MR. HOOVER'S MESSAGE.

Herbert Hoover has the reins of government in his hands. He is chief executive of the republic.

He is the first engineer to hold the place. He is the first American born west of the Mississippi river to hold the place. His inaugural message, his first state paper, is a notable contribution to the official literature of his country.

In his foreword he pays high tribute to his predecessor in these words: "For wise guidance in this great period of recovery the nation is deeply indebted to Calvin Coolidge."

In his campaign for the high office President Hoover pledged his best efforts and all his ability to enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act.

After reviewing existing conditions of the undoubted abuses which have grown up under the eighteenth amendment, he declared part are due to the causes mentioned in his foreword, "but part are due to the failure of some states to accept their share of responsibility for concurrent enforcement and to the failure of many states and local officials under their oath of office zealously to enforce the laws."

Regardless of all this he lets it be known that in his opinion "there would be little traffic in illegal liquor if only criminals patronized it and we must awake to the fact that this patronage from large numbers of law abiding citizens is supplying the rewards and stimulating time."

This is the way out of it: "If citizens do not like a law, their duty as honest men and women is to discourage its violation; their right is openly to work for its repeal."

In other words the attorney general of the United States, William D. Mitchell, a former Democrat, will be the chief of the enforcement department and Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, will be relieved of all law enforcement responsibility relating to the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act.

In the closing days of the dead congress the Jones bill was put over. It provides drastic punishment for the violator of prohibition laws. It carries with conviction five years imprisonment in a federal penitentiary and a fine of $10,000.

Never in the history of prohibition law enforcement in any country under the sun have the penalties been so drastic.

INDIVIDUALISM.

The purpose of education is the development of personality. The tragedy of American "mass education" is the uniformity it produces. So thinks Miss Agnes Husband, dean of women at the University of Kansas. And a lot of educators agree with her.

LITTLE JULIUS SNEEZER

conformity." This is also the tragedy of American life in general. It may look like a blessing at some particular moment, but is a curse in the long run. Fascism makes everybody alike. Bolshevism may make everybody alike. Those are tyrannies. What good are people if they become as much alike as so many cabbages and peas? Democracy is supposed to develop individuality, and individuality is the richest thing in human life. Individualism has long been the spirit of America. But it is fading. Imagine a society where everyone did the same things, wore the same clothes, made the same remarks and thought the same thoughts. We seem to be drifting that way now.

OCEAN AIRPORTS.

Ever since the first trans-Atlantic flights there has been talk of building some sort of landing fields or deep-sea airports which could be used by passenger planes crossing the ocean. Construction of one such floating port is to begin soon. It is to be moored about half way between New York and Bermuda. Its landing surface will be a steel platform about 400 by 1,200 feet. A hotel, restaurant and machine shop will be part of its equipment. Chains, four miles in length and held by great anchors, will keep the whole thing in place.

TEXAS RAILWAYS.

Railroads in Texas had a net operation income of $43,091,645 during the year 1928, which was an increase of $7,451,737 or 20.91 per cent compared with the previous year. Incidentally the revenue from passenger traffic decreased but freight revenue increased. There is a reason for it—the bus lines. Their operators are making life weary for the passenger traffic agents of the railways.

INDIA AS A COTTON PRODUCER.

According to advices from India the area under cotton is now estimated to be 2,587,500 acres or 8 per cent more than last year and 3 per cent more than the average for the five preceding years. It is not India cotton that disturbs the American grower. It is the product of Egypt, a long staple variety and in demand by the textile manufacturers of New England.

MUDDY ART.

In an entertaining lawsuit going on in New York concerning a painting claimed to be a "Leonardo," a recent revelation is distressing. A physician testifies that "La Belle Ferroniere," alias "Blacksmith's Daughter," has "mud in her eye."

Such an owner is buying exclusiveness, not art. Most of the famous "old masters," even when authentic works of genius, are disappointing when anyone but a so-called artist or connoisseur looks at them—they are so cracked and faded. For the ordinary appreciative but sensible art lover, a good modern copy is preferable, because it is more beautiful.

Commander Kenworthy of England says: "One might as well call a conference of bookmakers and jockeys to abolish horse racing as to ask admirals to abolish battleships and reduce cruisers."

U. S. EXPERT HERE TO DISCUSS DAIRY COW DISEASES

Dr. O'Reilly of United States Bureau of Animal Husbandry, to Talk Tonight at Dairy School on Tuberculosis

Dr. O'Reilly of the bureau of animal husbandry of the United States department of agriculture, specialist in cattle diseases, will be the speaker at the Cisco Dairy Night school this evening at 7:30 o'clock. He was announced today by E. H. Varnell, Cisco vocational agricultural instructor, who is in charge of the school. Dr. O'Reilly is being brought to Cisco through the efforts of Mr. Varnell who applied to government authorities for a special interest in this line to appear here in the interest of the development of dairying.

Tuberculosis of cattle will be the theme of Dr. O'Reilly's talk. He will deal with other common diseases also and will answer questions although deal with particular problems they may be presented by those attending the school tonight.

