SOCIAL PROGRAMS, DEFENSE RIDER

Demos to reshape budget?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress takes votes this week that could signal whether President Ford can entice support for his budget proposals or whether congressional Democrats will be able to reshape Ford's budget with more emphasis on social programs and economic stimulation.

House Democrats hope to collect on Tuesday the two-thirds vote they would need to overturn Ford's veto of a $45-billion labor-health, education and welfare appropriation.

Of the 44 vetoes Ford has issued since taking office, only seven have been overridden thus far. Tuesday's vote is expected to be close.

Also on Tuesday, the House is to act on a $112-billion defense appropriation bill containing a rider that forbids use of any of the funds to help any faction in the Angolan civil war. The Senate added the rider last month.

Another Ford-Congress confrontation comes later in the week, possibly Thursday, when the House votes on a $6-billion public works employment bill that the administration opposes as too costly.

Meanwhile, the House Budget Committee begins today the job of shaping a congressional budget, using fully for the first time the machinery of the new Budget Control Act.

Two weeks of hearings will be followed by item-by-item consideration of administration proposals and congressional counterproposals.

One controversy over reorganizing and helping finance the nation's ailing railroads has been settled after negotiation with the administration. Both chambers are expected to approve the agreed-on $6.4-billion bill on Wednesday.

The Senate is expected to approve Tuesday the nomination of George Bush to become director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Major Senate business also includes consideration of House-passed legislation to extend U.S. fishing jurisdiction 200 miles out to sea.

Youth is shot here

A 16-year-old Big Spring High School youth was found shot to death outside the family trailer home at 1:20 a.m. Sunday.

Jesse McGuire, son of Mr. and Mrs. Monty McGuire was found by his parents when they returned home and found a note from the youth on the table inside the trailer home.

They discovered the boy lying outside, west of the trailer, shot once in the head. Howard County Deputies Bill Whitten and Sam Smelser said there was a Remington Model 700 deer rifle at the scene and that the boy had been shot once just above the ear.

Gus Ochotorena Jr., justice of peace, rendered a verdict this morning of suicide.

Funeral services for the youth were to be held at 3:30 p.m. today at Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel. John Greeson, minister of the Rule Church of Christ, will officiate, assisted by Eugene Cardinal, minister of the 11th and Birdwell Street Church of Christ. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Close to 17, the youth was born Feb. 16, 1959 in Plainview. He was a junior at the high school here.

Survivors include his parents, two sisters, Mrs. Mike Hull and Susie A. McGuire, both of Big Spring; maternal grandmother, Mrs. A. G. (Doc) Davis, Big Spring and the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Clara Reed of Hico.

Pallbearers were to be Buddy Arrick, Doug Wagner, Chris Chaney, Terry Long, Loy Holland and Warren Dean.

VIEW OF PATTY HEARST — These are five pictures of Patty Hearst made in the months since her arrest in September of 1975. Miss Hearst's trial opens Tuesday in San Francisco on a federal bank robbery charge. Dates of pictures are, from left, Sept. 18, 1975; Sept. 19, 1975; Sept. 23, 1975; Dec. 11, 1975; and Jan. 20, 1976.

Claiming newspaper heiress brainwashed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — With the scheduled start of Patricia Hearst's bank robbery trial one day away, defense attorneys sought rulings today on five pretrial motions, including one claiming the newspaper heiress was brainwashed and another seeking dismissal of the charges against her.

U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter was scheduled to consider the defense motions, as well as two motions filed by the prosecution, at a hearing today.

Defense attorneys are also seeking to bar as evidence some samples of Miss Hearst's handwriting, prevent testimony from her jailers and fellow inmates and suppress a "log" of Miss Hearst's activities the defense says was kept by a deputy sheriff at San Mateo County Jail.

Another defense motion seeks approval for introduction of "stress evaluation" test results in the form of expert testimony.

The prosecution, meanwhile, is opposing the admission of lie detector test results as evidence and is asking the court to reaffirm its order that Dr. Harry Kozol, a Boston psychiatrist Miss Hearst claims bullied her, be allowed to interview the heiress in private.

A member of the defense team, attorney Thomas May, said before today's hearing that the motion for dismissal of the indictment is based on the contention that the prosecution withheld evidence that would have tended to show Miss Hearst's innocence.

"We believe that if the grand jury had all the evidence available in the case, they would have never indicted Patty," May said. "The forceful nature of her abduction ... the violent and dangerous character of her abductors were not brought up."

Miss Hearst, 21, is to go on trial Tuesday on charges she took part in the April 15, 1974, holdup of a neighborhood bank branch with members of the Symbionese Liberation Army. She was abducted by the SLA nine weeks earlier, and, in tape-recorded messages after the robbery, she proclaimed her allegiance to the terrorist group.

The start of jury selection was delayed one day when Judge Carter, 64, underwent minor surgery for a vascular ailment in his neck.

In a weekend interview, Hearst attorneys hinted that a key element of the defense will be to show that William and Emily Harris helped brainwash Miss Hearst and wrote the script for her declaration that she willingly took part in the bank robbery.

The Harris also were arrested Sept. 18, 1975. They are awaiting trial in Los Angeles on separate charges, and the Hearst defense is expected to link them to the bank holdup in opening arguments later this week.

Personnel program draws attention

Howard County Commissioners today discussed plans for possible implementation of a countywide personnel management improvement program. The program would attempt to classify jobs and relative pay scale within the county, and to bring salary recommendations within a level comparable to salaries in private business in the county.

Hugh R. Catherwood, employe of Kansas-Denver Associates, consultants in public administration, Denver, Colo., would conduct the survey and present recommendations. The findings would provide a pay classification as well as a series of possible uniform personnel rules governing such areas as vacations, grievances, job recruiting, and equal opportunity employment. Implementation of the findings would be up to the discretion of the commissioners court.

The project would be partially financed by a federal grant issued through the Regional Planning Commission. The grant is issued on the condition that the funds are used for the improvement of personnel management. The county is required to provide matching funds on a 50-50 basis. Howard County is eligible for approximately $4,000 in grant funds.

In other business, commissioners: —Received a report from Neel Barnaby, county engineer. Barnaby suggested that the Stovall Bridge in precinct one, partially under water and deteriorating, be removed.

Barnaby also reported that replacement of various traffic signs, and clearance of overgrown county lots will continue. —Authorized the hiring of two Manpower workers, one to assist the Howard County Sheriff's Office, the other to assist the offices of Justice of the Peace Bobby West, County Judge Bill Tune and County Attorney Bill Eysen.

—Authorized the sealing off of a door in the Howard County Public Library, and installing a book drop there at a cost of about $360.

—Resolved to cooperate with the City in securing property near Webb AFB which was declared surplus by the General Services Administration.

—Named Tito Arencibia as representative of the County Grievance Committee.

—Authorized bookbinding and repairs for several documents in the County Clerk's office.

—Tabled a request for 15 pillows for chairs in 118th District Courtroom.

Trans Regional reports increase in passengers

Trans Regional Airlines, which operates out of the Howard County Airport, has announced passenger increases for the months of November and December.

A total of 312 passengers were reported in November, with 151 enplaned and 161 deplaned. December saw a total of 315 persons serviced by Trans Regional, with 160 enplaning and 155 deplaning.

