

ASSASSINATION ATTEMPTS, HEARST SAGA STUN AMERICANS

Fall Of Vietnam Is Top Story Of 1975

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The top news stories of 1975 reflect what appears to be a nation, still stung by unbelievable daily events, trying to deal with the debris and delusions of a decade.

The top story of 1975 was the fall of Vietnam and Cambodia — so voted by the editors and news directors of Associated Press member newspapers, radio and TV stations.

Second was the assassination attempts on President Ford by two women, leftovers from the fringes of the radical '60s. That was closely followed by the capture of Patty Hearst.

Fourth was the fiscal crisis of New York City, nearly tied by (5) inflation, recession and the economy.

The others in the top ten were: (6) the Mayaguez incident; (7) the Watergate aftermath; (8) the questionable CIA activities; (9) Ford's new aides and Rockefeller's decision to drop out as a vice presidential nominee; (10) the disappearance of Jimmy Hoffa.

The events that peaked in the top stories of the year had begun long before — a war finally over; the radicalism and youth culture of the '60s playing out a strange, almost pathetic ending; the plight of cities over-reaching their revenues to pay for goals fashioned in a wealthier time; the adjustment of the nation to new economic imperatives; the rearrangement of government caught between Watergate and an election year.

The year, as the editors saw it, appeared to be one of reassessment and turning inward.

Aside from U.S.-involved stories — the war, the Mayaguez, CIA activities — there were no major foreign stories in the top ten, not the Sinal Pact, nor Franco and Spain, Portugal, Gandhi, Northern Ireland, the Suez Canal opening, the Faisal assassination, the Helsinki summit, although all were on the ballot.

By a wide margin, the top story was the end of the war.

For the 30 years since the Japanese surrendered in 1945 Indochina had been locked in war. Governments rose and fell. Religious refugees fled to safety, and religious dissidents burned themselves to death in protests.

Ceasefires evaporated. Millions died. A French presence was frustrated and diminished. An American presence took its place and shared its fate.

Now the stage was set. The last American troops and the last American POWs were home. The last ceasefires had withered away. The last agreement was dead.

By New Year's Day, 1975, there was light at the end of the tunnel — but only for the Khmer Rouge of Cambodia, the Vietcong of South Vietnam, and the North Vietnamese.

Like silent dominoes on a felt pad, provinces fell one by one. First Phuoc Binh 40 miles northeast of Saigon, hardly a shot fired. Then Ban Me Thuot, capital of Dar Lac Province in the Central Highlands.

President Nguyen Van Thieu decided to abandon the central highlands and to defend the coastal enclaves and Saigon.

And more provinces fell without a shot fired. Thieu was in isolation in the Independence Palace.

Down went Hue, the ancient Imperial capital. Down went Danang, the second largest military base. Two thirds of South Vietnam fell in just three weeks, and it was early April.

South Vietnam drew the line at Xuan Loc, a little provincial capital 35 miles east of Saigon. It put in place part of its 18th division and crack paratroops, pledged to stand and die. They did, and they inflicted the only major casualties of the entire offensive.

The Communists were in no hurry. They moved into place. The signal was clear: Surrender or face a massive and devastating attack. President Thieu resigned and others took over the job of negotiating. In the last week in April, the last 5,000 Americans were airlifted out, leaving a land where 55,000 Americans had died in 13 years from 1961 to 1973.

On April 30, Saigon fell. In Cambodia, the final offensive began on New Year's Day

Already 80 per cent of the countryside was in Khmer Rouge hands, while 60 per cent of the people had fled to government-held but shrinking territory. Before it was over, the city of Phnom Penh, once a city of 500,000, was choking with two million refugees.

The city was cut off by road and river, sustained only by a U.S. airlift of supplies. The noose tightened with up to 30,000 Communist troops ringing the city. They moved slowly, deliberately. Some 70 rockets a day burst in the city's streets, meant to terrorize the civilian population, which held out in hope of U.S. help to the end.

But on April 1, tears in his eyes, Premier Lon Nol left Cambodia, just escaping artillery shells zinging into the airport. On April 11, U.S. Marines and helicopters flew into the capital in "Operation Eagle Pull," to remove the last Americans.

On April 17, the Khmer Rouge entered the city.

Americans seemed to want to turn away from Indochina and the other traumas of past years. Events would not allow it.

Twice in 18 days of September 1975, there were attempts on the life of President Ford. In each case the suspect was a young woman with roots in the dissidence of the 1960s. Each case had bizarre elements.

On Sept. 5, a Friday, in Sacramento, Calif., the President was walking with secret service agents from the Senator Hotel to the state capitol. A crowd lined the way. He saw hands extended toward him. Suddenly in one hand he saw a gun.

Secret Service agent Larry Buendorf saw it too, and grabbed the wrist and arm, twisting the gun loose. He forced the would-be assailant to the ground. It was a young woman in a long red dress.

