Senate backing record budget

Defense cuts beaten

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is backing President Ford's request for a record peacetime defense budget but is making no moves to cut domestic spending that the administration finds "unnecessary or undesirable."

In adopting an over-all $412.6-billion federal spending ceiling for fiscal 1977, the Senate beat down an attempt to cut defense programs by $500 million.

The Senate on Monday gave Ford nearly all he asked for defense, trimming only $300 million from the $101.1 billion he requested. The $500 million additional cut proposed in an amendment by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., was beaten by a 58-27 vote.

The House only last Friday indicated its support for a high level of defense spending, passing a $33.3 billion military weapons procurement bill at a level $1 billion more than Ford requested.

The resolution setting congressional spending ceilings now goes to the House for consideration after an Easter recess ending April 26.

The $412.6 billion over-all budget compares with $395.2 billion recommended by Ford in January.

The Senate Budget Committee, which had recommended cutting the $300 million in defense spending, calculated that its ceiling for 17 categories of expenditures would produce a deficit next year of $50.2 billion. But this figure was disputed by administration officials.

The administration's budget calls for a $46.6 billion deficit on figures also disputed by congressional budget experts.

Budget director James T. Lynn said after Monday's vote that the Senate budget target will produce a deficit of $54 billion next fiscal year.

"The truth is that the Senate budget adds at least $16 billion in unnecessary or undesirable federal spending," Lynn said in a statement.

In addition to refusing to slash defense spending, the Senate also defeated attempts to increase or to reduce domestic program expenditures recommended by its Budget Committee.

The House Budget Committee has approved a congressional budget resolution calling for $413.6 billion in over-all federal spending next year, with an estimated deficit of $50.6 billion.

'Scattered' rain

'Blackout' noted in Sand Springs

"It's getting better every day," said County Agent Bruce Griffith about the deluge of moisture that has covered the Spring city during the past couple of days.

"It was real scattered," Griffith added, "quite a few spots haven't had as much as in town."

The County Agent was still optimistic about planting, however. "A few places need a couple of more inches, but it's looking better."

Area reports confirm Griffith's remarks about "scattered" rain. The U. S. Experiment Station reported only .89 of an inch since 8:00 Monday morning, while Sand Springs reports a total of 2.91 since Monday morning at 7:00 a.m.

Sand Springs also experienced a loss of electricity from 10:45 p.m. last night to 7:10 a.m. today. Lightning hit a transformer at a substation and caused the 'blackout.' That town also had some light hail Monday shortly before noon with no damage reported.

Griffith, who resides about 2½ miles east of town, said his gauges had trapped about two inches of moisture since the rainy spell started with light showers Sunday evening.

Very little planting likely will take place in the county until the last week in April or the first week in May. The soil temperature should reach at least 60 or 65 degrees before cotton goes into the ground. Most of the farmers have their land put up and are ready to go to work.

The northern edge of the county, specifically close to Ackerly, reported no more than .3 of an inch for the period and that area usually is blessed with heavier rains than are other parts of the county.

Forsan School Superintendent Bill Cregar reported .9 of an inch early this morning and a total since Sunday of 2.5 at Elbow. He also reported "pretty high winds" with no damage.

Reports from the Coahoma Ag Department have .3 to .4 of an inch of rainfall Monday night, and 2.3 inches since yesterday morning.

The H. H. Wilkinson ranch west of town reported 1 inch of rainfall last night, and a total of 1.4 since Monday morning.

Boyce Hale, who lives 5 miles south of Big Spring, reported 1.65 inches of rain since Monday morning.

Unofficial in town reports have ranged from 1.5 inches to 1.8 inches of rainfall.

More showers are forecast for the southern part of the state and with just a little luck, more rain could be in the forecast for Big Spring as well.

The area's most severe weather concentrated in the Lamesa area, where heavy rains and pea-sized hail flooded streets and highways in and out of the Dawson County city. Parts of the community were without electrical power during the storm, which started about 9:45 p.m., and continued until about 10:15 p.m.

Rainfall was estimated to be 1.25 inches at Andrews and it was accompanied by hail. Post reported two inches of moisture Monday.

Snyder, however, managed only a quarter of an inch of rain, indicating the Lake J. B. Thomas watershed benefitted very little.

TWO FOR ONE — Jimmy Taylor, president of the First National Bank is trading two one-dollar bills to Charlotte Ladner for one of the new two-dollar variety. In commemoration of Thomas Jefferson's birthday, the government is introducing $2 bills into the nation's money supply.

By year-end, 400 million of the new bills will have been distributed, including 225 million today. However, local banks will not have the new currency until after 1 p.m. Wednesday.

Computer services to cost city about $45,000 year

The city council agreed on first reading this morning to enter into a contract with Howard College for computer services starting July 1.

The service will cost the city $45,000 per year. "We will just about break even the first year, but after the first year, we will be receiving additional services for less money," City Manager Harry Nagel told the council.

The city plans to sell their computer system and the city manager was authorized to advertise for bids.

"This is the first step toward governmental groups actually working together on services. It will give the citizens of Big Spring a better computer service and it will also allow the college to increase their services both for teaching and computer service," Nagel added.

In other action, the city appointed Gary and Hohertz as architects for Pottion House, using state funds designated to improvements there. It also approved remodeling of the Dora Roberts Community Center, on funds provided by the Dora Roberts Foundation.

The council agreed to submit a grant application to the Texas

Commission on Alcoholism for operating funds for the Detox Center next year.

Councilmen approved tourist and traffic commission minutes and named Councilman Harold Hall to negotiate upward from the high bid on a city lot in the Wright Addition.

The tourism report showed that $150 will be donated for a square dance festival, $600 for a Women's Open, Slow Pitch Softball State Tournament here in August, and $300 to the Teenage Baseball Association to help them with a loss in their tournament last summer.

The committee is also studying possibilities in billboards to advertise Big Spring.

Traffic commission action includes a change in the speed limit, dropping it to 35 m.p.h. entering the area on Third where Birdwell intersects, because of the large number of accidents there.

There will also be yield signs placed on Third Street at North Main, on Twentieth Street at Johnson and on Sixteenth Street at Benton.

Mayor Wade Choate presided. Present were Mayor Pro-Tem Polly Mays, Councilmen Charles Tompkins and Harold Hall. Eddie Aciri did not attend.

Mayor names election judge

Mayor Wade Choate today named Jimmy Jolly an election judge and Virginia Duran, assistant for Box 1 on the Northside. He said that he had named the people after both the judge and alternate resigned.

Mrs. Lillian Barnett Davidson sent the mayor a letter explaining why she had resigned as judge. The mayor read the letter at the city council meeting.

In part, it said, "Sir, I will not be used by any ambitious politicians to make Precinct 1 a scapegoat for their benefit."

"On acceptance of judgeship for the four elections to be held at the same place simultaneously, I said I would only try. God knows I did try against insurmountable odds and intense pressure from the outside."

Ynez Yanez, who was assistant judge, also refused to serve at Box 1, as did his wife, according to Mayor Choate.

Other judges for the election include Janette Mansfield and Dana West, Box 2; W. D. Berry and Lee Porter, Box 3; Bill Sheppard, B. Atkins, Box 4 and E.R. Mundt and Illetta Peterson, Box 5.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: High school election

Q. In the high school elections, all nominating petitions were supposed to be turned in to school officials by Friday, April 2. Some students got the idea that an exception was made. If so, how did they justify it?

A. One petition was allowed to be turned in at 8:30 a.m. Monday by a girl who was away from school on Thursday and Friday representing the school in a track meet. She had her petition filled out, but left it with a friend to turn in for her and the friend forgot. The counselor's office said that they always check on each petition that is out and not returned before the final day is over. Since this student was away at a track meet, they could not check with her until 8:30 a.m. Monday and she had the petition properly signed, so they accepted it. As it turned out, she was one of the students elected by the student body.

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — District Court Judge W. J. Oxford assessed Rhonda Gail Taylor, 18, five years in prison for a Jan. 26 burglary. Then he called the young Galveston woman and her parents to the bench and told Miss Taylor:

"The district attorney does not know about this. I am letting you out of jail on your recognizance because your parents have told me your grandmother is very ill."

Then he told her to be back April 19 for formal sentencing.

Best bet on TV: Peter Cottontail

FOR THE YOUNGER set "Here Comes Peter Cottontail," an animated special relating how Peter fails to deliver more Easter eggs than the evil Irontail, but is saved from disgrace by Mr. Sassafrass and his time machine, seems to be an ideal way to spend the early viewing hours.

For the older set, a rerun of MASH at 8:00 p.m. is worth watching again. The program is a touching account of the unit's help in evacuating an orphanage.

Top awards handed out

Local Jaycees install Roberts as president

Neal Roberts and Mrs. Dean Anderson were installed as new presidents of the Big Spring Jaycees and Jaycee-Ettes when the awards and installation banquet were held at the Officers Club at Webb AFB Monday night.

Top awards in the Jaycees, presented by Perry Culwell, outgoing president, included Dan Reynolds, as director of the year. Neal Roberts was presented both the president's award and the officer of the year, selected by the directors. Don Bucholtz was named outstanding first year Jaycee and Steve Poitevint was Jaycee of the Year. Morris Molpus Jr. was recipient of the Key Man award. Culwell also received a past president's plaque.

Dr. Birkman elected Colorado City mayor

COLORADO CITY — Dr. Elton Birkman was elected mayor of Colorado City at the Monday night meeting of the city council. Birkman replaces Larry Hamner.

Chosen mayor pro-tem was Rick Perkin, a spot vacated by Birkman when he was selected as mayor. The city charter dictates that the council names both the mayor and mayor pro-tem.

Mrs. Marion Bassham, Mrs. Tom Neff, J. O. Dockery and J. Lee Jones are other members of the council.

A budget hearing was held by the council. Members approved spending $857,235, compared to last year's budget of $836,480.

The budget does not include the expenditure of $825,000 in bond money, much of which will be invested during the next year.

The council opted to recall $97,000 in 1949 bonds which must be recalled and paid off before new bonds voted for in a recent bond election can be sold.

The city will obtain the $97,000 from other sources to pay off 1949 bonds.

