Free Speech for Congressmen

Do congressmen talk too much? If they do, one reason may be that they have—by law—more freedom of speech than you and I.

Suppose that a senator, in the course of debate, accuses a prominent businessman of cheating on his income tax return. Even if the senator has no proof at all, he cannot be held liable for defamation of character. As a member of Congress, he is protected by what the law calls an "absolute privilege" against liability for slanderous statements.

In fact, a congressman is protected not only against slander suits but even against criminal charges—if based on what he says in the course of debate. For example:

A bribery charge was brought against a congressman on the basis of a speech he gave on the House floor favorable to a certain financial institution. There was some evidence that he had collected a payoff from the institution for giving off the speech.

But the court ruled that, even if the charge was true, he still could not be convicted—because that would be an infringement of a congressman's special freedom of speech.

Such an occurrence is the rare exception rather than the rule. And while it has been argued that there are grave dangers in entrusting to any individual so much leeway, there is a powerful purpose behind this principle of law: to encourage the utmost freedom in congressional debate.

The fear of unpleasant legal consequences, either justified or unjustified, could well put a real damper on a congressman's performance of his job. For the same reason, similar protection is given to lawmakers in almost all democratic countries.

Still, a congressman's freedom of speech is not totally without limits. One restraint (seldom used) is Congress' own power to discipline a member who abuses his privilege.

Another, more important restraint is that the congressman loses his immunity if he repeats his statements outside of Congress, apart from his official functions.

But probably the most effective restraint on an unscrupulous congressman lies in what the voters can do to him, come next Election Day:

Throw the rascal out.

FISHING NAVIGATION

Navigation as practiced on the "high seas" has little application on the average fishing waters, but navigation — of a sort — can be an important aspect of every fishing trip.

Seldom is a knowledge of marine navigation necessary to most anglers, say the fishing experts at Mercury outboards. However, they add, an acquaintance with a few rudiments won't hurt, either.

For example, knowing how to determine the boat's approximate position on a large lake not only helps keep one on course, but the same procedure enables a man to locate a hidden bar or dropoff where the fishing's good.

Necessary tools include compass, chart, ruler and pencil.

Using the triangulation method, it becomes a simple chore to establish the boat's position in relation to compass readings from prominent landmarks.

The easiest way is to align the chart's "north" arrow with the compass needle. Hold a ruler over the chart and take a sighting at a feature on shore that also shows up on the chart. Draw a line on the chart along the straight edge.

Then repeat the procedure on another landmark — on the opposite shore, if possible. Where the second line intersects the first you have your approximate position.

By reversing the steps, it is possible to run a boat up to a certain compass bearing and then jockey along it to reach the cross reference point where you want to fish.

This system is only as good as the operator, note the Mercury lads, but with practice it can become reasonably accurate.

4-H Club News

4-H Cloverettes met with their leaders, Mmes. H.B. Rinker and Robert Stewart, April 27 in the city park for a picnic.

This was the final meeting of the year, completing their project "Preparing Foods the Picnic Way." The picnic was the appropriate way to end their project as the girls prepared the food themselves. They had fried chicken, potato salad, cupcakes, cokes and also pickles and chips.

Each girl invited a guest and they all played games after eating.

Attending were Janice Stewart, Susan McKay, Cynthia Pearson, Kim Rinker, Kathy Gilley and Bonnie Hacker.

Sewing Notions

When I visit Edwards Fabric Shop, I am reminded of the old saying "It's hard to see the forest for the trees." The store is filled with bolts of fine fabrics that can hardly believe so many bolts of fabrics can be accumulated in the available space.

It is understandable that you're sure to find exactly what you're shopping for at Edwards's Fabric Shop. It might be better to say "You can't help but find the pattern and texture you're seeking because, there's so very much to choose from."

You're invited to stop in and see the new patterns and sewing accessories now showing at Edwards Fabric Shop.

VIETNAM VIEW
as reported by Marine Corps Combat Correspondents and edited by
GySgt. Bob Montgomery

Marines recently were given the opportunity to fight on a battlefield quite different from their numerous rice-paddy battles. This was the type of fighting that Marines on Operation Hue found themselves facing.

