Reagan could take lead

Busy day for primaries

By The Associated Press

The political campaign reaches its busiest primary day of the season so far as voters in three states help decide today whether Ronald Reagan can take the Republican presidential nomination by overcoming Gerald Ford and the built-in advantages of an incumbent President.

Ford and Reagan meet headon in Georgia, Alabama and Indiana as interest shifts to the GOP race intensified by Reagan's sweep on Saturday of Texas' 96 delegates in a landslide even the former California governor hadn't foreseen.

That marks a complete shift from a short six weeks ago, when Ford seemed to be coasting toward nomination and the Democratic contest was still a free-for-all that was anything but the Jimmy Carter runaway it now seems to be.

Ford made a late swing through Indiana and Alabama Monday, challenging Reagan at one point to produce his income tax records. The challenger promptly did so.

The President was on the offensive much of the time, attacking Reagan's plan to trim the federal budget as a "$80 billion blooper" and continuing the debate over the Panama Canal, an issue given credit for helping Reagan in Texas.

There are Democratic races today in all three states as well as in the District of Columbia. There are a total of 177 Democratic delegates to be picked, and Carter, the former Georgia governor, is in good position to win at least two-thirds of them with little trouble.

But the Republican side, where there are 139 delegates at stake, is another story. After Texas, Ford's delegate lead has been narrowed to 283-236, and if Reagan does well he could take the lead, although there are 254 uncommitted delegates from New York and Pennsylvania who are actually in Ford's camp.

Here is how the GOP primaries line up:

INDIANA (54 delegates): Two months ago, Ford's polls gave him a 25 per cent lead, but surveys now show Reagan closing. State Republican leaders, most of whom back Ford, predict the President will win. So does Ford. Reagan does not predict a victory but says it will be close.

GEORGIA (48 delegates): Reagan, as he has predicted, has swept through the South and Southwest. And he's believed to be doing well in Georgia, where he's counting on Democratic crossovers from George Wallace to help him, as they apparently did in Texas. Ford's state campaign director, Joe Wilkinson, says, "That could shoot us down pretty bad."

ALABAMA (37 delegates): Another Southern state where Reagan hopes for Wallace crossovers. Ford, conceding he is the underdog, campaigned there Monday, the state's three GOP congressmen at his side, and hopes to cut into the challenger's margin.

Wallace, whose supporters may be a factor in the Republican contest, is the only major challenger to Carter in the two Southern primaries, although Rep. Morris K. Udall has slates in two Georgia congressional districts and a few scattered candidates in Alabama.

Carter and Wallace each are favored in their home states, but each has campaigned strenuously in the other. Carter is given a better chance to make inroads in Alabama (27 delegates elected and eight more chosen afterward) than Wallace is in Georgia (50 delegates), particularly if the Alabama governor loses crossovers to Reagan.

Carter is also expected to do well in Indiana, where 75 delegates will be chosen. Wallace is on the ballot there, too, but Sen. Henry M. Jackson ceased his active campaigning last week and Udall was disqualified when he failed to get the required signatures in one congressional district.

The District of Columbia chooses 17 delegates, but only Carter campaigned actively there, although Udall and Fred Harris are also on the ballot. The major interest is local, a fight between two uncommitted slates headed by Mayor Walter Washington and Walter Fauntroy, the district's nonvoting delegate in Congress.

There is no Republican primary in the district. The GOP slate, all 14 delegates pledged to Ford, has already been chosen.

It was in Birmingham, Ala., Monday that Ford raised the income tax issue. He recalled that in April he had disclosed his tax records.

Reagan was in West Virginia when he heard of Ford's challenge. "I didn't realize it hadn't been done," he said of release of his own statement. "It was done today."

Reagan, in his tax statement, said he paid $106,507 in combined federal and local taxes during 1975 on what he said was an adjusted gross income of $252,405.

Ford's earlier statement showed a 1975 tax bill of $106,510.84 on a taxable income of $204,605.

The President earlier, in Indianapolis, attacked Reagan for suggesting the United States should break off negotiations on the Panama Canal treaty and took after Carter, accusing the Democrat of flip-flopping on the issues.

Carter, meantime, picked up additional strength with the endorsement of Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana, himself a candidate in the first of the primaries.

In other political developments: Carter said speechwriter Robert Shrum resigned after he had refused to use a speech Shrum had written. Shrum said it wasn't so, that he quit because the former Georgia governor said one thing in speeches and another in meetings with his staff.

Carter said he "can't think of any reason in this country why blacks should be excluded from a school that is predominantly white." He was asked about his policy on schools after two interviews in Connecticut in which he said he was having difficulty understanding federal court efforts to open up private schools.

Filibuster ends on compromise election bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders reached a compromise today to end a one-man filibuster and complete action on a bill that would free federal campaign funds for presidential candidates.

Sen. Lowell Weicker Jr., R-Conn., agreed to halt his filibuster after Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield scheduled a vote later today on a resolution expressing the sense of the Senate that there should be early votes on what Weicker called "real Watergate reforms."

A vote on the election commission bill was scheduled to follow action on the resolution.

Completion of Senate action on the legislation will send it to the White House. President Ford has given no indication whether he will sign or veto the measure.

Senate Republican Whip Robert P. Griffin of Michigan said he would vote against the bill and that he had advised Ford to veto it. Other members of the GOP leadership, however, have advised Ford to sign it.

Until an election commission bill is passed and signed, no public campaign funds can be distributed to presidential candidates who were cut off from access to the money six weeks ago.

Weicker began his filibuster Monday with an 1½-hour speech on the Senate floor.

Senate rejects Ford's choice

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Commerce Committee today rejected President Ford's choice of S. John Byington to be chairman of the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

In a closed session, the panel voted to suspend its consideration of the nomination for seven years, the term of the appointment. Senators who attended said the decision was made by voice vote.

PAUSE FOR REFRESHMENT — Presidential candidate Jimmy Carter sips on a glass of water as he contemplates a question in a news conference this morning in Cincinnati. Carter attended a breakfast and the news conference before heading on to Georgia to vote in that state's primary election.

Bentsen releases his Texas delegates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., said today he is releasing his favorite son convention delegates because it is obvious that Jimmy Carter is the choice in Texas.

"I am releasing all delegates pledged to my favorite son candidacy, to make their own choice at the Democratic National Convention this summer," Bentsen said.

"I am releasing both those elected by the voters last Saturday and those chosen at precinct conventions across the state Saturday night, though I would hope they would continue to support Gov. Dolph Briscoe as chairman of the Texas delegation and as leader of the Democratic party in Texas."

"It is my understanding that we did well in the precinct conventions, but it is obvious that Gov. Carter is the choice of the Democrats of Texas. I wish him well. And, in the spirit of unifying the Democratic party I am releasing Bentsen delegates from any commitment they have to me."

Bentsen said he made the statement after he talked extensively yesterday with his supporters in Texas, including Briscoe.

Bentsen, who had been considered a pre-election favorite by many in the state's first presidential primary, ended up with only six national convention delegates to Carter's 92.

The Bentsen delegates released were Rep. Senfonia Thompson, Houston; Albert G. Bustamante, San Antonio; J. A. Canales, Corpus Christi; state Sen. Raul Longoria, Edinburg; Bobby Lackey, Weslaco; and Mrs. Ruben Torres, Brownsville.

Connally preceded finding of Hughes' will, link denied

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A Mormon church spokesman says former Texas Gov. John Connally's visit to church headquarters last Tuesday had been requested before Howard Hughes died.

The visit was hours before the purported Hughes will was found on the same floor, the spokesman said Monday.

Church spokesman Jerry Cahill confirmed on Friday that Connally, a director of the Houston bank searching for Hughes' will, visited the building's 25th floor about three hours before the will was found.

Cahill said that a Connally letter dated March 29 requesting the meeting was received by church officials April 1. Hughes died April 5.