Freight handled in November was 1,010 pounds but dropped to 493 pounds in December.

Previously, August of 1975 was the busiest month for Trans Regional, with 260 passengers accommodated.

Effective Feb. 1, Flights 105 and 106 between Big Spring and the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport will be cancelled, leaving the morning and evening flights available daily.

No changes are being planned on the Big Spring-Midland schedules.

The morning flight to Dallas-Fort Worth leaves at 6:25 a.m., and arrives at 8:05 a.m. The evening flight takes off at 5:15 p.m., and lands at 6:55 p.m.

The morning flight from Dallas-Fort Worth lifts off at 9:05 a.m., and lands here at 10:45 a.m. The evening flight starts at 7:55 p.m., and lands here at 9:35 p.m.

Flights to Midland start at 7:05 a.m., and 3:15 p.m., daily and from Midland at 8:30 a.m., and 7:35 p.m. daily.

Snow fall is light

The Big Spring area was visited by Jack Frost again this morning. Although he left a mantle of white in many areas, only a trace of moisture was reported at the Big Spring U.S. Experiment Station.

Since Jan. 1, only .01 of an inch of moisture has fallen here.

The temperatures were in the upper 20s when day broke, then started inching upward. Most of the snow was gone by mid-morning.

The snow dusted a broad belt in West Texas after spreading from New Mexico. A wintry chill reached deep into the state again today.

The snowfall was scattered across a sector from around Sanderson and Seminole eastward past Lamesa, Big Spring and Junction. While it was generally light, flurries thick enough to limit visibility caused warnings to motorists from those areas across the state line toward the west.

Most of the snow melted as it fell in West Texas, leaving roadways slick. In northern New Mexico as much as four inches of fresh snow covered the ground around Las Vegas.

Light rain mixed with traces of snow fell from northwest of Del Rio on the Mexican border to north of Austin in the middle of the state.

Clouds overhung most other parts of West Texas and much of East Texas early in the day. Skies were clear across the state's midsection.

Temperatures near dawn sagged to 15 degrees at Dalhart and 17 at Amarillo in the Texas Panhandle.

COLD

Slight possibility of additional snow flurries late today with temperatures to drop to around 20 tonight. High today near 40 and high on Tuesday near 50. Fair Tuesday.

SNOW CHICK — Karen King has a word for all those who say Big Spring's winter begins and ends Jan. 5. She went out this morning to discover the vision from her car windows had been reduced to zero because an overnight snow has left its telltale marks on the area. Pretty Karen didn't seem too distressed by it all, however.

Ford must pick carefully

If you were asked to pick a running mate for Gerald Ford in the upcoming presidential sweepstakes, who would you pick?

Ford himself was asked recently who would be acceptable to him as a vice-presidential candidate and Ford listed four GOP senators and Elliott Richardson, who emerged from the Nixon's unpleasant problems in good shape and who now has been projected by Ford for the office of Secretary of Commerce, a job he will, no doubt, get.

The senators mentioned by Ford as vice-presidential timber included two Tennesseans, Howard Baker and William Brock, Charles Percy of Illinois and Edward Brooke of Massachusetts.

It is hard to visualize Percy on the ticket. He has not always agreed with Ford in the past and there are those who reason he might keep a steadier hand at the helm than Ford, if somehow he could become the party's candidate for the highest office in the name.

Baker has lost some lustre since the Watergate investigations. There are those who reason he retreated into the background deliberately, reasoning the probes could only damage the image of the Republican party.

Brock, although an able senator, may not be able to help the ticket because he is not a nationally known figure. Ford may need Brooke to help reap the Negro vote but, the question is, would Brooke give up a prestigious position in the upper house to accept the second position on the ticket.

Most of the national political animals will tell you Ford is in trouble, so he must pick his running mate carefully. Since Texas is such a pivotal state, it is not conceivable that he buttonhole someone like John Connally and try to talk him into running as a team.

Richardson, like Brooke, is from Massachusetts, which would be a plus.

Brock and Baker would add a geographical asset to the Ford candidacy because they are from the South. Percy, in one sense, is an unlikely choice because that would mean both GOP candidates would be from the Midwest.

It is interesting how ambitious public officials scorn the vice president's office until it really comes down to the moment of selection. Then most of those who are tendered the opportunity are happy to accept.

She will be missed

Agatha Christie, who died at the age of 85 recently, was a prolific and widely-read authoress. Among her contemporaries, she quite likely was the best read writer of all.

Her 88 books, mostly about murder and the mysteries emanating therefrom, sold an estimated 400 million copies and made her a wealthy woman.

Some critics might turn up their noses at the intrigue she set about to weave, but her devoted followers couldn't have cared less. They were there to buy her books when they appeared on the market.

Literature has produced more brilliant writers, even of detective stories, than Mrs. Christie. But Dame Agatha's stories and characters developed a charm and an accessibility hard to equal.

Her readers identified with her principal sleuths, Hercule Poirot and Miss Jane Marple, and could get downright cranky with those who were prone to criticize them. Agatha could make a chill go up the spine of the reader but invariably he knew everything would fall into place and everything would turn out right in the end.

Events in Agatha's life were not often seen in gossip columns because she preferred her privacy. She didn't feel she owed anyone that much. She was very much a public character, however, for the pleasure she gave many millions. She will be missed.

Entrenched brains

Around the rim

Tommy Hart

I spent two weeks in the Washington area recently and came away convinced that the people in so-called "middle-class" America are the only ones who are realistic about the nation's problems.

The yeomanry which has become entrenched in the Washington enclave is on a constant ego trip. Most are on the public dole, yet they are trying desperately to tell the average wage-earner how to make do on an income that is invariably less than they, as members of the Washington establishment, are making.

To them, anything that can't be seen from the top of the Washington Monument is bourgeois country, to be avoided whenever possible. It's alright for the peasants in the outback to come and look at all marble monuments they themselves have financed, so long as they buy a round-trip ticket.

The tragedy of it all is that the people in the hustings become too dependent on the bureaucracies. In time, many people decide they can't make a move without consulting a manual prepared by some brain in Washington. Invariably, the author has been removed from reality so long, he wouldn't recognize reality if he saw it. The roles should be reversed. We should be telling the gentry in Washington the limits to which they can go before bringing them to heel.

Some communities, not excluding our own, tremble at every rumor emanating from Washington, fearful of any restrictive action congress, the military or appointive agencies take on budgets will destroy us economically. When that situation occurs, it's pretty obvious that some one else has taken over the bridge and banished us to the decks below the water line.

The most depressing time of day in Washington is in the early morning hours, when local television parades the intelligentsia across the screen for a never-ending series of discussions on the economy, the impact of ethnic culture on America, the marketplace and the third world threat. They operate in a narrow time span. Not even the Washington housewife, from all indications, would put up with them when the soap operas take over.

If the country could somehow tap the energies of the prophets of doom and the analysts who profess to view everything in perfect perspective — and see that they gave an honest day's work for a day's pay — I think the nation as a whole would be a lot better off. And everyone's ears could get a rest.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Is it possible to be a Christian and still not be on speaking terms with some people? — N. B.

DEAR N.B.: Christians still have within them their old sin nature, as well as the new life of Jesus Christ. Therefore, they are not perfect, and they do not always act as they should. Thus, it is entirely possible that a Christian will have wrong relationships with some people.