Her name was Lynette Alice Fromme, 26, of Sacramento, a red-haired, freckled daughter of a well-to-do Southern California family, a college dropout better known as a member of the infamous Charles Manson Family. Manson had called her "Squeaky."

In November she became the first person convicted under a 1965 law specifically aimed at those who attempt the lives of Presidents.

After the attempt President Ford said the event would not dissuade him from seeing the American people face-to-face.

On Sept. 22, a Monday, in San Francisco, the President was coming out of the St. Francis Hotel. A man in the crowd, an ex-Marine named Oliver Sipple, had waited three hours for a glimpse of Ford.

As he started to clap for the President he saw a chrome-plated gun in the hand of a woman near him. He shouted "gun" and grabbed her forcing it downward. The gun went off, the bullet missing the President.

The woman was Mrs. Sara Jane Moore, a 45-year-old divorcee who called herself "Sally." She was so many things — a sometimes informer to law enforcement officers, the mother of a 9-year-old son, once a suburban matron with a country club membership, and a sometimes advocate of radical causes who had worked on the Hearst-kidnap food giveaway demanded by the Symbionese Liberation Army.

She was charged with attempting the life of the President.

The 19-month saga of newspaper-heiress Patty Hearst was full of disarming questions.

It began with the apparent kidnap of the half-naked screaming girl from her apartment. It was punctuated with threatening tape recordings from the Symbionese Liberation Army, a massive food giveaway demanded by the SLA and paid for by Patty's father, Randolph A. Hearst.

And then — a picture of Patty holding a gun during a bank robbery, word that she had changed her name to "Tania" and joined her abductors, a shootout with police in Los Angeles that left most of the SLA leaders dead but Patty still at large.

Finally on Sept. 18, 1975, Patty Hearst and her remaining comrades were arrested. Thin, her hair dyed red, her hands cuffed, she laughed and smiled. Now, perhaps the questions would be answered.

Beaten Man In Hospital

A 96-year-old invalid was found in his bed at home with his head battered at 9:15 p.m. New Year's Eve.

Martin Paredes, 508 N. San Antonio St., was being treated in the Malone-Hogan Hospital emergency room with serious injuries late Wednesday night. One eye was said seriously injured.

Nicholas Paredes, the victim's grandson who lives in a neighboring house, said he found the retired railroad employee.

Asked why somebody would hurt the elderly man, the grandson did not know.

The grandson said the house contained "nothing valuable. There was no money, no nothing."

Police said the front screen of the house was torn off and the victim appeared to have been beaten with a blunt instrument.

The weapon had not been found, and police had no suspects.

Mamie Eisenhower Is Hospitalized

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former First Lady Mamie Eisenhower, 79, was rushed by ambulance to Walter Reed Army Medical Center on Wednesday after she was taken ill at her Gettysburg, Pa., farm home.

A hospital spokesman said the widow of President Dwight D. Eisenhower "was resting comfortably," but her condition and the nature of her illness were not disclosed.

A friend quoted her son John as saying "it is serious." However, John, who lives in Phoenixville, Pa., declined to discuss the illness with reporters.

After the 80-mile trip from Gettysburg she was taken to an executive nursing area on the third floor which is reserved for VIP patients.

Mrs. Eisenhower was hospitalized last March at the Army Medical Center at Ft. Gordon, Ga., and then at Walter Reed for internal bleeding that doctors later said was caused by diverticulosis, an inflammation of the intestine.

In past years she also has suffered from a rheumatic heart and arthritis.

Shortly after Mrs. Eisenhower entered the hospital at 11:25 a.m. Wednesday, the hospital issued a brief statement saying that she was being medically evaluated.

STANDING ROOM ONLY — South Vietnamese troops fill every inch of space on a ship evacuating them at Thuan An Beach, from nearby Hue, South Vietnam, to Da Nang last March.

Ford: Clear Sailing To GOP Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Expressing "complete and total confidence in my own ability," President Ford said Wednesday, "I don't foresee any serious obstacles" to winning the GOP nomination and the November election.

Chatting informally before a crackling log fire in his Oval Office, Ford said he felt he could beat any Democrat and top Ronald Reagan for the Republican nomination. He noted that more than a year ago he predicted Minnesota Sen. Hubert Humphrey would be the Democratic nominee, and said the forecast "looks better and better all the time."

Inviting 23 reporters, broadcasters and columnists in for an hour of give and take, the President also told his questioners that:

—He will send Congress within a few weeks comprehensive proposals aimed at strengthening the U.S. intelligence community while insuring, at the same time, the protection of individual rights.

—There is "no need to increase in any significant areas" federal efforts to bolster the economy. He predicted unemployment will decline next year (1976) and asserted, "The trend is right."

—Although he is optimistic about avoiding a confrontation with the Soviet Union in Angola, he believes the United States "would have been in a stronger position" to promote a compromise if the Senate had not voted to curb U.S. aid efforts in that country.

