Governor Dolph Briscoe Wants Emergency Program For Texans

Governor Dolph Briscoe this week outlined a 90-day energy program for conservation in both the public and private sectors, and called on all Texans "to save energy to save jobs."

The Governor, who ordered specific energy-saving measures for State government, said that voluntary measures by private citizens and business are absolutely essential in three critical areas: the use of automobiles and energy consumption in homes and buildings;

He asked that all Texans reduce their gasoline consumption by 20 percent and recommended:

- Reduced speed limits to 55 mph for all vehicles.
- Reduction of all unessential automobile trips.
- Use of car pools to work and to school.

Similar fuel reductions can be realized in homes and buildings:

- Turning out all unnecessary lights;
- Turning off display lights and advertising signs at midnight;
- And most important, by setting thermostats at 68 degrees to heat and 78 to cool.

The Governor ordered all State agencies to take the following steps:

- Reduce the use of motor fuel by state agencies by 20 percent, including fuel used by state airplanes.
- Reduce speed limits to 55 mph for all state vehicles except those involved in emergency operations.
- Set thermostats in all state buildings throughout the State (except schools and hospitals) at 65 degrees for heating and 78 degrees for cooling. In areas of high humidity, the cooling setting will be 76.
- Organize a car-pooling plan for state employees and provide parking incentives for those who participate.
- Readjust cleanup schedule in state offices so that one floor will be lighted at a time and all offices be dark after midnight.
- Purchase smallest cars possible for state use.
- Reduce the use of fuel by the National Guard by 25 percent.

The Public Schools the Texas Education Agency will coordinate an energy saving program in the 1,133 school districts. The goal is to reduce energy consumption by 20 percent.

Each school district is to file a plan with the TEA which includes the following minimum steps:

- Set all thermostats at 68 degrees during cold weather and at 78 degrees during warm weather, with the 76 degree variation for areas of high humidity;
- Reduce the setting of all thermostats to 65 degrees a hour prior to the departure of students from a building and reset the thermostats to 68 degrees one hour prior to arrival of students in the morning;
- Schedule, for the months of January, February and March, classes to end at 2:30 p.m. for all students;
- Schedule all student activities, including athletic events, in the afternoons during the months of January, February and March;
- Turn off all unnecessary lighting;
- Close off and reduce heat to the minimum in all rooms of buildings not necessary to the instructional program;
- Where possible, plan maintenance and custodial work to be done during the day rather than at night.

Prepare a plan that will allow that district, during extreme cold weather, to either close the school during the period or start up the school day at mid-morning.

It is conservatively estimated that the implementation of these plans during January, February and March of 1973 will result in a total saving of over one billion cubic feet of gas within the public school rooms alone--enough to heat 20,000 Texas homes for one year.

The City will start charging the school for protection at their ball games, beginning next year. We talked with City Manager Mike Struve, and he stated to our reporter that the City did make this official after one of their executive sessions which they have been having quite often this month.

It seems that starting January 1st, if the school wants police protection from the City they must pay for it at all sporting events, because of over-time involved with the city policemen. The city says they will have a man on duty at this time, but he needs to be patrolling the city area, and not at the ball games.

One of the school officials asked the city "if he died, would the city charge his wife for directing the funeral in the city?" Of course, it is not known whether this would fall in over-time department or not.

In a talk with R. L. McFarlin, Sheriff of Hansford County, he stated that the Hansford Sheriff's Dept. would always have a couple of deputies at the Spearman football games, and one at least at Gruver. There would not be any extra charge for services from the Sheriff's Department during sporting events, according to Sheriff McFarlin; they will always have deputies present, and will not charge the school extra for this protection.

This may be an unprecedented move on the part of the city, but on the other hand, maybe it is the custom of cities to meet their financial burden. In any event, we feel that the city will make an honest effort to work this problem out, in conjunction with the school and Sheriff's Dept.

Rain, sleet and snow greeted Hansford County residents Monday. It began raining about eight a.m. Monday and then turned into sleet and light snow. Snow continued into the night resulting in about four inches of snow in Spearman. Snow reports from west into Gruver were heavier. A total of .75 was received from the Monday weather. This was welcome moisture for farmers in the area since this has been a dry fall.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor:

I want to assure our customers that employees of the Spearman Post Office are moving Christmas mail with dispatch and that we fully expect to complete every delivery by Christmas Eve. The energy crisis may impose some added unforeseen burdens. Nonetheless, with broad public cooperation, we expect to make this the best mailing Christmas in recent memory.