Some of the Marine companies fighting the enemy on a house-to-house basis was Company H, 2nd Battalion, Fifth Marines. Some of the problems a company commander faces in street fighting were explained by Captain Ron Christmas, 27, of Ft. Ordale, Fla., commanding officer of "Hotel" Company. Street fighting is the tightest type of fighting I know," he said. "because all the action is close in and centered in a small sector. Another big problem is keeping all the platoons connected up. The buildings being so close often interfere with communications between my elements."

The individual rifleman, street fighting, in contrast to paddy fighting is a wholly new concept.

"It's tougher in the streets," said Private First Class Norman Belle, 24, of Lawrence, Kan., a fire team leader. "In street fighting your objective can change at any moment, depending where the enemy moves to when you close in on him."

At Estelle, there are a few compensating points in house-to-house fighting.

"You don't get tired as quickly when you are running on dry pavement. Also, in this type of fighting you can see more of the damage you're doing to the enemy because they don't manage to drag off most of their dead."

How did the Vietnamese feel about the Tet offensive? One man in the city of Hue, one of many similar incidents, summed up the answer fairly well.

The action involved a Vietnamese civilian aiding Marines in search for North Vietnamese Army snipers during Operation Hue City.

"A very excited Vietnamese man came running up the street," said Lance Corporal Fred A. Vandenkaker, 20, of Inglewood, Calif.

Through a mixture of broken English and sign language, the man explained to Vandenkaker that an NVA soldier was using his house as a sniper tower.

Following the man with extreme caution, the Marines surrounded the house, after which the sniper opened fire. In an ensuing brief fire fight, Vandenkaker killed the roof top agitator.

After thanks from the grateful man, the Marines continued their tedious, danger-filled task of weeding the enemy out of the war-gutted city.

The Viet Cong Guerrilla presents a special problem to American and Vietnamese forces. He is able to blend into the civilian population.

When Vietnamese civilians take action on their own behalf to point out the enemy, however, he can be rooted out and apprehended.

The Psychological Operations Office of the 1st Marine Division has for months urged the Vietnamese civilians to take this action themselves.

In the village of Kanh Son, near Da Nang, a group of villagers recently did just that. They lost no time in turning in a Viet Cong to the local Popular Forces unit.

Two members of a Viet Cong intelligence team entered the village. They confronted the village chief and told him to organize a demonstration against the United States and Popular Forces troops in the area.

The two guerrillas threatened to murder the chief if he did not do as they wished. Fearful for his life, he agreed to organize the demonstration.

The villagers, however, had different plans. Noticing the two strangers in their village, they suspected them to be Viet Cong. A group of the villagers went to a nearby Popular Forces compound and returned with seven troops.

One of the VC escaped, but the other was arrested. The chief was taken into custody for questioning.

The people of Kanh Son plan to hold an election in the near future to choose a new village chief.

Honored Students Feted At Banquet

Outstanding SHS students who have received the honor of being chosen "boy and girl of the month" for the past school year were honored at a buffet supper Monday night.

Members of the Spearman Study Club, sponsoring organization, were hosts for the 6 o'clock dinner in the HD Clubroom.

Decorations carried out an educational theme. Centerpieces for the banquet tables were encyclopedias topped with academic mortarboards, hot-house orchids, courtesy Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Jones, were used in floral arrangements.

Mrs. Robert Adamson, president of the study club, opened the program with a welcome address and introduced Mrs. Jimmy Vernon, mistress of ceremonies. Mrs. Vernon explained how students are chosen for the honor bestowed monthly throughout the school year.

Each boy and girl was called upon to introduce their parents. Each student then delivered a two-minute speech on "what education means to me." Girls were presented with charms and boys received key chains engraved with their names.

Parents and students honored included: Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Hutchison and Rebecca, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Brock and Debra, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Haner and Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Grayson and Bobbie Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bengt and Gary, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Smith and Rebecca, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Brown and Jimmy, Mrs. Glen Mackie and Kathy, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Fullbright and Cloetta, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. McClellan and Bill, Mr. and Mrs. Max Baggerly and Steve, Kathy Hayworth, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Lyon, Jr. and Catherine, Mr. L. M. Womble and Danny and Mr. Kenneth Shufeldt and Hal.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McKay, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Laws and Dr. and Mrs. Bill Reeves.

Festivities Open Lake Greenbelt

CLARENDON--Lake Greenbelt, a blue oasis in a sea of picturesque rolling green hills and cottonwoods will become the mecca for an estimated 25,000 visitors from a statewide area expected to be the Texas newest eastern Panhandle.