Cahill had said earlier church officials were convinced Connally's visit had nothing to do with the appearance of the will.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Banking hours

Q. Why is it that none of the Big Spring banks are open before working hours, after working hours or on Saturday? This is most inconvenient. People who do not work in the downtown area have a really difficult time doing any banking.

A. Larry Willard of the First National Bank said that his employees work from approximately 7:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m., and "to avoid double shift, get the days work done, have half way decent working hours for our employees, meet the needs of the public and be fair to our employees we have to keep the working hours the way they are. There is just not enough flexibility in our schedule," he said. The average employee works 38-41 hours as it is, "and to tack on hours either way, (onto the 10-3 schedule), would just mean overtime."

If you have a question for Action-reaction, call 263-7331.

Ford may veto $4 billion military aid bill today

WASHINGTON (AP) — A ranking Republican in the House said today he understands President Ford will veto a $4 billion military foreign aid bill.

"It is my understanding that sometime today the White House has indicated to me there will be a veto of this bill," Rep. William S. Broomfield of Michigan told the House International Relations Committee.

The President told Republican leaders last week he objects to the bill's new congressional controls over arms sales because he thinks they would tie his hands in conducting foreign policy.

Bloomfield is the ranking GOP member of the International Relations Committee.

The bill would authorize some $3 billion in military aid and credit sales for the Middle East, including $2.2 billion for Israel and about $750 million for Egypt.

The rest of the total authorizes military aid and credit sales for Korea, Greece, Turkey and other countries. The President presently can allocate such aid as he thinks best.

The bill would take away for 180 days Ford's power to prohibit U.S. trade with North Vietnam. If North Vietnam agrees during that time to cooperate in accounting for Americans missing in the Vietnam War, the legislation says, it could obtain permanent U.S. trade. The bill also would end as of Sept. 30, 1977, the U.S. military grant aid program started after World War II, except for continued aid in weapons and military training specifically approved by Congress.

Tower warns of socialism

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — "This is the worst Congress that I have served on in my 15 years," U.S. Sen. John G. Tower, D-Tex., says.

Tower, speaking Monday night at a fund-raising dinner for the Peoria County GOP, said the Democratic-controlled Congress is "phasing government out of the affairs of men."

If a Democratic president is elected and the GOP does not improve its position in Congress, Tower added, "we are going to plunge down that long, dark road to socialism, and I'm not an extremist."

Tower is head of President Ford's re-election committee in Texas, where Ronald Reagan swept all 96 delegate races in Saturday's primary.

Fighting continues

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanese Moslem and Christian forces hammered at each other today with tanks, heavy artillery and rockets, ignoring new cease-fire appeals. The opposing factions in Lebanon's year-long civil war traded tank assaults and fought at close range as leftist Moslems battled to drive the right-wing Christians from the port of Beirut. Police reported at least 74 persons killed and 72 wounded during the night in Beirut and its suburbs. They said 22 more died and 31 were wounded in neighboring mountain towns.

U.N. to mull accusation

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Egypt accused Israel of "a violent terrorist campaign" in the occupied territories and requested an urgent meeting of the United Nations Security Council. It asked that the Palestine Liberation Organization take part. The council's French president was meeting with other members today to arrange the debate. Observers at U.N. headquarters saw the Egyptian move as an attempt to supplant Syria as the Palestinians' most ardent champion.

Women's rights in church

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The "yellow ribbon" crusaders have won their first round at the United Methodist governing convention, gaining authorization of a regular unit to defend "full and equal" rights for women in the church. Among duties spelled out for the special commission are developing means for "elimination of sexism in all its manifestations" from the church and seeing that women share "fully in power and in policy-making." Approval for a long-range functioning of the commission, previously set up only on a temporary basis, had been a key objective of a women's caucus, whose emblem is the yellow ribbon. The ribbon was a mark of the women's suffrage movement at the turn of the century.

Busing aimed at stability

BOSTON (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr. says his plan for the third year of public school desegregation in Boston is aimed at educational stability. The program will "enable parents and students to plan a coherent sequence of learning experiences within an identifiable series of schools," said the judge in a 34-page order issued Monday. Garrity originally ordered public schools desegregated in 1974. Since then, he has closely guided the integration process, and under his orders, 24,600 pupils are bused to class daily.

Retirement is 'time bomb'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The future retirement of millions of municipal employees is a "fiscal time bomb" for many American cities that do not know or fail to disclose the amount of money they eventually will have to pay for pensions, a study of city accounting methods says. The study of 43 of the nation's largest cities said "millions of taxpayers are being kept in the dark because some cities just don't know, or don't disclose, their unfunded pension obligations." A preliminary portion of the study was released Monday.

Kissinger's plane full of African souvenirs

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The cargo compartment of Secretary Henry A. Kissinger's plane is so crammed with souvenirs that the plane has to make two refueling stops on the way home from Africa. Only one was necessary on the way to Africa. Officials decline to estimate the cost of the extra stop Thursday, but it will be substantial. For one thing, half a dozen Secret Service agents have been ordered to the Greek island of Crete, the first refueling point, to arrange security protection. They will be there four days to prepare for a 15-minute stop.

Federal regulations forbid government officials from keeping gifts worth more than $50. Last week, at Victoria Falls, Zambia, Kissinger's plane was loaded with a drum, two carved impala and other handicrafts to Kissinger. "I'd put it at $49.50," said the secretary of state, puzzling the chiefs but not his traveling companions.

In Dakar, Senegal, Kissinger was unveiling his program for an international investment consortium to aid the drought-stricken sub-Saharan at a luncheon given by Foreign Minister Assane Seck.

Hundreds of chimes suspended from the hotel ballroom ceiling sounded in Kissinger's ears. He kept reading his speech. The chimes grew louder. So did Kissinger.

Rock and roll suddenly blared from the sound system.

"Should I sing the rest?" Kissinger asked. Embarrassed hotel employees were able to turn off the sound.

Only once, as he toured Africa pledging support for black majority rule, did Kissinger set foot in Rhodesia, where 280,000 whites run a country with a black population of 6 million. And that was for a very few minutes.

Walking several feet beyond the Rhodesian border marker on the bridge over Victoria Falls, Kissinger declared, "Now at least I know what the issue looks like."

As he left Liberia, Kissinger was draped in a white brocade robe, had a tall white hat placed on his head and was pronounced Vai — paramount chief — of the Porkpai tribe.

"I want the record to show no previous secretary of state has been made a paramount," he quipped.

Kissinger was wrong. William P. Rogers, his predecessor, was also named Vai Porkpai on a visit six years ago to Liberia, the country founded by freed Americans slaves.

Kissinger was right, however, that the Vai is entitled to an unlimited number of wives.

"That's the first thing I looked into," he said jokingly.

Guilt confessed in firearms rap

LUBBOCK — Jimmy Kent Savage, 26, Lamesa, indicted two weeks ago by a federal grand jury on a charge of giving a false statement to acquire firearms, entered a plea of guilty here Monday. Savage was arraigned before U. S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodard. He was in custody in the Gaines County jail in Seminole Monday night for a separate incident.

Savage was indicted for signing a false statement about his past criminal record to acquire firearms. The incident occurred Sept. 19, 1974, in Lamesa.

Savage will be sentenced after an investigation is completed.

WOES FOR TV'S "MARY HARTMAN" — Louise Lasser, above, star of the television soap opera satire "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman," was booked for investigation of cocaine possession Saturday in Beverly Hills, Calif. Police Capt. Jack Egger said the actress was arrested after allegedly "creating a disturbance" at a boutique and during a routine search of her belongings a vial of white powder was discovered in her purse. Egger said "Chemical analysis determined it was cocaine." She was released on $1,631 bond Monday.

Schnabel entitled to separate trials

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Senate Secretary Charles Schnabel is entitled to separate trials on the five counts in the main indictment against him, say his lawyers.

Roy Minton and Charles Burton filed a motion Monday to throw out that indictment because of what they call the illegal lumping together of those five acts.

