chairman.

Dairying Combined with Sweet Potato Growing Is Found to Be Profitable, W. B. Starr Says

W. B. Starr, of Highland farm, was in Cisco Wednesday with another load of his famous Highland Beauty sweet potatoes, brought in to fill orders for these toothsome delicacies. Starr stated that he has regular customers that require 40 bushels weekly at the present time. The load he had in town Wednesday was of uniform size, well assorted and of symmetrical formation.

While in Cisco Mr. Starr stated he had just sold to R. E. Harrell, dairyman of Ranger, his fine Holstein bull, one nine year old cow and two unweaned heifers, all pure strain Holstein stock. Harrell is establishing a foundation for pure bred Holstein and Jersey cattle for breeding and dairying. The Holsteins bought from Starr will be added to his herd of dairy cattle that he commenced nine years ago near Ranger where he operates a successful dairy.

Mr. Harrell was especially pleased with the Holstein cattle I sold him, Mr. Starr said, as he stated he had no idea of finding such well bred cattle of such splendid milk strains in Eastland county. He bought these cattle after studying their blood lines, and said he was convinced there were no better animals in this section. He said he was convinced that the dairy industry will soon be one of the leading agricultural pursuits.

"I am selling these cattle as the cow and heifers are surplus stock. While I expect to always combine dairying with my farm operations, but my main line is potato farming. The reason I disposed of the bull was because I had his service for three years, and to keep my herd pure it is necessary to breed to other sire. I bought this bull from the Flowerdale stock farm, owned by Dr. Flowerdale, head of the livestock division of the Dallas fair, whose exhibits were first prize winners at the National Dairy Show at Memphis. After having the service of this bull I sold him at a profit, the four head bringing me $487.50. I was so well pleased with the bull bought of the Flowerdale farm that I shall go to the same place when I get ready to buy my next bull. I do not think there are any better cattle in Texas. I was very glad to have the cattle I sold Mr. Harrell to remain in Eastland county for that will insure that many more head of pure bred Holsteins for Eastland county, for this bull will be convenient for service for owners of dairy cows all over the county."

Speaking of his Highland Beauty potato crop Starr stated that the yield, while hardly up to the average years, the quality was good. "I started harvesting the crop Wednesday morning, and am now cutting ready to commence operating my potato curing plant. I shall sell what I can as long as the price holds up, but will take these yards of the market as soon as it is no longer profitable to market. Then I will cure them and hold them till the price is better. It won't be long before the crop of all the farmers will be on the market and then the price will naturally drop. My best money for potatoes is realized when the commodity is scarce, after the other farmers have disposed of their surplus. While the potato, when cured, will lose some in weight, yet they are of superior quality and bring better prices than potatoes that have not been cured, even by banking and other processes used for taking care of the tubers."

Downstate Farmers Displeased with G. O. P., Smith Popular in Chicago; Wisconsin Claimed Too

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25. — Chances for Democratic success in Illinois are exceptionally bright, according to Lucius J. M. Mallin, former judge of the Virginia Islands, who is in Washington enroute to New York from the three day convention of the Civic League at Huntington, West Virginia.

"We are convinced," he said, "that Governor Smith's majority in Chicago, where I live, will not be less than 100,000 and it may run as high as 200,000. Governor Smith's visit and speech there will greatly stimulate the enthusiasm of the Democrats and I am convinced the steps he made at Bloomington and Joliet will help him materially downstate.

"Never in my recollection was there a better spirit displayed by the Democratic organization in Chicago and Cook county. The utmost harmony prevails. There is no party jealousy, the leaders are united and the voters are up on their toes determined to roll up a greater majority for Governor Smith than has ever been returned for any candidate by the voters of that city.

"Although the downstate section of Illinois usually is Republican, the dissatisfaction of the farmers, coupled with admiration for the candor and courage of Governor Smith is working a great change in that section. We will carry counties in Illinois which have been Republican since the Civil War and I am confident the best the Republicans can hope for this year, outside of Chicago, will be an even break. Judge Floyd Thompson, who is making the race for governor on the Democratic ticket, is himself a tower of strength and there is every reason to believe he will be elected.

"Out in the Middle West, the Democrats are sure of carrying Wisconsin; believe we have better than an even chance to carry Minnesota. The two Dakotas and Nebraska and the 29 electoral votes of Illinois, which I believe we will get, will insure the election of Alfred E. Smith as the next president of the United States."