The occasion will be a five-day celebration marking the grand opening and formal dedication of the lake during the Memorial Day weekend, May 29 through June 2.

Greenbelt Lake-owned and operated by the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority--will be open to the public for fishing on May 29. A three-day fishing contest will follow with a colorful Greenbelt Queen Contest on Saturday night and formal dedication and nationally sanctioned boat racing on Sunday afternoon.

Mike McCully, Clarendon postmaster, heads a special Greenbelt Celebration committee which will help sponsor the affair in cooperation with other Greenbelt member towns, Hedley, Memphis, Childress, Quanah and Crowell. The celebration is being underwritten by the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce.

The lake, already half of its total 60,000 acre feet capacity, is now open for boating, swimming and picnicking. The Texas Parks and at the lake, has set May 29 as the first day for fishing. In addition to such popular game fish as bass, crappie and catfish, Lake Greenbelt is the only public lake in Texas where northern pike is stocked.

Located four miles north of Clarendon on the Red River, Lake Greenbelt features deep, blue water and white sandy beaches. Already half full, the lake will be some 88 feet deep at the dam and back up water for some four miles when filled.

Sherwood Shores No. 9, a fabulous lake-side resort on the north side of the lake was opened last September and hundreds of lots have already been sold with home construction underway. George D'Ammond, developer of the Greenbelt resort, said plans call for several swimming pools, parks, and paved streets, water and utilities over the some 700-acre estates. Sherwood Shores will be adjacent on the new 18-hole Clarendon Country Club to be constructed on the lake beginning in the near

More than 1000 dollars in prizes will be awarded visitors during the grand opening weekend. Prizes will go to winners in the fishing contest with door prizes to be presented at intervals during the celebration.

Beauties from the six Greenbelt towns will compete in the beauty contest scheduled for Saturday night, June 1 in the Clarendon Junior College Gymnasium. Contestants will be unmarried, from 17 to 22 years of age and sponsored by a civic or social club. The young ladies will be judged in formal gowns and bathing suits by Amarillo television personalities. Following the contest, area high school and college youths will be invited to a dance at Clarendon's Electric Theatre.

Dedication of the lake has been scheduled for Sunday, June 2 at 1 p.m. Judge Otho Dent of Austin, a member of the Texas Water Rights Commission and one of the state officials who worked with the Greenbelt project since its inception, will be the principal speaker. Following the dedication will be the boat races sponsored by the National Outboard Association. Plans call for 16 heats of four boats to the heat in races over a half mile area with quarter mile turns. A thousand dollars in purse money has been posted by the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce.

Civic organizations from the various Greenbelt towns are invited to have concession stands at the lake for the weekend.

Heard a hard-to-believe but typical cat story this week, and Mrs. C. E. Babbs will vouch for it. Seems she had closed off the upstairs portion of their home on Evans street. And one day on entering her son's second story bedroom was more than surprised to see a mother cat had taken over Chris' bed. Furthermore she had a litter of kittens. Since the cat seemed very huffy over this intrusion, Mrs. Babbs quickly shut the door and waited for Chris to come home from school and move the family OUT. The mother cat was gone so he placed the kittens in a box and put them in the garage. The family could not imagine HOW the cat was making her exits from the upstairs room but they soon found out. There she went with a kitten in her mouth climbing rung by rung up the TV antenna pole, and disappeared in a hole around the air conditioner.

Mr. and Mrs. Kiff White rushed over to Miami just after the tornado struck there Monday to check on their daughter and family, Sheriff and Mrs. Cy Carr and son Gary. The storm did much damage to part of the town, but missed the Carr's home by half a block. Sheriff Carr, who was watching the storm from outside the city, said when the tornado first touched down it's path was away from the city, then it swung back and changed direction straight for the town. Regardless of what the TV reports were, the storm actually struck about 3:15 p.m. He had already alerted the town, had gone by the church and told his wife Elizabeth and son Gary to stay in the church basement, then went by the school and told the superintendent to keep the children there. Mrs. Joyce Jennings, a Spearman native, is a teacher in the Miami schools.

Due to Sheriff Carr's early warning to residents, only five persons out of the entire population received minor injuries. No churches were struck, but many homes and businesses were. The school received some $100,000 damage. Classes have been dismissed.