The council voted to buy two new police cars and to keep one of the present cars, giving the police department an additional vehicle. The councilmen voted to accept the low bid of $8,639 from Hutchins Ford for the two new cars, less one car as a trade-in.

The council also approved a new increase in water and sewer rates, increasing the minimum water bill from $4.25 to $4.50 per month and the sewer charge from $1.25 to $2 per month.

The change is effective immediately.

The council approved an engineering contract with A. W. Harrison to oversee the street improvements scheduled for this summer. He is to receive 8½ per cent of money spent on street repair. According to city manager James Campbell, his fee will amount to approximately $30,000. This will be paid from bond funds voted for street improvements.

award. Mrs. Linda Faulkner, area vice president, was in charge of their installation of officers. Jerry Dyer of Kermit, area director, was in charge of the installation of the new Jaycee president. Mike Faulkner of Lubbock was master of ceremonies.

Culwell also presented special awards. Danny Valdes, chief photographer for the Big Spring Herald, was given a Distinguished Service plaque. Mrs. Marj Carpenter, reporter, was presented the Jaycee American Press award. A certificate of appreciation also went to J. Tom Graham, Herald publisher, and was accepted by Editor Tommy Hart, who was a special guest along with his wife.

New Jaycee executive officers, in addition to Roberts are Don Doubleday, Ken Johnson, Steve Poitevint and Don Bucholtz.

Entertainment at the banquet was the Fish and Chips scene handled by Barry Fish, Joe Edwards, Scott Vick and Jimmy Griffin.

Past directors honored included Roberts, Don Doubleday, Molpus, Johnson, Reynolds, Dale Ferguson, Danny Williams, Mike McKinney and Louis Smith.

Doubleday also presented special awards for help with the Rattlesnake Roundup. These went to Molpus, Johnson, Bucholtz, Poitevint, Johnson, Mrs. Roberts and David Nallen.

Terry Hanson, local chamber manager, was also a special guest.

JAYCEE AWARDS — Steve Poitevint was named Jaycee of the Year; Don Bucholtz, outstanding first year Jaycee; Perry Culwell, outgoing president and Morris Molpus, winner of the Key Man award at the Jaycee banquet Monday night.

Impact on substitute teachers discussed

School count might dip 1,162 if Webb closed

By MARJ CARPENTER
Big Spring school trustees looked with concern at the possible impact on the school district should Webb AFB close when they met here Monday night.

Figures show that the elementary school would lose 464 military children; 135 in junior high and 141 in the high school. Civilian workers have 208 elementary children, 90 in junior high and 124 at the high school.

ROY WATKINS

Watkins, Little, Poss re-elected

Roy Watkins was re-elected president of the school board when they met Monday night.

Other officers were also re-elected including Jim Bill Little, vice president and Denor Poss, secretary.

The official canvass of the votes was held.

Watkins received 1,207 votes; Poss, 1,074; Mrs. Carol Hunter, 829; Jimmy Newsum, 404 and Mrs. Billie Carr, 173.

Write-ins included one each for Jack Irons, Stanley Bogard, Dixie Powell, Ray Alexander and Nabar Martinez.

The total figure, if all of the civilian personnel left would include 1,162. Twenty-eight teachers and aides have spouses employed at Webb.

This would leave the school with approximately 19 extra teachers if it occurred.

The board discussed the possibility of placing contingency clauses in personnel contracts but decided not to go that route.

Board members agreed to honor all contracts with teachers subject to reassignment if the closing occurred. If necessary, they would utilize them in the positions of aides and substitute teachers and still pay them their contract salaries. If the closing came about, the aides and substitute teachers would probably be the ones to go.

In other action, the board discussed at length a request from the local unit of the Texas State Teachers Association to have a referendum vote on whether to delete social security benefits from the school district.

The board disagreed sharply on this matter because once it is lost, it can never be regained. Jim Bill Little pleaded that some of the workers who are not professionals might really have their security hurt by removal of social security.

"You would be putting one person's pocketbook against another's security."

Al Valdes argued that a simple 51 per cent majority ought to decide the issue. Denor Poss thought that since it really might be very important to the non-professional that the vote margin might should be required to be 60-40. Jerry Jenkins and Tom Fetters expressed a belief that it might should be a two-thirds majority.

The board discussed such things as that a young teacher couple would give up the privilege, should the man die, of having social security benefits for growing children. They also discussed the workers who might not be married to somebody who had social security.

Staked against such items as these was the claim by the teachers that in many cases it is simply money taken from their checks that they will never recover. They also have teacher retirement removed from their checks.

Mrs. Janice Rossos, representing the TSTA, pointed out that most school districts only take out teacher retirement. The board finally agreed to hold a referendum vote, but to make no decision on the meaning of the vote until after the election.

Board members eyed two requests from elementary P-TA units. One was a request made earlier by the College Heights P-TA asking for assistance in an air conditioning project.

Walter Alexander, director of properties for the schools, presented plans for the project and the board agreed to let bids for air conditioning at the school. They also discussed that if the base closed and some elementary schools had to be closed, that this particular school would not be a project for closure.

The board also agreed to finance $800 of a $1600 P-TA sidewalk project at March Elementary.

The board employed three new coaches, including Garland Braun, Thomas Koger and Ron Logback. They accepted resignations from three coaches, including Ron Rogers, Mike Carraway and Ronald Stump. The announcement of Coach Stump's resignation had not been made earlier. He also plans to go to Port Arthur to join Coaches Bob Burris, Bob Glover, Tommy Moss and Carraway — all former Big Springers.

Resignations of Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Mary Thigpen also were accepted.

The board agreed to allow the legislative committee of the Chamber of Commerce Century Club to be the coordinating body for efforts to keep Webb AFB open.

Trustees appointed Bill Estes, Lowell Jones and D.A. Brazel to the board of equalization and set dates as June 23-25.

The board was also given information on bids to improve the athletic field house. Metal and glazing work went to Barber Glass and Mirror on a low bid of $7,650; mechanical contract to K-Lain Inc. for a low bid of $6,280 and electrical work to Belco Electric on a low bid of $7,096.

Board members were also told that the board may attend a schoolboard workshop at UTPB on May 7. Both Dr. Emmett McKenzie, school superintendent, and Roy Watkins, board president, were on the planning committee for the school.

Plans were also approved for the second meeting in April to be held April 26.

Board members present included Watkins, Little, Poss, Valdes, Fetters, and Jenkins with Don Reynolds absent.

Rupard proposes new rules for approval of subdivisions

County Commissioner Ikie Rupard Monday proposed increasing requirements for approval of some subdivisions.

County Commissioners Court requires subdividers to construct their own roads. Performing this work at the county expense is against policy.

Rupard suggested the court "go one step further" when developers are building homes on lots, not just selling acreage. "I think the contractor should pave that road," Rupard said.

Commissioner Jack Buchanan mentioned specifying the distance between houses in determining when paving is required. No action was taken on the matter. In other business, the court:

Agreed to open the last 400 feet of a county road through a track owned by Mabel Grimes. Vera Sandlin, represented her sister who lives out of town, at the meeting.

Road construction approved under the previous commissioner of precinct two ended at a barbwire fence although right of way dedicated to the county goes further, County Engineer

Executives of airlines differ on service costs

AUSTIN — Robert E. McClure of Big Spring, executive vice president of Trans Regional Airlines, estimated here Monday that the cost of providing new air passenger service for Abilene, Brownwood, Austin and Dallas would run upwards to $500,000 a year.

McClure and representatives of other airlines were appearing before a hearing examiner for the Texas Aeronautics Commission.

McClure's statements were in sharp contrast to the testimony of Rep. Lynn Nabers of Brownwood, a corporate officer of Eagle Commuter Airlines, who said scaled-down expenses likely would run less than $200,000 annually.

The two commuter airlines were to resume oral arguments today before the Texas Aeronautics Commission. Hearing examiner John Soule said he wanted testimony to end by noon today.

Monday afternoon was spent with McClure and Trans Regional president Louis Rosenbaum of El Paso explaining their present and proposed operations.

The hearing opened Monday with a series of Brownwood civic and governmental leaders saying Brown County and the surrounding seven counties continued air transportation.

Many of the community witnesses favored the application of Eagle, a Brownwood-based enterprise.

However, Rosenbaum and McClure said they would be moving a significant portion of Trans Regional's physical operations to Brownwood, if granted the expanded route.

Texas International Airlines is expected to receive final permission to drop the route some time this summer.

Trans Regional operates scheduled flights only between Big Spring and the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport. It also operates "on demand" charter service between Midland-Odessa and Big Spring.

The application is the first for Eagle, whose major financial backer is Gerald James of Brownwood.

Although not specifically applying for service to Austin, Nabers said Eagle is prepared to accept the route from either Abilene or Brownwood, if the TAC thinks potential traffic would warrant it.

Under cross-examination by Nabers, Rosenbaum said his present route from Big Spring to Dallas operated under a cash loss of $31,000 in the first three months of service.

"We had better hopes which did not materialize," Rosenbaum said. He told Soule he had promised the Big Spring air passenger service, no matter what the cost, and would continue operating the route.

"There's no way to make expenses meet without expanding the service," he said.

Rosenbaum said he personally was able to back Trans Regional until losses reached $200,000.

Nabers spent several hours Monday afternoon reviewing Rosenbaum's assets and liabilities. In addition to the commuter airline, Rosenbaum has holdings in real estate, ice skating rinks and a limousine service.

The dilapidated drive-in on the out-skirts of Big Spring will definitely be torn down as soon as the weather allows. This news was announced at Monday's meeting of the Board of Directors of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, and later confirmed by the drive-in's owner, Ike Robb.

"If we don't do anything else, it will be a successful year if we get that drive-in torn down," Larry Willard, chairman of the chamber community development council, said jokingly.

"I have contracted Eddie Owen to do the job. I assume that he will start any day now," said Robb, when contacted after the meeting.

In a report from Tom Roy, chamber industrial man, directors learned that further steps have been taken to entice a west coast industrial prospect to Big Spring.

Representatives of the industry in question have implied to Roy that they are waiting for the results of voting on pertinent legislation now before Congress before naming a site in Texas or elsewhere.

(Sen.) Tower and (Cong.) Bursleson have consented to a briefing about the legislation and our position, May 5. It may not help much, but it sure won't hurt," said Roy.

