

Lockheed execs 'abandon ship'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lockheed Aircraft Corp., jarred by a payoff scandal involving foreign officials, has undergone a major corporate shakeup that puts international operations under control of the home office and includes retirement of three senior executives.

Among the retirements announced Wednesday was that of John W. Clutter, 64, a Lockheed employe for 37 years who headed the giant aerospace firm's Far Eastern operations while Japanese agents were paid millions of dollars to promote aircraft sales.

A Lockheed spokesman refused to say if Clutter's retirement — and the two others — were connected with disclosures that the troubled firm had paid officials of foreign governments to ensure sales of its aircraft.

As Lockheed announced the internal reordering, there were significant developments both in Washington and Tokyo.

—Senate investigators prepared to hear today from a series of mystery witnesses as efforts continued toward unraveling Lockheed's tangled overseas dealings.

—Japanese government leaders were reported ready to consider as "reasonable" the offer of the head of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission to make available the names of Japanese officials alleged to have accepted bribes from Lockheed.

In addition, a Tokyo-based trading firm tarnished by the scandal announced a top-level shakeup and said it would do no new business with Lockheed.

Hiro Hiyama, board chairman of Marubeni Corp., said he was resigning to "take responsibility" for public criticism aimed at the firm but said it did not mean Marubeni was involved in any payoffs. The firm had been Lockheed's sole agent in Japan.

In Los Angeles, Lockheed directors also accepted retirement of two other senior executives, vice presidents Archie Folden, 64, and Ralph Osborn, 61.

Folden, with Lockheed for 35 years, had been executive vice president of Lockheed-California Co., which builds the L1011 TriStar jetliner. Osborn, a 39-year employe, headed four divisions, including Lockheed Electronics, Aircraft Service, Shipbuilding and Construction and the Lockheed Air Terminal.

Two former top executives, Board Chairman Daniel J. Haughton, 64, and A. Carl Kitchian, 61, vice chairman and chief operating officer, resigned Feb. 13 after the Senate subcommittee was told of the overseas payoffs.

In Canada, Defense Minister James Richardson told Parliament Wednesday the payoff scandal has made it increasingly difficult for Lockheed to arrange financing. Canada has agreed to buy 18 Orion aircraft from Lockheed for an estimated $1 billion, but details are still being worked out.

And in Italy, state Atty. Ilario Martella said he was awaiting permission from Washington to visit the United States to pursue his country's investigation of the scandal.

Bayh bids brawl 'bye bye'

Beseeches backers

By The Associated Press

Indiana Sen. Birch Bayh suspended his active campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination today, while four other Democrats began their drive toward Florida's March 9 primary election.

Bayh told a New York news conference he had made his decision because after his seventh-place finish in Tuesday's Massachusetts primary election, "our campaign treasury is depleted."

But he said he would "continue to speak out on the issues that concern the American people."

He did not throw his support to another candidate. He said he was urging his backers to take "an active role" in the Democratic campaign.

Bayh had met for more than five hours Wednesday with campaign aides in Washington, then flew to New York for another meeting with supporters there. He planned to return to Washington after the news conference to spend the day in his office.

Ronald Reagan, President Ford's challenger for the Republican nomination, was headed for Florida today to step up his own campaign.

Florida's primary is the first major test in the South for Alabama Gov. George Wallace and ex-Governor Jimmy Carter. Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, winner of the Massachusetts election, and Gov. Milton Shapp of Pennsylvania are running there, too.

The ballot lists a dozen Democrats, but only the four have actively campaigned in the state where Wallace won overwhelmingly four years ago with 41.6 per cent of the vote.

In Miami — a city with a huge Cuban refugee population — Wallace told a political club gathering that Fidel Castro's government "will never be recognized by us as long as I'm president of the United States."

Shapp spent the day in Miami on private business, then headed for Tampa, where he told two civic clubs, "I won't say I'm delighted in getting 3 1/2 per cent of the vote in Massachusetts. But I think picking up a couple of delegates for a six-week campaign is not too bad."

Shapp won one delegate in Massachusetts. Robert Strauss, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said in Washington he now feels the party's presidential candidate may be picked through negotiation at the national convention. He said he doubts Bayh will throw his support to Arizona Rep. Morris Udall.

Udall finished second to Jackson in Massachusetts and has characterized himself as the leading candidate of the party's "progressive" wing. There were these other developments Wednesday: —Jackson boosted his campaign finance chest with Federal Election Commission certification for another $495,071 in federal matching funds. A total of $1.14 million was approved for nine presidential candidates. Wednesday's allocations pushed Jackson over the $1 million mark, putting him in the company of Wallace, Reagan and Ford.

—Precinct caucuses in Washington state ended in intraparty disputes over who got the most delegates. Party leaders said resolution may be days away.

—In Washington, Ford campaign aides said the President has no plans to visit Florida before Tuesday's election. He made two trips to the state in February, and has predicted victory in the primary.

Among Democrats, Jackson has rejected the notion that the Wallace-Carter race is the focal point for Florida's primary. At several campaign stops in the state Wednesday, he declared, "It's a three-way horse race."

Jackson wouldn't say who would get the biggest share of Florida's 81 Democratic national convention delegates, but he told reporters in Tampa, "I am the only candidate to beat George Wallace. Gov. Carter has met him three times and has defeated three times."

Jackson apparently referred to the Massachusetts election and party caucuses in Mississippi and South Carolina.

Carter, who visited five Florida cities Wednesday, conceded he underestimated Jackson in Massachusetts. Carter ran fourth there.

"We concentrated on Iowa, New Hampshire and Florida among the early states," he told about 1,500 persons at a Green Cove Springs fish fry. "I won in Iowa and New Hampshire, and I will have no excuses for Florida."

Joplin won't talk to grand jury

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A Tarrant County prosecutor says legal problems could keep 20-year-old Gregg Joplin from ever testifying before a grand jury which is probing the deaths of four members of his family and a longtime friend.

Assistant Dist. Atty. Larry Allison said Wednesday that Joplin could refuse to testify before the grand jury.

The grand jury "invited" Joplin to appear Wednesday, but the lone survivor of the Wayne Joplin family of suburban Blue Mound did not appear.

"He simply failed to show up," a grand jury spokesman said Wednesday afternoon. "We don't know where he is."

Joplin was present in the grand jury waiting room during the morning, but did not take the stand. He left before the afternoon session and did not return. A subpoena later was served on Joplin requesting his presence before the grand jury.

Allison said one of the legal problems that could keep Joplin from testifying is that his attorney, George Thompson, is in Eastland trying a murder case. Thompson might not allow Joplin to appear before the investigating body without the lawyer present.

And, Allison added, Joplin "may decide not to testify at all. He's got that right, and he's done it once already."

Several other persons appeared before the grand jury Wednesday, but Allison said Joplin's testimony is needed to fill in several gaps in the investigation since Joplin is the lone survivor of what authorities have called "a senseless massacre."

Joplin told police the night of the shootings, Feb. 23, he returned home from visiting his aunt and found his mother lying dead just inside the front door. He said he heard a movement in the kitchen, yelled for the intruder to stop and fired a .22-caliber rifle, killing Terry Trice, 17, a neighbor and longtime friend.

Joplin's father and two brothers also were found dead in the house. All had been shot in the head.

Spanish riots leave 3 dead

VITORIA, Spain (AP) — The government sent extra police into Vitoria today in the wake of bloody police-worker rioting, but a spokesman denied reports that unarmed soldiers were in the Basque capital's streets.

A spokesman said reports of army jeeps and trucks entering the city could have been caused by confusion in the city. He said all troops in the Vitoria area were in their barracks and that police reinforcements were sent from Valladolid and Zaragoza.

The Bilbao newspaper Gaceta del Norte had reported that unarmed soldiers rolled into the city a few hours after police opened fire on demonstrators, killing three. An estimated 30 other persons were reported wounded and more than 100 received medical treatment.

The city was tense, but no new clashes were reported following Wednesday's riots, the worst violence yet to confront the new Spanish regime.

Gaceta del Norte, meanwhile, reported a third death victim from the riot. It said Francisco Aznar, 17, a student, died in a hospital early today.

Meanwhile, an estimated 20,000 metal workers remained on strike, prompting fresh fears of violence in the city.

Blockade may become something serious

By The Associated Press

Prime Minister John Vorster of South Africa said today Mozambique's "state of war" border blockade of Rhodesia could cause the situation to escalate into something "much more serious."

He told his parliament in Cape Town that apart from "the danger inherent in the situation itself," the presence of Cuban troops and Soviet arms in Africa "is an aggravating factor, especially in view of the Russian policy and tactics to exploit such situations to their own advantage and to achieve their well-known aim of world domination."

Cuban troops helped the Soviet-backed faction win the civil war in Angola.