Cricket & Bill said they worked time and-a-half plus over time several days last week framing pictures for hanging in the water color exhibit now on display at Beedy Furniture Co. C. & B. do an excellent job of framing and matting pictures... at least I've always thought so... and even they realized it when some of the women brought in pictures which had been framed elsewhere. Many of these were very poorly done. Just goes to show you!

Every fisherman I talked to who had fished for pike last week at Lake Meredith caught their limit... Don Knox and Bill Hutton, Mr. and Mrs. Kiff White, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cates to name just a few. I can't imagine an expert fisherman like Bill Hutton taking along a novice like Don Knox. Especially when Don never goes anywhere without his hunting dog Big Red, Don paid a lot for Big Red and perhaps he is worth it during quail or pheasant season. But fishing! When I asked Don about this he gave the credit for his catch to his dog which is part water spaniel no doubt.

We went out one evening with a group of local fishermen and caught 22 in about two hours. Next evening we took Orville & Martha Latham with us and caught 16. We

Washington Report

From Congressmen
BOB PRICE 18TH DISTRICT, TEXAS

The tax increase that we are now faced with is the direct result of excessive spending by this and the preceding Administration. The result has been a tremendous rise in the cost of living, the highest interest rates in 100 years, a crisis in our balance of payments, a growing threat that we might have to devalue the dollar and a general weakening of the American economy. The cost of living is rising at an annual rate of almost 4% as wage increases in union settlements during the first quarter of 1968 averaged almost 6% and these increases are sure to be passed on in higher prices. A leading banker said "a new form of brinkmanship is abroad in the land. Not for generations has the nation's political leadership exhibited so stunning a compulsion to catastrophe. For over two years the political powers that be have mumbled and stumbled into a chaos that has been accumulating steadily. An Associated Press story on the nation's fiscal crisis was headed, "U. S. Pickpocket Inflation Again Makes Off With Loot." Inflation is not just an unwelcome guest but is the unofficial tax collector for the nation. It has been called unjust, ruthless, greedy, villainous, irrational--and all these derogatory descriptions and more apply to it. It is also cowardly, for it picks on those who can do little about it, on elderly men and women and others on fixed incomes, for example; on people who can't go out and earn more to replace the money taken from them. Inflation is an insidious tax. It is tricky. Often it cannot be seen, for it disguises itself as prosperity. It would have you measure the economic engine, for example, by the heat it gives off rather than by the power it produces. To put it another way: you're just spinning your wheels. You're not moving ahead. This is not quite the case at the moment. Living costs are increasing, but so is buying power. Wages might be increasing for corporations but so are corporate profits. Still, much of what looks like improvement is just motion. People are making more money but their living standards cannot reflect this completely. A steady amount of the dollars they put in their pockets is fingered quickly and silently by the pickpocket. It really doesn't make much sense to raise wages only to see the increases wiped out by rising prices and so on. But what is utterly irrational about inflation is that it can be spotted and headed off--

Improvements delivered as promised

Important Changes Shape Up at 7

John Tyler keeps his promises. As KVII-TV's general manager, he made five big ones in February. He hasn't reneged on a one.

"I said then, and I say again, that KVII-TV is going to be the No. 1 station for area viewers instead of the straggler it had been over the years," he promised. That makes six he has to keep. He's not doing badly on the first five. Look at the record.

Promise No. 1: "We will double our news staff and make it more mobile, providing the men with all the equipment they need to supply the kind of coverage viewers expect from a first-class news program."

Tyler described changes that have been made. "These guys are real pros at news," he said, "and with the new equipment we've added, they will be even better prepared to give area viewers a professional presentation of the news."

They include Channel 7 news director Tom Martin, anchor man Bob Izzard, and three photographers/reporters—Dick Caywood, C. J. Arendahl, and Joe Lutz.

There are also stringers in all major Panhandle communities and towns to feed spot news and features to the KVII-TV news team.

Those four orange-and-yellow psychedelic Mustang fastbacks scooting throughout the Tri-State area certainly make the news staff more mobile—and more noticeable, too. "Well, you can hardly miss them," Tyler observed dryly.

Each of the colorful Mustangs is equipped with six radio monitors tuned to law enforcement agencies in the area, enabling the newsmen to maintain two-way contact with the sheriff's department, city police and the Texas Department of Public Safety.

There is also an aspect about taxes on the present economy that is sometimes hidden as effectively as the pickpocket's fingers. It involves the transfer of power involved in a tax increase.