When this is the case, however, that Christian is being inconsistent with what he is supposed to be. The Bible says, "If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men." Jesus told his disciples: "A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another; even as I have loved you, that you also love one another. By this all men will know you are my disciples, if you have love one for another." (John 13:34-35, RSV).

We must never be complacent, but must seek to be as consistent as possible in our lives. This includes our relations with other people. Often in longstanding cases of hostility we must make the first step, and it is difficult to swallow our pride and seek the person out and ask for his forgiveness for any wrong we have done. But God will honor that when we commit the matter to Him.

Energy objectives

John Cuniff

By MAX B. SKELTON
(Substituting for John Cuniff)

HOUSTON (AP) — On energy matters, President Ford's second State of the Union address to Congress was a sharp contrast with his first.

His 1976 energy objectives were summarized in about 300 words.

A year earlier, on Jan. 15, 1975, those objectives had required about 2,500 words. And, just one night earlier, he had made a special televised speech on his energy and economic proposals.

Both of the State of the Union speeches, however, emphasized concern about declining domestic crude production and dependence on foreign supplies.

The 1975 speech summarized the situation this way:

"Our growing dependence upon foreign sources has been adding to our vulnerability for years and we did nothing to prepare ourselves for an event such as the embargo of 1973."

Ford's 1976 speech put it this way:

"Domestic production of oil and gas is still declining.

Our dependence on foreign oil at high prices is still too great, draining jobs and dollars away from our economy at the rate of $125 per year for every American."

The new speech included no specific objectives for reducing oil imports.

A year earlier, Ford had said "We must reduce oil imports by one million barrels per day by the end of this year and by two million barrels per day by the end of 1977."

There are differences of opinion on whether the million-barrels-a-day cut-back objective for 1975 was attained.

There is argument the objective was to reduce only the import level that had been projected for 1975 prior to the 1973 embargo. And there is argument that such a goal could only mean actual 1975 imports would be one million barrels a day below the 1974 level.

Under the first argument, Ford could claim at least partial success. Under thesecond argument, he could not.

Total oil imports in 1973 averaged a record 6.2 million barrels a day and projections were anticipating a 1975 level approaching if not exceeding seven million barrels a day.

Official averages are not yet available but most estimates indicate 1975 total oil imports approximated 5,900,000 barrels a day. Such an average would be about one million barrels, the stated objective under the first argument, below a pre-embargo projection in the area of seven million.

Under the second argument, however, the stated objective would be far short.

A final average of about 5,900,000 for 1975 would be practically a dead heat with 1974 when total imports averaged 6,068,000 barrels a day.

Petroleum products imported last year approximated 1,900,000 barrels daily, some 26 per cent below the 1974 average of 2,611,000 a day.

Domestic crude oil production meanwhile was recording its fifth consecutive decline.

Domestic crude output last year approximated 8,400,000 barrels a day compared with 8,766,000 in 1974.

Mideast leapfrog

Rowland Evans

UNITED NATIONS — Although direct U.S.-Soviet confrontation could grow out of escalating civil war in Lebanon, the more realistic danger is a radicalized Lebanon becoming a rich new base for Soviet political operations on Israel's border.

FEAR OVER this predictable future for Lebanon is raising Arab pressures high at the United Nations for a settlement of the Palestine question. Indeed, the danger of political infection from a radicalized Lebanon, financed and armed by Moscow, is a larger reason than the actual plight of the Palestinian refugees for wanting the Palestinian question solved.

THE BRITISH concern: failure to settle the Palestine issue threatens to turn the clock back on the Nixon-Ford administration's successes over seven years in limiting and replacing Soviet influence in the Middle East.

But while the British and other U.S. allies, including Japan, are pressuring Israel publicly at the UN to deal with the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO), the U.S. — which has most to lose in a radicalized Lebanon — is not. The reason: unwillingness to split with Israel, which would unleash the American-Jewish community against President Ford at the crucial point in his struggle with Ronald Reagan for the nomination. This is a case of American politics conflicting with Mideastern reality.

MIDEAST EXPERTS here and in Washington agree on this: serious inroads by Moscow will be unavoidable if there is continued deadlock over the PLO's right to represent the Palestinians and over Israel's withdrawal from its occupied Arab lands until after the 1976 U.S. presidential election.

Ever since 1958, when President Eisenhower landed U.S. Marines on Beirut's beaches to block a threatened Communist take over, Lebanon has been the pleasant and safe haven for Western interests in the Mideast. Some Arab businessmen mark 1958 as the start of the slowly growing American influence which with many ups and downs, produced close relations between Washington and Cairo and persuaded Syria — despite its arms dependence on Moscow — to reestablish diplomatic relations with Washington.

NOW, THE precise reverse may be starting: Lebanon, radicalized in the civil war between the Moslem left (including Palestinian refugees) and the Christian-Moslem right, becoming the incubator of political extremism for export to pro-Russian Arab states such as Kuwait, Saudi Arabia and Egypt.

Eyebrows raised

Arf Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The appointment of Marion Javits to the job of promoting Iran National Airlines has raised some eyebrows in Washington, where eyebrow-raising is the national sport.

THE PROBLEM IS that in order to work for a foreign government Ms. Javits had to register as a lobbyist. Her husband, Sen. Jack Javits, is on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which occasionally discusses the subject of Iran. The eyebrow-raisers in Washington believe that there could be a conflict of interest of the two jobs. Ms. Javits insists there isn't, and she would never discuss Iran with her husband.

But it could be a sticky situation. Sen. Javits comes home to New York for a weekend with his wife.

"Hi, dear. What's for dinner?" he asks.

"I have a surprise for you," Ms. Javits says. "Caspian caviar just flown in from Iran on its new super 747 Boeing Jet, which now flies to 60 countries in every part of the world."

"What else?"

"Flaming shish kebabs on a sword, and a new recipe for Persian rice which the Shah's chef gave me."

"It sounds great," the senator says.

"IT IS ONE of the many dishes featured on one of the world's best and safest airlines. When it comes to food, Iran National Airlines treats you like a Shah."

"That's a lovely dress you're wearing, Marion."

"It comes from Tehran. You can't believe the shopping bargains you can find in this beautiful historical city. It's a tourist's dream. This dress cost me $45, and it's hand-woven. If I bought it in New York, it would have been $200. You actually can make up the cost of your air fare on Iran National Airlines by just visiting one of the many exciting bazaars throughout the city."

"Well, it's very becoming. What have you been doing all week?"

"Oh, I've been keeping busy. I went to the Persian art exhibit at the Met, and I saw the Iranian Ballet at Lincoln Center, and I entertained a group of travel agents from Detroit."

"That's nice."

"JACK, DO YOU know that you can fly from New York to Tehran and stop over in London and Paris for as long as you want to at no extra charge by taking advantage of Iran National Airlines' special winter rates?"

"I must admit I didn't."

"The sad thing is that Iran National Airlines does not have landing rights in St. Louis and Houston. It seems so unfair that people have to change planes at Kennedy Airport in order to go to Tehran."

"I imagine it does. Say, aren't these new dishes?"

"Yes. Each one has a picture of the Shah and his wife on it. I got them wholesale from the people who cater Iran National Airlines."

"They're very attractive," the senator says.

"Have as much caviar as you want. I have oodles of it in the icebox," Ms. Javits says.