—He has no objection to making public up-to-date medical and financial records available to the public as the campaign season approaches, but believes his opponents should take the same course.

Ford said he has no intention of attacking Reagan, the former California governor, as they vie for the GOP nomination.

"I'd rather talk on the affirmative side," he said, reporting that he will emphasize a public discussion of his own record.

Ford acknowledged that he believes a great many Americans have yet to see the wisdom of the policies he has pursued the last year but added, "Those decisions in the long run are going to be recognized as right."

While eschewing any personal attack on Reagan's record, Ford indicated he had no objections if others felt compelled to criticize the Californian.

Schnabel Says Phony Payroll Scheme Known By All Senators

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Senate Secretary Charles Schnabel, indicted on theft and official misconduct charges, used phony payroll checks not for himself but to pay Senate debts, his lawyers said Wednesday.

Moreover, they told the Associated Press, that method of juggling funds from one budget account to another was widely known in the Senate of 1971, from top to bottom.

"I think everyone here, members and staff, knew how these expenses were taken care of," said Charles Burton, one of Schnabel's lawyers.

And approved of it? he was asked.

"Yes," Burton replied during an interview in Schnabel's office behind the Senate.

Burton was asked if his term "members and staff" would have included then-Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, who dropped out of politics after losing a race for governor in 1971.

"I would think he would have had a very good overview of how it was done," Burton said.

Schnabel was indicted Tuesday by the Travis County Grand Jury on two counts of theft and one of official misconduct. The theft counts allege that he had Joe Lundell, a parking lot owner, and Phil Landrum, president of Capitol Camera, placed on the Senate payroll for short periods of time in 1971. The indictments said Schnabel took Lundell's two checks for $771 and Landrum's for $385 and turned them over to them to pay personal obligations.

But Burton and co-council Roy

Minton, with Schnabel standing by, said Lundell actually was paid for parking spaces rented for Senate staffers and Landrum was paid for camera equipment for Senate photographers.

As they explained it, this was a means of using plentiful funds in one account to pay for items whose normal pool of funds had run dry.

"There is no doubt the system of financing used at that time had defects that required items to be paid for a manner other than an experienced accountant would suggest," Minton said.

"The system that followed—if you want to call it a system — was one that was understood by everyone that was over here."

Schnabel said he believed the Senate Administration Committee at that time in 1971 "knew we were negotiating these parking spaces and media services equipment."

The two lawyers said they felt Dist. Atty. Bob Smith went too far in telling reporters he expected the grand jury investigation would produce vast amounts of other information.

The lawyers declined to say how they would defend Schnabel against the official misconduct charge.

12 TO 14-YEAR-OLDS GO ON RAMPAGE Gun-Wielding Juvenile Gang Threatens Judge

ELLENSBURG, Wash. (AP) — Authorities here say they have broken up a pistol-packing, knife-wielding gang of juveniles who threatened to shoot up the Juvenile Court to free one of their leaders.

"We didn't believe things like this happened in Ellensburg," said juvenile officer Dale "Ike" Hamblin. "We just thought they happened in the big cities. We had some juvenile problems, but nothing like this."

Ellensburg, a town of 15,000 persons, is a ranching and farming hub in eastern Washington. The gang, composed of 12-to-14-year-olds, had no formal name. Hamblin said they were just problem kids from the town and nearby ranches who were drawn together at Morgan Junior High School, the town's only junior high.

The trouble began about three weeks ago when one of the gang's female leaders, a 12-year-old, was brought before Juvenile Judge W.R. Cole on a state motion that she be committed, as a delinquent, to the state center at Cascadia. He granted the motion.

On the day before Dec. 12th hearing, Hamblin said, a boy-member stole the tractor from his father's farm along with knives, axes and nine rifles, shotguns and pistols. He wrecked the tractor on the way to Ellensburg and then disappeared.

Other members of the gang picketed the Kittitas County Courthouse the next day. Hamblin said one of them slipped the accused girl a hunting knife, which was discovered after the hearing when it fell to the ground.

Meanwhile, teachers and students at the junior high reported seeing students with guns.

"We had one little boy who had a double-barreled shotgun pointed at him," said Hamblin. "Thank God no one pulled the trigger."

No arrests were made immediately. Police and sheriff's deputies meanwhile received numerous reports of young people menacing other kids with guns and of gunfire on the fringe of town.

Eventually two boys and a girl were arrested in the home of the accused girl's mother. Charges were filed against the youths in connection with the gun threats. Four families voluntarily moved their children out of the area. The woman was charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors and was being held Wednesday on $1,000 bond.

Hamblin said the boys and girls arrested told him they had planned to attack the courtroom with guns, kill the judge and other court officials and free their friend.

The attack was never made, but Hamblin said he thought they had been serious in planning the raid. Judge Cole was fitted with a bullet-proof vest as a precaution.