To impose taxes on the private economy would weaken it. At the same time it would make even more powerful the public economy, whose spending already is the cause of inflation.

lie Safety. Our photographers are now equipped with Canon Scoopic 16 movie cameras, said by the experts to be the fastest hand-operated movie camera in the world. It's the first 16-mm camera to incorporate a zoom lens and fully-automatic exposure control system. We can provide perfectly exposed pictures in record time, which means better visual reporting, faster," Tyler said.

Coupled with the new cameras is a $20,000 Jamieson high speed color film processor, the same processor used commercially by Eastman-Kodak. Most stations take about an hour or more to process color film for newscasts, but with KVII-TV's new processor, the photographer can go from dip to dry and have the film on the air within 20 minutes.

"This means that a story can break 15 minutes before any news program, and before the newscast is finished, we can have the filmed story on the air," Tyler added.

"These improvements should really give momentum to what we've seen as a changing trend in news-viewing habits in the Tri-State area."

The station further strengthened news programming in the more specialized areas of agriculture and sports.

On April 1, Jack Tompkins, the area's leading farm editor, joined the station. "Jack's knowledge of agriculture and his analysis of events in that field will certainly be an asset to farmers and ranchers in this area," Tyler said.

Sports fans have been seeing veteran broadcaster Jim Taylor on recent Saturday and Sunday nights. No relation of the famed football great of the same name, Taylor is still no stranger to the world of sports.

"Jim's an avid motorcycle racing fan. In fact, he's won a number of trophies in major racing events around the country." Current plans call for stepped-up coverage of local sporting events, plus notable items of interest to outdoorsmen.

Promise No. 2: "We will have a weather show like none other ever seen on the Plains."

Channel 7 commissioned a professional designer to make a study of the most successful weather presentations in larger cities. The result of this study is a new weather concept for the station. Constructed to pening so they can be prepared."

Promise No. 3: "We'll introduce some children's programming."

Tuggie (pronounced Toogie) is the personable host of KVII-TV's "Cartoons in Cornflakes."

"He's one of the most natural performers we've run across in many years of television," Tyler said. "He loves kids, and they love him. He fills the air with homey bits of philosophy in a language the kids understand. He's their buddy, chum, intimate friend. We couldn't have done better if we'd gotten Santa Claus himself!"

Promise No. 4: "We're going to sign on earlier and sign off later, and we'll start running a late late show on Friday and Saturday nights."

Tyler followed through, moving sign-on time up to 6:30 in the morning, and added the late late shows as he said he would. But he went one step further. Now night owl viewers can see a late late show every night Monday through Saturday! The weeknight presentation follows a midnight recap of late news with Tom Martin.

"On Saturdays," Tyler noted, "we begin a double feature at 10:45 p.m., finally signing off after 2 a.m. That's late enough for most anyone."

Promise No. 5: "We'll have more movies in color, and they'll be of more recent vintage than some on the air now."

Most stations reserve their prime movies for prime time. Not KVII-TV. "Eighty-five percent of our movies are now in color, and we're programming good movies ALL the time, not just during special periods," Tyler pointed out. "A good many stations are still showing movies produced in the 1940s. Ours, on the whole, were made after 1955. That's one promise I was determined to keep. I like good movies as much as everyone else."

Those were Tyler's five promises, but they were just openers for the changes already taking place at KVII-TV.

A lot of modern electronic equipment has been purchased within the past two months, and the engineers couldn't be happier. Bill Canady, the station's Director of Engineering, summed it up.

"We've got a new switcher, image enhancers, special microwave for better color transmission, two Ampex VR 2000-B videotape recorders (one equipped for animation, Disney-style), and several other devices to improve our picture." When asked to translate all that into laymen's terms, Canady explained, "Well, the new switcher is designed to add special optical effects to our local productions. It's the first of its kind in the United States, and we're pleased to get it. The viewers will see the effect of it in more interesting visual presentations. You know the girl who walks under the bumper of a car? We'll be able to do things like that."

"The specially designed microwave system refines the color quality, and we've added what I call 'image enhancers' to the system to make the picture sharper. Reds look redder, blues bluer, plaids... you know. Videotape is the lifeline of program material (where would the 'instant replay' be without it?) and we've got the two best machines made."

"We've purchased or ordered all the latest electronic equipment available that has anything to do with picture quality. Our viewers can see the difference, because they tell us so."

Promises, promises, promises. When John Tyler makes one, he keeps it. The record proves it.