Interest in the school which was started early in the year, has grown to large proportions. Representing quite an innovation in dairy promotion work it has been found to fill a real need locally and already has contributed much to that development here. An instance is the parcel post cow testing association, the first of its character to be organized in Texas. This testing association, taking the place of more expensive methods of wholesale testing of dairy cows for production, has attracted such general attention that innumerable inquiries have come from all over the state indicating that similar associations will be formed throughout Texas immediately. The idea for the association was obtained by Mr. Varnell through reading articles relative to the organization of parcel post testing associations in Wisconsin. The organization has been carried forward rapidly and very satisfactorily. Already in the neighborhood of 200 cows have been placed in the association and each month samples of the milk of these are being sent

CHURCH CENSUS FOR CISCO IS BAPTIST PLAN

One of the features of the work to be done in the Sunday school enlargement campaign to be conducted at the First Baptist church next week is the taking of a religious census of the town. A census was taken last September, but was so incomplete that it appears necessary to conduct one that is thorough. While his work will be done by the workers from the Baptist church, it will be equally beneficial to all the churches as if all the churches had united in the effort. According to announcement made by Rev. Acker C. Miller, all cards containing information for the other churches will be turned over to them and they will have access to all the information secured. For this reason it is hoped that the workers will receive the hearty cooperation of all the citizens of the town in ascertaining complete information in this census.

When a Texarkana negro got a license to be married a second time and the clerk told him to "come back again," he replied that he probably would.

VICTOR B. QUALIFIES AS "HUMAN FLY"

AUSTIN, March 7. — Rep. Victor B. Gilbert of Cisco qualified as a "human fly" Monday night escaping from the house of representatives through a window while the house doors were locked and guarded under a "call of the house."

He passed along the ledge outside the window, reentered the capital at another window and then descended the stairs. He is not marked A. W. O. L. for the feat as the speaker signed his illness excuse.

Wherein a Brindle Pup Plays an Unwitting Traitor to Its Young Masters in Near Railroad Tragedy

Cowper's immortal verse, "God moves in a mysterious way, his wonders to perform," has a parallel, somewhat feeble certainly, in a recent incident near Putnam which involved a near railroad tragedy and the love of a brindle pup.

The intervention of providence was responsible for the fact, in this incident, that the speeding crack train of the Texas and Pacific lines was not hurled boiler to parlor car into the waters of a lake beside the right-of-way, and the love of the pup for the additional fact that the mischief is not apt to be repeated.

A few days ago someone passing near the T. and P. tracks a few miles this side of Putnam noticed three boys busily engaged in piling scrap iron upon the tracks. Discovers the youngsters left the scene in such haste that their identity could not be discovered. But a brindle pup of conspicuous markings romped along with the youngsters and the passerby took particular notice of the dog.

The Sunshine, roaring along at between 50 and 75 miles an hour, its coaches crowded with human freight, was but a few minutes away. Very little delay would have meant wholesale tragedy, a mass of crushed and twisted steel and crushed and broken bodies precipitated into the rain collected pond beside the track. A few moments of quick work and the Sunshine lumbered by in safety.

Officials of the Texas and Pacific were informed and within a short while an investigator appeared at Putnam. For several days his search was unrewarded. The identity of the young culprits remained a secret as deep as dark. It was exasperating. Then the informer thought of the brindle pup. He described the animal and the investigation started off on a new tack.

It required only 30 minutes to locate the dog and, almost simultaneously the three boys. Hardly in their teens the youngsters were too young for disciplinary measures outside parental jurisdiction but they got plenty within that providence.

Sometimes one's dearest friend unwittingly betrays one.

DIVERSIFICATION SUCCESSFUL

L. F. Reed, of Scranton, was a visitor in Cisco Tuesday. Mr. Reed is a firm believer in diversified farming. Quite recently he purchased a farm of 80 acres near Scranton and after a year's work has this farm well stocked with livestock and poultry. He says that he is finding diversification a real solution to farming problems and though he has only gotten good started is meeting with promising success.

WOMAN MAKES PROFIT FROM CANNING GOATS

EASTLAND, March 7. — Two goats, valued at $3 on foot, were canned at a big profit by Mrs. E. R. Waggoner, a member of the North Star club of Rising Star. Miss Ruth Ramey, Eastland county home demonstration agent, assisted with the canning.

Forty-three cans of roast, soup, steak and chili were canned. This at 50 cents per can, amounted to $21.50. The cans cost $2.15, and the goats $6, making a total of $29.65, which amount subtracted from the amount of the value of the canned meats, leaves a total of $12.35, which represents the profits on the goats.

The meat, after being canned, is declared to be of extra good flavor.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germ.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

A Verdict

Supreme Court Justice Lewis L. Fawcett of New York says:

“The church is the greatest character building agency in the world; its teachings the most effective antidote for delinquency and crime. Out of 4,000 boys less than twenty-one of age arraigned before me charged with crime, only three were members of a Sunday School at the time of the commission of their crimes.”

