Old Time Threshing Bee Will Be Held Sunday

If you have never seen wheat threshed as was in the old days, you will want to attend an old-fashioned threshing bee Sunday August 15. The demonstration will be held on the J.D. Wilbanks farm 4 miles east of Spearman on farm road 759.

Wilbanks will be threshing with a 1930 model, 28-inch Case Thresher, pulled by a 1936 Model D John Deere. He will thresh about 3, 500 bundles of wheat, and several volunteer bundle pitchers will be needed. Anyone experienc ed in the art of pitching bundles into an old thresher, please feel free to volunteer! Wilbanks has several pieces of antique farm machinery which he re-conditions as a hobby. On display Sunday will be a Model 1913, 60-horse Case Steam Engine. He has just acquired this so it won't be fired up and ready to go by Sunday, but it will be for the bee he plans next year. There will be several old gas tractors on display Sunday, along with three threshers. Two of these are J.D.'s and the other one belongs to Richard Shedeck.

Wilbanks said he is expecting between 500-1,000 people for the threshing bee which begins at 1 p.m. Sun-day. Many people from Oklahoma and Kansas and from area towns have notified him they would be here. There is no admission charge, and plenty of parking space will be available. A donation box will be available for those who might wish to make a contribution which will be used for the preservation of old farm machinery such as will be demonstrated Sunday.

First Load Steers Delivered Aug. 9

Guymon, Okla. -- The first steers to be delivered inGuymon under the Chicago Mercantile Exchange's live cattle futures contract were welcomed Monday (Aug. 9) by govern-ment and exchange officials. Everette B. Harris, exchange president: and Milton Stern, manager, warehouse and delivery points, for the exchange; will represent the C. M. E .. which pioneered futures trading in live cattle in November 1964 . It was the first time futures trading had ever been used for a living product. "There is considerable significance to this initial Guymon delivery, " Harris said. "It underscores the growth of the Texas-Oklahoma panhandle area as a cattle-feeding and packing plant center. At the same time, it emphasizes the movement of packing plants away from such former centers as Chicago and Kansas City to the area where the action is. In addition, the flexibility of the Chicago Mercantile Exchange in revising its contracts to meet new industry needs is evident in the changes we have made in our live cattle contract, 'he said. ## Storage Makes Meat More Tender

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 5-Stor ge of carcasses at higher-than-usual temperatures immediately after slaughter is an effective beef tenderizer, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station research shows.

Standard procedure, R.L. West of the Texas A&M University Animal Science Department said, is to move the fresh carcasses into cold storage of about 30 degrees.

He said one side from each of 27 steer and 21 slaughter cow carcasses was stored in a 50 to 60 degree cooler for 12, 16 or 20 hours immediately after killing before being chilled down to 30 to 32 degrees. Companion sides from the animals, designated as controls, were chilled at 30-32 degrees for the entire 48 hour period of the experiment. Tests revealed that steaks from steer carcasses stored for ) hours at the higher temperature were significantly more tender and rated higher in overall eating satisfaction than hose from the control sides, est said. However, he noted that steaks stored for only 12 hours at the higher temperature were not as flavorful as those from the controls.

As for the cow carcasses, all the steaks from the higher temperature sides were significantly more tender than those from the controls. Groups from the 12 and 24 hour storages had considerably higher overall satisfaction scores.

West said the tests also indicated that longer storage periods at higher temperatures are required for tenderness improvement in carcasses from younger animals, and less time is needed for carcasses from mature animals.

teachers and students have also found it very helpful. Single volumes have been on the market for some time.

The story of how this version came to be is quite interesting.