"Isn't it expensive, Marion?"

"Not for us. I'm working now. I make $67,500 a year."

"No kidding. What are you doing?"

"I can't tell you, Jack, as it would be a conflict of interest. I promised I would never discuss my job with you as it would only cause raised eyebrows in Washington."

Ozone: the evidence

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

By C. C. MINICLIER
(Substituting for Dr. G. C. Thosteson)

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Research sponsored by the federal government is building up evidence that fluorocarbons released from aerosol spray cans are damaging the ozone shield that protects the earth from deadly ultraviolet radiation.

The evidence isn't final yet, but those conducting the federally financed research say that so far it supports the theory first publicized in 1974, that man-made fluorocarbons drifting into the stratosphere release chlorine, which destroys ozone.

An immediate consequence of even a small reduction of ozone might be more skin cancer. A five per cent decrease for example, might produce a 10 per cent jump in skin cancer cases, by some estimates. Larger reduction would impair plant and animal life.

The federal government is spending $14 million on fluorocarbon research, which also has private financing, mostly from universities. It is centered in Boulder, where the National Center for Atmospheric Research (NCAR) has its headquarters and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) has an installation. This research is the major American effort to determine whether man-made fluorocarbons used in aerosol sprays are an environmental hazard.

Congress is considering laws that would limit or ban the use of fluorocarbons as a propellant in aerosol sprays, including hair sprays, deodorants and insect repellants.

The U.S. Consumer Safety Product Commission refused

last July to ban fluorocarbon-propelled aerosol sprays, including hair sprays, deodorants and insect repellants. In December, three environmental groups and 10 states again petitioned the Commission to ban them, arguing that evidence compiled since July overwhelmingly supports the contention that such sprays destroy the ozone layer in the stratosphere. The states are Colorado, Florida, Michigan, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New York, Oregon, Vermont and Wisconsin.

Forty scientists in Boulder, working for the NCAR or the NOAA, are involved in the federally financed fluorocarbon research, gathering and collating evidence from high altitude balloons, from aircraft and from three satellites.

MPLA USING JET FIGHTERS

South African forces complete withdrawal

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP) — Westerners arriving from Angola reported today that leaders of the National Union — UNITA — told them South African forces have completed their withdrawal from the civil war in the former Portuguese territory and the Soviet-backed Popular Movement — MPLA — has used jet fighters in the conflict for the first time.

There has been no official South African government announcement of withdrawal thus far, and opposition leader Sir De Villiers Graaf introduced a no-confidence motion in the Cape Town Parliament today, attacking the government for its silence.

He also urged the government to set up a "safe zone" on the South-West African side of the border to harbor fleeing Angolan refugees.

South African Defense Minister Pieter W. Botha made no reference to the reported South African withdrawal during the parliamentary debate but said his government would "retaliate with greater force" if necessary to protect a South African-financed hydroelectric and irrigation project in southern Angola just across the border from South-West Africa.

Cuba, meanwhile, told U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim that its allies in Angola represent the legitimate government there and accused Zaire of trying to take over Angola with the aid of "racist South Africa."

Nicholas Ashford of the Times of London reported from Luanda that the MPLA's desire to improve relations with Washington was shown by the treatment accorded Mark Moran, an adviser to Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., who met almost every MPLA civil and military leader except President Agostinho Neto during a visit last week to Luanda.

Ashford said Moran said he got "the distinct impression that the MPLA would like to have better relations with the United States — and the MPLA is not demanding U.S. recognition as a price."

It's year of dragon

NEW YORK (AP) — The Chinese New Year 4674, celebrated Jan. 31, ushered in the year of the Dragon. Oriental years are named for animals and the belief is that the animal year in which a person is born influences personality.

A formula for determining who is a Dragon Person has been worked out by Chun King, Oriental food producer. If your age at your next birthday can be divided by 12, you were born in a Dragon Year — such as 1964, 1952, 1940 or 1928. According to Oriental reckoning, Dragon People are subtle, secretive, passionate and physically healthy. Well-known Dragon People include Sonny Bono, Bing Crosby, Scott Joplin, Tito of Yugoslavia and Betty Furness.

Russia's Kosygin was born in the Year of the Dragon.

An identical sign was also placed on the flight line side of Base Operations. The design was adopted by the Webb American Revolution Bicentennial Committee and will be the official Webb emblem for the '76 celebration. The design was suggested by Capt. Richard B. CR '76 lures 2 Uncle Sams Uncle Sams are coming in pairs since Campus Revue '76 is officially opening for performances this week.

The band has sponsored a teen-age Uncle Sam all year in Paul Ruiz, who was officially adopted by the bicentennial commission here as Big Spring's Uncle Sam.

San Antonio has an adult Uncle Sam in one of their city councilmen, Al Rhodes, who is also chairman of American Independence Week.

San Antonio's Uncle Sam will be here for the second night's performance of the show and will be in the Hall of Flags at 7 p.m. Tuesday with Big Spring's Uncle Sam to meet the Big Spring public.

Tickets for CR '76 are available at the door tonight for the opener. The tickets for the final two nights are sold out except for a few chair seats.

Economy steadily growing healthier

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although unemployment remains high, almost everything else in the economy is starting to look good and Americans may be entitled to another major tax cut in 1979, President Ford said today.

"The underlying fact about our economy is that it is steadily growing healthier. My policies for 1976 are intended to keep us on that upward path," Ford said in his annual economic report to Congress. He also said, "Regrettably, a full recovery of the economy will take time."

Despite the prospect of job gains this year, Ford's economic advisers said "unemployment will almost surely remain distressingly high."

"Even under the best of circumstances the return to full employment cannot realistically be accomplished this year or next."

Ford did not indicate how much taxes could be decreased in 1979, but he said the decrease would be on top of the $28 billion in permanent tax decreases he

Tax check is $17,416 here

The City of Big Spring has been mailed a sales tax check for $17,416.19 for January's payment. The last check received totaled $99,273.70, which represented the bulk of the Christmas shopping.

Other cities in the area and their checks include Colorado City, $4,450.80; Snyder, $10,467.36; and Lamesa, $7,864.20.

already has proposed for this year and next.

He also tied the prospect of future tax reductions to support for his spending recommendations, including the $394.2-billion budget he is proposing for fiscal 1977.

"If we continue in the years ahead with the kind of budget restraint which I am recommending, another major tax cut will be feasible by 1978," he said.

Ford's economic report, which Congress receives annually from the President and his Council of Economic Advisers, stressed that the worst is over for the economy. It said Americans can take satisfaction that the nation's economic system is coming through intact. There have been "appreciable gains" in reducing inflation, which declined from 12 per cent in 1974 to 7 per cent in 1975, with an additional slowdown expected this year, Ford said.

"While I do not regard the events of 1975 as fully satisfactory by any measure, we should find it reassuring that our economic system withstood severe strains and displayed inherent strengths during the year," he said.

Unemployment remains a serious problem, Ford said, but "it is slowly moving in the right direction." Any attempt to bring the jobless rate down quickly could ignite new inflation and make matters worse in the long run, he said.

School enrolls 175 at Lamesa

LAMESA — Approximately 175 persons have enrolled in college credit courses to be taught in Lamesa during the spring semester by Howard College of Big Spring.