Roy also stated that initial

Industrial plans mulled, drive-in to be torn down plans have been made with area towns, including Wichita Falls and Odessa, to present a united front in trying to attract the industry to the area.

Also, Ralph Brooks proposed that the legislative committee of the chamber's Century Club serve as the central organizing group sending representatives to Washington, D.C. to protest the possible closing of Webb AFB.

Brooks explained that the request had originated with Big Spring Mayor Wade Choate, and that all local civic groups contacted had agreed to the proposal. It was unanimously approved by the directors.

In other business: — the executive committee of the Century Club has allocated more funds to send representatives to Washington, D.C. to speak against Webb's closure. The club has also begun plans for the Webb AFB Rodeo and Barbeque for enlisted men. The event is planned for May 17 or 18.

— Col. Robert Owens, wing commander at Webb AFB, announced that it will be early summer before public hearings in regard to the mental impact of Webb's closing would begin. It will also be early summer before initial impact statements will be released to the public register, said Owens.

— Johnnie Lou Avery was introduced as a new member of the chamber board of directors.

— John Arrick of the chamber's Organizational Affairs Council announced that the chamber membership drive will begin in the third week in May. He also stated that work is nearly completed on portraits for the chamber's "hallway of fame." For this project, portraits of all chamber Man and Woman of the Year winners will be hung in the hallway of the chamber office.

— the community development council is arranging for the placement of several new signs in the area, including the replacement of those around Moss Creek Lake.

— the Big Spring Area Student Involvement Council (BASIC) has organized a Bicentennial Essay Contest for area students. Essays by junior and senior high school students will be submitted to local English teachers, and, in turn, judged by a panel of BASIC members. A cash prize will be awarded to the winner.

— professional agencies have been contacted by the chamber in an effort to put together a slide show documenting Big Spring. The show, accompanied by a soundtrack, would be used to lure industry to the city.

— Ronald Reagan's visit to Midland will begin at approximately 4:30 p.m. today when the former California governor arrives at Midland Air Terminal.

Following his arrival, Reagan is to travel to the University of Texas of the Permian Basin campus in Odessa for a speech at 5:20 p.m.

After leaving UTPB, Reagan will attend a private reception in Midland Lee High for a 7:30 p.m. rally where he is scheduled to make a major statement concerning the nation's energy situation.

— Reports from officers and committees will make up the regular business meeting, and refreshments will be served.

Deaths

Gladys Stephens

Mrs. Gladys Stephens, 69, died of natural causes at 8:30 a.m. today, Justice of the Peace Gus Ochotorena ruled.

Mrs. Stephens, Route 1, Box 384, died at her brother's home, 506 S. Lancaster St., where she had been staying.

Services are pending at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

She was born July 18, 1906 in Erath County.

She was a retired laundry supervisor at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Mrs. Stephens came to Big Spring in 1929 from Erath County and married Jim Stephens in 1929.

He preceded her in death in 1964.

She was a member of the Sand Springs Church of Christ.

Survivors include five brothers, M. C. Prevo and Bernie Prevo, Big William Prevo, Guam, Eugene Prevo, Post, Edwin Prevo, Germany; three sisters Mrs. Bill (Geneva) Carroll, Cleveland, Tenn. Mrs. Glen (Grace) James and Mrs. Joe (Rosy) Davis, both of Oklahoma City.

Rites are pending at the Elmwood Funeral Home in Abilene for Frank Gibson, 68, who died at 12:33 a.m. today in a local hospital as the result of injuries sustained shortly before noon Monday when he was felled by a lightning bolt.

Mr. Gibson and his wife, 59, were walking up the driveway of a relative's home here when the bolt hit a metal shaft in the umbrella they were carrying. The two Abilene residents had come to Big Spring to attend the funeral of Jennifer Bradbury, two-day old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Bradbury.

Mrs. Gibson, still confined to a local hospital as result of the accident, was reportedly to be in stable condition.

Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home handled local arrangements.

Mrs. Gibson regained consciousness at the scene, which was a residential area in east Big Spring.

The umbrella handle held by the two showed burn marks as did Mr. Gibson's lower left leg. His slacks were split by the force of the lightning.

H. A. Chambers

KERMIT — Henry A. Chambers, 60, died Monday at 3:15 p.m. in Kermit Memorial Hospital after an illness.

Graveside services will be held 2 p.m. Thursday at Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of Cooper Funeral Home of Kermit.

He was born Sept. 1, 1915 in Mangrum, Okla., and was a pumper for Felmont Oil Corp. and a veteran of WWII.

He lived in Kermit for 13 years and was a resident of Foran until 1953.

Reagan pays Midland visit

Ronald Reagan's visit to Midland will begin at approximately 4:30 p.m. today when the former California governor arrives at Midland Air Terminal.

Following his arrival, Reagan is to travel to the University of Texas of the Permian Basin campus in Odessa for a speech at 5:20 p.m.

After leaving UTPB, Reagan will attend a private reception in Midland Lee High for a 7:30 p.m. rally where he is scheduled to make a major statement concerning the nation's energy situation.

Rail veterans plan reports

Big Spring Unit 130, of the National Association of Retired and Veteran Railway Employees, will meet in Kentwood Adult Activity Center, 2805 Lynn Drive, at 7:30 p.m., Thursday April 15th.

Reports from officers and committees will make up the regular business meeting, and refreshments will be served.

Bessie Borland

LAMESA — Services for Bessie Velma Borland, 73, of Lamesa were held at 10 a.m. today in the Downtown Church of Christ here with O.H. Tabor and Allen Hahn officiating.

Burial followed in Lamesa Memorial Park here under the direction of Branon Funeral Home of Lamesa.

A native of Comanche County, she had been a resident of Dawson County for 42 years. She was a housewife and a member of the Church of Christ.

Survivors include her husband, Luther "Wayne", two sons, Hollis Borland of Ropesville and Jake Borland of Lamesa; four daughters, Mrs. Berta Vogler, Mrs. Marie Rinewalt and Mrs. Betty Miller, all of Lamesa, and Mrs. Nina Acuff of Amarillo; two brothers, J.B. Livingston of San Antonio and Ira Livingston of Midland; 11 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mrs. McCall

CISCO — Mrs. W. A. (Maude) McCall of Cisco was buried Sunday at 2 p.m. in Cisco Memorial Cemetery. She was 88 years old.

Her father, the late J. W. Hartman, was one of the first pioneers in West Texas.

Survivors include a son, Hartman McCall of Midland; a daughter, Lucille Cotten of Beaumont; one grandson, Charles McCall Jr. of Big Spring; two granddaughters, Nancy McCall of Houston and Barbara Frazier of Beaumont; and one great-grandson, Tim Frazier of Beaumont.

School play at Coahoma

The fifth-grade students of Coahoma Elementary School will give a final performance of the choral program, "My Country 'Tis of Thee," today at 7:30 p.m. in the Coahoma High School Auditorium.

Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery of the Howard County Bicentennial Commission encourages all parents and residents of Howard County to attend the unscheduled repeat performance.

The first two programs were given on Friday for Coahoma students. Mrs. Avery was so impressed with the production that she persuaded W.A. Fishback, principal of the school, and the company to schedule one last performance so the public could attend the patriotic musical trek through America's history.

Water pressure draws pressure

What Council Charles Tompkins refers to as the annual discussion of water pressure came up before the city council at the end of this morning's meeting.

Tompkins requested information concerning what had been done in studying water pressure problems.

City manager Harry Nagel told of several possibilities that had been considered, all of which required a great deal of money.

Councilman Harold Hall suggested that an engineering study be made concerning water pressure problems throughout the city including the area around the Jet Drive-in, as well as Highland South and other areas.

"We might do better to plan a new level system and we may eventually have to go the route of a bond issue if Big Spring is to continue to grow."

The problems centering around city finance woes if Webb AFB closes were also discussed.

Roy Crim, city engineer, was present, along with a new associate, Jerry Roberts. He was instructed to begin looking into the matter with no decisions to be made at this time.

Tompkins asked if there was sufficient water for each home to install their own pressure system. He was told yes. "There is a 12 inch main down Goliad and along Highland Drive and this is one of the largest in the city," Crim answered.

Mrs. Polly Mays asked if the new homes being placed in the area were installing larger pipes into their homes. The answer by city officials was, "I don't think so."

Autopsy reveals broken neck

COLORADO CITY — James Peter Smith, 23, of Pierre, S.D., died as a result of a broken neck, according to the autopsy report made in Houston last week and phoned to the Mitchell County Sheriff's Department.

The autopsy was performed by a Houston forensic pathologist, Dr. Jachimczyk, head of the Harris County medical office, on the body found under a county bridge on the Iatan Road one-half mile from IS-20.

The pathologist said that the first, second and third cervical vertebrae were fractured.

The partially mummified body was discovered the morning of March 23 by Short Womack, former Mitchell County resident, as he was on his way to the Iatan community to visit with friends.

Through the driver's license in the wallet and an unusual belt buckle, the body was identified, verified through matching dental records.

The body was taken to Houston last week by Deputies Mike Stutts and Jim Heynaud. The complete written report is to be mailed to Sheriff Bill McGuire.

According to preliminary information obtained from members of Smith's family and the law enforcement officials in South Dakota, the young man was last seen by those who knew him in Vermillion, S.D., in July 1975. He phoned his sister in South Dakota from Abilene in July saying he was hitchhiking to California. That telephone conversation is the last time any of the family heard from him.

Also in the wallet opened in the Department of Public Safety lab in Austin was a student identification card for South Dakota State College in Vermillion and $36 in cash. His driver's license listed his height at 6 feet 2 inches and weight at 175 pounds.

"Smith had a history of suffering from depression and had been a patient at South Dakota State Hospital," McGuire said. "He also had a criminal record in South Dakota, but I am not at liberty to divulge information about that at this time."

The sheriff has also found out that the youth did odd jobs, like dishwashing or working in a service station. The department is still trying to pinpoint his actions and who last saw him alive in the area.

VFW Week proclaimed

Mayor Wade Choate has proclaimed the week of April 25 to May 1 as V.F.W. Bicentennial Week.

Local Post No. 2013 is celebrating the Bicentennial with a week-long series of events, culminating in the annual observance of Loyalty Day.

Each day's events will consist of an appropriate program to highlight a special aspect of American and community life.