LUXURIES WERE UNKNOWN TO EASTLAND COUNTY PIONEERS

But They Were Not Missed by Those Sturdy Settlers Who Laid Well the Foundations of Present Prosperity

Editor's Note — Ethan Lamb, whose articles dealing with early life in Eastland county have been read with widespread interest as they appear in the Cisco American and Roundup, continues this week his story of Red Gap, pioneer community from which Cisco grew. Mr. Lamb writes from intimate acquaintance with those memorable times. He witnessed the founding of Cisco and knows not only the names of the pioneers but the exact spot in Eastland county which a century ago the American and Roundup is located and happy in offering this feature to its readers, for which opportunity it thanks Mr. Lamb.

By ISHAM LAMB
(Written Exclusively for the Cisco American and Roundup.)
Looking back over the past to compare it with the present it looks as though the pioneers of this section had hard times. One did not see silk dresses. There were no silk dresses in those early days, no high heeled shoes. Calico looked well on the ladies and the men were well dressed in new ducking pants and gray wooden shirts. We necktie a red handkerchief was a handkerchief was universally used and whatever headwear they possessed was fancy enough. The latest fashions were not heard of. Or better shops there were none. We cut each others hair and most of us did our own shaving. The writer did not shave himself for he did not own a razor. He traded with the neighbors, cutting hair, mending shoes, and mending. Cornmeal, flint, and pemmican were not heard of, neither were they needed. There were no such slogans as easy address and polished manners are worth a thousand virtues.
No. The homesteader of that day, dragging his weary body home from a day of rigorous toil, was met by little children with glad hearts. They were his messengers. The western winds played with the tresses of his wife's brown or golden hair, the summer sun lanned her brown skin to freckles, but when he laid her to his bosom no dark suspicion ever crossed his mind. He knew that loveliness had never stole one dream from her life.
Divorce a Strange Animal.
Divorce was seldom heard of. The marriage vows meant something to them. The jelly bean and the flapper were unknown quantities.
The pioneers of the west were mostly real men, their wives true helpmates. Leaders of men that were noble and kind, the men were brave, hearted, their kindness exceeded only by their generosity. It was not uncommon for both man and wife to ride back-to-back in the coldest weather to walk upon sick neighbors lying miles away. There were no undertakers in this part of the west. The writer has made hundreds of coffins, many times for people who came 15 and 20 miles. Sometimes because there were no lumber yards in this section, it would take all the available lumber in the community to make one casket. All country stores carried nails, coffin screws and black and white velvet goods. They were used to cover and line the coffins. The staves were, as he was called them, never changed a cent for the services. I have made coffins for miles on horseback to my home where the work was done.

Strangers passing through the country were gladly entertained at no charge and invited to come again. The professional tramp did not come this way.
Pioneers.
Going northwest of Red Gap there were some settlements on Battle Creek. John Hightower, William Hamilton, who became the father-in-law of R. F. Woodruff, a Mr. Baker, Mr. Bradley, Dr. Brew, John and James Wolford, John Wells, Mr. Tomlinson, Mrs. Maxwell, Mr. Austin, the Clements families, Bough Hightower, James McCannies, A. Booth the Leaches families, Mr. Cook, Rev. Price, Marian Rainbolt, Bascom Rainbolt and others were among those residing there. Dr. W. E. Mancell, who had a large practice, perhaps visited every home in that part of the country. The doctor was a familiar figure on those virgin roads, astride his horse, his sun-burned whiskers waving in the wind as he went about his humanitarian tasks. But no man ever knew Dr. Mancell to be a-stride of the fence on any question. He stood foursquare for everything he thought was right, and it still with us and many there will be to say to him in the last day "I was sick and you visited and ministered unto me, I was hungry and you gave me food." A bigger hearted, truer man than he never lived in the west.
Leaving Red Gap for the moment I will pass on to the Gungahat section, which, though in Stephens county, was intimately associated with the communities of this section of Eastland county both in religious and secular ways. We considered the people of the Gungahat territory our neighbors and our friends.
Gungahat took its name from three small mountains, two of them separated by a small gap, the third some distance in front and pointing directly through this gap. The peculiar location of these hills suggested to some imaginative pioneering mind the act of squinting down the sights of a gun. The matter far-fetched suggestion I do not know who gave it the name or when it was given. The community was so known when I came to this part of the country.
People With Vision.
Gungahat was settled by a good class of people with a vision of the future. They were not drifters but home builders and home lovers. They worked together harmoniously to make the community a fit place in which to live. Some of them were my neighbors in Eastland county before coming here. I do not recall all of their names but some of those who came first were Prese and Frank Thompson, Jack and John Richardson, Press Latham, all of Corvett county; Hiram McCleary, J. H. P. Johnston, the Ibean family, Frank Shepard, John Shepard, A. J. Barrett, J. W. Babcock, John Lowrey, and Watson J. M. Meadison, J. W. Williams, J. L. Landers, Garth Thompson, J. R. Johnson, John Pettie, Gabe Bowles, James Wallace, the Argian family, Frank Beavers, Henry Adams, A. Wasley, Abe Smoot, the Dige family, Mr. Harper A. Tomlinson.