A few of the classes are still in need of additional students. Registration has been extended through Wednesday. At least ten students are required for each course.

Chamber name is changed

LAMESA — The name of the agency here has officially been changed to the Lamesa Area Chamber of Commerce. Directors are seeking a broader base of participation by all Dawson County residents.

Not slipping, says Wallace

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Alabama Gov. George Wallace says his victory in Mississippi's Democratic precinct caucuses is proof that his popularity in the South has not slipped.

As returns continued to trickle in from Saturday's caucuses, Wallace led former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia by a margin of better than 3 to 1.

Wallace said Sunday that the showing would help his campaign, but he refused to speculate on whether the results would hurt Carter's bid for the presidential nomination.

"I think some of the national press was ready to write that Wallace was slipping in the South, that he'd lose in Mississippi," Wallace said. "It turned out ... we certainly haven't slipped."

Carter, meanwhile, said the results indicated that Wallace remains a stronger presidential candidate than some had thought.

Saturday's caucuses, held at 2,133 precincts across Mississippi, were the first of four steps leading to the selection of the state's delegates to Democratic national convention.

As tallying continued in rural counties, it appeared likely that Wallace had won a majority of the delegates to the state party's Feb. 14 county conventions.

With 48 per cent of the estimated 3,000 county convention delegates tallied, 45 per cent of the delegates were pledged to Wallace and 27 per cent were uncommitted.

Carter had 13 per cent and Sargent Shriver had 12 per cent, mostly from black precincts. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas and former Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma had about 1 per cent each.

Wallace's percentage was expected to increase today as rural precincts were tallied.

Teen club is organized

The Webb Teen Club was organized recently at the Youth Center. Elected for the first term of six months were Chris Jaime, president; Teresa Dellacamera, vice president; and Linda Peniman, secretary.

Committee appointments made by the director were Lahoma Goodblanket, membership chairman; Rondell Miller, program chairman; Glen Popejoy and Tim Barksdale, program committee; Pat Jamie, funds chairman and Jennifer Brien, teen representative to Youth Advisory Council.

Tournament action at the Youth Center this past week saw Carl Stamper, Nickey Howarth and Rondell Miller winning in the Spade tourney.

Wreck story is amended

In a report on the police activity Saturday, two cars were listed parked in a four car pileup when three of the vehicles were actually parked.

A car belonging to Stanley Hughes of 207 Jones was parked along with cars belonging to Jimmy Mayes, 631 Taylor and Mike Hughes, 1404 W. 4th. A car driven by Kenneth Campbell, Box 4349, was the vehicle involved that was moving at the time of the accident.

Burglars hit two places

A burglary occurred at Merchant's Motor Freight Lines between Saturday and Sunday afternoon with an adding machine, an electric typewriter, $24, and several packages of cigarettes reported missing.

Police also took a report Sunday afternoon from the Oasis Lounge, 904 E. 3rd, showing $250-300 missing along with seven cases of beer in a break-in there.

Two from here in elite group

Dennis Mays, a sophomore biology major and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Romy Mays of Big Spring, and Curtis Mullins, senior pre-med major and son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Mullins, Big Spring, were two of eight Abilene Christian College students who received perfect 4.0 grade-point averages for the 1975 fall semester.

To qualify for the dean's list, students must take at least 12 hours of credit and post at least a 3.45 grade average.

Pittsburgh teachers vote on new contract

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The city teachers union, on strike for 57 days, reached tentative contract agreement with the school board early today. Teachers met for a ratification vote and the school board made plans to re-open classes Tuesday.

Union officials said they would recommend ratification, but discussion of the contract and voting by

Kermit quakes

KERMIT, Tex. (AP) — Residents of this West Texas town are being shaken up, literally, and want to know why.

The area was hit last week by three small earth tremors and townspeople are awaiting data from the National Earthquake Information Center in Golden, Colo., to see if it can be determined why the quakes are occurring.

The first quake struck at 1:05 a.m. Monday, the second at 1:45 a.m. Thursday and the last rocked the area at 1:50 p.m. Saturday.

The Saturday tremor lasted about 10 seconds and Texas Tech seismologists at Lubbock estimated it to have registered a 3.0 on the Richter scale.

10-7, it's really ironic

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — KDP 7809 went 10-7 this weekend.

In plain talk that means Citizens Band operator Evelyn White's radio went out of service.

"To take it one step further, it means that someone stole the radio from the car of the person who helps run the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) office in Beaumont."

"It's really ironic," said Mrs. White, adding that people are always calling her office to report their radio stolen.

Rival school factions prevent receivership

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Members of two rival Benavides school boards have agreed to terms of a court order to prevent the school district from going into receivership. District Court Judge Darrell Hester said today.

Hester had given the two boards until 11 a.m. today to agree to terms of his order or he would place the South Texas school district into receivership at a cost of $35,000.

The rival factions, each claiming to be the legitimate school board, surfaced after former District Court Judge O.P. Carrillo began replacing school board members last year in a power struggle between the Carrillo and Parr factions in Deval County.

Under provisions of the order, the two groups of school trustees appointed

Hilda Parr and Morris Ashby, heads of the two rival boards, to sign checks on the school district.

Alternates named to sign checks if the others are not present were Ruben Chapa for Mrs. Parr and Celso Oliveira for Chapa. E.C. Olvera is to act as school superintendent and will be required to countersign each check.

The Bank of South Texas at Alice is to honor checks written by the designated persons or their alternates, Hester said.

MISHAPS

American Motor Inn: Henry Wiley, 404 Ryan, and canopy in front of the building, 11:07 p.m. Sunday.

The committee agreed not to meet unless it gave Hester notice five days in advance with an agenda approved by him.

Brass cornet has vanished

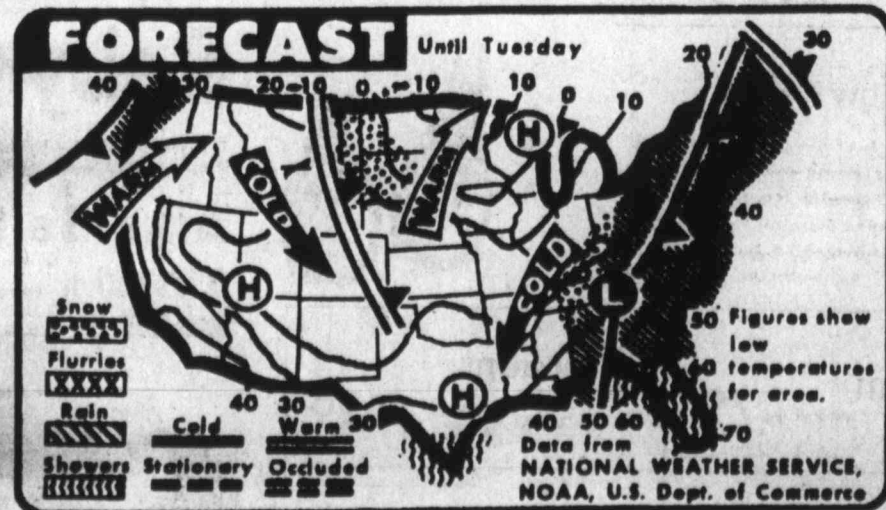

Another band instrument was reported stolen Sunday afternoon. A flute was reported missing on Friday.