Tanzanian and Zambian government and ruling party newspapers today hailed Mozambique President Samora Machel's pronouncement of a "state of war" with Rhodesia as a milestone in the struggle of black nationalists against white rule in southern Africa.

Machel on Wednesday declared the border between the two countries closed and said Rhodesian assets in Mozambique, consisting mostly of railroad equipment, would be seized.

Vorster said border blockades "do not constitute the answer to political differences" between nations and have the potential of accentuating points of difference.

"So far, South Africa has not been directly affected by these events and it is still too early to determine the precise effect of the action taken," he said. Mozambique borders both on Rhodesia and on South Africa, and provides Rhodesia's major access to the sea.

"But the situation is and remains one which can have distressing consequences and every further development will have to be carefully evaluated and every step to protect the interests of South Africa and its people will have to be taken with calm deliberation," Vorster said.

In Dar es Salaam, Uhuru, the official newspaper of Tanzania's ruling Tanu party, said today that "the announcement of a state of war in Mozambique means that Tanzania is also at war."

"The time for talks is over... The liberation struggle in Zimbabwe (Rhodesia) has now reached a state of no return," Uhuru said.

The Tanzanian government's newspaper, the Daily News, appealed for "moral and material support" for Mozambique and guerrilla forces from "friends of Africa all over the world."

The two national daily newspapers of Zambia, the Zambia Daily Mail and the Times of Zambia predicted an intensification of guerrilla warfare against Rhodesia.

There has been limited official reaction from the Smith government, but in interviews Rhodesians said Machel's speech was a sign of weakness and predicted the border closing would hurt Mozambique more than Rhodesia.

Search pushed at Lake Spence for Odessa teen

ROBERT LEE — Diving and dragging operations continued today in the deep water and brushy bottom of Lake Spence. The divers are searching for the body of an 18-year-old Odessa youth believed drowned in a boating accident Sunday on Lake Spence.

Mrs. Yvonne Devoll, who works at the Coke County sheriff's office, said today that "Divers from Odessa and San Angelo were still trying this morning. The water is deep and there are a lot of trees on the bottom of the lake making it very difficult."

The mother had a federal Medicaid card issued in Colorado which the hospital refused to accept.

The Mexican-American child, hemorrhaging from lacerations and tears she suffered in the assault, was transferred to Medical Arts Clinic-Hospital, about three blocks away from the facility to which she was first taken, where doctors listed her in serious condition.

Relatives of the child found her in a pigpen after they missed her from a party they were having at a farm house about four miles from Littlefield.

Trial of accused killer slated to be held by May

Witmer Gene Ballard, who has been granted a retrial on the murder sentence involving the death of Steve Currie in Glasscock County, will probably be tried for murder again by May.

District Attorney Robert Moore III plans to set up a hearing in Alpine at the court where Ballard was first tried, and ask that the retrial be moved to some other cities.

Among the possibilities are El Paso, Del Rio and San Angelo, according to Moore. He also said that he expects the new trial by May.

Ballard's original trial cost Glasscock County so much money that it caused a raise in the tax rate. Currie was killed on Dec. 3, 1970. The first trial in the case was moved to Alpine on a change of venue.

An armed robbery charge against Ballard was never tried, since the murder case took precedence. Attorneys for Ballard from the Bobby Bearden firm in Midland are expected to file a writ of habeas corpus in federal court to nullify this old charge due to lack of a speedy trial.

Gibson was headed in the direction of Monahans when arrested by Deputy Sheriff Ben Keel. Gibson did not offer resistance.

Wholesale prices took sharp drop last month

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices fell five-tenths of a per cent in February, the sharpest drop in nearly a year, as lower farm prices offset increases for industrial goods, the government said today.

February marked the fourth month in a row that wholesale prices did not increase and signaled lower prices ahead for consumers. Changes in wholesale prices usually foreshadow retail price trends.

The Labor Department said a 2.3 per cent drop in farm and food prices contributed heavily to the favorable price report. Industrial goods increased three-tenths of a per cent, but the rise was less than in recent months.

The continued easing of inflation was welcome news for the Ford administration which has cited the easing of wholesale and consumer prices as proof that its economic policies are working.

$179.40 to buy at wholesale what would have cost $100 in 1967.

The last time wholesale prices rose was in October when they increased 1.8 per cent. They were unchanged in November, declined four-tenths of a per cent in December and were unchanged again in January.

February's drop was the sharpest since a similar decline last March. The last time prices failed to increase in any four-month period was between December, 1974, and March, 1975.

Trial of accused killer slated to be held by May

Witmer Gene Ballard, who has been granted a retrial on the murder sentence involving the death of Steve Currie in Glasscock County, will probably be tried for murder again by May.

District Attorney Robert Moore III plans to set up a hearing in Alpine at the court where Ballard was first tried, and ask that the retrial be moved to some other cities.

Among the possibilities are El Paso, Del Rio and San Angelo, according to Moore. He also said that he expects the new trial by May.

Ballard's original trial cost Glasscock County so much money that it caused a raise in the tax rate. Currie was killed on Dec. 3, 1970. The first trial in the case was moved to Alpine on a change of venue.

An armed robbery charge against Ballard was never tried, since the murder case took precedence. Attorneys for Ballard from the Bobby Bearden firm in Midland are expected to file a writ of habeas corpus in federal court to nullify this old charge due to lack of a speedy trial.

Sen. Mike Mansfield reveals retirement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield announced today he will not seek re-election this year after 23 years in the Senate.

The Montana Democrat said in a statement that 34 years in public office, including service in the House, "is not a long time. But it is time enough. I will not be a candidate for reelection in the 95th (Congress)."

"My conclusion has been reached in this instance with my wife Maureen Hayes Mansfield, who has been with me through all these years and whose sensitive counsel and deep understanding have been so much a part of whatever may be the sum of my contribution to Montana and the nation," Mansfield said.

perspective of world order and uncertain hope for international peace," Mansfield said.

Mansfield began serving in the Senate in 1953 and was chosen its Democratic leader eight years later. His career on Capitol Hill began in 1943 when he won a House seat in the 78th Congress.

In 1949 Mansfield was offered and refused a State Department appointment by President Harry S. Truman, who was impressed with Mansfield's scholarly speeches and knowledge of world affairs.

House panel defeats request

Army loses first land bout

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has lost the first congressional skirmish in its battle to acquire nearly 60,000 additional acres of Central Texas land for Ft. Hood, already one of its largest installations.

The setback came Wednesday when the House Armed Services subcommittee on military installations and facilities tentatively defeated the Army's request to expand the post. The subcommittee was scheduled to meet today for a final vote.

Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., in whose district Ft. Hood is located, said the subcommittee vote to delete the Ft. Hood authorization was unanimous. He added: "They can put back anything they take out, but it is unlikely."

The subcommittee's action is subject to the approval of the full committee, the House and the Senate.

The subcommittee voted in closed session to delete from a military spending authorization bill any permission to acquire the 59,300 acres sought for additional Ft. Hood maneuver and training area, Poage said.

Poage said he was informed of the action by Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., the subcommittee chairman. Ichord was not available for comment.

Plans to expand the post have been opposed by ranchers whose land in Coryell County to the northwest of Ft. Hood the Army would like to buy.

Dawson Cooper, a Gatesville, Tex., banker who is chairman of the Our Land, Our Lives Committee opposing the Army's plans, said Wednesday after the tentative vote, "We have won the battle but not the war."

Cooper said his committee would continue to prepare its testimony for a Senate subcommittee hearing in Gatesville on Saturday. That hearing, chaired by Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., will influence the Senate's action on the Army expansion request.

Poage said the expansion issue "is dead as far as the present is concerned."

"I hope the Army won't continue to ask for the land, but they may. The subcommittee made the decision. They (the Army) don't need it, and I'm not going to help them get it."

Rep. Alan Steelman, R-Tex., a Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, said the deletion of the Army's request Wednesday "is almost certain death for the expansion plan this year. To those of us who feel the Army has not made a good case, this is a major breakthrough."

The Army has claimed, in congressional testimony, that the post is over-utilized and lacks adequate training and maneuver area for two armored divisions and National Guard units.

It has said the similarity of the ranchland to the woods and fields of the global temperate zone, and its climate, make it ideal for training troops for potential European combat.

After the post commander, Lt. Gen. R. M. Shoemaker, presented the Army's case Feb. 24, Ichord said he had not decided what action the subcommittee should take.

Yates field hearing set

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The railroad commission has set an April 6 hearing on Marathon Oil Co.'s application to utilize the Yates oil field in Pecos and Crockett Counties.

Marathon also has asked the commission to raise the maximum efficient rate of recovery for the field to 100,000 barrels of oil per day. The current rate is 50,000 barrels a day, making the Yates Field one of the largest oil producing areas in the nation.

Marathon said the unit agreement would permit recovery of approximately 200 million additional barrels of crude oil from the field.