There are others but I cannot recall their names now. I am including the Harpersville community with Gungahat. They were a home making people and wide awake. They established schools and churches. I believe the Rev. A. T. Stewart organized the Baptist church and was its first pastor. He was from Arkansas and was not an educated man but was well read and a close student of the bible. He was an earnest preacher of the gospel and did a good work in that part of the country. I do not remember who constituted the Methodist church at Gungahat but John Shepard was the leading spirit among the flock. He was a noble leader in religious as well as general community work. He established a store at Gungahat and a post office and was a great help to the early settlers. He also had a mill and gin. In after years I was pastor of the Baptist church there and, although a Methodist, he was of great assistance to me in my work. His father was one of my deacons and a noble man. The Christian people, regardless of names, had a fellowship for each other and made the work pleasant.

EEF and Your Neighbor" Banded Together for Mutual Profit Theme of Farm Bureau Organizations

(By QUINCY A. MAIN)

Farmers are organizing, we see that in every hand, but why? It takes considerable time, effort and money to make much of an organization. Why do it? And will it pay after we do it? Perhaps if we knew what an organization was we could tell better.

Some one has said that an organization is "you and your neighbor" banded together to do something or get something for mutual profit, in other words, in the farm bureau it truly is "you and your neighbor," your neighbor in the community, your neighbor in the state and your neighbor in the nation. A farmer no matter where he lives is your neighbor, the things he wants are the same as the things you want, his needs are your needs and his organization is your organization. You can join hands with him no matter where he lives to work for the things you both want.

We must both need something and then want it, want it hard enough to work for it, fight for it if necessary, then we will get results. Industry and labor only came into their reward when they started working and fighting for their needs through organization and we now have their example for our inspiration and we further know that to meet them on equal terms we too must have our organization.

There are five things that we want that we can get through the farm bureau. First of all we want a voice in marketing our products. About all the voice we have now is in just saying "how much?" We realize that to get this voice we must fight. The other fellow is not going to give up easily what he has so long held as his right. The ultimate goal of our marketing work is to be able to meet the other man across the table and set the price, having due regard to the cost of production. We believe we are entitled to a fair profit on what we produce, just as anybody else. Some people think we have no right to market our own products, they have been setting the price so long they consider it their privilege to do so. If he would give us a square deal we would allow him to continue but we now know that all we can expect is a price that will barely keep us going, hoping vainly that things will be better next year. We know that he will meet our efforts along this line with every scheme to defeat it he can think of, unfair tactics, lies and all the power of his wealth. We have the advantage however, we have the stuff first and he can't get it unless we let him have it and this is what we are not going to do unless the price is right. We can have something to say about that. It means a fight to the finish however but it's a poor farmer who won't fight for his own rights. American farmers have always done it when they saw the need of fighting. Surely we have cause enough here. It can be done. It is being done and every farmer can help it along by joining his organization, the farm bureau.

Another thing we want to do is cut our cost of production. We can do this by adopting better methods, using better machinery and equipment, by helping the extension service put over its program and by cooperative purchases of raw materials that we need in our manufacturing plant. Through organized effort we can pool our needs and buy at wholesale, taking the output of whole plants at a time. We will act as our own salesman, buying what we want because we will know what we need. Just cutting the cost of selling the product to us will help a lot and we will be on an equality with industry that operates in large units. This won't take such a fight to put it over but cutting the cost is just as raising the price. We need both however. We want to keep the price to the consumer as reasonable as possible and still give us our fair profit.

Another thing we want is an equal opportunity in government and legislative matters. An organization can get laws passed that favors its members or industry. We know this because we see it being done every time the legislature or congress is in session. It is unfortunate that law-making has developed into a system of lobbying, but since it has and farmers didn't start it, the only thing we can do is develop an organization that can meet these other organizations on equal terms. We must do this, that is, unless we are satisfied to sit on the back seat and be forgotten when the rest are going up to the counter and getting their pieces of pie. No farmer worth his salt is willing to do this. It won't do any good to howl from the back seat, they won't bring it to us, we must go get it. Only through organization can we hope to get it done. Our farm bureau has been doing just this thing in the national capital and in many states as well. We can only help it along by joining and boosting our own organization.

Still another thing we want is a better standard of living on the farm and the income from the farm to pay the bill. Surely every farm home is just as much entitled to hardwood floors, good furniture, rugs, pictures, books, a convenient, modern kitchen and bath room conveniences as any city home. Some few farmers have things or could get them but it is all too true that the great majority of farm homes do not have them because they have not the income to pay for them. Through organized effort we can bring them to our homes easier than we could in any other way. Then the city will lose some of its attractiveness and a better class of young folks will stay on the farms and the rural districts will continue to be the residing place of the most intelligent, prosperous and happy people of America. The question of peasantry will no longer be a menace to our country. The American farm home will continue to be the most important spot in the world and the United States may continue to draw its most distinguished citizens from

FENCE-CUTTING DISCUSSED IN JURY CHARGE

EASTLAND, March 7. — "Fence-cutting" which figured many years ago as the old West of the open range was drawing to a close—was discussed in a charge to the newly impaneled grand jury by Judge Elze Been in 88th district court Monday morning.