"Kids run in cycles, like you can have a good football or basketball team for a few years," said Hamblin. "Well, this cycle we got some corks in junior high, some really rough kids. But we got them broke up now."

10 Face Firing Squad

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—An Iranian army tribunal has sentenced 10 Marxist guerrillas to death by a firing squad for the killing of three American colonels, an Iranian employe of the U.S. consulate and four other Iranians.

An 11th defendant was sentenced to solitary confinement for 15 years. The sentences were made public today after the tribunal issued them Tuesday night.

The accused admitted participating in the killing last May 21 of U.S. Air Force Col. Paul R. Shaffer Jr., 45, a native of Bryan, Ohio, and Lt. Col. Jack J. Turner, 45, of Christopher, Ill., as they were driving to work with the U.S. Military Assistance Advisory Group. They also admitted the 1973 slaying of Lt. Col. Lewis Hopkins, financial comptroller of the U.S. military mission.

The defendants were also convicted of plotting against the regime of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, illegal possession of arms, armed robbery and sabotage.

Bicentennial MVI Stickers

AUSTIN (AP) — The new state vehicle inspection stickers will carry out the American Revolution Bicentennial theme. Stickers issued after Jan. 1 will be red with blue and white printing plus the official seal of the Bicentennial observance in Texas. Col. Wilson Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said the new stickers have been issued to each of the 6,967 official inspection stations. The stickers will be applied as vehicles come in for the 1976 inspection, which is due 12 months after the 1975 inspection. Each sticker has a number insert showing the month of inspection.

Inspections are required annually for cars, trucks, buses, motorcycles, and motor-assisted bicycles, and for trailers, semitrailers, pole trailers and mobile homes which have a gross loaded weight of more than 4,000 pounds.

FAIR WARNING Don't Get Attached To Your 'Pet Rock'

By STARBUCK WOOLF
The biggest novelty item on the market today is the "Pet Rock." The knuckle-headed genius who came up with this million-dollar idea has only had his brain-child out to the buying public for a few months, and already he has sold over 4 million rocks. And at four dollars a shot, that's a lot of profit for an item most of us pick up and throw at empty beer bottles.

What sort of idiot would buy one of these "pets" for himself or a loved one? Almost anyone. I have a pet rock. His name is "Morgan", and not only is he finally housebroken, (please don't look at the stains on the shag), but he can do tricks that the instructional manual "The Care and Training of Your Pet Rock" doesn't even mention. I have taught Morgan how to speak. I just put him on my dresser and nudge him until he falls off the edge. When he hits the floor he emits a loud and distinct "Thudump!" So far this is all I can get out of him. And since I don't understand "Rockese", I'm momentarily at a loss for a suitable reply to make. But I have confidence that as he matures, his vocabulary will increase, and we will be able to communicate as pet and master should.

"Morgan" can also dance a little...if he's close enough to the music, that is. I can place him on one of the stereo speakers, turn up the bass control all the way, and put on some "Bachmann Turner Overdrive," and "Morgan" will boogie all over the top of that speaker. Somehow, I'm not that impressed, though, because the pictures on the wall, dirty socks on the floor, fish in the aquarium, just about everything that isn't tied down, shakes all over the place when I play "Bachmann Turner Overdrive."

The only bad habit "Morgan" has is chasing my neighbor's obnoxious dog that barks all the time. I must admit though that I encourage this practice, especially in the middle of the night when that mutt decides to spout his canine poetry to the moon or a roving companion. However, this is good exercise for "Morgan" and gives me peace of mind.

One word of warning to the prospective "Pet Rock" owner: Don't get too attached to your pet rock. Most rocks are between four and four and a half billion years old. That's pretty old, and they could go at any time.

Bunkhouse Fire Kills Man

DAYTON, Tex. (AP) — The body of a man identified as Glenn Leroy Jackson, 34, of Lake Charles, La. was found Wednesday in the charred rubble of a railroad bunkhouse.

Firemen said the blaze in the Southern Pacific Railroad trailer, used by employes as a bunkhouse, broke out around 3 a.m. Jackson's body was found after firemen extinguished the blaze. He was alone in the trailer at the time of the fire. No cause for the fire was established.

Office Work Is Curtailed

Most county offices will be closed today and Friday. The District Clerk's office will be open except for an hour at noon, Friday.

But the library, county clerk's office, tax and motor vehicle inspection offices and road department will be closed both days. The county library will open again Saturday.

Fort Worth Couple Die In Arkansas Plane Crash

Mena, Ark., (AP) — Two bodies were found Wednesday amid the wreckage of a single-engine Cessna 182 that was found 18 miles east of Mena in western Arkansas, authorities said.

Lt. Ben Frizzell of the Civil Air Patrol had earlier reported finding the wreckage, but said confirmation of the deaths was the responsibility of the coroner's office.