FEW CISCOANS GO TO NIMROD CLUB PROGRAM

Only a few Cisco people took advantage of the opportunity of cultivating a closer relation with their rural friends and customers when the club women gave an entertainment at Nimrod Friday evening, which was held for the benefit of the new club house that is near completion at that place. The Ely orchestra was secured to furnish music for the occasion, and J. E. T. Peters was master of ceremonies. These, with R. M. Herron, representing the Herron-Owen Slipper Shop; J. E. Ravencraft, representing the Cisco Building & Loan association, with Mrs. Ravencraft and E. H. Varnell, vocational agriculturist, constituted the crowd from Cisco who attended the entertainment.

The club women sold pies and cakes and auctioned off articles of value with Mr. Peters as auctioneer. A handsome patchwork quilt, made by the club women, was also disposed of. The women explained the object of the entertainment, which was to raise funds to complete the club house, stating that the club lacked $57 of having the desired sum. The exact sum realized from the entertainment was not learned but it was understood that the treasurer who is running for office in Spain ought to be right at home handling the political bill.—Dayton Daily News.

PONTIAC FIRST IN 6 CYLINDER REGISTRATION

PONTIAC, Mich., Oct. 25.—Continuing the record-shattering pace it has maintained since its introduction, the Pontiac Six for the three-month period ended July 31, led all six cylinder cars in new car registrations in the United States, according to an announcement made here by W. R. Tracy, vice president in charge of sales of the Oakland Motor company.

This relative standing, based on the most recent compilations received by Mr. Tracy from R. L. Polk & Co., credits the Pontiac Six with a total of 81,880 registrations during the three month period—more than 1,000 cars in excess of its closest competitor, and nearly 2,000 units ahead for the single month of July.

This record is regarded as particularly outstanding because the Pontiac Six was first offered to the public less than 30 months before it attained first position in registration of all makes of six cylinder cars. Almost as remarkable as its gain over competitive cars is the increase in Pontiac sales this year over previous years. In May, registrations were 21,995 units as against 12,235 in May of 1922, and 5,908 in 1921. A similar increase was registered during June and July.

Registrations for the three month period ended in July, in comparison with previous quarters, also reveal in graphic fashion how the Pontiac Six forged to leadership in its field. While registrations for May, June and July of this year totaled 61,000 units, in the same quarter last year, the total was 38,000 cars in 1922, 17,000 Pontiac Sixes.

The pace established by this lowest priced General Motors Six is expected to be continued, Mr. Tracy stated, in view of the numerous refinements that recently have been added to the car, making it more than ever a popular favorite.

Production is going forward at a rapid pace in the new Pontiac factory, said to be the most modern automobile plant in the world. It meets the anticipated demand during the coming months, according to Mr. Tracy.

What Pink Bollworm Looks Like

Farmers sometimes find insects in cotton bolls and wonder whether they are pink bollworms. The worm stage of the insect shown in this illustration is the only form that is likely to be found by a casual examination. The worm when full grown varies from about seven sixteenths of an inch to slightly more than one-half inch in length, and has a distinct pinkish color. The pink bollworms shown above are about one-half natural size.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified croscote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs croscote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to croscote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the croscote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion's guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist, take.

BABY HAS THIRD SERIOUS ACCIDENT WITHIN WEEK

GREENVILLE, Oct. 25. — Ernest Doan, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Doan, who reside near Celeste, late Tuesday afternoon received his third serious accident within a week. One week ago the baby lost a finger while playing around a binder. Tuesday he was kicked in the head by a mule and his scalp half torn off. He was taken to Greenville for treatment and the family car collided with another here. The baby was thrown from the machine against the second car and he received cuts and bruises. Miss Annie Doan, a sister, also received cuts on the face and head, while the mother was bruised. Physicians say that the child will recover.