Others who have ratified the agreement include Chevron, Gulf, Amoco, Shell, Getty, Exxon, Continental, Phillips, Sohio, Cities Service and Union.

'Work' manifesto laid out by Coach Robbins

"We're going to be competitive, and right away. I don't make predictions on how we will do, but we're going to do our best."

This was the manifesto Don Robbins, athletic director and football coach, laid down to the Downtown Lions Club at its Wednesday meeting in the Settles.

Objectives laid out are a sense of pride, energy expended to accomplish goals, and character.

"And we want the student body and the people downtown to join us in this," he said. "We want to work with all departments of the school and have pride one with another."

His philosophy, he said, is that "anything worth having is worth paying a price for." And because Big Spring is the smallest high school in the district, he said this spells work. "We've got to work harder to accomplish."

Robbins said he did not see football as an all-in-all, but "it can give us a sense of identity."

He's busy evaluating staff and in rehabilitating the facilities and equipment, Robbins said. Spring training won't come until May, but in the meantime, youngsters are engaged in a rigorous off-season program of training.

Also on Wednesday's program was a presentation by Oscar Nabors in reproducing a monologue in tribute to the flag of the United States. Eddie Hedges announced that the Queen's Contest will be held next Wednesday, and on March 17 the club will observe blood bank day with many donating blood and encouraging others to do the same on Wednesday afternoon at the receiving center at Malone and Hogan Hospital.

Birth, fertility rates remain low

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. birth rate for 1974 remained at the record low recorded the year before as more women begin their families later in life, new government figures show.

The birth rate was 14.9 births per 1,000 population, the same as in 1973, and the fertility rate dropped to a new low of 68.4 live births per 1,000 women between the age of 15 and 44 years, the National Center for Health Statistics reported Tuesday.

It said there were 3,159,958 registered live births in 1974, a seven-tenths of one per cent increase over 1973. Data for the first 10 months of 1975 indicate the trend is continuing, with a rise of only five-tenths of one per cent compared with the same period in 1974.

In 1974, the fertility rate — a measurement of birth rates by age of the mother — was 1.2 per cent below 1973, continuing a decline begun in 1957 and interrupted only by slight increases in 1969 and 1970. The first 10 months of 1975 show a 1.6 per cent drop compared with the same period the previous year, the center said.

The report said there was about a 6 per cent increase in births of first children to women between the ages of 25 and 39 years but a leveling or declining rate among younger women, indicating "an increased tendency for women to start their families later."

The birth rate has been declining since 1966 because the number of women of child-bearing ages comprises a smaller proportion of the nation's total population than it did before World War II.

The center's report said birth rates dropped for all women except those 44 years and over, whose rate showed no change.

Dear Abby

Late husband's attributes outweighed bad grammar

DEAR ABBY: This is for Joe's lady friend who is concerned about Joe's poor grammar.

I think she is both immature and a snob. I am a retired school teacher whose late husband's education ended with the third grade. He, too, used poor grammar.

I never considered it a fault because he had attributes that far outweighed his lack of education. In fact, his knowledge of many subjects was far superior to mine.

MABEL IN GAINESVILLE, FLA.

DEAR MABEL: I'm not putting down men who achieved success with "book learnin'" but even more credit is due those "street-smart" winners who made it without.

DEAR ABBY: That woman who complained because they are now letting women work side by side with men in the coal mines is absolutely right!

It has been proved that one of the biggest reasons for the increase in the divorce rate is letting men and women work together. It all started when women went to work in war plants during World War II. Why would it be any different in the coal mines?

As long as women can work where they can throw themselves at men, the ones who want to can start a lot of trouble.

BEEN THERE

DEAR BEEN: So what's the alternative? Are you suggesting segregating the sexes where both men and women are employed? That would set equal opportunity back 100 years!

You can't stop a woman from throwing herself at a man at work—or anywhere else—if she's the type who'd do so.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 42-year-old woman with a wonderful husband and family. However, I have had a problem that has been with me ever since I can remember.

I don't believe the parents who raised me are my real parents. I know I am not adopted! I have a birth certificate from Queen of Angels Hospital in L.A., and everything is in order, but what drives me nutty is: How can I be sure that I am the person on that birth certificate?

I have never felt that I was the child of my parents. Since childhood, people have observed that I bear absolutely NO resemblance to either of my parents, or to any of my brothers or sisters.

I was born when an earthquake hit L.A., and my mother didn't see me for three days during that time, so I think it's possible that some of the babies in the hospital nursery were mixed up.

How can I make sure that I am really the child of my parents? I don't care if you print this.

DIANE IN CATHEDRAL CITY

DEAR DIANE: An infant's footprint is usually registered at the time of birth, so you could make a comparison. But think it over: What will you (or your parents) gain from discovering an error? You both have a stake in this, you know.

Quick action is needed

Proposed legislation to help the lot of the nation's unemployed went down the drain recently when the Senate failed by three votes to override President Ford's veto.

The President called the legislation "election-year politicking . . . pork barreling of the worst kind."

The Democrats in Congress didn't agree. The bill would have created 600,000 jobs at a cost of $6.1 billion. The House voted to override handily, but the effort was aborted in the Senate.

The Democratic majority must now come up with a compromise measure, one the President will accept, or one which Congress will approve by two-thirds vote in case Ford uses the veto again.

The government must come up with some kind of a plan to ease unemployment, which stood at 7.8 per cent in January.

The Republicans have two bills ready that would provide aid when the unemployment rate tops 7 per cent. Aid would go to localities where the rate tops 8 per cent. One of the measures would cost $780 million the first year and would provide funds for community development in areas of high unemployment. The Democrats, however, are expected to come up with some substitute legislation of their own, but no one seems to know exactly what it will contain. The House and Senate leaders are in a state of shock over losing the jobs bill last Thursday. But whatever the Congress' decision, it should come soon. The nation's economy is looking better than when the jobs bill was introduced some weeks ago, but a major effort to whittle down the unemployment figures still is needed.

We have our own problem

According to news releases in Midland, the police are going to crack down on litterers, those people who believe they can solve a problem by dumping trash anywhere but on their own property.

Because some people are lazy and others can't follow simple rules, a number of vacant lots in Midland are being used to deposit the trash. And, as a result of that problem, some of the litter is blowing into downtown areas.

In the future, abusers of the littering law in Midland may be fined anywhere from $10 to $200. Similar ordinances are on the books here but are rarely, if ever enforced. They should be. Those who would beautify the town are fighting a hopeless task as it is.

Antilittering laws, of course, are tough to enforce. The guilty parties know that, but if the laws we now have in effect have no teeth in them then let's rewrite them until we somehow can get through to the despoilers.

Nobody likes the thought of pointing the accusing finger at the guilty parties but it's going to take vigilance and action on someone's part if we are to reduce the problem.

Spanish overview

William F. Buckley, Jr.

MADRID — There are two key figures in the cabinet here. Manuel Fraga is the architect of the transition: from rule by Franco, to qualified rule by the majority. Qualified because there will be a chamber, whose exact composition isn't yet established — "More powerful than the House of Lords," Fraga put it; "less powerful than the U.S. Senate."

FRAGA IS YOUNG (53), legendary as a workhorse; by background an academician who has written recondite works of political history. He is a no-nonsense type, who will tell you flatly that, de facto, censorship no longer exists in Spain, whose press now is — he insists — the most vigorous in western Europe. That is faintly reminiscent of General Maxwell Taylor's solution to the Vietnam problem back in 1967, that we should simply pull out, and declare that we had won the war. Faintly reminiscent because the press isn't entirely uninhibited, nor can be if laws however dormant are there. But the major difference is that Taylor's prescription was to pull out of the battle. Fraga's is to stay in, and to codify de facto reforms, and mid-wife such others as are in prospect.

Specifically, free elections, with only the limitation that Communists, separatists, and anarchists may not field a slate. They will be permitted to vote — but they will have to vote for an authorized party. Mr. Fraga reminds us that in West German, the Communist Party is also forbidden from fielding a slate. His guest informed him that that also is technically the case in the United States of America, courtesy of Senate Hubert Humphrey, by Senator McCarthy, out of Senator McCarran.

It will be a while before Spain is confident enough to tolerate with equanimity its revolutionaries. All traces of Nazism were rigidly proscribed in post-war Germany, and this was at the direction of American liberals. The other day, Raimon Pelejerio, a Catalan folksinger who entertains crowds by his art and then proselytizes in behalf of Basque independence, was told he could no longer perform in Madrid. If Lee Harvey Oswald had belonged to a splinter sect that took raucous pride in the assassination of John F. Kennedy, it isn't obvious how he would treat the surviving troubadours of that sect. Pelejerio's backers took pride in effecting the assassination, two years ago, of the Prime Minister of Spain.