Chief Deputy Newby resigns

COLORADO CITY — Wendell Bryant, 24, former patrolman with the city police, has been hired as a deputy by Sheriff Bill McGuire to fill the vacancy created by the resignation Tuesday of Chief Deputy L.M. Newby.

Deputy Mike Stutts was promoted to Chief Deputy, but will continue to live in Loraine.

U.S. may sell weapons to Tito

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States wants to step up arms sales to Yugoslavia, and is even considering selling sophisticated antitank missiles to the Communist nation, government officials say.

Yugoslavia expressed an interest late last year in buying U.S. weapons, and the Ford administration has asked President Tito's government to request formally the helicopters, radars and navigation systems it wants, sources in the State Department, Pentagon and Congress disclosed Monday.

The possibility of including sophisticated antitank missiles in a deal has also been raised, the sources said. Yugoslavia, which has received U.S. weapons in small numbers in the past, has not yet replied.

Under Tito, Yugoslavia has long been the Eastern European country most independent of the Soviet Union. The United States already plans to sell it $1.5 million in arms next year, but that figure could be dwarfed by a deal involving helicopters and other costly weapons. Meanwhile, in related developments: —The State Department said the Peoples Republic of China has never applied for military aid. Former Defense Secretary James Schlesinger said Sunday that U.S. officials have speculated about selling arms to China.

Her knowledge of industry vast Dame Jacobena Victoria Angliss would seem an unlikely person to be discussing cows.

But there she was, sitting on the sofa of Mr. and Mrs. K. H. (Chub) McGibbon, 108 Cedar Road, talking about the cattle industry from such detailed knowledge that I couldn't follow some of what she said.

DAME ANGLISS is the wife of the Australian meat processor, exporter and cattle raiser, Sir William Angliss. Since his death 20 years ago, Dame Angliss has been active in their cattle companies and the charitable foundations which he established.

Her husband came out (to Australia) from England and recognized the need for meat freezing and storage facilities on the eastern coast of Australia. He built several plants, acquired others and eventually branched into cattle breeding itself.

Today, the exporting business has been sold, but Dame Angliss (she was given the title in January 1975 by Queen Elizabeth for her charity work in Australia) is still very much involved in the nine stations (ranches) run by her husband's companies despite her 80 years.

So much so that the superintendents know that they had better not buy a stud bull without Dame Angliss' knowledge.

Her companies are among the

biggest cattle raisers in Australia. The nine stations which they operate would be huge, even by Texas standards.

The ruggedness of the Australian cattle industry gave no coarseness to Dame Angliss. She spoke gently but with understanding about her cattle and their habits, about how they

"camp" in a circle with their heads out and their calves in the middle to ward off dingoes (wild dogs), about a bullock becoming attached to his mate and running to the other like old friends if they are reunited, about drovers (cowboys who drive cattle) being careful as they approach water with a herd to keep them from rushing (stampeding).

THE AUSTRALIAN cattle industry has some similarities with that of the American Southwest, except the distances are so much greater and transportation more difficult.

Drought is a constant threat. In those times cattle must walk seven miles or so into water every couple of days. Grass to eat around the water is a problem. Thousands of head starve.

But when it rains, it pours. Dame Angliss' companies are still reeling from a flood two years ago which whiped out herds of four of the stations built at the junctions of several big rivers.

Dame Angliss said that when she flew over the stations, nothing but water could be seen — not even the tops of trees. The flood reduced their total number of cattle to 200,000, and with today's bad market prices, she is not sure when the companies will be able to bounce back.

The Australian cattlemen have many problems. Because of the size of the stations (300 miles in any direction), they are forced to muster (round up) their cattle by helicopter.

Because of bad or no roads, much of the cattle must still be moved to market by drovers, and they are a vanishing breed of men. If the "stock routes" that the drovers follow get eaten off, the cattle company is in trouble.

Listening to Dame Angliss, one is reminded of the Texas cattlemen's problems which at times seem so numerous that it is a miracle anything could ever go right.

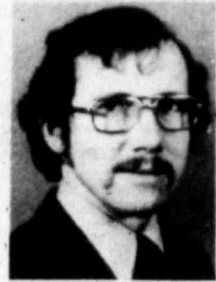

DURING THE weekend visit with the McGibbons whom she met through their daughter, Dame Angliss was to have visited some ranches in the Big Spring area, and she wasn't going to see them at their best because of the dry spell here.

Much of the Australian beef is exported to the U.S. for hamburger (because it is frozen, not because there is anything wrong with its quality, she pointed out), and it was natural that the protest many American ranchers have against importing Australian beef would come up in the conversation.

"The American market is very important to Australia," she said. "We take quite a lot of American goods. We have whole stores of American promotions. Beef is one of the very few things that we can trade back to America."

Dame Angliss said that trade between the two countries provides a "great link," one that Australia generally couldn't live without.

Dream achievement

Around the rim

Troy Bryant

Doctors have Dr. Jonas Salk and Dr. Christian Barnard; comedians have Jack Benny and Bob Hope; bank robbers have Bonnie and Clyde; and now, reporters have Bob Woodard and Carl Bernstein.

WHO ARE BOB WOODARD and Carl Bernstein? I couldn't have answered that a few days ago, but since the movie 'All the President's Men' was released, Americans are coming to know them as Robert Redford and Dustin Hoffman.

Actually, they were two 'low man on the totem pole' reporters for the Washington Post who stumbled over the break-in at Watergate and then stayed with the story until it involved even the United States.

That's the kind of achievement all — reporters dream about. Woodard and Bernstein, sometimes referred to as "Woodstein" by their outspoken editor, didn't shy away when the pressure was applied, didn't stop when they reached a dead end, and didn't take no for an answer.

As a result, they helped excise a massive cancer which was eating away at the constitution and the freedom of the press.

The movie probably won't win any awards for acting, music, art, or costumes, but this movie is a must for every American, and a double must for every reporter.

PERHAPS THE BEST April Fool hoax (besides the leaning courthouse picture by Danny Valdes) occurred in 1938. On April 1, of that year, a panda in Brookfield Zoo near Chicago died. When Su-Lin was alive, all the zoo keepers thought he was a she. But upon his death, they discovered otherwise.

A student wrote the following letter to a circuit court judge after his eighth grade class visited his courtroom during trial as a part of a civics project:

"I HEARD FROM all the other people in school that your courtroom was exciting and very interesting (sic) I wish I could have had a chance to visit (sic) the court room not because I committed (sic) a crime but for other various (sic) reasons."

He signed it, "Snitkoff Colubian and Company."

Where are they?

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Has it ever occurred to anybody that the reason crime rates in Los Angeles, San Francisco and New York are so high is that the police are so busy cooperating with television and movie companies making crime dramas that they don't have time to fight the real guys?

I SUGGEST this is what is probably going on in any of the three cities right now.

"Chief, three people have been murdered at 1699 Maple St."

"Well, why tell me? Send a couple of squad cars over there."

"We don't have any available. They're all being used for a big chase in Police Woman. You see, Angie Dickinson is caught in this fish canery and this mad rapist is about to..."

"I don't want to know the plot. Send over the Homicide Squad."

"The Homicide Squad is tied up on Starksy and Hutch. A gang of car thieves are planning to wipe out a state witness and the Homicide Squad was booked for it a month ago."

"Why don't they use real actors instead of our people, dammit?"

THEY ARE using real actors. Our Homicide Squad is just standing by so no one steals the movie equipment."

"For crying out loud. How are we supposed to fight crime if all our people are tied up making TV movies?"

"Headquarters says we have to cooperate with the TV and film producers because it gives the police department a good image."

"Okay, as soon as they finish Police Woman tell them to get over to Maple St."

"I can't. The police cars are needed for a Baretta sequence. It seems Baretta is on to a dope ring and he infiltrated the gang. They discovered he was a cop and if the police cars don't arrive in time, they'll kill him and that will be the end of the series."

"What about the sheriff's office? Ask them to fill in for us until we can get someone over there."

"I called them but their people are all tied up with The FBI story. Efrim Zimbalist is chasing some guy in the foothills of Santa Monica."

"Why doesn't the FBI supply its own people for an FBI story?"

"They're using every FBI agent in the area, but for this particular sequence they need the sheriff's department as well."

"All right, send over the Emergency Squad."

"THEY'VE BEEN tied up all week at Universal Pictures. The Vice Squad is over at Twentieth Century-Fox doing a remake of 'Little Caesar' and every foot patrolman we have is working on a spinoff of 'Helter Skelter' at Sam Goldwyn Studios."

"I imagine the police Helicopter Squadron is also being used for a picture?"

Underwear hygiene matter

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Of late my teenage son and some of his friends have started a habit of wearing no underwear under their jeans. I cannot believe this is healthy. I'm of the old school, and really find this quite repulsive.

Can you give me some reasons why they should not do this? — Mrs. R.F.

I would advise against it from the standpoint of hygiene. To say the least, it is unsanitary. Jeans aren't laundered as often as undershorts are, which, as far as I know, is the reason for their use in the first place. Also, a rash in sensitive areas could easily result from either chafing or from exposure to chemicals used in manufacture — the latter of an allergic nature.

With such factors involved I doubt the practice will be very long-lived. Some "old-fashioned" ideas retain their merit.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Will gallstones cause gas and constipation? Everything I eat seems to cause gas, make me very uncomfortable and cause indigestion. I have to take a laxative every other night, and even then have to have an enema.

It seems my colon is paralyzed. My doctor tells me to drink plenty of water, eat bran and a lot of fruit, but raw fruit gives me indigestion. I can't believe gallstones would be the cause of so much gas and bloating of the stomach. Please comment. — Miss E. H.

Well, it certainly can, and once you realize how the gall bladder functions you will see why.

Liver bile is produced continuously by the liver and delivered to the small intestine where it helps digest the fats we eat. The gall bladder merely serves as a "storage" station for this bile, which is kept until needed, as after a meal particularly heavy in fats. Gallstones, which indicate a diseased gall bladder, can interfere with the normal flow of bile, causing colic and colon disturbances such as those you report.

Your diet should obviously, then, be fat-restricted. Perhaps cooked fruits would avoid some of the digestive upset. They are advisable as an alternative to the other laxatives you are taking.