In all, the defense filed 24 pretrial motions and also asked for authority to take depositions from 10 persons, including Alex Martinez, who is himself under indictment.

Schnabel filed a theft complaint against Martinez and Penni Stoner last year. The investigation of Schnabel began after Martinez talked with Dist. Atty. Bob Smith.

A pretrial hearing is set May 10. Schnabel is not expected to be tried for several weeks.

The official misconduct indictment that the prosecution is expected to concentrate on is defective. Minton and Burton argue, because the five acts do not constitute one "criminal episode."

A multi-count indictment constituting a criminal episode is legal, but the attorneys say in their motion these five acts "are clearly alleged to be distinct and separate offenses, each involving a separate method of violating Art. 39.01 of the Texas Penal Code, and each involving different persons."

Yarbrough wins primary, faces $500,000 in suits

AUSTIN (AP) — Don Yarbrough, a young Houston lawyer who won the Democratic nomination for the Texas Supreme Court, is a defendant in at least five civil law suits asking a total of more than $500,000 in damages.

The four state suits and one federal suit, all filed in Houston, allege Yarbrough and other defendants mishandled investments and/or failed to repay loans by plaintiffs.

Yarbrough declined comment and referred all questions to lawyer Michael Maness who said Yarbrough believes he will be exonerated of all allegations by the end of the year.

"He has every reason to believe it will have no impact on his ability to serve," as associate justice, Maness said.

Maness refused to say the suits are politically motivated but said, "The impetus (to sue) at least wasn't hurt by his candidacy."

Public has investment in ATC

An interesting little booklet crossed my desk recently entitled:

Air Training Command Report to Stockholders 1975

The title was an eye-catcher. I am accustomed to seeing reports to stockholders from corporations, but from a command in a branch of the military?

THE AIR TRAINING Command isn't listed on the New York Stock Exchange, and you cannot buy shares of it over the counter.

So how can there be stockholders in the Air Training Command?

Lt. Gen. John Roberts, ATC commander at San Antonio, explains the reasoning in the first paragraph:

"As American citizens and taxpayers, you have a vested interest in Air Training Command's missions and roles in today's society. We invite you to review some of our major accomplishments during 1975 as well

GEN. JOHN ROBERTS as some of our future plans." In that sense we do invest in the Air Training Command whenever we pay our taxes. And we do have a stake in the performance of the command, especially here in Big Spring where our own Webb Air Force Base is a part of the ATC.

Gen. Roberts makes many interesting points about the command in his annual report to us citizen stockholders. He describes the mission of ATC as follows:

"We bring bright young people into the Air Force, help them adapt to military life and train them in sophisticated equipment, systems and aircraft. We provide trained, competent people to the rest of the Air Force."

THERE WERE numerous things in the report that I did not know. For example, did you realize that the ATC had its best safety record ever in 1975? The ATC had the lowest accident rate of all major commands. Although ATC flew 21 per cent of all the Air Force's hours, it had less than 5 per cent of the accidents.

This record is even more startling when you consider that it is a training command.

Another interesting point Gen. Roberts brought up was the increased use of simulation in flying training programs. He said a major test on the use of simulation is under way at Williams AFB. Reese AFB has construction under way to receive the first operational "instrument flight simulator" in 1977.

I could find no reference to any future plans the command may or may not have for Webb AFB, but I can only hope that the next "stockholder" report will contain some.

Certainly, we hope the command will continue to be a growth stock and earn well for the taxpayers.

As citizens, we should be most interested in what kind of dividends our tax dollars pay.

—J. TOM GRAHAM

Don't blame the pigs

Around the rim

Troy Bryant

Pigs have been taking it on the chops for a long while now. The latest insult is all the talk about something called "swine flu."

According to the National Livestock and Meat Board, it isn't.

THEY SAY that the people-type disease expected to break out this fall properly is called "A-New Jersey-76" influenza.

Antibodies from the flu — discovered among servicemen who had been at Fort Dix, N.J. — just happens to resemble antibodies found in pigs, according to a board spokesman.

Even the American Medical Association and the U.S. Public Health Service admit the people-type flu is "A-New Jersey-76" the board added.

That probably doesn't make the people in New Jersey happy. A government fellow out there found out that the Meat Board is located in Chicago, and said they might start calling the people disease "Chicago flu."

All this grease in the fire probably won't help, now that everyone on the President on down has called it "swine flu."

The Democratic "establishment" in Texas are probably sorry that they ever thought of creating a presidential primary system of selecting delegates to the national convention.

WHAT STARTED OUT as the "Bentsen bill" has now become the tool by which voters put the power where they want it — not in the hands of Lloyd Bentsen and Dolph Briscoe.

In past election years, the delegations from Texas was selected in the "smoke-filled rooms" at the state conventions, with the politician with the most backing controlling the action.

Most of the time the delegation did not reflect what the people wanted.

Now, the people directly select 75 per cent of the Democratic delegates and 96 of 98 of the Republican delegates. Leaving only 32 Democratic and four Republican delegates to be selected in the convention.

The voters gave Jimmy Carter and Ronald Reagan, two candidates who have little or no political clout with the state party leaders, overwhelming victories.

The voters had their say — and they said it.

Can be linked to malnutrition

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What can be done to cure boils on the buttocks? I weigh 250 pounds, and it hurts when I sit down. I have these boils elsewhere on the body. — Mrs. B.D.

A boil is a skin infection. One may appear where a break in the skin allows invasion by the staph bacteria. The red, tender swelling is part of the infection-fighting process. A single boil is called a "furuncle." Several furuncles adjacent to each other, are called a "carbuncle."

Boils can appear anywhere on the body, but the neck, limbs and buttocks are common sites.

Yours seems to be a generalized condition, and you appear to need medical attention. Antibiotics can be tried. Often boils go away by themselves, but with your weight problem, this is unlikely, especially for those on the buttocks.

Boils can afflict persons of any age. They can appear in the elderly as the result of illness or general poor nutrition. Those with untreated diabetes mellitus can also get them.

For individual boils, conservative treatment with antibiotics or with intermittent moist heat may be sufficient. In your case, you must lose some excess poundage and look to possible nutrition deficiencies. Occasionally, a boil has to be drained surgically.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would appreciate it if you could give me any medical suggestions regarding listening to sound levels of music. I have a sound level meter, so I could measure my exposure level in decibels should such information exist. — J.P.

Government studies suggest that when noise levels exceed 90 decibels, ear protection is needed for workers. Noise is noise, and that from your stereo would be subject to the same recommended safe level figure.

Some rock performances have been measured at levels of 120 decibels. Hearing loss can occur at such levels, either temporarily or, if listened to on a regular basis over a long period of time, permanently.

The loss is usually of high frequency sound.

Normal conversation is about 60 decibels. The sound of a jet taking off 100 feet away from the listener has been measured at about 140 decibels.

To be on the safe side your listening should be limited to something below 90 decibels. About 80 would be ideal. I have put together a booklet specifically on ear noises, which deals with noises as symptoms of various ailments. Readers can get a copy by sending 15 cents to me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you kindly tell me what acute labyrinthitis is? — H.N.

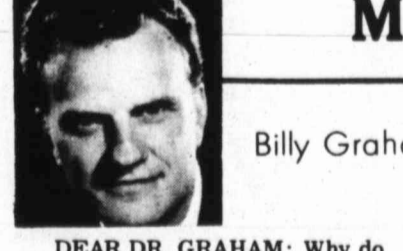

This is acute inflammation or infection in the inner ear where an intricate system of semicircular canals and cavities (like a labyrinth) are located. These canals are related to hearing and balance.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a 45-year-old woman. I have had sore breasts for more than a year. There is a hardening in them (not lumps) and they are slightly larger than they were. I always wear a size 34-A bra, and now I need a 34-B.

My periods are regular and normal. Is this soreness common? — Mrs. D.S.M.