In 1963, Fraga said in England that it was "more logical . . . to change the system to suit your character, than to try changing your character to suit someone else's system."

BUT IT IS precisely the insight of Jose Maria Arelliza, the Foreign Minister, that a "sociological base" has been established in Spain that permits re-experimentation with democracy. Thanks to the exclusive economic progress of Spain — from $300 per capita income to eight times that (Spain is the tenth ranking industrial power in the world) — there is now, in the opinion of the worldly Arelliza, the basis for self-government.

In elections in which the Communist were free to vote, there is no reason to suppose that they would get more than the 11 per cent the Portuguese Communists got a year ago. Certainly the Basque separatist movement would get far fewer votes than the Scottish Nationalists, if that issue were legitimized in Great Britain. The middle class is strong enough to reject ideological adventurism. Accordingly, Arelliza — whose independence of thought cost him his passport several years ago, and a large fine imposed by Franco — is ready to go, and has convincingly pleaded the case of Spain in the capitals of Europe, heading, next week, to the chancelleries of them all, Great Britain — which has never forgotten Franco for defeating the Communists during the same period that Great Britain was appeasing Hitler.

Mr. Allard Lowenstein of New York, the former head of the Americans for Democratic Action and a marvelously sensitive mind to political nuance, talks about Franco's Spain as if he were wading through concrete, the legacy of his ideological youth. In the current Saturday Review he heard all but stops beating as he reflects the horror on the toleration he showed Franco after the war. We weren't all that tolerant, as a matter of fact — we even pulled out our Ambassador; and we gave Spain nothing in Marshall aid. But our failure to conquer Franco, or perhaps have him assassinated, is a continuing nightmare to Mr. Lowenstein, who dubs Franco the "last partner of Hitler," which is historically inaccurate, but does not pause to worry over the fact that we were the last partners of Stalin, which is historically accurate. The fact is, the news in Spain is happy, and that being rare in the world, let us rejoice.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: A serious illness has taught me that my faith was weak. Now I've learned to stand up for God, and rebuke others who are guilty of wicked actions. Don't you think more Christians should do this? — P.B.

DEAR P.B.: I am glad God used the experience of your illness to draw you closer to Him. We should always seek what God teaches us through such experiences.

At the same time, I believe you are in danger of expressing your faith in a wrong way. Christ has not called us to judge others or to conduct a spiritual witchhunt for evil. We are to discern evil wherever it is found, but we must be sure that we are always "speaking the truth in love" (Ephesians 4:15). A judgmental attitude can easily lead us into pride, and we may think we are better than others. A harsh attitude may also cut us off from the very people we are seeking to win to Christ.

The Bible, however, tells us that we are all sinners and are saved only by God's grace. You might find it profitable to read through the gospels carefully and note how Jesus dealt with those who were sinners.

Checking back unfair?

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — A trait possessed by many in the businesses and crafts of forecasting or promising is to rely on the poor memory of the listener or on his disinclination or inability to check back.

In fact, to check back is considered by some to be almost unethical and certainly unfair, and maybe even to be an infringement on the right to free speech. It cramps styles. It devastates artistic creativity.

The typical attempt at redemption begins with the phrase, "As I said back on . . ." You may never recall that the culprit made such a forecast, but you're too busy to check. And so the game continues.

It is played by politicians, stock market analysts and by some economists, too, but less and less effectively. In the economic area, the checking is done by the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond.

Each year the bank compiles the forecasts of various economists, matches them with the results and publishes its tabulation in its bimonthly "Economic Review."

For 1975, the consensus forecast of the Gross National Product was $1,512 billion. The actual figure was close to $1,477 billion. The forecast was about $34 billion too high.

The consensus forecast was for a 9 per cent increase in prices. The real increase was about 8.8 per cent. The average rate of unemployment, which was 8.5 per cent in 1975, was forecast to be 7.3 per cent.

All in all, the economists were closer to the marks in 1975 than in the two or three years before, when many of them, including the President's Council of Economic Advisers, were known for having made major miscalculations.

Sometimes, however, the consensus protects the economists; it is, you should remember, an average that includes extremes both high and low. But in one area, the GNP, the extremes almost all were on the high side; only one forecaster of 40 checked underestimated the 1975 output of goods and services.

For 1976, the bank summarized the consensus in these words: "Recovery but no bicentennial boom."

Problems can be linked

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a 62-year-old woman, and I've been having trouble with leg cramps. Last night I woke up three times, once with the large toe bent forward in a rigid position, the other two times with regular cramps in the calves and around the ankles. It is quite painful.

I do have varicose veins in both legs, but this hasn't bothered me so far. I wear support stockings. Is there anything I can do about this condition? Is it related to the varicose veins, do you think? — Mrs. E. M.

Yes, the cramps can very definitely be a part of the varicose problem, which implies impaired circulation to begin with. The most common cause of leg cramps is poor circulation. Besides impeding flow of blood from extremities, varicosities can also impede the flow of fresh blood to the extremities.

The support stockings are a good idea for the control of the varicose veins, but they could be contributing to the cramping, especially if they are too tight. You might try a larger size. Your problem seems to be in balancing the need to control the varicose problem and the needs of the legs for a proper supply of blood. You may require surgery to correct the vein problem. A rolled blanket between the sheets at the foot of the bed will raise the covers, allowing more room for your feet. This often helps.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a girl, 15, 5-foot-2, and I weigh 115 pounds. Often I have noticed that about two hours after eating I get very shaky. Right now I am on a low-carbohydrate diet, so I eat mostly fruits, vegetables and meat. My mother has low blood sugar, and she says possibly I may have it, too.

When I get shaky, she makes me eat something with a lot of protein in it. This usually helps, but I don't like eating when I'm not hungry. What do you think about this? Also, two years ago I had iron deficiency anemia. — D.S.M.

You could have what is called "reactive hypoglycemia." This could be verified by a sugar tolerance test. Also, your blood count should be checked again for anemia. Your mother is wise. The keynote is dietary treatment for low blood sugar (hypoglycemia) is a high protein intake.

You say that when you don't feel hungry you just don't eat. This is natural, but you should realize as well that another aspect of dietary treatment in hypoglycemia is regular food intake.

Time for re-run

Around the rim

Marj Carpenter

Arf. That's what Lil' Orphan Annie's dog Sandy used to say in the funny papers.

There's a big dog, even bigger than Sandy, that now resides in the fenced-in backyard just behind the high school baseball field.

THE STEERS have been picked to win the district in baseball and that's the first time that they have been picked to be first in anything in a long time.

So it's going to be a wonderful season. But in case the games get dull, that dog may make it interesting. At the first scrimmage, a foul ball bounced into that yard. A ball-chasing youth went running across the street and started up the fence. The large dog layed his nose across that fence and looked over the situation.

"Uh-oh," says John Arrick, from up in the stands. "I believe we're going to have to buy more baseballs this year." All of a sudden the ball was thrown out of the yard by somebody in that backyard. Thank you, whoever you were and "Arf" to you, dog.

Well, Paul Meek and the five lovely Meek girls (we're counting Betty) are gone. And by the size of the group bidding them farewell, they will indeed be missed. Vaya con Dios.

That's really all I had to tell this week. I've decided it's a good time to re-run a column written back in May 1973 that I have had several requests for . . . the latest request from a mother whose son was killed in Vietnam. So for her:

"When you get to thinking about it, the old 20th Century has seen a lot of changes and a lot of history. And it seems to me that most of the really historic moments, I remember by remembering somebody's tears.

"I was born in 1926 and when I was quite small, I can remember my mother telling about the soldiers marching down Broadway after World War I and she would cry every time she told the tale.

"And in the early 30's, I distinctly recall one of the Depression hoboes crying when Mother gave him a sandwich and some milk.

"In 1939, I was going into my junior high social studies class and I remembered to throw out my chewing gum before I got to the classroom of the indomitable Mrs. Bryant. When we got into the class, she was crying and she began to talk to a hushed class.

"We were hushed, not because we knew it was a moment of history, but because we couldn't imagine anything that would make Mrs. Bryant cry. And she told us about Hitler invading Poland and Czechoslovakia, pointing out the disaster on the roll-down map.

"On that terrible Sunday afternoon — Dec. 7, 1941, I got up from an afternoon nap to find my mother crying again as she listened to a report of Pearl Harbor on the radio. Dad huffed and puffed up and down the living room with his old mustard-gas damaged lungs wishing he could re-enlist.

"By 1944 I was in college and over and over we watched tears flow in our dormitory wing as Coxie learned that her husband went down in the English Channel and Judy, Rosemary, Laura and Jayne learned that their fiancés had been killed.

"On the day that the atom bomb fell, the head of the chemistry department approached me on the campus with tears streaming down his face, saying 'Two of my students helped build that terrible thing at Oak Ridge.'