To help us meet this goal, we are urging our customers to mail first class Christmas cards, letters and packages earlier than usual, by no later than December 8. Airmail letters and packages should be posted by December 15.

We are concerned with occasional fuel shortages for both inter and intracity mail transport. To date, trucks and trains, and most planes, are moving with our mail. But periodically shortages do occur. We are also aware that airlines may not add their usual complement of extra Christmas flights. Flights which traditionally help carry the extra volume of Christmas mail.

I am bringing these facts to your attention with the hope that your newspaper will join with us in helping to encourage customers to mail their Christmas cards, letters and packages earlier.

So, please help the Postal Service bring Christmas a little earlier than usual--mail earlier, by December 8, or December 15, if by airmail.

Hardesty called a time-out, as the Lynx jumped into a 6-0 lead at Hardesty Tuesday night. At one time the Lynx had a commanding 12-point lead, but the Bison's from Hardesty refused to quit, and battled the Lynx into a 51-51 tie with only 6 seconds left. Hendricks made a winning free throw to put the Lynx ahead by one point, and William Porter hit another basket to give the Lynx a 54-51 victory. The Hardesty gym features opera type seats, and is much more comfortable than Spearman's splintered 2 x 12's. We sure wish we could install some nice opera type seats at our local gym. How about it school board members?

Boys Ranch Suit Drive Is Underway

The goal to provide each of the 368 boys at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch with a new suit or clothing package for Christmas began today.

The annual Christmas Suit Fund has become a favorite way of giving for friends of the boys who contribute $25.00 for this purpose.

"Although costs for new suits will exceed $25.00, some of the Ranch's boys receive clothing packages for less than that amount," Virgil Patterson, Ranch president, said. "Amarillo merchants also help by making it possible for the boys to have suits at discounts. Suits and clothing packages will average about $25.00 per boy."

The suits replace those that have been worn out or outgrown, and in many cases, they are the first new suits some of the boys have ever owned. The boys get to select their own suits from Amarillo department stores.

"A new suit is the best Christmas present a boy can receive because it is a year-round reminder of those who care," Mr. Patterson said. Contributions to the Boys Ranch Christmas Suit Fund may be mailed to the Boys Ranch Office, P.O. Box 1890, Amarillo, Texas, 79105, or taken to the administrative office at 600 West 11th Street in Amarillo.

With cooler weather and longer hair coats on cattle, cattle producers can expect increasing problems with lice, particularly on animals that have not been treated for other parasites recently.

Only low numbers of cattle lice survive the summer. However, during the winter and fall, lice multiply rapidly and often cause intense irritation and unthriftiness.

Some types of cattle lice suck blood while others feed on skin scales and hair. Cattle should be treated now while the weather is still mild and before significant damage occurs to infested cattle.

Cattle lice can be effectively controlled with a number of approved insecticides applied as sprays, dips or pour-on treatments. Information on these materials is available from the county extension office. Any selected material for livestock use should be applied in strict accordance with the product label to avoid personal or animal injury or the creation of illegal residues in meat or milk.

As winter approaches, a major concern of most folks is how to keep warm while conserving fuel and keeping the heating bill down. There are numerous tips that can be followed.

One of the first steps in conserving fuel is to maintain your furnace at high operating efficiency. Check the system thoroughly, then keep air filters, radiators and heat openings clean and free of dust and lint throughout the winter season.

Warm air leakage and cold air infiltration can be the cause of 15 to 30 percent of a home heating bill, according to recent estimates. Any cracks between window or door frames and walls should be sealed with rope putty or caulking compound from the outside. Weatherstripping on doors and windows can save enough heat to keep an average home warm for 14 hours. Storm windows, drapes, blinds and shades can also cut heat loss from windows. On sunny days be sure to open window coverings to let the sun's free energy help heat the house.

Another source of considerable heat loss is through attic openings and open fireplaces. Since warm air rises, all attic openings should be kept closed and well sealed or weatherstripped. If you do not have a damper on your fireplace, a piece of insulation board or plywood over the opening will block air loss.

Proper setting of the thermostat can also reduce heating bills. The higher the thermostat is set, the more your bill will be. Each degree that the thermostat is set above 70 adds about three percent to the heating bill.

Once a thermostat is set, the setting should be left alone for greatest efficiency. Turning it higher than the temperature you want to achieve will not make the house warm any faster.