This sounds very much like cystic disease of the breast, and the usual cause is a hormone imbalance. It can occur without the obvious presence of lumps. Such lumps may, however, be felt at certain times, such as a few days prior to menstruation.

You should do two things right away. If you are using the con-

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Why do you usually close your telecasts by saying, "Go to church on Sunday"? I go to church every Sunday, but I know lots of people who listen to your broadcasts and read your answers in the paper who never go to church. Why do you feel this is important? — E. C.

DEAR E. C.: Once a person becomes a Christian he is a member of the Body of Christ. That is how Paul describes the Church: "We, though many, are one body in Christ, and individually members one of another" (Romans 12:5, Revised Standard Version). We are therefore meant to function as a body, all working together under the directions of the one mind — the mind of God. If someone cuts himself off from the body and tries to "go it alone," it is like cutting off a hand or a foot. "The eye cannot say to the hand, 'I have no need of you'" (Corinthians 12:21, Revised Standard Version).

We all need one another in the Christian life, and the beauty of a true traceptive pill, stop. Then have a breast examination. A mammogram would readily determine if yours is a cystic condition. You may require several separate breast examinations throughout a menstrual cycle.

Troubled with gout? To learn of new treatment for this painful disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of his booklet, "Gout — The Modern Way to Stop It." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

It's us again saying thanks! It seems that every time we turn around we've asked you for help. We could not have lived through the Bicentennial without your support and guidance. This time we want to say a very special thank you for cosponsoring the United States Armed Forces Bicentennial Band.

We have heard nothing but good comments from those who attended and this should make our efforts worthwhile. All your good publicity and ads were directly responsible for its success and we can't take any credit.

Thank you for your constant public service to our county. We appreciate you very much.

Applying brakes

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — What's good for General Motors seems to be what's good for the White House.

The two have teamed up to block a major upgrading of the nation's buses in order to protect the autofirm's profit picture, according to a confidential federal study.

In 1971, the government began a $27 million project to develop a bus of the future. It was to have wide doors, special features for the handicapped and other safety and efficiency improvements.

But a federally funded report by Stanford University describes in detail how the new concept of a "Transbus" fell afoul of politics and corporate finagling.

IN THE BEGINNING, the Urban Mass Transportation Administration provided funds to three firms to build a sample "Transbus." The company with the winning model would win contracts that might eventually run into the billions.

The three were General Motors, American General and Rohr Industries. The two smaller firms, American and Rohr, were enthusiastic about trying to produce the new bus and expected continued federal funding.

But, suggests the draft study, "General Motors, which is primarily an auto manufacturer, realized that the Transbus program had the potential of increasing mass transportation usage." This, of course, "translates into a net reduction in auto sales" for General Motors.

Then last year, for what the report describes as "technological, economic and political" reasons, the White House stepped in and scrapped the laboriously prepared design specifications for "Transbus."

In their place, the White House invited the bus manufacturers themselves to come up with a bus design as long as it met certain performance standards.

This played right into the hands of General Motors. It permits the giant of the auto industry, which already controls 50 per cent of all bus sales, to build the kind of bus it wants, as opposed to a "Transbus."

The White House, meanwhile, has further aided General Motors by holding back future funding for the "Transbus" project. Since the two smaller companies cannot compete with General Motors unless they get the funding, the White House actions have effectively turned over future bus sales to General Motors — without "Transbus reforms."

Consumer groups and the handicapped fear that the combination of the fund cut-off and General Motors' readiness to build buses with its own funds will doom any hopes of improved mass transit for the handicapped. There have been no major design changes in 15 years.

Footnote: Tomorrow (May 5) the Urban Mass Transportation Administration will hold public hearings on the Transbus imbroglio.

Jimmy's hired gun

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — The underlying tension in the marriage of convenience between Jimmy Carter and the Democratic party's left wing has been exposed by the resignation of his newest speechwriter, a hired gun who quit, complaining privately that his principal lacks beliefs and principles.

ROBERT SHRUM, who over the last five years has become the Democratic party's premier left-wing speechwriter, had departed Sen. George McGovern's staff only two weeks ago to join Carter. But at the very moment of Carter's Pennsylvania triumph a despondent Shrum resigned — not because Carter spurned his counsel but because he embraced it a bit too easily.

This strange little incident reveals much about the remarkable Carter campaign. While his constituency covers the entire Democratic spectrum (including many erstwhile Wallaceites), Carter is edging to the left in both what he says and whom he employs. Most liberals seem delighted merely to be on board with a winner for a change. But Shrum's disillusionment may reflect inherent incompatibility between Carter and the activist left.

Shrum's decision to join Carter had astounded political insiders. "Bob's a terrific speechwriter, but he thinks the country's about 15 degrees left of where it really is," one liberal told us. After having pleaded with McGovern over the past year to seek the presidency again, Shrum still wanted to work simultaneously for McGovern and Carter (an arrangement vetoed by McGovern).

Carter hired him during his early April tactical crisis, following his narrow win in Wisconsin and the "ethnic purity" furor. The reason, Carter advisers claimed, was the desperate need not for Shrum's ideology but for his writing ability. But wouldn't Shrum push Carter perilously leftward? "I guarantee you," a Carter insider told us,

"nobody tells Jimmy what to say."

NEVERTHELESS, HIRED gun Shrum has helped propel past employers — John V. Lindsay, Edmund S. Muskie and McGovern — further left, often to their misfortune. Shrum wrote McGovern's inflammatory speech in Louisville last year demanding a probing stand by all Democratic presidential candidates. His doctrinaire-left influence on McGovern over the last year was once compared to placing a whisky bottle in front of an alcoholic.

Shrum, never modest about his influence, crowed to friends about Carter's accepting, without one comma changed, his statement attacking President Ford for ruling out normalized relations with North Vietnam. To Shrum, this implicitly put Carter among those seeking diplomatic relations with Hanoi.

The speechwriter's triumph was short-lived. Shrum quit immediately following the Pennsylvania primary and passed this explanation through the liberal network: Carter's willingness to say whatever parses shows he believes in nothing; even the scorned Sen. Henry M. Jackson — because he stands for something — would be better than Carter.

Ford campaign manager Rogers Morton arrived in Atlanta last week to find the President's local supporters furious that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's African safari was playing background music for Ronald Reagan's campaign in Dixie.

THAT SAME irritation has been privately voiced by Morton and other Ford political advisers. They complain that Dr. Kissinger picked an incomparably inopportune moment — just before the Southern Republican primaries in Texas, Georgia and Alabama, soon to be followed by Tennessee, Arkansas and Kentucky — for a new diplomatic offensive assaulting white Rhodesia and embracing black African majority rule.

Writer criticizes Pulitzer, wins it

NEW YORK (AP)—Author Saul Bellow has won the 1976 Pulitzer prize for fiction with "Humboldt's Gift," a novel whose characters speak of the revered award with utter disdain.

"I'm very delighted," said Bellow, 60, a faculty member of the University of Chicago who has been passed over four previous times for the prize.

Gene Miller of the Miami Herald won a Pulitzer for news reporting, and author Paul Horgan was honored in the history category — the second time each won prizes.

The Anchorage Daily

News, which has a staff of 20 and a circulation of 16,500, won the gold medal for public service for its investigation into the Teamsters union's growing impact on Alaska's economy and politics.

The prize for special local reporting went to the staff of the Chicago Tribune for uncovering widespread abuses in federal housing programs in Chicago.

In the field of drama, the Broadway hit "A Chorus Line" won a Pulitzer. The musical, created and directed by Michael Bennett, recently received a Tony award for best musical of the year.

A special award for contribution to American music was announced for Scott Joplin, the one-time "King of Ragtime," who died penniless 59 years ago.

Sydney H. Schanberg of The New York Times won the international reporting prize for his coverage "at great risk" of the Communist takeover of Cambodia and the uprooting of its people. Schanberg remained behind in the Cambodian capital after the government's surrender.