Personality Reflected in Homes in Every Age, Twentieth Century Club Women Are Told by Lecturer

There is a wall texture for every personality and period, was the statement of Mrs. Christine B. Carter, director of the interior decorating department, textone division of the United States Gypsum Co. of Chicago in an address before the Twentieth Century club at the Presbyterian church this afternoon on "Personality in the Home." Every age in which people have lived has been reflected in the walls of their homes, she said. Her address, in part, was as follows:
 "The church is not tottering and the American home is not tottering, since millions of club women over the country are working each for the same purpose, to plant firmly in the home true Christian principles and to introduce there the influence and inspiration for beauty, charm and comfort. Home is at once the origin and final objective of human activity and gives to each new generation a slightly higher and firmer foothold in the ascent of man."
 "Since Personality in the Home is in a manner a scientific theme and is what every woman should know about herself, especially if she is the directing power in a home and family, we will ask how she can define her personality and know the things with which to surround herself. Her emotions and natural appeal will guide her. She is painting a great picture as she goes through life. She is the chief subject of the picture, the floor, ceiling and walls of her home is the background of this picture.
 "Texture is the term of the hour, we hear the merchant using it regarding his cloth and the landscape architect thinks about it in planning the lawn, so it is most essential in planning the background of this great picture. A textured wall produces animated play of light and shadow and supplies the most interesting background for midday's personality and her household treasures.
 "We have known texture from the earliest ages. They have been discovered to be the medium of permanent record showing advancement of culture and skill with each succeeding generation of man. The Egyptians fashioned in stucco and the Greeks carved in marble. The Italian used the palms of his hand in making his texture and introduced color and this irregular finish caused Browning to say 'The walls were peopled by the painter's hand,' meaning that they were made to live. The texture of Spain attained much beauty and distinctive design.
 "From one generation to another coming to the present we have been interested in the development of color in this background. This can be soothing or jarring. The influence which color has upon the emotions are the dynamics of life. Nature gives us the truest guide to a color scheme for home, the sky a lighter tone, comparable to the ceiling, horizon a little deeper shade as our walls, and the earth still darker as our floors should be. It is so easy to apply the delicate wall tones of color in the plastic paint, which we use on the walls. This can be fashioned with unlimited style of texture. There is a wall texture for every personality and period."

SOUTH PART OF CALIFORNIA TO BOOST HOOVER

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 23.—Southern California will assure Herbert Hoover a majority from 250,000 to 300,000 in his home state on November 6.

The national situation of a Democratic South and a Republican North is reversed in this state. If California were divided by an east-west line through its middle, the southern half would be almost solidly Republican and the northern half would be either Democratic or very evenly split between the two major parties.

The reason is easy to find. The two great population centers are San Francisco in the north and Los Angeles in the south. San Francisco is a cosmopolitan city full of citizens of alien origin, particularly people of Latin extraction. They are liberal in sentiment and politics. Los Angeles is filled to overflowing with people of the middle-west, the descendants of long lines of Republicans.

In the north, however, the growth of Oakland, across the bay from San Francisco, is cutting into San Francisco's liberal majority. Oakland is being populated by a conservative type of industrialists, mostly from northeastern states, and is strongly Republican. Hence, although it is conceded Smith will carry San Francisco, it is likely Oakland and some other northern sections of the state will go as strongly for Hoover as to entirely neutralize the San Francisco majority.

Thus, the die will be cast in the southern part of the state, and the popular majority in favor of the Republican candidate "south of the Tehachas" is expected to be not less than 250,000. The Tehachas mountains are the dividing line between the north and south halves of the state.

This result will further emphasize the fact that control of politics in California is definitely shifting from San Francisco to Los Angeles. Recently the state central Republican committee almost disintegrated in an internal row over the chairmanship. When the smoke of battle cleared away, a Los Angeles man was found in the chairman's seat, and for the first time leadership of the party organization has gone south.

ENTHUSIASTIC STEPHENS CO. CROWD HEARS LEE ON POULTRY

Ambition of Congressman-Elect Is to See 17th District Leading Diversified Farming for Texas

BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 25.—(M)ambition is to see the 17th congressional district become the leading diversified farming district of Texas.

Such was the sentiment that rang out here and there Tuesday night in the address of Congressman-elect R. Q. Lee in speaking to a crowd of business men and poultry fans at the Breckenridge city hall.

Introduced by Curtis Hancock, who said that Congressman Lee was here to talk turkey—meaning poultry—to this people, Mr. Lee, who came over late in the afternoon from his home at Cisco, for the occasion, spoke for an hour in the interest of a diversified farming program, with poultry, pigs and good milk cows on every farm in Stephens county.

His address literally bulged with statistics showing the opportunity that awaits the community that will produce in these several industries in this section.