Lower temperature settings can be made comfortable by moisture in the air. House plants or venting air from an electric dryer to the inside will raise the humidity level. A nylon stocking over the vent will act as a filter to catch lint from the dryer.

Finally, do not overlook such things as arranging furniture to allow maximum air flow to and from heat outlets, closing off rooms not in use, and keeping trips through outside doors quick and at a minimum.

Check Your Furnace Filters

"COLLEGE STATION"---- "checking your furnace filters will help avoid problems when the heating season arrives," says W. S. Allen, agricultural engineer for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Most warm air furnaces in use today are equipped with filters. Keeping these clean can add to your comfort by reducing airborne particles in the air. Furthermore, a clogged filter can prevent proper operation of furnaces," the Texas A&M University System specialist points out.

A dirty filter may restrict the air flow to such an extent to prevent proper heating of the house. Restricted air flow may also cause an over-heated furnace, especially if the high temperature limit control should fail to operate.

"On most furnaces the filter can be easily removed and replaced," says Allen. "If you don't know the size filter to purchase, remove the old one and take it to the store."

Allen suggests using the hose attachment of a vacuum cleaner to remove any accumulation of lint and dust in the blower section of the furnace. Allen adds that the belt on the furnace blower should be examined and replaced if it is cracked or shows signs of wear.

"Most fans and fan motors should be oiled about once or twice a year," Allen points out. "Add enough oil to oil holes to fill the cup or opening without overflowing."

A lightweight automobile engine oil is satisfactory unless a particular oil is specified in your instruction manual, adds the engineer.

TAX PLANNING SAVES MONEY--Good financial management to level taxable income to reduce or defer taxes is important for farmers and ranchers, especially this year since income is high, says an economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. First, total the year's income and expenses to the present. Estimate expected transactions for the rest of the year. Compute depreciation for buildings and equipment. Now estimate the taxable income. Depending on the findings, buy more supplies or sell less before next January 1.

CANCER AND YOU: Leukemia: Reason for Hope?

New treatments for leukemia are bringing hope to patients with this usually fatal disease added pain-free years of life and the hope for a cure in the near future.

Twenty years ago, little could be done to stop rapidly developing acute leukemia. Children would live only three to five months after their disease had been diagnosed. Now, drugs can produce remission where the child is apparently free from the disease for awhile. In some medical centers, remissions are achieved in up to 90 percent of the acute leukemia patients.

Many of the children are living three years instead of three months, active, pain-free years! Is that a reason for hope? A reprieve? Ask a parent. The answer can't be put into words.

Research in leukemia has advanced so much in the last two decades that many scientists think a cure for leukemia will be the next major breakthrough in cancer control. With that hope, the American Cancer Society invests more than $1,250,000 each year just in leukemia research.

Leukemia is a disease of the blood-forming tissues that occurs in children and adults. Like Hodgkin's Disease it affects the white blood cells. The two basic types of white blood cells, the lymphocyte and the myelocyte, are formed in the bone marrow, the lymph glands, and the spleen. The kind of white blood cell that is dominant in these areas determines which of the two types of leukemia is present.

Leukemia can be acute (fast-developing) or chronic (long-term), and always involves abnormal, immature white blood cells. Acute leukemia usually strikes children between the ages of 3 and 14 and accounts for about half of the childhood cancers in the U. S.

The lymphocytic leukemia, the lymphocytes monopolize the space in the lymph nodes and bone marrow. Enlarged lymph nodes, then, are often the first sign of the disease. While any lymph node can be affected, those in the neck, armpits, and groin will be noticed first, since these can be felt.

In myelocytic leukemia, most of the disease activity is in the spleen. While the spleen normally cannot be felt, when enlarged, it is felt as a firm mass in the upper left abdomen.

Bleeding is an early sign of any leukemia. Because the bone marrow is disturbed, there are fewer blood platelets to clothe the blood, and the patient bleeds more easily. Spontaneous nose bleeds or excessive bleeding from a minor operation may occur. Because the red blood cells are crowded out by the white ones, a leukemia patient becomes anemic. The signs of anemia are tiredness, weakness, and a paleness about the skin and lips.

Leukemia cannot be treated surgically because the abnormal cells are scattered throughout the body. However, leukemia cells are often very sensitive to radiation, so x-rays are applied to the major areas of disease activity--the spleen, enlarged lymph glands, and selected bones. Therapy with drugs offers promise as a form of treatment. Some drugs in series have prolonged lives of leukemia patients for over ten years.