A brass cornet and case valued at $265 was taken from a car at 2608 Rebecca. Mrs. Wayne Kuykendall reported the theft of the instrument which belongs to her child.

Ginzel seeks office again

Ginzel was appointed to the office Jan. 1, 1971, and re-elected the following year. Ginzel is a native of Burleson County.

WEATHER FORECAST — Rain is forecast today for the East. Snow is expected inland from Kentucky to the lower Great Lakes. Snow is also expected for part of the northern Plains. The rest of the nation is expected to be sunny and warmer. Cold weather is forecast for the western Plains and the upper Mississippi Valley.

SOLAR SITE SHUFFLE

Political poker pot worth $48 million

By The Associated Press

A political poker hand is being dealt in more than a dozen states. The pot: the National Solar Energy Research Institute and its $48 million budget and 1,500 jobs.

A site for the institute, created under the Solar Energy Research Act of 1974, will be chosen this year by the Federal Energy Research and Development Administration, ERDA.

Although ERDA has yet to release guidelines for the location competition already is keen because of the high stakes.

Major contenders include Arizona, California, Colorado, Florida, New Mexico, New York, Texas and a coalition of the six New England states.

"It's like getting into a poker game with 27 other guy," says Robert Handy, director of the Arizona Solar Research commission. "You have to play with four or five decks, and hidden within those decks, you have wild cards called 'political influence.'"

"You don't know what you have until the cards are laid down."

Most interested states have set up organizations to work on location proposals and they are awaiting the ERDA guidelines, due this month.

Then the game will be on. "The whole process is going to be swept up in presidential and congressional election-year politics," Handy says.

"We are in deadly competition with other states," says William E. Seymour, head of the science and technology division of the New York State Commerce Department. "We would be naive to assume that the political forces will not have an impact."

Seymour says New York Gov. Hugh Carey will ask the state's congressional delegation to lobby for the institute.

Officials in two other states say they are wary of politics entering the selection process, including California's Ted Edlin.

But Edlin, acting director of research and development for the California Energy Commission, says the state will lobby if necessary. "If it seems appropriate, we're prepared to do it," he says.

"We think our chances are very good if the politics are kept to a minimum," says Hank Rase, who is working on location proposals for Colorado's bid.

Besides politics, officials in Florida and the southwestern and western states say they think a factor will be the sunshine, of which they boast plenty.

"The institute must be in what I call the correct psychological environment," meaning a sunny state, says Arizona's Handy. "Putting it in a cloudy location would be criminal."

Colorado's Rase says that among other factors, his state has "the solar resource itself." Officials in California, New Mexico, Texas and Florida also are emphasizing their abundance of sunshine.

Other contenders can't do that, so they emphasize other areas.

"We have the academic, technical and industrial resources to make the (institute) a success," says Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis on behalf of the New England Regional Commission. "No other part of the country needs alternatives to fossil fuels more acutely than New England."

New England's technology impressed one federal official enough to set off a political exchange with the governor of Arizona.

Gunfire greets jailbreakers as they dash across border

FORT STOCKTON, Tex. (AP) — The plot: Four desperadoes break out of a Texas jail, heavily arm themselves and head south for the border. They make it through the wilds of the Big Bend National Park with the posse hot on their trail.

As they cross the Rio Grande into Mexico, they turn and snub their noses at the posse on the other side.

Right? Wrong. At their backs they find the Mexican police, who yell something in Spanish like "surrender" and then the shooting starts. The desperadoes quickly surrender.

Such was the case when four men broke out of the Pecos County Jail in far West Texas Friday night.

They were captured by a combined force of Mexican police and Texas sheriff deputies Saturday evening in a remote area of the Rio Grande about 150 miles south Fort Stockton.

The escapees surrendered about 100 yards inside Mexico, across the Rio Grande from Big Bend National Park.

They were identified as Alvaro Hernandez, 23; Steven King, 27; Danny Grasham, 19; and Frank Cicario, 22. Hernandez and King were in jail on murder charges, Grasham was jailed for car theft and Cicario was in on a drug charge.

Overpowering a jailer and taking a submachine gun, a rifle, a shotgun and a pistol, the men drove into the remote Big Bend park in the jailer's car.

Brewster County Deputy Sheriff Jack Harwell said the four gave up after a brief exchange of gunfire.

He was accompanied in the chase by three deputies from Presidio County, four from Pecos County and Mexican police from Ojinaga. A U.S. Border Patrol airplane helped locate the prisoners.

Ojinaga is across the border from Presidio. The national park lies within Brewster County.

"I guess there was just too much fire power for them," Harwell said.

"We spread out and the Mexican officers called out to Hernandez and asked him to surrender, but I couldn't hear what he answered because there was too much shooting going on."

Texas officers also returned the gunfire, Harwell said.

There was no international problem, the deputy said, and the Mexican police immediately turned the men over to Texas authorities.

"We thanked them and that was it," Harwell said. "It was just good cooperation. We would do the same for them."

Pecos County Sheriff Pete Ten Eyck said Sunday the men were returned to jail Saturday night and had caused no further trouble.

roof and walls have been completely ripped off.

$1 MILLION TORNADO 'It's lucky the bingo game wasn't going on'

DONALDSONVILLE, La. (AP) — Tornado damage in this town of 7,400 beside the Mississippi River could reach $1 million, says Mayor Lawrence Regira.

The twister touched down minutes before a tornado watch expired Sunday evening, destroying a number of trailer homes and heavily damaging a school and the American Legion hall. Only minor injuries were reported.

"It's lucky the bingo game wasn't going on or it would have been a disaster," said Regira.

The traditional Sunday night bingo game was to have taken place in the Legion hall Sunday night. There were people in the kitchen preparing supper for the players, but they all made it out safely.

"There was a tremendous noise," said Red Naquin, who was in the hall when the twister struck. "Then the roof just caved in."

Sheriff Harold Tridico said seven or eight homes suffered extensive damage and several house trailers were demolished. He said at least 10 trailers were heavily damaged at Turner and Landry Mobile Home Co. on Louisiana 1 south of town.

"A couple of trailers were ripped right open," said Dr. Percy LeBlanc, president of the Ascension Parish School Board. "One man was thrown under a building, which collapsed on him."

The man, Nelson Dugas, was treated at a hospital for cuts and bruises. Three others suffered minor injuries, police said.

"I went over to the hospital to check on the injured and saw the mayor, who told me that there was perhaps half a million dollars worth of damage," LeBlanc added.

After an on-site inspection, the mayor raised his damage estimate to $1 million. Police said a number of house trailers and the Lory Middle School were damaged.

"The gym has been completely destroyed," said M.B. Gautreau, superintendent of Ascension Parish schools. "I've just been over to take a look at it and the Grand opening due shortly

A cutline under a picture taken in the new lobby of the Security State Bank, appearing in the Progress section of Sunday's edition of The Herald, implied that the bank had already occupied the enlarged quarters.

In reality, contractors are busy preparing the additions to the facility. Plans for the grand opening will be announced by bank officials shortly.

Flute missing at Goliad JH

The missing flute, erroneously listed in the Big Spring Herald as missing from Big Spring High School band hall, is still missing.

Actually JoAnna Deanda's flute vanished Friday from Goliad Junior High band hall. It was still missing this morning.

It had been left in its proper slot by the young flutist, who found it gone Friday afternoon when she was going to take it home to practice.