The romance of figures would be a good title for what he had to say, as he cited instance after instance, fact after fact, and figure after figure, stressing the need and value of turning the lively hen, the dairy cow and the pig head up for that permanent prosperity which petroleum has failed to distribute in the oil belt where he has lived throughout the active years of his manhood.

The enthusiasm resulting from the meeting was such that it points to a poultry show for Breckenridge "open to all the world" in the near future, the date to be determined in the near future.

The congressman-elect told his interested auditors about the markets that await them right here in Breckenridge for all the poultry and dairy products that they can supply. He declared that there are vast quantities of eggs shipped into Stephens county every week and visualized the time, which he hoped was not far distant, when within a radius of 10 miles of this city there could be produced a half million dollars worth of eggs annually. To do this, he pointed out, it is necessary only to interest 400 farmers in raising as few as 250 hens. If these 250 hens lay 12 dozen eggs a year each, he said, the total combined volume would net $420,000 and that the value of the poultry would easily bring it up to half a million dollars.

The speaker stated that statistics show that 54 per cent of the farms of the South do not have a pig; that 57 per cent of the farms of the South do not have a single chicken on them, and that 23 per cent of the farms of the South do not even maintain a cow.

"I am as much opposed to the idea of raising poultry alone as I am against the one crop idea applied to cotton," Mr. Lee said. "Every southern farm should raise a little cotton," he added.

He urged that every farmer should immediately rid his premises of the "boarder type" of cow meaning the one that costs more to upkeep than her production justifies.

His remarks were interestingly illustrated by references to experiences and observations which have come within his own knowledge in recent years.

Only last week, he stated, he and Mrs. Lee went to Memphis where they attended the National Dairy Show, to which place he went for the purpose of gaining further information for his campaign in behalf of the dairy industry for this section.

He told of "Abigail of Hillside," which he had seen at Memphis last year, the new world champion producer with a record of 1197.51 pounds of butterfat for the year, as against the Texas average of 83 pounds. This one lone cow, he compared, produced nearly as much as 15 average cows in this state.

Reference was also made to Tupelo, Miss., which he recently visited and where, with a diversified program, a 1908, worm and weevil infested cotton area, the community had developed within the course of a few years into one of the wealthiest and most influential dairy sections of the South, the county now ranking third in number and value of fine registered Jerseys.

Tupelo, the county seat of Lee county, now has a monthly payroll of $30,000, while other industries attracted to the place make it today one of the fastest growing towns in Mississippi.

An illustration as to the work that the hen may do for a community was cited in the story of Petaluma, the California town that she built, which Mr. Lee visited in recent years and where, with a population of 9,000 people the three herds had a total deposit of $16,000,000.

Breckenridge, he estimated, with a population of 12,363, consumed eggs in such quantities that it would require at least 30,000 hens to supply the local demand to say nothing of the additional thousands of people and proportionate demands in the outlying communities of the county.

As the conclusion of the address by Mr. Lee, W. W. Byers presented the opportunity and the need for a poultry show in stimulating new interest in the industry which has lagged in recent years. He showed how a poultry show would bring together under one roof the very best that the county and section now has and how interest would thereby be enhanced to the point that a momentum would be given in a short period which it might otherwise require years to gain.

E. H. Varnell, of Cisco, who accompanied Mr. Lee and who is employed by the school board and Cisco chamber of commerce to teach vocational education in the Cisco public school, extended invitation to the Breckenridge crowd and all Stephens county citizens to attend the stock exhibit to be given in Cisco on November 12.

Harry DeLaine, chairman of the agricultural committee of the chamber of commerce, and W. S. Cooper, secretary, both offered the cooperation of the organization in efforts to promote the diversification idea in the county and to put over a successful poultry show in Breckenridge in the near future.

Mr. DeLaine also offered the assistance of the bureau of the Texas & Pacific lines interested in such cases.

As a result of the enthusiasm gained in the meeting, it was voted to hold the poultry show and Commission Agent Frank Lockridge, who presided, was instructed to call his committees together Wednesday afternoon to raise the necessary funds and set the date for the show.