A spokesman for the Montgomery County Coroner's office said, "We know they are dead. We are having difficulty getting them out. The terrain is very rugged."

Frizzell identified the passengers as Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Green of Fort Worth, Tex.

He said the wreckage was spotted from the air and then located by ground searchers in "rather rugged terrain" in the Ouachita National Forest. The Greens left Fort Worth Sunday on a flight to Booneville, Ark. A search for another missing aircraft continued in northern Arkansas.

Frizzell said an emergency transmitter signal had been detected in the area between Marshall and Harrison. He said inclement weather limited the search to ground parties.

POOR RICHARD RECIPES

MOUTHWATERING — Acorn Squash with Orange Wheat Stuffing is a substantial country dish filled with rich meaty flavors.

squash stand evenly. Sprinkle the inside of the squash with a pinch of sugar and with salt and pepper. Spoon in the stuffing and arrange the squash in a buttered baking dish. Replace the lids and bake in a 375 F. oven for 45 minutes. YIELD: 4 servings.

SMOKED PORK AND BEANS IN ORANGE SAUCE
1 pound dried pea beans
3 tablespoons bacon fat or salad oil
1 cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
2 teaspoons Dijon mustard
3 cups orange juice
1 cup water
1 smoked pork butt (2½ pounds)

Place beans in a large saucepan; add water to cover by 2 inches. Boil for 1 minute, cover and let stand 1 hour. Drain. Heat bacon fat in a large saucepan; add onion and cook for 5 minutes. Add the garlic, mustard, orange juice, water and drained beans. Simmer, covered, for 1½ hours, or until the beans are just barely tender. Place the pork butt in a large kettle with water to cover, bring to a boil, and simmer for 15 minutes. Remove and cut into ½-inch slices. Turn beans into 3-quart casserole, press pork slices into the beans, cover and bake in a 350 F. oven for 1½ hours, or until the beans are tender. YIELD: 6 servings.

MEAT PIE
10 tablespoons butter, chilled and cut small
1-3rd cup lard or shortening, chilled and cut small
3 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
¾ teaspoon salt
6 to 7 tablespoons ice water

Combine the shortening, flour and salt in a bowl. Work with a pastry blender to form tiny particles. Sprinkle in the ice water, a little at a time, tossing with a fork. Form into a ball and chill at least 1 hour. Cut off slightly less than half the ball and return it to the refrigerator. Roll out the remaining piece of pastry to form a circle 12 inches in diameter. Fit it into a 9-inch deep-dish pie plate (1½ to 2 inches deep). Trim the edges to leave a 1-inch overhang. Chill.

Filling:
¼ pound bacon, chopped
1-½ cups chopped onions
½ cups uncooked regular rice
¾ pound ground pork
¾ pound ground veal
1 clove garlic, minced
½ teaspoon dried leaf thyme
1 bay leaf, crumbled
1¼ teaspoon ground allspice
1-1-3rd cups orange juice
1-½ teaspoons grated orange rind
1-¼ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper

Cook bacon in a skillet until lightly browned, drain and reserve. Pour off but 3 tablespoons fat from the skillet; add the onion and rice and cook for 5 minutes. Add the meat and cook until no pink remains, breaking it up so there are no lumps. Add the remaining ingredients, cover and simmer 15 minutes. Add the bacon, taste for seasoning and cool. Spread the mixture in the pastry-lined pie plate and turn the edge of the pastry in over the meat. Roll out the remaining pastry to form an 11-inch circle. Beat together 1 egg and 2 tablespoons milk. Brush the rim of pastry turned over the filling with egg. Add top pastry and press together the edges with a fork. Cut a small hole in the center with a pastry tube or funnel and leave it in the hole while the pie bakes. Brush the pie thoroughly with the egg wash. Bake in 425 F. oven for 15 minutes, lower the heat to 350 F., brush again with the wash, and bake 50 minutes longer. YIELD: 8 servings.

CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS Brought to you by Ted Hatfield

WHAT'S NEW? Well, the New Year, of course... but in our business it's also time to take a look at new trends in home decor, especially where carpeting plays an important role.

Making news is the way carpet is refusing to stay in its accustomed places and roles. Carpet is moving off the floor in surprising ways. More and more you'll find it comfortably covering furniture or seating areas that are built-in, for instance, creating low-cost and colorful "upholstery."

Carpet is traveling up the walls, too, creating a whole new dimension that's strikingly different from paint or wallpaper or fabric. Or it's taking the place of tapestries or paintings as stunning wall decor, made possible by the great new designs in area rugs.

Take a glance through any of the new home interior magazines and you'll see these and other new ideas in carpets that might inspire your own plans for the New Year. Or come in and talk to our carpet specialists for more suggestions you can use.