"Cutting fences is a felony," the judge told the grand jury. "The act may be done as a preliminary step to stealing stock or in order to let the stock of the fence cutter into the fields of the man whose land is fenced."

Commenting upon the law against driving a car while intoxicated, Judge Been said that a drunken man at the steering wheel of an automobile was more dangerous than an intoxicated man with a six-shooter.

The charge dealt almost entirely with felonies, but one misdemeanor—vagrancy—was touched on.

"Although it is a misdemeanor, I consider the subject of vagrancy very important," Judge Been declared. "In almost every town there are big, healthy men laying around without visible means of support. How do they live?"

He added that such idleness was made possible in many instances because the idler was living by violating the law and a strict enforcement of the vagrancy statute would curb the number of theft, burglaries and other crimes.

The criminal code was given in charge, including murder, arson, theft, embezzlement, bribery, perjury, swindling, bigamy, forgery and prohibition violations.

You Knew it was COLD

—but did you know just how many days were colder than the same period last year?

THE WEATHER is the most universal topic of conversation. But few people really know anything about it. Feelings are so deceiving! If it's hot, most people say, "P-h-e-w! this is the hottest weather I ever saw!"—if it's cold, they jump just as far the other way and say, "B-r-r-r! This is the coldest weather I ever saw!" They're probably wrong both times. It's so hard to remember what the temperature actually was at any given time. But those of you who said right along, "This is the coldest February we've had for years," were correct! The mean temperature for the 31 day period from January 21 to February 20 was the lowest in fifteen years! There were more cold, disagreeable days in this climate than during any similar period for all that time. Here are the comparative figures for this year and last year, based on mean temperatures at Dallas, a more or less central point in Lone Star territory:

Month	Day	1929	1928	Higher	Lower
January	21	46	43	13
	22	40	44	16
	23	44	41		3
	24	46	48		12
	25	48	42		22
	26	44	40		16
	27	42	41		3
	28	44	42		2
	29	48	46		12
	30	42	48		12
	31	46	48		21
February	1	37	32		17
	2	37	40		23
	3	44	44		24
	4	39	42		24
	5	39	42		24
	6	42	42		24
	7	42	44		24
	8	42	44		24
	9	42	44		24
	10	42	44		24
Mean		37.4	40.9	21.00	26.96

You will note that 26 days in the 31 day period had a lower mean temperature this year than last year, the average being 16.56 degrees lower. In one stretch, from February 1 to 14, inclusive, the mean temperature was an average of 21 degrees lower this year than last. Eight days this year show freezing, 32 degrees, or below freezing, as a mean average temperature, against no freezing mean temperatures for a like period last year. Such a long period of cold, disagreeable weather, with much sleet, ice and cold rain, means that gas heaters were worked considerably over time! All who could stay inside did, day and night. This meant larger gas consumption. Naturally gas bills for this period will be somewhat higher than for the same period last year—and compared with the preceding 31 day period this season. Twenty-five days in the 31 day period from January 21 to February 20 showed lower mean temperatures than the period from December 21 to January 20; an average of 13.64 degrees lower! When you compare gas bills, compare these temperature figures. And, be thankful with us that Lone Star Gas Service was able to come through this unprecedented weather as efficiently as it did!

Legislature Overrides Governor Moody's Veto in Passing Small Bill to Validate River Bed Titles

AUSTIN, March 7. — With only 18 dissenting votes the house of representatives Wednesday passed over Governor Moody's veto the bill to validate titles to land extending across and into streams of 30 feet average width. The senate Tuesday passed the bill over the veto by vote of 24 to 6. The act became effective at 11:40 a. m. the moment the house vote was announced.

Wild cheering broke out on the house floor and in the galleries when the vote was declared despite the plea just before the vote was taken to act silently and sadly.

Rep. B. J. Forbes of Weatherford in his plea defended the governor for having done what he thought right and announced his vote to override the veto would be his first time to oppose the governor.

"Bear soft his bones Over the stones," said Rep. Mr. Forbes.

Representative HARRY N. GRAVES of Georgetown, the man who started Governor Moody on his political career, also voted to override the veto. Graves, too, defended the governor and declared that in his place, taking the opinion of the attorney general as the legal adviser, he would have done the same.

Graves, Representative O. F. CHAFFIN of Eastland and Representative Story of Vernon differed with the conclusion of the attorney general and urged that the bill be passed over the veto.

Arguments got the house restless. "Quit talking and we will pass the bill," shouted Representative Sam Glass, as the speeches continued.

Statistics quoted during the argument showed that the act validates titles to 454 surveys, in 33 counties, totaling 48,448 acres. That it possibly affects still more was indicated by Cecil Story when he claimed that if the surveys across and into streams were invalid to convey the streams beds, they were also invalid to convey any of the land in the survey, either in or out of the stream.

MCBRIDE CASE.

BRECKENRIDGE, March 7.—A special venire of 150 men has been summoned for the latter part of the week for the retrial of C. B. McBride, of Cisco, charged with the killing of John Gienn of this city on Thanksgiving night, 1927. According to L. H. Welch, district attorney, the case has been set for the 18th. McBride was tried in December, 1927, and given 45 years. The case was later reversed, however, and a second trial has failed to materialize on account of the prolonged illness of V. L. Shurtleff, defense attorney, who was recently released from a Fort Worth sanitarium.