X-rays will reveal the extent of stone formation and be a guide as to the need for surgery to remove the gall bladder altogether. This might be your ultimate answer. As important as the bladder is, its function is not indispensable, and bile continues to be available from the liver after removal. More complete information on this often misunderstood problem is included in my booklet, "You and Your Gall Bladder," which readers can obtain by sending 25 cents to me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How can an elderly woman change her sleeping habits? My mother, 78, with a heart condition, wakes up at 4 a.m. regardless of the time she goes to bed. Then she usually has a short nap in the early afternoon. — Mrs. B.B.

Sleep is pretty much determined by the amount of activity in which we engage. Your mother's heart condition has undoubtedly curtailed some of her accustomed activity during the day. Thus she requires less rest at night.

Another thing, elderly people fall into a boredom trap, resorting to uneasy naps merely to escape the unpleasantness of inactivity. You should be able to tell whether this description fits your mother. If it does, then a little imagination on your part to create some daytime diversions for her would be in order.

Inactivity is a certain route to pathological old age.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: We enjoy your witty, sensible column and wonder if you can take the time to answer a perhaps silly question for us. If two people, one weighing 220 pounds and the other 135 pounds, go on identical diets and burn up the same amount of calories, will the larger person lose weight faster than the other? — Mrs. A.B.

Here's the old numbers game again. Theoretically, since the calorie intake and expenditure are identical, the weight loss would be identical. As a practical matter, however, the larger person would lose more because he or she has more to lose than the smaller one. Initially, the weight loss would be in water and excess fat, which presumably the larger person would have in greater abundance.

The larger person would also expend more energy (and calories) in simple tasks as walking up a flight of stairs than would the smaller one. Somewhere out there, there's a match whiz who's going to argue with this.

Headaches! You can beat them. Write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "How to Tame Headaches." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am worried about my mother. She is in her early 50s, and a few years back she had to have her thyroid removed because of Graves' disease. She has been taking medication since then to replace hormones she would have gotten from her thyroid naturally.

She has become interested in a religion that does not believe in medication, and says she may stop taking her medicine. What could happen if she were to do this? — K.J.

Without comment on your mother's religious belief, let me just say that she could encounter very serious problems with discontinuation of her medicine. The thyroid gland produces a hormone vital to the body's entire metabolism. She probably would promptly develop severe hypothyroidism, which would make her excessively tired and cause other unpleasant symptoms.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How often are you supposed to have a tetanus shot? Some say every other year and some every ten years. Every year I get one and my arm swells up. Does this mean that I am allergic to it? — T.F.

Current recommendations for tetanus immunization is once every ten years after the initial childhood shots. If a puncture wound or a "dirty" would occur after two years from the most recent immunization, an inject of tetanus toxoid should be given at the discretion of the attending physician.

Your swelling is likely a local reaction to the injection substance.

More on Hughes

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Sources close to the late Howard Hughes agree on at least one thing: Jean Peters was the only woman he ever loved and probably the only woman who ever loved him.

The brooding billionaire met her, according to our sources, at a party in the late 1940s. As she burst into stardom, Hughes assigned a bodyguard-spy to stick close to her when her filmwork took her away from Hollywood.

THIS CONSTANT companion reported back to Hughes how the actress spent her time. Sometimes, she would step out with other stars such as Joseph Cotten and Marilyn Monroe. More often, she would stay in her room and work on crossword puzzles.

Our sources say Jean Peters was annoyed over the Hughes watchdog and the stage whispers he generated. But the billionaire insisted that the security man stay at her side.

In the mid-1950s, a man named Stuart Cramer sat down next to her on an airliner. They became friends and were married.

Far off in Miami, holed up in the old Columbus Hotel, Hughes continued to keep watch on the attractive actress. Once he dispatched a security man to observe the Cramers on a fishing cruise.

It turned out to be a short, Hollywood marriage, lasting only about a month. About two years later, Jean Peters abandoned her acting career, became Mrs. Howard Hughes and disappeared into his shadowy world.

Our sources caught fleeting glimpses of their strange life together. They leased a home, for example, in Bel Air, Calif. But before Hughes selected the house, he ordered round-the-clock guards to keep people out of six prospective mansions. They remained empty for three months until Hughes was satisfied that they were germ-free.

Then Mrs. Hughes moved into one of the mansions, followed a week later by the quirky Hughes. He arrived, wrapped in a blanket, slumped on the floor of his limousine.

It is typical of the Hughes story that the description of his unusual arrival was provided by an associate who now won't talk about it. He is Mike Conrad, a private investigator who worked for Hughes for 18 years.

There is no question about the report he gave to others. But he wouldn't discuss it with our associate, Bob Owens, who located him at his home in Thousand Oaks, Calif. "I have a deal with the Hughes people not to talk about him," he said bluntly. "They own my house and I owe them money."

But from other sources, we learned that Hughes rarely emerged from his bedroom. Over his door was a red light, a throwback to his Hollywood producing days, warning others in the house to stay out. The light remained on constantly.

ONCE A nine-year-old visitor, a relative of his wife, burst in on Hughes in innocent disregard of the red light. The shocked billionaire, clad only in a sheet, called to an aide.

"What is it?" asked Hughes in bewilderment. After a moment of silence, he demanded that the aide "get it out of here, but don't hurt it."

Jimmy, enemies

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — His narrow escape in Wisconsin so quickly flushed out a legion of eager enemies within the Democratic party scenting his blood that the limitation of Jimmy Carter's presidential campaign became immediately clear: he is no stronger than his last primary win.

GRATIFYING THOUGH Carter's one-percentage-point win in Wisconsin was after being declared defeated by television computers, it did represent a substantial decline from his own polls showing a comfortable victory over Rep. Morris Udall. More disturbing for him, election-day voter interviews give this explanation for his decline: intense criticism of Carter for evasion on the issues, pushed hard in Wisconsin by Udall, is beginning to take hold.

Certainly the same tactics will be used for Pennsylvania's primary showdown April 27, where Carter must triumph or lose an essential momentum. The need for that momentum was shown by the joy with which both doctrinaire liberals and party pros seized on false notice of defeat in Wisconsin Tuesday night, proving that their apparent acceptance of the advent of Jimmy Carter was merely a grudging bow to grim reality.

The party's professionals rode a remarkable roller-coaster of emotions during a few hours Tuesday.

Assuming an easy Carter win over the hapless Udall in Wisconsin, Democratic insiders that afternoon began projecting Carter delegate totals. Their consensus: he would finally win between 1,000 and 1,200 delegates, within easy distance of the 1,504 needed to nominate. "I've given up," one party pro, fiercely committed to Sen. Hubert Humphrey, told us. "Nothing can stop Jimmy."

THAT GLOOM turned to joy Tuesday night with the false Udall victory in Wisconsin. Some party old-timers ridiculously declared Humphrey nominated. The morning hangover that found Carter the winner after all, left the pros midway between their Tuesday afternoon low and Tuesday night high: no longer defeatist but far from certain Carter's bandwagon was stopped.

Among both regulars and liberals, the presumption is that non-Candidate Humphrey is the alternative. Liberals see Udall merely as a means of draining votes from Carter in Pennsylvania. As for Sen. Henry M. Jackson, April 6 was Black Tuesday. He ran more poorly than the worst expectations in New York and showed stunning unpopularity in Wisconsin with a 7 per cent total.

With hope for Udall and Jackson crumbling, Humphrey efforts are being stepped up. Minnesota allies — Sen. Walter Mondale, Gov. Wendell Anderson and wheeler-dealer Bob Short — are starting a "Friends of Humphrey" organization. Some 20,000 pro-Humphrey letters, signed by Reps. Bob Bergland of Minnesota and Paul Simon of Illinois, are being mailed to previous national convention delegates to dispute Carter's inevitability.

HUMPHREY'S attractiveness to liberals was inadvertently enhanced Tuesday by Carter's statement that he sees nothing wrong with communities trying "to maintain their ethnic purity." That is good general election politics, but it recharged all the doubts about Carter among liberals — including one Pennsylvania politician who had been on the verge of endorsing him. "I'm not a flaming liberal," he told us, "but when I pick up this morning's Philadelphia Inquirer and read about 'ethnic purity' I get worried."

Delegates attend HD convention

Nineteen members of Howard County Home Demonstration Clubs attended the District VI convention last Tuesday in El Paso.

Miss Sherry Mullin, Howard County extension agent, also attended.

Three local women were recognized for being 50-year members of HD clubs. Mrs. W.T. Wells from Martin County and Mrs. Vernon Kent and Mrs. D.F. Bigony from Big Spring were among women honored for their long-time membership. They will again be honored at the state convention in September.

Mrs. Mary Margaret Davis was the featured speaker during the conference. She gave a humorous speech entitled "Will Someone Please Take Out the Trash." She summarized that historians can tell more about an era by its trash than by the written word.

"Pennies for Friendship" were collected at the convention. The pennies are donated to maintain a garden area on the Canadian-United States border.

Delegates to the convention attended three workshops in family life, citizenship and safety.

Mrs. Mary Holloway of Martin County was nominated by District VI for state treasurer. She will be among the nominees for offices at the state convention Sept. 21-23 in College Station.

Mrs. Waymon Etchison acted as secretary at the convention.

Mrs. Hill to lead Woman's Forum

Officers for the Modern Woman's Forum were elected during the Friday meeting held in the Texas Electric Reddy Room.

Mrs. W.E. Singleton presided during the election and business meeting.

Mrs. Cass Hill was elected president for the term beginning in September. Vice presidents elected were Mrs. Hugh Duncan, first; and Mrs. S.R. Nobles, second. Mrs. C.A. Holcomb was voted as recording secretary and Mrs. W.E. Mores as corresponding secretary. Mrs. Bert Affleck was elected treasurer.

Other officers elected were Mrs. T.G. Adams, historian; Mrs. H.M. Rowe, federation counselor; and Mrs. Fred Whitaker, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Nobles and Mrs. Adams said they would attend the spring luncheon for the Volunteer Service at Big Spring State Hospital.

Mrs. Holcomb presented a program on Minute Men of the Revolutionary War. Mrs. Duncan gave a talk on the modern military services.

Mrs. Bert Affleck will host the April 26 meeting.