An exciting new treatment for chronic leukemia uses a machine called a cell separator instead of drugs. The separator lowers the number of white blood cells by removing the blood from one arm, straining out the abnormal white cells and returning the blood to the patient's other arm.

In chronic leukemia, the white blood cell count increases periodically. For a certain period, usually one to three months, a cell removal mechanism in the body keeps the number of white blood cells under control. At this point, production of white cells gets ahead of the removal mechanism. The cell separator acts to return the number of white blood cells to a level which can be controlled by the body.

A 15 year old Minnesota girl receives cell separator treatment for her chronic leukemia when the number of white blood cells reaches the higher level. The girl diagnosed her own disease at the age of 12 when she asked for a blood count after studying about blood diseases at school. Since the disease was discovered so early that major symptoms had not even appeared, the girl's doctor was able to pinpoint cycles when her blood cell count was high and low.

At the high point of the count, obvious leukemia symptoms appear. After the separator treatment, the headaches and fatigue disappear and the white blood cell count returns to the lower level. The cell separator treatment is also used at M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Clinic in Houston.

Treatment with drugs, radiation, and the cell separator are giving new hope to leukemia patients by giving them added pain-free years of life. At the same time, researchers are seeking the cause of leukemia and investigating new drugs for more effective control.

The search for a test to detect leukemia before symptoms develop is on. Scientists are studying the structure and function of leukemia cells, and some feel that a virus may be the cause. The American Cancer Society continues to support an all-out attack on leukemia. --- The watchword is hope!

Install storm windows and doors. Can save up to 15 percent.
Caulk window and door frames. Weather strip windows and doors. Can save up to 4 percent.
Close off; don't heat unused rooms.
Close attic off rest of home. Seal cracks around door, pull-down stairway, air duct passages, etc.

News from your Home Demonstration Agent - Nelle Evans

During the holiday season we need to remember that we are taught gratitude. Its not taught like a school subject but rather it must be developed. Since children want to be loved ones, they will follow their parents' example. If parents show sincere thankfulness, a child probably will imitate them. However, sincerity is essential. If someone receives a gift and appears thankful to the giver--then they only provide an easy way for children to get what they want. Learning manners and showing thankfulness is a slow, gradual process. Most learning takes place at home when manners are relaxed. Parents often overlook thanking those who do the most--the family. Showing appreciation to children for their contributions to the family is an excellent way to teach thankfulness. For example, when a child makes his bed, let him know its appreciated. Also, remind children to say thank you--but don't nag. In addition, don't force a show of gratitude because its expected by others. Saying "thank you" could become an unthinking habit. If sincere thankfulness becomes the family pattern, children will accept it and express thanks based on their own judgement. Lets help to teach this virtue by our examples this holiday season and throughout the year ahead. when cooking for the holidays keep in mind that coconut flavoring may be used to give a real flavor to foods for people who can't eat coconut. In large stores it is possible to get black walnut flavoring for people who can't have nuts. In making pecan pie use oatmeal instead of nuts. The flavor and texture is much like chopped pecans. For mock pecan pie melt 1 stick oilco, add 3/4 c sugar and 3/4 c corn syrup. Mix. Add 2 beaten eggs and mix well. Add 1 c quick cooking oatmeal and 1 t vanilla. Mix well and pour in unbaked pie shell. Bake at 325 F until filling is firm. Remember you can make your own sweetened condensed milk. Mix 2 c non fat dry milk, 1 c sugar and 1/2 c water. Let set overnight at room temperature. The brand of dry milk affects thickness. Use as the commercial product.

WILBANKS ENJOY SOUTHERN TOUR

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Wilbanks returned Tuesday November 29th from a two week trip through Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana. They visited Virus's two brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cutberth in Arapaho, Oklahoma and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cutberth.

at Clinton, Oklahoma. During their visits they toured and shopped in Oklahoma City. They drove to Shreveport, Louisiana via Dallas, where they had lunch. They did not spend much time in Dallas due to the terrific traffic problem. Lawrence and Virus spent several days with her sister Mrs. Jack Alred in Shreveport. They took many tours and drove to Bossier City over Highway 71, crossing the Big Red River. At Alexandria, Louisiana, they viewed the sugar cane plantations and watched them make cane syrup. Here Lawrence decided he didn't like Louisiana syrup.