GOV. SMITH, RILED BY 'SOCIALIST,' T NEWS

Roosevelt, Hughes, Borah and Running Mate Curtis of Similar View, Democratic Nominee Says

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—The Madison Square Garden speech of Herbert Hoover last Wednesday night was Governor Smith, who carried the Democratic standard into the normally Republican state of Massachusetts to be welcomed by a cheering crowd which swept 500 policemen before it in an effort to catch a glimpse of the nominee and catch a glimpse of the nominee and catch a glimpse of the nominee.

The yelling reception the governor received upon his arrival at South Station kept up without a break during a parade of the city and broke out anew after midnight when in Arena Hall he opened his final drive for the presidency with a verbal bombardment of the Republican candidate whom he accused of using words "to conceal rather than convey a meaning."

The Democratic nominee declared, however, that Hoover had let the "cat out of the bag" in his New York speech when he declared that the Democratic theory of public ownership and public development was state socialism.

A chorus of "hoos" swept over the audience, to be followed with shouts and laughter a moment later when the governor added:

"Well, how do the members of congress feel who voted for the deplorable of Muscle Shoals by the government?"

New York Speech Attacked

The nominee said that in a few minutes in the Madison Square Garden address he had heard the Republican had placed in the "Socialist party" many of those aligned under the Republican banner.

"Senator Borah ought to return home tonight," he went on, "because he has been discovered by the leader of his party." The governor then asked where he had heard the expression of Socialism before, and almost the same breath answered the question. "It was summed up directly to me," he said. "Why, it is the stock argument of the power lobby."

The governor said he had a picture of Chairman Macphail of the New York state Republican committee before him. Hoover to refer to Smith's proposals as Socialistic. If they are Socialistic, he added, "What do you say we call the roll and see who will come under such a classification?"

When laughter and applause had died down the nominee introduced "Socialist No. 1," who he said was the late Theodore Roosevelt. "We have another distinguished Socialist, the Hon. Charles E. Hughes," he continued. "If I am a Socialist, he is a Socialist." Again the audience cheered, laughed and applauded. "And I shall tell you frankly," he added, "that in a great many of my written messages and spoken speeches in this question of water power development, I used the identical language of Governor Hughes."

"Roll Call" Is Asked

Smith then said, "Let us proceed with the roll call," and he named former Governor Miller of New York, Owen D. Young and others as those who he said would come within the "Socialistic" classification set up by Hoover.

On the question of farm relief the governor argued that the Republican candidate's definition of "Socialism" would include Vice President Dawes, while, he said, Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas, Hoover's running mate, was "only 50 per cent Socialist," as he had first voted for the McNary-Haugen farm bill and then voted to sustain President Coolidge's veto.

"There was more applause and laughter when the Democratic nominee had his audience cheering again when he insisted Hoover's definition also would include Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, one of the farm group leaders. Several times the governor had to appeal to his audience to quiet down so as not to lose time over a 30-station radio hookup.

"Now, if you orators in the gallery will subside" was one of his appeals for silence. Again he asked that the cheering be put off until the end.

"It won't cost anything then," he said.

Wilson's Daughter Introduced

Near the end of his address, however, the crowd got out of control and for a time refused to be silent. The governor had started on a statement as to what country "really and actually" needs, but he got no farther, for somebody back in the crowd interrupted with a shout, "Al Smith!"

The governor was introduced by Mrs. Francis Wilson Bayre, daughter of Woodrow Wilson, who in a brief speech said her father had uttered what she described as "these prophetic words:

"I hope and believe that you will not be disappointed in him. He is a man who has stood apart in a many ways. I believe he feels in an unusual degree the impulses and compulsions of the nation's and the world's affairs."

She then added that Governor Smith's record "simply shows that my father's trust in him was more than justified."

GAIN SHOWN IN GINNING OVER COTTON IN 1927

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The census bureau announced today that 8,147,261 bales of cotton had been ginned up to October 16, compared with 8,117,825 bales on the same date a year ago.

667 Bales Ginned Here

Cisco ginners are still far under 1,000 bales of this year's cotton, according to the Moss Gin Co., who report only 667 bales ginned to date. Ranger gin reported only 375 bales ginned to date. The price is off today, as local buyers are paying 17 1/2c.

The Moran gin reported having ginned 852 bales and Albany ginned 852 bales.