Military wives orientation scheduled

GOODFELLOW AFB — Military wives are invited to attend the semi-annual Personal Affairs Orientation April 28, in the Concho Corral, San Angelo.

Hours are from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. A free noon buffet will be provided.

The orientation is designed to give a better knowledge of the benefits and services which are available to the military wife and her family. Speakers from the Personal Affairs Office, Legal Services, the Commissary, Base Exchange, Special Services, the Education Office, the USAF Clinic, Transportation, Chaplain's Office and Family Services will be on hand to brief wives and to answer questions.

Nursery service and lunch for children six months of age and older will be provided free of charge at the Child Care Center.

Wives with children under six months of age may leave them with volunteers in the Family Service Center.

Reservations should be made no later than April 16, by calling the base operator at 653-2131 and asking for Family Services, extension 212 or 451.

The Friendship Sewing Club met Thursday in the home of Mrs. R. A. Chambers. Mrs. Myrtle Brown was cohostess. Mrs. R. W. Dolan was feted for her birthday.

Members worked on various handwork and sewing during the afternoon.

The next meeting will be April 22 with Mrs. B. N. Boroughs.

Hyperion club donates funds to restoration

The 1955 Hyperion Club met in the home of Mrs. C.W. Mahoney last Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Walter Wheat and Mrs. John Ritenour served as cohostesses.

The club voted to donate funds to repair a hall tree to be placed in the restored Polton House.

Mrs. Edna Womack presented the program "Your Green Thumb." She included fundamental information on plant growth and decorating with house plants.

Mrs. Womack capsuled her suggestions by saying that plants should be cared for like you care for your own body.

The next meeting will be a noon luncheon in the home of Mrs. Jerry Snodgrass.

Bridge club winners named

The Newcomers' Bridge Club met Wednesday morning at the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room with three tables in play.

Mrs. Margaret Warner and Mrs. Lynn Wilhelm were guests.

Mrs. Katherine Bartholomew won first and Mrs. Naomi McNairy won second. Mrs. Helen Terry won bridge-o.

Attending members donated cookies to the Big Spring State Hospital.

The next meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. on April 21 in the Flame Room.

All women are welcome to attend. For more information call Mrs. Kathy Prindible at 263-8015.

Dear Abby

Babysitting grandfather beats 6-year-old-boy

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have two children ages 3 and 6. My husband doesn't like to hire sitters. He says it's too expensive, but I notice he has money for his boat and a storeroom filled with the latest in hunting and fishing equipment.

Anyway, the last time we went out for an evening we left our kids overnight with his parents. The next day, our 6-year-old had welts and bruises all over his little body. He told us that his Granddaddy had whipped him with a leather belt for telling a fib!

My husband didn't seem at all upset. He said whoever kids are left with has a right to punish them any way he sees fit.

Abby, we have never whipped our kids with a belt, and I say nobody else should, either. Please settle this.

MONTANA MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I agree with you 100 per cent. NEVER leave your children with those grandparents again and tell them why. "Granddaddy" sounds as though he needs a thorough checkup. (Physical and mental.) And where was "Grandma" when all this was going on?

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is a beautiful, bright young woman who has a mind of her own. For seven years I have been trying to train her not to overdraw on her checking account, but without success. Have you any suggestions?

GEORGE A. KELLOGG

DEAR GEORGE: If after seven years you haven't been able to train her, give up. At this stage of the game, it's obvious that she has YOU trained.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Bicentennial Commission honors Altrusa Club

Three awards were presented to the Altrusa Club and individual members by the Big Spring Bicentennial Commission during the Thursday noon luncheon of the local Altrusa Club.

Mrs. Janell Davis and Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery presented certificates of appreciation to the club for its financial assistance to the Bicentennial celebration in Howard County.

Certificates were also awarded to Mrs. Janette Barnett for knitting two afghans which were donated to projects to raise funds for the commission. Mrs. Beth Kay, club representative to the commission, was also honored with a certificate.

Two other guests were welcomed to the meeting. The visitors were Mrs. Vera Gross and Mrs. Helen Eggleston.

Gold Star Mothers attend convention

Mrs. Florence Read gave an Easter devotional.

Mrs. Frances Hendrick, vocational service chairman, gave an informative talk on the Altrusa Founder's Fund. Each chapter fund is administered locally to help women to establish themselves in business life to help support their families. Mrs. Hendrick reported that grants are for $50 to $350.

The six incoming officers of the local Altrusa Club attended a District IX workshop Saturday in Midland.

Mrs. Truett Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Huey Rogers and Mr. and Mrs. A.W. Moody returned Sunday from the 23rd state convention of the Gold Star Mothers held in Dallas Friday and Saturday.

Featured speaker was Mrs. Josephine Holmes of New York, national president of the Gold Star Mothers.

Mrs. Dorothy Tischler of El Paso was elected as the new president. Mrs. Rogers of Big Spring was voted as first vice president. Mrs. Thomas was elected as Veteran Administration Hospitals chairman for the state organization.

During the convention representatives of the Big Spring VA Hospital awarded a plaque of recognition to local Gold Star Mothers for their volunteer service to the hospital residents. Individual plaques were presented to Mrs. Moody and Mrs. Thomas.

The Big Spring chapter will host a department board meeting in October.

Shower honors Miss Bohannon

Miss Cheryl Bohannon, bride-elect of Homer Spears, was honored with a miscellaneous bridal shower Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Billy Jack Darden of Coahoma.

Crystal and silver appointments were used on the refreshment table. A centerpiece of yellow flowers and greenery enhanced the table.

Mrs. O. J. Bohannon, the honoree's mother, and Mrs. H.T. Spears, the prospective bridegroom's mother, were special guests.

Hostesses presented Miss Bohannon with a king-sized bedspread in yellow and green.

County entomologist named Cotton insect survey group elects officers

Howard County agricultural producers now have a County Entomologist who will serve Howard County as well as Glasscock, Martin, Midland, Upton and Reagan Counties.

The county entomologist is funded by appropriations from the state. He will coordinate survey teams in each county which are to be financed by funds raised locally.

To administer the program in Howard County will be the Howard County Cotton Insect Survey Association. This is a newly formed organization. Officers and directors are: Lloyd Underwood, president; R.C. Thomas, vice president; Gene Perry, secretary; and Delbert Donelson, treasurer.

Directors are Donnie Reid, Rodney Brooks, Bob Wegner, Bob Adkins, Larry Shaw, Clay Ingram, Delbert Stanley, Sonny Anderson, Mike Moates, Jack Wolf, David Barr, M.A. Snell and Billy Bryant.

The organization was initiated by the Crops Subcommittee of the Howard County Program Building Committee. Chairman of this committee is Larry Shaw.

The tentative proposed budget calls for $6,000. Preliminary plans call for producers to pay 20 cents per bale on the 1975 crop. The program is voluntary. It is hoped that all producers will participate.

Other tentative plans include: 1. Hiring two survey teams for Howard County. One will survey cotton for early season insects and one for the boll weevil. 2. The board of directors will determine acreage to be checked at locations that will give an idea as to the general insect situation. 3. The cotton will be checked weekly and results will be disseminated weekly.

4. Included in the report will be beneficial, as well as harmful insects and fruiting progress of the cotton. 5. Provide technical assistance to producers on insect identification and recognition of insect damage.

Information which can be gathered in this survey is necessary for any control program for the boll weevil. This insect is more of a problem each year on the eastern and southern edges and threatens the whole country. Scurry, Mitchell, Glasscock and Martin counties are activating programs.

For further information, one can contact the officers and directors or the Howard County Extension Office.

Public invited to greet Wallace at Air Terminal Wednesday

The public has been invited to greet George Wallace, a candidate to represent the Democratic party in the 1976 presidential race, when the Alabama governor lands at the Midland Air Terminal at 1:15 p.m., Wednesday.

Wallace will spend some time mingling with the crowd before he goes to TV station KMD-TV for an interview with the West Texas press media at 1:45 p.m.

R.L. (Bob) Corley of Midland is Midland County campaign chairman and a Wallace delegate to the National Democratic Convention.

The world at-a-glance

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — At least 40 people were killed and more than 20 were injured in an explosion at the Lapua ammunition factory this morning, the official Finnish radio reported. The explosion occurred in the factory's cartridge loading plant where some 60 people were working at that time, according to the radio report from the scene 230 miles north of Helsinki. It said injured persons were still buried under the rubble, and it was feared the toll would go higher.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Leftist leader Kamal Jumblatt accused Syria today of preparing a large-scale invasion of Lebanon and called for foreign help to prevent it. Jumblatt met with diplomats of the United States, France and the Soviet Union after President Hafez Assad threatened more Syrian military intervention in Lebanon, and Egypt warned the Syrians to leave Yasir Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization alone.

NABLUS, Occupied Jordan (AP) — Arab resistance to the Israeli occupation of West Jordan stiffened today as Palestinian nationalists and radicals scored a sweeping victory Monday in Arab municipal elections throughout the occupied territory. "The Israelis are shocked — they didn't expect such results," said Mayor Karim Khalaf of Ramallah, who campaigned successfully for reelection as an avowed supporter of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — The oil industry lined up today to lease drilling rights in the Gulf of Alaska with top federal officials forecasting the auction could attract bids of $1 billion from 70 companies. Estimates of reserves in the million-acre "Frontier Area" — a term used by the Interior Department to describe tracts untouched by a drill bit — run up to 10 billion barrels of oil, the size of the massive Prudhoe Bay pool on Alaska's North Slope. It was leased by the state in 1969 for $900 million.

A matter for the record

The Herald today is starting a new column of sorts which it hopes will not have to appear daily.

It will be a window devoted to correcting errors, amplifying stories that might not have been clear to all readers and catching up on omissions which might have occurred in print.

Bear with us. We're not perfect, but we try.

In Monday's banner story on Page One concerning the fact that two people (Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gibson of Abilene) were felled by a lightning bolt here Monday morning.

The story mentioned that the Gibsons were here to attend the funeral for infant Jennifer Bradbury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Bradbury.

The story also stated that Gary Bradbury had been named to serve as a pallbearer during the funeral of Bob Thompson, which was held Monday afternoon.

In reality, another Gary Bradbury was named as a pallbearer for the Thompson funeral. (The spelling of the two last names differ.)