The prize for national reporting went to Des Moines Register reporter James R. Bissler, a lawyer, for his exposure of a major scandal in the U.S. export trade.

The 11 journalism and seven other prizes in letters, drama and music were announced Monday by Columbia University, on the recommendations of an advisory board.

The end of school year showed Big Spring schools with 14 fewer students this week than last week. The grand total of local schools at this time is 6,215.

There were seven fewer students at the high school this week and five less at Goliad. There were two added in the Big Spring State Hospital class.

The elementary schools showed a loss of four. This included two less at Airport Elementary and one each at College Heights, Kentwood and Lakeview with a gain of one at Marcy Elementary.

BACK ON TOUR IN THE U.S. — Ex-Beatle Paul McCartney, now playing with his own band, "Paul McCartney and Wings," belts it out for a sold-out audience in Fort Worth, Monday night. Fort Worth, being the first stop on a busy U.S. tour, turned out in mass for the ex-Beatle who hasn't played a U.S. audience in many years.

McCartney plays for sellout in Ft. Worth

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Paul McCartney made his long awaited concert return to this country Monday night—his first United States stage appearance in more than 10 years—as he and the Wings opened the U.S. leg of their world tour before a sellout crowd of 14,000 at Tarrant County Convention Center.

Smoke filled the stage and bubbles cascaded from the ceiling during the opening number, the theme from "Venus and Mars" before the satin-clad McCartney, backed by wife Linda on keyboards, Denny Laine and Jimmy McCulloch on guitars, and Joe English on drums, started a long set of rock and roll with "Rock Show" and "Jet."

It was McCulloch who delayed the tour a month by breaking a finger on his playing hand, but he was showing no ill effects.

The group was backed by a four-piece brass section.

There was only one minor incident during the show—a youth who rushed on stage to shake hands with Paul. He was quickly ushered off by security men. Over-all, the audience was generally quiet, with only a few of the female screams so prevalent his last time around.

McCartney, switching from guitar to piano, coordinated a blend of material that ranged from his days as a Beatle up through most of the Wings albums.

He drew ovations for "Maybe I'm Amazed," from his solo album the Beatle Rocker, "Lady Madonna," and two fine acoustic ballads McCartney soloed on—"Blackbird" and everyone's favorite, "Yesterday."

The unquestioned show stopper came with the Wings' James Bond theme, "Live and Let Die," which featured explosions, smoke, strobes and lasers in the best 007 tradition.

"I used to get more nervous than I did tonight," he said, "but I guess I was younger then."

Voting snafu responsibility Put the blame on CES, company official says

By DANNY REAGAN

Officials at the courthouse Monday were clarifying the reasons for the near-missing pledge on the instruction book for punch-card balloting in Saturday night's election.

Also, the topic of discussion centered around the computer malfunction and praise for the workers and volunteers who helped make the election returns as smooth a process as it was, considering the mechanical problem.

Jim Thurston, Computer Election Systems official, said CES takes full responsibility for the pledge. "I am a Democrat and pledge myself to support the nominees of this primary" being left off the original booklets.

Raford Dunagan, county Democratic chairman and the many volunteer workers who helped out at Gamco and the courthouse.

The consensus of most people at the courthouse is that the "card reader" malfunction delayed the final tabulation by only "about an hour." "Considering everything, that was a huge success," said one man.

"Some of the news media made it seem that it was more than a machine malfunction," explained Tume. "If an error is made, it's big news," said Tume, "but all the good that was done didn't make the news at all."

County Clerk Margaret Ray said that the malfunction could be compared to any malfunction with anything brand new. "The bugs have to be worked out," she said.

The "card reader" will be either repaired or replaced by the NCR company, from which the computer is currently being leased by the county.

The county has an option to buy the machine after a year. The computer presently under lease can be used for a number of jobs at the courthouse, preparing the tax roll, payroll for county employees and the voter registration roll, "not just counting ballots."

County Clerk Margaret Ray said the pledge was left off booklets in eight counties in Texas, including Lubbock, Ector, Tom Green and Howard. "Neither the Democratic party of Howard County nor in any other county was responsible," she added.

To avoid any similar mistakes it was hinted that in future elections, the local democratic party would have the ballots prepared locally, if possible.

"Everyone in the Democratic party did the best they could," said County Judge Bill Tume. He also praised the efforts of Margaret Ray, Joseph Turcotte, election judge for central county station,

Dallas voting devices faulty

DALLAS (AP)—The new Dallas mayor has been sworn in but the final vote count remains in doubt after city officials said at least 15 voting machines malfunctioned in last month's runoff election.

Lozier Garry Weber was expected to announce today if he will contest the election.

"No matter who they voted for, the people of Dallas are entitled to an accurate vote," said Weber, who resigned his city council seat to run for mayor.

At Weber's request, a team of city and county election officials tested 20 suspect machines Monday.

Ed Sloan, an assistant city secretary, said seven of the machines failed to record votes for Robert Folsom, the new mayor, and seven failed to register votes for Weber. One machine refused to count votes for either.

Sloan said any estimate of how many votes were miscounted by the machines would be "just speculation."

Folsom won the election by a 1,122 vote margin out of the more than 100,000 ballots cast.

Weber said he could file suit contesting the election asking either for a new election or a revote in the questioned precincts.

Dallas officials said city attorneys might oppose an order for a new election because of the cost to the city.

Oil barge sinks, spills 3,000 barrels of crude

TEXAS CITY, Tex. (AP)—About 3,000 barrels of oil spilled into Galveston Bay today when an oil barge buckled and sank in 10 feet of water.

The barge, which carried 2,500 long tons of crude oil, was being towed into the Houston Ship Channel.

A skimmer boat was sent to the scene to clear the oil while Coast Guard vessels steered shipping around the area.

Lt. Cmdr. Frank Harrell, executive officer of the Galveston Coast Guard base, said calm wind conditions have minimized movement of the spill, which was about one mile long and three-fourths of a mile wide.

Harrell said the spill had moved about three-fourths mile from 3:30 a.m. today when the spill was first reported to shortly before noon.

A strong northeasterly wind could wash the crude oil ashore in the Texas City, San Leon area, he said.

Cleanup operations started under direction of Marine Pollution Control Co., Houston, Galveston and Texas City. A 15-man team of Coast Guard pollution cleanup experts from New Orleans was due at the scene to assist Marine Pollution employees.

Cottonwood Arbor dedicated Monday

Mrs. Edna Womack shaped with persons attending the dedication of Cottonwood Arbor Monday afternoon that the aim of the Big Spring Garden Clubs was to make Cottonwood Arbor into a place of beauty after many years of neglect.

Attending the dedication were representatives of the local garden clubs, city officials and other interested persons.

Among the guests were Mrs. Lee Coil, president of the Texas Garden Clubs, and Mrs. J. K. Somerville, director of District 1, Texas Garden Clubs.

Mrs. Womack gave a brief welcome to guests at the dedication and introduced Joe Pickle as speaker.

Pickle summarized the history of Cottonwood Arbor for those in attendance. Pickle said that not long after J. B. D. Boydston settled here at the time the railroad came to Big Spring, he acquired much of section 44, block 32, township 1N, T&P, out of which he carved two significant tracts.

One he divided into the Boydston addition, the eastern addition to the original township of Big Spring, and whose streets are an acreotic for Boydston — Benton, Owens, Donley, State, Temperance, Union — (but the line stopped short of an N).

The other parcel of note, outside of the tract Boydston kept for himself as the historic home place just north and east of the Benton Street overpass, was that which he sold to Walter Roper in a deed dated May 4, 1887.

Roper improved the tract, which lay south of the T&P tracks along the banks of Beals Creek and west of what now is known as Birdwell Lane in eastern Big Spring. There he planted a number of cottonwood trees, which sank their roots to the shallow water table, furnishing sub-irrigation to the trees. Soon they grew to impressive size, and the spot became one of the favorites of the town and area.