For Cap Rock, 1975 was year of growth

STANTON — Gross operating revenue of Cap Rock Electric Co-op Inc., for the calendar year 1975 increased to $3,567,908 from $3,248,779 the preceding year.

Total kilowatt hours purchased slumped from 194,442,250 to 173,814,900, attributed mainly to the fact that 1975 was a wet year in Martin County and the demand for power to operate irrigation pumps decreased.

A total of 123 miles of power lines were built, compared to 136 in 1974. Total lines energized last year were 3,248, compared to 3,125 for 1974.

Residential consumption of kilowatt hours averaged out to 593 monthly, compared to 569 for the preceding year. Commercial consumption was down slightly, from 3,009 to 2,974 monthly.

Cap Rock had a total of 9,342 meters connected during 1975, up from 8,864 in use in 1974.

The physical properties of Cap Rock increased in values from $1,399,037 in 1974 to $2,476,251 last year, bringing the total worth from $13,508,900 to $15,985,151 at the end of last year.

Capital credit refunds amounted to $96,321 last year, whereas they amounted to $63,336 at the end of 1974. A total of $2,430,466 in capital refunds has now been made by the firm since it first became a business institution.

Principal payments made last year aggregated $258,877, up from $233,688. Interest payments made amounted to $172,137, compared to $124,265 the preceding year.

Taxes also increased for Cap Rock, from $49,785 to $56,729. The number of employees grew by one to an even half hundred.

Band alumni set to meet

Big Spring High School band members will hold an alumni meeting at 10 a.m. Saturday in the high school cafeteria.

When it was learned how many ex-students were coming home for Friday and Saturday night performances of CR '76, the meeting was set up by band alumni.

would have killed us confidence-wise." Sutton concluded "A&M deserves to be on the top of the league. They play excellent basketball."

And if tonight's match against Baylor in Heart O' Texas Coliseum isn't exciting enough for the Razorbacks, they can plan an upset party for SWC leader Texas Tech Wednesday night in Barnhill Fieldhouse where the Texas Aggies took the gas.

They it's off to Dallas for a Saturday night game with high-scoring Southern Methodist.

The point? Nobody is going to have it easy in what will be the wildest of all SWC races.

As Houston Coach Guy Lewis, participating in his first conference title race, pointed out: "People keep talking about us not winning on the road...if they only knew how hard it was to win at home."

Arkansas finally subdued the Aggies 93-91 in double overtime Saturday night to drop Coach Shelby Metcalf's crew to 4-1. Texas Tech, the preseason favorite, outlasted SMU 72-69 to take over first place by percentage points on a 6-1 ledger.

Texas A&M figured it got the short end of the time keeper's judgment at John Barnhill Fieldhouse Saturday night.

"I'm just sick...we got (bleep) twice," raged Metcalf. "We worked so hard. I'm not upset at the officiating—just the timekeeper."

Time was kept by stopwatch throughout the thriller because the Arkansas clock was out. Metcalf contended that Arkansas scored baskets after time had expired in both the first and second overtimes.

Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton said "I think there was enough time for us to score (in the second overtime). If it were Shelby, and I know he's upset, I would question the end of the first overtime."

"It's a tragic thing and unfortunate thing to happen in any game. But it happened to us in Austin last Tuesday night."

"Everyone in the league was rooting for us," said Sutton. "Now everyone has lost one, and everyone still has a chance. It was a must game for us. If we'd lost, it

Texas Tech challenges Arkansas Wednesday night while Baylor is at SMU, Rice is at Texas A&M and TCU is at Texas.

SWC executive secretary Cliff Speegle said "The conference is as balanced as it has been in the last nine years. And nobody is really out of it because of the tournament at the end of the year. There's really a lot of enthusiasm."

SMU Coach Sonny Allen was looking forward to the round robin, already just about ruling out his team for the regular season title.

"We're probably out of the running for the top spot," said Allen. "I've been very disappointed in our guard play. I thought we could win this game."

But as Lewis pointed out, you've got to be thankful in the SWC this year just to win your games at home.

BLASTING TO VICTORY — Ben Crenshaw, 24, of Austin, Tex., blasts from the trap on 17 at Pebble Beach Sunday. The ball swept past the pin, but Crenshaw one-putted to save par three and subsequently win the 35th annual Crosby National Pro-Am at Pebble Beach. He scored a seven under par 281 for the four rounds.

Terps want Tar Heels at home

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Lefty Driesell sounded eager for a return match with North Carolina's Tar Heels.

North Carolina, down by 10 points at the half, took a five-point lead in the overtime before the Terps pulled to within two. Then, with the seconds ticking away, Maryland's John Lucas stole the ball but couldn't get off a shot before the final buzzer.

Elsewhere, 11th-ranked North Carolina State turned back Duke 106-101; No. 12 Alabama whipped Mississippi State 92-81; Oregon upset No. 13 Oregon State 83-68; No. 14 Wake Forest was upset by Illinois State 81-79; Memphis State shocked No. 16 Cincinnati 85-79; No. 17 Michigan outlasted Purdue 84-80; 18th-ranked Missouri topped Iowa State 84-68; 19th-ranked West Texas downed Bradley 66-56, and 20th-rated Virginia Tech ripped Marshall 108-82.

HC hits the road vs. South Plains

From now until the end of the season the Howard College Hawks will be caught up in the numbers' game. At last year's regional tournament the schools decided on a new plan for qualifying in the regional tournament. The new format calls for the top four teams from each conference to make it into the play-offs. If there is a tie for the fourth spot there will be a deciding game played on a neutral floor (unless one team won both of their meetings during the season then it would get the nod).

There are seven teams with a good shot at the play-offs. Amarillo, Western Texas and NMMI are 6-2, Frank Phillips and South Plains are 5-3 and Midland and Howard are 4-4.

Jack falls way back Crenshaw bags Crosby

By BOB GREEN AP Golf Writer PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — There was Ben Crenshaw, once again happily restored to the bright promise of his amateur years, now firmly implanted on one of history's youngest comebacks.

There was his bride, Polly, anxiously cautioning Ben not to mention her age (18) "because I won't be able to get a celebration drink."

And there was Jack Nicklaus, shrugging philosophically and then, almost in a comedy act, patting his pockets in a vain and futile search for a passport.

Those three pictures emerged Sunday from the confused, confusing and dramatic close to Bing's 35th Clambake, the $185,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am Golf Tournament.

"I don't have it happen very often, but I had it happen to me today," Nicklaus said after an all-but-incredible last round 82 — one of the highest rounds of his competitive career.

"It happened," he said before boarding a helicopter to San Francisco to make connections with a jet for a business trip to Tokyo. That's when he started his pocket-patting routine. A look of almost comic dismay crossed his face.

"I just remembered," he said. "I don't have a passport. That tops it." It was a less-than-perfect close to a less-than-perfect day for Nicklaus, who was beset by a series of golfing misfortunes, misadventures and misjudgments normally visited only upon a weekend hacker.

He started the bright, sunny day in first place. He was playing Pebble Beach, one of his favorite courses. He appeared in commanding position to win his fourth Crosby title.

He had a double bogey and two triple bogeys. He hit his ball into pine forests. He hit it over the craggy cliffs of the Monterey Peninsula. He plugged it under the lips of the yawning bunkers. He got it in the water of what Pebble Beach calls a lateral hazard and most people call the Pacific Ocean. He three-putted.