"And when the war was over, my friends and I stood and watched a parade honoring Admiral Nimitz' homecoming in Houston — and the tears flowed.

"I WAS IN Pecos at a service in which a Korean missionary named Captain Swinehart stood in the pulpit and cried as he told about the destruction of a college he had helped build at Seoul.

"This year (1973), a Barstow woman named Belle Hummel waited as the Vietnam prisoner of war lists were released. Her only child, Johnny Hummel was missing in action. The lists came in without his name, and she realized that he was never coming home.

"She had a terminal illness and the doctors had predicted she would live several more months but when the lists came in without Johnny's name, she died.

"I cried then and I cry now for Johnny and Belle. I remember most of my history through tears. How do you remember yours?"

Debriefing Nixon

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger said he hoped to debrief former President Richard Nixon when he gets back from his trip to China. No one knows what Mr. Nixon will say, but this is how the debriefing may go.

"Mr. President, what's going on in China now?"

"HENRY, I have it on highest authority that Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping, whom you and President Ford met on your recent trip, was a member of the revisionist, imperialist, bourgeois clique that was trying to turn back the clock of Chairman Mao's Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution."

"How do you know this?"

"I saw it on a poster, across from my hotel. It seems that Teng thought he could follow the capitalist-imperialist path of the ignoble traitors Liu Shao-chi and Lin Piao. But this running dog did not fool the masses."

"That's very good, Mr. President, but did you get any feeling about who was in charge in China at the moment?"

"Chairman Mao Tse-tung is still the beloved leader of the proletariat. He has designated Hua Kuo-feng as acting premier because Hua is a dedicated Marxist-Leninist of the anti-Soviet school who has devoted his life to the heroic struggle for Communist revolution and socialist construction."

"Who told you this?"

"Pat saw it on a wall poster when she visited a children's school outside of Peking."

"What feeling did you get about their economy?"

"CHAIRMAN MAO'S Great Leap Forward continues in spite of efforts by feudal landlords to destroy the dictatorship of the proletariat. But the poison is being eradicated by the vigilance of the workers, the peasants and the soldiers."

"That's very good, Mr. President, but did you get any feeling that there was some sort of power struggle going on in the country?"

"I did hear of rightest winds blowing across the desert, trying to reverse the verdicts of Chairman Mao. But the masses, through the Central Committee, intend to deal with these capitalist-roaders as they have with the running dogs Liu Shao-chi and Lin Piao."

"Did you hear any names mentioned as to who was opposing Mao?"

"Confucius for one. I heard Confucius' writings were an example of the reactionary ideological weapons which the imperialists have used to achieve their goals of big power chauvinism."

"You saw that on a poster?"

"CHAIRMAN MAO personally told me that Confucius was the foremost peddler of degenerate capitalist notions."

"Mr. President, was there any mention of China's relations with the Soviet Union?"

"Yes, there was. I was informed that the Soviet Socialist imperialists who betrayed the ideals of Marx and Lenin for their own bourgeois reasons are now intent on unbridled aggression and expansion abroad."

"No, I saw it on a poster."

"Did you see any evidence of a military buildup?"

"As Chairman Mao has said many times, every worker is a soldier and every soldier is a worker."

"I must say, Mr. President, you really learned a lot in eight days."

"Let a thousand flowers bloom."

"Did Mao say that?"

"No, Pat did. You know we lost our gardener at San Clemente."

"Well, thank you very much. You've been most helpful and we now have a much clearer picture as to what is going on in China."

"The pleasure is all mine, Comrade."

Road & Track magazine considered hundreds of 1975 cars:

The best car in the world for under $3500.

IT'S NOT TOYOTA. IT'S NOT DATSUN. IT'S NOT VEGA. IT'S NOT PINTO. IT'S NOT FIAT. IT'S NOT HONDA.

The Volkswagen Rabbit was picked to be the best car in the world for under $3500 for the right reasons. Handling, acceleration, ride, comfort, space, luggage capacity, brakes, durability, reliability—all these entered into the selection. We at Volkswagen are proud to take our place next to Mercedes-Benz and the other fine cars chosen "The Best".

39 mpg on the highway, 25 in the city, is another reason the Rabbit was picked. The Rabbit, with stick shift, got that mileage in 1976 EPA tests. (The mileage you get can vary, depending on how and where you drive, optional equipment, and the condition of your car.)

IT'S THE RABBIT.

SCENE OF ACTION — Southwest Conference coaches meet at SMU Moody Coliseum in preparation for the first conference tournament to be held starting Thursday night. The winner of this four-team meet will be Texas A&M in finals Saturday night with winner representing SWC in NCAA competition. From left, coaches are Eddie Sutton, Arkansas University; Guy Lewis, University of Houston; Gerald Myers, Texas Tech, and Sonny Allen, SMU.

Scribes convince Eldon his team in playoffs

Michigan has shouldered for years. Last season, the Broncos finished fifth in the league with an 8-6 record. In another big game Wednesday night, No. 15 Missouri downed Kansas State 81-72 to clinch at least a tie for the Big Eight title. In the Southern Conference playoffs, Virginia Military Institute defeated Appalachian State 71-64 and Richmond whipped William and Mary 84-78 to advance to tonight's finals. Tom Cutler and Jeff Tyson combined for 39 points to boost Western Michigan past Miami. Cutler and Tyson hit 15 of the first 18 points scored by the Broncos in the second half. The 6-foot-8, 220-pound Cutler finished with 23 points and provided the edge for Western Michigan in rebounding throughout the game. Tyson scored 16 points. Willie Smith poured in 38 points as Missouri downed Kansas State and moved a step closer to nailing down an NCAA berth. The Tigers, 11-2, now lead the Wildcats, 10-3, by one game in the Big Eight standings, and each team has one game remaining. Ron Carter converted a four-point play with less than three minutes left to ice VMI's victory over Appalachian State.

'Tang Soo Do' to you, too

The Big Spring YMCA will begin a new class of "Tang Soo Do" Karate, a Korean form of self defense and physical development, on Tuesday, March 16. Class will meet from 7-9 p.m. on Tuesday and Friday evenings. Class will meet for four weeks, with new sessions being held each four weeks to allow for advancement. The instructor will be Gary Gibson, 1st DN Black Belt. For more information phone the YMCA at 267-8234 or Gibson at 3-3944. Non-members fee is $12, and Y members $8. A demonstration of "Tang Soo Do" Karate will be given March 9 at 7 p.m. in the all purpose room of the YMCA at 8th and Owens. Registration is required.

All balled up

GOING TO HAVE HEAD — Chip Dumstorf's head was about the only thing that wasn't spinning as the 13-year-old member of the Bellarmine College Junior Pros performed in a halftime show at a recent Bellarmine basketball game Wednesday. The Pros are a 25-member precision basketball drill team.

Scuba classes begin March 18 at the YMCA

The primary purpose of any recognized Scuba course is to teach safety in diving. Scuba diving is inherently dangerous; and it can become prohibitively dangerous when the diver is poorly trained, an inadequate swimmer, in poor physical condition, or has certain physical defects. To take this course, therefore, you must be a good swimmer, should be in good physical condition, must be examined and certified by your physician that you are free of physical defects which would prevent you from diving, and must be at least 16 years old. The YMCA furnishes all equipment, except a swim suit. We suggest that you not buy any equipment at this time. The fee will be $45.00 for YMCA members, and $60.00 for non-members, and the course is limited, so the earlier you turn in your completed forms, the better chance you will have being accepted. There will be 45 hours of instruction, approximately half classroom, and half in the water. Sessions are held each Monday and Thursday evenings from 7-10 p.m. for eight weeks, plus two open water dives. You will be expected to arrange your schedule to be present at every session, promptly at 7 p.m., in the classroom. Material covered includes physics, physiology, decompression and repetitive dive tables, air consumption, and the selection, use, and care of basic scuba equipment. Homework will require four to six hours weekly. Examinations will be given at the end of the course in physical fitness, life saving, swimming, proficiency with scuba gear, open water diving, and a written examination. This course is approved by the National YMCA Scuba Commission. Satisfactory completion provides internationally recognized Diver Certification. Like all approved courses, it covers much material in a short time; is hard work, no nonsense; is very strict, and highly disciplined. Fun, Yes! Application kits, containing all necessary forms, are available at the YMCA desk. They will cost $1.00, which will be returned when

Advice to suspended Aggies:

Appeal to court or shut up

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The chairman of the University of Texas Athletic Council says, in effect, two suspended Texas A&M basketball players should either appeal to the courts or shut up.

J. Neils Thompson, a soft-spoken man given to understatement, said in answer to a reporter's question Wednesday that the players can win their fight in court and should take it to that forum if they are innocent.

Asked if he thought they should appeal or stop complaining, Thompson said: "That's right."