Ropers Grove, it was known as, was the place where community picnics were held, and where many travellers camped overnight because of the shade and availability of water from the Roper well.

In time, the Roper family moved, and in 1918 J. T. Parish and family acquired the then-vacant property and established a dairy. Among other improvements, Mr. Parish built a concrete water storage which not only was necessary for the dairy operations, but also gave visitors to the park a ready supply of water.

He also planted a large apple orchard which somehow had a special attraction for the youngsters of the area.

Perhaps the most gala affairs were the Old Settlers Reunion, which moved to this location not long after its organization in the early 1920's, and continued until the City Park (now Comanche Trail Park) was firmly established. Others were the July 4 celebrations, with basket lunches, and political speakings. Always there was a big barrel or a small stock tank filled with chunks of ice and pink lemonade.

With the coming of the oil boom in the mid-1920's, Mr. Parish gave up the dairy business and instead established a tourist court, one of the first in the area. There he and his wife lived until 1948 when he died. His daughter, Mrs. D. C. Bidson, who lived across the street from her parents, held the property until July 1952 when it was sold and subdivided.

Pickle closed his account by saying, "The sad part of the story is that times change — and even do stately cottonwoods and grassy lawns beneath their shade. And so Cottonwood Park withered and all but disappeared except from the fond memory of those who had known its lovely embrace."

"But how wonderful it is to know that here today is being given a fresh start on a grove which, God grant, may in time bring as much joy and comfort as that old gathering place known as Cottonwood Park."

Following Pickle's speech, Mayor Wade Choate presented the key to the city to Mrs. Coil. Mrs. Womack informed the guests that an ash tree brought to the dedication will be planted in honor of Mrs. Coil.

In response, Mrs. Coil commended the city and residents of Big Spring for the tremendous cooperation between groups to clean-up the Arbor and begin to make it into a community gathering place.

In closing remarks, City Manager Harry Nagel said that Mrs. Womack deserves much credit for the Cottonwood Arbor project. He said, "She supplied the push and we had to supply the pull. This is a good example of how the local garden clubs and the city can work together."

Woman flipped over blinks between neighbor, husband

DEAR ABBY: My husband is having an affair with a widow who lives right across the street. When he passes her house, he blinks his lights and she flips her venetian blinds. They signal back and forth, and then he makes up excuses to get out of the house to meet her.

He says they are only good friends, but I know that she is man-hungry and not at all fussy who she goes with. I also know that she likes my husband. How should I put a stop to this?

DEAR JEALOUS: You can't stop a man from blinking his lights or a woman from flipping her venetian blinds. If you think he is "blinking" for her and she is "flipping" for him, get them both together and have a truth-or-consequence session.

DEAR ABBY: This is for OREGON MOTHER who complained because her adopted Oriental children attract so much attention wherever they go.

Human nature is the same all over the world, Abby. We are Americans living in Taiwan temporarily for business reasons. We have two children, 3 and 4 years old, and they have had about all they can take of having their cheeks pinched and their blond hair touched.

Crowds of giggling salesgirls and curious shoppers stare and point at them, and native youngsters peer around corners just to get a look at them.

At first my children sensed my annoyance, and they became upset, wondering what was "wrong" with them. But when I realized that their curiosity was natural and they didn't mean to be rude, I reacted good-humoredly and so did the children.

We enjoy Dear Abby in the Stars and Stripes. It's like a daily letter from home.

Delegate reviews ABWA convention

Mrs. Alyce Butler summarized the American Business Women's Association Southwest regional meeting held in Tucson, Ariz., for members of the Spring City chapter, ABWA.

She reviewed the high-points and workshops during the April 26 meeting held in the Texas Electric Reddy Room. A salad supper preceded the business meeting.

Mrs. Louise Fletcher gave the invocation. Mrs. Butler attended the regional meeting as a representative from her chapter. She serves as president for the Spring City chapter.

The convention was held March 19-21 at the Braniff Place Hotel. Mrs. Butler said that the first speaker, Carol North, set the mood of the weekend with her speech entitled "Freedom of Communications." Mrs. North is associate consultant for the management consulting firm of Lawrence-Letter and Co.

Mrs. Butler reviewed the workshops following the opening session. Representatives attended one of three workshops on communication, advertising and participation of chapter members.

The afternoon was spent in one of three forums on conventions, chapter members' achievements and new chapter sponsorship, Mrs. Butler reported.

A rap session between national headquarters staff and chapter members concluded the afternoon activities.

Mrs. Butler said that the highlight of the Saturday activities was the Spanish-style banquet held that evening.

Sunday activities included church services, a breakfast, a presentation and recognition of the bulletin and scrapbook award winners.

Mrs. Lois Kalbfleisch, dog groomer for Cathy's Canine Coiffures, presented the vocational lecture.

Two guests from Cactus chapter were recognized. They were Mrs. Evalena Sturdivant and Mrs. Betty Hughes.

Mrs. Helen Eggleston was also a guest.

Mrs. Mary Cottom was installed. She is a hair dresser for Vogue Beauty Salon.

Members discussed plans for Boss's Night.

Women voted to make a donation to the ABWA national scholarship program.

Mrs. Kalbfleisch announced that a garage sale will be held May 15-16 at 622 Ridge-road.

Mrs. Venice Cawthron gave the benediction.

The next meeting will feature a salad supper.

Better than Thorpe? Nevers dies

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Pop Warner, who coached Jim Thorpe before moving to Stanford University, called Ernie Nevers the greatest football player of all time.

Nevers, 73, died in a hospital here Monday of a kidney disorder.

The former college and professional football great, a hard-running 205-pound fullback and outstanding linebacker as well, also was rated by Warner above Thorpe as an all-round athlete. Nevers competed in football, basketball, track and baseball at Stanford.

Like Thorpe, whom Warner coached at Carlisle, Nevers was good enough at baseball to play in the major leagues. He pitched three seasons for the American League's St. Louis Browns, switching to National Football League competition each fall.

"I think I could have become a good pitcher or outfielder had I given up football for the diamond," Nevers once said.

Football would have lost one of its greatest stars. Nevers was among the first men admitted to college football's Hall of Fame and was a charter member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

In 1969, he was selected to a college football All-Time All-American team chosen by the Football Writers Association of America.

The native of Willow River, Minn., moved to California while in high school and played varsity football at Stanford from 1923 to 1925. His greatest performance as a collegian may have been in the 1925 Rose Bowl when he and the Stanford Indians met Notre Dame with its famous "Four Horsemen" backfield.

Nevers had missed virtually all of the 1924 season, having broken both ankles. He got off crutches just a few days before the game and, playing with heavily taped ankles, ran the ball 34 times, a Rose Bowl record, for 114 yards, which was more than the Fighting Irish's stars totaled.

Notre Dame won 27-10 in a game that included a controversial ruling against Stanford when it appeared Nevers had plunged over the goal line for a touchdown that would have made the score 20-17 in the second half.

Nevers was named the game's outstanding player. Writer Maxwell Stiles said in his book on the Rose Bowl: "On defense, he made about four out of every five tackles and intercepted a pass to start his team on the way to a third period touchdown. What would Nevers have done on two good legs — or even one?"

Nevers signed with the NFL's Duluth Eskimos in 1926 and later starred for the Chicago Cardinals, playing through 1937. In 1929, he set a single-game scoring record which still stands, getting all 40 of the Cardinals' points in a 40-6 victory over the Chicago Bears.

Football injuries played a part in ending Nevers' baseball career. He had a 6-12 pitching record in his three big league seasons and allowed two of Babe Ruth's 60 home runs in 1927.

Nevers worked in public relations and sales promotion for a San Francisco wholesale liquor firm after retiring from pro football. He is survived by his widow, Margery, and a daughter.