BAGS FROM BANANA TREES.

Banana trees may yield fibers to take the place of jute in the manufacture of gunny sacks used to carry produce all over the world. "If hopes of Brazilian textile men are realized. An invention for utilizing the tree fibers for this purpose was described recently in Rio de Janeiro," says Popular Science Monthly. Brazil imports nearly $6,000,000 worth of jute every year. It is used mainly in the shipping of coffee. The plant from which jute, sometimes called "Calcutta hemp," is obtained is grown chiefly in India.

JUDGE GEORGE DAVENPORT IS BROUGHT HOME

Judge George L. Davenport of the 51st district court who has been critically ill at a hospital in Ranger for the past three weeks, has sufficiently recovered to be brought to his home in Eastland where he is slowly gaining his strength, according to reports in Cisco.

The seriousness of Judge Davenport's illness, which caused him to abandon the bench in the midst of the trial of a lawsuit and go to the hospital, was a matter of much concern to his many friends who followed closely the progress of his illness.

For several days the judge's condition was so grave that his physicians would not permit any one to visit him at the hospital.

Mr. Davenport, who was in the hospital at the same time her husband was, but whose condition while critical, was not as grave as that of the judge, has also recovered sufficiently to be brought to their home in Eastland.

THIRTY FIVE INDICTMENTS ARE RETURNED

EASTLAND, March 7.—Thirty-five indictments were returned by the new grand jury of the 88th district court just 25 hours after being impaneled.

The swiftness manifested is believed to set a record in the long and eventful history of criminal court procedure in Eastland county. All the indictments charge felonies.

Judge Elzo Been impaneled the grand jury Monday morning completing his charge at 11 o'clock. When the investigating body recessed at noon today, it reported 35 indictments. Then after luncheon, the grand jury went back on the job investigating other cases.

SOLDIER CHARGED.

SAN ANTONIO, March 7.—New York City detectives were scheduled to depart for the eastern metropolis Wednesday with Barkowsky Simon, 19, of Co. K, nineteenth infantry, wanted on a charge of murder. ### PSYCHOLOGY'S LIMITATIONS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 7.—Psychology is all right for salesmen and in business but it simply won't work in calming a suspicious wife. Even Dr. Earle Barnes, psychologist who is delivering a series of lectures here admits that. He confessed the deficiency when a number of men asked him how to become shieks with women and how married men might fool their wives when they were away from for reasons other than "The only thing to do is to tell the truth," Barnes said. ## A little foresight will mean a finer garden

THERE is a surprise when you first taste the melting sweetness of Ferry's sweet corn. It is not ordinary sweet corn by any means. Nor is a plump, red, smooth-skinned Ferry tomato like an ordinary tomato. Nor are the Ferry's Seeds that grow these like ordinary seeds.

Remember that when you buy Ferry's pure bred Seeds, you buy inherited quality. Quality is bred into the seeds. A careful up-breeding of vegetables and flowers has been going on in the Ferry trial gardens for 51 years. This means that the Ferry's Seeds you can plant today came from parent plants and grandparent plants that were themselves purebred. Sixty thousand tests are made annually in the Ferry gardens for germination. Thousands of other trials are made for size, form, color, resistance to disease. So far as is humanly possible, we determine that every crop will meet the Ferry standards.

Ferry's Seeds are easy for amateurs to make grow well, and are naturally the choice of professional gardeners. They are fresh for planting now, at the "store around the corner." No packet of Ferry's Seeds is ever carried over by the dealer for sale the second season. Send for the Ferry's Seed Annual. It is more than a catalog. Address D. M. Ferry & Co., Dept. H, Detroit, Michigan.

Your garden will have the best possible start with Ferry's purebred Seeds.

4-Year-Old Veteran of Civil War, Desdemona Resident for 40 Years, Buried Today After Death Tuesday

Funeral services for Captain O'Rear, an 84-year-old pioneer of Desdemona, were conducted this morning at 2:30 o'clock from the Methodist church in Desdemona. The casket was in the Desdemona cemetery.

When the oil boom struck this section of the country ten years ago Captain O'Rear was postmaster at Desdemona, a village of only 200 or 300 people. With the coming of the boom the population of Desdemona rapidly grew to 10,000 or 15,000 and Captain O'Rear was confronted with the problem of serving this great number of patrons with the limited help and facilities of the small Desdemona office. He was compelled for some time to hire help with his own funds in order to take care of the mails. He sent in his resignation, but was unable, for some months, to get relieved.

Patrons of the local theaters may be glad by this addition to the entertainment facilities here, of all the newest and best in motion pictures.

He gave interesting accounts of the hardships endured by himself and fellow prisoners on this island. Much of the food they had was obtained with funds from the sale of various souvenirs made by the prisoners and sold to visitors.