The Southwest Conference hearing at which freshmen Karl Godine and Jarvis Williams were suspended was held behind closed doors. "We are dealing with individuals and we try to do as little harm as we can," Thompson said.

An appeal to the courts would air the controversy in public.

Godine and Williams have denied accepting illegal inducements to attend A&M. They have signed affidavits accusing members of the athletic departments at Texas, Baylor and Houston of offering them cars. Godine has said A&M is the only school among the hundred that recruited him that did not offer illegal inducements.

Thompson said he did not know if the affidavits named the individuals who allegedly offered the cars but he assumed Godine and Williams would have to do that before the conference would investigate.

One report said the affidavits identify the alleged wrongdoer at Texas as assistant coach Skip Adams. Adams denied it and offered to take a polygraph test.

Thompson said the accused persons could be required to take the test. "Yes, under the conference rules they would have to take the test or they can't coach," he said, adding that the ban on coaching also includes recruiting.

In answer to another question, Thompson labeled inaccurate a leak to a newspaper that the conference had banned two A&M alumni and one other person from participating in recruiting for the Aggies.

The report was inaccurate both as to the names of the three men and as to the instruction to A&M on what they could or could not do, he said.

Thompson said a report will be made "within the next couple of weeks" to UT President Lorene Rogers of the athletic council's investigation of five Longhorn athletes who were paid for up to 15 days after they left Texas State jobs.

A special three-man faculty committee also has investigated that matter and is scheduled to report soon to Dr. Rogers.

MARSHALL PROTESTS — Mike Marshall, L. A. Dodger pitcher and Michigan State University graduate student, cuts a chain Wednesday that was put around baseball nets to prevent him from using the facility. Marshall cut the chain in protest of the Intramural Dept. who have ruled that he can not use the facilities. Marshall says he has the right to use the facility because he is a student. Marshall also claims the arena is unsafe as a multi-purpose arena.

Dispute hurts Astros

New crew anxious to begin

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Astros General Manager Tal Smith, eager to get started rebuilding the Astros, says the current player association-owner labor dispute is hurting the Astros more than other teams.

"This situation hurts everybody — players, owners, fans, managers and general managers who have to make some of these determinations," said Smith, who returned to the Astros from the New York Yankees following last season.

"But it hurts the established clubs less," Smith said. "They go to spring training with a set lineup and it doesn't take six weeks to get in shape."

The Astros were anything but established last year. They start from scratch this season after a dismal last place finish in the National League Western Division.

Houston's No. 1 concern going into spring training is improving its pitching, which was next to last in the National League last season in combined earned run average at 4.09.

"We've got 23 pitchers on our spring training roster," Smith said. "Some, like Larry Dierker, (Ken) Forsch and J.R. (Richard) Foye, we know about. But on the other end, we've got 16-18 pitchers who merit serious consideration to start the season with us."

"Their performance in spring training depends a lot on what determination we make."

Smith said if any positive benefit could be gleaned from the delay, it would be that the players and Astros management have become closer.

"I think, if anything, the attitude on the part of the players is better and we have more spirit and unity because there has been more communication," Smith said.

In addition to rebuilding their pitching staff, the Astros also will start the season with a new manager, Bill Virdon, and three new starters.

"We have new players acquired in the off-season who have never performed in an Astros uniform and second base, third base and catcher will not be handled by incumbents," Smith said.

Smith said the Astros plan to open their minor league training game in Cocoa, Fla. March 15 on schedule but he hopes there'll be a settlement with the major league players and owners by that time and his rebuilding process can begin.

SPORTS BRIEF

SAN FRANCISCO — Top-seeded Evonne Goolagong ousted Ann Kiyomura 6-3, 6-1 to advance to the quarter-finals of a $75,000 women's tennis tourney.

ABILENE — The Howard College Hawks close out the first round of the Region V Junior College Tournament tonight in a 9:00 battle against the McLennan CC Highlanders, of Waco, the highest ranked junior college team in Texas.

McLennan (27-3) won the Northern Conference going away. In the final National Junior College Athletic Association poll the Highlanders were ranked eighth in the country. The only other Texas team ranked in the top 20 was San Jacinto, of Pasadena, tied for 15th.

McLennan's starting five consists of: —Skippy Black, Austin, 6-9, averaging 9.1 ppg and 10 rebounds —Ed Marshall, Kennard, Texas, 6-7, averaging 10.6 ppg and seven rebounds —Mark Telaga, 6-3, averaging 5.8 ppg —John Derrick, 6-7, averaging 21.5 ppg and 21.3 rebounds was All-Region player last year. —Vinnie Johnson, Brooklyn, N.Y., 6-0, averaging 27.2 ppg is fifth leading scorer in country.

Howard will counter with Marvin Johnson, 6-5, the leading scorer in the country, Larry Erves, 6-4, who hit for 34 points in his last game, Paul Cathey, 6-6, the Hawks leading rebounder and Ray Martin, 6-2, the sparkplug of Howard's fast-paced attack. The fifth man could either be Reggie Lefall, 6-3, one of the Hawks leading scorers at the end of the season or Lowell Walker, 6-6, a good rebounder.

NMMI (21-7) of the WC, and Hill (20-11) of the NC, cracked open tournament proceedings with a 2:00 fray. That game will be followed by the Amarillo (19-8) and Grayson (14-15) contest at 4:00. A family feud between two WC foes Western Texas (25-6) and Frank Phillips (16-11) is scheduled for 7:00, the last game before Howard and McLennan do battle.

The Highlanders are the only NC team favored to win. If the Hawks pull off an upset Region V could turn into a WC playoff.

Howard College Coach Harold Wilder expects a fast paced game. "McLennan's coach Johnny Carter plays to win," Wilder said. "Both teams like to run. Being top-seeded puts more pressure on them to win."

The tournament is being played in Hunt Memorial Gym of McMurry College in Abilene.

Midland Cubs ink mainstays

MIDLAND — Two mainstays of the 1975 Midland Cubs pitching staff have signed contracts for 1976. Dave Geisel was 8-5 last season, appearing in 35 games as both a starter and reliever. Steve Hamrick started 13 games for the Cubs, completing 5, and posting a fine 7-2 record. Both are lefthanders and will report to Scottsdale on March 15 for spring training.

The popular Al Montreuil who served as player-coach last year while appearing in 117 games for the Cubs, has been given his release, at his own request. "Al is very interested in getting into coaching on a full-time basis and was not particularly interested in continuing as a player," said Midland general manager Bill Rigney. "He felt his interests could best be served elsewhere. Naturally, we are very disappointed to lose a person of Al's caliber."

Montreuil was third in the Texas League batting race last year at .324.

Just a reminder that new Cubs manager Denny Sommers will appear at the Booster meeting on Monday, March 8, at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be in the Coors hospitality suite on Highway 80.

Stanton wins in a Wink

STANTON — The flying feet of the mile relay team — Kenny McCalister, Todd Smith, Steve Denison and George McCalister, brought the Stanton High School boys track team from behind Saturday afternoon and propelled the locals to first place honors at the Wink Invitational Track Meet.

Kenny McCalister had a lot to say in the victory, romping to a first place in the 440-yard dash and anchoring the mile relay team. Smith, only a freshman, was also impressive, taking second in the 880-yard run and putting the Buffs into the lead in the mile relay with a strong 440-yard dash.

It was the first meet of the year for the Buffalos of Coach Bob Denison and was an impressive team effort.

Smith said the Astros plan to open their minor league training game in Cocoa, Fla. March 15 on schedule but he hopes there'll be a settlement with the major league players and owners by that time and his rebuilding process can begin.

SEASON TICKETS — Larry Horton, head baseball coach of the Big Spring Steers hands Kenneth McMurtrey a season ducat to all the Steers' home games. Interested fans can obtain their own tickets for $10 each.

Season tickets for Steers $10

For the first time, season tickets to home baseball games of the Big Spring Steers are being offered for sale. The cost is $10.

The tickets are good for 13 home dates and 15 games, including doubleheaders with Andrews Saturday and Lubbock Monterey March 20. In addition, the ducats are good for all district home games involving the Longhorns.

The Steers are off to a fine start this spring and rate as favorites to win the 5-AAAA championship.

The tickets can be purchased at the school business office on 11th Place, the First National Bank, State National Bank, Security State Bank, Newsom's Fine Foods and Bill Battle's Barber Shop in downtown Big Spring.

Friends of the teams are hoping the community rallies behind the Steers and fills the stands for the games involving the Steers.

"We're rated at the top for the first time within recent memory," one Steer supporter said. "If the community will show it is behind the team, the boys are bound to react in a positive attitude. We owe it to them to do what we can and show we're behind them."

A Royal promotion

AUSTIN — Texas Coach Darrell Royal has announced that Spike Dykes, head football coach of Big Spring from 1967 through 69, will take over as defensive line coach.