Our resolution for the New Year is to continue to bring you the best possible service, selection and value in quality carpets you can depend on... and live with pleasure. Get the right start with the right carpet or rug from

During the colonial era, weary travellers would often stop at inns where they'd be greeted heartily and fed solid fare at reasonable prices. The experienced innkeeper knew how to prepare various cuts of meat... dried, salted and fresh, by combining them with grains and seasonal vegetables to create a variety of satisfying dishes.

When your tired ramblers return home, serve them these old-fashioned hearty dishes updated for modern tastes with orange juice. Each uses a moderate amount of meat, yet serves at least four hungry wayfarers.

Acorn squash, plentiful during the fall and winter months, can be served in a variety of ways. This Acorn Squash with Orange Wheat Stuffing is an interesting combination of link sausages, cracked wheat and orange juice all baked in the squash. It's a substantial country dish full of rich meaty flavors.

By the early 1600's southern settlers were exporting ham to colonists in New England. Smoked meat is a natural go-together with the Yankee favorite, beans. This Smoked Pork and Beans in Orange Sauce is a filler-upper for cold-weather appetites. And, it can be prepared ahead and then reheated.

Here's a hearty and mouth-watering meat pie made with bacon, pork and veal... it serves eight easily and best of all, it uses less than two pounds of meat. Orange juice lends its distinctive flavor to the pie as well as helping to tenderize the meat mixture.

ACORN SQUASH WITH ORANGE WHEAT STUFFING
4 small acorn squash,

about ¾ pound each
½ pound link sausages
½ cup chopped onion
¾ cup cracked wheat (bulgur)
1 teaspoon dried leaf sage
1¼ cups orange juice
½ teaspoon salt

Boil the squash in a large kettle of water for 20 minutes, or until tender. Brown the sausages in a skillet and transfer to a paper towel to drain. Pour out all but 2 tablespoons fat. Add onion to skillet and cook 2 minutes. Add the wheat and cook 5 minutes longer. Add the sage, orange juice and salt. Cover and cook over low heat for 25 minutes, or until the liquid is absorbed. Slice the sausages and add. Cut off a 1-inch slice from the pointed ends of the squash. Remove the seeds and fibers. Cut a thin sliver from the flat ends so that the

Mustangs 'Tamed' By 'Foster Parents' In Federal Plan

DENISON, Tex. (AP) — The sorrel mare snorted. It was a statement of defiance, independence.

"She shook her tangled mane, slung her head against a tree then continued circling the corral."

B. J. Draper watched. "Cactus" is more than just another horse. She's a wild mustang, captured near Tompah, Nev.

"I didn't have much trouble getting the halter on her because she was in a truck. But when I started feeding her inside the shed and tried to take it off, she kicked the walls down," Draper said.

Draper stalked "Cactus" around the corral, reaching, when she paused, for the lariat dangling from her neck.

Mustangs are more than horses because they were—like Indians—among the first in this country. Spanish explorers brought the feisty little horses here 300 years ago.

They represent a free, untamed spirit of the American West human beings have relinquished for comfort and progress.

"Cactus" was one of 200 mustangs captured at a water hole this fall under a program closely supervised by the Department of Interior's Bureau of Land Management.

Federal supervisors said the range was overpopulated with cattle, wild game and horses and the mustangs would have to be moved or turned over to "adoptive parents" like Draper. The government technically retains ownership of mustangs although men like Draper may be named custodians.

"Whoa," Draper said. "You, know, sometimes talking to 'em just doesn't do any good."

"Cactus" glared and stood her ground—the same "I dare you" look her ancestors gave Indians, Mexicans and horse wranglers of 100 years ago.

"I want to try and make a pet of her," Draper said.

"Cactus" snorted. Draper inched closer and his truck driver's hand found her flaring nostril. His fingers moved slowly across the prickly hairs on the warm nose.

It was a beginning.

(AP WIREPHOTO) MUSTANG PROBLEM — B. J. Draper of Denison, Tex., holds a rope on his wild mustang Cactus, as he puts the animal through a breaking program. Draper is the 'foster parent' of one of 200 wild mustangs trapped in the Stone Valley of Nevada, as part of a land management program. The Department of the Interior retains ownership of the horses, allowing foster parents to maintain and use them but not for commercial purposes.

Establishes Demo Farm

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Henry B. Wallace, son of former Vice President Henry A. Wallace, has donated $250,000 for establishment of the "Henry A. Wallace Farm of Today and Tomorrow" in Des Moines.

The modern demonstration farm will be part of Living History Farms, a privately financed institution where working displays include an 1840 farmstead with log buildings and oxen and a 1900-era horsepowered farm.

The Wallace donation "is a most appropriate and significant contribution to our Bicentennial year activities in Iowa," said Dr. William G. Murray, president of Living History Farms Foundation.

The elder Wallace, an Iowa farm editor and seed hybridizer, was vice president under Franklin D. Roosevelt in the 1940s. He also served as U.S. secretary of agriculture and secretary of commerce.