Kenneth N. Taylor began paraphrasing the Bible rather casually about 14 years ago. Dr. and Mrs. Taylor had fam-ily devotions with their children each evening after supper. The children had difficulty understanding the meanines in the King James Version. In preparation for one of these devotions, Dr. Taylor para-phrased portions of II Timothy in a simple flowing way. The paraphrased account and became excited about it. He continued his work through all the letters of Paul---simplifying the structure, shortening the sentences, replacing punctuation, substituting modern words for many obsolete words used in the year 1611. Dr. and Mrs. Taylor have 10 children. The family encouraged him to continue his work. He worked on it each day while commuting on the Chicago & Northwestern line, be tween his Chicago office and his home in Wheaton, After seven years and 7 complete revisions, he had about half the New Testament completed

Publishers refused to publish his version of the scripture. Undaunted, he had it privately printed on credit. From a timit first printing of copies in 1962, his orders have grown to the point at which he routinely runs printings of 100, 000 copies. The first volume "Living Letters", was first offered in 1962 followed by Living Prophecies, Living Cospels, Living Psalms, Living Lessons of Life & Love, and Living Books of Moses. THE LIVING BIBLE, available to the publis this month, is published jointly by Tyn-dale House & Doubleday.

Taylor's work is especially appealing to the more consetvative Bible student. As a paraphrase of the Scripture, it is interpretative without apol-ogy. Doubleday is basing its promotional campaign on the endorsement of Billy Graham. In 1963, the Billy Graham organization used a special edition of the work.

Dr. Taylor receives no royalties from the sale of the Bibles he publ'shes. Profits go to a foundation which supports translations in 51 languages, from Arabic to Zulu.

It is a great translation. I recommend it to everyone. THIS IS TRULY a day of books. I read where more than 200 books on Texas history, some printed in the 1800's have been stolen from the Lamar Tech, (Beaumont) Library. This is a great loss, since original replacements are virtually impossible. These books will, no doubt, find their way into the hands of collectors, antique book shops, etc. at a great price.

I have just recently become interested in collecting early day school readers, especially McGuffeys. These books were printed in the middle 1800s for school students. McGuffey printed Readers one through six..and I have been lucky enough to acquire three of these this summer. They are really something. If you have one stuck around someplace, give me a buzz and I'll quickly take it off your hands! WHILE WE ARE on the subject of books, The Naylor Company, is reprinting TALL MEN WITH LONG RIFLES by James T. DeShields. This book, which was originally published in 1935, was long ago dropped by publishers, and too.bad, for it is a valuable book on early Texas history. It is a vivid first-person account of the actual fighting in the Texas war for independence from Mexico. Because there were no reporters covering wars in 1835-36, it is fortunate for historians and collectors of Texana that Creed Taylor, soldier and scout in the Texas Revolution and one of the longest living of its veterans, was able, late in life, to dictate his recollections. A whole generation of Texas history students has grown up in the 36 years since the book was first published, so it will be equally valuable today in this reprint edition. A lot of our pioneer history

It's interesting to discuss recipes and learn what foods are popular in different sections of the country. Some re-cipes are quite widespread in circulation while others are more regional. During the summer many people are making ice cream using sweetened condensed milk. If you are one of the users of this product you have probably realized that it is rather expensive. You can very simply make your own with the added bonus of fewer calories plus less than half the cost of the purchased item. The band color could be repeated on sleeve hems, pockets, buttons or other trim that would look like part of the original garment. Look in magazines, pattern books and ca-talogues for ideas adaptable for remaking clothes. In this day and age of anything goes most any "wild" idea is ac-ceptable. Let your imagination have a heyday and enjoy get-ting those clothes ready for the campus set.

SPEARMAN MEN MADE CYCLE TRIP

Clarence Pettitt and his son Billy, returned Saturday from a week's trip to Los Angeles, Calif. They rode their motor-cycles out and back and report a very enjoyable trip. Clarence said they ran into all sorts of weather and one hail storm was especially bad. The hail battered Billy quite a lot, for he had no windshield on his cycle and the next day his hands were swollen from the force of the hail stones. They left here early Friday morning and arrived there Saturday afternoon, so they made real good time, "and got about 46 miles per gallon on gas" Clarence said. They spent a week in L.A. visiting relatives and sight-seeing.