Dykes had been helping with the offensive line the past four years.

Crime prevention will be topic at seminar

"Hands Up," a national volunteer effort to halt crime, will be the subject of a crime prevention seminar during the Western District Annual Convention, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, March 12-13, at the Inn of the Golden West, Odessa. TFWC President Harriette Williford Whatley, Fairfield, will conduct the seminar. The meeting will prepare representatives of clubs throughout the district for implementing "Hands Up" crime reduction campaigns in their communities. Topics scheduled for discussion include crime prevention, residential crime prevention programs, materials and resources available and working with the media.

For this vital national campaign, General Federation of Women's Clubs, the world's largest organization of women, has joined with the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, U.S. Department of Justice. Through "Hands Up," funded by an LEAA grant, GFWC will create a national awareness of the citizen role in crime reduction and promote alliances of citizen action groups across the nation. Already, women in Texas clubs have conducted extensive community-wide inquiries of local leaders and citizens and provided an overview of the work done by private social service agencies. Surveys taken by the clubwomen also assessed the attitudes of the general public on current crime issues. And, Mrs. Whatley and Mrs. Ernest Pierce, Gordon, represented Texas at the National Crime Reduction Summit Meeting in Washington, D.C., where GFWC delegates gathered to isolate national priorities for crime reduction as indicated by the community inquiries. A recent duplication of the national summit at the TFWC Headquarters in Austin brought together leaders of women throughout the state to plan further Texas participation in "Hands Up." Conducted by the Texas Crime Prevention Institute, Southwest Texas State University, the conference gave representatives training in various aspects of crime prevention and offered suggestions on crime reduction programs which clubs could initiate in their local communities.

POOR RICH AND RECIPES

DELICIOUSLY ECONOMICAL — Desserts such as Orange Tart are a spectacular finish to any festive occasion.

Orange Tart

Pastry:
 1/2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
 3 tbsps. sugar
 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
 1/4 tsp. salt
 6 tbsps. chilled butter, cut small
 2 tbsps. chilled vegetable shortening
 4 tbsps. ice water

Mix flour, sugar, cinnamon and salt in bowl. Cut in the butter and shortening with a pastry blender to form tiny particles. Sprinkle in the ice water, a little at a time, tossing with a fork. Form into a ball and chill at least 1 hour. Roll out on floured surface to form a circle 11 to 12 inches in diameter. Fit the pastry into a buttered 9-inch fluted tart pan with a removable bottom. Chill. Line the pastry with foil and fill with beans or rice. Bake in a 375 degree oven for 8 minutes. Remove the foil and beans and bake 10 minutes longer, until lightly browned. Cool and remove from pan.

Filling:
 1-3rd cup sugar
 3 tbsps. cornstarch
 1/4 tsp. salt
 1/2 cup milk
 1-3rd cup light cream
 1 whole egg
 1 egg yolk
 1-3rd cup orange juice
 1 tsp. grated orange rind

Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt in saucepan. Gradually stir in milk and cream. Stir over low heat until thick. Beat the egg and yolk to blend and gradually add to hot mixture, beating constantly. Beat in the orange juice and rind. Stir over low heat until thickened, about 15 minutes. Chill.

To assemble:
 2-3rds cup red currant jelly
 2 tbsps. orange juice
 3 oranges, peeled and sectioned

Stir the currant jelly and orange juice over medium heat until the jelly dissolves. Let cool slightly and brush the inside of the pastry shell with some of the glaze. Spread in the chilled filling. Arrange the orange sections on top and spoon remaining glaze over sections. Chill 30 minutes to an hour before serving.
YIELD: 8 servings.

Orange-Ginger Steamed Pudding

2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
 1 1/2 tbsps. baking powder
 1 1/2 tbsps. baking soda
 1/4 tsp. salt
 3/4 cup packed brown sugar
 1 cup orange juice
 1 egg, beaten
 1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
 1 1/2 tbsps. grated orange rind
 3/4 cup sliced pitted dates
 3/4 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
 3 tbsps. finely minced candied ginger

In large bowl mix the flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Mix in another bowl the brown sugar, orange juice, egg, melted butter and orange rind. In a small bowl toss the dates, walnuts and ginger with a few tablespoons of the flour mixture. Heavily butter a 6-cup steamed pudding mold and coat it with granulated sugar. Add the orange juice mixture to the flour mixture and stir just until blended. Fold in the date mixture. Turn into prepared mold and top with buttered waxed paper. Cover with lid and fasten tightly. Place the mold on a rack in a kettle. Add boiling water to half the depth of the mold. Bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer, covered, for 2 hours. Remove from water, remove the lid and let stand 10 minutes before unmolding on a serving platter. Serve warm with Orange Cream Sauce.
YIELD: 12 servings.

ORANGE CREAM SAUCE

1 1/4 cups orange juice
 2 tbsps. cornstarch
 1/2 cup packed brown sugar
 1/2 cup heavy cream
 1 tsp. grated orange rind

In a saucepan mix cornstarch with 1/4 cup of the juice. Gradually blend in the sugar and the remaining juice. Stir over low heat for 8 to 10 minutes, or until it is clear and thick. Stir in the cream and orange rind. Serve warm.

Bicentennial orange desserts

There's no better way to celebrate America's Bicentennial than with a spectacular dessert. Here's one made from fruit that's been a part of Americana since 1513, when it was first introduced by Ponce De Leon... oranges.

This luxurious tasting Orange Tart is made from the juice of oranges, rich in Vitamin C, yet still one of the least expensive and versatile foods available today. So, you can serve this elegant dessert at special gatherings without straining your budget.

Although the rebellious 13 colonies broke off political ties with England during the American Revolution, the culinary ties between the two nations continued. One traditional British dessert is steamed pudding. Here's a modern version that you'll want to serve. Orange-Ginger Steamed Pudding. It's flavorful but lighter than classic puddings, a delicate blend of orange juice, dates, walnuts and candied ginger. The pudding is served warm and topped with a luscious Orange Cream Sauce. And best of all, it makes 12 satisfying servings, economically!

Legislator vows to investigate

Skyrocketing gas prices cause hardships

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Fourfold increases in Southern Union Gas Co.'s rates have wreaked misery on poor people in the Port Arthur area, the House Energy Resources Committee heard Wednesday.

Committee chairman Joe Hanna, D-Breckenridge, told witnesses his committee would be looking deeper and seeking solutions to recommend to the 1977 legislature.

Joyce Roddy of Port Arthur told of her visit to a 69-year-old couple that had given up hope of paying the higher rates.

"It was bitter cold. They had built a fire in a plate, out of some wood they had. They were about to suffocate from the smoke," Mrs. Roddy said.

The couple was trying to live on $160 a month Social Security, and their monthly gas bill totaled more than a third of that, Mrs. Roddy said.

She said a typical monthly charge had jumped from $15 to $79 a month.

Mrs. Roddy also told of a family of six having to limit its heat to a single room because the father's $400 monthly wages wouldn't stretch any farther.

"I didn't realize things like this existed in the world today, to tell you the truth..."

"I don't see any way for these people to survive," Mrs. Roddy said.

Raymond Scott, secretary-treasurer of Laborers Local No. 383 in Port Arthur-Orange, said quadrupling gas rates have overburdened the unemployed and those on fixed incomes.

"A lady at my church lives on $125 a month, and her gas bill is $60," Scott said.

Hanna said gas rates have tripled or quadrupled "all over the state" this winter.

Rep. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, urged the committee to set up an investigating subcommittee consisting of members who are unopposed for re-election so it would not be influenced by political considerations.

"People are entitled to a plain, simple answer they can understand from somebody who has some objectivity," he said.