The federal department of commerce reports that Eastland county had ginned 2,351 bales up to Oct. 1 which is said to have been nearly 1,000 bales more than were ginned in this county for the corresponding period of 1927-28, which were only 1,369 bales. The department of commerce's figures show that there has been a sharp decline in many West Texas counties. Nolan county which had ginned 5,292 bales at this time last year, had ginned only 493 this fall. Taylor county's total was 22,917 a year ago as compared to 2,486 this year. Young county, 1928, 2,848 bales; 1927, 9,555 bales. Palo Pinto 1,856 this year, 1,770 last year. Jones 3,422 this year, 19,444 last year. Cochran, 1,156 this year, 4,999 last year. Comanche, Brown and Erath are almost the same as a year ago. Brown ginning 400 bales to gin 5,547; Erath ginning 153 bales to gin 4,769 and Comanche losing 71 bales to gin 3,095.

For the entire state, ginners show an increase of 2,412,382 this year as against 2,330,530 last year.

Treasure Hunt for Hidden Gold of Old Bandit Gang in Guadalupe Mountains Made by Cody's Aide

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 25.—Soldiers of fortune in the southwest continue the career that epitomizes this section to its "legendary romance."

Herbert Cody Blake, 62, former member of Buffalo Bill's wild west show, a veteran of British and American military campaigns, is searching for a perhaps mythical treasure in the Guadalupe Mountains near Carlsbad, N. M.

After months of prospecting through three chains of Guadalupe peaks, Blake encountered bad weather and sought help in Albuquerque, food and money to carry on his hunt before winter comes.

Several writers have found evidences of a treasure trove in the Guadalupe, left by bandits known as the Gardner gang.

The Gardner boys were forced to flee to the mountains with a rich booty and gold bars and jewels seized from a smuggler's pack train from Mexico. All members of the gang died, Blake believes, before they could remove their treasure. A box of diamonds stolen during a famous bank robbery in Mexico also was supposed to be with the loot.

Blake traced the history of the Gardner through old newspapers and inhabitants who had long been in the southwest. He found, he said, unmistakable evidences of the gang's activities and of the cache in the mountains.

An uncle of one of the Gardner boys was enlisted in the search and furnished a supposedly authentic map of the country where the treasure would be found. Blake found the country shown on the map after several months of wandering through the mountains and started working his way into what he believes to be the hiding place when he ran out of provisions and was forced to return here.

"There's more than a million dollars in there," he said. "I'm satisfied of that and I'm going back after it."

WALTER HART PRESIDENT OF EASTLAND C

EASTLAND, Oct. 25.—W. M. Hart is now president of the Eastland chamber of commerce. Joe C. Day is now vice president. These new officers have succeeded Harry Breckford, who was the president because the father of his father, Senator H. P. Ford, has thrown larger responsibilities on his shoulders, and Ray Gill, who resigned the presidency because of removal from Pennsylvania.

With the election of Mr. Hart and Mr. Day to leadership of the Eastland chamber of commerce directors this year, these to fill the fiscal year to extend from October to January, as heretofore Hart and Mr. Day will hold their offices until Oct. 1929.

This new fiscal year coincides with the fiscal year of the Eastland city commission, which means the chamber of commerce directors from nominations made by the nominating committee of the chamber of commerce. It is probable that the city commission will name only two directors this year, those to fill the vacancies created by the resignations of Mr. Breckford and Mr. Gill.

Plans are being discussed to hold the annual dinner and meeting of the chamber of commerce during the present month instead of in January as heretofore. In any event it will be held, it is stated, within the next few weeks.

ONLY 11 MEN SO RANGER JUNIOR COLLEGE QUILTS

RANGER, Oct. 25.—The Rangers have disbanded. By a unanimous vote it was decided that it was impossible for 11 football players to go through the schedule of games during this season, so it was decided that the Ranger junior college football team would disorganize. Coach Tricky Ward announced.

A game scheduled with the Randolph college Badgers for this afternoon was cancelled, as well as all other games on the 1928 slate. Although Ward has had a scarcity of men since the season opened, he had managed to have a few substitutes on the bench in the two games which have been played and lost by the Rangers.