FOOTBALL GREAT DIES — Football great Ernie Nevers sits next to a duplicate of his bust in the Hall of Fame in 1965 at his home at Tiburon, Calif. Nevers, ranked by some as the greatest football player of all time, died Monday in a San Rafael, Calif., hospital. He was 73.

Steers meet Broncos in decisive game

The Big Spring Steers meet the Odessa Broncos in one of three make-or-break games, 4 p.m. in Odessa today.

All Steer hopes for a second half 5-4A championship depend on wins in the Bronco game, the clash with Cooper Wednesday here, and their final season game against San Angelo, Saturday in Steer Park at 2 p.m.

Frank Rubio (4-1) will take the mound in today's game, while Dick Battle (8-2) will hurl against Cooper. Battle will also pitch in the San Angelo duel.

Guthrie may enter as rookie at Indy

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indianapolis 500-mile race officials gave Janet Guthrie the green flag Monday to take her rookie exam for the May 30 race.

Miss Guthrie is the first woman ever to enter the race. She must pass her rookie test and then qualify at time trials to break into the 33-car field.

Tom Binford, chief steward at Indianapolis, said he reviewed Miss Guthrie's performance in Sunday's Trenton 200 and judged her to have the necessary skills and experience to attempt to drive at Indy.

Miss Guthrie dropped out of the Trenton race after 79 laps when her car developed mechanical problems. She had been the 14th fastest qualifier among the 22 starters.

"I think she looked fine," Dick King, USAC competition director said. "I think she ran as strong as any other rookie has done. I watched her pretty closely."

Johnny Rutherford, who won the 200, Tom Sneva and three-time Indy winner A. J. Foyt praised Miss Guthrie's driving ability.

She had been driving under a conditional U.S. Auto Club license on this year's championship circuit.

The rookie test includes driving laps at varying speeds, beginning at 100 miles per hour. "I just hope this answers the feeling that, well, women can't do it, they don't have the stamina," Miss Guthrie said after her showing at Trenton. "They can look at what happened today (Sunday) and say it can be done."

Little League—Four are winners

Big Spring Little League teams were active again Monday. The Starfighters in the International League, the Cabots in the American Major League, the Harris Lumber and Hardware Tigers in the Texas Little League and the Big Spring Herald Rangers in the National Little League all emerged victorious.

The Tigers trounced the Cubs 10-1 with Tiger Tony Ontiveros striking out 10 batters and coming out with a two-hitter. Tiger batters hit a batch of doubles to bring the hit total to nine. Leading hitters for the Tigers were Peter Carrillo, Timmy Artega, Tommy Olague, Eddie Eloxos and David Marquez.

Ben Jannin pitched the undefeated Starfighters to their third consecutive win, with an 11-5 victory over the T-Birds. He struck out 10 of the T-Birds in five innings, and was relieved by Jon Kenny in the last innings.

Wayne Hilliard and Kenny had two hits apiece for the Starfighters, and Jeff Steeckel connected with two hits for the losing T-Birds.

The Cabots edged the Oilers 13-12. Jeff Derks was the winning pitcher, while Robbie Phernetton hurled for the losers. Double hitters for the Oilers were Beauchamp, Mayhall and Lamb. Hodnett, Dawdy and Thompson hit doubles for the Cabots.

Raymond Dominguez was the winning pitcher as the Big Spring Herald Rangers stomped the Poillard Chevrolet Cardinals, 14-2.

The Rangers scored seven runs in the first inning, and Dominguez hit a home-run in the bottom of the fifth with one man on. Rangers Jinx Valenzuela, Robert Eggleston, Brent Raney, Rodney Harris and John Hasden were the leading hitters. Kip McLaughlin was the losing pitcher.

Reds sign WLW through 1981

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds and WLW Radio have signed a five-year contract through the 1981 baseball season, it was announced Monday.

WLW has been flagship for the Reds radio network since 1969. The network is one of the largest in the nation, broadcasting to more than 100 markets in seven states.

The current contract was to expire at the end of the 1976 season.

Nets and Nuggets begin ABA series

DENVER (AP) — The Denver Nuggets found themselves in a familiar situation today as they braced for the second game of their American Basketball Association championship playoff series against New York.

"We've had a history this year of being forced to come back," said Nuggets Coach Larry Brown.

"We did it in the Kentucky series, and here we are again. It's not a situation I like, but one we have to overcome," he added.

In the semifinal playoff series, the Nuggets fell behind Kentucky two victories to one and lost the homecourt advantage they had built up over an 84-game season. The series went the full seven games before the Nuggets finally won.

Denver began the best-of-seven championship series with the Nets Saturday with another loss, 120-118, and will be trying to square the series tonight.

Nuggets center Dan Issel says it may be a case of the Nets not trying hard enough "until we get behind."

"We've gotten behind in the first and second quarters and then come up with something," Issel said. "But you can't be in that type of situation in the finals — especially when (Julius) Erving has a chance to beat you with one play."

Erving has a chance to beat you with one play."

El Paso is best in West

El Paso waited until the bottom of the ninth inning to score two runs in downing San Antonio 9-8 Monday night and increase its lead in the Texas League West Division to two games.

In other games, Amarillo dumped Midland 7-4, Jackson edged Shreveport 2-1 and Lafayette blanked Arkansas 7-0.

El Paso's Marty Friedman singled home the tying run and later advanced to third on Fred Frazer's single. Friedman then scored the winning run when the San Antonio catcher let a Bobby Cuellar pitch get past him.

Amarillo's Galen McSpadden, newly arrived from Hawaii in the Pacific Coast League, picked up his first mound victory of the year as he held Midland to three runs. McSpadden needed relief help from Vic Bernal in the ninth to tie down the decision.

Steve Wojcik of the Jackson Mets gave up nine singles to the Shreveport Captains but managed to spread them out and chalk up his first victory of the season against one loss. The Mets' Ned Yost singled home the winning run with two out in the eighth inning.

Lafayette's Jay Dillard held the Arkansas Travelers to two hits and boosted his record to two triumphs against no losses. Dillard received help at the plate from John Yegliniski, who had four hits in four at-bats, and Craig Barnes, who slammed a two-run homer in the sixth inning.

Tonight San Antonio meets El Paso in a doubleheader while Arkansas is at Lafayette. Midland tangles with Amarillo and Jackson is at Shreveport.

Rangers sweep Red Sox, leave them in a daze

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Who are these guys in the Bicentennial colors of red, white and blue, peppering the stands with homers, leading the American League West, and in general acting like Abner Doubleday was their manager?

Lo, it's the Texas Rangers, a brash and youthful group who obviously have no respect for their elders—in this case the American League champion Boston Red Sox.

The Rangers, generally picked to finish as the back of the pack behind Oakland and Kansas City in their division, swept Boston in a four-game series that left the Red Sox in a daze, wondering where all the magic had gone.

The Rangers—named after that legendary group of lawmen with the motto "One Riot One Ranger"—celebrated Sunday's 6-3 come-from-behind victory like they had just whipped up on Cincinnati in the World Series.

They exchanged hundreds of handshakes, spent almost an hour watching the replay of the game on videotape, slapped backs and did everything but break out champagne and let the air out of the tires on the Boston team bus.

"Incredible and unbelievable that this team would sweep somebody like Boston," said Manager

Frank Lucchesi. "Just listen to those guys out there. And you don't think they're for real?"

Even the fans extracted their pound of flesh. Some 24,000 beer-swilling, sun-tanning fans turned out in bright sunshine Sunday and a courageous group of pipefitters from Boston tried to urge their team on.

They made a mistake of carrying around a sign boasting Boston onto another pennant and were met with showers of ice, popcorn boxes and beer.

"Mercy, these Texas fans are starting to get serious about their baseball," laughed one Boston writer.

"How do I get out of here?" said another.

Texas is getting clutch pitching from Gaylord Perry, Jim Umberger and retreads Nelson Briles and Bill Singer, long-ball hitting from Tom Grieve and Jeff Burroughs, and starting to play passable defense.