Dozen Women Are Honored

NEW YORK (AP) — Time Magazine, which usually selects a "Man of the Year," this year is honoring 12 women as women of the year.

Betty Ford, tennis star Billie Jean King and Connecticut Gov. Ella Grasso are on the list. Also named were Carla Hills, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development; Texas Congresswoman Barbara Jordan; Susie Sharp, chief justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court; Jill Ker Conway, Smith College president; Alison Cheek, assistant priest at St. Stephen and the Incarnation in Washington.

Also named Sunday were Carol Sutton, managing editor of the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal; Kathleen Byerly, a navy lieutenant commander based in San Diego; author Susan Brownmiller; and Addie Wyatt, women's affairs director of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's union.

$427,304 Suit Filed

HOUSTON (AP) — A California man has filed a $427,304 damage suit against Harris County and a Houston man in connection with the death of his daughter in a traffic accident last March.

The suit, filed Tuesday by Louis Reynolds, 54, of Alhambra, Calif., alleged that Susan Reynolds, 23, died in a two-car collision last March 1 at an intersection "because there was no traffic control or signal device at such intersection requiring either party to stop or yield right-of-way."

Confab For School Men

Big Spring school administrators will be among those attending the statewide mid-winter conference in Austin starting Wednesday, Jan. 7.

The conference is for school administrators throughout Texas.

Local delegates will include Dr. Emmett McKenzie, superintendent; assistant superintendents including Lynn Hise, Don Crockett, along with Harold Bentley and Don Green. Noel Reed, a retired administrator, also plans to attend.

Mercenary Recruiters Do Booming Business In Hiring 'Mata Haris'

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The Mata Hari business is booming. Nearly half the mercenaries hired by a California agency recruiting soldiers and spies-for-hire are women, says the agency's director.

"They are particularly good in intelligence work and we have used female pilots and demolitions experts," said James A. Scott, director of El Kamas Enterprises of Anaheim, Calif.

Scott said in an interview in the San Diego Evening Tribune that women make up 40 per cent of the recruits his agency sends to work in South America, Asia and Africa.

A "contract" can last from a week or two to several years, with pay ranging from $350 to $500 a week or more, he said.

He refused to say how many persons, men or women, the company has recruited.

The Tribune said it received several calls from women interested in becoming mercenaries after publishing the interview with Scott on Tuesday.

Women in the spy business are not something that grew out of the women's liberation movement, Scott said. "Uncle Sam has had women with these skills on his payroll for many, many years," he said.

But while the agency readily accepts qualified women, it will not accept the typical former serviceman. Scott and his senior aide, G.J. "Longo" Tartaglio, said the average ex-GI isn't professional enough to make it as a mercenary.

"We had three people killed by their employers in Africa because they weren't mature enough to realize that looting and rape is against the code," said Tartaglio, who said he smuggled guns to anti-Castro Cubans until caught by the Royal Navy in 1967.

The degree of professionalism among mercenaries is reflected in the casualty rates, said Scott, a former Green Beret.

"If you send out the average U.S. GI, two out of 10 might come back," he said. "In a professional mercenary cadre, the return rate is at least eight out of 10."

Tartaglio said El Kamas does business only with non-Communist countries. "Our loyalty is to the United States and its interests," he said.

Scott said the agency opened up shop in Washington, D.C., in 1962, later moving its headquarters to Anaheim, Calif., and opening field offices in Houston, Miami and New Orleans.

The company operated for six months from the top floor of Anaheim's seven-floor El Camino Bank building under the guise of gathering information about "unidentified flying objects."

"We thought the UFO connection was a good cover," said Scott, a graying 34-year-old adventurer.

There have been several recent reports of mercenary recruiting in the United States. Two Cuban exiles said this week they are recruiting fellow exiles to fight against Cuban communist troops that are fighting alongside Soviet-backed rebels in Angola.

Anubis Ltd. of Highland, Tex., offers and sells by mail information and applications for service in Rhodesia. Aliyah, a Jewish-American organization in Washington, D.C., offers information on long-term stays in Israel, including service in the Israeli armed forces.

Wounded Knee Account Said 'Bunch Of Bull'

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — An Army report that concluded there was no massacre of Indians by soldiers at Wounded Knee, S.D., in 1890 was described as a "bunch of bull" by Dee A. Brown, author of the best-selling book, "Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee."

In an interview with the Arkansas Democrat, Brown said Tuesday his research showed that soldiers were trying to take a rifle away from an Indian when the first shot was fired. He said he was told that the Indian who had the rifle was either hard of hearing or mentally deficient and that the gun was pointed at the sky when it went off.

He said the shooting touched off by the firing of the rifle lasted five to 10 minutes and that the Indians were "scared to death" and "trying to hold onto what weapons they had."

Some 146 Sioux Indians were killed and 33 others injured.