New President Tells Nation That Disrespect for and Disobedience of Law Most Malign Danger Today

Herbert Hoover, thirtieth president of the United States, told the nation in his inaugural address Monday that disrespect for and disobedience of law is the most malign of all dangers that beset the American commonwealth. A pronouncement of the policies which his administration will adopt toward law observance and the Eighteenth amendment in particular was ably set forth by the new president in that address. It was expected. And it was not surprising that he laid particular emphasis upon this question.

"To re-establish the vigor and effectiveness of law enforcement we must critically consider the entire federal machinery of justice," he said, "the redistribution of its functions, the simplification of its procedure, the provision of additional special tribunals, the better selection of juries and the more effective organization of our agencies of investigation and prosecution that justice may be sure and that it may be swift."

Extracts from his address follow:

If we survey the situation of our nation both at home and abroad we find many satisfactions. We find some causes for concern. We have emerged from the recesses of the great war and the reconstruction following it with increased virility and strength. From this strength we have contributed to the recovery and progress of the world. What America has done has given renewed hope and courage to all who have faith in government by the people. In the larger view, we have reached a higher degree of comfort than ever existed before in the history of the world. Through liberation from widespread poverty we have reached a higher degree of individual freedom than ever before. The devotion to and concern of our institutions are deep and sincere. We are steadily building a new race—a new civilization—great in its own attainments. The influence and high purposes of our nation are respected among the peoples of the world. We aspire to distinction in the world but to a distinction based upon confidence in our sense of justice, as well as our accomplishments within our own borders and in our own lives. For wise guidance in this great period of recovery the nation is deeply indebted to Calvin Coolidge.

But all this majestic advance should not obscure the potential dangers from which self-government must be safeguarded. The strong man must at all times be alert to the attack of insidious disease.

Law Enforcement.

The most malign of all these dangers today is disregard and disobedience of law. Crime is increasing. Confidence in right and speedy justice is decreasing. I am not prepared to believe that it indicates an impotence of the Federal government to enforce its laws.

It is only in part due to the additional burdens imposed upon our judicial system by the Eighteenth amendment. The problem is much wider than that. Many influences had increasingly complicated and weakened our law-enforcement organization long before the adoption of the Eighteenth amendment.

To re-establish the vigor and effectiveness of law enforcement we must critically consider the entire federal machinery of justice, the redistribution of its functions, the simplification of its procedure, the provision of additional special tribunals, the better selection of juries and the more effective organization of our agencies of investigation and prosecution that justice may be sure and that it may be swift. While the authority of the federal government extends to but part of our vast system of national, state and local justice, yet the standards which the federal government establishes have the most profound influence upon the whole structure.

We are fortunate in the ability and integrity of our federal judges and attorneys. But the system which these officials are called upon to administer is in many respects ill-adapted to present-day conditions. Its intricate and involved rules of procedure have become the refuge of both big and little criminals. There is a belief abroad that by invoking technicalities, subterfuge and delay in the ends of justice may be thwarted by those who can pay the cost.

Reform, reorganization and strengthening of our whole judicial and enforcement system both in civil and criminal sides have been advocated for years by statesmen, judges and bar associations. First steps toward that end should not longer be delayed. Rapid and expeditious justice is the first safeguard of freedom, the basis of all ordered liberty, the vital force of progress. It must not come to be in our republic that it can be defeated by the indifference of the citizen, by exploitation of the law or by combinations of criminals. Justice must not fail because the agencies of enforcement are either delinquent or inefficiently organized. To consider these evils, to find their remedy is the most sore necessity of our times.

Of the undoubted abuses which have grown up under the Eighteenth amendment, part are due to the causes I have just mentioned, but part are due to the failure of some states to accept their share of responsibility for concurrent enforcement and to the failure of many state and local officials to accept the obligation under their oath of office zealously to enforce the laws. With the failures from these many causes has come a dangerous expansion in the criminal elements who have found enlarged opportunities in dealing in illegal liquor.

But a large responsibility rests directly upon our citizens. There would be little traffic in illegal liquor if only criminals patronized it. We must awake to the fact that the patronage from large numbers of law-abiding citizens is supplying the rewards and stimulating crime.

I have been selected by you to execute and enforce the laws of the country. I propose to do so to the extent of my own abilities, but the measure of success that the government shall attain will depend upon the moral support which you, as citizens, extend. The duty of their government to enforce the laws which exist.

No greater national service can be given by men and women of good will—who, I know, are not unmindful of the responsibilities of citizenship—than that they should, by their example, assist in stamping out crime and outlawry by refusing participation in and condoning all transactions of illegal liquor. Our whole system of self-government will crumble either if officials elect what laws they will enforce or citizens elect what laws they will support. The worst evil of disregard for some law is that it destroys respect for all law. For our citizens to patronize the violation of a particular law on the ground that they are opposed to it is destructive on the very basis of that protection of life, homes and property which they rightly claim under other laws. If citizens do not like a law, their duty as honest men and women is to discourage its violation; their right is openly to work for its repeal.

To those of criminal mind there can be no appeal, but vigorous enforcement of the law. Fortunately they are but a small percentage of our people. Their activities must be stopped.

A National Investigation.