The Rangers led the AL last year in serving up home run pitches and errors.

"This team is no fluke," said Burroughs, who nailed three—yes, that's three—three-run homers against Boston in the series. "I think we're for real. We can hit. We're getting great pitching and play better defense than anybody gives us credit for."

Grieve, who has five home runs, including three against Boston, said "You haven't seen anything yet. We've kind of been in a hitting slump."

Lucchesi said "I refuse to make any predictions but, if anything, we are so young we're going to get better. I said all winter our pitching would be better than what you think. This team just can't wait to get to the ballpark to play."

Of course, Lucchesi will be the first to point out that May is a long way from October.

And so far 1976 has been a far cry from the Ranger sinking spell under fired Bill Martin in 1975.

"The Rangers are a lot better than people think," said Boston Manager Darrell Johnson.

Even those pipefitters that follow the Red Sox around will agree.

Nate Poss, former all-district 5-4A slit receiver and all-district 5-4A defensive secondary man for the Big Spring Steers in 1972, finished spring training as the number one defensive right cornerback for the Rice University Owls.

Poss was also on the winning Blue team in the annual Blue-Gray game that culminates spring training at Rice. The Blues took the Gray, 14-13.

Poss will be a senior this fall, and has already earned two varsity letters in football at the school.

Gives you goosebumps Cavs face Celts

CLEVELAND (AP) — "The Boston Celtics ... just saying it can give you goosebumps."

That was the way Cleveland Cavaliers Coach Bill Fitch put his feelings about the vaunted National Basketball Association powerhouse into words earlier this season.

Now his young Cavaliers face the awesome task of playing the veteran Celtics in the best-of-seven NBA Eastern Conference playoff finals.

Worse yet, the Celtics will hold the homecourt advantage on the basis of a better regular-season record.

News of Boston's decisive sixth-game victory over Buffalo Sunday brought to mind the early season assessment of the Celtics by the Cleveland mentor.

"The thing that separates the Celtics from other teams is the intensity which they bring to every game," Fitch explained. "We (the Cavaliers) get that kind of intensity for a few games and then come out flat for a game or two.

"We'll be a great team when we can have the same kind of intensity the Celtics bring to every game along with their talent," he added.

Fitch went to Boston and Buffalo to scout the final two games of that series after his Cavs tripped the Washington Bullets in seven games. Watching those games didn't change his opinion of Boston.

"Boston is quick, smart, powerful, can rebound and they can shoot," Fitch said. "Their quickness is their best weapon. It will force us to make a big adjustment."

Comparing the Celtics to the Bullets, Fitch added, "Boston is quicker than Washington. We've got to make them play our game and because of all their veterans, it will be tough to do."

The first two games of the series are scheduled at Boston Thursday night and Sunday. The teams then come to Cleveland for games Tuesday, May 11, and Friday, May 14.

Reservoirs gain water

Two major reservoirs of the Colorado River Municipal Water District picked up nearly 10,000 acre-feet of water between them from last week's showers. Lake J. B. Thomas reached elevation 2222.98, which was a gain of 1.81 feet, or 4,400 acre-feet of water. This puts the level about two feet higher than a year ago, but still far short of top level of elevation 2258.00. Lake E. V. Spence had reached elevation 1866.06, a gain of .88 of a foot, or 5,500 acre-feet of water. This is about 1.40 higher than a year ago.

Ridin' fence

There's only one cafe between Big Spring and Andrews — and that's a 64-mile strip. The cafe is out at Tarzan, one block south of the highway, and Brenda runs it. Brenda is kind of like an oasis in the desert on many occasions. She stays open long hours from 7 a.m. until 10 p.m., seven days a week. She works all those hours herself, and is the sole employe of the small cafe and grocery store.

The cafe at Tarzan

with Marj Carpenter

OASIS — This cafe is the only one between Big Spring and Andrews and is located one block south of Highway 176 in Tarzan.

And she'll get up earlier or later than those hours if somebody is broken down and in trouble. Mrs. Brenda Helms lives in a trailer behind the store, which she and her husband ran prior to his death in 1967. He died of cancer. We were here a while back and left when our store burned down in 1959. "I never will forget that day," she recalls. "We had been over to San Angelo, we had gotten a parking ticket.

On the way home, our headlights went out and when we got to Tarzan, our store was ashes. Nobody ever knew what happened."

Felon loses sheriff race

GLEN ROSE, Tex. (AP) — Paul Bone knew it would be tough running for sheriff since he was a convicted felon and his son is under indictment on a murder charge. He was right. Somervell County voters chose incumbent Sheriff Frank Laramore in the Democratic primary Saturday. The county's 1,800 registered voters cast in 848 ballots for Laramore and 587 for Bone.

Brenda probably lives by two mottos — one would be the Golden Rule of "Do Unto Others" and the other would be like the old rattlesnake flag that said, "Don't Tread on Me."

After leaving Mississippi, she was "riding sheet" in the old days. "That's selling magazines all over the country," she explained. "I guess I saw most of the states during those years. I met my husband in New Mexico and we ran a nursery business for a while before we came here."

"I've got faith in these people here, and as long as you have faith, they're going to put you back in office," Laramore, 39, said. "It was a whole lot closer than I expected but a little better is better than nothing. Bone, 49, served as sheriff from 1957 until 1964 when $20,000 turned up missing from county funds and Bone was found in Mexico. He was convicted of misapplying public funds, sentenced and later pardoned.

Brenda is just Brenda. She's worked hard for what she has and she'll help you if you need it. If you want a good hamburger, a good steak, or a few words of wisdom about the stretch between Big Spring and Andrews, stop at the only cafe in that area. It's out at Tarzan and the name of it is "Cafe."

Kindergarten roundup will be held May 14

The Big Spring Independent School District will hold its annual kindergarten roundup for parents and children Friday, May 14. Children residing in the Boydston, College Heights, Washington, Kentwood, Moss and Park Hill (rural) areas should attend the meeting at Kentwood Elementary School Friday, May 14, from 2 to 3 p.m.

His son Larry, 23, has been charged in the slaying of a man in front of the county courthouse Feb. 15. He is currently waiting trial.

Children residing in the Marcy and Park Hill (in town) school areas should attend the roundup at Marcy School Friday, May 14, also from 2 to 3 p.m. Children living in the Bauer, Lakeview, Airport and Cedar Crest attendance areas are asked to attend the roundup at Lakeview school anytime between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., Friday, May 14. Parents attending the roundup at any of the three schools should bring their children's birth certificates. This roundup serves as the official registration for the students. For that reason, parents do not need to register their students again in the fall.

Coffee gone, mystery brewing

HOUSTON (AP) — The FBI says something brewing between here and Laredo could be the government's evidence. The agency is searching for almost 1,300 cases of coffee. It said a truck driver who was hauling the coffee claims he can't remember what happened to it or to the tractor-trailer rig he was driving. A federal grand jury indicted George Reed Miranda, 24, of Stockton, Calif., Monday on charges of stealing $50,000 worth of coffee and a $35,000 truck and trailer. The FBI alleges Miranda stopped at a Huntsville, Tex., motel Jan. 16 and stayed two days, selling 40 cases of coffee to motel employes. The agency claims he sold each case for $10 in return for lodging. From there, FBI agents said, Miranda drove his haul to Laredo, where he is free under bond. Miranda was arrested last month in Vernon, Calif. He is free under bond.

Eleven men indicted in oil pipe thefts

HOUSTON (AP) — Eleven Houston area men have been named in a federal indictment which accused them of conspiring to steal $289,000 worth of oil drilling pipe and attempting to sell it. The indictment, returned Monday, alleged the pipe, belonging to Hughes Tool Co., was stolen last November from Velco-3C Co., a shipping firm. The FBI said the 300 pieces of drilling pipe were recovered Nov. 23 when state troopers stopped three trailer rigs near Baytown and discovered the drivers did not have traveling permits.