Helpful Hints From Me To Thee . . .

TURKEY IN THE SPRING

Who would serve turkey in the spring? Anyone who wants to enjoy the delicious, succulent flavor of turkey. Turkey has long passed the stage of being a "Thanksgiving and Christmas only" item. Now it's served anytime--and just about any way.

You'll find turkey parts especially good for broiling on the outdoor grill.

Turkeys are plentiful now, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service. Figures for farm marketings slaughtered under federal inspection during January were running 8 percent above the same period a year ago.

Try easy-to-fix Turkey-Macaroni Salad.

- 2 cups elbow macaroni
- 3 tablespoons and 1/4 cup salad oil
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- 2 cups chopped cooked turkey
- 1/4 cup chopped pimiento
- 1/4 cup green pepper
- 1 teaspoon celery salt
- mayonnaise or prepared salad dressing.

Cook elbow macaroni in enough boiling salted water to cover, adding 3 tablespoons salad oil to cooking water to keep water from boiling over and macaroni pieces separated. Drain macaroni and pour into mixing bowl. Combine salad oil, vinegar, salt, dry mustard, celery salt and paprika. Pour over macaroni. Add chopped turkey, chopped pimiento and green pepper. Mix well and chill. Add mayonnaise or prepared salad dressing as desired. Serve in crisp lettuce cups. Or for a buffet dinner, line serving bowl with lettuce and add macaroni-turkey salad. Garnish with green pepper sticks.

For a simple Turkey Salad, combine large chunks of turkey meat with diced celery, chopped apple and mix with mayonnaise, salt and pepper to taste. Mound on a crisp lettuce leaf, top with half of a hard-cooked egg and garnish plate with sliced tomatoes and olives.

DAIRY PRODUCTS

Ever consider how much dairy products can contribute to a varied menu?

Dairy foods come in so many forms you hardly recognize the similarities. Yet the high nutrition is common to all.

Milk preparations vary from dry milk to skim to fresh milk. Then you have the cheeses, including such favorites as cheddar and cottage cheese. Don't overlook sweet and sour creams, ice cream and yogurt.

Marbled Brownies

Prepare your favorite brownie recipe or packaged mix and spread half the dough in a square bake pan. Then spread with a cottage cheese mixture made by creaming 1-1/2 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons sugar and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla. Blend in 2 teaspoons cornstarch, 2/3 cup cottage cheese, 1 egg well beaten, 1 tablespoon milk and 1/8 teaspoon salt.

Top cheese mixture with the remaining brownie dough and draw spoon through layers until marbled effect is achieved. Bake as directed on brownie recipe, cook and cut into squares. Serve and you will discover the creamy cheese is a perfect blend with the rich chocolate goodness.

Skim milk has a reduced butterfat content. A cup of skim milk contains only about 90 calories. Try it in this No Bake Cheese Cake.

- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- 2 cups creamed cottage cheese
- 12 tablespoons sugar
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- Dash of salt
- 1 1/2 cups skim milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 3 eggs, separated

1/3 cup graham cracker crumbs

1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
Combine gelatin, 6 tablespoons sugar and salt in the top of a double boiler. Beat skim milk and egg yolks together and add to gelatin. Stir constantly while cooking over boiling water until gelatin dissolves and milk thickens--about 6 minutes. Remove from heat, add lemon rind and chill.

Whip cottage cheese into billowy lightness, stir in lemon juice and vanilla, and fold into the thickened gelatin. Beat egg whites until stiff, add 6 tablespoons sugar and continue beating until stiff peaks are formed. Fold egg whites into the gelatin mixture and spoon into an 8-inch spring-form pan. Sprinkle 1/3 cup graham cracker crumbs on top. Chill until firm.

Mrs. Woodson Is Honoree

A color scheme of green and white was used to decorate. The white satin cloth on the service table was covered in green tulle. An arrangement in the chosen colors centered the table, flanked by green tapers in crystal holders.

Assorted cookies were served with mints and nuts. Green punch was served from a crystal bowl and a silver coffee service completed the setting. Presiding at the table were Cecilia Hudson and Leonida Thornton of Amarillo.

Clothing Fires Are Out Of Fashion

The American Medical Association has for many years annually warned of the dangers inherent in flammable fabrics. There are many injuries and not a few deaths every year—mostly in the winter—from clothing fires.

This winter something new has been added to this danger—paper clothing.