Since the game with Wichita Falls junior college last week, how-

ZEPP'S FLIGHT OVER MIDWEST IS CALLED OFF

GRAVE, N. J., Oct. 25.—Lulled to sleep by the climate of Cisco two residents found that their slumbers had been entirely too snug this morning, when they ascertained the screen doors had been open a some time Wednesday night, a sneak thief or thieves had appropriated what cash was available at the home of R. Q. Barber at the X-Ray shop, located at 494 West Fourth street, was entered and his trousers, underwear and pocket book were missing when he arose this morning. Having slept the sleep of the just, he failed to hear the burglar when his apparel and cash were extracted from the bed chamber, from right under his nose, so he began not too gently, to upbraid Mrs. Bills for misplacing his garments, so necessary to resuming his daily avocation. The missing trousers and the underlings as well as his pocket book, minus the cash it contained, were found in the yard by Mrs. Bills, who restored them to her irate husband. Bills is out about $10 in cash.

The report of the burglary of the Bills home was followed by that of O. J. Tillman, at 304 H avenue, who reported that his

Ambition of Congressman-Elect Is to See 17th District Leading Diversified Farming for Texas

BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 25.—"My ambition is to see the 17th congressional district become the leading diversified farming district of Texas."

Such was the sentiment that rang out time and again Tuesday night in the address of Congressman-elect R. Q. Lee in speaking to a crowd of business men and poultry raisers at the Breckenridge city hall.

Introduced by Curtis Hancock, who said that Congressman Lee was here to talk turkey—meaning poultry—to this people, Mr. Lee, who came over late in the afternoon from his home at Cisco, for the occasion, spoke for an hour in the interest of a diversified farming program with poultry, pigs and good milk cows on every farm in Stephens county.

His address literally bulged with statistics showing the opportunity that awaits the community that will pioneer in these several industries in this section.

The romance of figures would be a good title for what he had to say, as he cited instances after instance, but after fact and figure after figure, stressing the need and value of turning the lovely hen, the dairy cow and the pure bred pig for that permanent prosperity which petroleum has failed to distribute in the oil belt where he has lived throughout the active years of his manhood.

The enthusiasm resulting from the message was such that it pointed to a poultry show for Breckenridge "men to all the world" in the near future, the date to be determined in the near future.

as 15 average cows in this state. Reference was also made to the Mrs. which he recently visited and where, with a diversified program, a poor, worn and neglected cotton area, the county had developed within the course of a few years into one of the best and most influential dairy lands of the South, the county ranking third in number and value of line registered Jerseys.

Though the county seat of exactly now has a mortality rate of $8000, while other industries attracted to the place make it one of the fastest growing towns in Missouri.

An illustration as to the that the hen may do for a community was cited in the story of Petaluma, the California town the hen built, which Mr. Lee visited in recent years and where a population of 9000 people the hen had a total deposits of $90,000.

Breckenridge, he estimated, a population of 12,500, conversely in such quantities the would require at least 30,000 to supply the local demand to offset the additional thousands of people and industry.

Only last week, he stated, he and Mrs. Lee went to Memphis, where they attended the National Dairy Show, to which place he went for the purpose of making further information for his campaign.

He told of "Alkali" which he had seen at this last year, the new world soon producer with a net 1197.51 pounds of potatoes a year, an amount the Texas a of $3 pounds. This one had compared, produced nearly

A G. Buchanan, Dr. Paul well known Cisco geologist, and B. L. Mollenkopf, are drilling a semi-shallow test on the T. B. Busbee land six miles north of Rising Star. Ten inch casings have been set at the 300 foot level, and splendid progress is being made on the drilling. The owners of this well expect to reach the pay around 1,400 feet, which is the objective, as there is a nice producer at this depth within one and one half miles of this test. The well is in favorable locality, as it is in line with Blake and Oldman pools, both of which have been prolific in producing wells.

R. Q. Lee, congressional nominee of the 17th congressional district, speaks to the enthusiastic crowd in Throckmorton county Wednesday afternoon and evening. Wednesday afternoon he spoke at Woodson, and Wednesday night he talked to a crowd of 200 farmers at Elbert, near Throckmorton. At each place

MISSING HAND GRIP IN MIDWINTER COSTS HER LIFE

MELBOURNE, Australia, Oct. 25.—A missing hand grip in mid air Wednesday was responsible for the death of Miss Valma Schulte, member of an American troupe, "The Flying Le Mans," who have been going a feature circus turn here. As Valma was leaping through space, a second performer hanging from a trapeze caught one of her wrists and deflected her course. She struck the wall of the building and bounced from the edge of the safety net into the audience, crashing into a seat. Physicians said she died instantly.