At Baton Rouge, Louisiana they spent Thanksgiving day with Lawrence's cousin Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Wilbanks, and incidentally they are former Spearmanites. They were unable to get tickets so they all watched the Alabama-LSU football game by TV. The following day they also toured the LSU Campus, the Capital Buildings and the Governors Mansion.

The Wilbankses drove to Carville, Louisiana and toured the Louisiana Leper Home Hospital. They noticed some whose health had improved and they were playing golf. They crossed "Old Miss" over both the old Hughe Long Highway and the new Highway 110. Seeing all this water Lawrence thought how much good it would do Hansford County. They toured the cattle plantations. Instead of being divided into counties, Louisiana is divided into Parishes. The levees were grassed over and were really green and beautiful. The marshes and bayous were all full and many negroes were seen fishing. This was a sight for the Wilbankses. Lawrence and Virus returned home via Shreveport, and it was a joy to get back and see the Texas sunshine. It had rained every day they were in Louisiana. They had a most enjoyable trip but there is no place like home.

Next meeting will be January 5 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Goodheart.

Mrs. Vance Snider and her mother Mrs. Cora Hilton made a recent trip to Arkansas. They drove to Henrietta, Oklahoma where they visited a cousin, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hilton and spent the night. They drove to Roland, Oklahoma where they visited relatives. They shopped in Ft. Smith, Ark., and went sightseeing. They visited the cemetery where many of Mrs. Hilton's family are buried, and visited her old home place. Irene really enjoyed picking and eating her first huckleberries. They had a nice trip.

Visitors last weekend in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hoots Martin were Mr. Robert Martin from Boulder, Colorado and his son Garland Martin from Colorado Springs, Colorado.

CONGRESSMAN
BOBPRICE
TEXAS

My recent visit to the Middle East made me realize, even more than I had, that the problems which lie in the way of a lasting peace there are major ones. We should not delude ourselves into believing that a lasting Middle East settlement will come either easily or quickly.

I was on a 22-member select House Armed Services subcommittee which conducted a fact-finding mission in Israel and Egypt during the Congressional Thanksgiving Recess. We met with Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir and Egyptian President Anwar El Sadat as well as a number of their key ministers and advisers.

Each side took us on a tour of the combat areas. We were able to explore bunkers, tank battlegrounds and points where crossings of the Suez Canal were made. Also, we were able to visit U.N. checkpoints and witnessed the movement of food stores through one of these to isolated Egyptian soldiers. All this enabled us to compile a uniquely balanced picture of the overall situation.

Also, we were able to get a good idea of how U.S.-made military equipment had performed under combat conditions in comparison to some similar equipment made in the Soviet Union. We saw surface-to-air missiles like those which were used, and inspected Soviet-made tanks and bridging equipment. This kind of information will be particularly useful when the Committee makes future decisions affecting our own defense posture and defense expenditures.

In our talks with Israeli and Egyptian leaders, each side made it clear that it fears a renewed attack and claimed it needs protection from the other. Each side made it clear that it fears a renewed attack and claimed it needs protection from the other.

Each side made it clear that it fears a renewed attack and claimed it needs protection from the other. Each side made it clear that it fears a renewed attack and claimed it needs protection from the other.

Overall, there was no escaping a deep realization that the current positions and fears on both sides are indicative of future conflict; yet, attitudes and economic realities do exist on both sides which provide at least some basis for hope that a lasting peace can still be achieved.

General Tele. Co.
Saving Energy

SAN ANGELO--General Telephone of the Southwest today (November 28, 1973) announced that the speed limit on all company vehicles will be 50 miles per hour effective immediately.

General Telephone with headquarters here, serves more than 405 exchanges in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Arkansas, maintains a fleet of almost 3,000 vehicles.

"We are doing this voluntarily prior to passage of any laws which are expected to make compliance mandatory," L. Gray Beck, president of General Telephone said. "By lowering our speed now we can make a sizeable contribution to gasoline conservation. Our Corporate citizenship dictates our need to share the conservation responsibility."

General Telephone earlier reduced building heat to 68 degrees, turned off all outside and ornamental lighting, except that used for security, and reduced lighting in all non-work areas to a minimum.

CHECK FURNACE FILTERS--Check those furnace filters before the heating season arrives, says an agricultural engineer for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. A clean filter means cleaner air to add to your comfort. It also means more efficient operation of your heating unit. Also check the furnace blower belt for cracks and signs of wear and oil the fan and fan motor with a lightweight oil.