Paper clothing—mostly women's dresses—is so new that as yet there are few data on the potential burn dangers.

A top government safety official warned recently that people who wear paper clothing risk burning themselves if they wear it near an open flame after it has been laundered, dry-cleaned, or worn in a soaking rain.

The Journal of the American Medical Association reports that approximately 2 million persons annually are burned severely enough to require medical attention, and that 100,000 of these require hospital care. About 2,000 Americans die of burns each year. Far too many of these burn victims are injured when their clothing catches fire.

Whether the garment is paper or cloth, it might ignite if the wearer gets too close to an open flame. It's a temptation to huddle close to a stove or fireplace on a cold morning. It also can be fatal.

Simple firescreens or protective shields can eliminate some of the danger from open flames. Check your home today for such potential hazards. If you find one, correct it promptly.

Using kerosene or a commercial "fire starter" for the fireplace or barbecue grill also has potential hazards. If there are hot coals in the fireplace or grill, the volatile liquid may flare up or explode, especially in a closed room.

Little girls' dresses with flaring skirts are obviously a fire hazard. So are flowing robes and night gowns. Small boys in their blue jeans are much safer. But even jeans will flame up if ignited.

If someone's clothing catches fire, roll him on the ground or floor, using a blanket or a rug to smother the flames. If the victim panics and runs, the flames will flare even higher. 2-68

Let's Go Fishin'

BY BOB BREWSTER
Outdoor Editor,
Mercury Outboards

BEDTIME FOR BASS

Spawning time is fishin' time. And it's right around the corner, already underway in the south, about to begin up north.

For many bass fishermen this event signals the start of the wildest action they can expect to find during the season.

The spawning of America's favorite game fish holds more than passing interest, comment the angling experts at Mercury outboards.

When early spring water temperatures approach 60 degrees, fish move into shallow waters. Papa Bass works hard to fan out a nest in the bottom and induces Mama Bass to lay her eggs in this specially created haven, the number may range from 4,000 to 10,000.

This done, Mama flips her tail and disappears, leaving the old man to protect the nest against all intruders for a period of incubation that may last from two days to more than a week.

And protect the nest he does. Any creature or object that trespasses is violently attacked. Hence, the effectiveness of almost any fishing lure plopped in the vicinity.

When the eggs hatch, Papa Bass obviously fished after several days of playing watchdog reverts to his usual bad disposition and glutton's habits.

This the Mercury lads say, emphasizes the pugnacious and brutelike attributes that have made bass the most eagerly sought-after game fish in the U.S.

One way to take a great weight off your mind is to discard your HALO.

Old garlic eaters never die, they just scent away.

I wish some folks did have an inferiority complex.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

Fishermen in the Texas Panhandle long have boasted that they are right in the middle of the best fishing in the world—namely halfway between the Atlantic and the Pacific.

Now, however, fishing is a little closer to home.

Today, one of the newest and most interesting lakes in Texas is in the process of filling. Lake Meredith is created by the Sanford (no kin) Dam across the Canadian River, only a few miles out of Borger.

It is a new glory for this city, which first became famous something like 40 years ago with the discovery of oil.

At that time and during the intervening years the Canadian River, which cuts across the Panhandle north of Amarillo, was mostly a dusty stream that went wild with torrential rains and flooded its valley. Then came the wind and sun . . . and the river dried up again in spots.

Now that has been changed!

After years of talk and planning and the expenditure of almost a hundred million dollars, Lake Meredith has been completed and the stored water will be carried by a 35 mile aqueduct to serve the nearby cities of Borger and Pampa.

Another aqueduct carries the water to Amarillo and a half-dozen other high-plain cities, which for years have depended entirely upon underground water for domestic purposes and agriculture.

Located in Hutchinson County, Lake Meredith will cover slightly under 44,000 surface acres. It will be 20 miles long when filled.

Sanford Dam was constructed by the Bureau of Reclamation, after years of research and survey, both by the government and by private agencies.

This lake presented some major problems because much of the reservoir site was in the heart of a major natural gas field. It was necessary to execute contracts with the owners of 19 pipelines and 44 producing wells for relocation of the lines and capping of the wells, or retapping them by slant drilling.

This all has to do with the building of the lake to impound the water. But to the Texas Panhandle, it means so much more in a new recreational area. Floating docks, boat moorings, fueling facilities, trailer parking areas and other recreational facilities are being provided.