I propose to appoint a national commission for a searching investigation of the whole structure of the federal system of jurisprudence to include the methods of enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and the causes of abuse under it. Its purpose will be to make such recommendations for the reorganization of the administration of federal laws and court procedure as may be found desirable. In the meantime it is essential that a large part of the enforcement activities be transferred from the treasury department to the department of justice as a beginning of more effective organization.

The Relation of Government to Business.

The election has again confirmed the determination of the American people that regulation of private enterprise and not government ownership or operation is the course rightly to be pursued in our relation to business. In recent years we have established a differentiation in the whole method of business regulation between the industries which produce and distribute commodities on the one hand and public utilities on the other. In the latter, because we substantially confer a monopoly by limiting competition, we must regulate their services and rates. The rigid enforcement of the laws applicable to both groups is the very basis of equal opportunity and freedom from domination for all our people, and it is just as essential for the stability and prosperity of business itself as for the protection of the public at large.

Cooperation by the Government.

The large purpose of our economic thought should be to establish more firmly stability and security of business and employment and thereby remove poverty still further from our borders.

Education.

Although education is primarily a responsibility of the states and local communities and rightly so, yet the nation as a whole is vitally concerned in its development everywhere to the highest standards and to complete universality. Self-government can succeed only through an instructed electorate.

World Peace.

The United States fully accepts the profound truth that our own progress, prosperity and peace are interlocked with the progress, prosperity and peace of all humanity. The whole world is at peace only as a continuation of this peace today are largely the fear and suspicion which still haunt the world. No suspicion or fear can be rightly directed to our country.

Party Responsibilities.

In our form of democracy the expression of the popular will can be effected only through the instrumentality of political parties. We maintain party government not to promote intolerant partisanship, but because opportunity must be given for expression of the popular will, and organization provided for the execution of its mandates and for accountability of government to the people.

Special Session of the Congress.

Action upon some of the proposals upon which the Republican party was returned to power, particularly further agricultural relief and hotted changes in the tariff, can not, in justice to our farmers, our labor and our manufacturers be postponed. I shall, therefore, request a special session of congress for the consideration of these two questions. I shall deal with each of them upon the assembly of congress.

Other Mandates From the Election.

It appears to me that the more important further mandates from the recent election were in the maintenance of the integrity of the constitution, the vigorous enforcement of the laws, the continuance of economy in public expenditures, the continued regulation of business to prevent domination in the community, the denial of ownership or operation of business by its citizens, the avoidance of policies which would involve us in the controversies of foreign nations, the more effective reorganization of the departments of the federal government, the expansion of public works and the promotion of welfare activities affecting education and the home.

LEGISLATURE ENTERS FINAL WEEK OF SESSION THIS MORNING

Final Adjournment Date Set for March 14 at Noon; Three Important Measures Are Yet to Be Acted Upon

AUSTIN, March 7. — The Texas legislature this morning began its final week. March 14 at noon is set for final adjournment with only a few hours that can be gained by voting back the clock hands on that day.

Provisions are being made freely at there will not be a quorum in Austin after Saturday night. This could doom all constitutional amendments not disposed of by that time. It would also prevent passage of any bill after Saturday noon which an opponent raises the point of order that there was no quorum.

The legislature goes into the last week with final action yet to come on three important measures. These are: (1) The Wirtz bill to permit a state party executive committee to fix the status of party bills. (2) The state road bond issue. (3) The prison centralization bill.

An effort to get the house and Minor held that one failure to get 100 votes on final passage was fatal.

The constitutional amendment on which the ruling was made proposed that no salary may be changed during a term of office. Its passage would have barred senators with four year terms getting the benefit of a raise of legislator's pay of $10 if the amendment for the purpose carries.

Two constitutional amendments were sent to the final stage. One gives university regents power to pledge university income to secure obligations and the other frees non-income property of American Legion posts from taxation. Both have finally passed the senate.

Governor Moody's proposal for appointment of the state comptroller, state treasurer and state land commissioner secured only 25 favorable votes and 84 against it in the house. They now are elected. Increased pay for state rangers was finally passed. The new pay will be $190 a month for privates, $175 for sergeants and $225 for captains.

"When we need real men we call on them," declared Representative Carl Roundtree of Lamesa. "Let's give them decent pay or do away with them."

Only the governor's signature is necessary to repeal the law prohibiting motion picture shows on Sunday. The senate passed the Graves house bill to this effect yesterday. It was amended before passage in the house so as to allow

Woodall's house bill, making it a felony for any peace officer to demand or collect any fine in misdemeanor cases until after conviction, was passed by the upper house.

Henderson as chairman of the board of deacons briefly mentioned the financial drive, which is to be completed in the every-member-canvas Sunday, and stated that volunteer pledges were coming in every day, and that it was expected that 85 per cent would be pledged before the list of names of pledgers should be read at the morning period Sunday. A budget of approximately $9,000 has been adopted for next year. Dr. T. S. Knox of Abilene spoke on "Loyalty," stressing its display in church attendance, prayer, service and financial support "as the Lord has prospered you." Two hundred were seated at the banquet tables.