In the Monday Publisher's Corner on Page 4A, a building was listed as vacant which is now being occupied by a new business. Chris' Air Cooled Engine Service has moved into 606 E. 3rd. This firm repairs air cooled engines like those on lawn mowers.

Howard College will sponsor blood mobile unit on campus

Howard College will sponsor a blood mobile unit on campus 1 to 7 p.m. Tuesday, and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wednesday.

"Last week's mobile drive at the (Big Spring) high school was very successful. I feel certain the Howard College drive will be just as successful," said Grady Sims, district manager of blood services of San Angelo.

The Community Blood Center at Malone and Hogan Hospital continues to strive to meet Big Spring's blood needs. Members of the community are urged to participate in the center's regular blood donor days, every Wednesday noon to 6 p.m. The number to call to make an appointment for any Wednesday is 263-1211, ext. 124.

Bea and Penny have floral shop

Bea and Penny Floral Shop at 502 E. 1st in Coahoma offers unusual flower arrangements for a wedding ceremony.

They have fresh cut flowers available, but they also have artificial wood fiber flowers.

These flowers look real and Bea and Penny will use them for the bridal bouquet, the bridesmaids' bouquets and the flowers for the church.

They not only look like real flowers, but they may then be kept as a remembrance or to be used in other floral arrangements.

Bea Fishback and Penny Hill are both really excited about the possibilities of this type of wedding. Those who have used it thus far have been very pleased.

Drop out to Coahoma or call 394-4410 and ask about the wood fiber flowers.

They also offer traditional floral arrangements, and remind everybody that corsages or flowers at Easter are a nice remembrance.

Different audiences, different priorities

Jackson: Three top priorities

Editor's Note: The following is the second of three articles on the campaign tactics and styles of the top three Democratic presidential contenders. It focuses on Sen. Henry M. Jackson.

By PETER ARNETT
(AP Writer)

The crowd at Elm and Main in Rochester, N.Y., cheered when the candidate declared: "As President of the United States my number one priority will be to put America back to work so people can buy things that are manufactured here in this town."

A mostly elderly crowd at Buffalo smiled happily when they heard their choice say: "I want to give top priority, first priority, to full coverage under Medicare for senior citizens. We don't have that now."

Supporters massed at the Frontier Fire Hall at Niagara Falls roared as the candidate said: "The first thing I will do is insist welfare be a national obligation, and not put on the shoulders of the local people."

Three priorities, all number one.

One candidate. Senator Henry M. Jackson campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination in New York.

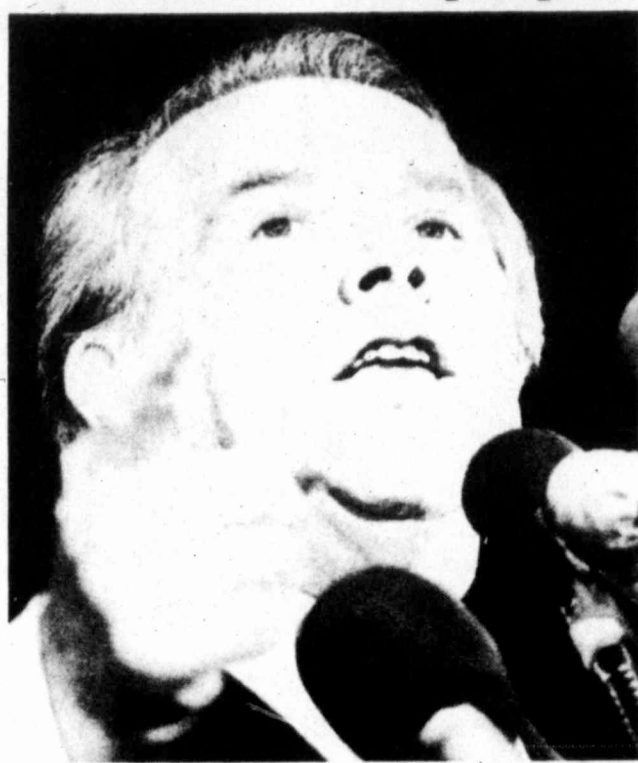

Jackson emphasized these different priorities to different audiences as the political pressure grew in New York from his two most serious opponents, former Georgia Governor Jimmy Carter and Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona.

And in the last days of the campaign the senator reached out for a broader constituency than his major supporters among the labor organizations, Jewish communities and regular Democrats.

Jackson speeded up his public appearances to include blacks, Puerto Ricans and other ethnic groups and in one 36-hour period made these promises:

Puerto Ricans: "If elected president of the United States I will have in the White House a special assistant for Puerto Rican affairs so that problems of Puerto Rico and their importance to the United States will not be lost in the bureaucratic jungle," he told the Puerto Rican chamber of commerce in New York.

Blacks: "Canadians are wonderful, terrific people, great neighbors. I want to see more emphasis

Dairy captures marketing plum

Gandy's Dairies, Inc., of San Angelo, won Quality Check Dairy Association's coveted annual "Zimmerman Award" for the calendar year of 1975. The international marketing award and trophy was presented to Gandy's president, John Gandy, by auto racing personality, Andy Granatelli, at Quality Check's annual production and marketing conference held recently in Denver, Colo.

The award is presented annually to the dairy which proves to be the most effective in sales, promotion and advertising.

Competing against 50 independent dairies with over 100 processing plants in the U.S. and Canada, Gandy's won the top marketing award after only nine and one-half months as a member of the Quality Check Dairy Association.

In the 31-year history of the Quality Check organization, Gandy's was the first dairy to win the marketing award in the first year of membership. Commenting on this accomplishment, Granatelli said, "The enthusiasm of Gandy's Dairies is overwhelming and one can see how they won this major award."

In addition to the annual award, Gandy's won two other awards for individual 1975 promotions along with a finalist cup preceding the major marketing award. In the category of Fall Ice Cream, Gandy's was presented a plaque for its Rocky Road Ice Cream promotion and a second plaque for its Sour Cream promotion in the Holiday Season dairy products category.

Harlie Zimmerman, Quality Check's managing director, presented the plaques on behalf of the Quality Check organization which consists of over 100 independently owned and managed dairies in the U.S. and Canada with over 700 million dollars in annual sales.

Gandy's Dairies, Inc., founded in 1934 by Loy Gandy, is Texas' largest independent dairy with over 22 million dollars in annual sales in 62 West Texas counties.

Medgar Evers college in Brooklyn. The college, with a 98 per cent black student body, is faced with reduction to a two-year institution because of New York's financial problems.

Jackson told them also: "We've gone through the long civil rights struggle to bring about the right to vote, to bring about integration, equal employment opportunities and all of the other basic rights we're familiar with. The most important right is still denied, that of the civil right to a decent job and decent pay scale."

Much improved as an orator on this campaign, the gray-haired Washington state senator punches the air occasionally to emphasize his statements.

"We've got so much work to do in this country that everyone is going to be busy in the Jackson administration," he told a meeting in an upstate New York county with 14 per cent unemployment.

He has told other listeners: "Every time you reduce unemployment 1 per cent you have $16 billion more in the Treasury. With full employment we'll have $100 billion."

No one asked him to explain his mathematics, or questioned him about how he would reduce unemployment to 3 per cent from the present rate of more than 7 per cent.

Not that there was much time for questions. Jackson made five campaign appearances one evening in Brooklyn, and his upstate New York trips were so tightly scheduled that the candidate could in all honesty beg off questions because he had to speed on to the next meeting place.

He was caught only at Medgar Evers College in Brooklyn. He moved among the student body to shake hands, only to be confronted by demanding students who insisted in knowing his plan to save their college. He didn't have one. While Jackson had something special to offer each audience, he also had a major theme, and this seemed to be the promotion of a much more active federal role in health, education and welfare programs in America.

Jackson showed subtle differences in his comments on welfare payments. To a construction worker audience in Rochester, Jackson declared that there was "$75 million a year in handout checks" given in various forms of assistance from state and federal authorities. "We're going to take welfare and put it where it belongs in the hands of the federal government and not on the backs of the local people," he told his cheering white audiences.

However, Jackson never mentioned handout checks in talking with his black and Puerto Rican audiences in New York City. He explained that "when unemployment goes up 1 per cent we lose $16 billion in revenue" because of the loss of production and the need to support the unemployed.

Briles makes good Texas wins

By The Associated Press
ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Texas Ranger Manager Frank Lucchesi gave his second-guessers a club house lecture Monday night on judging a veteran pitcher too quickly on spring training performances.

"You don't judge anybody on spring training... you wait till the bell rings," said Lucchesi after 32-year-old righthander Nelson Briles four-hit the Oakland A's in his Ranger debut.

Texas' Jeff Burroughs blasted a three-run homer off young Paul Mitchell and the Rangers romped to a 5-1 American League victory.

Briles came to Texas in the off season trade with Kansas City and Lucchesi named him as a starter in spring training although the veteran righthander was having rough going. Rookie Jim Gideon burned up the Grapefruit League and Ranger owner Brad Corbett and the local press howled when Gideon was sent to the minors and Briles had yet to prove himself.

"I was just out there trying to get my arm in shape in the spring," said Briles. "I got knocked around a little down here (spring training) but I was aiming toward tonight."

Ranger catcher Jim Sundberg said, "It was one of the best performances of moving the fast ball in and out that I have ever seen."

Lucchesi said, "Briles never really got that much work in the spring but I had a lot of confidence in him. I thought maybe he could go just seven innings tonight but he was just as strong in the ninth as he was in the early innings."

Oakland's only run came in the seventh when Don Baylor was credited with a triple after two Ranger outfielders collided when chasing down his long fly. Baylor scored on a routine groundout.

"Nelson should have had a shutout," said Lucchesi. "I'm elated but I'm not saying I told you so." But Lucchesi admitted, "I took a little heat because of my decision."

Oakland Manager Chuck Tanner said, "I was surprised that Briles went nine innings. He really got the ball over the plate and he really had a lot on it."

Tanner said he wasn't really disappointed with 25-year-old Mitchell's performance. "I was pleased with the velocity he put on the ball but he just couldn't put it where he wanted it. We'll start him again soon. He just needs a lot of work."