It was a horror show. From a one-shot lead starting the day, he went to a 291 total, three over par and

No more Mr. bad guy in Pro Bowl

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Jack Lambert is smiling, not scowling. Cliff Harris isn't talking about intimidating anyone. In fact, all 80 of professional football's brightest stars approach tonight's Pro Bowl kickoff in an amiable frame of mind.

"We're here to have a good time — enjoy ourselves. It's party time," said Jack Youngblood, defensive end of the Los Angeles Rams.

10 behind Crenshaw. It was one of the greatest, most unexplainable collapses of his career.

Journeyman Mike Morley, occasionally the leader early in the final round, held on to take second at 283 after a final 73. Dave Hill and rookie George Burns shared third at 284, Hill with a closing 72, Burns with 69. British Open champion Tom Watson, 71, and Australian David Graham, 75, were next at 286.

"Of course you want to win. It's a matter of pride," said L.C. Greenwood of the Steelers. "I'll get up for the game Monday. Meanwhile, I'm enjoying myself."

Workouts — especially at the AFC camp — were lighthearted and punctuated by impromptu wrestling matches between giggling giants.

NCAA slaps Mich. State with stiff penalty

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association has slapped Michigan State University with one of the stiffest football probationations in history.

The NCAA also ordered Michigan State to "sever all relations between two representatives of its athletic interests and its intercollegiate athletic program."

The NCAA's probe began last April when an unidentified school filed a complaint about Michigan State.

allowed only 20 new football scholarships next year instead of the allowable 30, and only 25 the following two years.

The complaint concerned a reported 70 violations of the university made in recruiting high school athletes, particularly in Ohio.

At the time, Coach Denny Stolz was quoted as saying, "We have done nothing that would constitute Michigan State being put on probation." He called the allegations "typical of what happens when a young program becomes successful."

At the time, Coach Denny Stolz was quoted as saying, "We have done nothing that would constitute Michigan State being put on probation." He called the allegations "typical of what happens when a young program becomes successful."

The committee on infractions believes the penalties imposed are meaningful in that they recognize the seriousness of the violations in this case, and are directed toward the institution as well as the staff members involved."

Forsan beats Coahoma in consolation

GRADY — LaVonne Brumley hit for 10 points Saturday to lead Forsan to a win over Coahoma in the consolation finals of the Grady's Jr. High Tournament. Forsan's guards, Valerie Adams, Sandy Sewell and Lana Grantham played well holding the Bulldogs to 22 points.

Rhonda Griffin and Karen Woolverton each hit for eight points for Coahoma.

Thinking of buying home? tips offered

Ever ask yourself what you should look for when you are thinking of buying a home.

Dr. Arthur L. Wright, associate research economist with Texas Real Estate Research Center at Texas A&M University, has come up with a list which he says will influence values now and later. The more times the buyer can say "yes" to the questions on the checklist, the more likely he is to be satisfied with his purchase.

Dr. Wright asks:

- Do zoning laws or deed restrictions protect the residential character of the neighborhood?
- Are the educational backgrounds, ages and incomes of neighbors comparable?
- Is the house within walking or easy riding distance to schools, shopping, work and athletic and entertainment facilities?
- Are street, lot patterns and site plans arranged for appearance, convenience and safety?
- Is neighborhood landscaping pleasing?
- Are city services available?
- Does the lot provide adequate privacy?
- Is the lot graded so water drains away from the house?
- Is the view from the house pleasant and likely to remain unchanged?
- Are nearby homes in the same general price range?
- Is the kitchen handy to outdoors, work areas and a bathroom?
- Is the kitchen layout functional?
- Is the laundry area handy to the kitchen?
- Is the living room separated visually from the front door?

—Is there an entry or foyer at the guest entrance?

—Can children enter from the outside through the work zone?

—Is there a half-bath or lavatory near the family or play areas, and is it easily accessible from the outside?

—Are children's bedrooms separated from the living zone by change of floor level, other rooms or sound insulation?

—Is closet space adequate?

—Are bedroom windows suitable for emergency exits?

—Can the family be seated in the living area without crowding?

—Is there space for children to play indoors?

—Will the design of the house be attractive over a period of years?

—Is the traffic pattern throughout the house convenient to everyday living?

—Are insulation and weather stripping adequate?

—Is there a vapor barrier in walls to help prevent paint from peeling or blistering?

—Are heating, air conditioning and hot water systems adequate?

"This list is not all-inclusive," Dr. Wright concedes. "However, it does indicate many of the items that should be considered when building or buying a house."

Controversy continues over women cubmasters

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Boy Scouts of America is nearing a decision on whether to change a long-standing policy prohibiting women from serving as cubmasters, according to the group's national president.

Arch Monson, volunteer leader of scouting's national council, said in a telephone interview Friday that the issue was under study by a special subcommittee of the organization's National Cubbing Committee.

The Associated Press reported erroneously on Friday that Monson had declared there was no need to review the policy of allowing only men to serve as cubmasters.

stand he took at a Baltimore news conference on Thursday that no consideration was being given to allowing women to serve as scoutmasters. Boys generally remain in the Cub Scouts until their 12th birthday, then switch to the Boy Scouts, he said.

"... as boys grow up, it is imperative to have a male image in the leadership position," Monson said at the news conference. "Advice from sociologists and child psychologists has convinced us that leadership should be male and we believe that."

The issue has been a heated one in Baltimore since last April, when Cub Pack 471 in suburban Glen Burnie, Md., lost its charter after it was learned that a woman, Marjorie Ripple, was cubmaster. Mrs. Ripple, whose 10-year-old son belonged to the pack, said the group had been unable to find a male leader.

National officials refused to accept Mrs. Ripple as cubmaster, saying she could be a den mother but not a pack leader.

In June, the Baltimore area scouting council sent a resolution to the national organization, calling for a bylaw change to allow for women cubmasters

Patient should practice what doc doesn't

DEAR ABBY: I wanted to start the New Year right, so I went to my doctor for a complete physical checkup. He told me I had to lose 30 pounds and I had to quit smoking.

Well, I wish you could have seen this doctor. His stomach was hanging over his belt. If he'd been a woman you would have sworn he was using had about eight cigarette butts in it—all less than a quarter of an inch long.

Abby, this doctor is supposed to be the best. Can you tell me how a patient is supposed to have confidence in a doctor who can't do what he orders his patients to do?

DEAR WONDERING: Just because he lacks the willpower to lose weight and quit smoking does not mean he's a poor physician. It only means he's afflicted with the same weaknesses that some of his patients are.

DEAR ABBY: I work 10 hours a day. I teach school in a poverty area and teach English to Vietnamese people after school.

When I get home to my large, four-bedroom house, I am tired, but I must resume my "housewife" role.

Since my husband and I have no children, it is assumed by our friends that I have nothing to do.

My husband sometimes reluctantly "helps" me with the housework. Since I work as hard as he does, why doesn't he come home and automatically start the housework so I can "help" him?

We've talked about this, but he doesn't seem to understand. Do you?

Thanks for listening.

DEAR BUSHED: If your husband doesn't understand, it's because he doesn't want to. He's still playing with yesterday's rules. Educate him.