This year will see the greatest utilization of the facilities now available.

Another interesting development is the work being done by the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department in stocking the new lake with walleyes. Just a year ago some 2,000,000 fry were released in the lake. The baby walleyes were brought down from Iowa, in an exchange agreement between the two states.

Lake Meredith also has been stocked with black bass, crappie and catfish. The Canadian itself long has been a good catfish haven and natives have caught many fine cats from the river in the years gone by.

This walleye experiment has been most promising. After the first release of 500,000 in 1965, netting samples from the lake indicated good survival. Fishing for walleyes has been closed in Lake Meredith until such time as it has been shown the fish are well established.

Fine cooperation is expected from sportsmen from the area because the Panhandle long has been famous for its wildlife conservation programs. Most of the fresh water fishing that has been available to these residents has been in Colorado, New Mexico and Central Texas. So Panhandle anglers know the value of this conservation and will give it all the help possible.

Information about Lake Meredith can be obtained from the Chambers of Commerce in Borger, Pampa or any of the nearby towns all of which are extremely interested in this newest development in the Panhandle area.

Fashion Facts For Men and Boys

Every time I stroll through Cates Mens and Boys Wear I take notice of the new additions to the stock. On my last trip, I took notice of some new socks. These are the stretch socks that are so popular with quite a few men. I have tried several brands of this type of hosiery so I picked up a couple of pair and have since worn them. I found them superior to any other brand I have worn and find them quite comfortable. If you are accustomed to wearing these knee length, stretch socks, I'm sure you'll be pleased with the ones on sale at Cates.

Whatever your taste in socks or footwear, may be you'll find your preference at Cates Men and Boys Wear.

Relatives In Miami Tornado

Several former Spearman residents are now living in Miami and friends and relatives were most concerned about them when the tornado struck that city Monday of this week.

Mrs. Jack Reed hurried to Miami to check with her sister, Mary. Gwen found the Doyle family unhurt. Mr. Doyle, a rancher, was in the country at the time of the storm's approach and rushed in to get Mary and the children. They rode in their car until the storm was over. Their home was not damaged but the pickup had been blown from their driveway into the neighbor's yard knocking down two trees. The residence next door to the Doyle home was heavily damaged.

Mrs. W.Q. Thorn, another former Spearman resident now living in Miami, knew of course the storm was approaching. She called her neighbor and told her to rush to the storm cellar. Then Mrs. Thorn locked all her doors and stayed inside her home. She said she really intended to go inside the cellar but just could not "think was I was doing." The picture window in her living room exploded, and the roof of the home was damaged. She was unharmed.

Peanut-Date Cookies Are Lunch Box Treat

Looking for something crispy good and delicious for your youngsters' lunch box treats? Bordo Products Company, importers of nutritious whole and diced dates, has this recipe suggestion for an uncommonly good cookie with all the ingredients children and adults favor.

The ingredients are:

- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1/2 cup chunky peanut butter
- 1 egg
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 3 cups quick oatmeal, uncooked
- 1 8-oz. package Bordo imported diced dates (or use Bordo pitted whole dates, cut up)

To make the cookies: Cream butter, sugars and peanut butter together.

Add egg, water and vanilla and blend until creamy.

Sift flour, salt and baking soda together. Add to creamed mixture and blend.

Stir in uncooked oatmeal and Bordo imported diced dates.

Mix until dates are coated and oatmeal is moistened. At 2-inch intervals, drop rounded teaspoonfuls of the mixture onto a greased cookie sheet.

Bake in preheated 350° oven for 10-12 minutes. (Do not overbake.)

This recipe yields between 4 1/2 and 5 dozen cookies.

Lesson in Thrift

Everyone is interested in teaching our youngsters the advantages of thrift, but few businesses have done anything about it. The Savings and Loan Foundation, Inc., has leaped to the fore in this area, though, and the result is a delightful, four-color comic book titled "Saving Can Be Fun". It's available now at most local Savings and Loan Associations across the land—including right here in our own community.

"Saving Can Be Fun", available free, is a true-to-life story which can easily be understood by anyone in the six-to-fourteen bracket. Its 20 pages illustrate the importance of saving money regularly, and in the right way. No one can criticize its purpose or its aims—and the books are available in quantity for youth groups such as Boy and Girl Scouts, and so on.

"Saving Can Be Fun" has been evaluated and commended by Parents' Magazine. (NP Features)