Wants To Cure Loneliness

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP) — Widow Dorothy Fletcher has set up an organization to help combat what she says is "one disease we can cure" — loneliness.

The mother of seven children and founder of "Loneliness Anonymous" puts out a monthly newsletter to help single people find each other. She advertises for lonely people in the personal column of a local newspaper and then, for $10, places a brief description of any respondents in her newsletter. No names are mentioned, but a newsletter subscriber can obtain the telephone number and first name of the person described from Mrs. Fletcher.

"I've got a 70-year-old man and a 68-year-old woman going out to dinner and having the time of their lives," Mrs. Fletcher says.

90,000 Will Watch Presley

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — More than 90,000 persons are expected to jam the newly completed Pontiac Stadium tonight for Elvis Presley's New Year's Eve concert.

Stadium promotions director Jerry Barron said sales of tickets at $15, $11.50, $8 and $6 were "brisk" and that beefed up security has been arranged to protect Presley from fans.

"Sometimes the ladies get excited," Barron said, noting that Presley must "come to the center of the field to get on stage."

"Hotel rooms have been sold out for miles around," he said, adding that ticket orders had come from as far as New York City and Las Vegas, Nev.

Dear Abby

Ignore Friend's News Of Husband's Affair

DEAR ABBY: I have been married to a fine, devoted professional man for 17 years. We have a beautiful family, and I have never had any reason to doubt his fidelity. Out of the blue, I received a phone call from a woman who spoke in a refined and cultured voice. She called me by name and said she thought I should know that my husband was having an affair with a young woman in his office! I was so shocked I could hardly speak, but I managed to ask her who she was. She said, "A friend," and then she hung up. Abby, I got so weak I had to sit down. Then I became nauseated. My first inclination was to believe her. I wondered, "Why would anyone want to make up a story like that?" Then, I tried to recall if there had been any tell-tale signs—late nights or unexplained absences, but there were none. When my husband came home, I told him about it. He was as dumbfounded as I and assured me there was nothing to it. Now I'm asking you. Why would anyone want to make such a call? I love my husband and trust him, but I am... BAFFLED

DEAR BAFFLED: Miserable people try to make others miserable. Your caller was such a person. The word from here is, forget it!

DEAR ABBY: There are four of us married "girls" who have lunch together once a week, and today one of us presented a problem so unusual that only you could answer for us.

She has known this local undertaker for over 25 years, and they have always had a lot of laughs at parties and enjoyed one another's company. Her question was, should she have her body sent to him when she passes away, and let him see her body (now that it's in its "older" state), or should she leave instructions to give her business to one of his competitors? (She's still a cute cookie in our book, even if she is over 65.) FOUR IN FLORIDA

DEAR FOUR: What a ghoulish topic for a girlish lunch! I'm sorry to let "cute cookie" down prematurely, but only she can answer that question.

DEAR ABBY: Is there a certain age limit when a woman should stop bearing children? I'm quite concerned about this because my 41-year-old mother who is expecting has been subjected to some very rude and cruel remarks, such as, "Didn't you know that abortions were legal now?" and, "It must have been an accident. Surely you didn't want a child at your age!" What's wrong with having another baby after the others are grown? My mother was very happy at the prospects of having another child until people started cutting her down. Please comment. HURT DAUGHTER

DEAR HURT: The good Lord and Nature determine the child-bearing years. And when a woman is "too old" to bear a child, she won't be able to.

MAID OF COTTON SAMPLES TEXAS DISH — Victoria C. Laughlin of Newport Beach, Calif., chosen 1976 Maid of Cotton, samples a dish of Texas chili after arriving in Dallas on Wednesday. The first official duty for the USC coed will be to lead the Cotton Bowl parade on New Year's Day and later attend the Cotton Bowl game pitting Arkansas and Georgia.

Californian Named Maid Of Cotton; Texan Is Runner-Up

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Victoria Laughlin, a brown-eyed college student from Newport Beach, Calif., was named the 1976 Maid of Cotton in judging Tuesday night. Miss Laughlin, 21, a senior at the University of Southern California, stands 5 feet 6, weighs 122 pounds, has brown hair and is studying speech communications. She is director of the student radio station on the USC campus and is a dean's list student.

Her father, Robert J. Laughlin, is a mortgage banker who finances loans for cotton crops in California.

Miss Laughlin was selected from among five finalists out of a field of 18 contestants. The contest is sponsored by the National Cotton Council, which is headquartered in Memphis.

First runnerup was Elise Shelton, 20, of Amarillo, Tex., and second alternate was Marci McSherry, 21, of Deming, N.M. Also among the five finalists were Dorothy Dane, 21, of New Orleans, La., and Susan Sylvester, 21, of Gainesville, Fla.

The new Maid will serve as the ambassador for the cotton industry during the nation's Bicentennial. Her first duty will be to reign over the Cotton Bowl in Dallas Thursday. In March Miss Laughlin