Steers at Central for the 'Big Game'

A couple of weeks ago, when the Big Spring Steers and San Angelo Central were both 2-0, Coach Larry Horton was asked if he thought it would be an exciting conclusion to the first half if the Steers and Bobcats could stay undefeated in district play right up to the end.

"It would be exciting, all right," Horton said. "But, I'd just as soon pass on the excitement bit and go in there with at least a game lead over them. San Angelo's tough to beat at home."

As it turned out, of course, both Central and Big Spring lost one game and have been locked in a four-way tie for first with Abilene and Abilene Cooper. All four are 5-1 in district play.

Abilene is in Cooper Wednesday, the final day of the first half, so the team that wins that game will wind up tied for top honors this half with the winner of the Big Spring-Central game.

Steve Winger (6-1) will challenge the balanced hitting attack of the Steers, while Dick Battle (6-1) goes up against Jerry Barr, the district's top hitter (.555), and Kenny Perez (batting over .300), who belted Permian pitching for two homers Tuesday.

Handball popular game in Big Spring YMCA

It was 1819 that William Hazlitt wrote "It may be said that there are things of more importance than striking a ball against a wall, but that of striking the ball, or placing it, or making it! It is the finest experience for the body, and the best relaxation for the mind..."

The game of "fives" or handball is one of the most rapid growing sports in America today. Big Spring handball players can be found most anywhere in Texas on any given weekend, playing in handball tournaments sponsored by YMCA's, universities, and sports clubs.

The largest group of area handball players are from the Big Spring YMCA; where the "Y" is in the process of building two new regulation tournament courts to fill the community need for the recreational sports of handball and racquetball. Hardly any hour goes by during the YMCA's operation schedule that the present two handball courts are idle and dark.

Area players compete in Tournaments throughout Texas such as Noel Invitational, Odessa; West Texas State Open Singles, Amarillo; Wool Capital Invitational, San Angelo; Fiesta Days Invitational, San Antonio; National Collegiate, Austin; and the Spring City Invitational, locally.

George Fierro and Bill Arrencia put on a few more miles and have competed in National Intercollegiate Handball Tournament, Memphis, Tennessee, and Junior National Championships in New Orleans.

Handball enthusiasts from beginners to masters are invited to join the newly-formed Handball Club of the Big Spring YMCA that will offer inter-club tournaments and dual team competition. Call the Big Spring YMCA for more club information.

Results: City Handball Tournament A Division — George Fierro first, A. Div. second, Bill Arrencia third. B Division — Ben Daniel first, Herb Shipp second, Greg Dull third. C Division — Ray Williams first, Bruce Roy second, Randy Schrengost third.

Catfish stings Baltimore, 3-0

Television's Six Million Dollar Man met baseball's Three Million Dollar Man Monday night and the Baltimore Orioles couldn't get their two cents in.

"Lee Majors waved to me before the game," Catfish Hunter said. "I wanted to trade him and get a new arm."

Don't try to run that one by the Orioles. They couldn't do much with Hunter's old arm, managing only three singles as the New York Yankees made off with a 3-0 triumph to kick off ABC-TV's 16-week Monday night television package.

In the only other major league game, the Texas Rangers trimmed the Oakland A's 5-1 behind veteran Nelson Briles and the Houston Astros blanked the San Francisco Giants 5-0 as J.R. Richard, Larry Hardy and Ken Forsch scattered nine hits.

DENVER (AP) — Tom Ferguson appears to be running away from the field in his quest for the title of all-around cowboy, according to statistics of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association.

The Miami, Okla., cowboy has logged $28,368 in winnings so far this season, more than double the prize money of his nearest competitor, Sandy Kirby of Greenville, Tex. Kirby has won $13,017.

Statistics show Ferguson also leading his fellow cowboys in calf roping and have him second in steer wrestling.

Ferguson's $12,823 total in calf roping winnings leads Ed Workman of Mineral Wells, Tex., who has won $10,963, and Kim Gripp of Hereford, Tex. with $10,270.

Ferguson trails Bob Marshall of Chowchilla, Calif. in steer wrestling. Marshall has totaled $16,637 in winnings compared with Colorado City 6-AA Titles in tennis...

For the second straight year the Colorado City tennis teams won the district 6-AA championship in both the junior and senior divisions.

The senior division team totals were: Colorado City, 65 points; Hamlin, 30 points; Ballinger and Anson tied for third with 10 points; and Coahoma rounded out the standings with 5 points.

The junior division positions were Colorado City, with 10 points; Stamford, 6 points; Winters, 5 points; Hamlin, 3 points; and Ballinger, 2 points.

Astros ace the Giants

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Astros Manager Bill Virdon says he tried to console his beleaguered pitching staff prior to Monday night's home opener against San Francisco.

"I tried to let the pitchers know that things weren't as bad as they seemed," he said. "Things looked pretty bad after Houston lost its first three games of the season by an aggregate score of 33-15."

Sure enough Virdon was correct. J.R. Richard, Larry Hardy and Ken Forsch scratched out a nine-hit 5-0 victory over the Giants for their first triumph of the season.

It wasn't an artistic success with starter Richard giving up seven walks and the Giants getting 16 runners, but the trio managed to preserve the shutout, aided by a perfect peg home from left fielder Jose Cruz in the eighth inning.

"I don't think anybody likes to lose the way we lost our first three games," Virdon said. "I told everyone at the team meeting I didn't want anyone hanging his head or not giving 100 percent."

Singles by Greg Gross in the first inning and Enos Cabell in the second produced Houston's first two runs. Two more scored in the sixth on grounders by Cesar Cedeno and Bob Watson.

Houston second baseman Larry Milbourne scored his third run of the game in the eighth on Cabell's single.

M. C. Denton honored Ezzell lists concerns

By JOHN EDWARDS
State Rep. Mike Ezzell outlined several areas of concern for those attending the Howard Soil and Water Conservation District awards banquet Monday night:
• Gov. Dolph Briscoe's promise of "no new taxes."
The state now has $428 million in surplus funds. But Ezzell questions whether this will be enough. The biennial budget is $12.1 billion, and the cost of state government has increased 250 per cent since 1968.
A projection shows the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation will have only enough money to maintain the present system by 1980. There will be no money to match federal funds for improvements.
• Utility rates. "They have gone up in a very rapid fashion to say the least," Ezzell said. The legislature is considering giving the Public Utility Commission, which begins operation Sept. 1, authority now held by the Texas Railroad Commission in governing natural gas rates charged in cities.

• And financing public schools, which remains a problem in the wake of the Supreme Court's Rodriguez case.
"We're trying to find alternate means of financing education, more equitable means of financing education," Ezzell mentioned the disparity between the total taxable property values in independent school districts and a study to determine "what the wealth of Texas is."
M. C. Denton was named the conservation farmer for 1975. Mary Ellen Gressett, a senior at Forsan High School, was the winner of an essay contest in the district.
Paige Little, who took first place in the essay contest at Big Spring High School, was second in the district. And Sandra Harbin was recognized for the best essay from Coahoma High School. CONSERVATION FARMER Denton was reared in Howard County and began his farming experience as a boy in Knott.
He and the former Loyce Brant have four children: Lynn, Carol, Kelly and Kim of the home. He serves as an elder in the Highway 80 Church of Christ.
The area is informed of Denton's work by such activities as Field Days, tours and demonstrations held on his farm. Denton cooperates with Howard Soil and Water Conservation District along with the Agriculture Research Service and Texas Extension Service in their activities.
Parallel terraces, waterways, diversions, critical Area shaping and conservation cropping system are only a few of the conservation practices installed and maintained on his farm.
The district essay winner this year is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gressett.

LEGAL NOTICE
CITATION BY PUBLICATION THE STATE OF TEXAS TO Aquilla Johnson, a feme sole, whose residence and whereabouts are unknown:
YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to appear before the District Court of Harris County for the 59th Judicial District of Texas in the Courtroom in the city of Houston, Texas, at or before ten o'clock a.m. of Monday, the 19th day of April, 1976, being the Monday next following the expiration of forty two days after this citation is issued, and you are hereby commanded and required then and there to appear and file written answer to the original petition, filed in said Court on the 18th day of February, 1974, in a suit numbered 97058 on the docket of said court, wherein DAC Corporation, a Florida corporation, is plaintiff, and the nature of plaintiff's demand being and the defendant alleging defendant.
Plaintiff would show that on November 1, 1973, the Defendant, AQUILLA JOHNSON, 1007 Northwest First, Big Spring, Texas, Howard County, Texas, executed and delivered to UNITED SOUTHERN CONTRACTORS, INC. her promissory note in the amount of $4,303.37, promising to pay to said UNITED SOUTHERN CONTRACTORS, INC. or its order said amount in 84 installments to be due and payable on January 10, 1974. Shortly thereafter, said UNITED SOUTHERN CONTRACTORS, INC. assigned the note to Plaintiff, which purchased said note for value and without notice of any defect therein, and is a holder in due course of said note. Said note provided that in case of default in the payment of any installment, the whole remaining unpaid balance should forthwith at once become due and payable without notice, and providing for attorney's fees of 10 per cent on December 10, 1968, an installment became due and payable, but said Defendant has failed to pay such installment or any subsequent installment. On November 3, 1965, to secure the payment of said note, Defendant executed a Contract for Labor and Materials and Trust Deed, recorded in Vol. 4, Page 399, Mechanic's Lien Records of Howard County, Texas, covering the Defendant's interest in the following described property:
Lot Eleven (11), Block "1", of Moore Addition to the City of Big Spring, Howard County, Texas.
WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED, Plaintiff prays that it obtain Judgment against said Defendant in the amount of $3,151.02, legal fees and costs of suit, and foreclosure of its lien described above.
Notice heretofore shall be given by publishing this citation once each week for four consecutive weeks, previous to the 19th day of April, 1976, in some newspaper published in the county of Howard, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then the nearest county where a newspaper is published, and this Citation shall be returned on the 19th day of April, 1976, which is forty-two days after the date it is issued, and the first publication shall be at least twenty-eight days before said return day.
HEREIN FAIL NOT, but have before said court on said return day, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.
WITNESS: RAY HARDY, District Clerk, Harris County, Texas.
GIVEN UNDER MY HAND and seal of said Court at office in Houston this 8th day of March, A. D. 1976.
RAY HARDY, District Clerk, Harris County, Texas.