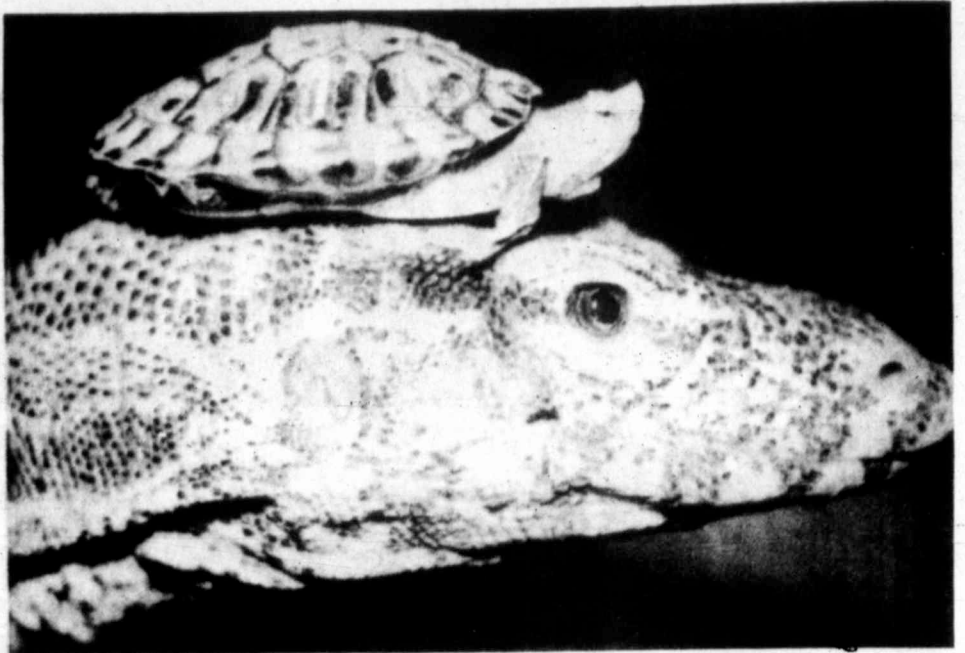

He said the new Texas Public Utility Commission should be given direct regulatory power over local gas and electric utilities. The commission should have authority to require averaging of bills, he said, so consumers would pay level rates instead of facing giant increases at certain seasons. It also should have power to make sure each meter is read each month, Parker said.

A woman in Vidor had a five-fold increase in her gas bill, he said, even though a police car accidentally had smashed into her meter and broken it so that it could not be read.

The utility commission can regulate electricity only when a city asks it to, and gas rates remain subject to the railroad commission.

"We will investigate," Hanna said. "And this coming session we will have legislation to introduce."

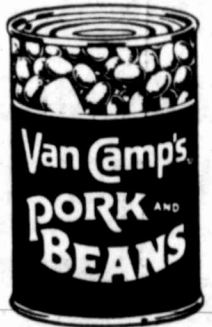

GETTING A PASSENGER OUT OF HIS SHELL — Honey, the latest arrival in the baby turtle enclosure at Safari Park Zoo in Windsor, England, gets a ride on a lizard that shares the accommodation. The reptile house was undergoing a spring cleaning and these two found themselves sharing the same quarters.

Briscoe wants no-new-tax budget

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe, backed by top legislative leaders, told state agency heads Wednesday in no uncertain terms that he wants a no-nonsense, no-new-tax budget for 1978-79.

Uncontrolled spending can lead only to bankruptcy, Briscoe told about 1,200 executives of state agencies and educational institutions called to Austin for an unusual briefing on how to prepare their money requests for the next two years.

"I reaffirm my commitment again today that Texas government will continue to operate within our financial means as we have done for the past two regular sessions of the legislature," the governor said.

"I will veto any piece of legislation that will require new or additional state taxes."

"We must now face the harsh reality of what we have always known," Briscoe said. "Neither man nor government can afford to live beyond its means."

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Speaker Bill Clayton joined Briscoe in directing the grass roots leaders of state government to hold their 1978-79 money requests within the current 1976-77 spending level.

Briscoe also asked again for a five percent cut in the number of state employees, through attrition.

"If there is only one thing that our tax paying and voting citizens agree on today, it is that they want a good, low cost state government with no additional taxes," Hobby said.

"Unless we can put on the brakes and stabilize the growth of government, we are only a short time away from the day when many Texans will spend more of their time working for the government than for themselves," Clayton said.

Briscoe noted that state government appropriations for the current two-year fiscal period total about $12.8 billion, a 250 per cent increase over spending for the 1966-67 biennium. Public school spending has increased three-fold in the decade, welfare has increased four-fold and higher education five-fold.

"This situation must be reversed. It is sapping our resources and turning our country into one huge bureaucracy. And even worse, it will lead us to bankruptcy," he said.

"With your continuing help, Texas will continue as the bright spot among all of the states," Briscoe said.

"We will continue to live within our income and we will continue to be the only industrial state without a state income tax either corporate or personal and we will continue building a life of even greater opportunity for all Texans."

Both Hobby and Clayton had specific recommendations for the agency budget makers.

Hobby said the minimum level of funding for the next two years should not be more than 90 per cent of the current budget level.

Hobby predicted the 1977 legislature would give the governor more power in the next spending bill concerning agency appropriations. "The governor will be asked to determine when and if certain facts or developments actually occur before the appropriations are available for expenditure," he said.

Clayton suggested many state agencies could save money by cutting out public relations employees. "The agencies should be doing their jobs and not having to tell the people what good work they are doing," he said.

FASHIONS ACTION — A. J. Prager, owner of the oldest men's and boys' clothing store in Big Spring, orders another shipment of the latest styles.

Fems first in 'revolution'

Women calling clothes shots for many men

By JOHN EDWARDS
Women's fashions are leading the way for men's clothing, the owner of the oldest men's and boys' store in Big Spring said.

Bright colors, silky shirts, double-knit slacks, bell-bottoms, some shoe styles, the "Big Shirt" and nylon underwear were worn by women first. The casual suits men now wear were patterned after women's pant suits, said A. J. Prager, president of Prager's Men & Boys' Wear.

"The major revolution in men's clothing came a few years ago when men's styles began following so closely to the women's," Prager explained.

"Every major trend in the last few years had come to us from the women," Prager said.

Prager noted two types of customers: Men who want the latest in clothing and "some of the most conservative" dressing men in the United States.

With the latter, Prager said, "Our greatest allies are the mothers and wives. They help us tremendously," by prodding their sons and husbands to dress well.

"For us to succeed here in Prager's, we have to be the first with the new ideas," Prager said.

Prager attends all the major men and boys fashion shows in Texas, including those at Apparel Mart in Dallas. "Actually, they are the biggest in the United States, and most manufacturers show there."

"Whenever we have an opportunity to visit another city, I try to spend a number of hours in major department stores and major independents to see how they display and what they display," Prager said.

Over the years, the store owner has seen a number of styles come and go:

Double-breasted suits. "Very definitely, vests are back again."

"European style clothing was in, went out and is coming back real, real strong," Prager said.

One thing has stayed constant over the years at the store, though.

"The basic philosophy was promulgated by my father," a Lithuanian immigrant, Prager said. "We try to treat others exactly like we would like to be treated ourselves."

A. J. Prager related the store history:

"The store was established in the fall of 1927 by my father, Morris Prager, as the Army Store located at 113 Main St., the present owner said.

"This was a store, "which despite the name, catered to the needs of the working man, farmer and rancher," Prager said.

"In the early Thirties, the location was moved to 204 Main St.

"In 1949, when Morris Prager retired completely from the business, the actual management was taken over by his son, A. J. Prager, and son-in-law, Joe Clark.

"The store was renamed Prager's Men's Store. At that time, the store was basically western oriented.

"In 1955, we moved to our present address, 104 E. 3rd St., and we became a corporation."

Then, the firm changed its image and started distributing sport and dress wear for "young men of all ages."

"In 1965, A. J. Prager assumed full control.

"We've grown from a store which did $25,000-a-year business to a store doing over one-half million."

"We have had the finest sales people," Prager said. The store manager, J. W. Parnley Jr., has worked there 11 years.

"Because we grew up here, we feel complete rapport with the people of the area," Prager said.

His wife, Janice Jacobs Prager, also comes from a family which settled here in 1927. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max S. Jacobs, who then "had the nicest ladies' store in Big Spring — the Fashion."

Champs make clean sweep of Tucson riding events

DENVER, Colo. — Three world champion cowboys made a clean sweep of first place in bareback, saddle bronc and bull riding at the Tucson, Ariz., rodeo, which ended Sunday.

Biggest single winner was Gary Leffew Of Arroyo Grande, Calif., 1970 bull riding idol who won first in his event with a 76 score for $1,893. It was the first big win of the season for Leffew, who has specialized in bull riding for the last 12 years. The 31-year-old cowboy was a consistent National Finals qualifier in the Sixties and up through 1972; it was at the 1972 Finals, however, that he suffered a badly broken leg coming off a bull, and he hasn't competed as hard since then.

Three-time world champion saddle bronc rider Bill Smith of Cody, Wyo., won first in his event with an 85 score, winning $1,521. Smith works part-time as a big game guide in his home state; the 34-year-old is also engaged in a bucking horse breeding program at home.

Taking first in the Tucson bareback riding contest was Joe Alexander, the phenomenal 32-year-old cowboy who won a record fifth straight crown in 1975. Alexander scored 79 for $1,495. He leads Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association North American championship standings in the event with $7,902.

Other Tucson winners included Bob Ragsdale of Chowchilla, Calif., first in the calf roping average for $1,780. His total time on two runs was 24.6 seconds. Mike Ring of Toppensh, Wash., won the steer wrestling average for $1,265; his total time on two was 12.1 seconds. John Rodriguez of Castroville, Calif., and Jim Wheatley of Hughson, Calif., were first in team roping with 18.2 seconds on two runs, good for $1,702 each.
